NOLAN AND EX-SPEAKER HAVE CLASH IN HOUSE AND APOLOGY IS MADE

Lively Fight Over Lundeen Bill to Elect Committees.

Woman Suffrage Bill Special Order in Senate on Tuesday.

County Division Bill Is Introduced By Range Members.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—A sharp exchange of personalities, with an apology demanded and received, stirred the house this morning during the fight over Representative Lundeen's bill providing that hereafter committees shall be elected by the senate and house instead of being appointed by the presiding officers. The bill had been recommended for defeat by the elections committee, and Lundeen was trying to get it saved from this fate and put on general orders. Lundeen himself had made an impassioned speech for his measure, and he had been supported by H. H. Dunn, with W. I. Nolan of Minneapolis the principal opponent of Lundeen's motion.

Representative Nolan charged that every supporter of the measure, except its author, was a reactionary. "It has the backing," said Nolan, "of Minnesota's chief Tory newspaper, the Minneapolis Tribune, which is so reactionary that if it supported the Ten Commandments it would be wise to look among them for a woodchuck!" Asked why he supported the committee on committees' plan two years ago, he said it was a progressive move then; and that it is a progressive move when progressives are behind it, and a reactionary move when reactionaries are behind it, as now.

Dunn Gets Personal.

Former Speaker Dunn, stung by the apparent reflection on his administration of two years ago, rose to his full length and said; "No member of this house should arrogate to himself all the tissue paper sweetness of progressivism, and presume to pass upon

RAILROAD PASSES USED ILLEGALLY

Commerce Commission Investigating Reports as to Shippers.

Washington, Jan. 22—Improper and illegal use of railroad passes is being investigated by the interstate commerce commission. The inquiry has proceeded far enough to show, in the language of the commission, that "carriers have very generally obeyed the letter of the law," but it is indicated by information that has reached the commission that "the issuance of passes for state travel has operated to defeat the purpose of the act to regulate commerce; that passes for state travel have been issued to certain shippers and denied to others; and that the moving consideration of such passes has been the routing of interstate shipments of property."

The first public hearing upon the subject will be held by Commissioner Harlan at Denver, Colo., tomorrow. It is intended to hold hearings in all parts of the country.

PRESIDENT ANXIOUS.

Fears Bill for Lincoln Memorial May Not Get Through House.

Washington, Jan. 22.—President Taft conferred today with more than thirty Republican members of the house whose support he asked for the bill, passed by the senate, appropriating $2,000,000 for a memorial structure to Abraham Lincoln in Potomac Park here. The president has heard reports that the house might shelve the senate bill and expressed a fear to the congressmen today that such action would mean no memorial provided at this session of congress.

Some of the Republicans present favored a memorial road from Washington to the Gettysburg battlefield. An act providing for the monument to Lincoln in Washington,' the president said, need not interfere with the bill for a memorial road.

Recluse Supposed to Be Poor Had Accumulated Fortune.

Brockton, Mass., Jan. 22.—Known as a "poor man," Horace William Howard, a recluse, had a fortune of nearly half a million dollars. His will, filed for probate in court here yesterday, leaves $400,000 to charity, including $185,000 for the establishment of a home for aged in Brockton, and large sums to the Brockton hospital and other institutions here.

Howard, who had only recently lived in Providence, in a room for which he paid only $1.25 a week, always dressed poorly and seldom spent more than 15 cents for a meal.

His only living relative, Mrs. Maria P. Howard, a sister, was not mentioned in the will. She will contest it.

TWENTY CONTESTS OVER BERTHOLD LAND.

Plaza, N. D., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—There are over twenty contests involving claims on the Fort Berthold reservation arising out of the opening of that tract of land recently. Receiver V. A. Corbett of the Minot land office has been here several days already, and is hearing the cases. It is expected that it will require about two months before all of the cases can be submitted.

Rival claims of homesteaders to the same pieces of land are based, in most instances, on the right of priority in settlement, the contestees in practically every instance having filed first.

SAVE PEOPLE $80,000,000

Democrats Claim Cotton Duty Costs Consumers Big Sum.

Representatives of Textile Mills Appear Before House Committee.

Washington, Jan. 22.—The Democratic plan for cutting the tariff on cotton manufactures, which will be recommended to the house early in the extra session of congress, brought representatives of the cotton industry to the ways and means committee hearing today. Democratic leaders hold that cotton bears a relation to the world's economic progress more important than that of wool, silk and flax combined and that the American people pay annually about $200,000,000 more for their cotton goods by reason of the present tariff rates.

They contend that no actual loss in revenue will result from the proposed legislation, which is identical with the cotton bills the Democrats sought to enact in 1911 and 1912 and that the revision would reduce the annual cost of cotton clothing by more than $80,000,000. The estimated duties under the proposed revised schedule would aggregate $10,599,000 against $13,673,001 in 1910 and $12,859,032 in 1911, the latest available statistics.

Democratic members of the committee believe that the rates provided in the tentative schedule, the bill of last year and the year before, are more fairly competitive than have been proposed in any other tariff measure, and that they would offer a substantial economy in the cost of living. The Republican minority denies these contentions.

Cotton affects some of the most powerful industrial interests concerned in the tariff and most of the big organizations — national associations and some of the smaller bodies—were ready today to testify.

TO INVOKE THE "THIRD DEGREE"

Police Not Satisfied With Stories Concerning Death of Detective.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—The police today planned to invoke the 'third degree" in an effort to learn the true story of the killing of Detective Peter Hart, who was shot to death Monday afternoon by "Teddy" Webb, motor bandit, whom the officer was trying to arrest. The authorities claim to have found serious discrepancies in the narratives told by Frank Madia, the bandits' "fence," Michael Angelo Cassela, and Isabelle Hastings and hope to get the real facts in a further examination. Meanwhile the search for Webb went on and the state's attorney prepared to present to the grand jury his evidence against James B. Perry and Frank McErlain, Webb's associates, captured last week

DEBATE ALL NIGHT ON ILLINOIS DEADLOCK

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 22.—Leaders representing all factions of the Illinois Democracy debated all night in conference, in an effort to break the two weeks' speakership deadlock in the house of the Illinois legislature. William L. O'Connell of Chicago, Governor-elect Dunne's chief political adviser, and a score of others prominent in state politics made ineffectual efforts to adjust the difficulties.

At adjournment there was little apparent change in the involved situation, and many members of the legislature predicted that today's session of the house would do little to break the deadlock.

MINNESOTA IS GREATEST MINE OWNER

Fully 150,000,000 Tons of Ore Proved Up on State Lands.

Cashman Distance Tariff Bill Is Opposed By St. Paul Jobbers.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The house committee on mines and minerals got some eye-opening education yesterday afternoon—education that it would be worth while spreading through the state at large.

It was incident to the Healy-Knapp bill providing for a building at Hibbing to house the state's force which has charge of the state's vast mining interests, and there was nothing particularly new about the information disclosed—except that hardly any of the members of the committee ever had dreamed of it before, the facts produced there having been buried in musty state reports.

That the state of Minnesota is the

WANT RECOGNITION OF NEW REPUBLIC

Chamber of Commerce Desires Immediate Action Regarding China.

Washington, Jan. 22.—Recognition of the new republic of China was a leading topic for discussion when the convention of the chamber of commerce of the United States convened again today. The necessity for taking some official and decisive acton toward welcoming the new republic into the family of nations was emphasized, and it was declared that aside from the ethical question, American trade in the Orient might suffer from delay in acknowledging the dawn of a new governmental era in the ancient celestial empire.

Delegates were looking forward to being received at the White House later in the day. President Taft is especially interested in the organization, for he advocated its establishment.

The president is to be the guest of honor at the chamber's banquet tonight.

Forged to Pay Rent.

Devils Lake, N. D., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Claiming that he resorted to forgery because his house rent was due and because his family was out of provisions, Volney B. Baker of Berthold was taken to Bismarck to begin serving a year's sentence in the state penitentiary. He was arrested here after passing a $10 forged check, pleading guilty before Judge Rutz and receiving the minimum sentence.

TURKISH GRAND COUNCIL VOTES TO ACCEPT POWERS' PROPOSALS FOR PEACE

A Semi-Official Dispatch Says Adrianople Will Be Surrendered.

Make Proposition to Pave Way for Still Further Negotiations.

Constantinople, Jan. 22.—The grand council of the Ottoman empire voted today in favor of accepting the proposals put forward by the European powers for the purpose of bringing about the conclusion of peace.

To Surrender Adrianople.

Vienna, Jan. 22.—Turkey has decided to surrender Adrianople to the Bulgarians, according to a semi-official telegram from Constantinople today.

Berlin Is Skeptical.

Berlin, Jan. 22.—The reported willingness of Turkey to give up the fortress of Adrianople and to make peace on that basis is received here with skepticism. The belief prevails that Turkey's reply to the note of the powers will show only an inclination to meet the wishes of Europe so as to pave the way for further negotiations.

The Turkish embassy here also regards as improbable the report that Turkey is willing to cede Adrianople.

On Eve of Acceding.

Paris, Jan. 22.—Special dispatches from both Constantinople and London agree that Turkey is on the eve of acceding to the advice of the powers, as formulated in the note of Jan. 17.

A dispatch to the Matin from Constantinople says Turkhan Pasha, the

NEW PROBLEMS ARE CAUSED BY FLOODS

Sewers Washed Out and Buildings Moved at Evansville.

Evansville, Ind., Jan. 22.—With the gradual receding of the Ohio river, new problems confront the city officials. The river stood at 46.3 feet today. Already the sanitary officers and building inspectors have begun making special examinations of sewers and buildings. Many dwellings have been moved on their foundations by the flood and cellar walls have been cracked, causing thousands of dollars damage.

The steamer Lowry, arriving from Paducah, Ky., this morning brought forty refugees from Shawneetown, Ill., which now is fifteen feet below the water's level. All danger of the levee breaking is believed to have passed.

Forced to Leave Home.

Terre Haute, Ind., Jan. 22.—Several families in Taylorville, just across the Wabash river from here were forced to leave their homes by the high water today. The river stood at 19.2 this morning and was rising.

CONDITIONS UNHEALTHY

New Buildings Needed at North Dakota Asylum for Insane.

Woman's Suffrage Bill Is Considered By Senate Committee.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Members of the appropriation committees of the two houses returned last night from Jamestown, where they spent a day investigating conditions at the state asylum for the insane. They are practically all agreed that liberal appropriations will have to be made this session for the construction of new buildings at the institution because of its crowded condition. They found that conditions depicted by the board of control are fully as bad as reported, patients being compelled to sleep two in a bed in some instances, while other insanitary conditions have arisen because of the large number of patients in the institution.

As yet no appropriation bills have been introduced for the institution, but they will provide for the construction of an administration building, a tuber-

HELEN GOULD NOW A BRIDE

Ceremony Witnessed By Less Than 100 Relatives and Friends.

Tarrytown, N. Y., Jan. 22.—Miss Helen Miller Gould was married at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon at Lyndhurst, her country estate, to Finley Johnson Shepard, an American railroad man, who has risen from the ranks.

The bride went to an alter half hidden by roses, asparagus, formosa and palms, on the arm of her brother, George J. Gould, who gave her in marriage. An orchestra screened by masses of flowers in the music room played the wedding march from Lohengrin while the Rev. Daniel D. Russell, pastor of the Irvington Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony. Helen and Dorothy Gold, nieces of Miss Gould, stood with her. Garbed in pale pink satin, they acted as flower girls and were her only attendants.

The couple stood during the ceremony beneath a bower of American beauty roses with festoons of gray-white asparagus reaching almost to the floor. The bride carried a modest bouquet of lilies of the valley, her favorite flower.

Once Adorned Empress.

A rope of pearls, said to have once adorned the Empress Josephine, Napoleon's wife, and a pear shaped diamond pendant, the latter the groom's gift, were the only jewelry worn by the bride. The pearls were a bequest from Miss Gould's mother.

BONDS FOR CLANCY AND OLAF TVEITMOE

Prisoners Also Re-Elected Members of Executive Board of Council.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 22.—Six thousand dollars, to be added to the bond of Olaf A. Tveitmoe convicted at Indianapolis and now in the Federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., was subscribed at the convention of the California State Building Trades council.

Officers of the council said that it increased the security already given Tveitmoe to more than $80,000 in excess of the $120,000 required.

A telegram signed by B. H. McCarty, president of the council and formerly mayor of San Francisco, was sent to Tveitmoe informing him of the additional subscription and also saying that bonds for E. A. Clancy would be ratified according to the court's order and would be followed regardless of the amount required.

Tveitmoe and Clancy were re-elected to the positions of secretary-treasurer and member of the executive board, respectively.

UNITE ON CANDIDATE.

Concord, N. H., Jan. 22.—Republicans of the New Hampshire legislature, following the fourth formal ballot by that body for United States senator, held a caucus at which it was voted to make Secretary of State Edwin N. Pearson of Concord the caucus nominee.

The legislature has been deadlocked on the senatorship for the past week, the Republican vote having been divided among a dozen or more candidates on every ballot. The caucus is intended to unite about 190 votes, according to party leaders, for Secretary Pearson's candidacy. Henry F. Hollis, the Democratic caucus candidate received 197 votes yesterday. Former Governor Robert H. Bass has the support of twenty-one Progressives. Two hundred and seven votes are necessary for a choice.

RETENTION OF DULUTH CUSTOMS DISTRICT IS DEMANDED BY MILLER

Strong Reasons Why Collector Is Necessity at This Port.

Duluth Is Greatest Shipping Point World Has Ever Known.

Colossal Business Cannot Be Properly Handled 150 Miles Away.

(From The Herald Washington Bureau.)

Washington, Jan. 22.—"Authority given by congress to the executive department to eliminate some customs districts and consolidate some in the interest of economy was based upon a well known situation in the customs service. The legislative intent never has been and cannot now be in doubt. For years there have existed in the United States about 150 customs districts. Of these one-third occupy a class by themselves. In these it costs the government from 50 cents to $1,700 for every dollar collected. To eliminate these was the legislative intent. Never was it dreamed that in pursuing some cheese-paring economy important districts, well administered, economically conducted and absolutely essential, should be abolished."

This is the declaration made by Representative Clarence B. Miller in an argument he submitted to the treasury department today for the retention of the Duluth customs district.

"The Duluth office is one of the economical ones of the country," continues Mr. Miller. "Last year this office collected $252,604, costing $.072 to collect each dollar. This is the exact rate of cost at Los Angeles, at San Francisco, at Baltimore, and at Des Moines. We hear of no intention to abolish these offices. The Duluth office is ably conducted, is economically conducted as it now exists. Manifestly there is no call for the abolishment on the ground of economy.

Only Guesswork.

"We are informed, it is contended, that economy may result from a consolidation with St. Paul. Nobody knows it, though anybody can guess, but it is not necessary to guess. We do not need to look into a glass darkly. We have a distinct lesson, shining bright before our eyes. We do not need to conjecture what might be the result—we can see and know what will be the result. Superior, in her present district, she being a sub-port of Marquette, is in exactly the situation Duluth would be in should she be placed as a sub-port to St. Paul. Superior is

WILL DEDICATE NEW BUILDINGS

Hebrew Congregation Has Made Elaborate Plans for Event.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 22.—Consideration of "home mission activities" and the dedication of new buildings of the Hebrew Union college were the principal events on the program of the meeting of the twenty-third council of the Union of American Hebrew congregations here today. A report that received much attention was that of the department of synagogues and school extension. It dealt with the establishment of a large propaganda fund under the leadership of Rev. Dr. J. Leonard Levy of Pittsburg and with the Sabbath school publication activities under the chairmanship of Rev. Dr. David Philipson of Cincnnnati.

The report was followed by an address by Rev. J. Leonard Levy on "Synagogue and School Extension." He contrasted the present wakeful attitude of Israel with the lethargy that characterized the attitude in former days. He advocated energetic methods and appealed for the co-operation of the delegates in the work of the department of synagogue and school extension. Following this there was a discussion which was led by Harry Cutler of Providence, R. I.

An elaborate ceremony was prepared for the dedication of the new college buildings. It included the presentation of the buildings to the president of the union, J. Walter Freiberg, who was to turn them over to the board of governors of the college. Rabbi Jonah B. Wise, a son of the late Rabbi Isaac M. Wise, founder of the college, was scheduled as the principal speaker at the dedication.

TWO HALTED BY LEVELED RIFLES

Travelers Held Up By Ute Indians But Soon Released.

Cortez, Colo., Jan. 22.—George Filbert of St. Paul, and James D. Quinn of Denver, were held up by the band of fifty Ute Indians led by the outlaw, Big Rabbit, when the two white men passed the Indians' hiding place in the Ute mountains yesterday. Quinn and Filbert reached Cortez and told of their encounter with the Indians.

They declared they were traveling along the edge of the Ute reservation on private business and while passing through a canyon were confronted by a score of Indians who leveled rifles at them and commanded them to stop.

Through an interpreter, a member of the band, the whites convinced the Indians that they did not intend harm, and were permitted to continue their journey.

The Indians explained that they feared Quinn and Filbert were some of the sheriff's party.

David Day of Durango, Indian agent under President Cleveland for the Ute reservation, and who, in 1885-6 quelled a simular uprising of the Utes, has been appointed by the Washington authorities special agent to intercede with the Indians in behalf of peace, according to word received here.

WINNIPEG FLYER DITCHED ONE MAN SLIGHTLY INJURED

Passengers and Crew Have Almost Miraculous Escape From Death.

Wreck Believed to Have Been Caused By Broken Rail.

Canadian Northern train No. 2, known as the Winnipeg Flyer, was wrecked at 5:55 this morning near Lake Junction, which is about ten miles north of Virginia, two cars leaving the track, according to the statement of one of the passengers on the train.

The derailment is believed to have been caused by a broken rail, and it is considered almost a miracle that but one person was injured, and that not seriously, by the accident.

The injured man was not identified. He was taken to Virginia, though it is stated that the extent of his injuries was not serious enough to cause him to be taken to a hospital.

A delay of four hours was occasioned by the accident, the Missabe No. 6, which is the Winnipeg Flyer after leaving Virginia, not arriving here until some time after 1 o'clock.

The cars were replaced on the track after a crew from Virginia came to the assistance of the trainmen.

While it was not serious, it is considered a miracle that the wreck was not a bad one and that loss of life did not result. The train was traveling about twenty-five miles an hour at the time of the derailment, it is stated.

RAILROAD MEN ARE ENTERTAINED

Harry Duffy, district passenger agent of the Soo Line at Portland and formerly of Duluth, and Earnest Cardle, general freight agent of the same line at Portland, are visitors in the city. While in the city they are the guests of the local employes of the Soo.

Last evening Messrs. Duffy and Cardle were entertained at an informal "spread" at Blackwood's cafe at 319 West Superior street. J. P. Gehrey, district passenger agent of the Duluth district, acted as master of ceremonies and was assisted by George Sherwood, local general freight agent, and Harry Lewis of the Soo force. Other members of the party were R. C. Haase, Northwestern passenger agent of the Baltimore & Ohio and William Riggs, known to the trade as "Baking Powder Bill."

The guests could not speak too highly of the entertainment afforded them and summed up their versions with the declaration that "the Soo bunch in Duluth are certainly all 'live wires,' every one of them."

HEIR TO THRONE OF GREECE COMMANDING COUNTRY'S NAVY

CROWN PRINCE AND PRINCESS OF GREECE AND FAMILY.

Prince Konstantinos, the oldest son and heir of the king of Greece, is still fighting the Turks. When the general armistice was declared by the other Balkan allies, Greece refused to agree to it and kept on fighting by sea. Konstantinos has been in command of the navy since the beginning of the war. It isn't very much of a navy. In 1906 Greece undertook to reorganize and modernize the navy, but not on a large scale. There is one armored cruiser of 10,000 tons, which was built in Italy, and a number of fast destroyers. Prince Konstantinos, who bears the title of the duke of Sparta, was born in 1868. He married Princess Sophia of Prussia, sister of the kaiser. They have five children of whom the oldest is now 23.

CREAM HELD TOO LONG BY FARMERS

Food Commissioner Says Minnesota Is Losing Its Butter Prestige.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Minnesota's prestige as the banner butter state of the country is being endangered by the hand cream separator, according to State Dairy and Food Commissioner Winkjer.

Mr. Winkjer points out the danger in a part of biennial report made public today.

The trouble is that farmers using hand separators let the cream accumulate until they have a supply sufficient to pay them to haul it to the creamery. For this reason it is never as fresh. Also where cream so separated is shipped long distances to market it is likely to spoil.

The creameries to which the farmers haul their milk every day, the separating being done at the creamery, are the ones that are taking the butter prizes, says Mr. Winkjer.

Mr. Winkjer also discusses the canning and cheese industries in Minnesota. There was a falling off in Minnesota canned goods last year of 700,975 cans, but this was because of poor corn ripening conditions. Outside of corn the industry showed a gain.

Minnesota is rapidly becoming known as a cheese manufacturing state, says Mr. Winkjer. Last year 69 factories shipped 3,890,648 pounds.

If you are "easily satisfied" with your boarding place, it will not be long before nothing else will matter much, either.

THE PROPER PERGOLA.

The Craftsman: Originally, of course, the pergola was a semi-sheltered path, as is shown by a study of the old Italian pergolas along the terrace of Cappucini at Amalfia, for instance, or in the garden of the Billa Gori in Siena, where the pergola is erected over a walk to support climbing flowers and afford a grateful shelter from the fierce sunlight without interfering with the enjoyment of light, warmth and color.

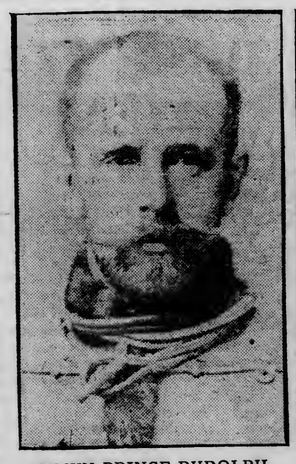

Architecturally its object is always to create a harmonizing link between house and garden. Consequently the pergola has architectural rightness when it arises naturally out of the need for a semi-sheltered walk to a garden-room, to a fountain, a tea pavilion or other garden spot; when it leads to or from the house, along a terrace or natural boundary, as between the lawn and the kitchen garden, where it serves also as a screen.

Remembering that the pergola was originally built to provide a cool and beautiful walk, we cannot err far in our adaptation. It should be a sort of corridor of greenery, dappled with sunlight and with shadows from overhanging leaves and flowers. But the drapery of vines must not be too thick; the drapery of clinging vine or climbing rose on the columns, with a canopy of generous growth across the lintels fringing in trailing tendrils over the edges, afford the best protection, admitting plenty of air and softening the sunlight. Care must be taken, however, to keep the canopy thinned, so that shafts and splashes of sunlight and moonlight may fleck and bar the pathway.

Particularly interesting are our western pergolas with supporting columns of rough cream-colored stucco and cross-beams of rustic branches of the redwood. These are readily adapted to eastern gardens by using slender cedar poles for the cross-beams.

There are many climbing plants that may be used on a pergola, but perhaps the favorite is the rose. Some of the most beautiful roses that are easily cultivated in this country are the Gold of Ophir, Clothilde, Soupert, Alba Moschata, Dorothy Perkins, Queen Alexandra, the lovely Gloire de Dijon, and all of the ramblers—pink, white and red. Wistaria, clematis, jasmine, the Madeira vine, the Japanese hop, Dutchman's pipe and kudzu are all charming, and the grapevine, with its fragrance in flower time and its rich colored fruit, is one of the prettiest and most appropriate decorations. Then there is Virginia creeper, whose brilliant autumn coloring is wonderfully effective on a pergola.

THEIR UNHAPPY ROMANCE SOFTENED THE HEART OF EMPEROR OF AUSTRIA

CROWN PRINCE RUDOLPH.

MARIE VECSERA.

Crown Prince Rudolph was the only son of Emperor Franz Joseph of Austria and his wife Elizabeth. He was killed in 1889 in a hunting lodge not far from Vienna, but whether he died by his own hand or was murdered has never been determined absolutely. The royal family accepted the theory of suicide. He died as the result of an unhappy love affair. Married to the daughter of King Leopold of Belgium, he fell in love with Marie Vecsera, a beautiful young girl of good family, and she was dining with him when he met his death. She too was killed, and one theory was that, warned by his family to have nothing more to do with her, he had decided that they should both die. An uncle of the girl, a naturalized Greek named Baltazzi, disappeared at the time and report had it that he had killed his niece and the crown prince when he found them together. This tragedy is held accountable for the kaiser's leniency in the matter of marriages in the royal family. Since the death of Rudolph, the emperor has given his consent to the marriage of many members of the royal family to persons of comparatively humble birth. The widow of the crown prince married Count Lonyay.

It Costs Money to Get Your Confidence

Manufacturers spend millions to tell you about their products. They put their reputations, their fortunes, their success behind the quality of the articles they advertise.

Not all manufacturers advertise. Those who do, realize that the confidence of the public is their most valuable asset. You have heard said at times, "People have confidence in these goods." The manufacturer says, "The confidence of the people in my goods makes the 'good will' of my business worth so much."

Your confidence is good will toward the goods and is legally and actually worth money to the maker of the product. Manufacturers know that the only way to gain your confidence and retain it is by deserving it—by making the best goods that money can buy and offering them at the lowest prices for which they can be sold.

Advertising creates confidence. Newspaper advertising is most effective in establishing confidence with the greatest number of consumers in each locality. Manufacturers who advertise in THE HERALD are deserving of your confidence and patronage. Therefore, it pays to read THE HERALD advertisements closely and constantly every day.

SCHOOL TO TEACH COURTING.

New York Sun: Dr. Wolfgang Hassall of Munich and Vienna advocates the institution of a university of love. He is appealing to distinguished Germans for their support in counsel and in gold.

If he gets sufficient of the latter we may expect to see an alma mater of amativeness in Munich two years from now. Dr. Hassall's aims are high and pure. He wishes to outdo the eugenist, who abjures love, and correct the romanticist, who extols love unworthily.

He condemns the modern man's love-making as banal and ineffective. Germans, and Austrians in particular, he says, are bad lovers, "because it is part of our feudal particularist spirit to be narrow and inexpansive. Real lovers are bold. Germans, however bravely amorous, have not the courage to avow love bravely.

"The women are worse than the men. The German girl is a prey to subjective dubitations, which make [illegible] critical instant do the wrong thing instead of the right."

[illegible]'s "High School of Marriage Sciences" will put an end to all this. It will be a serious institution. No boys or girls will be admitted. Only graduates of other universities and high schools will be allowed to matriculate.

"The high school will be in the nature of a teachers' seminary, that is, it will train teachers and not train pupils. These teachers will afterward teach in Germany a proper attitude toward courting and toward the premarital relations of the sexes."

Lectures will be given on such subjects as "Coquetry," "Psychology and Attraction," "Love and Opposites," "The Inspiration of Love," the "Subjective Dangers of Love" and the "Induction of Marriage." Those who attend these lectures are promised "a perpetual honeymoon."

ONE CAN WRITE IN THE DARK.

Harper's Weekly: A novelty is a penholder permitting one to write in the dark, since it is provided with an electric light. The tube through which the point of the pencil goes is fitted with a small accumulator and an electric lamp. The latter throws a disk of light over the point where the writing is being done. This luminous pencil has been invented for the use of doctors, reporters, detectives, etc., whose work necessitates the taking of notes in the streets and in darkness.

LITERARY SHRINES IN AMERICA.

The Bookman: The editor and his caller, each returning from a different part of the world, were on the subject of literary shrines.

"What would be generally regarded as the ten literary shrines of America?" queried the former.

Well—they began to enumerate them and to jot the names down on a piece of paper, idly—well, there are the Hawthorne and Emerson houses in Concord, the Lowell and Longfellow houses in Cambridge, Poe's cottage in Fordham, Cooper's palace, Otsego hall at Cooperstown, Bryant's modest residence east of the Berkshires at Cummington, the Ticknor house in Boston—this, principally by reason of its noted visitors, and chief among them Thackeray—Whittman's home in Camden, Irving's at Sunnyside, and—but that makes ten already, without counting Drake's grave in the little burying ground at Hunt's Point, N. Y., which, judging by the letters that appeared with such frequency in the metropolitan papers for decades concerning the disrepair into which the memorial erected above it had fallen, would seem to be one of the most important of all.

Well, that's eleven, anyway, and probably two or three more ought to be added, either in place of some of those already accepted provisionally, or to swell the total to an irreducible minimum of, say, fifteen. We note that there is not one from the South on the list, and we are looking to our Southern friends to make good this omission in letters that will flood the editorial desk by each mail every day for a week or so after the publication of this number. Surely the South must have at least one shrine—a purely literary shrine, that is, and not merely a composite literary and political shrine like Monticello, to which we demur in advance. And the West, too—but there the shrines, while ripening rapidly (we suspect that there will be an active Riley shrine some day at Indianapolis, for example), are a little green as yet to be picked for our present purposes.

DRINKING AND DRUNKENNESS

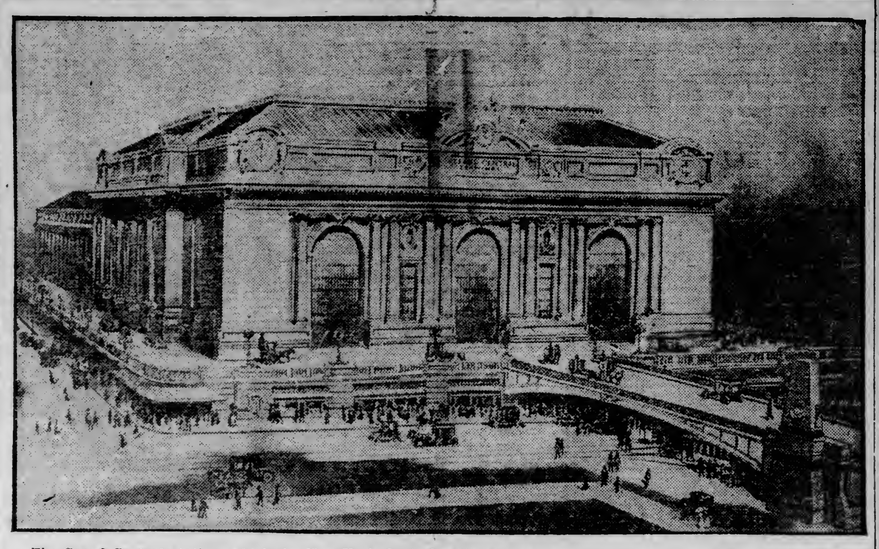

Do Men Drink Because They Are Wilful or Vicious?

We often hear people say of the drinking man, "He can stop drinking if he wants to," in fact, we often hear the drinking man himself say, "Oh, I can drink or leave it alone." Isn't it rather queer that these boasters usually keep on drinking—that they do not "leave it alone." There is a reason for his keeping on drinking and it is neither wilfulness or viciousness. The drinking man is usually far above the average in intelligence, good nature and good heartedness. We admit that he is often vicious or wilful when drinking; this is the effect, not the cause.

All drinkers are first social drinkers; as the habit fastens itself upon them, they become habitual, nervous or periodical drinkers. Their system has learned to depend upon it and will not properly perfom its functions without the artificial stimulant. In the early stages of drinking—the social drinking period—he could probably "make good" his boast and "drink or leave it alone," but later on he drinks because he cannot get along without it; his brain won't work; he becomes nervous, irritable, cranky — nothing goes right until he has had his stimulant.

It is a wise man who recognizes that he is "losing his grip" and that it is time to "call a halt;" then his struggle for freedom comes—the times to test his old boast that he "could drink or leave it alone," and he usually finds he cannot leave it alone. No wonder. He is a poisoned man; his system is full of the poison of alcohol; he needs medical help; he needs the Neal Treatment, which easily and quickly eliminates the poison and neutralizes its effect upon the tissues of the body—removes all craving, nervousness or desire for stimulants—restores him to mental and physical vigor—a man once more—this great work is accomplished in three days without dangerous hypodermic injections. For full information and booklet write the Neal Institute, corner Bellknap and West Seventh street, Superior, Wis.; St. Paul Institute, 676 Dayton avenue; Minneapolis Institute, 403 South Seventh street.

GRAND CENTRAL STATION, N. Y., NEARS COMPLETION

The Grand Central station, which the New York Central railroad has had under construction for several years, is nearing completion and some parts of it are already in use. It will be the finest station in the world and three group buildings, which will compose it, will cover nearly four times the ground occupied by the old terminal. Though the improvement has cost many millions, the cost has all been met by the increased value of the real estate owned by the New York Central in New York contiguous to the station. If the city of New York consents, the raised roadway seen in this picture will be built from the elevated part of Park avenue, so as to give access to the station without crossing busy Forty-second street on the level of other traffic. The traffic coming into the station will be handled on two levels, the local trains being below the express trains. Direct access to the city's subways, including the tunnel under the Hudson to Jersey City, will be had from this station. The waiting rooms will be large and finished in white marble. All imaginable luxuries will be within the reach of travelers and in addition to a number of shops connected with the station, there will be in time a great hotel for resident, as well as transient use.

SAYS DEATH PREVENTED SQUARING OF ACCOUNTS

Damon and Pythias Friendship Between Prospectors Revealed By Suit.

Edward Miller Has $20,000 Claim Against "Jim" Sheridan's Estate.

When death suddenly overtook James Sheridan at his home in this city last June, it not only struck down one of Duluth's old-time mining explorers and men of affairs, but also, it is claimed, defeated "Jim" Sheridan's desire to "square up" with a life-long friend and companion, Edward Miller, to whom Sheridan was indebted for six years' services on prospecting trips to the gold, silver and copper fields of Mexico and Alaska.

In probate court yesterday, Miller appeared with a claim of $20,416 for his services on his exploring expeditions with Sheridan. Judge Gilpin conducted a hearing on the claim and has taken the matter under advisement. Representatives of the Sheridan estate appeared in opposition, with Attorneys Jaques and Hudson engaged as counsel. Judge W. G. Bonham represented Miller in the procedure.

The situation is a rather peculiar and delicate one, owing to the relations which are known to have existed between Sheridan and Miller before the former's death. They were boon companions, who might well be likened to Damon and Pythias. Miller insists that the unfortunate and sudden death of his friend alone defeated his carrying out the agreement which he claims existed between them.

A Soldier of Fortune.

Sheridan was widely known throughout this part of the state as a mining explorer and prospector, being one of the pioneers on the Minnesota iron ranges. He located a number of important mines and at one time held valuable interests. Before his death, however, his holdings dwindled down to about $25,000. During the latter years of his history his life was an eventful one. His calling of an explorer took him to the gold, silver and copper fields of Mexico and to the treasure mines of frozen Alaska. He spent a fortune during his lifetime in his expeditions in search of precious metals.

Sheridan was a native of Illinois and a veteran of the Civil war. He served three years in the rebellion with an Illinois regiment and it is said of him that his service was characterized with distinction and bravery. After the war, he explored mineral deposits in Michigan for a number of years. In 1879 he came to Minnesota and while here investigated the Vermilion iron range, discovering the well known Chandler mine at Ely and a number of other valuable properties.

He died in Duluth on June 15, last, following an operation for gall stones. He was 72 years old and unmarried. After his death, his brother, Millard J. Sheridan, 4231 Calumet avenue, Chicago, secured appointment as administrator. He left as heirs, according to the petition for administration, one sister, Mary H. Drayer, Morgan park, Chicago, besides his brother, whom the court appointed administrator on July 15, last.

Miller's Claim.

Miller's claim for services is itemized as follows: From Nov. 1, 1902 to Jan. 1, 1905 at $2,500 per annum, $5,416. The years 1905, 1906 and 1907, at $5,000 per annum, $15,000. Total, $20,416.

At the hearing yesterday afternoon, representatives of the Sheridan estate protested against the allowance, claiming that Sheridan and Miller were fellow prospectors and that no documentary evidence has been introduced to show any agreement on the part of Sheridan to compensate Miller for his services. The attitude taken was that Miller was also taking the gambler's chance on striking something rich, and that when Sheridan failed, Miller did likewise. There was evidence produced to show that Miller's expenses were paid by Sheridan on all of the explorations, both in Alaska and Mexico.

Testimony offered by Miller as to what the verbal agreement was between himself and the dead man was ruled out on the objection of the representatives of the estate by Judge Gilpin. Under the statutes, such testimony is not admissable.

Charles d'Autremont, a life-long friend of Sheridan, took the stand to vouch for Sheridan's character and general good reputation for truth and veracity. His word, Mr. d'Autremont declared, was as good as a gold bond.

Judge Bonham, attorney for the claimant, Miller, also paid Sheridan a handsome tribute. The eulogy was one such as is not often heard in a case under consideration in a probate court.

Another feature, which adds interest to the Sheridan case is the receipt recently by the probate court of an anonymous letter from Chicago, in which it is declared that it was the intention of Sheridan to give the entire estate to Mrs. Bell Breckenridge, a niece, instead of his brother and sister, the heirs-at-law.

The letter reads as follows:

"Chicago, Ill., November, 1912.—Office, Probate Judge, or To Whom It May Concern, Duluth, Minn.: Sir—Mr. James Sheridan in his lifetime told several of his most intimate friends that after his death his only niece, Mrs. Bell Breckenridge was to become his sole heir of his entire estate, and equally emphatic was he in declaring that neither his brother, M. J. Sheridan, nor his sister, Mary A. Drayer, should ever have any of his property, for 'I shall make sure and will everything I possess to my niece.' Of course, the bondsmen are or ought to be well posted as to how the estate is being administered upon. The wishes of James nor the rights of his niece should not be ignored on any account by an incompetent.

NELSON GIVES AID IN CUSTOMS FIGHT

Strong Verbal Indorsement of the Statement By Miller.

(From The Herald Washington Bureau.)

Washington, Jan. 22.—In presenting the argument for the retention of Duluth as a customs port today, Senator Nelson submitted a strong verbal indorsement of the statement prepared by Representative Miller.

Senator Nelson has backed up the Duluth congressman at every stage of the fight that is being made against the abolishment of the Duluth district, and his backing has aided Duluth materially.

HIS SECOND MOVE TOWARDS REFORM

Governor Wilson to Call Conference to Expedite Bills.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 22.—Governor Wilson made his second move toward obtaining reform of the corporation laws of New Jersey. Having caused the bills to be drafted and introduced in the state legislature the governor today asked the legislative leaders to call a conference of members of both houses for next Tuesday, at which he will explain his program for the session and urge particularly the passage of the corporation bills.

The governor does not expect any opposition among the Democrats, who have a majority in both houses, and is hopeful that the bills may be enacted before he leaves to assume the presidency.

IN CAFES OF PARIS

The Triple and Sometimes Quadruple Rows of Wicker Chairs and Marble Topped Tables Ranged Out of Doors Beneath an Awning Are Literally Invaded on Sunday Afternoon.

Frances Wilson Huard in Scribner's Magazine.

"Garcon, un bock!"

"Garcon, deux vermouthscitrons!"

"Garcon, une absinthe et de quoi ecrire."

The waiter addressed had every appearance of being deaf to the above impetuous commands, but before they were reiterated he had turned on his heel and fairly scuttled away.

It was 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon, and back of the Madeleine the setting sun sent forth the golden beams of its dying glory. The "terraces des cafes," or, to be more explicit, the triple and sometimes quadruple rows of wicker chairs and marble topped tables ranged out of doors beneath an awning, were literally invaded. Not a place seemed to be vacant, yet as each newcomer appeared with an anxious or searching look on his face, close behind us I could hear the rustle of a skirt or the scraping of a chair. The act of making room for one more seemed to continue indefinitely, and we found ourselves in the midst of one of the most picturesque and interesting crowds imaginable.

Though back of me I recognized the familiar accent of some compariots demanding lemonades and ice cream, and to my left some Germans clamored loudly for "Munchenbier," the main portion of the assembly was French, essentially French.

It was "Theure de la verte" (time for the absinthe), which translation, by the way, makes the phrase lose all its savor.

The harmonious strains of a slow waltz played by a string orchestra somewhere in the interior of the cafe trickled through the tumult of laughter and conversation. From in front of us rose the dull roar of the Grand boulevards. Carriages, motors, omnibuses, vehicles of all descriptions, each claimed its right of way in its own deafening manner. Numerous "camelots," or sidewalk vendors, mingled their hoarse voices with those of the "coureurs," who shrieked the latest edition of the evening paper. Add to this an ever-moving tide of humanity, coming and going in all directions on the wide pavements that separate the "terraces" from the street, and the scene is typical of the Parisian Grand boulevards on a warm Sunday afternoon.

The Promenade a Necessity.

While a certain number of the inhabitants of the "Ville Lumere" hasten to the country every Sabbath and every holiday, there is a very large proportion of Parisians, and most of them Bourgeoise, who consider a promenade on the boulevards of the Champs-Elysees the proper finish to the week.

Nor is this dominical outing a mere matter of amusement. In some cases it becomes a serious undertaking. Monsieur in his top hat and frock coat, Madame, arrayed in her Sunday garments, and the children scrubbed and dressed for the occasion, wend their way from all quarters of the city toward the opera and the Madeleine.

There is not much choice as to direction; up one side of the thoroughfare and down the other, and then finally each group finds its way to a favorite cafe, where they sip refreshing draughts, seated in comfortable chairs, watching the sights. These sights, by the way, consist of nothing more extraordinary than thousands of other families following the same beaten track as those who have proceeded them.

When I had become a bit accustomed to this continuous commotion, I glanced about me and found I had for a neighbor, a sad-faced elderly woman wearing a long, black crepe veil. She was accompanied by an equally somber man who might have been her brother, if one were to judge his age by the cut and soberness of his apparel and the length of his bushy beard.

My astonishment was great when presently I heard him address her as "mother," but the word was the key to their whole attitude, for I felt that the widow and her son were accomplishing a pious weekly duty in memory of times gone by.

But my attention was soon distracted from them by the arrival of a whole family party. Father, mother, grandparents, children and nurse, all installed themselves and clamored for their chief to give the order. The latter, wiping his beaded brow, took on an important air and proceeded to make his demand, designating with his finger the persons for whom each drink was intended.

"One Madeira for grandmother. I know father will have a Pernot, two grenadines for the twins, three Quinquinas for the boys, and a glass of milk for nurse. Mother will take an Amer Picon and I want an absinthe with a Havana cigar. George wants the time table, Henri the Rire, and you might bring me the Journal Officiel."

And Not a Mistake.

I looked at the waiter in amazement, but he seemed unperturbed. He even stopped on his way into the cafe to take a fresh order and in less time than it takes to write it a tray was slipped upon the table, and my astonishment was turned into admiration for one whose memory permitted him to take an order with such a distracted air and return with it so promptly and so complete.

Strange creatures these "garcons de cafe," their legs encircled by a long white apron which somewhat resembles a petticoat, topped by the traditional short alpaca jacket, low-cut vest and starched shirt front. Hurried and red-faced they dash about among the tables. They have every appearance of juggling with cups and decanters, seem fairly to cut capers with their large tin trays, and they certainly have the blandest way imaginable of ignoring your request for something the cafe does not possess.

FOOTBALL.

Metropolitan: A group of men, all of them out of college long enough to know that the winning or losing of a football game by alma mater has no appreciable effect upon the earth's rotary motion, discussed football as they were returning from the Yale-Princeton game. Three of them were New York sporting editors and they wondered whether the public interest was great, how it compared with the baseball frenzy and whether football really was much of a game, after all. The sense of the meeting was that it is not a great game, either to play or to watch. One of the arguers, who had played football and baseball for four years at college, said that he was convinced now that football is an overpraised institution and that it didn't make for manly qualities any more than a study of integral Calculus and a daily five-mile walk.

One of the sporting editors in that group was trying to classify American sports in the order of their importance to the public. Baseball he put first, of course. Prizefighting he placed second, but another thought automobiling outranked it. Then arose the discussion as to whether automobiling was a sport or a recreation—one said it was a nuisance—and whether prizefighting was a sport at all, which caused another to remark that baseball was a business rather than a sport. But after much argument this was the order: baseball, prizefighting, automobiling, football, golf and tennis, aeroplaning, field and track sports and swimming. The rest were unplaceable.

But on this all agreed: the lowest order of sport was wrestling and six-day bicycle racing.

NEW ECCLESIASTICAL DECORATION.

The Living Church: France is the land of orders and medals. The ambition of every Frenchman is to have that little bit of red ribbon in his buttonhole which marks him a member of the Legion of Honor. Of less signal distinction, but honorable still are the knots of violet ribbon bestowed by the academies, and the green knot, vulgarly termed a poireau, i. e., a leek, telling of merite agricole.

Now the bishop of Versailles has instituted an ecclesiastical decoration. A diploma and a medal are to be accorded to good and faithful Catholic servants of the church; church wardens, choristers, sacristans beadles of the diocese deemed worthy are to receive this distinction at the end of twenty-five years' service. The granting of the diploma is to take place at festal gatherings presided over by the archbishop. The medal is to bear the effigy of St. Louis (Louis IX of France) the patron of the diocese, and is to be worn at all religious ceremonies.

BACK TO A CHILDISH SPORT.

Winifred Graham in the London Mail: Grown-up people who wish to retain the vitality of youth and the fascinating slimness of their teens should use a simple wooden hoop.

To dress in loose attire and roll a hoop round your private grounds or through a public park is a most exhilarating form of exercise.

However cold the morning, you feel as warm as if you had ridden across country or played a brisk tennis match. Your nerves are braced and the revivifying rush of blood through the body makes eyes sparkle and cheeks glow.

For sedentary workers and those who suffer from brain fag the hoop has another hidden charm. It produces a pleasurable form of concentration, as the mind must be fixed on the guidance and management of the circle. No one can be worrying over studies or intricate details of finance while thus occupied.

Is Sent to Municipal Lodging House—Prosecution Will Proceed.

The prosecution against Joseph Gauthier, the West Duluth saloon keeper, who was indicted on a charge of having indecently assaulted Ethel Arbour, a 15-year-girl, will not be dropped because of the girl's absence.

It is stated that Gauthier would have been brought to trial before this time if it had not been for the fact that the whereabouts of the Arbour girl were unknown. Gauthier was indicted by the last grand jury principally on the testimony of the girl, who asserted that he made improper advances to her in a room over his saloon on Central avenue.

When the authorities wanted to start the case she could not be found. Efforts to locate her were unavailing. Several nights ago Sergeant E. H. Barber did some quiet detective work and learned that she was at the home of relatives in St. Paul. He informed Humane Agent R. B. McKercher and they went to the girl's home on Fifty-second avenue west. It was after 10 o'clock before they obtained the address of the relatives with whom she was staying. The humane officer lost no time and took the 11:15 train for the Saintly City. Last evening he returned with the girl and placed her in charge of the matron at the municipal lodging house.

The officials state that care will be taken that she is not again spirited away. They say that Gauthier will probably be tried the present term of the district court and that the case will be taken up as soon as possible.

FACTORY WILL BE ENLARGED

Horseshoe Company Increases Its Capital Stock to $250,000.

The Diamond Calk Horseshoe company, which operates a factory at Forty-seventh avenue west and Grand avenue, yesterday filed with the register of deeds an amendment to its articles of incorporation increasing its capital stock from $100,000 to $250,000. It is understood that the recapitalization was effected with the view of enlarging the capacity of the present factory.

EXTENSION OF AID IS CONSIDERED

Meeting of Duluth District of Augustana Synod at Elim Church.

The meeting of the Duluth district of the Minnesota conference of the Augustana synod of Lutheran churches, is still on today, the chief subject being that of the extension of aid to country districts. These meetings are being held in Elim church, Fifty-sixth avenue west and Elinor street.

At the afternoon session of yesterday, Rev. J. B. A. Idstrom of Hibbing was the chief speaker. His text was II Timothy, i. 9-10. His theme was "The Significance of Christ's Advent Into the World."

A very interesting discussion took place over the subject, "Of What Does the True Christian Life Consist and What Are Its Evidences." The discussion was introduced by Rev. J. D. Nelsenius of Two Harbors.

CURLING GAMES AT WESTERN CLUB.

There are several games scheduled at the Western Curling club for the next few nights. Tomorrow night Zauft's rink will play Evered's in the Burns event, Brown will play Mallory tomorrow night also, and Wieland and Simpson will contest in the same event Friday night.

The club had many skaters on the ice last night and the condition of the ice was excellent.

WEST DULUTH HAS EYES ON WADE RINK

The Wade rink, now playing at the big bonspiel in St. Paul, is pleasing West Duluth curlers. They are proud of the "kid" rink and the way that they are going at the more experienced curlers and "trimming" them. Momentarily their Waterloo is expected, but along they come with another victory each time.

Up to the last reports of last night, they had played four games and won four games, and that is going some for a bunch of three youngsters—but then they are skipped and coached by the veteran, Frank Wade. The rink consists of Frank Wade, Jr., Russell Kilton, and Joseph McDonald.

New York Visitor.

T. O. Wetherell of Russell, N. Y., is visiting M. C. Murray, and A. L. Murray of West Duluth, and N. W. Murray of Short Line park. Mr. Wetherell had never visited Duluth before and he is greatly impressed with the city. He is a farmer and just now is looking forward to sugaring time, for he has 1,000 sugar trees on his farm and ships maple syrup and maple sugar all over the United States.

L. O. T. M. OFFICERS ARE INSTALLED.

The Ladies of the Modern Maccabees, St. Louis Hive No. 887, installed officers last evening at Gilley's hall, the affair being conducted by Mrs. Murna D. Edmunds of Pinconning, Mich., deputy great commander. A program and a banquet followed. Mrs. Margaret Murden, installed for the fifth time as lady commander, was presented with a gift. The committee in charge of the entertainment consisted of Miss Ida Anderson, Miss Beatrice Drake, Miss Pearl Ayott, Mrs. Pearl Oettel, Mrs. Minnie Doane and Mrs. Ellen Campbell.

The officers installed are as follows: Mrs. Margaret Murden, lady commander; Mrs. Nellie Drake, lieutenant commander; Dr. Stella Wilkinson, finance keeper; Miss Pearl Ayott, record keeper; Miss Ella Campbell, chaplain; Miss Ethel McLyman, mistress at arms; Miss Ida Anderson, sergeant; Miss May Norlund, sentinel; Miss Velma Erickson, picket.

West Duluth Briefs.

Mrs. Thomas Olafson, 5724 Huntington street, will entertain the Ladies' Aid Society of Immanuel Lutheran church on Thursday afternoon.

Rev. M. S. Rice of the First Methodist church will give an illustrated lecture on Egypt and Palestine tonight at the Norwegian Lutheran church, corner Wadena street and Fifty-seventh avenue west.

Rev. W. H. Farrell of Asbury M. E. church will lecture tomorrow evening at the church, corner of Sixtieth avenue west and Raleigh street, on "The Other Wise Man." He will use forty slides in illustrating the reading. There will be no admission charge.

The 3-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall F. Long of Proctor, died yesterday of infantile diseases. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family residence. Burial will take place in Oneota cemetery.

Rev. W. H. Farrell is in Chisholm, Minn., today.

Miss Edith Arseneau of Bayfield is visiting Miss Hazel Maynard of 312 North Fifty-third avenue west.

For sale—A good piano; used two months; slightly marred, otherwise in perfect condition; $145; easy terms. The Terry & Gilluson company, 405 Central avenue.

In the Gospel hall, First avenue west and Superior street on Thursday at 8 p. m. You are specially invited. No collections.

Mrs. J. Lowney of Proctor is at St. Mary's hospital, where she underwent an operation Monday morning.

The funeral of Doronato Ematuzio, who was suffocated by gas fumes at the Zenith Gas Furnace yesterday morning, will be held Friday morning from the Italian Catholic church, Eleventh avenue west and Superior street. The hour has not yet been set.

Watch repairing. Hurst, W. Duluth. Adv

Old Hickory camp, Modern Woodmen, and the Royal Neighbors, will hold a joint installation at Great Eastern hall tonight.

DENIES CHISHOLM IS "OPEN" TOWN

Chief of Police Claims Village Is Observing State Law.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Emphatic denial is made by Chief of Police Donohue to the report printed in outside papers that Chisholm is an "open" town so far as observing the 11 o'clock and Sunday closing saloon law is concerned. He also denies the reports that there were unusual crowds here from other points Sunday because of there being no "lid." He says the saloons have been closed at 11 p. m. week days and Sundays, and he proposes to keep them that way.

Mayor Joseph Austin is out of town and cannot be reached but it is understood that he is in harmony with the attitude of the police department and that there will be no toleration of laxity in handling these matters.

"Tin Horn" Gamblers Missing.

The "tin horn" gamblesr and hangers-on that are so common in towns where gambling and Sunday opening are permitted, have not been seen in Chisholm for many months and leading saloon men state that they do not want them as they make more trouble for legitimate business than the trade they bring. The police records here indicate that there has been no gambling for months as no reports or arrests for hold-ups or for men being rolled have been made in a long time.

ACCUSE FARGO DOCTOR.

Under Arrest Charged With Performing Illegal Operation.

Fargo, Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. Salvage was arrested today charged with performing a criminal operation. Katherine Harstad is the woman involved. She is in the county hospital. Salvage at one time enjoyed a lucrative practice at Wheatland, Cass county, but for some years has had a precarious existence in Fargo. He waived examination and was held to the district court. It is announced he would plead guilty.

ANETA, N. D., MAN IS TENDERED STATE JOB.

Aneta, N. D., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. G. Gunderson of this city has been tendered the position of state examiner by Governor L. B. Hanna but is undecided whether he can accept. In the event that he can Governor Hanna will submit his name to the state senate for confirmation. Mr. Gunderson was formerly a member of the senate and once president of the university board of regents.

CONSTIPATION

Munyon's Paw-Paw Pills are unlike all other laxatives or cathartics. They coax the liver into activity by gentle methods, they do not scour; they do not gripe; they do not weaken; but they do start all the secretions of the liver and stomach in a way that soon puts these organs in a healthy condition and corrects constipation.

Munyon's Paw-Paw Pills are a tonic to the stomach, liver and nerves. They invigorate instead of weaken; they enrich the blood instead of impoverishing it; they enable the stomach to get all the nourishment from food that is put into it.

These pills contain no calomel, no dope, they are soothing, healing and stimulating. They school the bowels to act without physic. Price 25 cents.

If you are nervous, can't sleep and are weak and run down and need a wine stimulant use Munyon's Paw-Paw Tonic. For sale at all Drug Stores.

WOMAN SUES SALOON MAN

Damages Asked of Owner of Place in Which Man Was Assaulted.

Mrs. Inga Rensaa Asks $10,500 Damages From Gust Egdahl.

Inga Rensaa in district court yesterday filed suit against Gust Egdahl, proprietor of the North Star saloon, West Michigan street, in which she asks for $10,500 damages for vicious assault by intoxicated companions upon her husband in Egdahl's saloon. A beating which Rensaa received, she claims, resulted in permanent blindness and deprived her of his support.

The Rensaas came to Duluth last July. At that time, she claims, that he visited the saloon conducted by Egdahl and was invited to spend his time there. It is alleged that he did spend most of his spare time and practically all of his money in the place. On Sept. 3 last, she claims, Egdahl permitted other persons in the saloon to commit a vicious assault on Rensaa. He received injuries which made him blind.

The North Star saloon with the police has a rather unsavory reputation. It has been the scene of a number of brawls which have had their aftermath in police court. Alfred Miller, who last week was sent to the penitentiary for robbing a customer, was a bartender at Egdahl's place.

CARAVAN DROWNS.

Three Hundred and Fifty Pilgrims Overwhelmed By Flood.

Suakim, Egypt, Jan. 22.—Three hundred and fifty Mohammedan pilgrims from India to Mecca were drowned today by a flood which overwhelmed the entire caravan at its encampment, midway between the sacred city of Medina, Arabia, and the port of Yembo, on the Red sea.

POSTMASTERS NAMED BY THE PRESIDENT.

(From The Herald Washington Bureau.)

WHAT DESTROYS TIN.

Indianapolis News: The popular idea that only acid substances attack tin is wrong. Fish, asparagus, beans, pumpkin and spinach are not acid and yet their corrosion of tin is quite marked. This is probably due to amino compounds, substances related to ammonia. In the case of shrimp the cans are often eaten through in a comparatively short time. So alkaline is the methylamine contained in the shrimp that workmen in the canneries find the skin peeling off their hands and their shoes eaten through. Shrewd observation by some canners led to the discovery that if the shrimp were iced for a day before canning the corrosive action of the juices was greatly diminished. This is now the universal practice. In addition the cans are lined with paper to prevent contact of shrimp and can.

THE CRESCENT WAS PAGAN.

London Chronicle: The crescent taken by the Mohammedans from the Christian Byzantine empire had already been taken by Christianity from paganism. The city on the Bosporus first assumed the crescent after its preservation from the attack of Philip of Macedon in 339 B. C. This attack was made on a moonless winter night of wind and rain, but was revealed to the citizens first by the howling of the dogs (is that why the Constantinople dog was so long privileged?), and when they rushed to their posts, by a meteor which lit up the Macedonian army. Saved by this miracle the citizens erected a statue to Hecate, the torch bearer, and struck coins bearing their emblem, the crescent moon.

Consider the Advantages of Concealed Window Lights

You merchants and storekeepers, who take particular pride in the attractiveness of your show windows, ought to investigate the many decided advantages of Concealed Electric Lights.

A brilliantly-lighted window is not always well-lighted. On the contrary, too much illumination is often as bad as too little. The unnatural glare sometimes prevents spectators from seeing your goods on display in their true values. Also, your lighting fixtures may not be in the best position to concentrate the illumination at the most advantageous points.

Like An Attractive Stage Setting

A window illuminated by Concealed Electric Lights is as pleasant to look upon as a well-arranged stage setting; for, the effect produced is really identical—no lights are visible, yet, the adequate, generous illumination attracts and holds the interest of every observer. Let us explain how you can use Concealed Electric Lights to advantage.

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS

LYCEUM—Valeska Suratt in "The Kiss Waltz."
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.

"THE KISS WALTZ" AT THE LYCEUM

The Fair Valeska Bestows Chaste Kiss on Bald Pate.

Bacteriological cranks — especially baldheaded ones—should not attend the Lyceum theater and sit in the front aisle seats if they wish to escape the deadly germs of the kiss. If they were not troubled with scruples about germ laden kisses and can qualify by having a noticeable scarcity of hair on the top of their head, they might stand a good chance of getting kissed by the fair Valeska Suratt, who stars in "The Kiss Waltz" which opened for a two nights' stand at the Lyceum last evening. Anybody in the dress circle is absolutely safe.

Valeska, the charmer, does not confine her kissing to the artist-hero of the play and just before the orchestra strikes up the strain of the fascinating "Kiss Waltz" for a finale, she and her big troupe come down into the audience on skidways from the footlights. Valeska picks out a bald headed admirer in A row, seat 1, and bestows a chaste kiss upon his noble cranium.

The cabaret part of the entertainment while not an entirely new feature in Duluth was well received. In encircling the parquet audience, the well trained chorus sang "Hello Duluth Town," which scored a genuine hit.

Mlle. Suratt, who holds a reputation of being the highest salaried art model in America, used "The Kiss Waltz" to advantage because it is admirably suited to her peculiar and pulchritudinous personality. The success of the operetta however does not depend upon the personal charms of the fair Valeska. She has splendid support from a chorus of Broadway beauties and from other members of her company. Miss Suratt's gownings are a feature of the production. During the first act she appears in her famous $10,000 diamond dress, now the sensation in the fashion world.

"The Kiss Waltz" or its plot hinges around the irresistible fascination that a young composer exercises over every woman he meets. He professes love for a flirtatious baroness, because of her influence, which is invaluable to him in his profession. In reality, however, the woman of his heart is a cousin of the countess, who is Miss Suratt. There are many ludicrous complications, and some of the dialogue is decidedly snappy and up to date.

The show opened to a good house last evening. It will be repeated tonight.

Fortune in Play.

"The producers of 'Bunty Pulls the Strings' have made more than a quarter of a million dollars from it," said Walter Hast, who is appearing in the musical travesty, "Cleopatra's Needle," at the Orpheum this week. Mr. Hast is in a position to know whereof he speaks, for he is the business manager for Graham Moffatt, the author of the play, and he knows the receipts of the production from Mr. Moffatt's royalties. "It is one of the greatest money makers in the show business because it is not an expensive play to produce. 'Bunty' has always been kept up to a high standard, but it needs only a small company, and no great scenic equipment. In spite of this it is a steady and consistent winner, and will probably be a gold mine for years to come. That is one example of what a big money maker a successful play is. Mr. Moffatt also had a most successful vaudeville sketch on the Orpheum last season, in 'The Concealed Bed,' which was seen here. He is just closing a long engagement in London, and next season he and Mrs. Moffatt will probably be seen in this country in a new play. Mr. Moffatt is now a wealthy man, where a few years ago he was a struggling young playwright, but his success has not spoiled him in the least."

FATHER OF DULUTH WOMAN IS DEAD

Michael C. Boyce, Minnesota Pioneer, Asphyxiated at Minneapolis.

Michael C. Boyce, 79 years of age, pioneer logger and cruiser of Minnesota, died Monday at his home in Minneapolis after being overcome by gas which had escaped from a defective heater.

Mr. Boyce had been an active operator in the state for over half a century and was well known in Duluth, where he is survived by one daughter, Mrs. E. L. Tuohy, wife of Dr. Tuohy. He was a member of the volunteer fire department at St. Anthony fifty years ago. During his long residence in the state he has made many visits to Duluth and the country north of the city.

He was found by his daughter in an unconscious condition. She hurriedly summoned a physician and for an hour the pulmotor was used without success. The funeral took place at Minneapolis today.

Mr. Boyce is survived by six children: Mrs. H. M. Burke, wife of a municipal court officer; Mrs. E. L. Tuohy of Duluth, and James, Frank, John and Charles Boyce. Mr. Boyce lived with Charles, who is a fireman stationed at Engine House No. 2.

FORT SASKATCHEWAN HAS $200,000 BLAZE.

Edmonton, Alta., Jan 22.—A large part of the business section of Fort Saskatchewan, thirty miles from here, was destroyed by fire yesterday, causing a loss of more than $200,000. The fire started early in the morning and was not gotten under control until last night. The whole town was threatened and assistance was sent from this city.

The buildings burned included the Queens hotel, the drygoods store of Jones, Grayham & O'Brien, J. Carscarden's hardware store, and Sutherland's drug store.

Several hotel guests had narrow escapes before being removed from the upper floors by the firemen. The fire started, it is said, from an overheated stove in the hotel.

Discolored, Wrinkled Skin Easily Renovated

(From the Woman Beautiful.)

Since brown or yellow, over-red or blotchy complexions are decidedly not the fashion, I cannot understand why so many continue to wear them. Surely every woman has heard of mercolized wax. This I know—from my own and others' experience—will positively banish every unsightly tint. The wax really takes off a bad complexion. It gradually, harmlessly, absorbs the thin layer of surface skin with all its defects, as chaps, liver spots, pimples, freckles, blackheads. Just as gradually the discarded skin is replaced by the clear, white, youthful skin underneath. Mercolized wax, procurable at any drug store, is applied nightly like cold cream and erased mornings with warm water. One ounce will produce the loveliest girlish complexion in less than a fortnight.

I can't understand, either, why folks will be bothered with wrinkles, since the famous saxolite formula has become public property. One ounce of powdered saxolite dissolved in a half pint witch hazel, makes a wash lotion that will quickly efface every line, even the deepest.

COUNTY BOARD ORDERS PRINTING

Contracts Let for Annual Supply of Books, Blanks and Stationery.

The county board at a special session yesterday afternoon awarded printing contracts on bids opened Monday afternoon. The contracts were awarded as follows:

Journal Printing company, Proctor, printing of court calendars at 90 cents per folio page. Other firms bid 95 cents and $1.34. The contract will run to about $300 during the year.

Miller-Davis Printing company, Minneapolis, printing of blank books at $2,006.55. The bid was $265 lower than any other received.

F. Lounsberry & Co., printing of supply books and stationery at $3,031.70. This bid was $20 lower than the figure submitted by the Christie Lithographing company.

Hibbing Daily Tribune, stationery for branch offices on the range, $509 for printing of blanks and books, $153.82 for office stationery and 70 cents per folio page for court calendars for the range term.

Bids for the printing and binding of the 1914 assessment books will be opened at the next meeting of the board, which will be held Feb. 5.

Salem, Or., Jan. 22.—The legislature yesterday confirmed Harry Lane, Democrat, United States senator from Oregon. In the November election Lane received the highest popular vote, although the legislature is heavily Republican.

WANTS NEW TRIAL.

Holder of Note Will Seek Further to Collect It.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—George H. Hollister is dissatisfied with the verdict of the jury in the case against National Democratic Committeeman Breugger, whom he had sued for $5,000 on a note Breugger repudiated. The note was given to keep the old Daily News running at a time when Breugger was a candidate for the United States senate. Hollister will seek a new trial. If he fails to secure that he will appeal.

There are a dozen or more notes given by Democrats and later repudiated. It is probable none of these will be tried till the Breugger case is finally ended.

Marquette Woman Called.

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 22.—Mrs. Sollim Moffat, wife of one of the oldest living residents of Marquette, died Monday night at her home on Prospect street. She was 77 years of age, and had been a resident of this city since 1855, when she came here from Canada with her husband. Besides her husband, three sons and two daughters survive: Frank and Silas Moffat of this city, Eciphere Moffat of Calumet, Mrs. Fred Smith of Superior, Mrs. C. E. Steadman of New York city and Mrs. Stanley Yeaman of San Francisco, Cal.

HANGS SELF IN STILLWATER JAIL.

Stillwater, Minn., Jan. 22.—John Kreuger, a barber and for thirty years a resident of this city, hanged himself to the door of his cell in the city jail by using his suspenders for a noose.

Kreuger was discovered by a policeman Monday night. Kreuger had been arrested on a charge of intoxication. He is 45 years old. Three daughters survive. Kreuger's wife died five years ago.

MANKATO TO GIVE TOWARD POSTROAD.

Mankato, Minn., Jan. 22.—The city council has voted to appropriate $1,000 to aid in improving the proposed Federal postroad from Mankato to Bloomington, in case the state highway commission should designate this road. The council took this action unanimously, after the good roads committees of the Commercial and Automobile clubs had presented it, showing the necessity for as good a showing as possible at the meeting of the state highway commission next Tuesday.

Amenia, N. D., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Because there have been two deaths here recently due to infantile paralysis the schools have been ordered closed till the threatened epidemic subsides.

A BRIDE ON THE MINUTE.

St. Louis Republic: It was a most ludicrous mistake. She imagined her wedding day was Wednesday, when in truth it wasn't to take place till the day after.

"Just like a woman. And everything went awry and the bridegroom gnashed his teeth, I suppose?"

"Well, hardly. In fact, everything turned out beautifully. By making the error unconsciously she was dressed in time and the ceremonies were pulled off according to schedule."

BIG CROWD AT WEEKLY "POP."

The floor and galleries of the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium were well filled last evening by an enthusiastic audience at the regular weekly popular entertainment. The gathering was estimated in the neighborhood of 600.

The program consisted largely of musical numbers. Mrs. Donna Ribblette Flaaten rendered two highly enjoyable vocal solos. Violin duets played by Perry Simpson and Roy Tredeau, accompanied by Miss Ruth Forbes at the piano, were heartily applauded. Miss Arne Hvaal, 7 years old, made the hit of the evening with a piano solo.

VALUE OF THE THIRD CHOICE

Church Members Hold Mock Election to Test Preferential System.

Out at the Second Presbyterian church in the West end last evening the members of the Men's Council of the church demonstrated in a rather striking way the importance of using the second and third choices in the preferential system of voting, which will be used at the coming city election.

The members of the society held a mock election during their meeting, and voted on the different candidates who have been mentioned for the commission. The man who was finally elected mayor did not receive enough votes on either the first or the second choice to elect. He was not even in the lead on these ballots, but every member of the society was willing to take him as a third choice at least. Some of the men who stood fairly high on the first choice were not acceptable at all to the majority of the members.

The members of the society spent the evening discussing various lines of social service. The "Big Brother" movement was considered. This movement originated in New York, one of the clerks of the juvenile court there, being the moving spirit in it. Under it each man volunteers to take some wayward or homeless boy and be responsible for his mental, moral and physical development. The movement was considered an excellent one by the society, but no action was taken on it. The members also considered the five lines of work outlined by the Men and Religion Forward movement. Coffee and doughnuts were served during the evening.

ADDITION TO SOO LINE ROUNDHOUSE

Company Expected to Add Six Stalls to Present Building.

It is given out that the Soo road, which is continually making improvements to its property at the West end, will next spring materially enlarge its roundhouse between Twentieth and Twenty-first avenues west. The road will add six stalls to the building, doubling its present capacity. Foreman Wyman, when asked about it said, "I don't know what headquarters has decided to do, but we certainly need it. Business is growing rapidly."

The road is now building on this property a boiler house and ice house. The former will be 36 by 48 feet, ground dimensions and will be equipped in a most modern manner. The ice house became a pressing need here for passenger coach and dining car convenience. The road is also establishing at its West end plant a blower system for cleaning rugs and the interior of cars. The blower system is said to be far more effective than the vacuum system.

HIBERNIANS HAVE INSTALLATION

Officers of Division No. 6 and Ladies' Auxiliary Take Places.

Division No. 6, Ancient Order of Hibernians, and the ladies' auxiliary, held a joint installation of officers last evening, at St. Clements' hall. A. J. Powers, county president, assisted by John Brown from Division No. 1, installed the officers.

Officers installed for the ensuing year are: J. J. Hughes, president; Matt Bolin, vice president; John Simons, financial secretary; A. J. Murphy, treasurer; L. W. Flood, recording secretary; Thomas O'Meara, sergant-at-arms; James J. Sheehan, sentinel; A. J. Lyons, chairman of standing committee.

Sara A. Murphy, county president, installed the following ladies' auxiliary officers: Elizabeth Wiley, president; Ellen J. Kealey, vice president; Anna E. Flood, financial secretary; Margaret Michaud, treasurer; Bertha Haley, recoding secretary; Margaret Wiley, mistress-at-arms; Agnes Cruikshank, sentinel; Mrs. E. Phillips, chairman of standing committee.

Mrs. Charollotte E. Silvers, played the marches. Speeches were made by Rev. Augustine Brockmeyer, Rev. Raymond Basil, F. L. Ryan, past state president; A. J. Powers, county president, and Messrs. Harney and Brown from Division No. 1. P. A. Hughes, retiring president of Division No. 6, and Sara A. Murphy, county president of the auxiliary. A violin and mandolin duet by Leslie and Leona Granger, assisted by Elizabeth Devaney, a piano solo by Elizabeth Devaney, readings by Miss Mary Shesgren, Miss Angland and L. P. Drohan were given. Refreshments were then served.

REAL ESTATE MAN REPORTS ACTIVITY.

P. George Hanson, the West end real estate man, declares that business has taken a turn during the past months which indicates to him an exceptionally active year in real estate. He says that not only is there a great deal of of inquiry, but some actual purchasing is being made this early, which he considers unusual.

There is a great deal of local inquiry for West end property, says Mr. Hanson, and there is also a surprising amount from outside of the city. A great many small manufacturing concerns are asking about property to purchase or to rent, attracted this way by the fact that the steel plant will be finished before long and the facilities for securing steel quickly and right at their doors makes it desirable to many that they get in early. Mr. Hanson looks for quite a large demand for such property before the spring is over.

Pre-Lenten Tea.

The ladies of St. Luke's guild will entertain at a pre-Lenten tea in the guild room of the church, Twenty-eighth avenue west and First street, Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 28. The room will be decorated in pink and each one will receive a cup and saucer as a souvenir of the occasion. A program of music and singing and reading will also be rendered during the afternoon.

COMMERCIAL CLUB MAY MEET FRIDAY.

There is a meeting of the West End Commercial club scheduled for Friday night of this week, but it is problematical as to whether or not the meeting will be held, owing to the absence of some members from the city, and also to the fact that a number of other important meetings are slated for the same night at the West end, chiefly in lodges.

If the club meet, however, the two chief matters for discussion will be the study of the preferential ballot to be used in the coming city election, and the matter of when to hold the club's annual banquet. It was announced some time ago that it would be held on or about March 1. That date falls on a Saturday and is therefore undesirable. Some advocate that the banquet be held on the last day of February, which will be on a Friday.

Remodeling Building.

The building on West Michigan street between Sixteenth and Seventeenth avenues, which was recently sold by P. George Hanson & Sons to Barnett & Slonim, is being remodeled. The upper part will be made into living apartments and the lower part into store rooms.

West End Briefs.

A horse, attached to a light cutter, ran away on Twenty-first avenue west yesterday and when it reached the corner of Second street, tripped, fell and broke its neck. The name of its owner could not be learned.

A Y. M. C. A. night school was begun last night at the Mohaupt building and will be conducted during the winter on Tuesday and Friday nights. E. A. Mooney, principal of the Franklin school, and A. G. Alexander of the Central high school, conduct the classes.

A. S. Palmer of Ishpeming, Mich., will give a concert at Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, assisted by the choir, tomorrow evening. There will be no charge made for it.

The remains of Mrs. Anna M. Hagstad, a pioneer of Hermantown, who died there(aged 87 years, on Monday night, will be shipped tomorrow to Strum, Wis., for interment.

The funeral of Mrs. Jennie Chnord, who died at Nopeming sanitarium Monday, will take place Friday afternoon, interment to be at Forest Hill. The funeral will take place from the family home, 1027 Garfield avenue.

The Rebekah Guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church, Twenty-eighth avenue west and First street, will meet Thursday afternoon of this week with Mrs. Albert Johnson, 2720 West Huron street.

Rev. W. E. Harmann will hold a business meeting with the members of the mission at Proctor, Friday evening of this week.

Next Sunday Rev. W. E. Harmann will conduct services at Proctor at 8:45 a. m. He will preach at St. Peter's at 11 a. m in English and at 8 p. m. in Swadish.

largest iron mine owner in the state—and that means in the country—bar none.

That so far as actual ownership of mines is concerned, even the gigantic United States Steel corporation is second to the state.

That because of the far-sighted policy of the pioneers in Minnesota statesmanship, not a pound of ore that ever belonged to the state has ever been permitted to get into private ownership except through leases which require payment for it, ton by ton, as it is mined.

That Minnesota is the only state in the Union—or in the world—of which this is true.

That Michigan and Wisconsin, which at one time owned lands of similar value, have disposed of every acre to private owners.

That there has been proved up on state lands ore yet unmined amounting to upward of 150,000,000 tons.

That the state has holdings, with mineral rights reserved in every case, that will develop ore bodies infinitely greater than this.

That, to put the estimate modestly, there will be added to the permanent funds of the state—funds which cannot be spent but the income from which is available only for educational purposes—more than $200,000,000 in the next generation.

That in time to come the state of Minnesota will be one of the richest institutions in the world.

That in time to come, if the funds derived from this source are left intact, as the Constitution now requires, the state's annual income at 4 per cent will be upward of $10,000,000.

Based On Old Lease Law.

That these figures are based on the old lease law by which the state sold its ore for a flat price of 25 cents a ton, and that this law, which was repealed six years ago, is to be replaced by a law providing higher royalties on a graduated scale, according to the value of the ore, which will yield revenues still larger.

Viewed in the light of these tremendous facts, the proposal to spend $50,000 for a state building at Hibbing to accommodate the state field forces didn't look very big; though there was a small dispute about the amount, and about whether it wouldn't be better to have an accurate estimate from an architect as to the cost of the proposed building before going further with the bill.

The result was that the measure was laid over for a day in order to have F. A. Wildes of Hibbing, the state's expert in charge of the field work, before the committee to tell of the state's needs and to give an estimate of the character, size and probable cost of the building.

This information probably will be given this afternoon, as Mr. Wildes is in the city, attending the meeting of the grand lodge of Masons.

Representative Healy of Hibbing brought the bill up before the committee, of which Representative Borgen of Duluth is chairman, and made a strong case of the need of the building. He showed that the state's field force averages fifteen men, that the work is now done in rented quarters, and that though even the smaller private mine owners have buildings to house their forces the state has none. He showed that the state has proved holdings of 160,000,000 tons on the Mesaba range alone, not to mention probable future developments there and on other ranges.

Supported By Iverson.

State Auditor Iverson, who was called for by the committee, strongly supported the bill, presenting the facts outlined above. He said the state ought to be as business-like in its dealings as private mine owners, especially as it is the largest mine owner in the state.

Representative Sawyer wanted to know if it wouldn't be better to get an estimate of the cost of the building before making an appropriation, and Mr. Iverson said probably it would if there were any way of getting it; though this had never been the state's policy.

Representative Ofsthun offered an amendment to make the appropriation $35,000 instead of $50,000, but on motion of Representative Bouck the matter was laid over until this afternoon.

Representative G. B. Bjornson of Minnesota said that he could see no objection to recommending the bill to pass as it stood. While it provided for a $50,000 building, it left the construction to the state board of control, and the legislature ought to be willing to trust the board not to spend that much if it could done with less. He believed that the state with its enormous interests should not be less business-like in its management of its iron ore business than private owners of iron mines, and that if a $50,000 building is needed to safeguard the state's interests it ought to be provided; but he was sure that the board of control would build it for less if it could, regardless of the amount of the appropriation.

Distance Tariff Bill.

The senate committee on railroads yesterday afternoon took up the Cashman distance tariff bill for a hearing. Though a number of railroad attorneys were present, the principal speech in opposition to the bill was made by J. H. Beek, representing the St. Paul jobbers.

Mr. Beek said the committee, before it recommended the bill to pass, ought to have the railroad and warehouse commission work out a schedule of rates under the provisions of the measure, so that the committee could see how it really would work.

Some of the railroad representatives present asserted that the effect of the bill would be to increase rates, which they said the railroads are not asking for. It was stated that the present earnings of railroads in Minnesota amount to only 4 per cent on their valuations, and that the decisions of the courts to date are to the effect that they are entitled to earn 7 per cent.

Yet they are not asking for an increase in rates, he had stated, and in opposing the bill they were really opposing an increase in rates though the court decisions to which he referred would seem to justify an increase of 75 per cent.

The committee adjourned to next Tuesday afternoon to give the railroads a hearing. Minneapolis, hitherto the most pronounced opponent of the distance tariff principle, was not represented at yesterday's meeting.

Reapportionment Bill.

The work of preparing a reapportionment bill is proceeding as rapidly as the chairmen of the two committees can push it. Each has appointed a subcommittee to draft a bill, and while each sub-committee is working separately consultation between the two branches is frequent, and the work is being done in harmony.

The house sub-committee has worked out a division of the total membership in both branches of the legislature between the nine congressional districts as provided for in the resolution adopted by the committee at its first meeting.

This gives the First congressional district 6 senators and 12 representatives; the Second district 5 senators and 10 representatives; the Third, 5 senators and 11 representatives; the Fourth, (St. Paul), 8 senators and 16 representatives; the Fifth, (Minneapolis), 10 senators and 20 representatives; the Sixth, 7 senators and 14 representatives; the Seventh, 5 senators and 12 representatives; the Eighth, (Duluth), 9 senators and 17 representatives, and the Ninth, 7 senators and 14 representatives.

Each member of the house sub-committee has been notified of these figures, and has been instructed to consult with the senate member of the reapportionment sub-committee, and with the members from his congressional district, and to arrange a distribution of these places among the counties in his congressional district.

The results of this work should be apparent by next week, and though the sub-committees will have to whip these results into shape, and though the main committees must pass on the results, a reapportionment bill should be before one branch or both by the end of next week.

Representative Bjorge is preparing a bill, to be introduced presently, forbidding the supreme court to declare unconstitutional any bill passed by the legislature unless it be by a vote of four out of the five members of the court. At present a mere majority, three out of five, may veto a law by declaring it unconstitutional. Mr. Bjorge's bill will provide for a constitutional amendment, that being deemed necessary to get his principle established.

Modern Woodmen Bill.

The house insurance committee had another hearing last night on the bill giving Minnesota Woodmen the right to secede and form a new order, John H. Norton of Duluth appearing in behalf of those members of the order in Minnesota who are opposed to the bill.

The house committee on transportation will meet this afternoon. The principal business will be the consideration of an amendment to be offered by H. H. Dunn to his distance tariff bill, giving the railroad and warehouse commission power to take care of cases where, under the straight distance tariff plan, competition would be destroyed between two communities connected by a long line and a short line.

Breathe Booth's Hyomei

Kill the Loathsome Germs of Catarrh and Banish All Disgusting Symptoms

Just as long as you have catarrh your nose will itch, your breath will be foul you will hawk and spit, and you will do other disgusting things because you can't help yourself. The germs of catarrh have you in their power; they are continually and persistently digging into and irritating the mucous membrane of your nose and throat. They are now making your life miserable; in time they will lacerate the membrane and prove a fertile field for the germs of Consumption and other microbes.

There is one sure remedy for catarrh and that is Booth's HYOMEI. Just breathe it through the inhaler and use the vapor treatment as directed.

A complete outfit including inhaler and bottle of HYOMEI is $1.00 at druggists everywhere. Separate bottles of Booth's HYOMEI if later needed 50 cents. Boyce Drug Store guarantees it.

LOSS OF HAIR IS ACCEPTED AS THE FIRST INDICATION OF OLD AGE

Don't Look Older Than You Are

Although frequently accepted as such, thin, wispy hair does not necessarily indicate approaching old age. Instead it is more often traceable to the hair destroying effect of dandruff and hence becomes a matter of mere personal neglect.

Loss of hair and approaching baldness are not considered by the majority of people with sufficient seriousness. Both are looked upon as inevitable when as a matter of fact they are unnecessary. There is no more need of becoming bald or having thin scraggy locks at sixty than there is at sixteen.

Proper and intelligent care of the hair is all there is to it. For the removal of dandruff, to check hair loss and stop the itching Newbro's Herpicide is the logical remedy. Its use is attended with remarkable results and much personal satisfaction.

The hair becomes light, fluffy and luxuriant and has a natural sheen and luster that may be acquired in no other way. The dandruff is destroyed absolutely and the scalp left sweet, clean and sanitary.

The odor of Herpicide is a delight to all. Your dealer knows the merit of this wonderful scalp prophylactic and will guarantee it to do as claimed or return your money. It is sold everywhere in 50-cent and $1.00 size bottles.

Applications may be obtained at the better barber shops and hair dressing parlors.

The Herpicide Co., Dept. S., Detroit, Mich., will send a trial bottle of Herpicide and booklet telling all about the hair to any address upon receipt of ten cents in postage or silver to cover the cost of packing and mailing.

CHILDREN'S UNCONSCIOUS POETRY.

Strand Magazine: Children are born with a taste for knowledge. They want to know, and they want to know the right things. They ask questions, and are not easily satisfied. They are fond of imitating what they see around them. They are highly imaginative. They clothe their ideas in concrete forms. There was a time when they were regarded as immature adults; we have learned that the main aim of a teacher must be to give the right tone to the feelings—goodness in the abstract is of little avail; the imagination must be stirred.

We are accustomed to believe that there is little reflection on the part of children, and yet one cannot but see now and again gleams of thought which suggest a hidden mental power working almost unconsciously. The little girl who "gathered sunlight in her hands and put it on her face" knew something of the effects of heat. And how full of humor are some of the sayings of children. It was Punch, we believe, who depicted Tommy, after he had been severely corrected, as exclaiming: "I fink I'll go back to heaven, where I came from." And what a fund of suggestion was conveyed by the little girl who, on hearing a running tap, said that "the water was coughing!"

The poetry of life is frequently seen in childhood. We have this illustrated in the description of butterflies as "pansies flying." "A star is a cinder from God's great star" has a wealth of unconscious meaning. But perhaps the finest approach to poetry was made by a tiny tot who defined dew as "the grass crying." "Oh, auntie!" said a little girl, "I've just seen a pencil walking." The nurse, who had grown out of fairyland, explained that it was only an ordinary worm.

ROSTAND'S WIFE AND SON COLLABORATE ON NEW PLAY

MME. ROSTAND.

MAURICE ROSTAND.

The production of the fairy play, "The Good Little Devil," which David Belasco has put on in New York, introduced this week to the American public, Madame Rostand, the wife of the famous poet, and his son, Maurice. Mme. Rostand is herself a poet, having published her writings while she was still Rosemond Gerard. Maurice is beginning to write poetry, though he has not yet reached his majority. The play on which they collaborated was produced in Paris some months ago and achieved a success. It is whispered in Paris that Rostand is jealous of his talented wife and son, but it is hardly likely that the author of "Cyrano de Bergerac" and "L'Aiglon" is afraid of comparison. The Rostands live in a quaint house at Cambo in the south of France. It is on the road to Bayonne. Here "Chantecler" was written and suggested by the sight of a cock strutting on a dunghill on the Rostand farm. "The Good Little Devil" is the story of a boy who goes away from his home at the gawky age and returns from Paris at 20, a thorough snob. But he is met by his own younger self, and at sight of the boy of 14 that he once was, all the snobbishness oozes out. Belasco has put the play on with a fine cast and all the scenic accessories which make a Belasco production always notable.

ACRE STORIES

Kansas City Star: A year ago last March Walter Walkley, a machinist in the shops of the Missouri Pacific railway, saw in the Star the advertisement of three and one-third acres of land for sale a mile and a half west of Kansas City, Kan. He bought the land for $1,000, paying $100 cash and agreeing to pay $10 a month with interest.

There was a small house of two rooms on the place and Walkley and his wife moved in at once and Walkley kept on working at his job in the shop, walking each morning the mile and a half from his place to the car line and walking back again at night.

As soon as the ground dried out in the spring he hired a man to plow up enough of the land for a garden and he directed that a half acre of "weeds" just pushing up green sprouts from the earth, be included in the plowing.

But it happened that the real estate agent who had sold him the land called while the man was getting ready to plow, and when he saw that the half acre of "weeds" was to be turned under he said:

"Why, those are not weeds, that is asparagus, and you can sell it."

So the asparagus bed was spared and the following week Mrs. Walkley cut a basket full of it and went in town to sell it.

A few days latter the agent passed that way again and Mrs. Walkley hailed him as he passed.

"What did you mean by telling me I could sell that stuff," she said. "I tried to sell it, but no one would buy and I had to throw it away."

She told how she had thrown it loosely in the basket. The agent explained to her that she should have sorted the stalks according to size and tie it in neat bundles and he told her of two restaurants that he thought might buy some of it.

Mrs. Walkley followed his advice and the result was that the two restaurants bought $3 worth of her asparagus the first day. She got other customers and before long she was selling from $5 to $7.50 worth of asparagus a day.

The following spring they took the advice of a neighboring gardener and cultivated the asparagus bed, plowing out the surplus growth that was choking the asparagus and this summer she sold all she had time to handle.

The result was that the asparagus bed which cost them nothing and which they were about to plow under, has paid for their place in two summers and has made them independent.

Six years ago George Price, who had worked so long in a packing house without saving anything that he saw no daylight ahead, bought ten acres of land on the Reidy road, eight miles west of Kansas City, Kan., paying $100 cash and agreeing to pay $1,400 in installments of $10 a month. There was a house of three rooms on the place and he and his wife went there to live and started raising chickens and growing vegetables.

In four years Price had his place paid for and four months ago he paid $8800 cash for another ten acres adjoining his, which was sold by the sheriff under a mortgage. Now Price is asking $1,500 for the 10-acre tract he paid $800 for, and with that money he intends to build a larger house.

Every dollar that Price has saved since he went on the place was earned on the land.

Price is not a young man. He is unwards of 50 now. He did not go on the land until the experience of many years as a wage worker had convinced him that there was nothing in that. He says now that if he had gone on the land when he was a young man he would be rich now.

Price has a regular string of customers in Kansas City, that he calls on weekly, delivering vegetables, butter, eggs and chickens. He attributes his success largely to his wife, who has worked with him to make the business a success.

Three years agog Nathanial Shaw and his wife had a small restaurant near the stock yards, but it was hard work managing it and the returns were small. They decided to try to get along on a small piece of land and in July, 1909, they bought ten acres nine miles west of Kansas City, Kan. The price was $1,000 and they paid $100 cash and were to pay the balance in installments of $10 a month. Neither Shaw nor his wife had ever farmed and they knew as little about it as did Mr. and Mrs. Walkley, who thought an asparagus bed was a weed patch, but they were thoroughly discouraged with trying to get along in the crowded city and in the spring of 1910 they moved out to their land and built a very inexpensive and small house and barn, and bought a cow, a pair of horses and a wagon.

They have made a specialty of tomatoes and green corn. The first year the drought almost ruined their crop, but they made enough from it to keep up their payments regularly. The next spring they put in an acre of tomatoes and about as much sweet corn.

As soon as the tomatoes ripened and the corn was ready to eat, Shaw drove to town three times a week and gradually established a line of regular customers.

Shaw and his wife picked in the evening the tomatoes for the next day's selling and wiped each one carefully with a cloth. This gave them a bright polish that brought out their red lusciousness, and they packed them closely in layers in baskets with a sheet of paper between each layer. This proved fine for their business. People wanted those bright, clean looking tomatoes packed so carefully between layers of paper and all through the season Shaw got five and ten cents a basket more than the market price for his tomatoes.

It was hard work. They often worked until 9 or 10 o'clock at night getting the baskets packed and the wagon loaded and Shaw had to start at 3 o'clock in the morning to get into town early enough to catch his customers before they bought elsewhere, but the place is paid for and Shaw and his wife will build a good house and barn this winter.

"The best part of it is that I am my own boss and am not worried any more about the future and what will become of me and the children when I am old," says Shaw.

Four years ago Jacob Mott was a day laborer with a family, and, with all his industry and economy he had saved only $100. He paid that July 7, 1908, as first installment of $1,000 for ten acres of land west of Kansas City, Kan., and he and his wife went to the land and lived in a tent. Five acres of the ten was covered with timber and the first summer and fall Mott chopped this up into cordwood, which he carried, stick by stick to the roadside, because he was too poor to buy a team, and there he piled it up and sold all of it on the spot for $2.25 a cord.

In this way he got enough money to buy a team, a wagon and a plow. He put in a crop of melons, cucumbers and sweet corn and he did so well the first summer that those have been his crops ever since.

Mott sells all of his product in the market in Kansas City, starting from his place in the evening and driving over, arriving at the market about 10 o'clock. He puts his loaded wagon in place, stables his horses and then goes to bed and gets up the next morning in time to catch the early trade. He says that one load of sweet corn brought him $75 one day when he happened to be the only person in the market with corn.

Mott has his place paid for and has a house of three rooms on it and a good barn. He owns three horses some hogs and a lot of chickens. He was so poor the second year he was on the place that he had to borrow $5 with which to buy a flock of chickens.

Each of these four men who has raised himself from the underpaid drudgery of city life to independence on the land, gives much of the credit of his success to his wife. Without the co-operation of the wife each would have failed.

Thirty-six receipted rent bills made an acre-tract farmer out of William Keltner, a cable splicer employed by the Home Telephone company. For three years he had been paying $20 a month rent—and he had the receipts to show for it. Expenses were high and he did not seem to be "getting along." In April, 1910, Mr. Keltner rebelled against the growing pile of receipted bills occupying a corner on one of the pantry shelves and followed a fellow employe, Thomas Stricklin, to an acre tract suburb on the Leavenworth electric line.

There was nothing on the acre but a well, when he bought the tract, paying $50 down. His monthly payments were $10 and interest.

That first April Mr. Keltner built a two-room house, a good structure, but temporary. The foundation, 26x42, for his new home, a five-room cottage is now in. The house will be finished by spring. He is doing all the work himself. His improvements on the acre are worth about $400.

On his tract Mr. Keltner is now about $1,200 ahead. Also he has been saving some money. The vegetable garden has cut down living expenses. The apple, peach, pear, plum, cherry and apricot trees and raspberry, gooseberry, currant and grape vines set out two years ago are growing into usefulness.

Mr. Keltner planted his cherry trees in his front yard, his plum trees in the chicken yard and his apple and peach trees in rows the length of the tract.

WILL A WILSON BE NO. 13?

Twelve Weddings Held in the White House---Will One of Three Daughters of President-Elect Defy Superstition?

Zoe Beckley in the New York Mail: Will the White House see its thirteenth—and fourteenth and fifteenth, but more especially the former—wedding the next four years? Twelve brides have worn orange blossoms in the national mansion, and now comes President-elect Wilson with three charming, marriageable daughters, making it seem probable that the thirteenth White House wedding will be held.

The eyes of the nation—at least the feminine eyes—are watching the Wilson girls—Eleanor, Margaret and Jessie—with a great deal of interest these days. If they have as many as three "dates" in succession with any particular young man, Dame Rumor is certain to speak of the possible—no, probable—thirteenth wedding.

Alice Roosevelt was the last White House bridge. Her wedding to Congressman Longworth was almost seven years ago. The marriage ceremony was held in the East room before the largest company of wedding guests ever gathered in the White House.

Wore a Wonderful Dress.

Reams were written and eagerly read about the bride's brocaded princess gown; of how the material was specially woven on the silk looms of Paterson; of how Alice herself designed the wreaths that formed its pattern, and of how the workman under whose hands it finally passed was presented a $50 note, given a week's vacation, and told to forget all details of the fabric's making.

Then there was the wedding of Frances Folsom and President Cleveland. That was in the Blue room in June, 1886. Miss Folsom was only 22.

The wedding next before President Cleveland's was that of President Hayes's niece, Emily Platt, in 1878. The bridegroom was Gen. Russell Hastings and the ceremony was in the Blue room. Nobody seems to remember much about the wedding, but four years before that was the most brilliant wedding, spectacularly speaking, the White House ever saw.

The Groom Carried Flowers.

The bride was Ellen Wrenshall Grant—the beloved "Nellie"—who became Mrs. Algernon C. F. Sartoris. They were married in the East room. That was in 1874, long enough ago to make descriptions of the bridegroom's outfit humorous reading. One account says:

"He wore the regulation English wedding dress and carried a bouquet of orange blossoms and tuberoses, with a center of pink buds. From this center arose a flagstaff, on which floated a silver banner on which was the word 'Love' in silver letters. The bride carried a bouquet of choice white flowers and a pearl fan with lace cover. The bride changed her attire and was ready for the cars in fifteen minutes."

Still going backward, the next White House wedding was that of a president's daughter, Elizabeth Tyler. Her marriage was in 1842 to William Waller of Williamsburg, Va. It was at this wedding that one of the bridesmaids expressed surprise to Daniel Webster that Miss Tyler should willingly exchange her White House home for a humble residence in a Virginia town. Webster replied, "Ah—love rules the court, the camp, the grove, and love is heaven and heaven is love," and the young woman gasped, without being able to think of a suitable reply.

Three in One President's Time.

Three weddings were celebrated in President Jackson's administration—that of Delia Lewis of Nashville, to a member of the French legation, Alphonse Joseph Yver Pageot; Mary Easton, a niece of Mrs. Jackson, to Lucien B. Polk, and of Emily Martin, a relative of the president, to Lewis Randolph.

John Quincy Adam's son John married his cousin, Mary Hellen, in the Blue room. This was in 1828, when the president and guests tripped through Virginia reels and made the crystals shiver on the chandeliers.

Then there was Maria Monroe, who was the first president's daughter to be married in the White House—in 1820. In 1812 Anra Todd, cousin of President Madison's wife, was a Blue room bride.

The very first White House wedding was in March, 1811, when Mrs. Madison's youngest sister, Lucy Payne Washington, widow of a nephew of George, was the bride.

FOR A CHILDREN'S PARTY.
Woman's Home Companion:

Little Bopeep has lost her sheep,
And cannot tell where to find them;
Saturday afternoon at the hour of 3
She wants you to try and find them.

The above verse is neatly written on Mother Goose invitation cards and delivered to each playmate. Purchase a number of inexpensive, small, white, woolly sheep, and hide these about the room in places that will be difficult for the small folks to discover.

When all have arrived let Little Bopeep tell them once more that the sheep are lost, that she wants them all to try to find them, and that they have strayed no farther than that room. Each child is then given a crook (a paper covered cane) and the hunt is begun. As soon as a child finds a sheep she is instructed to sit down, and so on until all have found sheep.

The sheep are then collected and put away, to be returned to the children before they go home.

From a Mother Goose book cut out a number of the characters best known to the children and mount them upon squares of cardboard of a uniform size. Following the hunt for the sheep bring forth these cards, hold one up before the little folks, and ask who recognizes the person. For example, the picture may be that of Little Boy Blue. In a moment or two some child will remember the picture and instantly recognize it as that of Little Boy Blue. Then ask the child to recite the rhyme connected with Little Boy Blue. The young folks will become interested and will be amused with this until the whole collection has been gone through.

A book holder that an Ohio woman has patented has legs which stand upon a chair seat and a cord to suspend it from the shoulders of its user, whose hands are left free.

Actress Tells Secret

Miss Blanche Rose, a well-known actress, who darkened her gray hair with a simple preparation which she mixed at home, in a recent interview at Chicago, Ill., made the following statement. "Any lady or gentleman can darken their gray hair and make it soft and glossy with this simple recipe, which they can mix at home. To a half pint of water add 1 oz. of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and ¼ oz. of glycerine. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until it becomes the required shade. This will make a gray haired person look 20 years younger. It is also fine to promote the growth of hair, relieves itching and scalp humors and is excellent for dandruff and falling hair."

SENATOR NELSON.

Senator Knute Nelson has won an honor never before accorded to any man by a Minnesota legislature—he has been unanimously elected United States senator, to succeed himself.

That he was re-elected is of course no cause for surprise. That was assured by the results of the primary election. But that his election by the legislature should be unanimous is a handsome tribute to a man who has done splendid service for the state in the upper house of our national congress.

Senator Nelson never has turned a deaf ear to the interests of Minnesota or any Minnesotan. He has been faithful in his attendance in congress, and his work on important committees in the senate has won him national recognition. He was accorded a majority of more than 70,000 at the polls, a vote that was a mandate to the legislature to return him to the senatorial chamber.

It is probable, in view of the reluctance with which Senator Nelson accepted renomination last year, that this will be his last term as senator. It must be a source of satisfaction to him that there was no voice of protest against his re-election in the legislature, as it is ground for congratulation. It is a practical and forcible recognition of public services well rendered. It was not only proper for the legislature to give such recognition—it was an honor to which Minnesota's senior senator was justly entitled.

The allies, it is said, have spent $200,000,000 on their armies since the armistice was signed. And yet there are people who would insist on nations maintaining a perpetual war footing.

SENATOR WORKS' BILL.

One of the bills thus far introduced in the legislature that is most worth watching is the income tax measure proposed by Senator Works. It would give the state a system of taxation based on the theory that he who gains the most benefit under the administration of government should pay the most toward the support of that government, and that any man whose income is barely enough for his sustenance should be freed as far as possible from a share in the general expense.

Senator Works has introduced an excellent bill. It is founded largely on the Wisconsin income tax, and its general provisions are:

That no income, whether of an individual, a firm or a corporation, shall be taxed if it be less than $800 a year.

That on incomes exceeding that amount, the tax shall be graded according to the amount of the income.

That certain elements of income shall be exempted in figuring the amount of income on which taxes shall be levied.

Thus, corporations and firms shall be allowed to deduct wages paid; operating expenses; losses; taxes; dividends from interests in concerns paying an income tax; interest paid on debts, and interest received from bonds exempted from taxation.

Individuals are given the following exemptions: Expenses of business or professional operations; incomes from concerns paying an income tax; interest paid on debts; interest from exempted bonds; officials' salaries, and pensions paid by the United States.

It provides further that although incomes of $800 a year are subject to the tax, a married man shall not be taxed unless his income shall be at least $1,200. There is also provided an exemption of $200 for each child under 18 years of age and for each dependent person of whatever age.

The amount of the tax is to be 1 per cent on incomes of $1,000; on those of $2,000 it is to be 1¼ per cent; on $3,000 it is to be 1½ per cent, and so on with a stated rising scale, the levy on incomes of $12,000 or more being 6 per cent.

The Works bill carefully avoids the difficulty of double taxation, and by its exemption of wages paid and funds used for operating expenses, it gets away from the danger that its charges might in fact have to be met in the long run by employes of corporations.

Probably the likelihood of a Federal income tax will be urged against the Works bill, but inasmuch as the people now have to pay both state and Federal taxes, there is no particular force in this argument. The Works bill is carefully drawn, and puts the expense of government where it belongs—on those most able to bear it—instead of burdening still more those already burdened as heavily as they can bear.

Probably the people who would most like to dance at Wilson's inauguration are those 35,000 postmasters.

ANOTHER RULE OF REASON.

Another rule of reason has been laid down by the United States supreme court in its declaration of the validity of the Chicago ordinance on the sale of bread. The law prohibits the sale of short-weight loaves, and requires that every loaf sold shall be labeled with its weight.

Complaint against the ordinance was made by a baker who asserted that the ordinance interfered with the freedom of contract guaranteed by the Constitution. The supreme court declared that there is no "absolute" freedom in this respect. That local authorities intrusted with the regulation of such matters as honest weight and honest measure are the best judges of what is right in such matters, and that Chicago, through its police power, has the right to demand honesty and openness in the sale of bread to its citizens. The baker's plea, the court declared, if sustained, would do away with standardization of weights and measures.

Here is a rule of reason which the people will understand and appreciate to the full. It is one which declares in favor of a workingman's getting his money's worth when he buys food for his family. It is more than a rule of reason—it is a rule of honesty. And incidentally the court's decision will be a vast help to other cities than Chicago in enforcing square dealing by those whose business is to supply the people with the necessaries of life.

No doubt you'll agree that the growth of the parcel post business is astounding. Sure it is—but have you stopped to think how thoroughly it was advertised?

CITY CANDIDATES.

From time to time since the adoption of the new charter by the city, The Herald has urged the business men to consider seriously their own possible candidacy for the office of commissioner or mayor. The Herald would repeat that exhortation with all the emphasis possible.

In the news columns yesterday a business man was quoted as saying:

"I have made a success of my own business and I believe I could make a success of the city's business."

That is the kind of record and the kind of confidence that counts. What higher success could any man have than to take hold of public affairs and make a success of them?

We want to make no mistakes in this city government proposition. We cannot afford to make any. If any man has the ability to take hold of civic affairs and conduct them to the best interests of the city and its people, he could not find a better use for his time and capabilities than by doing just that thing.

To you men who have the qualities necessary for municipal management, The Herald addresses particularly its exhortation to enter the lists. The salary of $4,000 a year may not be sufficient to attract you particularly; the stigma that has so often marked candidacy for public office in this country may have kept you out of such matters heretofore; you may feel that there are others who would do quite as well as you in municipal office; but how do you know that they will offer themselves as candidates, or that they can command the confidence of the people to the same extent as yourself?

You live in Duluth and its interests are your interests. What better use can you make of your ability and energy than by doing all you know how to make this city the best governed municipality in the United States or even in the world?

This city government business is no child's play—it is business, Business, BUSINESS. We want the best men we can get to run it for us. The best are not in the least degree too good.

St. Patrick's Day falls in Holy Week this year, which fact may prove rather wearin' on the green.

A MUCH-LOVED BRIDE.

On various occasions when some member of one of our wealthy families has taken the solemn marriage vows, there have been criticism and ridicule, much of it in rather ill-natured strain. Today, when the daughter of one of America's multi-millionaires is to take up the duties of wifehood, there is even more interest than usual, but nothing of the former criticisms and sneers.

The difference is due entirely to the character of the bride. Helen Gould has long been known as a helper of the suffering and the poor. She has endeared herself to thousands, not only among the people of the larger cities, but among the men who serve in our army and navy. Employes of the railroad lines in which she is interested have felt her sympathy. And today the good wishes of these men as well as of those in the national defense service are represented at Miss Gould's wedding by gifts to the bride from Western railroad camps and from battleship and barracks.

Miss Gould has entered into the lives of these men through her personality, her appreciation of the bond of humanity between herself and them, and has established for herself a place unique among the daughters of wealth. There is no disposition to criticize or find fault, however fully she may meet the recognized requirements of her social position in the details of her wedding. For once there is no voicing of envy or malice. Instead there is only friendly interest and sincere well-wishing for the new-made matron.

The experience of Miss Gould, or Mrs. Shepard as she must hereafter be known, ought to set the spark to trains of thought in the minds of other women of wealth. Her humanity has endeared her to all. If hearty good wishes from all parts of the country can insure marital happiness, Mr. and Mrs. Finley J. Shepard will never see a cloud in the sky of their married life. The bride brings to her husband a dower from the people that has been conspicuously lacking in other experiences of other daughters of millionaires. If the "Bless you, my children!" of the mass of Americans has any efficiency, theirs should prove an ideal marriage.

William Rockefeller goes Brother John one better. He hoards not only his pennies, but his breath.

Women Wage-Earners

Sir Thomas Oliver, the leading authority of the English-speaking world on work and health, gives The Survey his impressions of a six weeks' tour of American industries. It was his book "Trade Diseases," that was cited fourteen times before the United States supreme court in the case in which the constitutionality of legislation prohibiting night work of women was upheld. Dr. Oliver says:

"Two things particularly struck me in my visits to American factories—one is the fewer old workmen seen therein compared with England, and the other is the enormous employment of female labor. It is, I admit, extremely pleasing in going through a factory to see hundreds of young women, clean and neatly dressed when the nature of the work permits of it, and one cannot but in a sense join in the pride which a manager feels in showing to a casual visitor to his factory such an army of young womanhood. But apart from the circumstance that the women are earning their livelihood, and in some instances lightening the call upon the family exchequer, is there no other side to the question which calls for thoughtful consideration!

Factory life does not tend to development of those traits which make home attractive. It does not encourage marriage and by it maternity is discouraged.

"The American nation, too, will have lost considerably by having utilized in the production of mere material wealth the best years of a great part of its available womanhood when the nation itself is so much in need of sons and daughters born under the flag and reared in the traditions of all that has made the United States powerful, progressive and enduring."

Because of This.

The rosy dawn hath lengthened into noontime,
But where, and how, I cannot tell the why—
I've toiled and toiled and in the meantime
The sun hath climbed high in the arching sky.

And everywhere its light is penetrating,
The world is gladdened with the golden light.
And while I sat peacefully, meditating,
Behold, there cometh night.

I shall not weep because the light is failing,
Because the darkness gathers o'er my head.
For soon the moon and star-ships will be sailing,
And well I know, the day cannot be dead.

'Tis just a little while we have for sleeping.
And then, the morning bright—
There is no time for idleness and weeping,
Because the golden light

Is flooding all the earth with gladsome daytime,
And we go forth, forgetting how we came
Out of the quiet darkness of the night time
Into a day that looks to us the same.

Because of this I shall not fall a-weeping
When I shall see my life's sun sinking low,
When death shall come to claim me for his keeping
I shall be glad to go.

For when I wake, the morning will be brighter,
I shall be rested, ready for the dawn.
The burden of my toiling will be lighter,
When all the shades of death's dark night are gone.

—Della McGovern.

"Like They Did With Mamma"

From the Omaha World-Herald.

When the Burlington flyer from Chicago dragged itself into the Mason street train sheds this morning the outlook was a chilly one. It was very cold and there was much snow. But it was the cold that counted. The whistles of the locomotives had a far-away quaver and the escaping steam hissed menacingly. Heavily-gloved brakemen slapped their hands together and swore as the tinkers broke the air couplings between the express and chair cars. The engineer had not opened his windows. It was cold—positively cold.

The train conductor sought out Station Superintendent Mik and told him about the Swedish traveling man who fell down stairs with the chiffonier just as the blonde woman said—and when he finished the conductor added:

"By the way, Joe, there's a little girl in the chair car that's being sent through to Denver. She's got her ticket all right, but I haven't seen her eating anything, and she sat up all night—dozed a lot, of course. Somebody's going to meet her at Denver, she says. Sort o' nutty, I guess, 'though you can't tell about kids. All she does is play with her doll and a nail—thinks she's a dentist, I guess. All the time fussing around the doll's mouth with a nail."

Joe Mik has the blessing of fatherhood, and it didn't take him long to get into that chair car. There was the little girl all right, and she had about half of a three-inch nail rammed down the throat of a decidedly shabby doll. She was neatly dressed—the girl—but very, very pale. The doll had the best of it as to clothes.

"How are you, little girl?" asked Joe.

"All right," responded the lassie. "But Sallie-Girl is sick, she was on that window sill all night—and she got cold—just like—like the other Sallie-Girl."

"Who's the other Sallie-Girl?" inquired the blue-coated superintendent.

"Oh, that's my mother," gaily replied the little lady. "She got cold, too, just like my Sallie-Girl, and so daddy-man said he'd send me to see Aunt Lou. Daddy-man said he couldn't go now," she sighed.

Then, suddenly thrusting the nail down a jagged hole in the region of Sally-Girl's lips, the tiny traveler exclaimed:

"Oh, I forgot."

"What's the matter," asked the astonished Joe. "What are you doing?"

"Must take her temperker," responded the white faced traveler. "That's what they did to my mother that Daddy-man used to have. Then they took her away in—see, I've got one, too."

And the girl produced a wooden box, into which Sally-Girl fitted most exactly. It was marked, in faded blue pencil, 75 cents.

"Good God," exclaimed Mik as he reached the lunch counter in the depot. Mr. Mik is not a profane man, and when he says something of that sort he means it. Never was such a luncheon put into a basket, and never was one so readily paid for.

And never was a negro as happy as when the porter of that chair car finished a short but business-like conversation with Depot Superintendent Joseph Mik of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy lines, Omaha, Neb.

Counting the Stars

From the London Standard.

The announcement by the astronomer royal that the counting of the stars is nearly complete draws attention to the colossal task which has been occupying the Greenwich observatory for close upon two years. The counting of the stars and the recording of their respective magnitudes was begun in March of last year. The work probably will come to an end in January, when the results, dealing with 53,000,000 stars, will be published.

S. Chapman of the royal observatory, who has charge of the work, explained the remarkable methods by which it is being carried out.

"Of course, we are not counting each individual star," he said; "that would take us 100 years. We are counting various areas of the sky, which in the aggregate, amount to one-tenth of the total area, and then the amount will be multiplied by ten. The counted areas have been selected on a system which should yield a fair average, so that the final figure—probably a total of something more than 50,000,000—will be approximately correct."

The whole sky has been photographed, 206 plates, each sixteen inches square, being necessary. Each plate records from 60,000 to 800,000 starry images, the result of two hours' exposure in the Southern Hemisphere, or two hours and twenty minutes in the Northern Hemisphere. By using a specially designed ten-inch chromatic lens stars of great faintness, down to the sixteenth and seventeenth magnitudes, have left an impression on the plate. The star images are then counted under a high power microscope. Here again a short cut to an average is taken. To count every image on a plate would take two assistants a fortnight, so only sample areas on the plate are examined and the average for the whole plate is arrived at by a simple proportion sum.

The plates are ruled into sections by resea lines 1 deg. apart, then a small square is marked out at the center of the plate and the other squares and rectangles of a definite area marked out by measuring in progressive stages of 3 deg. starting from the center of any part of the plate. The stars in each area are counted, then the number and the areas are totaled, giving the basis for the finding of the average total on the whole plate.

The Editor's Advice.

Mountain Echo: If you have frequent fainting spells, accompanied by chills, cramps, corns, bunions, chilblains, epilepsy and jaundice, it is a sign that you are not well, but liable to die any minute. Pay your subscription in advance and thus make yourself solid for a good obituary notice.

Or It Might Have Been a Motor Reaction.

Kansas City Star: One of the youths who stole a motor car said he was influenced by the other boys to take part in the theft. It was more probably a case of auto suggestion.

Presidential Osculation.

Washington Post: The difference between the United States and France is that when we inaugurate a president he kisses the Bible, and when the Frenchmen swear one in he kisses his predecessor.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—When he gets around to preparing his biography for the congressional directory, Frank T. O'Hair, the man who defeated Uncle Joe Cannon out in Illinois, cannot refer to himself as a graduate of any college.

Yet he spent four years at De Pauw university and completed the full course without receiving a single "flunk". All he lacks is the diploma.

And that brings us up to the story we're fixing to tell.

New paragraph. In the days when O'Hair attended De Pauw university, a score or so of years ago, the little Indian college was famous for the good orators it turned out. When O'Hair was a member of the graduating class, the champion orator of the place was a young woman classmate of his, whom we'll call Jennie Smith. O'Hair heard that her instructor in German didn't like the girl for some reason and planned to "flunk" her. As she had been obliged to give a lot of time to her oratorical work, to the neglect of other studies, O'Hair feared the instructor might find excuse to carry out his intention. To become the champion orator of the school and then not be graduated would be extremely humiliating to the girl, naturally, and O'Hair's sympathies were aroused. He made up his mind to help her through the German examination, in case she needed help, even if the performance was not exactly regular.

Unhappily, O'Hair and the girl were seated at opposite corners of the room. He saw that his one chance to help her was to get through first and try to hand her a copy of his examination paper. This he did, chivalrously dropping the paper near her desk as he sauntered by.

The eagle-eyed professor, however, saw what happened, or thought he did, and during the rest of the examination hour he stood within a yard of Jennie Smith's desk. This served to upset the girl so completely that she made an utter failure of an examination that she might have passed easily. She went to O'Hair and told him tearfully what had happened. O'Hair, in turn, went to the faculty and confessed the whole thing, asking that the girl receive a diploma, inasmuch as she had been an innocent party to the attempted foul.

But the faculty decided not to award either one a diploma.

The following summer, when the faculty and trustees were holding a joint meeting at Indianapolis, O'Hair and Jennie Smith interrupted the proceedings by walking in together and demanding a hearing. O'Hair told them about it with a forcefulness and vigor that made them all sit and stare. When he got through, the trustees talked it over with the faculty and one of the faculty heads told him they had decided to award the diplomas.

"So far as I am concerned," replied O'Hair, "I came here for the sole object of having you offer me your accursed old diploma so that I could turn it down. I purpose to try to go through life without it. As for Miss Smith, she can speak for herself."

The young woman was an orator, but she never spoke with such oratorical power as when she stood up then before the faculty and told them what she thought of them and that she would have none of their diplomas.

When she had finished, O'Hair offered her his arm and with much dignity they strode out.

In the interest of romance, this story should now go on to tell how O'Hair and the girl went straightaway to the license clerk's desk and from there to a kindly minister with white whiskers who united them, that they might go through life chuckling over the way they gave that college faculty the hoarse hoot.

But the fact is that there was nothing sentimental about the affair at all. O'Hair was simply a good friend of the girl's brother and wished to see her get a square deal. A few years later after she had got married and gone to New York to live, she relented and accepted her diploma.

O'Hair, too, was offered his diploma once again, a few years later, and his letter to the college faculty was characteristic.

He told them that he had been worrying along without their old diploma for a number of years, making a comfortable living regardless of the fact that he didn't have the thing framed and hung up in the front parlor, with cattails and peacock feathers over it, and that unless he took a violent change of mind he purposed to let them keep the diploma and jump in the river with it, or resort to whatever other caprices they might see fit.

Ollie James received a letter from a Kentucky woman, who wished him to see Mrs. Woodrow Wilson and use his influence to try to get her appointed Mrs. Wilson's secretary. That was before the appointment of Miss Hagner had been announced.

"I'd just as soon go to some man and recommend to him whom he ought to marry," remarked Ollie.

Senator Hoke Smith of Georgia is a hospitable man, and, moreover, he has a hobby for entertaining young people. The consequence is that almost any noon he may be seen in the senate restaurant with a bevy of young women at his table, buying them expensive food.

The Vice President-Elect.

Bidding farewell to Thomas R. Marshall as governor, the Indianapolis News says: "The people of Indiana would, if they could speak in a corporate capacity, testify to their high regard for him. That his administration has been clean and honest his severest critics cannot and will not deny. There has not been even the suspicion of graft, not even of that little graft—known as 'perquisites'—which is thought by many to be almost legitimate. In his public utterances, and in his official communications to the legislature, Governor Marshall has given expression to the soundest views. He is a progressive, but within safely constitutional lines, and a believer in representative government."

The State Legislature

Press Views on Doings at the Capitol.

Has Made Good Start.

Madison Western Guard: The legislature has made a splendid start, and if the solons keep up the present gait the 1913 session will go down in history as a hummer. Expenses have been cut all along the line.

Opposed to Normals.

Albert Lea Tribune: The legislator who votes for three new normal schools ought to be marked for defeat by his constituents.

Direct Legislation.

Perham Enterprise: It looks like we are to have the initiative and referendum after all. Bills have been introduced in both the house and senate. The recall feature may be left out, but that can be easily put in if thought necessary under the initiative.

Skeptical.

Northfield News: If the legislature enacts all the reform laws already proposed, to say nothing of those that are yet to come, politically we are likely to have a new heaven and a new earth. It may be as well, however, to wait and see whether their accomplishment will implement their promises.

An Expectant Public.

Roseau Region: Now that the committee assignments have been made and the organization of the two houses completed, the people expect the legislature to get busy and enact laws that will aid in developing the state materially and morally.

An Old Story.

St. Cloud Times: The legislature is to have another contest over a tonnage tax. By-jorge introduced the bill again. Better try something new.

Tribute to the Press.

Warren Register: Leaders of the now defunct Minnesota state senate combine complain that it was newspaper publicity that killed the nice little game that they had incubated. It could not have had much merit, or it would have withstood the light of day better. Their complaint is also an unwilling, perhaps unwitting, tribute to the power of the press when enlisted on the side of the right, as it usually is.

New Constitution Needed.

Roseau Times: The state of Minnesota is in need of a new Constitution and it would be in line with progressive ideas for a progressive legislature to provide for a constitutional convention, but it won't.

What Convicts Read

"Tommy Try" and "What He Did" and "The School Girl's Garland"—to cite actual titles—are poor prison diet for men who ask for books on trades and English grammar. Florence Rising Curtis, of the University of Illinois Library School, in The Survey makes an interesting plea for the intelligent use of libraries as instruments of reformation for the 50,000 men and women in the state and national prisons, of whom three-fourths are confined for from one to ten years.

"A study of the catalogues of twenty-three prison libraries shows that, with few exceptions, they are far below the grade of the average public library of the same size; the classes of history, biography and travel, which should be especially strong, are often filled with out-of-date and unreadable books. It is surprising that detective stories figure largely in the fiction lists, for it would seem dubious policy to furnish stories of crime which suggest ingenious plans and point out the weak spots in the method of their execution.

"These libraries have received in bulk a large number of the old Sunday school conditions of out-of-date religious and temperance books; they are decidedly lacking in readable informational literature—biography, travel, science and books on present-day invention and progress. Such literature is especially needed here, for it is the experience of those in charge that prison men tire of stories, and crave more solid reading.

"The prison libraries need, first of all, trained librarians, who know how to select books which provide information and recreation; how to care for these books, and how to get them read."

It's Morgan's.

I came to a mill by the river side,
A half mile long and nearly as wide,
With a forest of stacks and an army of men
Toiling at furnace and shovel and pen.
"What a magnificent plant!" I cried,
And a man with a smudge on his face replied,
"It's Morgan's."

I entered a train and rode all day
On a regal coach and a right-of-way,
Which reached its arms all over the land
In a system too large to understand.
"A splendid property this!" I cried,
And a man with a plate on his hat replied,
"It's Morgan's."

I sailed on a great ship, trim and true
From pennant to keel and cabin to crew,
And the ship was one of a monster fleet;
A first-class navy could scarce compete.
"What a beautiful craft she is!" I cried.
A man with akimbo legs replied,
"It's Morgan's."

I dwelt in a nation filled with pride,
Her people were many, her lands were wide;
Her record in war and science and art
Proved greatness in muscle and mind and heart.
"What a grand old country it is!" I cried,
And a man with his chest in the air replied,
"It's Morgan's."

I went to heaven. The jasper walls
Towered high and wide, and the golden halls
Shone bright beyond. But a strange new mark
Was over the gate—viz., "Private Park."
And a saint with livery on replied,
"It's Morgan's."

I went to the only place left.
"I'll take a chance on the brimstone lake,
Or perhaps I may be allowed to sit
On the gridded floor of the bottomless pit."
But a leering lout with horns on his face
Cried out as he forked me off the place,
"It's Morgan's."

Names of Cloths

New York Sun: Muslin is named from Mosul, a city on the banks of the Tigris; cambric from Cambria, a town of France. Gauze is probably derived from Gaza, in Syria, although some authorities hold to the Hindu "gazi," meaning thin cloth.

Baize, which is commonly thought of as being of green hue, was named from its original color, a reddish brown. The word is really the plural of "bay," and the color is that of the horse which is known as "bay". A form of the word is common in many tongues.

Damask, quite obviously, is derived from Damascus.

Silk and serge are both derived from the Latin' seres, meaning the Chinese. These fabrics were first imported from that portion of Asia which is now Southern China.

Velvet is from the Italian Velluto, meaning woolly. Vellum is a derivation of the same root—a pelt or hide.

Bandanna is from the Indian word meaning to "bind or tie" and has reference to the manner of tying knots in the fabric to prevent the dye from reaching every part thereof. In this way spots are left white and a rude pattern remains in the cloth.

Alpaca comes from the animal of the same name in Peru. It is of the llama species and its wool is used to manufacture the fabric employed in the making of summer garments.

An Ancient Anti-Golf Law.

London Chronicle: Perth, where golf is now a municipal institution, is the city where the first act was passed forbidding the playing of "Golfe," futeball or other sik unprofitable sportes." That was in 1424 and James I was the culprit, directing his laws against his subjects while playing the game himself on the North Inch. The golf club there is older by centuries than James the VI, though it bears his name. When that monarch became James I of England, he brought his liking for the game southwards. He issued letters patent at Salisbury to William Bervick for the making of golf balls for twenty-two years. The reason would delight Mr. Bonar Law. It was to prevent so much British money going out of the country to pay for the golf balls made in Holland.

New York Senator Does Not Favor Root Amendment.

Wants American Shipping to Have Free Passage Through Canal.

Washington, Jan. 22.—"We would indeed create a painful impression abroad if this mighty nation should surrender to the control of any foreign power its domestic policies and the control of its domestic commerce. That we can never do and maintain the prestige, the honor and the glory of this great republic."

This reply by Senator O'Gorman to Senator Root marked the opening in the senate today of the Root amendment for the repeal of the free passage provision of the new Panama canal act.

"If Great Britain had expended a half billion dollars in an enterprise affecting her people, as the Panama canal does ours, what would be her attitude if the United States should make complaint against her action?" he asked.

None Can Dispute.

Senator O'Gorman was followed by Senator Newlands who also asserted that the United States held domestic rights at Panama which a foreign power could not dispute. He proposed that the free passage provision remain in the bill; but that the objections of Great Britain be met by an amendment whereby the United States government would pay the tolls remitted upon American coastwise shipping.

"All that foreign nations have the right to insist upon," said Senator Newlands, "is that the charges which American ships are freed from shall not be imposed upon foreign shipping."

Senator O'Gorman replied directly to Senator Root's declaration that the United States was bound by the solemn pledges of its treaties to submit to arbitration the Panama controversy.

Latest One Defeated.

He declared the latest arbitration treaty negotiated with Great Britain had been defeated in the senate, while those now in force explicitly exempted from arbitration questions involving the national honor for vital interests of the United States.

Senator Newlands declared the American transcontinental railroads were trying, with the aid of Canadian roads, to "paralyze the canal." He said American roads first tried to prevent the construction and then to restrict the operation of the canal. Failing in that, he said, they had appealed to their "strong neighbor in the North, also interested in monopolizing transcontinental transportation."

This activity, he declared, had been followed by a Canadian appeal to the British government.

THOUGHT IT A FLY.

Los Angeles Times: Hector Von Bayer, architect of the bureau of fisheries, was telling fish stories in Washington.

"I was once fishing for bass in Lake Sunapee," he said. "Old Jakle was my guide. Jake chose the fishing ground, and he also selected the flies.

"The fish rose well till after luncheon, then they vanished. After an hour of vain casting, I said to Jake:

"'I guess they're taking a siesta now, eh?'

"'I guess mebbe they are,' the old man answered, from his armchair in the stern, 'but any other fly with a bit of yaller in it would do jest as well.'"

HARD ON THE HORSES.

Indianapolis News: Every wise cavalry officer keeps a sharp eye upon the horses of his command, as the success of the next engagement may depend upon their good condition. A sergeant was out of patience with an awkward recruit. "Never approach the horses from behind without speaking!" he exclaimed; "if you do, they'll kick you in that thick head of yours and the end of it will be that we shall have nothing but lame horses in the squadron."

CLEVELAND TEAM COMING

Coddy Winters' Crack Seven to Play Duluth in in February.

Forest City Aggregation Rated as the Best in the United States.

Negotiations were closed today with the crack Cleveland hockey team, of which Coddy Winters is one of the stars, that will result in the appearance in Duluth of the Forest City brigade here on Feb. 5 and 6.

The Cleveland team is scheduled to play at Houghton on Feb. 3 and 4. Following the games with the Houghton bunch, the stars of the Middle West will come on to Duluth and furnish what will be the biggest hockey event in the history of the city.

Coddy Winters is the star of the Cleveland seven, as he is considered one of the greatest hockey players in the entire country. However, Coddy is not the whole team by any means. The entire team is made up of stars, and the appearance here of this great team will without doubt arouse the followers of winter sports to the thirty-third degree of enthusiasm, for Duluth is meeting what is considered by some as the greatest hockey team in the United States.

SOME FIGHTERS WHO LOOKED BAD

McCarty, McCoy, Young Corbett and Others Showed Small Promise.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—"McCarty is a curious example of the uncertainty which attends the doping of fighters on judgments formed from gymnasium work and first performances in the ring," says George T. Pandy. "He picked up the rudiments of the game around Chicago and didn't attract any more attention than a baker's dozen of other aspiring heavyweights then trying to gain recognition. In a battle with Jack Heinen, a South side middleweight, McCarty wanted to quit the worst way, according to the parties who were handling him, but was persuaded to stick to the finish by dint of much coaxing. Heinen was many pounds lighter than McCarty, as was also Mike Cantwell, another 158-pounder, who, it is claimed, used to wallop Mac unmercifully in practice bouts to the extent of making him holler 'Enough!' Certain it is that Cantwell twice offered to post a forfeit to go as a side bet that he could stop McCarty within ten rounds, but Luther refused to have anything to do with his former stable mate.

"However, even taking these statements at their face value, it must be conceded that many a horse has got away with a bad start and yet finished ahead of the field. This seems to be McCarty's case, and he isn't the first pug to establish such a record. There are numerous instances of knights of the roped arena who were merrily thumped in their salad days and sometimes quit under fire, but became top-notchers in the long run. You don't have to go back further than Jeffries to find one. James J. never quit in his early career (that was an exploit he reserved for Reno, when in the sere and yellow—exceedingly yellow—leaf), but he did go East in search of championship honors and hike back home to California again after making a miserable New York debut with Bob Armstrong for an opponent and running out of a second match with Steve O'Donnell. Yet every one knows what he accomplished finally in the slugging role.

Young Corbett deliberately quit before Kid Broad and Benny Yanger in Denver within a year of the date when he whipped Terry McGovern for the featherweight championship, but he was never known to show the white feather after he once attained a position in the front rank. Kid McCoy refused to continue after receiving a beating from one Billy Steffers at Cleveland in 1894, and lost the decision in one round. A few years later McCoy's name on a bill was a drawing card competed for and recognized by all the leading athletic clubs in the country. There was never any of the 'quit gag' about Bat Nelson, but he was made receiver general for many a thorough licking when he first began trifling with the mitts, but fought his way to the championship goal in spite of those reverses."

THREE DULUTHIANS IN "KISS WALTZ"

Miss Mayme Meining Is Recognized on Stage By Former Friends.

Duluth has been for two days entertaining, entirely unaware, one of her daughters, and one who has gained some fame as an actress on the coast first, and later in other parts of the country. Sheriff John, her step-father, didn't say a word about it, but some of her former friends recognized her on the stage last evening.

The young woman is M. Adelaide Power, better known in Duluth some years ago as Miss Mayme Meining. She is playing one of the most important roles with Valeska Suratt, and according to what those who saw her do it last night, and what the critics all over the country say, she is playing it well. She is playing a difficult part—that of the wife of nouveau riche. She has been on the stage about twelve years. Previous to that she resided in Duluth from the time that she was a little girl, being raised here, although born in Winnipeg. A Winnipeg paper, in discussing "The Kiss Waltz" in general, said of Miss Power in the lead—and Power is her correct name, doubly, so to speak, for her father's name was Power and she is married to a man named Power: "Adelaide Power, one time a well-known member of both the Empress and Avenue companies here, is a feature of 'The Kiss Waltz' company which last night successfully presented to a crowded house at the Imperial theater this Viennese operetta in two acts. In a role as a 'nouveau riche' she was responsible for lots of merriment and sang a very popular humorous number."

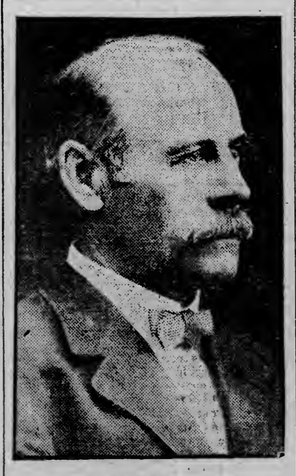

Miss Power, or, as Duluth knows her, Miss Meining, will be well remembered by hundreds in Duluth. She has been in dramatic companies ever since her debut on the stage, and this is her first experience in musical comedy. She says that she is exceedingly glad to be home again.

There are two other Duluthians in the company, Harry Whittaker, the property man, and J. E. Ferguson, electrician.

FAVORS BIGGER SUM FOR HUMANE WORK.

R. D. McKercher, agent for the Duluth Humane society is in receipt of a letter today from Cleon T. Knapp, representative from the Forty-ninth legislative district, in which he is assured that the bill which provides that the county board may authorize an appropriation of $2,400 instead of $1,200 to the organization will receive the support of the St. Louis county delegation. "I am heartily in favor of the work that your society is doing and think that it is only fair that we co-operate with you to the extent you ask," he writes.

It is more difficult to run on a small indoor track than on the larger track, which brings the average up very well.

SUPERIOR

Dr. La Fitte Very Ill.

Dr. Herman C. La Fitte, who was probably the first dentist at the Head of the Lakes, is seriously ill at his home at the East end and is not expected to live. Dr. La Fitte came to Superior in 1877 and is well known to pioneers in both Duluth and Superior.

Woman's Body Found.

The frozen body of a woman said to be a Mrs. Barbine was found in a room at 722 Broadway, yesterday afternoon. It is believed that the woman was murdered. The body was lying on the bed with one foot on the floor and with the hands covering the face as though for protection. Search is being made for the people at a gathering which it is said was held there a few nights ago, and which proved a saturnalia.

Thirsty Burglar.

The Warsaw saloon at 265 Fifth street, Old Town, was broken into night before last, but no money was taken, the thief seemingly being merely thirsty and helping himself, taking numerous drinks "on the house."

Swanson in Washington.

Washington, Jan. 22. — (Special to The Herald.)—Capt. Albert Swanson, in charge of the hydrographic office at Duluth, is in Washington attending a meeting of the Association of Commanders of Lake Vessels.

A mathematical genius has figured that 25,844,000 soap bubbles can be made from a pound of soap.

THE CASTES OF THE OPERA STAGE

Masters of the Art Live in Palatial Hotels, While Those Who Merely Wearily Sing May Be Found in Italian Restaurants.

From "The Soul of a Tenor," by W. J. Henderson, Henry Holt & Co., New York: An opera company is one of the most peculiar of human institutions. It is a pushing, eager, suspicious community in which the largest of human passions and the meanest of human jealousies jostle and elbow one another at all hours and in all circumstances. There are castes and there are iron gates through which the lower may not pass to the higher.

Away up in that blinding glare of that sun of publicity, which rises with the morning paper and sets only with the last edition of the evening, dwell the royalties of the opera realm, those mighty princesses and princes whose number of appearances are guaranteed for the season and who do not receive salaries but cachets, often rising to the proud proportions of four figures.

These masters do not dine in little Italian restaurants. The most palatial hotels provide them with gorgeous apartments, armies of lackeys and food with French titles. Some of them even set up their private domiciles for the season and display at least the outward semblance of a social dignity equal to that of their employers.

Little Italian restaurants are for singers who accept salaries, who humbly take so much a month and sing as often as the merciless impresario wishes.

And there are other lines of distinction, moral rather than financial, among the citizens of opera land. There is, for instance, the company of uninteresting women. Some of them have husbands whom they love and do not divorce. These women bear children and rear them with tenderness and intelligence. Also among the uninteresting women are those honest and ambitious beginners, who foolishly worship before the altar of the chaste Diana, refusing the helping masculine hands readily proffered to them at so small a cost as a transfer of their devotion to a different goddess.

These vestals remain in the gloom of minor roles and wearily wend their ways through season after season with painfully slow progress toward the glories of the realm.

BERLIN'S STREET RAILWAY.

Indianapolis News: One of the largest local traffic systems in the world if that of the Berlin Stadtbahn, which is being changed from a steam operated to an electrical line. In making this change it has been decided to adopt the use of locomotives instead of the more usual scheme of fitting out each car with a motor. In the case of a long train it has been decided to adopt the use of two locomotives, one on each end of the train, both motors to be controlled from one point, the front. This has been done in the interest of economy and efficiency. The operation of these lines will require 557 locomotives and 700 passenger cars and about thirty other cars. One of the great advantages of the electric locomotive is that its parts are much more accessible when it comes to examinations and repairs.

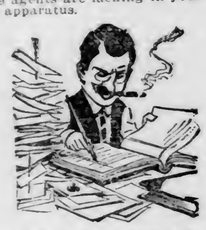

MAKING A NEW PORT.

Shipping Illustrated: The government of Uruguay has been considering the advisability of making Paysandu a great port with a free zone, for the handling of foreign goods. This port is situated at the head of the water navigable for ocean-going vessels, with seventeen feet of water always available; it is assured that twenty feet of water will be maintained in the port in the near future. A bill has been laid before the legislature providing for the creation and regulation of the general port and free zone.

GET RID OF ALL INDIGESTION

Not with drugs, but with a reinforcement of digestive agents, such as are naturally at work in the stomach. Scientific analysis shows that digestion requires pepsin, nitrogenous ferments, and the secretion of hydrochloric acid. When your food fails to digest, it is proof positive that some of these agents are lacking in your digestive apparatus.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain these natural elements necessary to digestion and when placed at work in the weak stomach and small intestines, supply what these organs need. They stimulate the gastric glands and gradually bring the digestive organs back to their normal condition.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been subjected to critical chemical tests at home and abroad and their composition has been approved by the highest authorities.

There is no secret in the preparation of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Their composition is known among physicians, as the most popular of all remedies for indigestion, dyspepsia, water brush, insomnia, loss of appetite, melancholia, constipation, dysentery and kindred diseases originating from improper dissolution and assimilation of foods, because they are thoroughly reliable and harmless to man or child.

Stuarts Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by all druggists at 50 cents a box and are at once a safe and a powerful remedy, one grain of the active principle in these tablets being strong enough (by test) to digest 3,000 grains of steak, eggs and other foods. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest your food for you when your stomach can't.

Blood Bath Knocks Rheumatism

Remarkable Effects of a Remedy That Actually Irrigates the Entire Blood Supply.

It sounds queer to take a blood bath but that is percisely the effect of a most remarkable remedy known as S. S. S. It has the peculiar action of soaking through the intestines directly into the blood. In five minutes its influence is at work in every artery, vein and tiny capillary. Every membrane, every organ of the body, every enunctory becomes in effect a filter to strain the blod of impurities. The stimulating properties of S. S. S. compel the skin, liver, bowels, kidneys, bladder to all work to the one end of casting out every irritating, every pain-inflicting atom of poison; it dislodges by irrigation all accumulations in the joints, dissolves acid accretions, renders them neutral and scatters those peculiar formations in the nerve centers that cause such mystifying and often bafling rheumatic pains.

And best of all, this remarkable remedy is welcome to the weakest stomach. If you have drugged yourself until your stomach is nearly paralyzed, you will be astonished to find that S. S. S. gives no sensation but goes right to work. This is because it is a pure vegetable infusion, is taken naturally into your blood just as pure air is inhaled naturally into your lungs.

The great Swift Laboratory has spent millions of dollars in perfecting, producing and placing in the hands of the public this wonderful remedy. So give your blood a good bath with S. S. S., for it knocks the worst forms of rheumatism every time.

You can get it at any drug store at $1.00 a bottle. It is a standard remedy, recognized everywhere as the greatest blood specific ever discovered. If yours is a peculiar case and you desire expert advice, write to The Swift Specific Co., 127 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

IN INTEREST OF HARMONY

Commercial Club Will Entertain Members of Other Civic Organizations.

Conference of Neighborhood Societies Called for Friday Evening.

Members of other civic organizations will be guests of the Duluth Commercial club at a "get-together" meeting at the Commercial club Friday evening.

The meeting will be the second of a series through which the Commercial club hopes to co-ordinate the work of the various organizations so that the best results may be obtained. The first meeting of the series was held Jan. 3, when the members of the Rotary club were guests at a meeting of the public affairs committee.

The clubs invited to the meeting Friday night are the West Duluth, West End and New Duluth Commercial clubs, the West End Hillside Improvement club, the Oneota and Hazelwood Improvement club, the Fifth Ward Improvement club, the Central Hillside Improvement club, the Lakeside and Lester Park clubs. All other Duluth citizens interested in civic welfare are also invited to attend.

The meeting will be of an informal nature. There will be a musical program and speeches. H. V. Eva, secretary of the Commercial club, will explain the plan of organization and the work of the Commercial club, and the presidents of the other organizations will make short talks.

The purpose of the meeting is to bring the civic organizations into closer relations with each other so that they may work in co-operation in civic movements.

TURKISH COUNCIL VOTES TO ACCEPT POWERS' PROPOSALS

Turkish ambassador at St. Petersburg, has communicated to the porte declarations made to him by M. Sazonoff, the Russian foreign minister, who strongly urged that Turkey give way at once. If Turkey dragged out the pour parlois, he pointed out, she would endanger the political situation in Europe, and Russia, above all desirous of conciliating the situation, would find herself obliged to compel Turkey to give in by occupying the vilayets of Van, Bitlies, Erzerum and Trebizond, and entering the straits. The Russian government, he added, could not resist public opinion, and demanded an immediate answer.

The Russian ambassador to Turkey, M. Degiers, has made similar representations to Kiamil Pasha at Constantinople and M. Bompard, the French ambassador to Turkey, has advised the premier to comply with Russia's suggestion.

Losses Heavy.

Constantinople, Jan. 22.—The Turkish losses in the naval battle with the Greek fleet off the Dardanelles on Jan. 18 totalled four officers and 36 men killed while 164 others were wounded.

In the course of the fight a Greek shell exploded inside one of the turrets of the Turkish battleship Torgut Reis, killing and wounding every man in it and disabling both of the 11-inch guns. The Turkish battleship Assar-I-Tewfik was also badly damaged.

and a half yards long, trimmed with duchess and rose point lace and with seed pearl embroidery. The lace and veil were gifts from the duchess de Talleyrand, formerly Miss Anna Gould, the bride's sister. The veil was held with a spray of orange blossoms and swept in flowing lines to the end of the long train. Orange blossoms also caught up the lace at the sides of the skirt. The bride's slippers corresponded with the gown, and were trimmed with small rosettes of orange blossoms.

Each of the little flower girls carried a basket of pink roses which matched their gowns. Their stockings were of white silk, their slippers white and mounted with golden butterfly buckles.

Less Than 100 Invited.

Less than 100 persons were bidden to the ceremony. They included close relatives of the bride and the bridegroom and friends of long standing. Among the relatives were:

Mr. and Mrs. George J. Gould, Kingdon Gould, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Gould, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Drexel, Jr., George Jay Gould, Jr., the Misses Edith and Gloria Gould, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Gould and their sons, Edwin and Frank; duc and duchess de Talleyrand and their son, the little Prince de Sagan; Howard Gold, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jay Gould, of the bride's immediate family; Mr. and Mrs. Burton H. Wright, Mrs. D. W. Cutter, Miss Cutter, of the bridegroom's family. Mr. Shepard's mother is ill and was unable to be present.

Among the friends present were: Dr. and Mrs. Charles H. Snow, Miss Helen Gould Snow, Gordon and Howard Snow, Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Bush, Mrs. William Northrup, Miss Ida Northrup, Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Perpall, Miss Lita Perpall, Rex Perpall, Mr. and Mrs. Howard G. Northrup.

Redolent With Flowers.

Lyndhurst, the great country house of the bride was redolent with flowers. In every room there rested on the mantels high banks of moss covered with cut lilies of the valley and lodged with smilax. Mingling their fragrance with the lilies were showers of American beauty roses, their long stems arranged in loose natural effect.

The dining room, where a buffet luncheon was served after the ceremony was green with smilax, whose verdure was relieved by banks of red and white roses. As wedding favors, the bride distributed heart-shaped satin cake boxes, each bearing the initials of the bride and groom, set off with a spray of lilies of the valley. The library was garlanded with Alabama smilax. American beauty and White Killarney roses.

The palms which screened the orchestra were softened with smilax and vases of Killarney roses. Plants and growing orchids from Miss Gould's conservatories decorated the sun parlor. The outer woodwork was twined with smilax and many growing plants. Vases of red roses alone decorated the art gallery where the presents were displayed.

Of General Interest.

New York, Jan. 22.—The Bowery and Fifth avenue found a common focus for their interest today in the wedding at Tarrytown of Helen Miller Gould, daughter of the late Jay Gould, to Finley J. Shepard of St. Louis, the son of a New England clergyman. Society was interested because the wealthy Gould family has been considered part of it; the Bowery poor and thousands of others in needy circumstances who have benefited by Miss Gould's long continued philanthropies, were interested because they considered Helen Gould as their friend. Neither Fifth avenue nor the Bowery can be said to be represented at the wedding, however, as, in line with Miss Gould's other endeavors to avoid the ostentatious, the guests were confined to close relatives.

Miss Gould took complete charge of things herself today. When some relatives arrived she handled their baggage, notwithstanding the protest of a servant. She was in the best of spirits with the shower of gifts and congratulatory telegrams descending upon her up to the very hour of the wedding at noon.

The main consignment of presents was received at Miss Gould's New York house, however, and these were taken to Tarrytown in an automobile van, guarded by detectives. Nearly a score of these men were stationed about the house and Tarrytown village today, as the crowd of curious folks, including many strangers here, was expected to be large.

The marriage certificate which the Rev. Daniel Russell will present to the bride bears this verse from the fifth chapter of Ephesians:

"Let every one of you in particular so love his wife, even as himself and his wife see that she reverence her husband."

Neither Miss Gould nor Mr. Shepard had satisfied, up to the time of the wedding, the curiosity of many of their friends as to where they would spend their honeymoon.

FIRST SECRETARY OF STATE PASSES AWAY

JOHN FLITTIE.

Williston, N. D., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Flittie of this city, the first secretary of state of North Dakota died yesterday. He was one of the well known pioneers of the Dakotas. Mr. Flittie came to this section from Norway in the early eighties and located at Mayville, Traill county, where he resided many years.

He was a member of the territorial council for one term, representing Traill and Steele counties, and served as secretary of state for two terms. Afterwards he resided at Bottineau and Minot, finally coming here. He has served as United States commissioner dufing the past ten years.

the progressiveness of others, and to say how long they must have been progressive to qualify. I am a progressive," he said, "but I am not one who acts as such behind the red nose of a shaky past!"

"That last statement is an insult!" shouted Mr. Nolan. "I demand an apology! I demand that the clerk take down the statement."

Chief Clerk Arneson wrote out the statement and submitted it to Mr. Dunn, whereupon the latter rose and retracted what he had said so far as it appeared to be personal to Mr. Nolan. He said it had been uttered in the heat of debate, and in response to many stinging remarks, not only at this session, but two years ago. Mr. Nolan accepted the retraction, and the incident was closed.

The house killed Lundeen's bill, 70 to 41.

Nelson Duly Elected.

The legislature met in joint session this noon, canvassed yesterday's vote on United States senator and declared Knute Nelson duly elected for six years from March 4. A moving picture concern made a film of the proceedings.

The following bills came in:

Representatives J. T. Johnson and Lidberg—Making the primary election date the third Tuesday in June instead of in September, as now.

Representative Vasaly—Making Oct. 12 Columbus day, a legal holiday.

Representative Marschall—Appropriating $50,000 for state aid to road work to be distributed among the counties in proportion to the amount of state land in each, but limited to what would amount to a tax of 5 cents an acre on the state lands.

Representatives Hopkins, Knapp and eighteen other house members, all lawyers—The State Bar association's workingmen's compensation code.

Representatives Kneeland, Conley and Holmberg—Providing civil service for state employes.

Representative Nolan — Regulating the sale of cotton duck or canvass.

Senator Fosseen—Requiring berry boxes to be of full size.

Senator Rockne—Requiring railroads to protect crews and passengers by having ample clearances between tracks and adjoining structures.

Senator Boyle—Providing for additional state land sales in March.

Senator Boyle—The minimum wage bill, described yesterday.

Senator Wilson—Appropriating $10,000 for a bronze statue of Alexander Ramsey opposite the Johnson statue in capitol grounds.

Senator J. D. Sullivan — Allowing liens on tombstones, with privilege of seizing and selling those unpaid for.

Senator Cheadle—Increasing limit of county aid to humane societies from $1,200 to $2,400.

Senator Van Hoven—Making state pay assessment for local improvements assessed against railroad property exempted by railroad gross earnings tax.

BEMIDJI YOUNG MAN BADLY HURT

Bemidji, Minn, Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Orville Titus, until lately a senior in the high school, yesterday received what may be fatal injuries as a result of a fall from a logging train on the unloading dock of the Crookston Lumber company here to the ice of the lake, twelve feet below, striking his head on the butt end of a log frozen into the lake surface.

Titus was rushed to St. Anthony's hospital, and his condition is reported as dangerous. It is feared that his skull may have been fractured.

Titus is 22 years old, and was working for the lumber company only temporarily, as he expected an appointment to the railway service for which he took the civil service examination here about two weeks ago.

His parents live on the outskirts of the city on a small farm. His father is a patrolman on the police force here.

BEMIDJI COUPLE WED

Bemidji, Minn., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Beatrice Gould and Michael Corrigan, both of this city, were married in St. Phillip's Catholic church here yesterday morning, and left at noon for a honeymoon in Duluth and Chicago. Charles Gould, brother of the bride, attended the groom, and Miss Angeline Hunt of Thief River Falls, was bridesmaid. A wedding breakfast was served to relatives and immediate friends who witnessed the wedding at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. Corrigan is employed by the M. & I. railway here, and they will make their home here upon their return.

CURFEW IS MADE ISSUE

"S. Nelson" Submits List of Questions to Commissioner Candidates.

Wants to Know Club Affiliations and Views on Union Labor.

The heckling of candidates for the city commission has begun. Each man whose name has been mentioned as a candidate has received a letter and a list of questions. The letter, which requests answers to the questions submitted, is signed "Citizens' Committee, by S. Nelson, 911 East Third street." The questions are:

What is your occupation or profession?

Are you a member of the Commercial club?

Are you a member of the Greater Duluth club?

Are you a member of organized labor?

Do you believe in public franchises being granted to private corporations?

Do you believe in public ownership of public utilities?

Are you in favor of ten hours' labor for city employes?

Do you believe in the closed or open shop?

Do you believe in a curfew?

Do you believe in the strict and impartial enforcement of the law?

Do you believe in the segregation of vice?

The "Citizen's Committee" is an easy form behind which anybody may hide, so what Mr. or Mrs. Nelson represents is not disclosed. The writer's views on the subjects on which questions are asked are not revealed, and the candidates will probably insist on knowing more before committing themselves.

The circulation of petitions goes merrily on. The list of candidates now numbers forty-eight, with some still under cover. The next two weeks should see many more in the field, and the estimate of seventy candidates for the election, made by City Clerk C. S. Palmer, does not overreach the mark.

Few new candidates are reported today. Petitions are said to be out for J. W. Cumming, former county commissioner, and T. T. Hudson, chairman of the charter commission. Mr. Hudson has not consented to make the run and his position is in doubt.

WEDDING GIFTS BURN.

Bemidji Bride of Last June Loses Presents With Home.

Bemidji, Minn., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Awakened about midnight by the crash of burning timbers in the kitchen, P. W. Rathbun and wife were forced to flee in zero weather from their cottage in their night robes.

The loss was estimated at $1,400, with insurance $500. The destruction was total, the alarm not being given soon enough to save anything. The fire destroyed, among other things, a large number of wedding gifts. Mrs. Rathbun became a June bride in 1912.

Owing to a frozen hydrant, the fire department, called by Mr. Rathbun after the blaze had filled the back part of the house, was unable to save anything.

ALEXANDER, N. D., IS ENJOYING BOOM.

Alexander, N. D., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—As a result of the extension of the Great Northern railroad, which will pass through this city, Alexander is enjoying somewhat of a building boom. At the present time several business houses are in course of construction, the list including an opera house, a meat market, an implement building, a combination bowling alley and poolroom, while within the next two weeks a new building for the Alexander Chronicle, an automobile garage, a livery barn and several residences will be commenced.

Governor Hanna to Speak.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—County Commissioner Rusch of this city, a member of the committee to arrange the program for the county commissioners' state meeting to be held at Jamestown Feb. 11 and 12, announces that Governor Hanna, State Engineer Atkinson, Tax Commissioner Birdsell and Superintendent of Public Instruction Taylor will be some of the state officials on the program.

TO QUIT FLYING.

Aviator McGoey Wins Bride on That Condition.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—A bride whom he will lead to the altar on the morning of Jan. 29 is the reward that Aviator Thomas McGoey of Grand Forks will claim because he responded to her wishes and those of his parents, to abandon the dangerous game of the air. Miss Mary A. Corrigan is the girl who will become Mrs. McGoey on that day, and they will spend their honeymoon in the Twin Cities.

Tom McGoey is a Grand Forks man, and in the summer of 1911, following a long period of experimenting, he was successful in the construction of an aeroplane in which he made a number of very successful flights, filling engagements at Rochester, Duluth, Superior and at the North Dakota state fair in Grand Forks, as well as a number of other places.

One of his first flights was made in Grand Forks on the occasion of the visit here of the Minnesota Automobile club while making its tour to Helena in 1911.

NORTH DAKOTA DAIRYMEN MEET.

Valley City, N. D., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Several prominent speakers will address the annual convention in this city Feb. 18 and 19 of the North Dakota Dairymen's association, these including Prof. C. E. Lee of the University of Wisconsin; A. K. Risser of the Federal department of agriculture; Fred W. Merril, former dairy expert in charge of the Northeastern North Dakota field for the Federal department, as well as a number of actual dairy owners of this state.

R. F. Flint, state dairy commissioner, who is in charge of the program, has secured practically all of the speakers needed to insure the success of the gathering.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

MINISTER IS HIT ON HEAD

Rev. Mr. Ekland of Lac Qui Parle County Victim of Assault.

Knocked Senseless While Alone and His Buildings Set on Fire.

Madison, Minn., Jan. 22.—La qui Parle county officials are trying to run to cover the fiends who assaulted Rev. Mr. Ekland, pastor of the Borgund church, six miles east of here, by hitting him over the head with a blunt instrument Sunday night, then set fire to his barn. He was found unconscious when neighbors, attracted by the fire, hurried to the place. He is still in a very serious condition and may die. Sheriff Smogaard hopes to obtain some clew to the outrage. The barn and other buildings were destroyed with contents.

The motive for the deed is not clear, but for a few letters containing threats which Mr. Ekland received last summer. Neighbors believe that the party who sent the Black Hand letters was the one who set the buildings on fire and clubbed the man. It is thought that the buildings were set on fire to avert suspicion

The minister's wife and two children are absent on a trip to Norway, and he was alone at the time. As yet there is no definite clew as to the identity of the offender.

EKERN INVOKES ORDER OF COURT

Madison, Wis., Jan. 22.—State Insurance Commissioner Herman L. Ekern still remains in office despite an attempt to remove him by force late yesterday afternoon by Supt. of Public Property William L. Essmann, accompanied by L. A. Anderson, Governor McGovern's appointee, and a number of capitol police.

Mr. Anderson got only as far as the outer office, and a request by Essmann to ask that the commissioner vacate was completely ignored. This was followed by an attempt to use force, but was halted when a court official served injunctions on Essmann and Anderson, the hearing of which before Judge E. Ray Stevens of the Dane county circuit court, was put over until Saturday.

At that time Governor McGovern will endeavor to show cause why the injunction should not stand.

Essmann and Anderson were met with a firm refusal when they first went to the office of Commissioner Ekern, and asked him to vacate. Essmann then left in search of the police and Ekern barricaded the door of his inner office by putting a heavy oak desk against the door. Anderson remained nervously seated in the outer office.

When Essmann returned with four policemen, they made an attempt to force the door of Ekern's inner office but were unsuccessful. They then took books containing the state records and Essman hurled one through the heavy plate glass window of the door, breaking it, at the same time cutting his hand. Attempts to break the oak partition were unsuccessful and a man was sent for a crowbar. The bar arrived just as Attorney John A. Aylward, representing Mr. Ekern, and a deputy sheriff reached the scene with an injunction against the ejection which had been prepared two weeks previous.

McGovern's Next Move.

The next move must be on the part of Governor McGovern. On Saturday, he probably will ask the court for a writ of certiorari on behalf of Lewis A. Anderson recently appointed to succeed Ekern. This will put the burden of proof upon the governor and his appointee. Unless this move is made, Attorney John A. Aylward, for Ekern, will ask to make the restraining order permanent.

If the matter comes up upon certiorari proceedings the entire case will be gone into on its merits.

POSLAM HEALS UNSIGHTLY SKIN TROUBLES

After an affected surface has been covered with Poslam, the progress of the disease has been effectually checked. It cannot longer spread.

From now on an active, intense healing process is exerted, strengthened with each succeeding application, until the disease is mastered and driven away.

The uniformity and the positiveness with which Poslam over and over again accomplishes this definite work make it a dependable skin specific, the only one which should be first called to aid should eczema, acne, pimples, itch or any form of skin disorder afflict.

All druggists sell Poslam (price, 50 cents) and Poslam Soap (price, 25 cents). For free samples, write to the Emergency Laboratories, 32 West 25th Street, New York City.

PINE RIVER HIGH SCHOOL POPULAR

Enrollment So Increased, Teaching Staff Had to Be Increased.

Pine River, Minn., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Pine River's high school is making splendid efficiency under the leadership of Principal Delmer M. Goode. During the present term the enrollment has so increased that another teacher had to be secured to take care of the overflow in the primary department, and Miss Isabelle Smith of Pontoria was secured, who began her duties Monday morning.

The new $20,000 strictly modern high school building which is now under construction will be completed so that it can be occupied for the 1913 fall term and the opening of this building will mark another step in the way of greater school facilities.

KILLS MANY ANIMALS.

Soo Man Has Many Big Killings to His Credit.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Perhaps no hunter in Upper Michigan has the distinction of having killed so many different kinds of American game as has D. H. Moloney of this city. Besides being one of the best shots in the state, he knows the habits of animals, and, with these two qualifications, he meets with unusual success.

Mr. Moloney was the first man to kill and bring moose into the Soo. "These two moose," said Mr. Moloney, "attracted more attention than a circus, and the sidewalk was blocked at all times while the animals were on exhibition." About six years ago, while hunting in the Georgian Bay country, Mr. Moloney killed the largest moose ever shipped into the state. This animal weighed 1,300 pounds dressed, and must have touched the scales at 1,600 pounds alive. It was the finest specimen ever seen by Soo hunters. "The hardest animal to shoot that I have ever hunted is the mountain sheep, better known as the big horn," said Mr. Moloney. He also hunted and killed alligators in Florida.

DAIRYMEN MEET.

Northfield, Minn., Jan. 22.—There are about 600 delegates here attending the Thirty-fifth annual convention of the Minnesota State Dairymen's association which began yesterday. More delegates are expected tomorrow which will be the big day of the session.

A feature of yesterday's session was the report of President Andrew French, who told of progress the association has made during the past year, and outlined plans for the coming year at this afternoon's session. J. R. Morley of Owatonna, gave a talk on clover.

Other addresses yesterday afternoon were: "The Co-operative Creamery From a Manager's Standpoint," by Chris Heen of Osakis, and "Economical Production in the Dairy," by Charles Nelson of Litchfield.

The delegates were entertained last night at a concert given by the St. Olaf concert band of St. Olaf college.

The cattle show, which is being held in connection with the convention, is also a record-breaker, and the committee in charge is finding it difficult to provide shelter for all the entries. The huge stock barn of the Rice County Agricultural society is filled to overflowing with the choicest stock of this part of the state.

TO PROTECT GAME.

Ashland Sportsmen Form Organization to Enforce State Laws.

Ashland, Wis., Jan. 22.—The Northwestern Rod & Gun club has been formed here by local sportsmen with Irvin Garnich, president, and Claire Tompkins, secretary and treasurer. The club is organized for the purpose of protecting the game birds and wild game of the Northwest and to work together in getting good game laws passed that will protect the game of Northern Wisconsin from game hogs and violators of the game laws.

From present indications there will be at least 100 members of the new organization. Senator A. P. Tomkins was present at the organization meeting and he said he was heartily in favor of the work of such an organization and would be with them on any legislation that tended to make Northern Wisconsin a better hunting ground during the open season.

RATTLESNAKE BELT.

Is Treasured Possession of Wisconsin Woman Mail Carrier.

Lodi, Wis., Jan. 22.—One of the treasured possessions of petite Miss Edna Fuller, eight years mail carrier on route No. 1, Merrimack, is a rattlesnake belt which she received from friends in Texas. It is the tanned skin of a snake she killed when on a visit to the Lone Star commonwealth.

After attending the national convention of rural carriers in Nashville, Tenn., some months since Miss Fuller extended her sightseeing tour through the Southern states and into Mexico. When this 110-pound lady all unaided had dispatched his snakeship with the steady nerve and fearlessness that she displays in driving the snow-bound hill roads of her Wisconsin mail route when big husky men decline to brave the blizzard, she suggested that she'd like to save the diamond marked hide. So her friends had it cured and made up into a very nifty article of wear.

SAWMILL EMPLOYE IS COOKED ALIVE.

Rhinelander, Wis., Jan. 22. — Carl Fenska, employed in the plant of the Wisconsin Veneer company here was horribly scalded Tuesday when he fell into one of the huge hot water vats in which the logs are steamed. Although he was immediately rescued from the vat his flesh was literally cooked and he cannot recover. Fenska is an old resident of the city and has a large family.

GILCHRIST, MICH., IS LIVELY PLACE.

Trout Lake, Mich., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Due to the activities of the A. B. Klise Lumber company, Gilchrist, Mackinac county, is enjoying a boom that is a revelation to the traveler who a short while ago could see but a depot, a pumping station and a section house as the only sign of life. Building operations have made a vigorous start. Having acquired large land and timber holdings, the company is preparing to put Gilchrist and its tributary region on the map. It will engage in the manufacture of broom handles and other finished articles of wood, as well as lumber and similar products. Operating in the woods, the company is conducting five or six logging camps.

ASHLAND'S MAYOR TO DECIDE MATTER.

Ashland, Wis., Jan. 22.—Mayor Dodd is considering whether to call a special election in accordance with the petition filed asking for it that the people may vote on the question of this city changing to the commission form of government. The petition filed contains 514 names. The law requires that 492 bona fide voters sign the petition and it is claimed that as some of the 514 signers are not bona fide voters there seems some doubt whether enough have signed to assure the legality of the proceeding. The mayor is said to be opposed to the change in the form of city government but will waive his opinion and call the special election if convinced there are 492 bona fide voters' signatures to the petition.

WANT PRISONERS' FARM.

Sentiment in Upper Peninsula for Passage of Necessary Law.

Pickford, Mich., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—That some solution of the problem of caring for short-term city and county prisoners will be made by the present legislature, probably in the form of the establishment of a farm for inebriates and an adjoining workhouse for others, is the opinion of Representative J. E. Bayliss of the Chippewa district.

Ever since the Detroit house of correction closed its doors to all counties outside of Wayne, Sept. 1, last year, the care of such prisoners has proven burdensome. In the majority of instances, where stone piles and the like do not exist, the prisoners have been permitted to merely loaf about the jails, doing only light work or none at all, and giving no semblance of correction for the misdemeanors for which they have been incarcerated. A bill already introduced proposes the establishment of a farm for inebriates. It is now urged that provision be made for the construction of a workhouse for the lower end of the state, with a second such institution, possibly at Cheyboygan, to be used by the upper peninsula counties, as well as those of the upper part of lower Michigan.

CASS LAKE HOME TOTALLY BURNED.

Cass Lake, Minn., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire totally destroyed the dwelling of Rudolph Loeffler in the extreme south part of town Monday night, together with contents. Mr. Loeffler was awakened by the smell of smoke shortly before 11 and went downstairs to investigate and found the entire kitchen enveloped in flames. He was forced to go back and make his exit through an upstairs window. The loss is about $750, fully covered by insurance. The firemen took two hose carts out but the length of hose was not sufficient to reach the fire which had gained too rapid headway for water to be of any use.

WORST STOMACH TROUBLE ENDED

"Pape's Diapepsin" Gives Instant Relief and the Relief Lasts.

Every year regularly more than a million stomach sufferers is the United States, England and Canada take Pape's Diapepsin, and realize not only immediate, but lasting relief.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach five minutes afterwards.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Get from your pharmacist a fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches, dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you at any drug store.

These large fifty-cent cases contain more than sufficient to thoroughly cure almost any case of dyspepsia, indigestion or any other stomach disorder.

GRAND ISLAND DEER DONATED.

Munising, Mich., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Because of the difficulty in feeding and taking care of the large number of deer that have propagated in the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company's game preserve on Grand Island, Lake Superior, during the past few years, numerous shipments of the animals have been made lately. Within the last three weeks fifty deer and one elk have been sent via express to various parks and game reservations and to rod and gun clubs in Kansas, Pennsylvania and Maryland. A number of deer have been forwarded to the American Game & Propagative association at Willsborough, N. Y. Seven were sent to the Soldiers' home at Quincy, Ill. A stately elk, weighing 610 pounds, was shipped recently to Dallas, Tex.

KENMARE AFTER STATE ASYLUM.

Kenmare, N. D., Jan. 22.—Kenmare will probably put in a bid for the proposed state insane hospital.

The bill creating the new hospital was introduced into the legislature last Saturday and it is expected that it will be passed. If so, any city in the state may put in a bid for the new institution.

Senator Englund spent Sunday here and it is understood that he intended to take measures at that time to have this city make a bid for the new hospital.

Bemidji Socialists Busy.

Bemidji, Minn., Jan. 22.—Although Bemidji municipal elections are on a non-partisan basis by law, the Socialist local has taken a referendum and has announced a full Socialist ticket for the annual election, which will be held Feb. 18. The following slate will be nominated by petitions which are now being circulated: Mayor, Fred Malzahn, incumbent; alderman-at-large, John Ziegler; alderman, First ward, C. J. Larson; Second ward, T. W Bell; Third ward, J. P. Omich; Fourth ward, J. Peterson, Jr.; police judge, A. M. Crowell; treasurer, Garfield Akerberg.

Typhoid on White Earth.

White Earth, Minn., Jan. 22.—Dr. Willard C. Green, physician in charge of the new agency hospital, has been stricken with pneumonia. Three patients suffering with typhoid fever have been brought in from the northern part of the reservation and are being given medical aid at the agency hospital.

Gored to Death by Bull.

St. Cloud, Minn., Jan. 22.—His side crushed, three ribs broken and with blood spattered on the rails of the farm fence, William Bohm, 56 years of age, of the town of Minden, was found by relatives near the gate leading from his barnyard, evidently gored to death by a mad bull, which was pawing the ground near his victim.

G&J BRAND UNITED STATES TIRES

If it were necessary to pay more for

than for other kinds you could well afford to pay it.

Mr. W. E. Clark of Waterloo, Iowa, has gone thru the mill in tire experience, and has discovered (as a good many motorists are discovering) that tires are not all alike.

He says—

"I wish to say unsolicited that G & J Tires have been the most satisfactory tires we have ever used in the past seasons. It is hard to express one's feelings towards a tire that has given the satisfaction G & J Tires have given up to the present time."

You can have the same kind of service by using the same kind of tires.

COMPARISON OF SCHOOL COSTS

Education Costs Less in Unorganized Districts, Says Superintendent.

It costs $4.63 per child less to educate pupils in unorganized school districts than it does in organized districts, according to figures which have been compiled by N. A. Young, county school superintendent.

Discounting cost of building and repairs, the average cost per child in the organized school districts $32.60. The figures ranged from $17.72 per child in District 23 to $112.25 per child in District 47.

In the unorganized districts, there are twenty-eight schools and 653 pupils. The average cost per pupil was $27.97 last year.

Two more consolidated school districts may be established in the county, according to Mr. Young. There is one now at Meadowlands and there is a move to have one at Alborn to take the place of two country schools and another at Zim to replace three schools.

The county superintendent has called a meeting of the school board members of the various rural districts of the county to be held in this city on Feb. 6. The state superintendent of public instruction, C. G. Schultz, will be one of the speakers at the meeting.

Woman Wants to Be Mailed.

Elgin, Ill., Jan. 22. — Perplexities which have arisen at the Elgin postoffice since the beginning of the parcel post were overshadowed when Postmaster Hemmens received a letter from a woman asking what the rate would be to ship herself to Washington, D. C. The applicant was Mrs. Mary Phillips, who is nearly 60 years old.

Waste-Clogged Bowels, Torpid Liver and Decaying Food in Stomach Cause the Sick Headache, Gas, Backache, Sallowness, Biliousness and Indigestion.

All women get bilious, headachy and constipated—simply because they don't exercise enough. They don't eat coarse food, or enough fruit and green vegetables. Those are nature's ways of keeping the liver and thirty feet of bowels active; but very few women employ them. The next best way is delightful, fruity Syrup of Figs.

Nearly all ills of women can be overcome with Syrup of Figs alone. There is no need to have sick headache, backache, dizziness, stomach sour and full of gases, bilious spells, sallowness, coated tongue, bad breath, bad complexion, nervousness and depression. The surest and safest remedy is one or two teaspoonfuls of delicious Syrup of Figs. Try this tonight—you'll feel splendid in the morning when the sour bile, clogged up waste and poisonous matter have been gently but thoroughly moved on and out of your system, without nausea, griping or weakness. Your head will be clear, complexion rosy, breath sweet, stomach regulated; no more constipation, gases, pains and aches.

It is simply a matter of keeping your stomach, liver and bowel clean and regular. Then you will always be well—always look and feel your best.

But get the genuine—the old reliable. Ask your druggist for "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna." Refuse, with contempt, the so-called Fig Syrups sometimes substituted to fool you. The true, genuine, bears the name California Fig Syrup Company; look for this on the label.

School Buildings Will Be Used for Series of Meetings.

An organization was formed last night at a meeting at the city hall to conduct a campaign of education instructing the voters in the preferential system of voting.

T. T. Hudson was chosen chairman, Dr. R. W. Bowden, vice chairman, and Richard Jones secretary. They will be aided by an advisory committee consisting of one man from each ward.

Frank Crassweller, chairman of the charter campaign committee, called the gathering to order. About fifty citizens were present. Mr. Crassweller declared that it should be made perfectly clear that each voter must vote first choice for mayor, two four-year-term commissioners and two two-year-term commissioners, and that unless he does so the ballot will be thrown out. He stated that the second and third choice votes should be exercised, as by so doing representative men will be elected to office. He asserted that the voters should look with suspicion upon any candidate who urges that only first choice votes be used, and that he is not entitled to office.

Dr. Day Explains.

Dr. D. H. Day gave a further explanation of the preferential system. He pointed out that the voter can vote the third choice for as many candidates as he wishes, for whom he has not already recorded a first or second choice, and that he can in that manner practically vote against those he doesn't favor by not giving them a vote of any choice.

Charles E. Roe stated that it is very important that all voters understand how to vote under the new system, and Joseph Cochran suggested that the school buildings be utilized for public meetings at which it will be explained. He said that with a blackboard, the method can be explained better in fifteen minutes than it could be in an hour without that aid.

Mr. Crassweller urged that all candidates have the essentials of the preferential system printed on the reverse side of their campaign cards, thus greatly aiding the committee. He expects that by next week the educational campaign will be well under way, and that it will continue until March 1, when all petitions for mayor or commissionerships will have been filed.

EFFICIENCY TO BE CONSIDERED

Will Have Much to Do in Appointments By President-Elect.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 22.—Efficiency in public service and the merit system rather than partisan politics will be the basis upon which President-elect Wilson will make his appointments to office, he indicated yesterday.

Governor Wilson had occasion to declare himself in this connection when a delegation of thirty men representing various labor interests made a plea for the appointment of a Democrat to fill the state commissionership of labor now held by a Republican. John T. Cosgrove, a Democrat and labor leader, was urged for the position to succeed Col. Lewis T. Bryant, incumbent, who was appointed by a Republican governor.

The president-elect told the delegation he recognized the force of their argument that labor should be represented in the government by one who knew its interests, but he saw no reason to displace Col. Bryant, who had performed his duties faithfully and efficiently.

The colloquy took place in the big ante-room just outside of the governor's office. Once Mr. Botterill remarked that Mr. Cosgrove's appointment might not be exactly acceptable to the manufacturers and employers.

"Oh, class opposition doesn't affect me one way or another," quickly interrupted the governor.

Later in the day another delegation of labor men appeared in Mr. Bryant's behalf. Incidentally Mr. Wilson set forth during the day that he recognized the right of labor organizations to be represented in the government and indicated that in the creation of a national department of labor, he might follow that course.

Among the governor's callers today was Sir Horace Plunkett and Representative-elect S. W. Beakes of Michigan. The former, the governor said, interested him greatly because of his work in farmers' co-operative organizations.

Mr. Beakes outlined conditions in Michigan. National Chairman William F. McCombs will be here Thursday for a conference with the governor.

Resigns Pastorate.

Waterville, Me., Jan. 22.—Rev. Cyrus Flint Stimson resigned as pastor of a Congregational church here to accept the position of field secretary of the Playground and Recreation Association of America.

Rejects Commission Form.

Champaign, Ill., Jan. 22.—Champaign yesterday rejected the commission form of government by a vote of 884 to 773. The "wets" were actively opposed to the proposed change. The plan previously had been defeated in another election.

TO GET NEW ASSISTANT

St. Louis County Delegation Grants Request of County Attorney.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The St. Louis county delegation at its regular weekly meeting last night, decided to grant the request of County Attorney Warren E. Greene for a third assistant county attorney, whose duty it shall be to look after cases in justice and municipal courts. The salary of this new official of St. Louis county was fixed at $1,200 a year.

The delegation also approved Mr. Greene's request for $300 additional yearly for stenographic work, and bills covering both these subjects will be introduced as soon as they can be prepared.

A general bill suggested by Mr. Greene was turned over to the lawyers on the delegation, Senator Boyle and Representative Knapp, who will introduce it. The measure amends the statute of limitations to cover cases of embezzlement where the crime is not discovered for some time after it is committed. The three years allowed in which to bring indictments, under this measure, will date from the discovery of the crime instead of from the time it is committed.

Representative Knapp proposed an increase in the salary of the register of deeds of St. Louis county from $3,000 to $3,600 a year. Two years ago the salaries of most of the county officers were increased, with general approval because of the growth of the county and the increase in all branches of its business. The salary of the register of deeds, however, was not increased at that time, for some reason, and it has not been increased for many years.

At the request of Senator Cheadle the proposal was laid over until the regular meeting of the delegation next week. No opposition was suggested, and the increase is likely to go through in the absence of objection.

County Superintendent of Schools N. A. Young asked for a hearing before the delegation on proposed legislation relating to schools in unorganized territory, and he will be instructed to appear next Tuesday evening.

For Humane Society.

The delegation approved the request of the Duluth Humane society for an amendment to the law allowing the county to appropriate $1,200 a year for its work, so as to increase the allowance to $2,400 a year if the county board wishes to do so; and a bill to this effect will be introduced.

As soon as the bill authorizing the county and city to join in creating a work farm is received, the delegation will introduce it and push its passage. A resolution of the county board approving the plan was read last night, but the bill is not yet in the hands of the delegation.

Two years ago the legislature passed a bill providing for the leasing by the state to the city of Duluth, for the purpose of creating a public dock, the old state elevator site bought by the state many years ago. By mistake, the law made provision for a 99-year lease, when the intent was to limit it to twenty-five years. Because it was a mistake Duluth has never taken advantage of the measure.

Last evening the delegation received a resolution from the Duluth city council asking that the matter be taken up again, and the delegation voted to have Senator Cheadle and Representative Ribbenack introduce bills correcting the mistake in the law of 1911.

QUIT CALOMEL

Thousands Are Turning From This Dangerous Drug.

A Safe Vegetable Substitute Is Olive Tablets for the Liver.

Dr. F. M. Edwards, a prominent physician of Ohio, has discovered a new laxative and liver toner in a combination of vegetable materials, mixed with olive oil, which is in effect almost exactly like the old and untrustworthy calomel, except that there are none of the bad after effects of calomel.

Dr. Edwards has long been a foe of calomel, though he recognized its value along with its dangers.

His distrust of the uncertain drug eventually started him years ago towards experiments with the view of discovering a substitute, and he is today in possession of the long-sought-for combination, which is in the shape of a little sugar-coated, olive-oil colored tablet.

They are called Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. They oil the bowels, and their effect on the liver has been the means of relief to many of Dr. Edwards' regular patients as well as to thousands of others who have suffered and were afraid of calomel.

They are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of harmful impurities. 10c and 25c per box.

HONOR PAID TO NELSON

Democratic House Leader Seconds Nomination of Senior Senator.

Pfaender Also Pays Tribute to Author of Keefe Law.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The unanimity with which a Republican was elected United States senator from Minnesota is unprecedented. Though a third of the senate members are Democrats, and though a considerable proportion of the house members are of the same political persuasion, no vote was cast in the Minnesota legislature against Knute Nelson, the Republican incumbent.

The reason is the Keefe law, passed two years ago, giving the people power to vote on United States senator, and pledging the lawmakers to abide by the people's choice. Though the senators were unpledged, having been elected before the Keefe law was passed, they heeded the will of the people as expressd at the November election.

Seconding speeches were made in both branches by Democrats, and the views of the minority were well expressed by Representative Albert Pfaender, the Democratic leader in the house, in the following speech seconding the nomination of Senator Nelson:

"In rising to second the nomination of the distinguished statesman whose name has just been so ably presented to this body, I do so with a full conviction that this act is not only a pleasure but a privilege and an honor as well.

"Two years ago a minority member of this house, the Hon. Joseph R. Keefe of Redwood county, one whose name I speak with a feeling of pride, fathered and procured the passage in this legislature of a bill which made it possible to procure an expression of the people's choice for the high office of United States senator from this state. It was a reform which the disciples of democracy have consistently advocated and the placing of which upon the statute books of this state they hailed with a great deal of pleasure at the thought that one of the principles for which they had striven had been recognized as embodying a fundamental truth of popular government.

The Choice of the People.

"The test has now been made of that principle—the people have spoken and indicated their choice, and consistent with the attitude that the minority has taken upon this great reform, it would in any event become the duty of its members on the floor of this house to ratify that popular choice. But in the present instance, under the prevailing circumstances we do so with the two-fold knowledge that we are thereby not only carrying out the wishes and will of the people of the state, but also doing that which will redound to their material welfare, and bring added lustre and credit with the name of our beloved North Star state.

"We stand today at the urn into which the ballots are to fall, not as partisans, not as avowed members of any political party, but as citizens of this state, and as the well wishers of her people, and this thought should control our actions.

"The gentleman whose virtues have been portrayed has stood on the floor of the national senate for some years, and during that time has ever shown a willingness to support those tendencies that have emanated from the heart of the people whom he has represented, tendencies which I believe are now reflected in the attitude of the followers of that great party which is now dominant in this nation though not in this state.

"And if there is one thought which is uppermost in my mind today as I pay tribute to the gallant Viking senator from our state, it is that in his every action henceforth, he may be true to those ideals which he has sought and professed in the past, for then I know he will but be acting in such a high-minded manner as we would expect in one of our own political kith and kin.

"Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the house, it gives me great pleasure to second the nomination of the Hon. Knute Nelson."

The Terminal Probe.

The text of the resolution by Representative Bendixen, passed by the house yesterday, providing for an investigation into dealings by grain commission houses and terminal elevators, as well as the workings of the state inspection department, is as follows:

"Whereas, The great industry of agriculture prospers to the degree that its markets are free and adequate; and

"Whereas, The two principal products of the farmer in Minnesota are grain and live stock, in the marketing of which the producer must to a large extent submit his products to consignees largely under the dominat'on of corporations in their nature and control possessing monopolistic powers; and

"Whereas, The only means of accurate knowledge of the fair dealing of consignees of grain products is through the state grain inspection department; and

"Whereas, Confidence in the fairness of the state grain inspection department as well as treatment accorded the producer in the sale of his grain and live stock products is absolutely necessary to an enjoyment of the greatest benefits to the farmer.

"Therefore, Be it resolved, that a special committee of five members be appointed by the speaker of the house to investigate the organization, management, control and method of doing business of any and every corporation or copartnership and methods of doing business of every person in any manner engaged in the business of buying or selling or handling grain or live stock products in the state of Minnesota, and into the details in every respect whatever referring to the state board of grain inspection and its methods of procedure and doing business.

"Be it further resolved, That such committee be and it is hereby authorized and empowered to subpoena and compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of books and papers; to administer oaths to such witnesses and compel them to testify on all matters with the scope of such investigation; to fix the times and places of its meetings at its convenience; to employ an attorney to assist the committee in the examination of witnesses, examine books, papers and other instruments of evidence in the matter of this investigation and to assist in the preparation of its report on the conclusion of such investigation at an expense for such attorney of not to exceed the sum of $10 per day."

SAID HYDE COULD NEVER BE CONVICTED.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 22.—An affidavit charging that one of the veniremen chosen for the third trial of Dr. B. Clarke Hyde, accused of the murder of Col. Thomas H. Swope, had said the physician would never be convicted because the veniremen and Hyde belong to the same secret order, was introduced at the trial by Floyd Jacobs, the prosecutor.

Ralph Brackney of this city made the affidavit, saying that Venireman George Winton, a baker, had made the statement to him.

Brackney, according to his affidavit, reminded Winton that he might not be chosen as one of the twelve jurors.

"Oh, I'll get on all right," was Winton's reply, according to Brackney's statement.

Judge Porterfield instructed the prosecutor to have Brackney in court.

LATEST SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

Gossip, Comment and Sporting Editorial Review as Written By Bruce.

THE Fort Frances Hockey team comes Friday night for the second really big game of the season. The Canadians will line up against the Duluth Curling club team on both Friday and Saturday evenings, and as these contests will follow the Canadians' game with Houghton there will be some means of getting a line on the standing of the Duluth seven.

It generally requires several games for a team to strike its stride. In the game with Virginia, taking the word of the players, Duluth was not in the form that the team expects to be in later. The two contests with the fast Canadian team should not only bring out the best hockey of the season to date, but also be the medium of bringing Duluth to its best point of play.

The lateness of the season has made it rather hard for Duluth, but at that the boys promise to be near their top form for the two games of the present week—and the hard practice of the past few days is needed, for Fort Frances is reported to have one of the best teams in the Northwest, which report has been somewhat strengthened by the dash of speed shown by the Canadians on the big curling club rink, yesterday morning.

EDWARD FURNI is authority for the statement that the Duluth team is better right now than some of the bunch believed it would be. While the game with Virginia was close, the range aggregation was strong and the general result was not in the least surprising to Duluth.

While the curling club seven has yet many fine points to learn of the game, the boys are improving every day under the coaching of Johnny Linder, and before the close of the present season it will be playing in its true stride, which gait, by the way, promises to surprise most of the old time followers of hockey here.

FROM Minneapolis comes the statement that one of the conditions which the magnates in St. Paul and Minneapolis will insist upon, is that the Central International directors agree that the franchises of St. Paul and Minneapolis may be cancelled at the end of every year. This simply means that the experiment of permitting the smaller teams in the Twin Cities will be tried, and if the scheme is found in the least wanting, the whole idea will be gloriously chucked.

Another of the conditions, but this was one naturally expected, is that the Lennon and Cantillons control the franchises in the Twin Cities. The St. Paul and Minneapolis teams will be farms for the young players of the larger teams of the same cities, and this very condition will tend to make baseball faster in this neck of the woods.

The general classification of the league will not be increased by the admission to the Twin Cities, and this will mean that the salary fixed at the recent Milwaukee meeting of the association of baseball clubs will be abided by.

It will pay, and heavily at that, for the representatives of the See-Eye to accept the offer to come into the American association under any conditions that are fair; as the representation of St. Paul and Minneapolis in the league will give it greater standing, will make the larger association stronger and will also mean that the general level of playing will be considerably higher.

MIKE YOKEL should meet Miller when the St. Paul youth is in the very best condition of his entire career. The writer was in St. Paul recently and Miller was even then taking his daily work out at the St. Paul Y. M. C. A. When the time comes to step on the mat with the Salt Lake city wonder for the world's middleweight championship match, little Walter should be right in the pink. The engaging of Fred Beell to work at least two weeks with the Pole is about the best arrangement Walter could have possibly made to arrive at the best shape of his career.

NEW YORK newspapers are divided in their opinion of the result of the recent Rivers-Cross battle in Manhattan. Some flaringly say that the dentist had the number of the Mex, while others are no less firm in the opinion that little Jose, he of the eloquent shoulders, would have macerated Leachey in a couple of more sessions.

After reading all of the accounts and trying to be eminently fair and arrive at the conclusion in the middle of the road, one comes to the conclusion that while there was little to choose between the two battlers during the ten rounds of the going, Rivers would be the victor in a longer battle.

But, when after all, the bout was but for ten rounds, and maybe Cross trained for that and no more. Yes, there might be something to it.

Murphy Permits Hold-Out Cheney to Try for More Pay.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—Pitcher Larry Cheney of the Chicago Nationals has demanded more pay and has been given permission by President Murphy of the Cubs to try to get it from some other club.

"I have written Cheney that he can make a trade for himself with any club in the league," said Murphy. "If he can get more money than I offer him, he is welcome to get it, as long as the Cubs lose nothing by the trade."

This is said to be the first time Murphy has given a hold-out this privilege. Michael Heckinger, catcher, last season with the Racine club of the Wisconsin-Illinois league, has sent in his signed contract to the Nationals.

ELKS DEFEAT MILITIA TEAM

Antlered Herd Take Baseball Game By 5 to 4 Score.

In one of the best indoor baseball games that have been played here in many seasons, the Elks last evening defeated the Company A aggregation at the Armory by the score of 5 to 4.

Bill Wendlandt ended the contest with a smash to the outer works in the final inning, which scored the deciding run. Up to that time the two teams played on an even basis and there was little to choose between them.

Both Foster and Jones were strong in the twirling department, the B. P. O. E. bunch registering one more hit than the soldiers.

Both sides had many stars in their line-up and the playing of all the members of both teams was of the Brilliant order.

WADE'S KIDS MAKE A HIT

West Duluth Rink Has Not Yet Lost Game in Bonspiel.

Other Duluth Rinks Not Faring So Well at St. Paul.

Duluth curlers are watching with interest the progress of the Northwestern bonspiel at St. Paul. Thus far the Duluth rinks do not seem to have hit their stride and they did not fare well in the events first started.

Reports from St. Paul are that Wade's kid rink of West Duluth is making a big hit in the bonspiel. The rink is in the second round of the St. Paul Jobbers' and Duluth events and is still undefeated.

Three Duluth rinks are in the second round of the St. Paul Jobbers. Wade won from Ehledafter, Oldham from Campbell of Eveleth, Evered of West Duluth won a forfeit and Oldham was given a further advance on a forfeit. McLeod lost to Blackburn of Winnipeg, Olson of West Duluth lost to McMillan, Holland of West Duluth lost to Robb of Eveleth and Bradley and Hurdon forfeited their games.

In the Duluth event, Anderson of West Duluth, Oldham, McLeod, Bradley and Hurdon of Duluth and Olson and Evered of West Duluth are out of the running. Holland and Wade of West Duluth won their games, and are still in the race.

FORT FRANCES TO PLAY TWO GAMES

The crack Fort Frances hockey team will meet the fast team of the Duluth Curling club at the big rink Friday and Saturday evenings of the present week. The Canadian team stopped over yesterday and took advantage of an opportunity to get a workout at the local rink.

Joe Linder is putting his team through the most strenuous work of the season and the boys promise to be in the very best form of the year for the game with the Canadians. While the lineup has not been announced as yet, it will probably be the same as that in the Virginia game.

Fort Frances is reported to be stronger than Virginia. Linder stated yesterday that his boys would be in better shape and more fit for a hard game than was the case in the first contest of the season, and in the two clashes with the team from over the boundary line promise to bring out the best hockey that has been seen here so far the present season.

BAGLEY EVENT PLAY TO BEGIN THE PRESENT WEEK

Games Committee Requests That All Registered Games Be Rushed From Now to End of Season.

Games are scheduled to begin in the Bagley curling event some time the present week. The draw was completed yesterday and the games committee, through The Herald, has requested that all rinks rush their games, as there are 240 games to be played, not counting the Manley-McLennan event, if the season's schedule is completed.

The members of the games committee are of the opinion that sufficient practice games have been played and that the regular schedule should be started.

An innovation will be worked this season one which will make the game more interesting from the standpoint of the spectators. Ribbons of a different color will be tied to the stones of the opposing rinks, thus affording the people in the galleries the better opportunity of telling how the rocks lay.

Following is the draw for the Bagley event; with spaces left for additional rinks:

Kilties' Catcher Flags the Greatest Number of Would-Be Base Thieves of American League Receivers.

The seven best throwing catchers in the American league last season were Carisch and O'Neill of Cleveland, Egan and Thomas of Philadelphia, Henry of Washington, Schalk of Chicago and Sweeney of New York, these men causing demon base-runners like Clyde Milan, Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker, who won the Chalmers trophy, to think twice before they set out to steal.

Carisch, who joined the Naps late in the season, had the highest average of men thrown out per game in attempts to steal, 1.29; while Sweeney, who was a hold-out when the campaign started, nevertheless entered the Hilltop camp in time to flag more would-be base-stealers than any other maskman in the American league.

He cut down 114 men who attempted the Raffles act. Stanage of Detroit ran a close second to Sweeney in the number of athletes he killed off who were out to flich bases, nailing 113. Sweeney's record, however, looks much superior to Stanage's, when it is considered that the New Yorker played in 110 games to the Detroiter's 119.

The poorest throwing catcher, according to carefully compiled records, was Paddy Livingston of Cleveland. He stopped only nine thefts in nineteen contests, an average of .47 per game. Other poor peggers were Kocher of Detroit, Williams of New York, and Easterly, who held situations with both Cleveland and Chicago.

The greatest number of men thrown out trying to steal in a major league is, according to statisticians, seven. Charles ("Duke") Farrell got this number of victims when he was catching for the Washington Nationals in the late '90s. Farrell will help coach the Boston Red Sox pitchers this year.

Another veteran now drawing salary from an American league club who established a major league record in nipping base-runners is Jim McGuire of the Tigers. When he was with Brooklyn in 1900 he saved a game for the Superbas by picking three men off the bases in one inning. This feat never has since been duplicated.

If Tris Speaker, who was voted by the Chalmers jury of newspaper experts the best player in the American league, was asked his opinion as to which club possessed the best staff of throwers 'n the junior organization in 1913, he would probably reply New York. The reason for such an answer might be found in the running account of the game played between the Highlanders and the Speed Boys on June 22, when Speaker, who thrice started to steal, was cut down each time—twice by Sweeney and once by Sterrett. Another player who was halted thrice when he tried to pilfer was Martin of New York. The man who stopped him was Henry of Washington.

Cobb Caught Often.

It was the clever base-runners who were oftenest thrown out. Thus Ty Cobb was cut down thirty-four times, Clyde Milan thirty-one, Tris Speaker twenty-eight times, Harry Lord thirty-three times and Eddie Collins twenty-two times.

The figures below show the number of men thrown out trying to steal by the various American league catchers last season:

	Men Thrown Games	Out	Average Per Game

KETCHEL VS. PAL BROWN

Tomorrow night at the Superior opera house, lovers of clean and clever boxing will witness Pal Brown, the Hibbing championship aspirant, and "Steve Ketchel" of Chicago in the final bout of a bill which promises to please the most rabid boxing fan. Ketchel comes to the American Head of the Lakes with a reputation of being a small replica of the late Stanley Ketchel, whose name he has taken, and if Chicago reports are true, he is a comer.

Recently when Pal Brown met and outboxed Chicago Danny Goodman, Goodman is said to have stated that in Brown this locality has the coming king of the lightweights. This was said after Brown had left-handed Goodman's flat nose to a queen's idea of the Queensberry game.

In Ketchel, Brown will meet a man who does not wait for his opponent to come to the center and box. Ketchel will be in Brown's corner before Brown's chair is through the ropes, according to those who have seen the "Chicago Bulldog" in action. He is represented as a close-in, constant worker, with a world of stamina and willing to get in and mix from gong to gong. "He can travel ten rounds with any man in the world at his weight," says Lichtenstein, his manager, "and if this Hibbing boy, whom we respect for his ability, can outbox Steve, we will take off our hats and say that Brown should have the first chance at the championship."

Ketchel is not as tall as Brown, and he carries more muscle, apparently, being broader and stockier than Pal. He boxes head down and arms flying.

ADAMS AND NATIONALS TO CLASH AT HOCKEY.

The Adams and the Nationals will play the second game of the season in the Duluth Amateur Hockey league at the big curling rink, this evening. The two teams are very evenly matched and one of the closest games of the early schedule is looked for.

ASSOCIATION TEAM BEATS NAVAL RESERVE.

Last night at the Y. M. C. A. the association indoor baseball team defeated the Naval Reserve team by the score of 15 to 8 in five innings, the contest being a virtual walkaway for the association players.

This evening the second of the series of all-round athletic contests for the Northern Hardware company medals, will be held. The two standing board jumps, the stretch kick and the snap under the bars will be the events run off.

McKibbons Win.

In The Herald trophy event play last night McKibbon defeated Verne Culbertson's rink by the score of 11 to 9. The game was well played and close right up to the final head.

Merritts Win Easily.

At the French rink last evening the Merritts defeated the Emeralds by the score of 14 to 0. The game was too one sided to be interesting. The Merritts excelling in every department of the game.

FANS ARE DELIGHTED OVER THE NEW LEAGUE

President Blume and Dr. McCuen Expected Home---National Commission Must Grant Permission for New League.

President Harry Blume and Dr. J. A. McCuen, president of the Duluth Baseball club, are expected back this evening from the Minneapolis meeting. With the return of the Duluth officials more information of the plans of the club may be gathered.

Fans here are delighted with the turn baseball machinations, if you want to put it that way, have taken, and for the first time in the past few years the fans here are looking forward to the opening of the season with a great deal of enthusiasm.

The only obstacle remaining in the path of the new league's completion is the national commission. With the consent of the national governing body, the highest court in baseball, the long desired objective point of the teams of this part of the country will have been accomplished.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 22. — The Central International league, a four-club organization, passed from existence yesterday and in its stead there is the Northern league, composed of eight clubs, provided the sanction of the national commission and the National association is secured. The new organization is to be composed of Winnipeg and Fort William, Can.; Superior, Wis.; Grand Forks, N. D.; Duluth, Virginia, Minneapolis and St. Paul, Minn.

Permission for the entrance of the minor organization was granted by the American association at its meeting in Chicago last week, provided control of the Minneapolis and St. Paul teams of the new league were in the hands of Michael Cantillon and George E. Lennon of the American association teams of Minneapolis and St. Paul respectively; provided the new organization agreed to withdraw its clubs from the Twin Cities at the end of any playing season at the request of the American association, and provided the lesser organization would not claim greater than Class C. ranking, although two of the clubs were in cities of American association rank.

These terms were agreed to by the representatives of the new organization who met here with Cantillon and Lennon. Those present were S. L. Taylor of Fort William and A. M. Blackburn of Winnipeg; W. H. Kelsey of Grand Forks; H. A. Blume and J. A. McCune of Duluth and Superior; and F. Finch and A. B. Coates of Virginia.

Another meeting when officers will be chosen and a schedule arranged, will be held here as soon as the consent of the National commission and National association is obtained.

According to present plans, the schedule will be one of 120 games, beginning early in May and lasting until Labor day. There probably will be a $1,500 salary limit.

Portland, Me., high defeated Business high, Washington, D. C., 926 to 778.

Technical, Springfield, Mass., defeated Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., high, 870 to 867.

As the school officials of Philadelphia have forbidden rifle practice by the schools, the Southern high scool of that city has been compelled to withdraw from the league.

Gives Youngster a Chance.

New York, Jan. 22.—Manager McGraw of the New York Nationals, has announced that he will take a young brother of Johnny Evers, manager of the Chicago Nationals, on the Giants' training trip to Marlin, Tex. Young Evers is an infielder, 22 years old. He has played semi-professional ball around Troy, N. Y., and has big league ambitions. McGraw says he will give the youngster every chance to qualify.

Exchange of Umpires.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—An exchange of umpires by which James Murray of the International league comes to the American association and William Bierhalter of the latter league goes to the International, was announced here yesterday by President Chivington of the American association. Chivington says that Murray was the mainstay of the International last year and will prove a valuable addition to the staff of the association.

Lajoie Not "Has Been" Yet.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 22.—Quieting the rumors that he was to be traded to the New York American league team, Napoleon Lajoie, the Cleveland American league second baseman, yesterday signed a contract with the local team. Although he has played sixteen seasons in the big league, Lajoie batted .368 last year and it is said, the salary of $9,000 he has received for the last four years will be continued.

Australians Win.

Sydney, N. S. W., Jan. 22.—In the concluding series of test tennis matches yesterday, Australia defeated the British players, holders of the Davis cup, winning every event. Heath and Jones defeated Parke and Lowe, and Beamish and Dixon. Brookes and Dunlop also defeated both British pairs, Australia winning the series by two rubbers.

ON THE IRON RANGES

SIX DEATHS IN SHORT PERIOD

Family of Mrs. Walter James of Eveleth Has Much Sorrow.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Six deaths in the family in less than two years has been the sad experience of Mrs. Walter James of 612 Jackson street, who has just returned from Dorchester, Wis., where she last week buried her father, Charles A. Fessler, who was burned to death in a fire in his dwelling and shoe shop at Dorchester, Jan. 17.

The fire is believed to have started from an oil stove. Mr. Fessler kept beside his bed at night.

Mr. Fessler was a native of Sheboygan and 60 years and 7 months old. He is survived by three brothers, Anton and Henry of Sheboygan and William of Arizona; one sister, Mrs. Frances Schmidt of Lindherst; three sons, George and Frank of Abbotsford and William of Jacobson, Minn., and four daughters, Mrs. Mary Poole of Schlocton, Mrs. H. Miller of Minneapolis, Mrs. W. B. James of Eveleth and Mrs. William Knopp of International Falls.

The funeral was held from the Evangelical Peace church at Dorchester on Thursday afternoon, Rev. A. Janke preaching the funeral sermon. The attendance at the funeral was one of the largest in the history of the village.

ARE EXPOSED TO SMALLPOX

Passenger on Range Electric Car Traveling With Violent Case.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—A number of passengers on an interurban car between Buhl and Virginia yesterday were exposed to smallpox, when a woodsman who has been employed at one of the camps of the Cleveland-Cliffs Construction company afflicted with the disease, which had reached the point of a considerable rash evident over his face and hands boarded the car and went to Buhl to consult a physician.

He had been ill for some time and Dr. Wicher of Buhl diagnosed his trouble as smallpox and ordered him quarantined. Several traveling salesmen and Buhl and Virginia people were among those exposed. The greater majority promptly submitted to vaccination as soon as they learned the man had been afflicted with smallpox. Rev. Frank Durant of Hibbing was one of the passengers on the car, but is immune from the disease.

GAME WARDENS CONTINUE BUSY

Several Lawbreakers Are Being Rounded Up and Punished.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Six convictions for violations of the state game and fish laws are the net results of a joint campaign by Game Wardens Wood and Harry in Itasca county, just concluded.

G. B. Hethe of Bovey was caught spearing lake trout in South lake, near Bovey Sunday and pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $10 and costs in Judge Trescott's court at Coleraine Monday night.

George Schustriche pleaded guilty to a charge of spearing trellips and other game fish in Trout lake and also paid a fine of $10 and costs to Judge Trescott.

D. F. Highline, a trapper and shacker had been using parts of deer meat to bait wolf traps and paid a fine of $25 and costs.

Henry Injula, a farmer living five miles south of Marble, was found with parts of two deer in his possession which were confiscated together with a quantity of net. Besides he paid a fine of $10 and costs in Judge McKusick's court at Marble.

Victor Makl, living near Swan lake, was brought into court for the second time within six months charged with violating the game laws. The specific charge was selling venison to Isaac Moekka, a merchant and hotel keeper at Bovey. He paid a fine of $50 and costs and Moekka like amount.

The end is not yet say the wardens. They are still at large in the woods of Itasca county.

MUNICIPAL GAS PLANT AGITATED.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—An effort to get the city to build a municipal gas plant is the latest thing here. The women claim that gas is cleaner and nicer to use than coal and say it will help to reduce the high cost of living.

HOSPITAL NURSE CUTS HIS FOOT.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank Fischer, chief nurse at the Rood hospital, stepped on a piece of broken glass in the basement of the hospital, which pierced his shoe and inflicted a bad wound on his foot, severing an artery. Mr. Fischer had been in the basement, superintending some repairs to a basement window when the accident occurred. He will be incapacitated from his duties for some time.

PAST FIFTY? YOU NEED "CASCARETS"

What Glasses Are to Weak Eyes—Cascarets Are to Weak Bowels.

Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are muscles.

So all old people need Cascarets. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at fifty.

Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a lash can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets and they cost only 10 cents per box at any drug store. They work while you sleep.

VIRGINIA WILL PROTECT PUBLIC

Council Proposes That Range Telephone Franchise Be Good One.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city council last evening discussed the proposed franchise the new Range Telephone company is seeking and the tenor of the remarks made indicated that Virginia will get a good bargain out of the deal or there will be no franchise granted. The new redrafted franchise was given its second reading last night, the franchise first presented by attorneys for the telephone company having been considered unsatisfactory and the ordinance committee revising and redrafting it wording "only strictly automatic" has been changed so that the bids may be made on any kind of instruments, the bidders to state what system of service they propose to install. The draft of the ordinance also fixed the rentals with the maximum figures the company may charge as follows: $2.50 per month for private line business; $1.75 for private line residence; $2 for party line business; $1.50 for two party line residence; $1.25 for four-party line residence.

There is also a provision that 25 cents per month over these rates may be charged but the user can save the increase by a discount allowed for payment before the fifteenth of the month.

Want Same "Free" Tolls.

The councilmen also desire that the company shall give service without toll to Mountain Iron, Gilbert, Eveleth, Biwabik and Aurora and this feature will also be left open in the bids. The company to whom the franchise may be granted will also pay for the street and other privileges a percentage of gross earnings and this also is left open in the bids. By the terms of the city charter of Virginia franchises are granted only by competitive bids. Although the Range Telephone company is the organization that desires the franchise, no company is named and any telephone company may offer its bid.

As it was near midnight when the council adjourned, the matter of the revocation of saloon licenses, the awarding of printing contracts and other business was not reached.

Gilbert Moves Cautiously.

Gilbert, Minn., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local village council is moving cautiously in the matter of granting a franchise to the new Range Telephone company. The council considered the proposed franchise last night, but arrived at no conclusion, deferring further action until tomorrow night.

Biwabik Grants Franchise.

Biwabik, Minn., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local village council has granted the Biwabik Telephone company the franchise it sought, making this the first range town to grant the new company the privilege of operating.

GETS NO DAMAGES.

Suit for Being Called Horsethief Is Unsuccessful.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The district court jury that heard the evidence in the suit of John Tardie vs. John Lundgren for $1,000 for slander in calling the plaintiff a horsethief, found for the defendant.

Tardie claimed damages for having been arrested and charged with horse stealing by Lundgren. Tardie claimed that he had agreed to break a horse for Lundgren and took the animal to Mesaba for that purpose and while there was arrested on a warrant sworn out by John Lundgren. The case was dismissed in the municipal court.

GRAVES ARE SECURE.

Little Chance of Iron Being Found Under Hibbing Cemetery.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The possibility of iron being found under the Hibbing cemetery in sufficient quantities to warrant removing the bodies buried there so mining could be carried on is considered quite remote, despite rumors to the contrary.

It is said the cemetery will not be removed very soon.

HIBBING WEDDING.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Mae Cummings, a niece of Bryan O'Rourke of Hibbing, and Hugh A. Farnand, chief clerk in the office of the Inland Steel company, were married at the Church of the Blessed Sacrament at 8:20 this morning in the presence of a number of relatives and friends. Rev. Father James Hogan officiated at the nuptial high mass, with the Rev. Father Larrigan of Hibbing and the Rev. Father Culligan of Eveleth as deacons.

The bride was attended by the Misses Lillian Giroux and Grace O'Rourke and W. A. Farnand, a brother of the groom, was best man. Following the wedding ceremony a breakfast was served to about 100 guests at K. C. hall in McGolrick institute. The bridal couple left at noon for a wedding trip to Duluth and the Twin Cities.

VIRGINIA COUNTY DIVISION MEET.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—A meeting of all those interested in county division has been called by Secretary Archer for Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the city hall. Mr. Archer has been in St. Paul looking over C. T. Knapp county division bill and familiarizing himself with the exact provisions of the measure. He will be on hand at the meeting Thursday. Other members of the club will be present to give addresses.

Bettering Hibbing Well.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The replacing of the timber shaft in the well with one of concrete is progressing and it is expected the work will be finished in about two weeks. This improvement will prevent the contamination of the water by contact with decaying wood. During the work on the well the water used by patrons is boiled on advice of health officials.

Virginia Sunday Concert.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Next Sunday evening the first of a series of Sunday afternoon concerts will be given at the club rooms in the public library building with the new phonograph the board recently purchased.

Hibbing Alumni Elect.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The alumni of the local high school, who are perfecting an organization, have selected the following officers and will complete their organization next week when Principal Alexander of the high school will designate an alumni day and there will be a banquet: President, Marc Atkinson; vice president, Dora Cohen; secretary, Ernest Hoskins; treasurer, Emma Kleffman.

Enter Cary, Ill., Ski Jumping.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Having won laurels at the ski tournament here Barney Reilly has entered for the big event at Cary, Ill., next Sunday. Ole Feiring of this city and Lars Haugen of Fergus Falls are also entered for the Cary jumps.

Virginia Study Club Dinner.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Study club will give a dinner attended by members and their husbands in the basement story of the new public library.

cular hospital for male patients, additional ward buildings and other improvements, and it is expected that they will be the heaviest of any of the state institutions.

For the National Guard.

An annual appropriation of $30,000 for the North Dakota National Guard, for maintenance and general expense, is proposed in a bill introduced by Representative Lewis. There also is an annual appropriation bill for the construction of armories, and during the coming biennial period, it is expected that Mandan will take advantage of that proposition and bring about the construction of an armory in this city.

Truth, and nothing but the truth, in connection with advertisements for the sale of real estate, is demanded by Representative Kyllo of Grand Forks county. His bill would make it a misdemeanor for a land owner or selling agent to advertise false things in connection with proposals to sell land.

Woman Suffrage Bill.

This morning the first meeting of the senate woman's suffrage committee was held. There is only one bill before that body, that by Senator H. A. Bronson, and it proposes that the proposition of equal suffrage be submitted to a vote at the next general election. Mrs. Alice Nelson Page of Grand Forks, secretary of North Dakota Votes for Women league, is leading the lobby for the enactment of the measure at the present time, but there will be other women here from time to time. They are confident that a woman suffrage bill will be passed and that the state will vote on the question in 1914, as a constitutional provision makes a vote on the suffrage question possible after favorable action by only one assembly.

Yesterday a new "blue sky" bill was introduced in the senate. It embodies the features contained in most of the other "blue sky" bills that were introduced earlier in the session, and which were disposed of by the indefinite postponement route on Monday. It is not expected that such a measure will be passed.

Representative Frietag of McLean county believes that the legislature assembly is in poor business employing boys as pages, and he contends that such work should be done by older persons. He would have all the present pages be discharged, and would engage men for the places. He believes the boys who are acting as pages should be in school, and gives that as the reason for a resolution covering the subject.

Bills Killed in Committee.

The bill for the fixing of salaries of district court reporters at $2,400 annually, together with expenses, was reported out in the house yesterday for indefinite postponement. Among the other bills killed were those making a unanimous vote of the supreme court necessary to declare a law unconstitutional; creation of the position of supreme judicial referee, and the creation of a joint exhibit for North Dakota and South Dakota at the Panama-Pacific exposition. It was found that the sentiment of the legislators was for an independent exhibit at the San Francisco show.

The bill providing for the payment of district court judges' expenses also failed of passage.

Senator Cashel yesterday introduced a bill which provides that counties shall pay the expense of maintaining patients in the state institute for the feeble minded at Grafton. This bill is along the same line as the law covering the maintenance of patients at the state asylum for the insane at Jamestown. Each inmate must be paid for by the county from which he or she is sent, thus no direct appropriation by the legislature for the support of the patients is made necessary.

about 200 miles from Marquette; Duluth is 150 miles from St. Paul. To do the business at Superior last year it cost the government $.094 for every dollar collected, while at Duluth, the seat of a customs district, it cost only $.072. The circumstances considered are identically parallel, and we must conclude that doing business at a long distance, with its incidental costs due to transportation and transmission of items and the time consumed as a result, actually increases the expense in a place situated like Duluth.

Two Great Industrial Centers.

"The collection of customs is a concomitant of industrial activity. In the Northwest there are two great industrial centers, one consisting of St. Paul and Minneapolis, and the other at the Head of the Lakes, of which Duluth is the center. It is certainly proper that one customs district should have St. Paul or Minneapolis as its seat, and it is equally proper that Duluth should be the seat of another district. The industries of the two districts are entirely unlike. St. Paul is an inland city, and at that point the collection of duties is the sole work of the customs office. How different at Duluth. The collection of duties here is the least part of the work. Duluth is a great shipping point, the greatest the world has ever known since man first put to sea in boats. These shipping interests which recently have reached such colossal proportions require a Duluth district, if no other consideration does. Duluth is the home port of 425 large lake freight and passenger boats—the greatest fleet flying the American flag that sails from any port on earth. These all are registered at Duluth, the home port. Their mortgages are filed there; their bonds are recorded there; all the business affecting these boats is recorded there. To make Duluth a subport of St. Paul would move all these records, all this business, to an inland town, 150 miles away. To do so would work havoc with the shipping business. Confusion, expense, delay expenditure, would be the result.

"Constantly are arising many important and often perplexing questions before the collector of the port where vessels are registered. These must come before the collector himself. All matters relating to fines for violations of the navigation rules and laws, all petitions for relief and reports, and many, many other items, would go to Duluth, then to St. Paul, then finally, after having circumnavigated a semi-circumference of the globe, back to Duluth."

Greatest Shipping Port.

Mr. Miller then quotes the shipping figures for Duluth-Superior for 1911 and says that the army engineer in charge assures him that the figures for 1912 will show a commerce of 40,000,000 tons. This tonnage exceeds that of the port of London by 3,000,000 tons; Liverpool by 5,000,000 tons; and the Suez canal by 10,000,000 tons, thus proving Duluth to be the greatest shipping port in the world.

"Customs can be collected either at St. Paul or at Duluth," he says, "but this immense shipping business can be handled only at Duluth. If consolidation must occur, then abolish the St. Paul district, and leave the one at Duluth. It would be as well to make New York a subport of Albany, San Francisco a subport of Sacramento, as to make Duluth a subport of St. Paul.

"While the freight traffic above detailed shows that about one-third was handled at the Superior side of the harbor, it is to be noted that all the passenger boats and, therefore, all the passengers, both from foreign and domestic ports, land at Duluth. Instantly arises all the work connected with the baggage of these 65,000 people annually and expeditiously to handle which a full collector with full power must be located at the landing place, not 150 miles to the interior.

"It is also to be emphasized that all matters relating to the boats registered at Duluth cannot be properly or economically handled, both as regards the government and the owners, at a point 150 miles to the interior.

Gain in Beard.

"During the past year, new transportation business of very great magnitude has arisen at Duluth. The Canadian Northwest has recently developed in a measure wonderful even for America. So great has been the production that a new route of shipment had to be found, and it was found through Duluth. Last year 22,000,000 bushels of grain in bond from Canada, destined to foreign markets, passed through Duluth-Superior harbor, and much of this was for a time stored in the elevators there. It would be a practical impossibility to handle this business from St. Paul through a subcollector at Duluth.

"Mr. Miller then quotes the total entries and clearances of vessels for the Head of the Lakes harbor, showing a total of 22,523 last year. This aggregate is as large as New York, Boston and San Francisco combined, or of Puget Sound, Philadelphia, New Orleans and Boston combined.

"Will it, therefore," he exclaims, "be contended that this colossal business, growing so rapidly can be properly handled at St. Paul, 150 miles away? The voices of 300 shipowners say no. The voices of 1,100 captains of lake boats, through their representatives today assembled in Washington, say no. The voices of all the villages, cities and half a million people in Northwestern Minnesota say no. We certainly expect that the department likewise will say 'no'.

Attitude Toward Superior.

Explaining Duluth's attitude toward Superior, Mr. Miller says: "We do not require that Superior be made a subport of Duluth. We do not desire to take from Superior anything that is Superior's. We want for Duluth that which is Duluth's. The great vessel business incident to the home port of vessels is exclusively in Duluth. The passenger business is exclusively in Duluth. Two-thirds of the shipping is at Duluth. Duluth of herself has enough and to spare requiring that she be made the seat of a customs district. Therefore we make no reference to or request concerning our neighbors across the harbor. Superior is a sister city of which we are proud, whose prosperity and welfare we are at all times anxious to aid in advancing."

Throws Away His TRUSS!

Strenuous Old Sea Captain Fools the Doctors and Cures Himself.

No man, woman or child who is ruptured—no matter how severely or at what age—need despair of being cured.

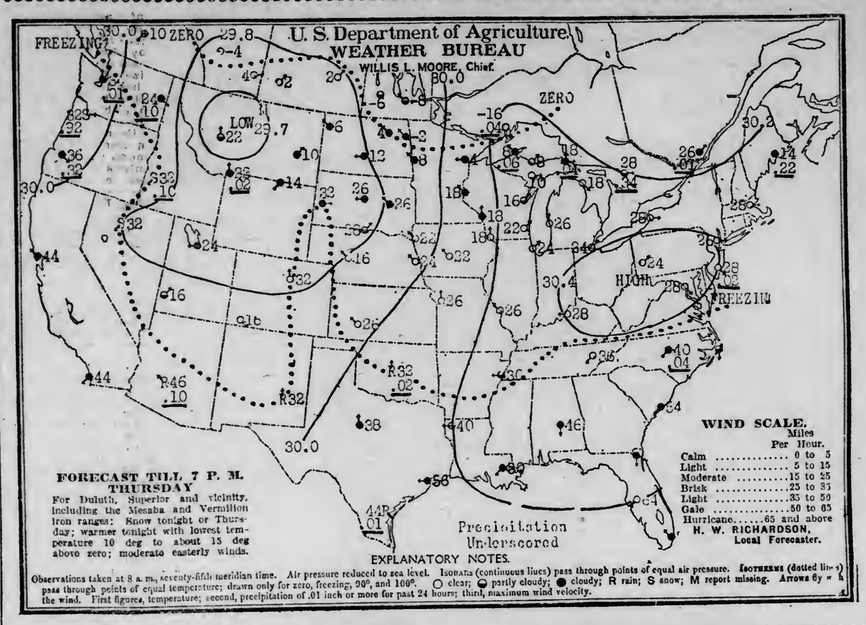

Throws away his Truss.

The case of Captain Collings gives encouragement for all sufferers from rupture. He suffered a double rupture —and was confined to his bed for years. Physicians examined his case and pronounced an operation necessary, but he kept experimenting on himself, and finally to the astonishment of all, he cured his ruptures and never had any return of the trouble.

Captain Collings will tell you just how he did this and will send you FREE trial of the wonderful process he used. This costs you nothing and benefit must surely result. Write today and commence using his system at once. Address: Capt. W. A. Collings, 726V Arsenal St., Watertown, N. Y.

SNOW

The cold was not as intense as the weather man threatened, but it was cold enough last night to make ears tingle after a walk of a few blocks. Today is gray and rather mild compared with the last few days. Snow and warmer weather are predicted for tonight and tomorrow.

The temperature was down to zero a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 7:44 and it will set at 4:55 this evening, giving nine hours and eleven minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Warmer weather prevails in Saskatchewan, Manitoba, the Lower Missouri and Upper Mississippi valleys, southwestern states and the Lake region, while in North Atlantic states, Montana and Alberta the temperature has turned colder. During the last twenty-four hours light snow or rain fell over Eastern Canada, Middle Atlantic coast districts, Southeastern Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, Nevada, Northwestern Wyoming, Idaho, Oregon and Washington. Somewhat warmer weather may be expected in St. Louis and Douglas counties this afternoon and tonight."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Jan. 22. — Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Thursday:

FARMING IS DIVERSIFIED

Dakota Farmers No Longer Rely Entirely on Small Grains.

Turning Attention to Corn and Beef, Say Elevator Men.

Six representatives of the St. Anthony & Dakota Elevator company were visitors on the Duluth board of trade today. They were C. D. Jenkins of Minneapolis, head superintendent; N. A. Robertson of Devils Lake, Walter Fink of Grand Forks, W. B. Sheffield of Crookston, H. H. Stahl of Minot and H. L. Moore of Wahpeton. These men attend to the company's business through all of North Dakota, the northeastern part of South Dakota and Northwestern Minnesota.

Through all of that territory, according to their reports, the farmers have generally had the most prosperous season in all their history, notwithstanding the lower prices that grains brought this fall and the high wages that had to be paid to men who were hired to help get the crops to market. There was a ready market for all of the grain and there was the greatest abundance of it. But the most profitable industry on the farm has been the raising and selling of cattle. That, together with the increasing dairying business of the Northwest, will, these men say, prove the salvation of the Northwestern farmer, financially.

"The farmers are coming to realize more and more," said H. L. Moore of Wahpeton, "that it will not do for them to depend for their profits on small grain. They see that it pays to turn their grains into beef and sell that. They are also turning more and more to corn every year and the corn belt is slowly extending itself northward into regions where it was thought, a few years ago, that corn could not be raised on account of the shortness of the summers. As yet, however, not much corn is raised north of Fargo, Valley City and Jamestown, but it is getting to be quite an item on the farms south of those places.

More Corn Sowed.

"I believe this spring there will be a larger sowing of corn in the Dakotas and Minnesota than ever before. I have several reasons for so thinking. In the first place, it makes a good feed for cattle, and farmers are raising larger and larger numbers of cattle on account of the high prices of beef, milk, butter, cheese and the like. Another reason is that planting will probably be pretty late this spring, because so little plowing was done in the fall. The big crops that had to be handled, the scarcity and great expense of help, and early rains and snows all delayed the fall work. I do not think there ever was a fall when the farmers did so little plowing as they did in the fall of 1912. Wheat cannot be planted so early as corn, and for that reason corn must be planted largely in the place of wheat, if the sowing is very late. Whether the sowing is extremely late or not depends largely on the earliness or lateness of the spring. A very early spring might give farmers a chance to make up largely by early spring plowing for the failure to do the usual plowing in the fall. The cheapness of oats, flax and other small grains will, I believe, encourage the planting of corn, for corn can readily be turned into beef and milk, which bring good prices.

"North of the corn belt I am afraid the farmers will be rather puzzled as to what to plant next spring, I suppose, if the spring is early, they will plant all the wheat they think they can safely put in, but if the season is very late, they will probably sow large acreages of barley, the price of which is still right good. At all events, it pays much better than either oats or flax. In case of a late spring this year, I should not be surprised to see farmers north of the corn belt put in large quantities of flax, notwithstanding the present cheapness of that seed. There is much new land up there, and flax thrives best on newly broken land.

"A great deal of the wheat that is now coming into the markets is in bad condition, because farmers put it away wet last fall, instead of marketing it immediateiy. The rains left it in such condition that it would not keep in their bins well, and as a result they are losing about 20 cents a bushel on it, whereas they held it in the hopes of higher prices. Such wheat cannot be made into flour. It is fit only for feeding. But wheat that is thus spoiled does not comprise much of the whole crop of the Northwest. I doubt if it amounts to 1 per cent of the total yield."

Pioneer Fargo Woman Dies.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Samuel W. Townsend, wife of a Civil war veteran and a pioneer resident of this city, died of heart trouble. She would have been 63 years old within a few days. Besides her husband, three sisters, residents of Chicago, survive.

Y. M. C. A. CARD PLAYING.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—"Use playing cards in the Y. M. C. A. if you want to keep the young boys and young men out of the card and poolrooms," is the advice that Mayor M. F. Murphy gave the local association officials at the annual banquet last night. He contended that cardrooms would add greatly to the facilities for interesting boys and men, and that cards, played under such conditions, would not have a bad effect, and he urged the adoption of the plan in this city. Mayor Murphy supported the proposition in a talk following the annual banquet.

Diabetes

Simple Herb Quickly Relieves This Dread Disease.

Diabetes has heretofore been considered incurable, and the only hope held out to the afflicted has been to prolong their years by strict diet.

A plant recently discovered in Mexico, called Diabetol Herb, has been found to be a specific in the treatment of diabetes, quickly reducing the specific gravity and sugar, restoring vigor and building up the system.

This harmless vegetable remedy will relieve the patient of his worst symptoms, in the most aggravated cases, within a week, and to prove it, we will mail the first 50c package for 25c, with free booklet of special values to the diabetic, containing latest diet lists and exclusive table of food values, giving percentage of starch and sugar (carbohydrates) in 250 different foods.

You can get Diabetol in Duluth at Boyce's Drug store at the regular price.

REPARATION DENIED.

Shippers Will Not Get Money for Excessive Freight Charges.

Washington, Jan. 22.—Hundreds of thousands of dollars in reparation on shipments of wool and mohair from Pacific coast and Rocky mountain points to the east, were denied to shippers today by the interstate commerce commission.

On complaint of the National Wool Growers' association, National Mohair Growers' association and the railroad commission of Oregon, the commission held on March 21, 1912, that the freight rates were unreasonable and directed that they be reduced. Later in the spring and early summer of 1912 the railroads put into effect the lower rates suggested by the commission.

In its decision, the commission reserved the question of granting reparation, requested by shippers on all shipments during the period from two years prior to the filing of the complaint until the date the reduced rates became effective. The commission held today that reparation would be granted only for shipments under the old rates after the date of the commission's findings.

$3.50 Recipe Free, For Weak Men.

Send Name and Address Today--You Can Have It Free and Be Strong and Vigorous.

I have in my possession a prescription for nervous debility, failing memory and lame back, brought on by excesses, that has cured so many worn and nervous men right in their own homes—without any additional help or medicine—that I think every man who wishes to regain his health, quickly and quietly, should have a copy. So I have determined to send a copy of the prescription free of charge, in a plain, ordinary sealed envelope to any man who will write me for it.

This prescription comes from a physician who has made a special study of men and I am convinced it is the surest-acting combination ever put together.

I think I owe it to my fellow man to send them a copy in confidence so that any man anywhere who is weak and discouraged with repeated failures may stop drugging himself with harmful patent medicines, secure what I believe is the quickest-acting restorative, upbuilding, SPOT-TOUCHING remedy ever devised, and so cure himself at home quietly and quickly. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. A. E. Robinson, 4071 Luck Building, Detroit, Mich., and I will send you a copy of this splendid recipe in a plain ordinary envelope free of charge. A great many doctors would charge $3.00 to $5.00 for merely writing out a prescription like this—but I send it entirely free.

Woman's Realm

Reports on the work of the church during the past year and the discussion of plans for the coming year were features of the annual meeting of the congregation of Pilgrim Congregational church, held last evening in the parlors of the church. A supper was served for more than 200 members of the church by the Ladies' Union and was followed by the business session.

Rev. Charles N. Thorp, pastor of the church, presented his report and discussed the outlook for the coming year and the various branches of the church work were spoken of. Mrs. W. A. McGonagle, president of the Ladies' Union gave a record of meetings and work of that body speaking of the work the women have done in raising money to meet certain expenses of the church, and the aid extended to the Children's Home.

Mrs. E. W. Matter was reappointed chairman of the music committee of the church, under whose efforts the chorus choir was organized and the regular Sunday afternoon organ recitals and vesper services made a part of the church program. These organ recitals have become most popular, Miss Faith Rogers playing a short organ program at 4:15 preceding the regular vesper service. The church is dimly lighted and a general invitation is extended to all to enjoy these restful services.

Mrs. W. W. McMillan spoke of the work of the women's missionary societies during the past year, on both the home and foreign fields. "We combine our work with study," she said, "and we have been using for our text books, 'Conservation of National Ideals' for the home work and 'The India Awakening' for foreign work." The women have also been sending aid to a mission in Turkey.

General reports were given by Oscar Mitchell of the board of trustees, R. A. Webster, chairman of the house and grounds committee; Miss Alice Drew of the Friends in Council society; Wayland Sanford of the newly organized Young People's Christian Endeavor society; Brewer Mattox, church clerk; H. B. Paull, chairman of the Missionary council; W. W. McMillan, chairman of the board of missions.

H. W. Nichols, treasurer of the church reported all bills paid and a balance in the church treasury.

Andrew Nelson who has been the superintendent of the Sunday school for the past five years, reported on the progress made and was given a vote of thanks by the congregation for his services. Albert Baldwin was elected to succeed him in the Sunday school work.

Theron H. Hawkes was elected a member of the missionary committee and the names of Mrs. E. D. Field and Mrs. H. B. Paull were added to the standing church committee. All other officers were re-elected.

Judge Cant, president of the Brotherhood of the church, spoke of the interests of that society.

END OF FIRST YEAR.

The election of officers for the Woman's Auxiliary of the St. Louis County Medical association was the chief business of the organization transacted at the annual meeting yesterday afternoon at the Commercial club. Mrs. A. E. Walker was chosen president, Mrs. C. E. Lum first vice president, Mrs. Clarence Taylor second vice president, Mrs. O. A. Oredson secretary, and Mrs. Robert Graham treasurer.

Reports for the past year were given by Mrs. M. S. Hirschfield, president; Mrs. E. L. Tuohy, secretary; Mrs. Homer Collins, treasurer; and by the chairmen of committees; Mrs. Robert Graham of the social committee; Mrs. Oredson of the entertainment committee; Mrs. C. L. Haney of the printing and press committee, and Mrs. F. J. Patton of the general welfare committee.

The society was organized a year ago for the purpose of promoting the social intercourse among the wives of the doctors of the city and a plan for general helpfulness was outlined. During the year a donation day for the Nopeming sanitarium was one of the special features of the work and the arrangements for a big Thanksgiving dinner there were made by these women. Co-operation with the Associated Charities in individual cases has been part of the work and several social affairs were given. The wives of the doctors who met in Duluth in annual convention last summer were guests of the Duluth women at a big luncheon at the boat club and monthly affairs have served to entertain the members.

Mrs. M. S. Hirschfield, who has headed the society, has made a most efficient president and it was under her instigation that the society was formed.

ANNUAL MEETING.

Supper and Election of Directors at Y. W. C. A.

Seven new members of the board of directors of the Y. W. C. A. will be elected at the annual business meeting of the association which will be held this evening at 8 o'clock at the association building. Reports for the year will be given by the association secretaries and Mrs. George H. Claypool, treasurer, will also report.

The meeting will be preceded by a supper which will be served between 6 and 7 o'clock for all members and the usual cafeteria style will be abandoned for the time and assisting in serving will be the following girls under the direction of Miss Mary Lindahl: Misses Minnie Boehne, Jacobson, Evelyn Smith, Nan Holmes, Belle Smith, Winifred Bateman, Sue Scribner, Burnham, Nicholson and Jeronimus.

After the business session a musical program will be given with vocal solos by Mrs. Neil B. Morrison and piano numbers by Miss Eva Zalk.

No invitations have been sent out for this supper but all members are expected.

ENGLISH COUNTESS, FORMERLY A SOCIETY GIRL, COMING TO NEW YORK

COUNTESS POULETT.

Countess Poulett, who is now on her way to New York, where society will probably make much of her. She was Sylvia Lillian Storey of the Gaiety, daughter of a well-known dancer, when the Earl Poulett married her in 1908.

BURN'S BANQUET.

Scots Will Celebrate Birthday of Their Poet.

An annual event of general interest to the Scotch people of Duluth and their friends is the banquet in celebration of the birthday anniversary of Robert Burns which will be held this evening at the Spalding hotel at 7 o'clock by Clan Stewart, No. 50 O. S. C. Warren E. Greene will give the one toast of the evening and a program of unusual merit has been arranged by A. F. M. Custance. There will be vocal numbers by Philip Gordon Brown, A. Rudolph Burquist, Miss Gladys Reynolds, Charles O. Applehagen, and J. R. Batchelor, the Scottish Rite Quartet will sing and an original sketch by the "Kiltie Lassies" will be a special feature of the evening.

After the program the guests will dance, a ten piece orchestra having been engaged for the evening, and the dancing will probably continue until 2 o'clock. Special cars have been arranged for, to accommodate those who live in the suburbs.

All interested will be welcomed at this affair.

Bishop's Club.

Miss Louise Lyons led an interesting meeting of the bishop's club last evening, giving a talk on "Panama and the Canal," which was the chief topic of the program.

Miss Gertrude Fogarty read the Bible passage from the book of Proverbs, which was explained by Bishop McGolrick.

Miss Theresa Long spoke on "Anna Sadler, Her Life and Works" in a comprehensive manner.

The program was lightened by the reading of "Glory," a story sketch of Japanese life by Miss Alice Kennedy; vocal solos by Miss Gladys Reynolds, who sang "Will o' the Wisp," and "I Had a Flower," Miss Thersa Lynn accompanying her. Miss Grace Woolway also gave a piano number which was artistic and well played.

Genee's Tour.

Duluth will be one of the first cities visited by Adeline Genee on her cross country tour, and her appearance at the Lyceum on Friday evening of this week promises to be a most brilliant event. The attraction is the third in the Reyner Memorial series, and the advance sale of tickets has been greater than for any previous attraction in the course. This will be Genee's first visit to Duluth and she is coming under most happy circumstances, for her production this season is a most exquisite one.

Of her New York appearance The New York Herald critic wrote:

"It took just the fraction of a minute to convince the audience that Genee had lost none of her grace, that she had mislaid none of her art. With the lightness of thistledown she leaped and bounded. She danced on the toes of one foot and then on the toes of both, with equal ease. She spiraled, she jumped skyward and 'trilled' with her feet. And there was not the least sign of effort about any movement. She is, if anything, a bit slighter than she was. Her face is still wreathed in smiles."

In the series of performances of her tour, Mme. Genee is given a broader scope for her genius, with the result that, assisted by her own orchestra and a specially selected company, she is able to realize, for the first time in this country, her long-cherished ambition of presenting her art adequately to the American public.

The present tour will cover a far wider territory than any ever before undertaken by a dancer in this country, and Mme. Genee will be introduced to important centers where until now only her fame has recached.

Phillips-Pinger.

The wedding of Miss Ethel Phillips, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Phillips, to William C. Pinger took place at 8:30 o'clock this morning at St. Clement's Catholic church, Rev. Father Brockmeyer, officiating.

The bride wore a traveling suit of purple velvet and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Muriel Phillips in a suit of blue velvet and she carried pink roses. Eugene Cullen was best man.

Mrs. E. Borth played the wedding march and Miss Ella Crowley sang.

A wedding breakfast followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's mother, 414 Nineteenth-and-a-half avenue west. The table was prettily appointed in lavender and white, baskets of violets and bride's roses being employed in arranging the table.

Among the out-of-town guests were: Mrs. Elizabeth Hawkins of Robertsville, Wis.; Mrs. S. Cullen and daughter, Miss Velma Cullen, New Richmond, Wis.; Mrs. Marie Pinger of Minneapolis, and Miss Sara Nolan of Green Bay, Wis.

Mr. Pinger and his bride left this afternoon for a trip to the coast, visiting Seattle, Spokane, San Francisco and other points, and will be at home after Feb. 10, at 212 Second avenue east.

Evening Bridge Party.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Ketcham of 2016 East Superior street will entertain at a bridge party at their home this evening.

Business Women's Club.

The Business Women's club will meet tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock at the library club room. Mrs. Sarah McClaran and Mrs. W. C. Allen will be the leaders. Governor Eberhart's policies will be the subject of discussion.

Woman's Rotary Club.

The Woman's Rotary club will hold its regular meeting at 8 o'clock this evening at the library clubroom.

Soloist at Spalding Tea.

Miss Florence Lawson, cellist, will be the soloist at the regular matinee tea this afternoon at the Spalding hotel from 4 to 5:30 o'clock.

Plays at Y. W. C. A.

Mrs. Hal Mullin played a delightful program of piano numbers at the Y. W. C. A. during the noon hour today. The practice of having a musical program every Wednesday noon will be kept up during the rest of the year just as a little recreation for the girls and women who take their lunches there.

Birthday Dinner Party.

Mrs. Ida Merritt of 109 South Eighteenth avenue east entertained at a dinner party last evening at her home for her son, Peter, in celebration of his twenty-first birthday anniversary. There were six guests.

Meeting Postponed.

Owing to the absence from the city of Dr. Maurice Lefkovits, who was to have led the meeting of the Jewish Chautauqua yesterday afternoon at the library, the meeting was postponed until his return. Dr. Lefkovits is in Cincinnati as a delegate to the union of American Hebrew congregations.

Spaulding-McAlpine.

Announcement is made of the wedding of Miss Alice Spaulding of Big Rapids, Mich., and Dale McAlpine, son of Mr. and Mrs. John McAlpine of this city, which took place yesterday afternoon at the bride's home city.

W. R. C. Meeting.

The regular meeting of the Woman's Relief corps will be held tomorrow afternoon at the Memorial hall at 2:30 o'clock. A large attendance is desired as business of importance will be transacted.

Church Meetings.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Immanuel Lutheran church will meet tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Olafson, 5724 Huntington street.

• • •

Rev. K. A. Lundeen of Brainerd, Minn., is holding a series of services every evening this week at the Swedish Bethany Baptist church, corner of Ninth avenue east and Third street. His subject last evening was "Be Ye Strong in The Lord." He will also be the speaker at the Sunday morning service.

Made Social Secretary.

Friends of Miss Marjorie Quilliard of Lakeside will be interested in the following clipping from the Battle Creek Daily Journal regarding her:

"Miss Margaret J. Quilliard of Duluth, formerly a kindergarten trainer in the Minnesota state normal school, has accepted the position of social secretary at the sanitarium. Miss Quilliard has charge of arranging the various entertainments. The first one given under her supervision occurred yesterday afternoon, when Rev. W. D. Powell of Louisville, Ky., related some of the amusing things which he experienced while doing pioneer missionary work in Texas, Mexico and the Kentucky mountains. His talk was very much enjoyed by every one present."

Will Give Dance.

Employes of the Western Union Telegraph company have issued invitations for a dancing party on Wednesday evening of next week, to be given at Coffin's academy. The committees are made up as follows: Arrangements—E. F. Kelley, H. Olson, C. E. Ashby, J. A. McLaughlin; entertainment—Thomas F. Young, Henry Johnstone, Miss Grace Marks and Miss Julia Donahue.

Surprise Party.

Clifford H. Oppel was pleasantly surprised last evening by a number of friends at his home, 1018 East Sixth street, in honor of his birthday anniversary. He was presented with a meerschaum pipe by the guests, who were:

Messrs. and Mesdames—

ORIENTAL FASHIONS ARE THE LATEST PARISIAN CRAZE

MARQUISE ESPERANZA. COUNT DE LA ROCHEFOUCAULD.

These are two of the most notable society persons of Paris, who appeared in these gorgeous robes at the oriental ball, which created such a sensation in the French capital. Andre de Fouquieres, who brought these pictures to America, says that this ball and the fete at the installation of the Maharajah of Kapurthala, which preceded it, set the example for the oriental fashions which are now going all over the world. De Fouquieres arranged both the fete and the ball, and he had autochrome pictures taken of the principal participants. These are the first autochrome or natural color pictures ever exhibited with the aid of a stereopticon and de Fouquieres showed them to an audience of society people in New York recently, at a so-called "color conference." The Marquise Esperanza, who is seen in one of these pictures, is a second cousin of the king of Spain. Count de la Rochefoucauld is a member of one of the oldest families in Paris society. His cousin married Mattie Mitchell, daughter of Senator Mitchell of Oregon.

SWEETS WHICH MAY BE MADE AT HOME

Date and almond meringues—Blanch one-fourth pound of Jordan almonds. Remove stones from one-fourth pound dates and put through a meat chopper together. Beat whites of two eggs until stiff, add gradually one-third cupful of powdered sugar while continuing the beating; then add one-half teaspoonful of vanilla, one-fourth teaspoon of salt and fold lightly into the mixture, the nuts, dates and one-fourth cupful of sugar. Drop from tip of spoon on a buttered sheet one inch apart, sprinkle with powdered sugar and bake in a moderate oven from twelve to fifteen minutes.

Mock angel cake—Mix and sift four times one cupful of sugar, one and one-third cupfuls of flour, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder and one-third teaspoonful of salt. Pour on gradually two-thirds cup scalded milk. Fold in whites of two eggs beaten until stiff, and one teaspoonful of vanilla. Bake in an angel cake pan in a moderate oven forty-five minutes. Cover with frosting, and decorate with almond paste molded in Christmas designs.

Marshmallow frosting — Boil one cupful of sugar and one-third cupful of water without stirring, until syrup will thread; add five marshmallows separated into pieces, and pour syrup gradually into the beaten white of one egg. Beat until mixture is thick enough to spread and add one-half teaspoonful of vanilla.

Almond paste designs—Mix one-fourth cupful of almond paste, three tablespoonfuls of confectioners' sugar and one-half tablespoonful of white of egg. Flour cloth with cornstarch and confectioners' sugar mixed, roll thin, color, then shape as desired. Miss Farmer colored the paste with leaf green and cut it into leaves and stems to represent mistletoe. Tiny rolls of the white paste were the berries. Red candles can be used if one undertakes to make holly.

Candied chocolate dipped orange peel—Remove peel from four oranges in quarters. Cover with cold water, bring to boiling point and cook slowly until soft. Drain, remove some of the white portion, then cut peel in thin strips. Boil one cupful of sugar and one-half cupful of water until syrup will thread. Cook strips in syrup until clear. Remove to plate to cool. The following day dip in melted chocolate to which is added a small piece of cocoa butter.

Candied grape fruit peel—Wipe three grape fruits and remove peel in six sections lengthwise of fruit. Soak over night in one quart of cold water to which is added one tablespoonful of salt. Drain, put in saucepan, cover with cold water and bring to boiling point; repeat three times and cook in the last water until soft. Drain and cut in strips lengthwise. Weigh peel and take an equal weight of sugar. Put in saucepan with one-half cupful of cold water, bring to boiling point, add peel and cook until the pieces are clear. Remove pieces to plate, taking up as little syrup as possible. Cool, roll each piece separately in powdered sugar and spread to dry. Store in glass jars.

Stuffed cluster grapes—Steam small clusters of grapes, and when soft remove seeds through a small slit made in the top of each. Insert Jordan almond, cooked in olive oil until delicately browned, in each opening so half will show.

After dinner mints—Put in saucepan three cupfuls of sugar, one-half cupful of boiling water, one-quarter teaspoonful of cream of tartar and one-half teaspoonful of vinegar. Bring to boiling point and boil without stirring until mixture will become brittle in cold water. Pour on a buttered large platter, cool slightly, pull until white and while pulling flavor with oil of mint or wintergreen. Cut in small pieces into a bowl of powdered sugar. Stir until well coated and when cold put into a glass jar. Cover and let stand for several days.

Cream nut balls—Melt two and one-half squares of chocolate in saucepan. Add three cupfuls of sugar alternately with one cupful of sour cream. Bring to boiling point and let boil until soft ball is formed in cold water. Pour on marble slab, and work until creamy, then add one-eighth teaspoonful of salt. Knead with the hands, shape and roll in chopped nut meats.

Banishing the Blackhead Pest.

The green soap treatment is an excellent weapon with which to fight the blackhead. Green soap, as many of my readers know, is really not green at all, but yellow in color, and can be obtained at any drug store that is worthy of the name, says a writer in Woman's World.

Before using the green soap, wash the face with warm water, in order to open the pores and soften the blackheads. Then apply the green soap to the face, rubbing it gently but thoroughly into the pores. Then wash the face again with warm water, using a camel's hair complexion brush if the blackheads are peculiarly obstinate. Avoid irritating the skin by too rough treatment, however.

After the skin has been thoroughly dried, and is still warm, massage with a good skin food or face cream. If blackheads still remain, rub the cream into that part of the skin, and apply hot water. It will be an extraordinarily persistent blackhead that will survive this treatment.

As a rule, I should not advise any one to attempt to press or squeeze out blackheads. An expert can sometimes do this to advantage, but the efforts of an amateur are likely to leave an ugly mark on the skin that may remain as an actual scar.

Where the pores of the skin are large, the blackheads find easy lodgement in the face. Cold water is an excellent astringent for large pores, and should always be applied after the face has been bathed in warm water. A mixture of rosewater and benzoin is always helpful on occasion. Take a tablespoonful of rosewater and add to it ten drops of benzoin. Apply to the face with a soft cloth.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Art of Letter-Writing is Sadly Neglected.

Barring the form and construction of the average letter written today by the average young person, there is much to be said in reference to the materials used in letter-writing. Not any sort of paper will do if one hopes to establish or maintain a reputation for being particular or of doing the right thing in this respect. The art of letter-writing, from every standpoint, is very much neglected. A letter poorly written as to penmanship, and poorly constructed as well, written on cheap paper, garish in color, is about as disheartening a thing as one can receive. Such a letter immediately makes one form a poor impression of the writer, and, whether deserved or undeserved, it always sticks, particularly to the stranger.

Last summer, while away, one young lady in my party cried out against the extravagance of the letter paper and envelopes another young woman was carrying. "The idea of trotting that lovely paper about in a traveling bag," sputtered my young friend. "Why, I buy paper for 10 cents a pound and envelopes for 10 cents a package and make them do my summer correspondence."

The girl accused of extravagance colored happily and replied that most of her correspondence at that time was being done with the one man in the world and she felt justified in her extravagance because the letters represented herself to the man toiling away at his desk in the city and she intended that they should be as perfect in detail as she could make them.

She was right. Not only is a letter properly written and on quiet, neat, well-selected stationery a delicate compliment to the one to whom it is addressed, but it also does credit to the sender and sets him up in the estimation of his friends, even if unconsciously.

You will make no mistake if you eschew gaudy paper and stick to white, or at least the pale shades of gray, now considered good form. Leave fancifully woven papers to the giddy school-girl and select a paper with a smooth surface and of conservative shape and size, for although these things change from season to season, the regular and familiar shapes and sizes are always safe to follow.

Do not overdo the monogram. It is right enough if not ostentatious, but the tendency is to make it as conspicuous and intricate as the engraver's art will conceive.

"Nonsense! Muttonhead! Do as I bid you!"

LACK ARMORED CRUISERS.

New York Tribune: The criticism has recently been made of the American navy that it is lacking in the class of ships which, while technically called armored cruisers, are more popularly known as battleship cruisers or cruiser battleships. Our ships of the dreadnought type, or "all big guns," are conceded to be the equal of any, and in some other classes, if not in all but one, we have a fair representation. But in this one class, which in Great Britain and Germany is considered of prime importance and in which the most notable work is being done in the navies of those countries, we are entirely lacking. We have excellent cruisers, of the armored type, a dozen in number; but they are simply good examples of the old style of cruiser and bear no resemblance to the formidable craft to which the foremost European naval constructors are giving to regular battleships.

Frost-bites, Chilblains and All Sore Feet. Quick Cure

Many persons dread the approach of winter on account of chilblains and frost-bites which causes a soreness and itching at times almost unbearable, frequently bringing on a nervous condition. The following treatment gives immediate relief. "Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of Calocide compound in a basin of warm water. Soak the feet in this for fifteen minutes. Repeat this for several days until the trouble disappears." The action of Calocide compound for all foot ailments is really remarkable. It works through the pores and removes the cause. By its use corns and callouses can be peeled right off. Sweaty, smelly feet and tender, aching feet need but a few applications. Bunions get relief instantly. Any druggist has it in stock or will get it from his wholesale house. A twenty-five cent package is usually sufficient to put the worst feet in fine condition. GLEANED ALONG THE POLICE RUN

Claud Luther Lancing.

Claud Luther Lancing, criminal of many aliases and one of the smoothest house prowlers who ever operated in Duluth, is under arrest in Cincinnati with three separate charges against him in the Ohio city. He is now awaiting trial with bonds fixed at $10,000.

Lancing worked extensively in Duluth the latter part of September and the first two weeks in October. He looted the residences of at least five prominent citizens here, as well as a number in Superior. He carried away plunder valued at several thousand dollars, including much jewelry and silverware. Among the various articles were several which were highly prized as family heirlooms, having come down through many generations.

Heber Hartley's home in the East end was ransacked from top to bottom in the absence of the family. The thief carried away valuables estimated to be worth $1,400. The list of stolen property shows that he got several diamonds, many pins, a number of rings and brooches, lockets, chains, necklaces and bracelets. The house was entered the night of Oct. 9.

The burglary of the residences of J. J. Whitehouse at 912 Woodland avenue, and Watson Mendenhall, was reported Sept. 15, three days after Lancing escaped from the St. Paul workhouse. Many articles were taken from them. Oct. 1 he robbed the home of Miss Bessy Mars, taking silver and gold spoons, rings, brooches, beads and a necklace. Oct. 3 Mrs. P. D. Day reported that her home had been entered and numerous valuables stolen. The loss at the Day home was second in amount to that of Mr. Hartley, the articles taken being similar to those lost by the others.

Chief Troyer was very much pleased when he received a letter from the police at Cincinnati informing him of the arrest of Lancing. He characterized Lancing as one of the slickest thieves who has ever operated in the city. He made an extensive investigation of Lancing, but was unable to get any previous trace of his record before his arrest at St. Paul. He was serving time there and while in custody was recognized as a man for whom the police were searching. He had peddled a considerable quantity of valuables which had been reported as stolen. He would have been brought to trial on burglary charges at the expiration of the workhouse term, but he made his escape before his time was up. From there he evidently came to Duluth. No trace of him was obtained until news of his arrest in Cincinnati reached the local authorities.

In a fit of drunken rage August Noskinen slashed John Lanko, a fellow countryman, across the back of his head with a knife in the restaurant at 18 North Sixth avenue west this morning.

Noskinen was placed under arrest on a charge of assault and Lanko was taken to headquarters, where his wound was dressed by Dr. I. J. Murphy, police surgeon. The cut was about two inches long. The knife penetrated to Lanko's skull and he bled quite freely.

The police were unable to ascertain any motive for the stabbing. As nearly as they could learn, Lanko was sitting in a chair minding his own business when Noskinen came up from behind and slashed him with his knife.

Gust Nelson, arrested several days ago for drunkenness after he had paraded in the streets in his underwear, went on the warpath this morning. He made his way from his home to the new curling rink, where he picked up a shovel and drove the workmen into hiding. He declared that somebody was trying to kill him, and that he would do a little slaughtering himself before anybody "got" him. The police were notified and Nelson was taken to headquarters as an insane suspect. He will probably be examined in probate court. His condition is said to be the result of heavy drinking. In police court he was allowed his liberty several days ago on his promise to go to work and stop his dissipation.

Peter Stuba was arrested at New Duluth this morning on a charge of having stolen a coat valued at $10 from Peter Babich. He pleaded not guilty and will be tried Friday afternoon.

The fire department was called to two small fires yesterday. A spark from a defective chimney caused a loss of about $75 to the small store of Morris Flint at 825 Fourth avenue east. In a shed at 629½ West Superior street fire of unknown origin drove out a small party of fortune-tellers who were camped inside. The loss was slight.

Albert Anderson and William Erickson were arrested last night on a charge of having assaulted August H. Anderson in a house at the Glen on Twelfth avenue west. It is claimed that Anderson went to the place to get information as to the whereabouts of his son, who had not been home for several days. Anderson believed that a relative put the two men up to attacking him. They pleaded not guilty and their trials were set for this afternoon.

Charles McDonald, known along Lake avenue as "Scotty," filled up on squirrel whisky last evening. On the street he couldn't control his talk machine and let loose a flood of profanity at passing pedestrians until sent to headquarters. This morning he got $10 and cost or ten days on admitting that he had been drunk and disorderly.

The police state that Abraham Levine stationed himself on the Bowery last night and volunteered to lick any man who wanted to take him on. A policeman happened along and sent him to the lock-up on a charge of disorderly conduct. He pleaded not guilty and will be tried this afternoon.

C. P. Larson, who has an establishment at 2004 West Superior street, was arrested on a charge of being an itinerate merchant selling goods without having first procured a license. He pleaded not guilty and his hearing was set for Friday morning. The offense is classified as a gross misdemeanor.

Ed Alanen was arrested at Virginia yesterday for the Duluth police, who want him on a charge of robbing Frank Tuomi of $96 in a St. Croix avenue saloon. When he was arraigned in police court he waived examination and was bound over to the grand jury. His bail was fixed at $250.

James Boyd, Jalin McDonald and Nick Bronk, the three switchmen who were arrested early yesterday morning on a charge of having stolen goods from a box car back of the plant of the S. & S. Packing company, waived examination when brought into police court yesterday afternoon. They were bound over to the grand jury and bail in each case was fixed at $500.

Louis Bonella and Louis Cova, the cooks who assaulted Barney Beyer, butcher at the Spalding hotel Monday afternoon because he returned to work after agreeing to quit with them, were convicted yesterday afternoon. Bonella paid a fine of $5 and costs and Cova settled an assessment of $10 and costs. Beyer had two badly blackened eyes as mute evidence of the treatment which had been accorded him.

Isaac Korpi, who was arrested with John Maki on a charge of selling liquor without a license at the Maki bourding house at Sixth avenue west and First street, was given a suspended sentence yesterday afternoon. He was found guilty but the evidence showed that he was in the house in the capacity of a guest and not as a bartender, although he had been involved in the transaction with Maki. Maki was fined $100 but was granted a stay of ten days. He was defended by Attorney Oscar J. Larson, who secured the police for hiring men to get evidence on which arrests of that character are made. Judge Cutting stated that such methods must be employed if evidence is to be secured against places of that kind.

The cases against Hilma Holmberg and Rafael Catena, arrested near Ninth avenue west and Michigan street early yesterday morning on disorderly charges, were dismissed today. Peter Holmberg, the woman's husband, refused to swear out a warrant against his wife. He said that he intends to sue for divorce and will be satisfied to let the matter drop. The police state that Catena has a family in the Old Country.

After Rural Routes.
John Beckfelt, a merchant of Grand Rapids, who was in the city today, stated that a petition was being circulated to have two rural mail delivery routes established through the country surrounding that city. He remarked that the merchants of that little town were wide awake to their opportunities and meant to take advantage of the parcel post system. He said that section of the state was going ahead in a business way, in spite of the disappearance of the timber, for it was being settled up by people who are tilling the soil.

Sportsmen Will Meet.
The annual meeting of the Northeastern Minnesota Game & Fish Protective association, postponed from last week, will be held at the Commercial club tomorrow evening. Officers will be elected and legislation of interest to sportsmen discussed.

Jury Has Long Session.
A jury in district court which has had under deliberation since 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon the personal injury action brought by Andrew Ekola against the Northern Pacific railroad, had returned no verdict up to 2 o'clock this afternoon. Ekola sued for $25,000 damages for being thrown from a moving train. He claimed that a brakeman had invited him to ride. The train, it was claimed, was moving at a speed of twenty miles an hour.

MERRY WIDOWS AFLOAT.

Cargo of "Flirts" Soon Due to Reach San Francisco.

Berlin Lokal Anzeiger: Some time in the early part of February the "boat of merry widows" and sail into the port of San Francisco and land up on American soil fifty-seven husbandless women of various ages and stations. With them will be thirty bachelors of many tendencies who are touring around the world.

This globe-circling trip was started at New York, where the widows took ship and started eastward around the world last October, with only one object in view—amusement. And there is every indication that the purpose of the trip is being accomplished, judging from private letters which have just been published.

Flirting seems the principal occupation on board the Cleveland, which is the official name of the vessel carrying this strange cargo. The remarkable thing about the trip is that most of the merry widows are Americans with only a sprinkling of Germans and French. The bachelors are of every nationality.

According to the writer of a letter, which is dated on board the Cleveland, the widows are having the gayest time of their lives.

Of course the men of the party laid seige to the hearts of the merry widows the moment the boat left Villefranche. First came the young ones. All the way to Egypt the young widows were kept busy warding off proposals and the heavy cannonade of experienced flirting. When the Red sea was reached, where the exuberant spirits of the bachelors became somewhat affected by the warm weather, the reserve had to be called out from among the "beautiful women of a certain age" whose more intellectual conversation and better appreciation seemed to revive the waning spirits of the men.

The younger widows, however, remained the queens of the voyage.

"Why," asked the writer of the letter, "why are there so many cozy corners on Trans-Atlantic liners inviting tete-a-tetes and confidences, and why, above all things, are there such sublime sunsets that they inspire tender feelings?"

"On the 'widow ship,'" the letter says, "the Americans are always contented. They do not kick as do Europeans at every little thing. Furthermore, they drink enormous quantities of iced water, which is incompatible with the average European constitution. They wager from morning till night and applaud enthusiastically when the band plays our American airs. Young and old dance at all hours of the day or night in the grill room or on deck; waltzes and two-steps, but mostly turkey trots and grizzly bears, while the Germans sit in deck chairs and write in diaries.

"There are the beautiful California women with their peach complexions, the tall and graceful women from Chicago and the gay and vivacious women of New York and Philadelphia. The most interesting feature of it all is the chivalry of the American men and the high esteem of women they show in every action."

The free illustrated pocket compendium of private advice for all men, whether young or elderly, single or married; whether well or ailing (explained below), not only contains a great fund of necessary information upon certain avoided private subjects, telling you what to avoid, what to do and what not to do, but also fully describes a new small mechanical appliance called a VITALIZER which generates a natural force and which is now being worn by men all over the world who seek new manly vigor. You, yourself, no matter where you live, may easily have one of these little VITALIZERS to try out in your own case. Therefore, please use the coupon below and get this free pocket compendium by return mail. SANDEN, AUTHOR.

Manly Men Fascinate the Whole World.

Here would YOU, reader, like to be strong, vigorous, vital and manly once more, without an ache, pain or weakness? If you really seek and want this new vigor, this rugged manly strength, then please call at my office or write today and get my free book that you may know the whole wonderful story of this great, drugless, self-treatment, this marvelous little VITALIZER of my invention, which you wear comfortably on your body, and which sends its steady, gentle, silent supply of FORCE into your nerves, blood and organism while you sleep.

Real manhood with a perfect manly strength is not only nature's own gift, but, according to my belief, may easily be within the reach of practically any man. Of course, we all know that it is the husky, vigorous, vital fellow who attracts both women and men to him, and it is he, also, who is ever sought out and who achieves the really big things of life. Sturdy, vital manhood is, without doubt, the one great, silent universal power which fascinates us all, no matter how we may argue to the contrary. Therefore, reader, I care not what may be your age, nationality or creed, whether you are married or single, whether you are a bank president or work on the farm or in the shop, nor do I care how unstrung or nervous you may feel, or what past excesses may have left you debilitated and enervated, I say to you in all seriousness, if I can show you an easy, drugless way by which you may treat yourself with the object of bringing back full vigor to your organism, then I will show you the road to new hope and new manhood. A man may be small in stature, yet as strong and attractive as a giant, or he may be big in stature yet unstrung, nervous and unmanly. It is all a question of your own vigorous strength. Therefore let me suggest that you call or write at once, then, after reading my book, if you decide you want to try out my little vitalizer in your own case, and will write to me saying so, I will reply to your letter and guarantee to make an easy proposition which should enable you to have one of the vitalizers at once. At all events, you need the knowledge that my little book contains, whether you ever get a vitalizer or not, so please call or fill in and send the coupon.

NOTE—With special attachments my VITALIZER is used by women as well as men for rheumatism, kidney, liver, stomach, bladder disorders, nervousness and general ill health.

Free Self-Help Book for Men

I publish a little illustrated pocket compendium in booklet form, as mentioned above, which is meant to guide both single and married men along the road of Vigorous Health and Moral Rectitude, so they may be as vigorous and strong as the best, and may live to a ripe, healthy old age. There is a lot in this little compendium which every young or elderly man should know and can refer to from time to time with great profit to his own physical health. The booklet in one part fully describes my new VITALIZER, the great drugless self-treatment. If it is not convenient or if you are too far away to call, please write for this booklet today. It will come to you in plain, sealed envelope by return mail. Please use coupon. Office hours, 9 to 6; Sundays, 10 to 1.

ROOSEVELT IS WITNESS

Testifies in Hearing Looking Into Steel Corporation.

Former President W. E. Corey Is Also Summoned.

New York, Jan. 22.—Theodore Roosevelt and William Ellis Corey, former president of the United States Steel corporation, were the chief witnesses called today to testify at the resumption of the government hearing looking to the dissolution of the so-called Steel trust. Mr. Roosevelt consented to be examined in his editorial offices; Mr. Corey was summoned to appear before the commissioner in an office building down town.

The oft-repeated story of the absorption by the Steel corporation of the Tennessee Coal & Iron company promised again to be the nucleus of the ex-president's testimony. How he sanctioned the deal was told by Mr. Roosevelt when he testified before the Stanley committee last year. At that time he said he was satisfied that the Steel corporation in taking over the Tennessee Coal & Iron company was actuated only by a desire to check the panic of 1907. The government contends that officers of the defendant corporation misled him as to the status of affairs.

Asked But One Question.

The hearing started shortly after 11 o'clock. Col. Roosevelt was asked but one question by counsel for the government, namely whether statements contained in a letter which he wrote to Attorney General Bonaparte concerning the Tennessee Coal & Iron deal were true. The colonel replied in the affirmative.

E. V. Lindabury, counsel for the steel corporation, then took up the cross examination.

Mr. Roosevelt testified that he was aware that the government had undertaken an investigation of the steel corporation before the Tennessee Coal & Iron was taken over.

"The report to mo was unfavorable in regard to the Standard Oil, but favorable in regard to the Steel corporation," he said.

"This is less interesting than the kimono strike," remarked Col. Roosevelt during a lull while counsel discussed the admission of documentary evidence.

Mr. Lindabury called Mr. Roosevelt's attention to a letter in which Commissioner Garfield of the bureau of corporations said that he did not know of a single instance in which the Steel corporation had refused information to the government. The colonel said that such was his understanding of the facts.

"I do not remember at what date the government was made acquainted with the operations of the Steel corporation," he explained. "It was not until Mr. Garfield undertook his work as commissioner that I had my attention specifically called to them."

"So you were familiar with these affairs when you had your interview with Garry and Frick?"

"I was familiar with the investigation," replied the colonel.

Reads Denial.

Mr. Lindabury read the colonel's previous denial that he had been misled by Messrs. Frick and Gary concerning the acquisition of the T. C. & I.

"Is that still true?"

"It is; and I so testify," declared Col. Roosevelt emphatically.

Judge Jacob M. Dickinson, counsel for the government, then took up the colonel's redirect examination. In sanctioning the T. C. & I. deal, the witness said, he had two things in mind. One, he explained, was the relief it would give to the entire country—not only New York, but Minnesota, Louisiana and other states. The other was the percentage of control of the steel industry which the United States Steel corporation would have after the acquisition of the T. C. & I."

"Did you know at the time that the United States Steel corporation was engaged in the fixing of prices of steel through joint action of competing companies which it controlled?"

"I had no such knowledge," replied the witness.

Judge Dickinson asked if the colonel was aware that the Steel corporation had participated in a steel rail pool, and whether it monopolized the tinplate industry.

"I had no knowledge of the things you mention," he said.

MANY STREET NOISES IN PEKIN.

From the New York Post: An analysis of the street noises of Pekin has been made by the correspondent of an American newspaper and ought to be useful when the anti-noise crusade reaches the Orient.

The great cause of confusion he finds is the various street venders, each of whom is armed with a noise-producing instrument by which he advertises his trade. The barber has two prongs of steel through which he draws a spike and thus makes a loud whir. The seller of sweetmeats holds in his right hand two brass cups which he jangles together. The buyer of old clothes taps a small drum with a bit of bamboo, getting by this combination a plunk, plunk that attracts trade. The man who has wicker baskets to sell beats half a gourd with a drumstick, the clothes seller swings a drum which has two bits of metal attached to it by strings, the toy dealer strikes a brass gong of a peculiarly penetrating tone, the knife grinder claps three blocks of iron together and the seller of charcoal announces his coming by a repeated tap, tap on a block of wood.

The watchman introduces a little variety. He is armed with a wooden drum, which he taps in different measures to mark the different hours of the night.

EMPRESS FOR THE REPUBLIC.

Peking Daily News: Since the formation of a republican form of government the retired empress dowager has not hesitated to exert her influence in its welfare. In her recent interview with Tau Shu, a living Buddha of Mongolia, the empress dowager is reported to have said: "The establishment of a republic in China is the beginning of bright days and unity for all the people of the country. The people of Thibet and Mongolia, not knowing the significance of the wonderful change, have taken steps to cut themselves loose from the republic. They cannot do a thing which is more dangerous to themselves as well as to China." The living Buddha was therefore strongly urged by the empress dowager to use his best efforts to bring Mongolia peacefully into the fold of the republic.

PETRIFIED DINOTHERIUM.

Macon (Mo.) Times: An interesting relic has been found on the farm of John H. Waller of Bowling Green, Mo. Attention was drawn to the remarkable likeness in a large rock to a huge animal, the lower part buried. Excavations were made and there stands in noble proportions of stone a memorial of some prehistoric day. It measures about twelve feet in length and about the same in girth. The head, neck and body are perfect, the spinal column prominent. It is of gray stone of granular composition containing particles of white metallic luster, thought to be pyrites, one of the essentials of petrification. The perfection in detail leaves little doubt of it being a specimen of the dinotherium family.

TO HELP NEW COMMITTEE

Traffic Commission Offers Services to Greater Duluth Club Workers.

Has Much Information That Will Be of Great Assistance.

The traffic commission of the Duluth Commercial club will assist the committee of the Greater Duluth club appointed to investigate passenger traffic on lines into Duluth.

In response to an inquiry this morning, Julius H. Barnes, chairman of the traffic commission, said the commission will do everything possible to assist the committee appointed by President P. E. Dowling of the Greater Duluth club.

"We shall certainly do everything in our power to facilitate the work of such a committee," said Mr. Barnes. "The men named, whether they come to us as a committee or individually as citizens of Duluth are entitled to know what the conditions are and what can be done to improve them. The traffic commission the past year has been at no little pains to ascertain details as to population; actual and prospective passenger travel in all directions from Duluth, and will cheerfully place this information in the hands of anyone desiring to know. We should be glad of the advice and assistance of such men in arriving at correct conclusions and to discuss any plans of action that promise to secure betterment of passenger communication."

C. F. HARTMAN IS A GRANDFATHER.

Charles F. Hartman, register of the United States land office, is today wearing a smile which closely resembles the opening of unvigation. Cause why? Why he's a granddaddy.

This morning he received a telegram from Boston informing him that a granddaughter had arrived. The parents are Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Allen of Boston. Mrs. Allen, who was married here two years ago, was Miss Sybilla Hartman, and lived here from the time she was a baby—although she was born in St. Paul—until her marriage to Dr. Allen.

WOMAN IS UNKNOWN TO HERSELF

Men Have a Slight Understanding of Feminine Nature, But Women Have None, Says Professor Trumbull of Yale.

By George Trumbull, D. D., LL. D., Emeritus Professor of Moral Philosophy and Metaphysics of Yale university: Women do not understand themselves.

Indeed, they are more essentially nonunderstanding because so large a proportion of their motives and sources of feeling and action are instinctive, unconscious or subconscious.

Let us illustrate this contention by the matter of novel writing and romantic literature generally. To begin with, few men show a profound knowledge of women's essentially feminine characteristics. But almost never can a woman be found who understands the masculine character profoundly—especially the character of a good and highminded man.

But these distinctions between man and woman have a sex relation. Undoubtedly they exist, but this does not necessarily imply the inferiority of one sex to the other. As I believe, the instinctive and the emotional and the subtle in the character of a woman are more influential with her than in the case of a man.

And again, the sometimes peculiar behavior of a woman, perhaps, is more appropriate for the needs of her sex than the more rational judgments of a man. What she does on the whole, however, is less understandable than what a man does. It is peculiar to her sex.

A Woman Feels Her Way.

It is more difficult for a woman to put anything in the form of a rational conclusion. So she senses her way to the government of her conduct to a much larger extent than a man does. On the other hand, it must be distinctly understood that this does not infer inferiority of conduct. It may mean superiority of conduct. But the average woman feels her way to conduct. She does not reason her way to it.

These motives are of a personal sort. Unlike a man, she is less apt to deduce her mode of action from economical or ethical considerations than she is to deduce it from mere impulse. There is nothing strange about this statement of mine. It is the opinion of nine-tenths of those who have made a study of the psychology of the sexes.

Never Study Themselves.

Now, the question is asked: Does a man understand himself more than a woman understands herself? On the whole, yes! But in both cases it is largely an individual affair. It depends solely upon the amount of reflection that the man or woman gives to the subject. Many persons—in fact, most women—have never made an effort to understand themselves.

If from noting these differences between man and woman one infers that there is any subjugation of one sex to the other, and any degradation of the one for the other then he draws a perfectly false conclusion. It is merely a matter of physical mechanism. It is something which appears in a consciousness which is not aware of its own final purpose.

Instinct is designed for the preservation and improvement of the species, just as much in a woman as it is in a worm.

A spider weaves its web; a bird builds its nest, not entirely without consciousness of the end it is desired to reach—the welfare of the species. So it is with a woman. Inasmuch as we are all involved in the welfare of the species, so it is with us all, but instinct and impulse are present more with a woman than with a man.

A woman is quicker to sense the proprieties. She is quicker to feel the needs of any particular occasion. She is more sensitive in feeling attacks which may result to her personal injury than a man is. He does not concern himself so much about them. All in all a woman is quicker in the sensibilities.

AN AGED HORSE.

The Pathfinder: How long can a horse live? E. T. Bigelow of Fairland, Me., has an ancient family steed that has passed her forty-first birthday, and she is still plump, full of spirit and a willing worker. Her teeth, judged by the usual signs, do not show her to be over about thirteen. It is claimed that she is the oldest horse in the country.

LEGAL NOTICES.

NOTICE OF ELECTION UPON THE QUESTION OF ISSUING BONDS OF THE INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF DULUTH—

At a special meeting of the Board of Education of the City of Duluth, duly held on the 8th day of January, 1913, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That in the opinion of the Board of Education of the City of Duluth, it is expedient, and it is hereby so declared, that additional bonds of the Independent School District of the City of Duluth, in St. Louis County, Minnesota, in the sum of two hundred thousand dollars, be issued and sold to provide funds for the purpose of erecting and furnishing two new school houses in said district as follows:

First. The Robert E. Denfeld Industrial High School Building, to be erected on Lots twelve (12) to eighteen (18), inclusive, in Block ninety-five (95), and Lots six (6) to eleven (11) inclusive, in Block ninety-four (94), all in West Duluth, Sixth Division, according to the recorded plat thereof.

Second. The first unit of the Roger S. Munger graded school building, to be erected on Lots nine (9) to sixteen (16) inclusive, in Block one hundred and fifty (150), Portland Division of Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof.

That said bonds draw interest at the rate of 4½ per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, and that they run thirty (30) years from their date with the option reserved to this Board to redeem the same, or any part thereof, at the end of twenty (20) years from their date, or on any interest day thereafter.

That the question of the issue of said bonds be submitted to the voters of said district at a special election to be held therefor upon the first day of February, 1913.

That the Clerk of this Board give notice of this special election in the manner provided by law; and that he cause the same to be published in the Duluth News Tribune and The Duluth Evening Herald, two daily newspapers published in said School District, in each issue of such papers during the ten (10) days immediately preceding the day of such election.

That a copy of this resolution be published in connection with the notice of the election at which the question is to be submitted.

NOW THEREFORE, Pursuant to said resolution and to authority duly given by the Common Council of the City of Duluth, as by law provided, NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that a special election of the Independent School District of the City of Duluth will be held upon Saturday, the first day of February, 1913, for the purpose of voting upon the question of the issuance of the bonds referred to in the foregoing resolution which is made a part of this notice. The polls will be open at six o'clock A. M. on the day of such election and will remain open for purposes of voting until seven o'clock P. M. on said day. Voters wishing to vote for the issuance of bonds in accordance with the said resolution, should indicate their wish by use of the following words upon their ballots, namely, "Shall Bonds be Issued—Yes." Voters wishing to vote against the issuance of bonds in accordance with the foregoing resolution, should indicate their wish by the following words upon their ballots, namely, "Shall Bonds be Issued—No."

WHEAT EASY WORLDWIDE

Big Movement of the New Crop in Argentina Bears All Markets.

Trading in Flaxseed Is Very Narrow—Demand and Offers Small.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 22.—The big movement of wheat in Argentina with the expectation of liberal shipments this week had a bearish effect on the big wheat markets in all parts of the world today. Duluth May wheat closed 1⅛c to 1¼c lower. Cash wheat closed 2c under May. Durum closed ¼c off, oats ⅛c off and rye and barley unchanged. Duluth January flaxseed closed ½c lower and May unchanged.

The wheat markets of North America were bearish this morning. Cables were bearish this morning. Cables from Europe were almost without exception lower. The receipts from the country elevators of the United States and Canada were very large, compared with those of a year ago. The European markets seemed too much affected by the reports of the big wheat movements in Argentina to take their usual interest in the North American offers.

Duluth May wheat, which closed yesterday at 88¼@88⅝c asked, opened today at 88c bid, and at noon was selling for 88c. There were lower quotations also from Chicago, Minneapolis and Winnipeg.

Liverpool wheat at the close today was ¼d lower. The talk of large Argentine shipments this week beared that market, like others of Europe.

Flaxseed Is Dull.

There was little trading in flaxseed on the Duluth market today. Buyers were indifferent and held off, influenced, no doubt, by continued bearish news from Argentina. At the same time offers were not pressing. Duluth January and May seed at noon today showed a decline of ¾c. Minneapolis showed a decline of ⅝c. Minneapolis rushers were still active bidders, the cash price there being 1⅜c over Duluth January. Winnipeg January at noon today was ¾c up at $1.07 bid, being still 21¾c under Duluth January. Buenos Ayres February seed yesterday closed 1¾c off at $1.19. London Calcutta January today closed unchanged at 1.5512.

A Minneapolis wire says: "The cash market is easier. Mills are getting a considerable part of the receipts on sales. No. 1 northern is at May price to 1c under May. Velvet chaff is 1c to 2c under May. Flour sales are light."

The Seattle office of Logan & Bryan wires: "A prominent miller here says that wheat in farmers' hands is very scarce in this territory and in his opinion our big crop has simply been eaten up by heavy export business on account of the low price. Bluestem wheat here sold today at 96c, March delivery. On Dec. 31 it sold at 83½c."

The Price Current, Cincinnati, says: A large amount of corn is in storage in open cribs on the ground of the farms, especially in the northern belt territory, where the car shortage has been most extreme. Fortunately for both farmers and dealers the weather and the market conditions have been most favorable. Winter wheat seems to be wintering under favorable conditions, a few localities being the exception."

Figures published by the secretary of agriculture show that of the total flaxseed crop of the United States of the year 1912, consisting of 28,073,000 bu, North Dakota, as usual, made the largest contribution, the total yield of that state being 12,086,000 bu, against 9,120,000 bu in 1911, 4,021,000 bu in 1910 and 10,246,000 bu in 1909. In all of these years North Dakota had by far the largest crop of any of the states.

During the last two years, the second place has belonged to Montana, instead of to South Dakota. Montana in 1912 raised 5,520,000 bu of flaxseed; in 1911, 3,272,000 bu; in 1910, 2,100,000 bu, and in 1909, 447,000 bu. South Dakota in 1912 raised 5,323,000 bu; in 1911, 3,217,000; in 1910, 2,850,000; in 1908, 4,160,000.

Minnesota, which used to hold the third place as a flax-raising state, has held the fourth position during the last two years. In 1912 this state raised 4,121,000 bu; in 1911, 3,200,000; in 1910, 2,828,000; in 1909, 3,277,000.

Of these four great flax-raising states the largest percentage of increase in 1912 over the year before was made by Montana, 69 per cent. South Dakota was second with 65 per cent; North Dakota third with 32 per cent and Minnesota fourth with 29 per cent.

THE MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Crop Damage in Argentine Republic Bull Factor in Wheat.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—Increasing interest in the grain crops of the Argentine Republic was made evident today when the board of trade announced that it has arranged to receive the Buenos Ayres quotations direct, instead of second-hand from Liverpool as formerly. Reports of heat and drought damage to the corn crop of the big South American maize surplus producer was again a bull factor when the market opened today. May opened ⅜c to ½c lower at 51⅝c to 51⅞c and sold quickly to 52¼@52⅜c. Rain was predicted for the Argentine but as it had not actually fallen the effect of the prognostication was only momentary.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—The market ruled nervous. May touched 92½c and closed steady ¼@⅜c lower at 93c.

With Liverpool unchanged, Buenos Ayres lower and fair weather prevailing in this country, wheat opened easy, May ⅛@¼c to ⅜@⅝c under yesterday at 93⅛c to 93c. The price touched 92⅞@93c and then recovered to 93¼c in sympathy with corn.

The close was strong, May ⅜@½c higher at 52⅜@52½c.

May oats opened ¼@¾c to ⅜@½c lower at 34¼c to 34c but advanced with corn to 34½c.

Provisions were slightly lower in sympathy with a decline in hog prices at the stockyards. May pork opened 7½c down at $18.80; May lard 2½c to 5c lower at $10.12½ to $10.15; and May ribs 2½c depressed at $10.10.

Cash: wheat—No. 2 red, $1.10@1.14; No. 3 red, $1.02@1.07; No. 2 hard, 91@95c; No. 3 hard, 90@93¼c; No. 1 northern, 91@91½c; No. 2 northern, 88@90c; No. 3 northern, 87@88c; No. 2 spring, 88@89½c; No. 3 spring, 85@87c; No. 4 spring, 78@84c; velvet chaff, 85@90c; durum, 85@91c.

A DEMOCRATIC BABYLON.

Washington Times: New York, the modern Babylon, is a democratic Babylon. Its luxury and its voluptuousness center in and are to be found only in the huge hotels and magnificent cafes that have, in the space of a score of years, transformed metropolitan life. In this democratic Babylon no question is asked, whether a man is wealthy or has power. Whosoever will may come, be he possessed only of enough money to pay for one night's entertainment—and the necessary tips for the waiter. Students of society may well take into account, in summing up the conditions of modern American life, this phase of New York, for it must be remembered that the patrons of these luxurious hostelries and restaurants are not only New Yorkers but that they are everybody, from everywhere, who can raise the price for an annual visit to the metropolis.

STOCKS HAVE STRONG TONE

Traders Operate With Confidence and Prices Go Upward.

Money Continues Easy and and Trade Situation Is Favorable.

New York, Jan. 22.—Speculators on the long side of the market operated more confidently today in the belief that the weak spots had been eliminated by recent liquidation. Continued ease of money and favorable factors in the home and foreign trade situation fostered the development of a more pessimistic feeling. Buying operations were conducted in a large number of stocks with substantial gains in investment as well as speculative issues. Bonds were irregular.

There was an active demand for the leading stocks at the opening today and prices rose generally. Steel was bought in large amounts and gained ⅝. American Tobacco rose 2 points and Amalgamated, St. Paul, Reading, Interborough, pfd., and Erie first preferred a point each.

Hesitancy developed when the market began to absorb some of the realizing sales which the higher opening brought out. Later the rise was resumed with increasing confidence, with the demand for the dividend-paying stocks broadening.

Fractional recessions from the best brought back some stocks to about a level with yesterday's closing, including Union Pacific, Reading and Steel.

The market closed strong. Greater strength, breadth and activity were shown in the final ten minutes of business than at any other time during the session. News of the acceptance by Turkey of the peace proposals brought large orders for both accounts into the market and prices went up at a rapid rate.

THE HERALD "WANT" ADS WORK CONTINUALLY, THEY NEVER CEASE

Until Their Tasks Are Successfully Performed. Each Day These Little Wonder Workers Faithfully Deliver Their Messages to the People of Duluth and Nearby Towns Who Have Learned Their Value

ARMY OF 5000 WORKMEN

QUICKLY DELIVER MESSAGE INTO OVER 25,000 HOMES!

When a merchant places an advertisement in The Duluth Herald he immediately sets in motion an organization of over 5,000 skilled workmen. Printers, stereotypers, pressmen, carriers, newsboys, street car men, clerical help, mailing clerks, postmasters, trainmen, agents and hundreds of others take up the work as rapidly as if they were in the individual employ of that merchant himself.

The services of this entire gigantic human machinery can be put into motion at a moment's notice for a nominal sum, and without effort on the merchant's part.

This system of distribution enables the merchant in a few hours' time to send an announcement to an average of over 25,000 thrifty, enterprising homes that take a live interest in what he has to say.

No other means of communication as yet devised by man is at once so economical, so efficient or so speedy as this great modern method for reaching the people.

REAL FIGHT EXPECTED IN THE SENATE

Proposal to Ignore Constitution in Making Reapportionment Bill.

Resolution Offered to Follow the Seven-Senators Amendment.

Bill for Five-Sixths Verdict Advanced to House Calendar.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—A proposal to ignore the state Constitution in the making of a reapportionment bill came into the senate this morning in the form of a resolution signed by Senators Moonan, Duxbury, Weis, Putnam, Marden and Haycraft, directing the reapportionment committee, in framing a reapportionment bill, to limit itself by the terms of the seven-senators amendment to the Constitution, which was defeated at the November election. This proposal was based on the allegations that it is the settled policy of the state to limit the representation of large cities, and that though the seven-senators amendment failed to pass, more people voted for it than against it. The resolution went over until tomorrow on a notice of debate given by Senator V. L. Johnson, chairman of the senate reapportionment committee.

It was noted that only one of the authors of this proposal, Senator Marden, is a representative of Northern Minnesota. Senator Marden voted against reapportionment two years ago. While the resolution probably will not pass, it is taken as the forerunner of a real fight against reapportionment. Lawyers in the senate this morning said that unquestionably the effect of the resolution, if adopted and used as the basis of a reapportionment law, would be to render the law unconstitutional, as it is in fiat disobedience to the constitutional requirement that representation be based on population.

HOPE TO SEE BILL PASS COMMONS

Lloyd George and Sir Edward Grey So Tell Suffragettes.

London, Jan. 23.—"I hope we shall win on Monday," David Lloyd George, chancellor of the exchequer today told a deputation of suffragettes representing the working women of the British isles, whom he and Sir Edward Grey, the foreign secretary, received at the treasury department.

"I certainly shall do my very best to see that the amendment to the franchise reform bill eliminating the word 'male' is passed by the house of commons. Since I have been in the cabinet I have become a more convinced supporter of women's suffrage than ever.

"My experience during the passing of the state insurance legislation has persuaded me that one of the most gross pieces of injustice in public life is that women have no voice in the determination of matters which affect them more closely than men.

"I am convinced that we shall win and win very soon."

The chancellor then went on to say that the Liberal government was ready to stand or fall by Premier Asquith's pledge that if the house of commons approved the extension of the franchise to women the government would support it.

Sir Edward Grey gave similar assurances to the deputation, but warned the women that the opposition to be overcome was very formidable and that it could not be done by menace or personal annoyance.

FAVORED BY COMMITTEE

Bill for State Building at Hibbing Recommended to Pass.

Gilman-Coates Contest Is Taken Up By Elections Committee.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The house committee on mines and minerals yesterday afternoon recommended for passage the bill by Representative John A. Healy of Hibbing and Representative Cleon T. Knapp of Chisholm, providing for a state mines building at Hibbing to house the field forces which look after the enormous mining interests of the state.

The bill was warmly supported by State Auditor Iverson, and F. A. Wildes, chief state mine inspector, appeared before the committee to explain the need of the building provided for.

One or two members of the committee wanted to cut down the amount of the appropriation, but Representative G. B. Bjornson of Minnesota made a strong stand for the full amount, and his motion prevailed. While it was true, he said, that detailed plans for

REVOLUTION IN METHOD OF ASSESSING PROPERTY FOR TAXATION PURPOSES

PROPOSES NEW PLAN OF ASSESSING PROPERTY

LEWIS C. SPOONER, Representative From Morris, Who Would Vary Tax Burden Between Different Classes of Property.

Bill for Assessing at Various Percentages of Actual Value.

Social Value as Distinct From Intrinsic Value Considered.

Plan Would Vary Tax Burden Between Classes of Property.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—A complete revolution in existing legal requirements for assessing property for purposes of taxation is proposed in a bill introduced in the house today by Representative Lewis C. Spooner of Morris.

It divides all property into seven classes, to be assessed at varying percentages of actual value, according to the author's conception of the ability of each class to bear taxation, and of its social value as distinct from its intrinsic value.

While, as stated above, this is a revolution in legal methods, it is not so startling as it seems because something very like it is now practiced by assessing officials.

The assessment basis ranges from 20 per cent of actual value to 50 per cent of actual value.

Class 1 includes all minerals in the ground, including iron ore, and property in this class is to be taxed at 50 per cent of its actual value. The ground in which the minerals lie, however, is to be assessed as real estate.

Class 2 includes all unplatted real estate used exclusively for agricultural

PROVISION IS PECULIAR

Wording of the County Division Bill Attracts Attention.

Would Confine Decision to Voters in Proposed New County.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—If the county division bill, introduced in the senate yesterday by Senator James P. Boyle and in the house by Representative Cleon T. Knapp of Chisholm and John A. Healy of Hibbing, becomes a law, will the voters of St. Louis county outside the proposed new county of Iron be disfranchised, and will their votes have no bearing whatever on the question whether or not the county shall be divided?

In other words, though the entire county will vote, will only the votes of those in the proposed new county affect the result?

This is said by some lawyers to be the effect of the singularly ingenious bill drawn by the Mesaba range advocates of divorcing the range territory from Duluth.

Section 8, which provides that the judges of election shall transmit returns and that the county canvassing

HARD EXPERIENCE OF MAIL CARRIERS

Caught in Ice on Lake Michigan But Finally Escape.

Green Bay, Wis., Jan. 23.—Though caught in an ice floe on Monday afternoon, while making a trip from Washington island to Ellison bay in a 32-foot launch, Armon Kimcabe and Lester Peterson, Washington island mail carriers, returned safely to the island this morning early.

When caught in the ice floe, the mail carriers abandoned their boat, and after much difficulty, succeeded in landing on Pilot island. At that time the carriers learned that a relief party had started out from Washington island and that the members of that party had become the victims of the floe.

Peterson and Kimcabe started out in an effort to relieve the men who originally left to rescue the mail carriers. Making the long distance on foot over the ice, which was moving the mail carriers found their would-be rescuers in a floe near Washington island. None of the men have suffered any ill effects from their experience, which was due entirely to the mild weather prevailing on the bay.

"DRY" INAUGURATION.

Washington, Jan. 23.—A "dry" inauguration would mark President-elect Wilson's induction into office if a petition presented in the senate by Senator Gallinger on behalf of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, is favorably acted upon by congress. The petition urged the closing of all saloons in the national capital on March 4.

Further action by congress would be necessary if President-elect Wilson desires to have a public reception in the capitol or any other government building as a substitute for the inaugural ball which he is opposed to, in the opinion expressed today by members of the joint congressional committee on inauguration. They contend that they have not the power at the present time to make arrangements for the proposed reception. The committee will be guided in its final decision in the matter by Mr. Wilson's wishes.

BISHOP OF SUPERIOR RESIGNS HIS DIOCESE

RT. REV. A. F. SCHINNER.

RESIGNATION IN HANDS OF HOLY SEE

Bishop Schinner of Superior Desires to Labor in Another Field.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 23.—Rt. Rev. Augustin Francis Schinner has resigned as bishop of the diocese of Superior and his resignation is now in the hands of the holy see awaiting action.

Bishop Schinner is the first bishop of the diocese of Superior, created in 1905, in which year he was consecrated, on July 25, in St. John's cathedral, by Mgr. Falconio.

Prior to his elevation to the episcopacy, Bishop Schinner was vicar general of the archdiocese of Milwaukee, under Archbishop Katzer and later under Archbishop Messmer, and served for some years as secretary to Archbishop Katzer.

The cause given for the bishop's resignation, it is stated, is that he could labor to better advantage in another field.

ASKS INVESTIGATION.

Judge Would Have Guggenheim Divorce Case Reopened.

Chicago, Jan. 23.—An investigation into testimony presented before Judge Heard of the circuit court in the case of Mrs. Grace Brown Herbert Guggenheim-Wahl in her suit for the setting aside of the divorce of William Guggenheim may be taken up by the grand jury. The suit recently was dismissed.

Chief Justice Jesse Baldwin of the circuit court is said to have mailed yesterday a letter to State's Attorney Hoyne asking such an investigation.

Judge Baldwin admitted early today that he had sent a letter to the state's attorney regarding the Guggenheim suit and said the contents were of sufficient importance to demand an investigation, but he refused to further discuss the matter.

AVIATOR FALLS 240 FEET AND STILL LIVES.

Rheims, France, Jan. 23.—The French aviator Charles Gaulard was thrown to the ground from a height of 240 feet by the capsizing of his monoplane while making a flight today round the spires of the Rheims cathedral. He sustained very serious injuries but was still alive when picked up.

MATCH COMPANY IS FINED $2,000

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 23.—By the payment of a total fine of $2,000, or the minimum penalty of $25 for each of the first eighty of 224 counts, charged in the complaint of the state of Wisconsin against the Diamond Match company for the alleged violation of the child labor law, the case has been disposed of in the circuit court of Winnebago county, according to announcement made today. The suit was started on Dec. 9 last.

The basis of settlement was agreed to by Governor F. E. McGovern, Attorney General Walter C. Owen, Charles H. Crownhart of the industrial commission and District Attorney D. E. McDonald of Winnebago county.

The settlement of the controversy was brought about through several conferences held with the state officials. It is said that the conferences resulted in the development of information which warranted the assertion that the offenses admitted by the company were not as flagrant as generally supposed.

TURKISH GARRISONS TO WITHDRAW FROM CITIES WITH HONORS OF WAR

Fortresses at Adrianople, Janina and Scutari to Surrender.

Hostilities Between Turks and Greeks Will Cease at Once.

Immediate Consequences of Ottomans' Decision to Conclude Peace.

London, Jan. 23.—The immediate consequences of the decision of the Turkish grand council to conclude peace with the Balkan allies will be the cessation of hostilities between Greece and Turkey and the surrender of the Turkish fortresses of Adrianople, Janina and Scutari. At all three fortresses the Turkish garrisons will withdraw with the honors of war.

Difficulties may arise concerning the fate of Scutari, as no one knows to whom it is to be surrendered, whether to the Montenegrins, to a provisional Albanian government or to the representatives of the powers.

King Nicholas of Montenegro insists that he must enter Scutari at the head of his troops. Otherwise he says the reign of his family in Montenegro is doomed as he, contrary to the advice of his generals, refused to try to take Scutari by storm at the beginning of the war in order to avoid the certain heavy losses which his small army would have suffered. He preferred the temporizing policy of laying siege to the fortress and should Scutari for this reason be lost to the Montenegrins he alone will be considered responsible.

Delegates Depressed.

Members of the Turkish peace delegation in London showed signs of depression today, but they are determined that the era of concessions must now be regarded as closed. They say they are convinced that the powers will support them in rejecting the demands of the allies for a war indemnity.

All fears of a resumption of the war having been dispelled, the allies now are planning the withdrawal of large bodies of troops at an early date. The delegates in London, however, think that a month may pass before the final signatures are put to the peace treaty as the settlement of exact frontiers, the questions of indemnity and the guarantees in regard to the mosques and sacred places of Adrianople still have to be arranged.

STEAMER IN DISTRESS.

Revenue Cutters on Way to Assist Boat at Sea.

Washington, Jan. 23.—The revenue cutters Androscoggin and Seminole, steaming full speed to the distressed steamer Mae, which last night was sending "S. O. S." calls 130 miles out from Charleston, S. C., had not reported early today to headquarters. The Androscoggin caught the Mae's distress signals when she was cruising about sixteen miles off Bodie island, N. C., about eighty miles away. The Seminole went out from Charleston.

FISHERMEN FLOAT AWAY

All Finally Rescued After Terrible Suffering From Exposure.

Little Sturgeon, Wis., Jan. 23.—Fifty fishermen, more than half the male population of this village, were swept out in Lake Michigan last night when a large floe of ice from which they were fishing, cracked and floated away from shore. All were rescued after terrible suffering from exposure.

The fishermen did not notice their danger until the water expanse was so great that they could not jump across. The cries of the men brought the women and children of the village to the shore, where they stood in terror and watched their loved ones being slowly swept into Lake Michigan.

Boats Too Small to Carry All.

Small boats were manned by some of the boys and after a perilous ride through ice cakes some of the men were taken ashore. The boats were too small to carry all ashore and some of the more distracted ones tore off their heavier clothing and swam through the icy water to safety.

The wind swept the ice cake farther from safety with six men on it. Four of these got ashore late in the night when they too swam the breech. Their clothing was frozen stiff when they reached their homes.

John Pleier and Peter Olson remaind on the ice all night. They burned their fish nets in order to keep warm. At 10 o'clock this forenoon, and nearly frozen, they were able to reach shore at Pilot Island, eleven miles from their homes.

The loss to the fishermen is heavy, owing to the burning of the valuable nets. No serious physical ailment has resulted.

COTTON TARIFF IS AGAIN UNDER FIRE

Manufacturers Do Not Agree on Extent of Reduction.

Washington, Jan. 23.—Proposed reduction of the cotton tariff again was under fire at the hearing today before the committee on ways and means. There were a number of witnesses left over from yesterday's program and a short list of supplemental witnesses.

Southern and Northern manufacturers do not agree on the extent to which the committee should go in cutting the cotton tariff. It has been indicated that the committee might drop the minimum ad valorem rate on cotton cloths to 10 per cent, 5 per cent below the present Underwood schedule. While the Southern men are disposed to concede compromise reductions, the Northern men are fighting for retention of the tariff at approximately the present figures.

CLOSING SESSIONS OF AMERICAN HEBREWS.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 23.—The program for the closing session of the twenty-third council of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations today included the selection of thirty members of the executive board and the naming of a place of meeting in 1915. Previous to the election of executive board members an interesting report of the activity of the Hebrew union college was presented by Dr. Mohler, its president. The college has a registration of 75 students and a faculty of 11 professors and lecturers. It has graduated 126 ministers, many of whom occupy pulpits in all parts of this country, Canada and England.

The newly elected executive board was scheduled to meet after the adjournment of the council and organize.

BELIEVED IT HIS DUTY TO GET LETTERS

Witness Tells of Buying Copies of Archbold Documents.

Says They Show Public Men Were Committing Treason.

Washington, Jan. 23.—Charles P. J. Mooney, editor of the Memphis Commerical Appeal, and formerly managing editor of the New York American, told the senate campaign fund investigating committee today about obtaining copies of some of the Standard Oil letters published by William R. Hearst.

Mr. Mooney testified he negotiated for copies of only a few of the Archbold letters; that they were brought to the American offices by a white man whose name he did not know, and that he paid less than $500.

"I believe that with letters containing matter of this sort, it was someone's duty to make them public. They showed that senators and representatives, sworn to protect the public interests, were committing treason," Mr. Mooney told the committee. He testified that when he became managing editor of the New York American in 1904, John Eddy, previously city editor, turned over to him a number of photographic copies of Standard Oil correspondence with public men. As to how those were obtained Mr. Mooney could give no information. Later a man he could not name offered him more letters and wanted him to buy them, assuring him he "came by them honestly." Mr. Mooney made some photographic copies.

Entirely Proper to Buy.

TO EVICT 120,000 PERSONS IN PARIS

Antiquated Fortification Is Sold to City for Public Parks.

Paris, Jan. 23.—The formidable problem of finding accommodation for 120,000 people who are to be evicted from their dwellings owing to the sale of the antiquated fortifications of Paris to city authorities by the French government is now before the municipal council for solution.

The space occupied by the 21-mile wall encircling Paris and the "firing zone" 500 yards in width facing it, are to be converted into public parks. This space is now covered by many thousand ramshackle houses, occupied by the very poor and in many instances turned into resorts for criminals and tramps. The proprietors pay a small annual sum for the privilege of being allowed to construct these huts on the condition that they are subject to destruction in case of war. There is not sufficient accommodations for the occupants in other parts of the city.

The amount of money expended on these old fortifications erected in 1840 and now to be razed, exceeded 4,200,000,000. It is impossible to enter the city without passing through one of the seventy gates, now used as tax collection stations.

RESERVES TO MAN SHIPS

Will Form Part of Naval Crews Going Through Canal.

Civilian Sailors to Be Given Cruise to San Francisco.

Washingtgon, Jan. 23.—The Minnesota Naval reserve, which made such a fine showing at the grand review at New York last fall, together with the naval reserve of other states along the Great Lakes, will be enlisted into the navy and will form parts of crews of the reserve fleet to pass through the Panama canal when the isthmian water way is thrown open, according to plans of the navy department.

To encourage the naval reserve, officials of the department favor including the civilian sailors as an integral part of the naval strength and giving them a cruise which will extend to San Francisco. It is planned to take the reserves from the Atlantic coast on their own training ships, but to give the Great Lakes reserves the distinction of manning in part the Atlantic reserve fleet.

It is the intention of naval officials to hasten the preparation of definite plans for the review on the occasion of the opening of the canal, so that the National Naval Reserve association may have ample time to complete arrangements.

To strengthen the reserves upon the Great Lakes, the navy department has recommended that they be supplied with training ships of modern construction and that a school of instruction be established for the officers. Department officials believe that eight ships are needed and they have asked for them. These would be seaworthy upon the lakes and of such size as to be serviceable with the regular fleets in time of war.

ELECT WARREN MAN

As President of Red River Valley Swedish Lutheran Association.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. G. Wahlund of Warren, Minn., was re-elected president of the Red River Valley Swedish Lutheran association at the annual meeting held here yesterday. The association comprises the church territory in the northwestern part of Minnesota and Northeastern North Dakota. Rev. L. P. Lundgren of Hallock, Minn., is vice president; Rev. J. M. Persenius of Grand Forks, is secretary, and Rev. A. M. Henrickson, Lancaster, Minn., is treasurer.

Reports of the officers for the past year showed that the work of the association had been advanced in a satisfactory manner.

TAKE THIS MAN'S ADVICE

TRY THE GREAT KIDNEY REMEDY.

It always gives me pleasure to recommend anything that is right and so I feel it my duty to herald the praises of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root.

For years I was troubled with kidney disease and it was so intense that I was bedridden for days at a time. I gave up all hope and doctors for miles around gave me no help. Incidentally I tried several patent remedies and at last tried Swamp-Root. From the first it gave me relief and it was no time before I was able to be up and around and now I am perfectly well and able to work as I used to before my terrible sickness.

So now let me thank you for your wonderful discovery and take this opportunity to recommend it to all who suffer from kidney troubles.

Yours very truly,
WALTER SHIRVER,
Hope, Ark.

Subscribed and sworn to before me, this 25th of March, 1912.

Prove What Swamp-Root Will Do For You

Send to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. It will convince anyone. You will also receive a booklet of valuable information, telling all about the kidneys and bladder. When writing, be sure and mention The Duluth Daily Herald. Regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles for sale at all drug stores.

GLEANED ALONG THE POLICE RUN

Elsie Johnson, 20 years old, who says she is a "koldge gurle," was out for a "time" last night.

But Elsie evidently consumed too many highballs, for she ended up at headquarters with a charge of drunkenness booked against her.

The police state that she was taken from an automobile yelling and screaming at the top of her voice. Patrolman A. A. Wanvick said that he heard her a couple of blocks away, and fearing that some one was being beaten or killed, raced at top speed in the direction of the curdling cries. He located them in First alley near First avenue east and was informed that all that was the matter with the young woman was too much of the alcoholic stuff.

The policeman directed the driver to proceed to headquarters, a short distance away, which he did. There Elsie's joyride ended. She was carried from the machine into the station, struggling every foot, and continued to arouse the echoes with her vocal efforts.

The police state that a well-known man about town was with Elsie and that he had entertained her well but not wisely in a large downtown cafe before taking her for the automobile ride. He was not intoxicated and was not detained.

In court this morning Elsie denied that she was intoxicated, but her recollections of what had occurred seemed to be decidedly hazy. She didn't know where she had been arrested. She alleged that she screamed because her escort was trying to choke her, but could not explain why she kept up her yells after she had been taken into the station and from there to the county jail to await her arraignment this morning. Asked why she was choked, she claimed that it was because she refused to go to a hotel on First street which has rather a doubtful reputation. She will have her trial this afternoon.

Police Prosecutor James A. Wharton stated that he has been anxious to talk to Elsie for several weeks past. He says that she has been going under the name of a very respectable young woman and that the latter came to him some time ago to ask if something could not be done about it. The tears came to her eyes when she said that some bad reports have been credited to her because Elsie has been using her name. It is asserted that Elsie was in the habit of getting mail under the name of the other and passed herself off in various places under the name of the young woman who lodged the complaint. She declared that men had even called her up at her home, believing her to be Elsie, and tried to make engagements with her over the telephone.

Prosecutor Wharton said this morning that Elsie admitted to him that she had traveled about under the name of the girl who had come to him with her story.

A man giving his name as Steve Bogich was arrested this morning by Patrolman John Connor on the Bowery. He is believed to be John Pgescich, wanted in Minneapolis on a charge of having shot a man the night of Jan. 20. He closely fits the description of the fugitive, being about 26 or 30 years old, 6 feet 4 or 5 inches tall, weighing about 225 pounds, of sandy complexion with a sandy mustache curled at the ends and wearing a gray overcoat and a dark suit of clothes. The only difference in the description is that he has a cap instead of a dark soft hat, which might easily have been discarded. Because of the unusual size and appearance of the man the police think that they have the person wanted in the Mill City. The prisoner denies that he is connected in any way with a shooting scrape in Minneapolis.

ARMOR PLATE WAS DIVIDED

International Pool Existed for Over Four Years, Says Corey.

Former President of Steel Corporation Again a Witness.

New York, Jan. 23.—The United States Steel corporation and the Bethlehem Steel company participated for four years in an international pool in armor plate which divided up the business of "neutral markets." William E. Corey, former president of the Steel corporation, so testified today at the hearings in the government's suit to dissolve the corporation under the Sherman anti-trust law.

Mr. Corey, who resigned as president of the Steel corporation in 1910, was unable to recall today that the armor plate pool had existed, until his memory had been refreshed by the reading of minutes of the Carnegie Steel company quoting him as advising against joining with the "armor combination" in the erection of an armor plate plant in Japan. This was in 1902, shortly after the organization of the Steel corporation.

The witness then testified that a combination of armor plate manufacturers in England, France and Germany and the United States had existed as late as "1904 or 1905."

The Carnegie Steel company and the Bethlehem Steel company were the American members of the combination, he said.

"What was the agreement of those in the pool?" asked Judge Jacob M. Dickinson, attorney for the government.

Not Familiar With Details.

"I was not familiar with the details," said Mr. Corey, adding Col. Millard Hunsicker, representative of the Carnegie company abroad, conducted the negotiations.

The witness testified that during the existence of the agreement the members had not, to his knowledge, attempted to compete for armor plate either in England, France or Germany.

"Did the foreign firms bid for United States government contracts?" he was asked.

"I believe that it is provided by law that the United States government contracts in armor plate shall be given only to American manufacturers," was the reply.

He was questioned briefly concerning James A. Farrell, now president of the corporation, who Mr. Corey said yesterday conducted the negotiations for the formation of the International steel rail pool.

Difference in Price.

Jacob M. Dickinson, counsel for the government, then took up the question of the difference between the domestic and export prices of steel rails.

"Was the mill price of domestic rails, subsequent to the formation of the Steel corporation, greater or less than the export price?" he asked.

"I want to be accurate," replied Mr. Corey. "The mill price on foreign business netted the producer less than on domestic business."

"Then the domestic price was higher?"

Mr. Corey conceded that such was in effect the case.

The government attorney took up the competitive position of the Tennessee Coal & Iron company in the Steel rail trade previous to its absorption by the United States Steel corporation in 1907. Mr. Corey said the T. C. & I. were manufacturing open-hearth steel rails, then practically a new product.

Letter By Corey.

Judge Dickinson read from minutes of the Carnegie Steel company letters by Corey in which he said "that competition in rails was increasing" and that the Carnegie company would be "up against the open hearth proposition in 1907"; that the Harriman lines had given orders to the Bethlehem Steel company for open hearth rails and that "we will have to manufacture them."

Mr. Corey smilingly confirmed the statements, over the protests of attorneys for the corporation.

The witness also confirmed testimony that the Harriman lines had given orders to the T. C. & I. for open hearth rails.

To prove that the T. C. & I. after its acquisition, became a strong competitor in the rail market, Judge Dickinson gained admission from the witness that after its acquisition that company supplied rails to the South and Southwest in large tonnage.

DULUTH WOMAN INHERITS BIG ESTATE, FOLLOWING DEATH OF BOTH PARENTS AND HER SISTER

Mrs. Mary J. Jaques, wife of Judge Alfred Jaques of this city, falls heir to $35,980.55 as a result of the death of three members of her family, which occurred within three weeks of each other, in Ohio during the latter part of February and the early part of March last year.

The property included in this figure is that which was held in Minnesota by her relatives. Other holdings in Ohio will also be shared by her. Judge Gilpin in probate court here yesterday determined the inheritance tax which she and other heirs must pay. Her total inheritance tax is $588.50.

George W. Shaw, her father died during February, 1913, at his home in Ohio, leaving a large estate. His wife, Lucy A. Shaw, who died eleven days later, inherited a life interest for the short period. Margaret A. Shaw, a sister to Mrs. Jaques, whose estate consisted only of an inheritance from her father, died two weeks later, on March 15, 1912.

The estate of the late George W. Shaw in Minnesota amounted to $113,424, of which $82,669.60 was taxable for inheritances. The total inheritance tax to be paid is $1,448.81.

Mrs. Shaw held only a life interest and left no property in Minnesota.

Their daughter, Margaret H. Shaw, left an estate of $9,675, on which an inheritance tax of $167.24 has to be paid by surviving heirs.

The present heirs of the Minnesota holdings of the late George W. Shaw and the inheritance tax that they pay follow:

Eliza H. Stam, daughter, inheritance, $3,584.80; tax, none.

Joseph L. Shaw, son, inheritance, $3,584.80; tax, none.

Each of the survivors of the Shaw family received an equal one-fourth share of the estate of their sister, Margaret H. Shaw. The amount was $2,395.75 in each case. For this inheritance, a tax of $41.81 was imposed.

Game Wardens Return.

Deputy Game Wardens T. J. Storey and A. Boyd returned today from St. Paul. On the way down they stopped off at Pine City and arrested A. M. Chileen, keeper of a general store, for having thirteen partridges and one prairie chicken in his possession contrary to law. He pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for Feb. 3 at Hinckley. Six men were arrested for illegal hunting when it was learned that they supplied Chileen with the birds. They were Ray, N. A., Frank and E. W. Van Dyke and Herman and W. E. Bengtson. All entered pleas of guilty before Justice Lee Webster at Hinckley and paid fines of $10 and costs each.

Says Farm Was Flooded.

Esa Toppola in district court filed suit today against the St. Croix Lumber company asking $1,065 damages for the flooding of his farm as a result of a dam constructed across the Stony river by the defendant company during the past two springs. His claim for damages includes also the charge of cutting 255 trees from his land worth $255. Under the statute if he proves his case, he is entitled to treble damages providing wilful trespass is proven. He asks for $765 damages on this account and $300 for damage done by the flooding of the farm. His land is located not far from Ely in sections 8 and 9, 59-9.

YOU'LL WANT IT ALL THE TIME

Once you have tasted the delicious nut-like flavor of "Minnesota" Macaroni, you will want to eat it every day. There has never been any macaroni like it before—none so firm, so nutritious and so flavory.

"Minnesota" Macaroni is one of the best and most nourishing foods known—yet it costs only about one cent a dish. Serve it at least twice a week in place of meat. You will save money and your family will enjoy better health.

"Minnesota" Macaroni is especially fine for children—it builds strong bodies and does not overload the stomach.

Try the handy "Minnesota" Cut Macaroni, which is cut into uniform pieces—it cooks more evenly and is quicker to prepare. Adv.

NOT WORKING ON TERMINALS YET

Canadian Northern Merely Staking Out Site for Lumber Dock.

It was reported in the morning paper that the Canadian Northern has a crew of engineers at work at the foot of Forty-seventh avenue west staking out the site for proposed terminals, the improvements to be made there to cost about $2,000,000. F. D. Knight, assistant to Mr. Pickles of the engineering department of the road, said today that if such is the case nobody around that department knows about it.

"We have an engineer at work," said he, "staking out a proposed lumber dock for the purpose of getting an estimate of what one would cost; and even that is only in the problematic stage. That's the extent of the vast terminals we are to put in."

BOYS' CLUB IS WELL ORGANIZED

Work of the Second Season Is Now Under Way.

The West Duluth Boys' club is well organized for the second season. The membership is not as large as it was last season, but each week new members are being added and it is expected in a short time the whole quota will be secured.

A league has been organized in the school boys' division. It includes a basket ball game and an athletic stunt. The boys have decided that the team that wins will be guests of honor at a dinner to be given by the losing teams. A similar league will be organized by the employed boys and also by the high school class.

The first swimming period for the club members will be Monday, Feb. 3. This trip is being eagerly looked forward to by the members. The cabinet of the club will meet next week and arrange for a basket ball league to be conducted for the boys of the Ely, Longfellow, Fairmont and Irving schools. The league will be similar to the one held downtown. Several other important matters in connection with the club will be discussed. Clarence Gilbert is the president of the club and Fred Klovetstad is the secretary.

WANT NAME OF STREET CHANGED

Petitions are being circulated to have the name of Magellan street changed to that of Michigan street. These petitions are being signed almost unanimously by the property holders on the street and will likely be presented to the city council next Monday night. It is believed that the council will grant the petition and then the mix-up in mail will begin.

The reason for asking the change is that Magellan street is really an extension of Michigan street through the Sutphin, Harrington and Oneota divisions. Michigan street actually stops business at Thirty-third avenue and until Thirty-seventh avenue is reached the line is completely lost, where it resumes as Magellan street and its end is at Forty-ninth avenue west.

GAUTHIER ON TRIAL.

West Duluth Girl Tells Her Story to the Court.

Joseph Gauthier, a West Duluth saloonkeeper, was brought to trial in district court this morning charged with having made indecent proposals and having attempted to take liberties with Ethel Arbour, a 15-year-old girl. The offense is alleged to have occurred on Dec. 11 last.

The girl told her version of the affair to Judge Ensign and a jury this morning, claiming that Gauthier made improper advances towards her in a room above his saloon on Central avenue.

DANIEL WILLETTE DIES.

West Duluth Man Succumbs to Long Attack of Tuberculosis.

Tuberculosis found another victim yesterday when Daniel Willette, aged 28, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael M. Willette of 608 North Fifty-sixth avenue west, passed away at Nopeming sanitarium. He has been ailing for about a year following an attack of pneumonia. Recently tuberculosis developed and for the last three months the young man has been in Nopeming. Besides his parents he is survived by his wife and a 4-year-old son, and two brothers.

The young man was raised in West Duluth, having resided here for about twenty years. The funeral will be held at 9 o'clock Saturday morning from St. James' Catholic church. Interment will be in Calvary cemetery.

Farewell Party.

William Sermon was given a farewell party last night at the home of his brother, R. C. Sermon on Grand avenue. He will leave this week for Bay City, Mich., to make his future home. His friends at the party bade him godspeed and best wishes. The evening was spent with cards and music. Refreshments were served at midnight. Those present were: Messrs. and Mesdames Walter Blachtey, R. C. Sermon, Alfred Nelson, Joseph Cushey, A. A. Hudson, James Wol, Otto Heltzig, the latter of Bay City, Mich.

GIVE $3,000 TO AID PARISHES.

During the meeting of the Duluth district of the Augustana synod of Scandinavian churches, held at Elim church, West Duluth, it was decided to give $3,000 to aid various parishes, among them the following together with the amounts given: Jessie Lake, $300; Hibbing, $500; Moose Lake, $250; Carlton, $150 and Atkinson, $150.

The conference closed last night with the observance of the Lord's supper.

WHITE PLAGUE ON INCREASE IN NORWAY.

E. D. Johnson of 307 North Fifty-first avenue west, declares that tuberculosis is on the increase in Norway, the land of his birth. Said he today, in speaking of tuberculosis to The Herald:

"When I left the land of the midnight sun, thirty-three years ago, tuberculosis was little known there. The other day I had a letter from Dovre in which my correspondent told me that in one family, whom I knew very well, there were four deaths from tuberculosis in one year. First two children and then the mother and a baby, these two being buried together, and the eldest son was sent to a sanitarium in a dying condition."

Ematuzio Funeral.

There has been a slight change in the arrangements for the funeral of Dornato Ematuzio, the man who was suffocated a few days ago at the Zenith furnace. The funeral will be held at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning from the residence, 222 South Fifty-sixth avenue west instead of from the Italian church, and interment will be in Oneota cemetery.

Ematuzio has been in the employ of the Zenith Furnace company for three years and was considered one of the best men in his department. He was thrifty and saving and leaves his wife in good shape financially.

Officers Installed.

Installation of officers was the card at last night's joint meeting of Old Hickory camp, 1555, Modern Woodmen of America, and West Duluth camp, Royal Neighbors. The meeting was at Great Eastern hall, and after the installation there was lunch and a dance followed. The officers installed were as follows:

West Duluth camp—Mrs. J. O. Winton, oracle; Mrs. Ena Beck, past oracle; Mrs. Ed Smerygge, vice oracle; Mrs. Clara Calter, chancellor; Mrs. Rollins, marshal; Mrs. Charles Lowe, outer sentinel; Mrs. Levina Mayhew, inner sentinel; Miss Mabel Mayhew, pianist; Mrs. Schlesser, manager for three years.

Guild Election.

The annual election of officers of St. James Catholic church guild of St. James Catholic church took place at a meeting held yesterday afternoon at Gilley's hall. Following the election the members played cards for a time, the hostesses being Mesdames Schofield, Gileon, Mikkelson and Sugars. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. S. J. Nygren; vice president, Mrs. Robert Weddell; secretary, Mrs. Mary Masse; treasurer, Mrs. John Ryan.

Falls and Breaks Wrist.

When Mrs. Erick Johnson of 10 North Sixty-first avenue west fell on a slippery walk yesterday afternoon, she fractured a wrist and is laid up in the house today. It is said that that part of the city has been wholly neglected by the city not putting sand on the icy walks as is being done in other parts of the city.

Jolbeaub-Hassinger.

Miss Carrie Jolbeaub was married last evening at 8 o'clock to Charles Hassinger, Rev. W. H. Farrell of Asbury M. E. church performing the ceremony. The wedding took place at the home of the groom, 131 South Sixty-fifth avenue west. About twenty-five friends witnessed the affair.

Alumni Will Meet.

The Alumni association of Longfellow school will meet at the school a week from tonight to elect officers and plan the work for the current year. The present officers are: President, C. I. Towner; vice president, Arthur Nelson; secretary, Earl Brooks; treasurer, Charles Pollock.

Spelling Bee.

The Adelphia Society of the Bethel Swedish Lutheran church, Fifty-second avenue west and Wadena street, will hold a business meeting and program this evening in the church parlors, beginning at 8 o'clock. The feature of the evening will be a spelling match.

NOTES OF BOYS' DEPARTMENT

The Camera club of the Boys' department Y. M. C. A. met last evening at the club rooms under the direction of Mr. Rohen of the Camera shop, and had their second lesson in photography. The study was on printing pictures and the contest was for the best picture of a lake scene. This was won by Harry Stoker. The club has a dark room fitted up and the members will meet next Wednesday to develop and print any pictures they have taken during the week. The next regular meeting of the club will be Wednesday, Feb. 5, and the study will be on mounting pictures. The contest will be for the best snow picture. A Boys' department pennant will be awarded the boy whose picture is the best. Ralph Dunning is the president of the club and Jacob Garon the secretary. Any member of the Boys' department is eligible for membership.

The camp and outing committee met at the boys' building yesterday afternoon and made final arrangements for the annual sleigh ride which will take place Friday evening. The sleighs will leave the boys' building at 7:30 and go to Lakeside. On the return the committee will serve an oyster supper in the Dutch kitchen.

The following Saturday outings were arranged for:

Jan. 25 observation trip to Marshall-Wells Hardware company and a swim on the return.

Feb. 4 cross country ski trip from Hunter's Park to Lakeside.

Feb. 8 observation trip to F. A. Patrick company, swim on the return.

March 1 first annual boys' ski tournament.

Friday evening the intermediate Bible study club will meet for dinner at 6 p. m.

Sunday the Older Boys' meeting will be addressed by F. E. House. His topic will be "Foundations." Erling Mostue will be the violinist.

The Knights of Sir Galahad will meet at 3 o'clock and will be addressed by Mr. McLeod. The topic will be "What's the Matter With Your Face?" Miss Forsell will sing. The Knights of Sir Galahad will have their first initiation Saturday evening. All the boys eligible for initiation will meet for dinner at 6 o'clock.

BIG SPECULATORS HOLDING BACK

Are Waiting to Learn Wilson's Attitude, Says Duluth Broker.

That the big speculators of the East are waiting to see what Woodrow Wilson's attitude will be, is the statement of W. J. North, assistant manager for Gay & Sutrgis, who returned this morning from New York and Boston.

Mr. North was summoned to Boston to give expert testimony in a lawsuit between brokerage houses, and in this way was in close touch with some of the leading financial men of the Hub.

"These men are not in the market right now," said Mr. North. "They admit that the Middle West and West are prosperous, and that conditions are sound, but they are holding back from taking on any big lines of stock. They want to wait, and that is what is making the market so quiet."

GREAT VICTORY FOR THE OSAGE INDIANS

Acting Commissioner So Characterizes Appointment of Council.

Washington, Jan. 23.—The "greatest moral victory in the history of the Osage tribe," was the way Acting Commissioner of Indian Affairs Abbott today characterized the election of a new tribal council to succeed that recently deposed by Secretary Fisher on the charge that "undue influence" had been exerted over it by the Uncle Sam Oil company in trying to obtain leases to Osage oil land.

"Fred Lookout, who was elected chief," said Commissioner Abbott, "is a hard-working, honest farmer. He and his wife are graduates of Carlisle. He is one of the Osages who does not refuse to work because of the unearned increment in oil land royalties the Osages enjoy."

The district supreme court here, to which the old council appealed against Secretary Fisher's action in deposing them, has refused to reinstate them. The report of the house committee on Indian affairs which investigated the matter as a result of charges by the Uncle Sam company that Secretary Fisher was trying to aid Standard Oil interests, is expected to make its report in a few days.

CUTS SELF FREELY.

Iowan Seeks in Vain to Kill Himself at Grand Forks.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—When Clarence Ellis of Sioux City, Iowa, slashed his throat in an attempt to suicide, he was certain his jugular vein would be severed, but when he failed to find it after the first two or three slashes, he felt about his arms, abdomen and legs for an artery, according to his story told to Sheriff Benson.

Ellis, who is at a local hospital, claims that when he failed to find the jugular in his neck, he cut elsewhere. He slashed himself twelve times in his unusual search, but even then could not wound himself sufficient to cause death.

SOO EXTENSION.

Reported Line May Be Built From Cuyuna to Brainerd.

Brainerd, Minn., Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is reliably reported that for the past few days President Pennington of the Soo line has had a representative of his railway on the Cuyuna iron range examining the country west of Crosby to Brainerd, with a view of extending the Soo from Riverton through Brainerd to the rich ore fields between Brainerd and Crosby and to the west and southwest of Brainerd and to extend westerly to Glenwood.

ALWORTH BUILDING

FARMERS WILL BE INSTRUCTORS.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Silk stockinged and white-shirted agricultural experts will give way to the horny-handed, sun-baked farmer as instructors at the agricultural school which will be conducted in Grand Forks, Feb. 3 to 8, as a feature of the North Dakota Corn and Clover convention.

Recently the society called for farmer instructors and a large number have already volunteered their services. They will deal with such topics as potato culture, corn raising, dairying, handling of weeds, etc., and regular periods will be given over to them each day.

Bemidji Boy Will Recover.

Bemidji, Minn., Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is believed that Orville Titus, the Bemidji boy who sustained serious injuries in a fall from a logging train on the unloading pier of the Crookston Lumber company here Tuesday, will recover. Although he struck a log frozen in the surface of the lake, fourteen feet below the pier, his skull was not fractured, and the injuries left no mark.

"CASCARETS WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP."

FOR MEN ONLY!

Specialists for Over Twenty Years in the City of Duluth.

A CURE FOR MEN'S DISORDERS

We have cured hundreds of men who have long suffered a gradual decline of physical and mental energy as a result of ailments, and have been interested in noting the marked general improvement that follows a thorough cure of the chief disorder. Our success in curing difficult cases of long standing has made us the foremost specialists in treating men's disorders. This success is due to several things. It is due to the study we have given our specialty; to having ascertained the exact nature of men's ailments, and to the original, distinctive and thoroughly scientific methods of treatment we employ.

FOR NERVOUS DEBILITY

Thousands of young men and middle aged men are annually swept to a premature grave through EARLY INDISCRETIONS, EXCESSES AND BLOOD DISEASES. If you have any of the following symptoms consult us before it is too late. Are you nervous and weak, despondent and gloomy, specks before the eyes, with dark circles under them, weak back, kidneys irritable palpitation of the heart, bashful, debilitating dreams, sediment in urine, pimples on the face, eyes sunken, hollow cheeks, careworn expression, poor memory, lifeless, distrustful, lack of energy and strength, tired mornings, restless nights, changeable moods, premature decay, bone pains, hair loose, sore throat, etc. The New Dissolving Process Will Cure You.

FOR NEW VITALITY

There is today no excuse for any man remaining weak. The vital, manly man is admired by all men as well as all women; there is an influence about him no man can resist; he knows no fear; he knows no weakness; he knows no result of debility. It is the same VITALITY which carries our young soldiers to war without thoughts of death. Vitality, reader, is what you MUST have if you would enjoy a life of health, strength and manly vigor. We can give you this same life and vitality; if we can do for you what we are doing for thousands of others we can put the vigor of youth into your blood and nerves; we can make you feel young again and keep you feeling young; we can drive away all debility, weakness and despondency. You will laugh at trouble, you will tackle obstacles with the vim to win, just as all other hearty, vital men may do. We don't ask you to use drugs. We ask no change in your present mode of living; all we ask is to come to our office and let us fill your body with new power, to dissolve diseased poisons and liberate your system from poison. If everybody else failed to cure you of these troubles, we won't—WE WILL CURE YOU.

Health and Beauty Answers

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN

Cora S.: As your hair is short and thin and you have so much trouble to make it stay up and look neat, try shampooing it with a teaspoonful of canthrox dissolved in a cup of hot water. This shampoo is the one generally used by the best hairdressers to make the hair look thicker and lustrous. It produces an abundant lather, dries quickly and not only cleans the hair and scalp well, but stops all irritation and gives the scalp a feeling of pleasing freshness. Canthrox makes a delightful shampoo and will make your hair soft and fluffy. You will have little trouble then to make your hair look nice. Never use soap for shampooing, as it makes the hair brittle, harsh and takes away the glossy look. (a) To get rid of dandruff and stop falling hair, see reply to "Gertrude J."

Meta D.: A delatone paste will remove the fuzz from your lip without danger or inconvenience. Just mix enough powdered delatone and water to cover the hairy surface, apply and after two or three minutes rub off, then wash the skin carefully. One application of delatone usually suffices excepting where the growth is quite thick or stubborn.

Grace: Long, curly lashes and thick, glossy eyebrows add greatly to personal beauty. Get a small original package of peroxin from your druggist and with forefinger and thumb apply a little at lash-roots; also rub some on eyebrows with finger-end. Do this a few times and you will have beautiful eyelashes and brows. Use care and don't get any pyroxin where no hair is wanted.

MADAM X.: Nature intended that all women should have voluptuous figures; and even though your bust is undeveloped, with the famous vaucaire treatment you can soon have a figure that is well rounded and pleasing to look upon. You can prepare the vaucaire treatment right in your own home by dissolving 15 cuprins sugar in 1 pint water. To this add 1 ounce gallol and take of it 2 teaspoonfuls before meals. Keep up treatment until figure is properly developed.

Mrs. L.: What a shame to have wasted so much money in vainly trying to get rid of your fat. I have a formula that some of my close friends have used with marvelous success. Here it is: Dissolve four ounces of parmotine in 1½ pints hot water; when cold strain and take a tablespoonful of the lotion before each meal. This remedy will not injure your health or force you to starve yourself in order to get back your former figure. It cuts down fat rapidly, is not expensive and will surely help you.

Mercedes: You say your complexion is lifeless and you are constantly tired and drowsy. This comes from too little exercise and an over-indulgence in heavy foods, causing a sluggish condition of the blood and a lack of proper nourishment for the body. Here is a simple and inexpensive recipe for an excellent blood-tonic and body-builder. Buy at any drug store an ounce of kardene and put in a halfpint alcohol (not whisky) then add a half cupful sugar and hot water to make a full quart. Take a tablespoonful before each meal. This tonic expels impurities and enriches the blood. It will give you renewed energy and your complexion will assume its natural health tint.

Gertrude J.: The dandruff, itching scalp and brittle, falling hair with split ends of which you complain come from a diseased scalp, due to the presence of germs. The surest way to get rid of these troubles quickly and remove the germs will be to shampoo twice a month with canthrox and rub into your scalp twice a week a quinine hair-tonic made by dissolving one ounce of quinzoin in half a pint of alcohol (not whisky) then adding half a pint of cold water. Use this tonic regularly and it will remove the dandruff and irritation, stop your hair from falling out and make it soft and glossy.

S. D.: Yes—nothing is a more important factor in a beautiful face than bright, clear, youthful eyes. You should use regularly a good eye-tonic. Get an ounce of crystos; dissolve it in a pint of water and use two or three drops in each eye daily. It will clear and strengthen your eyes, remove all signs of weakness and inflammation and make them bright and sparkling. For weak, dull, expressionless eyes I think this tonic simply wonderful. It is very soothing and is fine for those who wear glasses.

G. E. A.: When you wear a veil face powder will not help your complexion much, as it rubs off too easily. What you need is a good lotion that will not show on the skin. The next time you go to the drug store get four ounces of spurmax and dissolve it in one-half pint of hot water or witch hazel, adding two teaspoonfuls of glycerine. This lotion will clear up and whiten your skin, make it soft and velvety and give you a beautiful complexion. It will rid your skin of that shiny, greasy, sallow look and make it appear charming and youthful. I find this excellent for cold sores, freckles and pimples. It costs very little and will protect your face from the winds, and prove a splendid beautifier.

MAKES PLEA FOR WORKMEN

W. E. McEwen Talks on Compensation Bill at Unitarian Church.

Declares Employes Are Given Only 20 Per Cent of Insurance Premiums.

An address advocating the passage of the proposed workingmen's compensation bill was delivered before the Men's club of the Unitarian church last evening by W. E. McEwen, former state labor commissioner.

Mr. McEwen declared that under existing conditions, only one man in ten injured received any compensation for his injury. Under the present law, he said, only 20 per cent of what the employer paid for insurance went to the workingman, 80 per cent going to the insurance companies and their attorneys. Under the proposed workingmen's compensation act, the employes would receive 100 per cent and all necessary proofs of negligence would be wiped out. The payments would be made on the basis of the risk. While he advocated the passage of the bill, however, he said it should provide for a higher compensation.

The speaker declared that in the United States more than half a million wage earners a year were killed or incapacitated. This meant approximately one man killed or injured every minute. In four years 80,000 more wage workers were killed or injured in the United States than the total number of the killed and wounded of the Civil war.

Many People Killed.

Twice as many, he said, were killed in this country every year as perished in the French and English armies during the Crimean war. Last year 97,000 employes on American railroads were killed and injured. The total amount of single track aggregated 239,000 miles and thus there was one man killed or injured per year for each two and a half miles of track operated. The dependents of the killed and injured could be hung on every mile-post. The American railroads annually killed and injured five and a half times as many men as were killed and wounded on the Union side at the battle of Gettysburg.

In 1910 in Minnesota alone, the speaker said, there were 10,874 people killed or injured in the various industries, not including farming. Of these 375 were killed outright. During the past year the number was reduced 2,500 by reason of safety appliances required by the state. This decrease was mainly in the iron mines of St. Louis county, where the reduction was 1,800.

Mr. McEwen said that no attention had been paid to the safety of life and limb of the employes in the mines, until four years ago, when the state began its campaign for safer conditions for the workmen. During the past three years, he said, the mining companies of St. Louis county had paid out more than a quarter of a million dollars on appliances to make work in the mines safer.

Fargo Religious Revival.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The religious workers of all Protestant denomination in North Dakota have arranged for a two weeks' evangelical missionary campaign to be conducted here beginning Feb. 9. Missionaries from different foreign fields and the leading workers of different home fields in the United States are to be among the speakers. There has been an interesting musical program arranged in connection with the exercises.

Warner's Safe Remedies

Bright's Disease

If you have kidney trouble and neglect it you lay yourself open to Bright's disease of the kidneys, from which few recover. Not all cases of kidney disease turn to Bright's disease, if neglected. Bright's disease is so secret in its development, however, that many do not know they suffer from it until it has taken firm hold, and it is best to take no chances.

Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Remedy has proved so effective during the past 35 years in checking the insidious advances of kidney diseases that there is no good reason why anyone suffering from even slight kidney trouble should take any chances. Begin taking this great remedy to-day, as directed. It may save you from very serious consequences.

"Cannot Praise It Too Highly"

WEST END

CHURCH VOTES FOR ENGLISH

St. Paul's Lutheran Church Will No Longer Hold Norwegian Services.

Annual Reports Show Excellent Condition of the Organization.

At the annual meeting of St. Paul's Lutheran church, corner of Twentieth avenue west and Third street, of which Rev. E. Wulfsberg is the pastor, the members decided upon an important change, voting to have all the regular morning services conducted in the English language in the future. Hitherto the English and Norwegian languages have been used alternate Sundays, but this has been found unsatisfactory. It was pointed out that the English services were the best attended, that many liked to attend who did not understand the Norwegian, and that it would be of great benefit, especially to the young people, who naturally prefer the English.

Even those who personally preferred the Norwegian services voted for the change, as they realized that it would increase the usefulness of the church, and do away with all the misunderstanding as to what language would be used on a particular Sunday. The change will take effect next Sunday. Regular evening services will also be arranged for, if the pastor, who serves three congregations outside the city, can arrange it so as to have time.

The financial condition of the congregation was reported as excellent, all current expenses being paid, with promises of liberal support for the coming year.

The building committee, under whose direction extensive improvements to the church were made last summer, made a full report, and were given a vote of thanks for their efficient work. It was decided to finish the improvements next spring, when the church will be painted, the lot sodded and the basement completely furnished.

WANT CENTRAL WEST END RINK.

West end residents in general and some in particular want a central rink, superintended by the city as in other parts of the West end. There are already two of these public rinks in this section of the city, and it is not with the idea of kicking that the appeal is made, but more by way of suggestion.

There is a fitting space, it is pointed out, at the vacant half block on Twenty-second avenue west between Superior and Michigan streets and it is believed that it would be ideal for a rink. It would serve children and adults who live a considerable distance from the other two rinks, and could be easily obtained. One West end man favors the urging of this by the Commercial club, which is to meet tomorrow night.

Chnod Funeral.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Jennie Chnod of 1032½ Garfield avenue will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family residence. Interment will be in Forest Hill cemetery. Rev. W. A. Harmann will conduct the services.

Hagstad Funeral.

The remains of Mrs. Anna M. Hagstad of Hermantown were shipped today from Adolph to Strum, Wis., Funeral services were held at the home of the deceased's family, Rev. E. Wulfsberg of St. Paul's Lutheran church officiating.

West End Briefs.

A social will be given this evening at French hall, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street by the Varde club. A male chorus will sing. James Jacobson, Hans Hobberstad and John Holt form the committee in charge.

Fred Cooney, a conductor on the Northern Pacific road, has gone to Jamestown, N. D., to visit a brother for a short time.

Supt. George Treviranus of the Missabe ore docks is visiting friends in Cleveland, Buffalo and other Eastern points and will be absent a number of weeks.

A free concert will be given this evening at Bethany Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street by A. S. Palmer of Ishpeming.

The Trinity Aid Society of the Trinity English Lutheran church was formed at a meeting of women held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. Anderson, 318 North Twenty-third avenue west. Meetings will be held every other Wednesday. Officers were elected as follows: President, Mrs. S. P. Sorenson; vice president, Mrs. J. Anderson; secretary, Mrs. Pash; treasurer, Mrs. A. Lofgren; organist, Mrs. J. G. Anderson.

REVOLUTION IN METHOD OF ASSESSING PROPERTY

purposes, and it is to be assessed at one-third its actual value.

Assessing Homesteads.

Class 3 includes "all real estate and the dwelling house and appurtenant structures thereon wholly and actually used and occupied and actually constituting the homestead of the owner thereof"; and this property is to be assessed at 25 per cent of its actual value.

All other real estate is in Class 4, and is to be assessed at 50 per cent of its actual value.

Class 5 includes all household goods and furniture, including clocks, musical instruments, sewing machines, wearing apparel and all other personal properties used for personal and domestic purpose, or for the furnishing and equipment of the family residence; and this class is to be assessed at 20 per cent of actual value, the lowest tax in the list.

Class 6 includes stocks of merchandise of all kinds, both wholesale and retail, which are to be assessed at 25 per cent of actual value.

Class 7 includes all other personal property not enumerated in the preceding classes, and it is to be assessed at 50 per cent of actual value.

Mr. Spooner's idea is that when the "wide open" tax amendment was placed in the state Constitution in 1905, the state's purpose was to classify property for purposes of taxation, and to vary the tax burden between classes.

In a statement given to The Herald yesterday afternoon he said:

Mr. Spooner's Views.

"Until the legislative session of 1907, the legislature of Minnesota was without authority to enact legislation classifying properties for taxation purposes.

"The legislature of 1905, obviously deeming it advisable that the legislature should be vested with such authority, and obviously deeming it advisable that legislation of that character should be enacted, submitted to the electors of Minnesota, to be voted upon at the election of 1906, an amendment to the Constitution of Minnesota, vesting authority in the legislature so as to legislate, and the supreme court of Minnesota duly decided that the people, at the election of 1906, duly adopted the said amendment.

"The adoption thereof was, in effect, a mandate of the people to the legislatures of 1907, and succeeding legislatures, to enact legislation equitably classifying properties in Minnesota for taxation purposes.

"Instead of obeying that mandate, the legislature of 1907, after enacting the mortgage loan registration act fixing a low rate of taxation on moneys invested in mortgage loans, in effect to be paid by the borrowers, created the tax commission. The chief argument, therefor, was to the effect that such a commission was necessary to make the necessary investigation—intelligent investigation—into what will constitute equitable classification of properties for taxation.

"The tax commission came into the session of 1909 with no information of the character expected, but with a bill proposing a law for assessing all properties not otherwise taken care of, as, for example, moneys invested in mortgage loans, at their full and true values—extending the same for taxation purposes at the half thereof; but said bill, after a three days' battle, was defeated in that session, as it should have been.

"The tax commission came into the session of 1911 with its bill for a low rate of taxation on moneys and credits, which was duly enacted, but again with its bill proposing a law for assessing all other properties, i. e. all properties not otherwise taken care of, at their full and true values, extending the same for taxation purposes at the half thereof; which bill was again defeated, as it should have been.

Would Double Taxes.

"Legislation of the character insisted upon by the tax commission will be nearly doubling taxes on all sorts of merchandising, to which probably those engaged in merchandising may be disposed to object notwithstanding the fact that such taxes or the payment thereof, is passed on to the consumers.

"Legislation of the character insisted upon by the tax commission will enormously increase the tax burdens of properties employed in agricultural pursuits, although that sort of legislation will be effective somewhat to reduce the burden of taxation on municipal properties.

"Homesteads, actually owned and used as such, are usually non-revenue producing properties, and so why should not they be given a preferential rate of taxation?

"The permanent prosperity of about every jurisdiction, in the last analysis, is dependent upon the prosperity of the agricultural classes of that jurisdiction. Why then, undertake to materially increase the burdens of taxation of the agricultural classes while reducing the burdens of the owners of revenue producing municipally owned properties rarely, if ever, injured, except indirectly, by drouths or grasshoppers or chinch bugs, or other plagues?

"My bill is not offered as necessarily the acme of human knowledge. It is not insisted that it is necessarily perfect. In its preparation, it is the product of the attorney general's office—prepared therein at my request. I am hoping that it will be given careful, thoughtful, intelligent, dispassioned, unprejudiced consideration and wherein it is not right, amended so as to make it right."

Obviously the Spooner bill is antagonistic to the proposal of the state tax commission to have a law enacted putting all classes of property on a flat and equal basis of 50 per cent of actual value, the effect of which would undoubtedly be to increase the assessment of rural property and to decrease the assessment of city property.

CHILD FATALLY BURNED.

Infant Plays With Matches, Firing Home at Eagle Lake, Minn.

Mankato, Minn., Jan. 23.—The 1-year-old son of Samuel Remington, a plasterer living at Eagle Lake, was fatally burned yesterday afternoon while left alone.

Mrs. Remington had stepped across the street to converse with a neighbor, and upon her return home she discovered her baby's horrible plight. Just how the boy's clothing caught fire cannot be explained definitely. The boy may have been playing with matches or he may have gotten too close to a stove. After his clothing had caught fire he managed to roll along the floor and into another room.

The baby will die.

COLLEGE TO EQUIP TRAIN

Students From North Dakota Agricultural College to Tour State.

Will Take to People Examples of What Big Institution Is Doing.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The people of North Dakota are to be given some idea of the practical things taught in the agricultural college. The students will take a unique method of demonstrating this by touring the state on a special train for four days.

The train will be paid for entirely by the students and operated and managed by them. It will consist of an engine, two baggage cars, a diner, three sleepers, a day coach and an observation car. There will be seventy-two people on board and the entire party will be chaperoned by President and Mrs. Worst of the college and Mrs. Clark W. Kelly, Devils Lake, wife of one of the trustees.

The engineer and fireman of the train will be actual students of the college working under the direction of a regular railway engineer, and the dynamos for the electric-lighted train will be cared for by students.

The meals served on the train will be prepared by the girls of the domestic science department, who will cook and serve them. Almost everything eaten on the train, including the butter and meats and vegetables, even the desert, will be from supplies grown and raised on the college farm. Even the bread will be baked from flour ground in the model mill at the college.

There will be exhibits of a dozen or more departments of the college, each under the direction of a student thoroughly able to explain it. The Agricultural College Cadet band will be along as will the college quartet, and evening entertainments are to be given at Devils Lake, Minot and Bismarck, and possibly at Oakes or La Moure.

The train will start over the Great Northern and go via Grand Forks to Devils Lake and Minot, down the Soo to Bismarck, over the main line of the Northern Pacific to Jamestown, then down to Oakes and back to Fargo over Northern Pacific branch lines, making thirty stops along the route during the four-day tour.

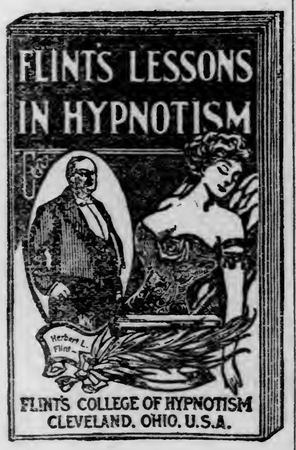

At Bismarck the state capitol will be visited and the students will call on Governor Hanna, and visit each branch of the legislature and learn something of statecraft, as well as showing the members of both branches something of the practical side of the work being conducted at the agricultural college.

THIS BOOK IS FREE

The Mysteries of Hypnotism and Personal Magnetism Revealed.

Herbert L. Flint, one of the best known hypnotists in the world, has just published a remarkable book on hypnotism, personal magnetism and magnetic healing. It is by far the most wonderful and comprehensive treatise of the kind ever printed. Mr. Flint has decided to give, for a limited time, a free copy to every person sincerely interested in these wonderful sciences. This book is based upon years of practical experience by a man who has hypnotized more people than any other one person.

You can now learn the secrets of hypnotism and personal magnetism at your own home free.

Hypnotism strengthens your memory and develops your will. It overcomes bashfulness, revives hope, stimulates ambition and determination to succeed. It gives you that self-confidence which enables you to convince people of your real worth. It gives you the key to the inner secrets of mind control. It enables you to control the thoughts and actions of others. When you understand this grand and mysterious science, you can plant suggestions in human minds which will be carried out in a day or even a year hence. You can cure bad habits and diseases in yourself and others. You can cure yourself of insomnia, nervousness and business or domestic worry. You can instantaneously hypnotize people with a mere glance of the eye without their knowledge and powerfully influence them to do as you desire. You can develop to a marvelous degree any musical or dramatic talent you may have. You can increase your telepathic or clairvoyant powers. You can give thrilling and funny hypnotic entertainments. You can win the love and everlasting friendship of those you desire. You can protect yourself against the influence of others. You can become a financial success and be recognized as a power in your community.

This book of Flint's will tell you how to learn the secret of attaining these things. Flint is the most successful and best known hypnotist in the world. He has appeared before thousands of audiences. He will carry out every promise faithfully. If you want a copy of this free book, send your name and address on a postal card—no money—to Herbert L. Flint, Dept. 999, Cleveland, Ohio, and you will receive the book by return mail postpaid.

HUTCHINSON MAN HAS FIRST PLACE

In Whole Milk Class in Minnesota State Butter Contest.

Northfield, Minn., Jan. 23.—Secretary F. D. Currier of the Minnesota Dairymen's association, which is holding its annual meeting here has announced the result of the butter contest.

In the whole milk class, E. O. Quenvold of Hutchinson received first place with a score of 95½; Anton Baltes of Long Prairie was second with a score of 94½; A. J. Anderson, third, with a score of 94¼; A. J. Volbrath of Albert Lea and H. J. Rosneau of Meridan, tied for fourth with scores of 94.

Mrs. A. B. McLaughlin of Elgin won first prize in the hand separator class, with a score of 95. N. Plang of New York Mills won second place; A. Rasmussen of Otter Tail, third, and Fred Hanson of Lake Crystal, fourth.

In the dairy butter class Mrs. Carl Lundgren, Clear Brook, was first and Albert Winn of Redwood Falls second. John J. Roch of Pine Island won first place in the cheese competition and Kickman brothers of Manitowoc, Wis., second. These prizes were awarded out of more than 150 competitors.

Creamery Discussion.

There was a heated discussion over the association of co-operative creameries formed last month. A question was raised by some of the delegates as to whether this new organization is necessary. Some argued that it can accomplish nothing which the dairymen's association cannot accomplish, and others that it is the most effective method for preventing the centralization of the butter-making business in a few big plants.

Prof. A. J. McGuire of Grand Rapids, who was to have spoken on building up a dairy herd yesterday did not appear and his address has been postponed until this evening. Theodore Sexauer of Owatonna, who was on the program for an address on cow testing associations, was unable to be present, so a discussion of this subject was led by F. H. Scribner of Rosendale, Wis.

WINTER ACTIVITY ON CUYUNA RANGE

Cold Weather Does Not Hold Back Mining Operations There.

Crosby, Minn., Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Work at the various mines in the vicinity continues with unabated vigor. At the properties of the Rogers-Brown Ore company, complete working forces are employed and the properties are being rapidly opened up. Between 500 and 550 men are employed and each shaft is daily hoisting between 500 and 600 tons. The electrical underground haulage system has practically been completed and the arrival of the motors is expected within a short time. At the Thompson mine the electrical motor is being put to daily use on the trestle hauling to the stock pile. A large tonnage is being accumulated at all three of these mines.

At Pennington Mine.

At the Pennington mine one of the new Bucyrus shovels is busily engaged in stripping over the ore body at the south side of the property and the other is cutting its way through for trackage to the north side. The two engines which arrived from Biwabik last Wednesday are being used daily in hauling the dirt removed by the Soo road in the cut from the mine to the dumping ground. This cut will undoubtedly be completed by the end of this week when permanent tracks will be laid. The work of the steam shovels has been considerably hampered lately by the extremely cold weather as the frost has extended into the ground between two and three feet. One hundred men are now employed on the property and between fifty and seventy more will be taken on by the first of the month. The majority of these men are quartered on the company's property. Two additional camps are being built which will make a total number of nine that the company will have erected for the use of the men.

SENDS WOLF HIDE BY PARCEL POST.

Brainerd, Minn., Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—County Auditor Smart received a wolf hide yesterday by parcel post, the postage being 8 cents. Ed Richter of Little Pine, had killed the animal and will draw $11 bounty. Parcel post means something to this district which is forty miles from a railway. Formerly it would have been necessary for Richter to make the trip personally or get one of the few neighbors to do the errand.

JUMPS FROM TRAIN.

Fever Crazed Young Man Makes a Desperate Attempt at Suicide.

Fergus, Falls, Minn., Jan. 23.—Oscar Anderson, a young man of the town of Compton, made a spectacular but unsuccessful attempt to commit suicide by jumping from the coast train on the Northern Pacific railway while it was traveling at the rate of fifty miles an hour. Anderson had been working in North Dakota, and had contracted typhoid fever. He had about recovered and returned to Compton, where he lived with a cousin. He wanted to go back to Sweden, where his parents reside, but changed his mind on reaching Minneapolis, and started to return to this county. While the train was in the vicinity of Anoka and traveling at full speed, he rushed to the door and jumped out upon the frozen ground. He escaped with severe bruises only, and was picked up and brought to this city and found to be insane.

ST. CLOUD READY FOR THE EDITORS.

St. Cloud, Minn., Jan. 89.—All is in readiness for the local entertainment to be given the visiting editors at the time of the meeting of the Northern Minnesota Development association Friday and Saturday. A banquet will be served Friday evening, with C. F. Macdonald, the veteran editor of the Times, toastmaster. Those who will respond to toasts are Mayor Seberger, Senators Sullivan and Brower, President Shomaker and Supt. Barnes.

Newhouse is treasurer of the Bottineau County Fair association, being elected at the annual meeting held here. They will lay plans for the annual fair which will be held here this year on a bigger basis than ever before.

TO ENCOURAGE LIGNITE'S USE

North Dakotans Have Not Loyally Supported the State's Industry.

Noonan, N. D., Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The people of this section are displaying a great deal more interest in the development of the lignite coal industry than formerly. Local mines are increasing their output but are not operating to anything like the extent they might if there was a proper promotion of the industry. Missionary work is needed both with North Dakotans and elsewhere.

The greatest handicap to the use of the lignite coal is the early prejudice against it by people of this state, due to the fact that summer mined lignite, especially in surface mines, air slacks quickly, that lignite coal is somewhat dirty to handle in the household and the large amount of ash proves burdensome to some consumers.

Deep Mined Coal Better.

Many people, even within the state, do not realize that the deeper mined coal is not attended with these chief objectionable qualities, or at least to a much smaller degree than the surface mined coal.

It has been effectually demonstrated that lignite coal is of high fuel value because of its heat units and that it is especially strong in gas production. The entire western half of North Dakota is underlaid with it and no where except by water power, can power be produced for manufacturing purposes so cheaply as from North Dakota lignite.

CALLS M'GOVERN WRECKER OF G. O. P.

Ekern Claims Wisconsin Executive Is Seeking to Boost Progressives.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 23.—That Governor McGovern is fighting to destroy the Republican party in Wisconsin and to place a Progressive party, with himself as leader, in control, is charged in a petition filed in the circuit court in behalf of Ekern's attorney. The court is asked to issue an order restraining the governor from forcibly ejecting Ekern from office.

MARQUETTE GETS FOURTH DIVISION.

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 23.—Word has been received from Grant T. Stephenson of Wells, commanding officer of the Second battalion of the Michigan naval brigade, announcing that Marquette had been selected by him as the location for the Fourth division of the reserves upon the recommendation of the state board, which voted unanimously in favor of this city in a meeting held late last week.

Those who have been active in advancing the claims of Marquette as the logical point for the new Fourth division, the creation of which has been made possible by the consolidation of the two divisions at Hancock, are highly elated at the news. A meeting of those particularly interested in the movement was held and was attended by a dozen business men, professional men and others. The purpose of the conference was to organize temporary committees to take up the work of furthering the project.

A committee composed of H. R. Fox, R. L. Rydholm, George Boven, Joseph G. Gannon and Carl Ackerman was appointed to make up a list of Marquette young men who would be eligible to membership in the division and who would be willing to enroll for enlistment, to form a nucleus for the organization.

Resinol clears bad complexions

THE regular use of Resinol Soap, with an occasional light application of Resinol Ointment, stimulates the skin, permits natural, healthy action, and rids the complexion of pimples, blackheads, redness and roughness, quickly, easily and at little cost. Read this convincing letter from a trained nurse—she knows what Resinol can do.

New York, October 17, 1912.

"I was troubled with acne (or pimples) for three years. My face was broken out with pimples, and would at times get like raw meat. I tried all sorts of salves and soaps. I received samples of Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment, and they helped me very much. After using them I bought the regular size of each, and my face is now perfectly clear and smooth. My friends are asking me what I used, and I shall be glad to recommend Resinol."

DEFECTIVE PAGE

Woman's Realm

With a balance on hand of $1,296.36, over and above the unpaid bills, on Dec. 31, 1912, the Young Woman's Christian Association of Duluth stands as a striking example of the efficiency of women in management of a big institution. The entire management of the association is vested in the board of twenty-one women, members of the board of directors and the control of funds and all affairs connected with the association is given completely into their hands.

The lunchroom, during the past year, netted a profit of $888.53, and from the dormitories the profit was $2,352.99. Other profit from general and miscellaneous sources amounted to $4,627.89, but these profits are soon eaten up in the deficits of the other departments.

"No association of this kind," said Mrs. W. A. McGonagle, president of the local Y. W. C. A., last evening at the annual meeting held in the association assembly hall, following a supper served to about 150 members in the big dining rooms, "ever meets expenses in all its departments and it does not aim to. We want to give to every young woman a chance for a broader development and higher influence in life and not to make this a paying institution. We are gratified to know that the lunchroom and dormitories can yield a source of income and some of the other departments have come nearer to paying for themselves this year than ever before, and with the generous support of the public we feel that the work is greatly worth while and a deep pleasure."

Mrs. McGonagle presided at the business session and Mrs. W. C. Agnew, honorary president of the association, conducted the devotional service, which opened the meeting.

Directors Chosen.

Reports for the year were read by Mrs. George Claypool, treasurer; Miss Grace Welsh, acting general secretary, and the following women were elected as members of the board of directors for three years: Mrs. W. A. McGonagle, Mrs. J. A. Watterworth, Mrs. W. H. Cole, Mrs. E. T. Hughes, Mrs. G. G. Hartley, Mrs W. W Sanford and Mrs. E. D. Field, and for one year to fill unexpired terms, Mrs. F. H. Rogers and Mrs. F. H. White.

W. G. Hegardt was also elected trustee for four years.

The members voted at this meeting to send a night letter to Miss Nettie E. Trimble, who has been general secretary of the association here during the past year and who has been obliged to resign her position on account of ill health. The message was to express the wishes of the association for her speedy recovery and the appreciation of what she has done for the local association.

A vote of thanks was given to Mrs. Stephen H. Jones for her contribution to the association for redecoration of the assembly hall and to Mrs. E. N. Hardin, matron; Miss Bertha Parmalee, physical director, and Miss Nina Germond, who has assisted in auditing the books of the association.

Mrs. Robert Smith read the report of the last annual meeting in January, 1912.

Treasurer's Report.

The treasurer's report showed the following figures:

The dormitories have brought a profit of $2,352.99, according to the treasurer's report, and the lunch room a profit of $888.53. Other departments show cost of maintenance as follows: Educational, $477.80; physical, $989.88; extension, $446.24; junior, $348.51; religious, $63.74; travelers' aid, $52.65. Profits from general and miscellaneous sources amounted to $1,386.37.

The total receipts for the year, together with the amount on hand Jan. 1, 1912, amounted to $20,494.97, and the total disbursements, $36,494.12, leaving a balance on hand of $2,814.85 and the amount of unpaid bills, $1,518.49.

There are 1,249 members of the association in all, according to the report of the secretaries, which also states that 103,450 regular meals have been served during the year, and 1,188 at special luncheons and banquets. There have been ninety-eight permanent roomers and 1,166 transients accommodated in the seventy-six sleeping rooms, and privileges of the laundry, sewing room and parlors given to all. An average of 148 women and girls a week have attended the gymnasium classes and there have been 3,415 admissions to the swimming pool.

Secretaries' Report.

"This the eleventh annual meeting of the Young Women's Christian association marks the close of the best year in its history. However, much we have fallen short, we have more nearly this year than ever before, realized our aim—to bring the abundant life, physically, socially, mentally and spiritually to the girls of Duluth. Much of this progress has been due to the leadership of Miss Nettie E. Trimble, whom Duluth has been fortunate in having as general secretary for the past year. Her large experience in both local and national work, together with her strong and attractive personality, made her a most efficient leader. Under her direction, this association has strengthened its various departments and broadened its scope to a marked degree.

"The extension department was reorganized at the beginning of the year, the only clubs in existence at that time being the Round Table, True Friends club, and a sewing class for children. Until September the term extension included all work carried on outside of the building and also all club work.

"Last spring the junior work reached 225 girls in West Duluth and 75 at the Central building. This included three clubs for grade school girls and two large sewing classes for children.

"With the organization of a separate junior department, the extension work has been confined to girls 16 years old and over. At present there are six clubs with a total membership of 175. It is interesting to note that at least 35 business centers are represented in these.

"Three factories and one laundry are visited regularly each week, where special talks and entertainment are provided. An entrance has also been made into two business colleges.

"We feel we have accomplished a two-fold purpose of helping those who have time and talent, to use their lives in service and of bringing to the busier young women a greater opportunity for all around development.

"During the year 60 volunteer workers have aided in the extension work and 35 of these have been identified with some definite undertaking or club. To them, we are indebted for the accomplishment of many things otherwise impossible. With these sixty people assisting in the work, and over 800 being directly touched in this department, would you not say this has been worth while?

Education.

"The educational department has been closely correlated with the extension work, and our chief aim has been to meet the practical needs of girls and young women in every day life. Classes have been conducted in cookery, sewing, millinery, English for foreign speaking girls, mandolin and guitar, and French. There has been a total enrollment of 200 in these classes. Through this department, a series of lectures was given to mothers on home economics and social hygiene. Other special undertakings have been the issuing of a full prospectus, 500 copies of which were distributed to young women, and the fall educational rally, at which 400 people were given an opportunity of seeing demonstrations of the work in various departments.

Junior Work.

"The junior department was organized Sept. 1. Of the girls under 12 years of age, there have been two sewing schools, one meeting Saturday mornings in West Duluth and the other Saturday afternoons at the Central building. Following the sewing, there were games and story-telling. The Camp Fire has been offered to the girls between the ages of 12 and 16 years of age, and eleven groups have been organized in the schools. The Camp Fire is a national movement with the object 'to add the power of organization and the charm of romance to health, work and play.' Each group has an Indian name and is composed of from six to twenty girls with an authorized guardian at its head. The regular meetings are held once a week in the schools or the association building, and once each month, there is a Council meeting when beads are awarded, for honors won in health-craft, natural lore, home craft, business, handcraft, camp craft, and patriotism. Through this department, 288 girls have been brought into direct contact with the association.

Employment Department.

"The latter part of the year has shown a rapid advance in the use made of the employment agency. There has been more than 225 requests for workers and ninety-nine girls have found employment, chiefly in the homes of the city, directly through this office and probably as many more through the State Free Employment bureau with which we co-operate. One girl came to us in nervous despair from a disreputable house to which she had been sent through either the evil purpose or the carelessness of one of the employment agencies of this city. Although she was given no work to do, and promised big, high wages in the two days she remained there, she was thankful to us for a position where there was hard work and fair wages. To her the employment department was worth while.

Social Work.

"Believing that the social development is a vital factor in the Y. W. C. A., each department has, at various times, held social events for its members. In addition there have been a number of general affairs. On Feb. 6 the ministers of the city were entertained at luncheon, when co-operation with the churches was discussed. On March 26 occurred the annual membership banquet with an attendance of 175. Two entertainments by the best talent of the city have been given as membership privileges.

"Preceding the finance campaign in May, a luncheon was given to 100 women who had shown an active interest in the association. A banquet was also served to 150 young women.

"The Geneva club presented 'Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch,' and from the proceeds four delegates were sent to the Lake Geneva summer conference. The annual banquet for the pastors and their wives was held at the beginning of the Bible conference, in compliment to our national workers, Mrs. Byers and Miss Crittenden.

"Christmas parties were given by various clubs, and a Christmas tree celebration for the girls living in the building took place Christmas morning. During the busy shopping days of December music in the lobby proved very popular at the noon hour.

Religious.

"Inasmuch as this is a Christian institution, we feel that the religious work belongs to every department, but the religious committee has carried on a number of definite activities; Bible classes have been led by Miss Severance, Mrs. C. M. Wilson and Miss Nettie Trimble.

"Several young women were graduated from a two-year course in October, and a banquet was given in their honor.

"In November a Bible conference was conducted by Mrs. Byers and Miss Crittenden from Minneapolis. Mrs. Noyes, president of the St. Paul association, also came to us with her lecture on 'Social Purity.'

"The week of prayer was observed by daily meetings, with a total attendance of 190, and the presentation of the foreign association pagent, which was attended by 200 people. Out of this has grown the South American club, which has subscribed $56 to the work in Buenos Ayres.

"Each Sunday afternoon an informal song and devotional service is held in the lobby.

Conferences and Conventions.

"This association had five representatives at the Field committee meeting of the national organization, held at St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 9 to 11. The conferences with other association workers brought to our delegates many practical ideas which proved worth while here.

Travelers' Aid.

"During the year the two travelers' aid secretaries have 8,107 trains and aided 5,986 persons. One hundred and fifty-two people were directed or taken to hotels, the Municipal Lodging house, the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. A young girl as she passed through the city on her way to meet a girl friend at Virginia was cautioned by our Travelers' Aid secretary. Later the girl discovered that the warning was most opportune and that her so-called friend was the accomplice of a white-slave dealer, who was trying to get her to Calgary, Can. With our aid, she was the cause of the two being arrested and the man has begun his five years' sentence in the prison at Sunny Mountain, Man. This girl, who had a real friend in the Travelers' Aid secretary in her time of extreme need, knows the travelers' aid department is worth while.

Finance.

"This year the annual finance campaign plan was adopted.

"By this method, all money necessary for current expenses, above the annual income, is secured in a few days, set aside for the purpose, with the understanding that there will be no further solicitation during the year. In this city with the aid of two national officers, the board of directors managed a successful campaign for $8,000 in eight days.

"To the 527 persons who have given liberally of their money and to many others who have given as freely of their time the members of the association wish to extend their hearty thanks. For the courtesies of publicity, in the generous and prominent space accorded us, we are deeply grateful to The Duluth Herald and the News Tribune, and for help from the Matinee Musical in furnishing music at various times.

COLORADO HAS A WOMAN SENATOR

HELEN RING ROBINSON.

The aspirations of several women to be nominated for congress and even for the presidency do not seem so vain when one sees what Colorado has done. Two years ago three women were elected to the lower house of the legislature. At the last election Mrs. Sarah Ring Robinson was chosen a member of the state senate. When she took her seat her legislative colleagues in the lower house, Agnes Riddle, publicly kissed her and congratulated her. Mrs. Robinson is a woman of affairs and has conducted her own business for some years.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Pity That Woman Who is Mated to a Bully!

To be constantly under suspicion must be an intolerable situation for a loving woman. To fear that some deed in the past will be ferreted out and exaggerated into some ghastly sin or that some innocent act in the present will be construed as an offense the man I loved and the world, the one that I could not stand up under in the relation of wife and husband. I could not endure such torture from is, of all things in who made pretense of loving me. For pretense it must be. Suspicion that never sleeps and is never mute is not related to love, though it may profess to be.

Recently I met with a woman whom I had known well before she had attained to the dignity of the prefix "Mrs". She had been of all my friends most spontaneously merry and light-hearted. But after a brief year of married life, her gaiety is dissipated.

There was an occasional attempt at the old-time fun-making and delight in recalling larks; but under it all was an uneasy alertness and tensity of mind and body that would deceive no one, least of all the friends who cared for her and who, after a separation, would most quickly notice any change in her demeanor.

I was puzzled as to what it was for the time being, though it was plainly evident that it was something that went to the heart of the woman and took a strong hold on her happiness. And then I met her husband and spent two hours in the company of this husband and wife, and before the two hours were half ended I knew him for a bullying brute who gave his wife no peace as regards either past or present or future and no liberty of thought.

The sight of either man or woman being held up to ridicule by their partner in life is not an edifying one. And when their motives are impugned and their every word and action criticized and questioned it means almost unendurable torture and hardship for the one subjected to jealous and unfounded suspicion.

It has been suggested to me that the one who gives such doubts play is a sufferer. But he well deserves to be, and perhaps he is. He appears, however, as a bully pure and simple, who, having lost faith in himself, refuses to believe good of anyone, even his own wife.

WILL HEAD FOR GALLERY.

Young Women Will Fill Seats of "Real Judges of Drama."

The Lyceum gallery will be invaded by the "true art lovers" Friday evening for the appearance of Adeline Genee.

Instead of the youths who generally hang over the railing absorbed in the popular ditties of the musical comedy, or watching the villain "get his" while they eat peanuts, the gallery will be occupied by young men and young women, who feel they cannot afford the high priced seats and who are not ashamed to seek the loftier atmosphere.

The gallery will be carefully cleaned for the occasion, and the elevator will be kept running during the evening. Already many parties are being made up among the school teachers of the city and other young women who hesitate about spending more than a moderate sum for their tickets.

Folk Dancing Class.

The first meeting of the folk dancing class to be formed at the Whittier school, Park Point, will be held this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the school. Miss Susan House, principal of the school will be the director, Miss Johnston will give the dancing instruction and Miss Peterson will be the pianiste.

DAY OF PRAYER.

Missionary Union Plans Pageants and Devotions.

Plans for a day of prayer about Feb. 12 were discussed yesterday at a meeting of the executive committee of the Interdenominational Missionary union held at the home of Mrs. Milton Fish, president. The observance of a day of prayer will be general all over the world conducted by interdenominational missionary societies, and a general feature this year is the missionary pageant showing the work in the foreign fields being conducted by various churches.

It is planned that a pageant of this kind will be held here on the day of prayer and the various churches will work up pageants showing the fields in which their members are especially interested.

The other members of the committee who met yesterday were Mrs. B. Hopkins, Mrs. Frank A. Grawn and Mrs. A. Gibson.

TURRISH-HAZEN.

Simple Wedding Planned for Next Monday.

The wedding of Miss Marie Catherine Turrish, daughter of Henry Turrish, 1421 East Superior street, to Chauncey Edward Hazen of this city, will take place on Monday morning of next week at the residence of Bishop McGolrick. They will be unattended and only relatives will be present. There will be no reception.

INTERESTING TEA.

Special Features at "Wesley Afternoon" at First M. E. Church.

Several features of the "Wesley tea" which will be given tomorrow afternoon from 2:30 to 5 o'clock at the parlors of the First M. E. church promise to be of special interest. Mrs. L. A. Larsen, Mrs. J. E. Goodman, Mrs. John Carson and Mrs. T. A. Armstrong will be the hostesses for the afternoon and all women of the church and any from other churches interested in the afternoon are invited to be present.

A program will be given in costume the life of Susanna Wesley, mother of John and Charles Wesley and their sixteen brothers and sisters will be contrasted with that of women of today and glimpses of the life of the brothers will be given. Several of Charles Wesley's hymns will be sung, Mrs. L. H. Merritt will give some piano solos and Miss Perle Reynolds will sing.

Another special feature of the afternoon will be the serving of tea from a teapot which is the exact reproduction of the historic teapot used by the Wesleys which bore the following verse used as a blessing enclosed in a wreath on one side in letters large enough that all at the table might read:

"Be present at our table Lord;
"Be here and everywhere adored;
"Each creature bless and grant that we
"May feast in paradise with Thee."

Little English cakes will be served with the tea and contributions for the Singapore medical dispensary will be taken at this meeting.

Sleighride.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Gravelle entertained at a sleighride party last evening stopping at the home of Miss Camelon at Woodland after the ride for dancing and games. A supper was also served to the following:

Messers. and Mesdames—
D. G. Camelon. A. J. Gravelle,

Jessie McGhie, Mina Cameron,
Louise Ellis.
Messrs.—
Walter Greenfield, Charles Haig,
James Kirkwood, Jr., Allen Greenfield,
Rufus Clarke, Albert Parent,
J. Fred Randall,

At Spalding Tea.

Mrs. Frank Dacey entertained at a party of six yesterday afternoon at the Matinee tea at the Spalding hotel. In the party were Miss Elsie Overman; Miss Claudia Gowan, Miss Clare Church, Miss Lillian Gowan and Miss Brown.

There were several other smaller parties of two, three and four. The teas offer a restful hour for the entertainment of friends and a quiet little chat, and the women of Duluth are taking full advantage of their charm. Miss Florence Lawson was the soloist for the afternoon and trio numbers by Miss Brown, Miss Heymar and Miss Lawson were delightfully played.

Luncheon.

Mrs. D. Gibson entertained the members of the Priscilla club yesterday afternoon at her home. A luncheon was served at which covers were laid for:

Mesdames—
H. Bergstrom, J. Lambert,
S. Jonowsky, G. Winters,
O. Simson, G. W. Wetterlind,
O. Aberhanson, Gibson.

Farewell Surprise Party.

Miss Rose Gravelle, who will leave in a few days for Milwaukee, Wis., where she will make her future home, was the guest of honor at a farewell surprise party Tuesday evening at her home, 121 South Fifty-eighth avenue west. The evening was spent with music and games and the guest of honor was presented with a signet ring. Luncheon was served and the following were present:

Misses—
Rose Gravelle, Catherine Liedenger,
Arella Cashin, Esther Chilstrand.
Beatrice Dahl,
Leona Cashin,
Eunice Dahl,
Messrs—
A. Brewer, Dedie Jamison,
Vernon Jamison, Frank Kilby,
Arnold Carlson, Leslie Fadden.
Artemeze Morris,

Guild of St. James.

The Guild of St. James will hold a meeting tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the orphanage at Woodland. The members are asked to take their sewing and the committee members are especially urged to be present.

Sleighride Postponed.

The sleighride which the Emerald Athletic club planned for this evening has been postponed until Thursday of next week.

Banquet Friday.

General interest is felt in the annual banquet for the celebration of the birthday anniversary of Robert Burns, which will be held tomorrow evening at the Spalding hotel at 7 o'clock, under the auspices of Clan Stewart No. 50, O. S. C., to which all interested are cordially invited. A large number of tickets have already been sold for the

CITY CLERK HAS PROBLEM

Two Provisions of New Charter Seem to Be Conflicting.

School for Election Judges Will Be Conducted Three Days.

City Clerk C. S. Palmer was in a quandary yesterday. He has shifted the burden of doubt to City Attorney Carmichael today and is now awaiting the opinion of that official.

The last paragraph of Section 41 of the new charter says: "No votes shall be counted on the election of commissioners unless the voter marks as many first choices as there are commissioners to be elected."

Subdivision "b" of Section 44 says: "All ballots shall be void which do not contain first choice votes for as many candidates for commissioners as there are commissioners to be elected. If a ballot contain either first or second choice in excess of the number of offices to be filled, no vote in the column showing such excess shall be counted."

Mr. Palmer has been unable to harmonize the two provisions. A mayor, a special municipal judge and an assistant municipal judge are to be elected in addition to the commissioners. Under the provision in Section 41, it would appear that only the votes on commissioner would be thrown out if an insufficient number were marked. Under Section 44, the ballot would be void and no votes may be counted on a void ballot.

Mr. Palmer is spending hours daily studying the charter, preparing for the checking of names and getting ready for the election. The first day for the filing of petitions is Feb. 20 and Mr. Palmer expects a rush. It will be necessary for him to check all names signed to petitions in order to determine the eligibility of signers and to guard against violation of the charter provision which prohibits a voter from signing more petitions than there are offices to be filled. The city clerk's office will have a card index system to check the names and the work will be conducted as rapidly as possible.

Mr. Palmer will conduct a school for election judges on the Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday preceding the election. The judges will be required to gather in the council chamber in the city hall on the three evenings to receive instructions as to their duties. With the aid of a blackboard, sample ballots and tally sheets, Mr. Palmer will give detailed instructions as to the counting of the ballots and the reporting of the vote.

Petitions are now out for M. B. Cullum, B. Silberstein, W. I. Prince and Harry Nesbit for mayor. It is understood that a sufficient number of signed certificates have been sent to Former Mayor Cullum to make up a petition, but Mr. Cullum has not yet announced his candidacy.

New candidates for commissioner to appear are John E. Roos, D. E. Stevens and W. A. Pond. Mr. Roos and Mr. Pond were independent candidates for county commissioner at the recent election. Mr. Stevens is a member of the board of education and a deputy sheriff.

W. H. Gurnee is said to be a candidate for assistant municipal judge to take charge of the West Duluth court. Harry W. Lanners is a candidate for the same office.

PLAN RECEPTION.

Will Entertain Sons of Veterans at Social Evening.

Members of the Sons of Veterans auxiliary will be hostesses at a reception to be held Wednesday, at Memorial hall in honor of the newly elected officers of Duluth camp, No. 5, Sons of Veterans and their auxiliary. The committee in charge consists of Mrs. E. A. Huot, Mrs. F. M. Kilgore, Mrs. John Harrison, Mrs. E. F. Heller and Mrs. William Beaton. A program of music and speeches will be given and refreshments served and all sons of veterans in the city and their friends are cordially invited to be present.

For Singing Society.

Mrs. F. H. Banks of 1113 East Fourth street will entertain the Finnish Singing society this evening at her home.

Church Meetings.

At the annual meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of Trinity Lutheran church, held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. Anderson, 318 Twenty-third avenue west, the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. S. P. Sorenson; vice president, Mrs. J. Anderson; secretary, Mrs. Pash; treasurer, Mrs. A. Lofgren and organist, Mrs. J. G. Anderson.

Informal Party.

Mrs. M. Kohagen of 1529 South street entertained a number of friends informally yesterday afternoon at her home. A musical program of vocal and instrumental numbers was given for the entertainment of the guests, and the rooms were prettily decorated in pink and green. The following were present:

Mesdames—

R. E. Macfarlone,	Otto Wolfer,
W. D. Drowns,	John Ebling,
J. McKnight,	Frank McDonald,
Joe Goging,	A. P. Hill,

Third of Series.

The third entertainment in the series planned for this winter by the women of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Lester Park M. E. church will be given tomorrow evening at the church at 8 o'clock. The reading of Margaret Mayo's "Polly of the Circus" by Mrs. Robert Bruce Liggett will be given and there will also be musical numbers.

Stanley-Finch.

The Coleraine Optic of Coleraine, Minn., announces the approaching marriage of Miss Mae Stanley and Guy Finch, both of this city, which will take place early in March. The marriage, the Optic states, will take place in Itasca county.

Theosophical Society.

The regular weekly meeting of the Duluth lodge of the Theosophical society will be held in the lodge room in the Burgess block this evening. The subject for tonight is "The Mental Plane," and it will be treated of under the following headings:

(1) Mental matter, or what and where is the mental plane.

(2) The human and non-human inhabitants of the heaven world.

(3) The conditions of consciousness in the mental body on the four lower levels of the mental plane.

(4) The reality of the heaven life.

(5) The value and purpose of the heaven life.

(6) The three higher levels of the mental plane or the causal plane.

Drama Class.

The regular meeting of the Modern Drama class of the Twentieth Century club will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at the guild hall of Trinity pro-cathedral with Mrs. Robert Spiegel leading the reading of Henri Becque's "The Crows" which will be finished at this meeting. The reading will be followed by an informal discussion of the play by the members of the class.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. J. B. Erd of 202 South Nineteenth avenue east is visiting relatives in St. Paul this week.

Mrs. T. Dodd of 216 East Fifth street has as her guests, her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Dodd of Minneapolis.

Mrs. Charles Rinn of Hibbing is visiting Mrs. E. J. Meagher, 527 Fourth avenue east.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Milnes of Park Point have returned from a week's visit in St. Paul. While there they attended the joint installation of officers for all of the courts of the U. O. F. in the Twin Cities. They were guests of honor at several social affairs also during their visit there.

Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Crowley of 210 East Third street left last evening for Hot Springs, Ark., and Florida to spend the rest of the winter. They will visit at Mr. Crowley's old home at Victor, N. Y., on their return trip.

BANISH THOSE UGLY PIMPLES

Skin Cleared in a Short Time by Stuart's Calcium Wafers, the Greatest Blood Purifier Known.

Pimples, blotches, skin eruptions of all kinds, are simply the impurities in the blood coming to the surface. All the external treatment in the world won't do a particle of good unless you purify the blood. And there's nothing so humiliating as a face that's all "broken out" and spotted.

Clean Your Back and Face of Pimples,

Stuart's Calcium Wafers will clear the most obstinate complexion, because they go right into the blood and remove the cause of the trouble. The blood is cleaned of all impurities and foreign substances and these are quickly eliminated from the system. You'll notice a wonderful change in a few days—you will hardly know yourself in a week.

And Stuart's Calcium Wafers are absolutely harmless to any one. Their ingredients are just what a physician prescribes in most cases of skin eruptions and poor blood. These wafers are put up in a concentrated form, which makes them act quickly and thoroughly.

Begin taking Stuart's Calcium Wafers today and then look at yourself in the mirror in a few days, and find all those awful pimples, blackheads, acne, boils, liver spots, rash, eczema and that muddy complexion rapidly disappearing and your face cleared like the petal of a flower.

You can obtain Stuart's Calcium Wafers at any drug store at 50 cents and there is now no reason why anyone should be disfigured by pimples or any other skin eruption.

THREE CITIES PLAN Y. M. C. A. CONTEST.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Grand Forks, Fargo and Jamestown Y. M. C. A.'s will participate in a unique membership contest which will begin Jan. 28 and close Feb. 4. During that period each of the cities will conduct active campaigns for new members and for the renewal of old memberships, and to the association that piles up the greatest number of points, with three points credited for each $1 paid on a renewal and five points on each $1 on a new membership, the banner that has been provided for will be given.

Why Women Are Beautiful

"The best-groomed leaders of fashion have tabooed the use of powder. They rely upon a complexion beautifier, the secret of which is not common property. Massage the face, neck and arms with a solution made by dissolving four ounces of mayatone in a half pint of witch hazel. This will do wonders in making the skin smooth, fresh and satiny.

"The loveliest heads of hair are those which have had the least washing, for water dulls and deadens hair. Dry shampooing cleanses the scalp, and leaves the hair fresh, wholesome, fluffy and ideally lustrous. Mix four ounces of orris root with an original package of therox, sprinkle a little on the head, brush out and your shampoo is completed.

"Eyebrows and lashes deserve attention. If they are thin and straggly, massage them daily with pyroxin, and the eyebrows will grow even and regular in well formed arches, while the lashes will be long and silken.

"Wild hairs and fuzzy growths that cause many women humiliation can be painlessly removed by one application of delatone. Make a paste with a little delatone and water, apply and wash skin and the hairs are gone.

"Mother's Salve quickly heals sores, cuts and burns without leaving a scar. It is cooling, soothing and comforting, and gives almost instant relief. It is fine for the removal of certain forms of eczema, pimples and skin eruptions.

RIGHT TO TAX TO BE TESTED

Case Filed in District Court Involves $100,000 in Assessments.

Claimed That Membership of Board of Trade Is Not Personal Property.

Are board of trade memberships a form of personal property subject to assessment and properly taxable under the law?

This is a question which has become involved in a delinquent tax proceeding which has been started in district court in which the state seeks to enforce the payment of the 1911 personal property taxes levied against the seat of Sidney A. McPhail in the Duluth Board of Trade.

The case involves an issue which will come up for the first time before the Minnesota courts. It is in the nature of a test case and as such will probably be carried up to the supreme court for a final decision so that in the future taxing officials may have a precedent by which to be governed.

Mr. McPhail, who is a prominent local grain man, was the only member of the board of trade who did not pay the 1911 tax on his membership. Yesterday he filed with the clerk of the district court an answer to the delinquent tax proceedings, setting up the contention that memberships in a board of trade were not a form of personal property and therefore not properly taxable unde the Constitution and laws of the state.

It is understood that the Duluth board of trade as an organization is behind Mr. McPhail and that his case was selected merely for the purpose of getting legal determination of the question of whether or not taxes should be imposed in the future upon board of trade companies. Francis W. Sullivan, attorney for the Duluth board of trade, will appear in the action on behalf of Mr. McPhail. Charles E. Adams special counsel for the county, will represent the taxing officials in the litigation.

Put Seats On Roll.

City Assessor J. A. Scott, for the first time in the history of Duluth, on May 1, 1911, placed on the tax rolls the 200 memberships of the Duluth board of trade, assessing each at $500 or $100,000 for the whole. Heretofore, the taxing officials, have left them off the rolls. The taxes on these assessments fell due and with the exception of one case—that of Mr. McPhail—were paid. On April 1, 1912, the tax against his seat became delinquent and proceedings started to enforce payment.

Mr. McPhail sets up in his answer that he has no other personal property whatever except his membership certificate in the Duluth Board of Trade, and alleges that by assessing this membership that the city assessor attempted to fix a value upon and assess his membership in the board of trade alone.

He further contends that the board of trade is a peculiar corporation, having no capital stock and that it contains in its articles of incorporation a provision for a limited membership of 200. Its members, he recites, must be men connected with the buying, selling, insuring, shipping, storing and exporting of grain and must qualify in certain other ways.

Privilege, Not Property.

The board of trade in Duluth, he claims, engages in no business itself, but simply furnishes conveniences and facilities for its members. A membership, he contends, is simply a trading privilege and is not property and not subject to assessment or taxes under the law.

He further states that the Duluth Board of Trade owns certain real and personal property which has been assessed and on which taxes have been paid. Any assessment of membership in the board, he declares, would amount to double taxation and would be unjust and unequal.

The proceeding will be brought to trial before one of the judges of the district court at this term, along with ten or twelve other contested personal property tax cases, according to Charles E. Adams, who will appear as attorney for the taxing officials. The board of trade case, he says, is the most important of the lot.

It will probably be claimed by the state that the Minnesota supreme court has held in a Twin City case that a board of trade membership may be regarded as property in a bankrupt proceeding. One case is on record where the court issued an order compelling a board of trade to make a transfer on its books of a membership sold by a trustee under bankruptcy proceedings.

It is understood that in arriving at the $500 valuation placed on the memberships City Assessor Scott took the actual selling prices of the memberships as a basis, figuring at about 20 per cent. Recent sales of board memberships have brought from $2,500 to $3,000.

MAIL CARRIER GETS DUCKING

Robert Malcolm, a mail carrier suffered a plunge into the cold waters of the bay this morning, but escaped without serious injury and without damage to the sack of mail he was carrying.

Malcolm started to cross the ice from the foot of Fifth avenue west to Park Point. Just back of the Duluth Marine Supply company's building, he went through. He threw his sack of mail out on the ice when he felt himself going, and managed to hold on to the ice so as to keep his head above water.

Gus Rutberg of the Duluth Marine Supply company rushed to Malcolm's assistance with a rope and Joseph Peterson and Charles Irwin assisted in pulling the mail man out. Another carrier took up Malcolm's burden and Malcolm went home to dry off.

THREE CARLOADS OF ELK IN TRANSIT

Animals Are Being Shipped to Eastern States for Breeding Purposes.

Howard Eaton, the well known Wyoming ranchman, arrived in St. Paul yesterday morning accompanying three carloads of elk in transit from Yellowstone park; one carload destined to Clearfield, Pa., one to Renova, Pa., and one to Marlington, W. Va.

In addition to these three cars, there were shipped at the same time two carloads to Redding, Cal., under escort of C. C. McCrea, past exalted ruler of B. P. O. E. of California. The local Elks lodge at Redding, Cal., has interested itself in the propagation of the elk under their espionage, as an adjunct to the local zoological collection.

These elk are from the government herd in Yellowstone park, from which numerous consignments have been made in the last year or two to various localities. Uncle Sam has also donated bear and antelope from the Yellowstone preserve for zoological purposes.

These shipments were all made over the Northern Pacific in stock cars and the animals are given transportation on promptest freight schedule and with special attention.

Yellowstone park is one of the government's most prolific animal preserves and the elk herd in the park numbers at the present time over 30,000, by actual count.

Is Holding Two Jobs.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—That Gen. E. A. Williams, president of the Bismarck city commission, is not entitled to act as a member of the city commission because he has qualified as a member of the legislature from this district, is the claim made by A. Van Horn of this city, who has filed a petition with the commission asking that Gen. Williams' place be declared vacant.

THE BEST DOUBLE ACTION GAS RANGE

Not Like the Ordinary Kind—And Why!

No other gas range heats its oven as does the Double Action.

No other gas range broils as does the Double Action.

The Double Action gas range is constructed on an entirely new principle and is different from all other gas ranges made. The Double Action gas range uses the heat in the oven twice, and is the only oven in the world that does. The Double Action gas range has only two rows of fire in the oven where all others have three or four, which means that the Double Action oven uses from thirty-three and one-third to fifty per cent less gas.

In all other ovens there are ventilating openings in the top or back where the heat passes out. In the Double Action oven there are none of these opening in the top or back and the result is that when the heat reaches the top of the oven instead of passing out through, as in other ovens, it has to turn around and travel all the way down through the oven to the bottom where the openings are, before passing out to the point of ventilation, which is directly below the center of the oven bottom plate. In other words, in all other stoves the heat enters the oven through the bottom or sides and passes to the top or back and then out; in the Double Action the heat enters the oven through the sides and goes to the top, then turns around and goes all the way to the bottom. This is the reason why it is necessary to have only two rows of fire in the Double Action oven to do the same work that other ovens require three or four rows of fire to do.

The Double Action gas range is free from rivets and bolts, is smooth, sanitary, and beautiful, and is the easiest gas range in the world to keep clean. It has an all enameled body, inside and out, it has white porcelain trays, white porcelain valve handles, aluminum steel oven linings, aluminized burners and grates, and requires no stove blacking or grease to keep it from rusting.

LET THE PEOPLE DECIDE.

Measures have been introduced in both the Minnesota and North Dakota legislatures providing for the submission to the people of those states of constitutional amendments extending the right of the ballot to women.

Neither legislature should hesitate to take favorable action on these measures. It is not for the legislature to say whether that extension of the franchise shall be granted. It is a matter for the people themselves to act upon. In other years when the question of submitting the proposal to the people has been advanced, the plea has been made that the people were not prepared to vote on the matter. Today that argument is not sound, for the advance of several other states into the equal suffrage column has given the subject prominence, and it is probable that every qualified voter in these two Northwestern commonwealths has decided the matter in his own mind.

Further, with the present organizations for and against the equal suffrage movement, there is no danger of lack of data on which any voter as yet unconvinced may base his decision. Only give the people the chance to vote on the extension of suffrage, and there will be plenty of arguments and facts presented to help them reach a conclusion.

It is the plain and simple duty of the legislature to give the people the opportunity to say whether their own states shall enter the equal suffrage ranks. By taking such action the legislatures will not commit themselves either way. They will only be giving the voters the privilege of expressing their will, and that is a privilege to which the voters are clearly entitled.

It is to be hoped that if they really do let the movies talk, some care will be exercised as to which characters are allowed to vocalize their parts.

KEEP THE COLLECTORSHIP HERE.

Representative Miller made a strong plea for the maintenance of the customs collector's office in Duluth. In view of the facts he presented regarding the shipping business of this port and the serious losses of time and the great inconvenience that would result from abolishing the Duluth customs district and removing the collectorship to St. Paul, it does not seem possible that the treasury department can make such a change.

To take any such step as was contemplated would be to go backward instead of forward in the efficiency movement, and it is unthinkable that the Federal government should make that mistake when the facts are so apparent. Duluth as the home port of the greatest fleet on the Great Lakes and as the port at which is handled the greatest tonnage in the world and at which the vessel movements are the greatest in the world, is the logical place for the office of a collector. Any other arrangement would be in violation of the simplest and most vital principles of management.

The Duluth customs district should remain, whatever may be done regarding the consolidation of other districts.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson has selected Helen Bones as her own personal private secretary. Meaning no disrespect, the name certainly makes one think of a bad case of "rumatiz."

USE THE PREFERENCE FEATURE.

When you vote in the city election April 1, don't fail to use the preference privilege in marking your ballot. Your judgment as to the best man for mayor or commissioner may not agree with that of a majority of the voters, and so your first choices for office may not be elected. But you can safeguard your convictions as to who are fit men for office by voting the preferential feature, because then every vote you mark will be in the interests of men you believe will make good officers. And equally, every vote you mark will count against the men you believe unfit for office.

That West End men's club mock election, in which nobody received a majority of first choice votes, but in which the man declared elected was shown to be acceptable to everyone who voted, was a first class object lesson in the value of the preferential plan as a sure means to get at the will of the majority. But the preference system is not going to work unless it is used. It is to the interests of your own vote and of good government to express your preferences. Don't fail to do it.

If the members of the Minnesota legislature feel at all doubtful of their abilities as investigators they might be able to get some pointers from our own Moses Clapp.

AND THAT'S NO JOKE.

It's interesting, sometimes, just for emphasis, to arrange facts in a sort of order of progression, like this: Minnesota has iron ore; Minnesota owns big quantities of iron ore; Minnesota owns more iron ore than any other state; Minnesota owns more iron ore than all the rest of the states put together; Minnesota is richer in her iron ore than any other state or corporation in the whole world.

Col. Roosevelt has once more told the congressmen that the wool was NOT pulled over his eyes in the Tennessee Coal & Iron deal. How surprised the congressmen must have been!

FIGHTING THE LOAN SHARKS.

New York's court of appeals did a splendid thing for the man of small means when it declared illegal the practice of loan societies of exacting additional sums from borrowers under the guise of payments for expenses incurred in drawing up papers and examining titles to property. The court hit at the main difficulty in combatting the practice of usury. It knocked into splinters the plea by which the loan shark is enabled to bleed his victims to the last drop.

Practically every state has laws against the charging of usurious rates of interest on loans, but the loan sharks get around the law by making the borrower pay for just such items as the New York court enumerates in its decision. With a law like the New York statute in force, backed by the approval of the higher court, the pitiless robber of the needy will be forced to put his charges in their true form, and if he goes beyond the limits set by the laws against usury, will justly be compelled to forfeit the interest, or principal and interest, on the loan, as provided by law.

In St. Louis they are fighting the loan sharks in another way. There they have established a "poor man's bank," where a salaried man with steady employment may borrow needed funds at the reasonable rate of 6 per cent. He needs first to secure indorsements from two fellow-employes, and if the men in charge of the bank find his record is good, he is given the loan.

A combination of the New York and St. Louis plans would appear nearly ideal, for while it would curb the loan sharks, now the sole refuge of the needy in so many places, it would supply a place where the possible victim of the usurer would be able to get the needed help. But the St. Louis plan looks good, and its operation will be watched with keen interest throughout the whole country.

Does that English law that gives a mother of a new-born babe $7.50, make it $15 in case of twins?

London is said to be enthusiastic over ragtime, but the stuff must sound weird through that fog.

Just the same, we don't hear Governor Sulzer making any such cracks as this: "Tammany? Tammany? What's that?"

Berlin has doubled its tax on dachshunds, presumably because it takes twice as long for the tax collector to get by one.

The sage of olden days distrusted the Greeks when they brought gifts, but the German officials of today distrust the Turks whether they are bringing anything or not.

Protection Against Bores.

Los Angeles: Under the second empire bores were so rampant that a sort of society or club was formed to fight them under the name of the "Rachat des Captifs." It was a mutual aid society, every member of which was bound to come to the rescue of any other in the clutches of a buttonholing bore. The signal of distress was given by unobtrusively scratching the side of one's nose, and a colleague on seeing this was expected to intervene and deliver his friend from captivity.

The society was so useful and so popular, even humanitarian, it may be said, that it flourished exceedingly for many years and grew rich in members and subscriptions. Among its members was the veteran journalist, Ernest Blum, who, however, was rather clumsy in his work. He used to relate the following story:

"One day in passing the Gymnase, I saw two men talking. I knew one of them and took off my hat to him, whereupon he at once scratched his nose.

"I, of course, thought he was a member of the club in distress whom I ought to deliver, so I approached, and not knowing exactly what to say, cried out: 'My dear X, I am delighted to meet you! I have an important piece of news to tell you. Allow me?' turning to the other man. 'Certainly,' replied this gentleman. I took my comrade aside, saying: 'You know I have nothing at all to tell you! I only wanted to rescue you—that is all.' 'Rescue me from what?' 'Why from the bore!' 'What bore?' 'The man you were talking to, naturally!' 'But he is my father!'"

Poor Blum had chanced upon somebody who was not a member of the society and who had merely scratched his nose absently or because he wanted to—which may happen to any man.

PROTEST FROM FORMER PASTOR.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Having kept The Herald since we left West Duluth Sept. 30, 1911, I have watched closely the columns for this part of the city. Our Savior's Lutheran church extended to me the first call in my ministry in February, 1905, and I served as pastor in this church for about seven years. Having many friends and faithful co-workers in this congregation, I feel yet much interested in the furtherance and upbuilding of this place and to the salvation of many souls.

There are many things that can be added to the credit of the Commercial club of West Duluth in upbuilding this part of the city. You have done a splendid work, gentlemen; keep on. But when you appeal to two Christian organizations for help to build up a non-Christian institution it sounds rather strange to me from West Duluth. I suppose the same old good members are there yet, or maybe there are entirely new elements in the club.

I hope that the Commercial club is able in some other way to build a home for social gatherings, if necessary, than on the expenses of the Christian mission. Friends of West Duluth, you need more true Christendom in your locality, and all other localities, rather than to obstruct the Christian work.

We will see whether these Christian bodies have the name only or they also have the Christian spirit.

The lots belonging to the W. C. T. U. on Fifty-seventh avenue are right over from Our Savior's church, and it would not hurt to have another Christian institution right there, but for everything in the world you must not build a clubhouse on these lots.

With my best wishes for the Commercial club and a great West Duluth, I am yours very much interested in your welfare,

JOHN A. BJERKE.

"Here's How" and "Ho" in Many Languages

From the Chicago Journal.

What do you say when the glasses touch? Yes, sarsaparilla glasses or ice cream soda, if you feel that way about it. What's your imbibing word? It differs in different parts of the world, but SOMETHING is said on such occasions everywhere.

In America we say "Here's how!" or "Here's looking at you!" or "My regards!" or "Good luck!" or any of a half dozen other phrases. "Here's how," by the way, started in the West, where "How" was an Indian salutation.

The German plunges his blond mustache into a foaming stein of—barley water—and his last word as he sinks below the surface is "Hoch!" or "Prosit!"

The Italian sips red ink to the accompaniment of "Salute!" (pronounced "Salootay"). The Frenchman remarks over a milky liquid "Sante!" or some similar good wish for your health.

In the England of a century ago the phrase was "A glass of wine with you, sir!" or "To your very good health!" In coster circles today there are several formulas. Here is one of the most popular. Imbiber No. 1 says: "I looks toward YOU!" And his fellow liquifier formally responds, "I observes it and bows." Or, if he is averse to such formality, he may say, "I likewise winks!"

In the Orient the pious Mohammedan (who, by the way, is supposed to ride forever on the aqua pura cart) intones: "Bismillah!" The Swede exclaims "Skoal!" And so on everywhere, each race or nation having its own drinking word.

But why, throughout the world, should the emptying of a glass always call for a word or phrase to accompany it any more than the emptying of a plate or a cigar case? When we sit down to eat each person at the table does not mumble some salutation into his soup. Nor do a group of smokers set up a chorus of salutations when the matches are lighted. Why, then, this formula, this ceremonial, when people drink?

Here is the answer: The custom dates back thousands of years to the days when hospitality was expressed and eternal brotherhood pledged by the mutual drinking of a goblet of wine, into which a few drops of blood were sometimes poured. And the drinking of this draught was accompanied by solemn words of good will and pledges of friendship.

Nowadays the old meaning has passed. But the ceremonial words remain and will always remain. Similarly the silly idea that one man grossly insults another by refusing to drink with him originated in the days when such a refusal meant a refusal to be on friendly terms or to take the drink oath of brotherhood.

Each drink of old was accompanied by a prayer to some ancient deity. Thus rose the old custom of offering "healths" and of expressing a kindly wish to some person present. A "health" was once actually a prayer for a fellow drinker's health.

Giving Him a Shock.

Harper's Weekly: "Miss Dubbkins—Marietta—" stammered Wimpleton, nervously, "er—wow—will yuh—you mum—mum—marry me?"

"Don't you ever ask me a question like that again, Reginald Wimpleton," replied the girl, proudly.

"Bub—but whuh—why, Mum—Marietta?" stuttered Wimpleton. "I lul—lul—love you dud—devotedly and—"

"Because," the fair girl answered, firmly, "because it will not be necessary for you to subject yourself to the nervous strain. I will."

Ways of Woman.

Washington Star: "What are you worried about?"

"I am not worried," answered Mr. Meekton, "only puzzled. What I can't understand is why a woman will march four miles in a suffragette parade and require a taxicab to travel four blocks on a shopping trip."

Her Prayer.

Anonymous: Little Florence had been naughty, and when she was about to retire, her mother said: "Now, Florence, you must kneel down and ask the Lord to forgive you for being naughty."

"Please," began Florence, "forgive me for being a naughty girl, and if at first you don't succeed, try, try again."

The Quaker View.

Philadelphia Ledger: The visiting girl is another attraction seldom up to her press notices.

Making Cabinets—No. 2

By Edward.

Washington, Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Abraham Lincoln, soon after his election to the presidency, solved the problem of selecting the members of his cabinet by deciding to bring into it several of the men who had competed with him for the Republican nomination at Chicago in 1860. Thus Seward became secretary of state, Chase secretary of treasury, Cameron secretary of war, Wells, secretary of navy, and Bates attorney general—all had received votes for the nomination against Lincoln. Montgomery Blair was made postmaster general because he represented the anti-slavery Democrats and hailed from a slave state. Caleb S. Smith was secretary of interior because he was a sterling Whig of the traditionally Democratic state of Indiana.

In the cabinet were Chase, Cameron, Wells and Blair, who were Republicans because of slavery and nothing else, while Seward, Bates and Smith were lifelong enemies of the Democratic party. The vice president was an old Democrat. Lincoln was remonstrated with about it, but he answered that the four Whigs, including himself, just about balanced the five Democrats, including Hamlin, basing his contention on the superior rank he held.

To get a proper impression of what a tremendous personality Abraham Lincoln was, one should read the "Diary of David Wells," the secretary of navy. He was the only man then living who could have succeeded in the task he undertook. Seward disliked him, Chase despised him, and neither at all understood him. He retained them in the cabinet because they could do him less injury there than without it. Napoleon used to say that his brother Joseph would never forgive him for usurping the crown that Joseph himself felt should be his as the elder brother. Both Seward and Chase looked on Lincoln as an interloper to whom had been given the office that each of them sincerely believed the party had intended for him. Champ Clark feels sorter like that right now.

Nobody but Lincoln could have got along with such a cabinet, and he could not have managed the thing had he not been gifted with the vastest stores of patience of any man of his time. Besides, he had more common sense than all of 'em put together. His was the only vision that compassed the entire field and he was master of the situation every hour, though he did not appear to be so at any hour.

If you will read his essays you will discover that Woodrow Wilson has taken Abraham Lincoln as his model. Let us hope that his hand may prove as heavy and as cunning as his conception is clear and his patriotism exalted.

It is doubtless true that Henry Clay would have been president if he had not been secretary of state in the cabinet of President John Quincy Adams. He decided the contest in the house of representatives in favor of Adams against Jackson, and it was the imprudence of conscious innocence—his acceptance of a place in the cabinet, but in those days the road to the White House passed through the state department, as witness the trail of Madison, Monroe, and Adams.

In our day nobody accepts that scandal about "bargain and intrigue," but as long as Clay was on the carpet your Democrat held it a religious duty to believe that Clay sold his vote and got in exchange the office of secretary of state. Had he voted for Jackson there is little doubt that Jackson would have put him at the head of his cabinet, just as Adams did.

On the other hand, Roger B. Taney, a cruelly misunderstood and vilely slandered man, would never have been chief justice of the supreme bench had he not been attorney general in Gen. Jackson's cabinet. It was Taney who put Old Hickory up to making war on "the bank". Jackson nominated Taney for associate justice of the supreme court, and a hostile senate rejected him. When Marshall died Jackson named Taney his successor as chief justice, and the senate, having become Jacksonized, confirmed the nomination.

What a curious case is Taney's! Originally a Federalist, he became a pillar of the Democratic party. Always an anti-slavery man, he emancipated all his slaves except those too old to take care of themselves, and these he supported from a slender purse after his loss of fortune. And yet this man is held up as a monster of political iniquity and judicial corruption because he disagreed with Benjamin R. Curtis as to the proper constitutional interpretation of the fugitive slave law. But Curtis knew him as he was, and when he died Curtis pronounced one of the finest eulogies upon his parts and his character that ever fell from the lips of a member of the American bar.

Curtis, who gave the dissenting opinion in the Dred Scott case, was one of the greatest lawyers our country ever produced. He successfully defended Andy Johnson in the impeachment proceeding, and it is a historic fact, though curious, indeed, that he gave a learned legal opinion to the effect that Charles Sumner and George S. Boutwell could be indicted for conspiracy to break up the Whig party in Massachusetts.

The first Harrison had little to do with the making of his cabinet, and mournfully remarked, "I have mighty little influence with this administration."

His successor, John Tyler, had a secretary of state thrust upon him. Abel P. Upshur of Virginia was one of the ablest men who ever headed the cabinet of an American president. In 1843 he lost his life when a gun exploded on the man-of-war Princeton. Henry A. Wise dominated Tyler's administration, and he felt that Mr. Calhoun ought to succeed Upshur, and took steps leading to that end without consulting his chief.

Now, Tyler had little choice between Calhoun and the devil himself as a member of his cabinet, but Wise finally prevailed and the great South Carolinian became secretary of state. The thing had momentous consequences. It made Texas a state of our Union in 1845. The star that represents Texas on "Old Glory" was put there by John Caldwell Calhoun of South Carolina.

Money Thrown Away.

Exchange: "Your wife seems grouchy."

"Same old Christmas grouch."

"What's the trouble?"

"Why, after investing $200 in Christmas presents for her folks I thoughtlessly went out and squandered $4 on my own folks."

Another Trust?

Kansas City Star: A Pullman porter killed a bandit in Oklahoma last week. One theory is that the porter resented the competition.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is fascinating to listen to the conversation of Representative Charles Manly Stedman of North Carolina. He is a tall, erect, white-haired gentleman of distinguished appearance, and his language is always that of a scholar. His sentences are all framed with much care and are noteworthy for their polished diction. He never split an infinitive in his life. Most of his everyday talk might have been lifted right from the Atlantic Monthly.

And yet, let him fall to discussing something that he is not entirely in sympathy with—the Progressive movement, for example—and he can insert swear words right into the midst of his highbrow phrases with an unexpectedness that is startling. Immediately he apologizes. "I rarely use profanity," he says, "but there are some things that annoy me exceedingly." Then he resumes his scholarly talk about one thing and another, and presently the discussion brings him up to woman suffrage, let us say. Again he departs from his regulation phraseology to hurl a few vigorous, uncatalogued swear words—after which, as usual, he apologizes, explaining that while he rarely stoops to profane language, there are some present-day tendencies that stir his ire to a point where ordinary words do not fit.

He is undoubtedly the most scholarly swearer in congress.

Anybody standing at the right spot at the right moment in the big Union station here a few nights ago, would have seen Representative Ben Johnson of Kentucky performing an odd chore.

It wouldn't have looked so funny if Johnson were not so tall and of such dignified appearance. He stood by the big gate where most of the passengers were coming from a train, and every few moments remarked, in a tone of authority, to nobody in particular:

Now, there wasn't anybody named Mandy there, you understand, and everybody wondered why a congressman should be standing there saying over and over again: "Right this way, Mandy; I'll take care of you."

What sense was there to a man doing such a thing as that?

After he had said it many times, Johnson went away, but in a couple of hours he was back again, repeating the same line, with the same calm dignity as before.

People were puzzled.

Yet it was all simple enough.

The Johnsons had sent to Kentucky for a cook, yclept Mandy. They knew her name, but that was all; they did not even know for sure which train would bring her, and she knew just as little about them. But, according to reports, she was a wonderful cook who could play culinary selections on a gas stove just by ear, producing Southern dishes of rare quality and fragrance. She was too good a cook to lose, and she was not accustomed to finding street addresses in strange cities.

And that was the reason why the dignified congressman went to all the trains and cried out, every time he saw an able-bodied colored woman: "Right this way, Mandy; I'll take care of you!"

About half of the United States senators are as whimsical as a bunch of soubrettes. If they go into the senate restaurant for their noon day rations and have to wait many moments before the food supplies come, they grow extremely fretful and do not know what to do with their hands.

One day there happened to be a big dish of apples on a table in the private senatorial dining room, where all could help themselves. A number of senators did help themselves and sat peeling their apples while awaiting the arrival of their other food, as contentedly as a child with a new picture book. So long as a senator had an apple to whittle, he was free from impatience.

Ever since then there has been a little dish of apples in the private dining room, and not once has there been complaint of slow service.

One bright morning when Senator Stone of Missouri was a small boy down in his native Kentucky, a couple of older boys asked him to join them in a little adventure, promising to show him something worth seeing. And they kept their word.

He followed them to the edge of a woods and across a little valley they could see several thousand men engaged in serious conflict. There sounded volleys of cannon and men fell dead and dying. The boys could not see all they wished to, for they dared not go any closer, but it was a sight Stone regards as the most noteworthy of his whole life.

It was the battle of Richmond, Ky.

John Sharp Williams stepped out of the senate chamber in response to the card of Bob Gates, who is a Washington correspondent of distinguished appearance and much political sapience.

Bob asked him a number of questions, and then, in parting, he asked: "By the way, senator, have you got a good cigar about you?"—putting the request under the head of unfinished business.

"No, I haven't but one left—and I just now bit the end off it preparatory to lighting it," replied John Sharp.

"If I'd just been a minute or two sooner—" suggested Bob.

"Not exactly," said the senator. "The fact is, when I started out here I bit the end off the cigar just for fear you might ask for it."

A Visit to Juliet's Home.

London Telegraph: "This was the home of the Capulets, from whom descended Juliet, for whom so many kind hearts have wept and of whom the poets have sung."

You read the words on a tablet by the side of a tall and slender gray house in a quiet street of Verona. A few steps further on the busy life of the old city is centered in the market place and in the one or two streets that lead from it.

You stand in front of the lightly built dwellings and you look at the slim balcony of wood from which bent forward the form of the radiant girl whose undying love story has echoed down the ages. It is an autumn day, and within the rail of the narrow framework some one has placed red flowers in tall green pots. A curtain at the little window moves in the breeze and you expect at any moment to see the dainty form of Juliet appear and to hear a rippling laugh fall from her lips.

A woman steps from the room beyond, through the open window and stands to listen. She has a child in her arms and he claps his hands, laughing and crowing, no doubt, just as the beloved Veronese did centuries ago. The mother hushes him, for she is intently listening to the market cries. In the midst of that everyday life walks the immortal Juliet.

Duluth and The Herald

Bouquets and Brickbats from the State Press.

They're Off.

Grand Marais News-Herald: "No community," says The Duluth Herald, "can boast that it has really returned to the simple life until the people habitually dance square dances to the 'Arkansas Traveler.'" So let us dance to the "Arkansas Traveler."

Good Advice.

Campbell News: In an editorial discussing parcel post, that excellent newspaper, The Duluth Herald, incidentally gives the country merchant some good advice how to neutralize any possible bad effects the parcel post may have upon his business.

The Ore Man Knows.

Hibbing Mesaba Ore: As a newspaper of veracity, The Duluth Herald has always held an A-1 position in our estimation until the story of the lumberjack who kept a pack of hungry wolves at bay for several hours, by lighting four cigars and smoking them all at once, appeared in its columns.—Northome Record.

We believe that story implicitly. We have suffered alleged cigars from afar, the fumes of which would kill bed bugs at close range, and it is probably that sort the lumberjack collected in the last place he visited before leaving for camp.

Important If True.

Stillwater Gazette: Duluth will not be deprived of being the custom center of Minnesota. The suggestion to remove the headquarters has met with such strenuous objection that the plan will be deferred, at least until Wilson takes the executive chair.

Funny Fact.

Cass Lake Times: Somehow the protected interests seem to think they ought to be given the same special privileges under the new administration that they have been enjoying under the old.—Duluth Herald.

Same as some of the Republican Federal office-holders who believe they should be retained under a Democratic administration. Funny, isn't it?

Poor "City Fellers."

Sandstone Tribune: We read in The Duluth Herald that the farmers around Hinckley are making a fortune by hauling "shipwrecked" city motorists into town. Pity the poor "city fellers."

Prosperity.

Brainerd Tribune: A Hibbing logger endeavored to secure 150 men for work in the woods at Duluth and was only able to round up six who wanted jobs at from $35 to $50 per month, twice as much as was offered a year ago.

Is Romance Dead?

Le Sueur News: Romance is dead! When the lover of Miss Lottie McDonald of Duluth appeared with a revolver and asked her to die with him, she knocked him down, kicked him in the ribs and took the revolver away.

Do You Fit Your Job?

H. F. J. Porter in the Survey.

Don't expect to find in strikes the greatest industrial waste; it will be found in the wrong employment of men. Out of ten men, probably only one fills the job that he ought to be filling; and out of ten jobs, probably only one is filled by the man who ought to be engaged for it.

Of all the statements made before the last conservation congress at Indianapolis this one left, perhaps, the strongest single impression upon the thousands of delegates who had gathered to consider the saving of vital resources. Every one felt that the plain unsupported statement needed no statistical evidence to give it weight. Common experience testified to its substantial correctness.

To grapple successfully with the delicate and perplexing task of the assignment of work will require increased effort along several lines. Vocational guidance is perhaps the most important. Genuine expert advice to young or prospective wage earners as to the work for which they are fitted is a social need of the greatest value. In response to recognized need, a science is developing for the discernment of latent talent. The men engaged in this work will have an increasing influence upon educational methods. Indeed the time is not far off when vocational guidance will begin with the kindergarten and when, as fast as a talent is discovered, it will govern the later emphasis in the education of the student. This will mean a gradual and rational induction of all pupils into special studies so that they will pass almost imperceptibly from general theory into the actual conduct of their life work.

But, at best, vocational guidance means only approximate judgments. There are many jobs within a vocation, and there are great numbers of men in each calling. A much closer articulation between worker and work is needed than a mere tactful steering of a talent into the kind of labor for which it is designed. Work within a vocation has infinite variations, and to secure every time the man who most nearly fits the requirements demands from the employer or his agent a special discernment. The science of hiring, of which we hear relatively little, is needed to supplement the science of vocational guidance.

A wider interest in these two complementary subjects, the science of guiding the worker and the science of selecting the employe, will go far toward eliminating the economic wastes from misfit employment. There are other remedies to be applied to this problem, however, which are of an equally fundamental nature. Sometimes a deserving man doesn't find the right job because he is miles away. To remedy this situation there must be a freer movement of labor and better means for spreading reliable information about the conditions of work in various localities. Little short of Federal government action or a national co-operation between state and municipal employment bureaus can provide such facilities.

Sometimes a man doesn't find the right job because he cannot afford to wait for it. Seasonal fluctuation in industry frequently throws capable people out of employment and forces them into work for which they are less fitted but in which they are often by economic necessity compelled to stay. The cure for this is a more complete industrial organization. A thoroughly organized industry by registering all of its members, by insuring them against temporary unemployment through funds to which employer and employe contribute equally, and by scheduling work so as to make the year's employment as nearly continuous as possible, will enable workers to choose their careers and to remain with them in increasing efficiency and contentment in their productive years.

Dinner Party Talk

James Montgomery Flagg in the American Magazine.

Conversation at a dinner party is necessarily an awful thing, the rule being that a pause on the part of any one of the contestants is a social lapse, and not to be tolerated.

If everybody by the laws of chance happens to be silent simultaneously (such dreadful lacunae do occur even at the most carefully cocktailed and subsequently alcoholized dinners), then your party loses and the dinner party next door wins.

Here are a few remarks that are being used this century:

"Yes, you begin at the outside and work towards your plate; that brings you out right."

"I had such a time separating husbands and wives—I guess you can stand sitting next to Walter for one evening, can't you? That was all because George didn't show up."

"I go to the theater to be amused. There's enough tragedy in real life."

"She lost eighty pounds in a week, but she looks like a hag now."

In magazine stories it is always "at a signal from the hostess the ladies rose and retired to the drawing room," as if friend hostess ran up a flag or yanked a semaphore.

You dive for the usual dropped handkerchiefs, the hostess wags a playful finger at you all and says: "Now don't stay in here for hours!"

The dullest moment has arrived.

The host struts about opening cigar boxes and liqueur bottles, just as if he felt quite at home.

You know exactly how the poor lump feels. You are sorry for him—a little. You know how hard it is trying to appear natural, hospitable and gay, and how he hasn't anything to say and pretending he has van-loads of cute remarks up his sleeve.

Later, when the maid says your car is at the door your hostess says sweetly, "Must you go? Well, you won't mind dropping Miss Bulke on you way, will you?"

"Oh, too delighted! Where do you live, Alma?"

"One Hundred and Seventy-ninth street! But you're sure it won't be taking you out of your way?"

"Not at all—we live in Thirty-seventh street!"

Miss Bulke is so chatty and entertaining as we take her up to Newburgh!

FOR DANDRUFF, FALLING HAIR OR ITCHY SCALP—25 CENT "DANDERINE"

Save Your Hair! Danderine Destroys Dandruff and Stops Falling Hair at Once—Grows Hair, We Prove It.

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous you must use Danderine, because nothing else accomplishes so much for the hair.

Just one application of Knowlton's Danderine will double the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, don't hesitate, but get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine. If eventually—why not now? A 25 cent bottle will truly amaze you.

BOND IS NOT APPROVED

Fred J. Mooney Will Not Be Released From Prison Yet.

District Attorney at Chicago Refuses to Accept Securities Offered.

Fred J. Mooney, the Duluth man convicted in the dynamite cases, will not be released from Fort Leavenworth prison just yet.

Mooney's bond, submitted to District Attorney Miller at Chicago yesterday, was rejected and sent back to Duluth for amendment. The action was taken because the sureties had limited their liability by stipulation. District Attorney Miller said he would not accept any bail where the signers attempted to limit their legal responsibility.

In the state of Minnesota, sureties on a criminal bond are required to assume a liability of twice the amount of the bond. The Mooney bond was probably made out on that basis, without District Attorney Miller's attitude being known.

W. E. McEwen, who was active in securing Mooney's bond, said today that he would immediately get into touch with Chicago and find out just what is wanted. He said he has assurance that cash bail can be obtained and a surety bond issued if that is satisfactory, or the stipulation as to liability may be removed.

Mrs. Mooney said she did not understand just what was meant by the rejection of the bond, but that she would confer with the United States commissioner and take steps to have the defect remedied.

board shall send the result to the secretary of state, contains this language: "But such return shall also show the result of such vote in such proposed new county, independently of the remaining part of the parent county."

Section 8, which provides for a canvassing of the returns by a state canvassing board, contains these words: "And if any such certificate shows that such proposition has received a majority of the votes cast therein in each county to be affected thereby, and that a majority of the votes cast upon the proposition within the territory comprising such proposed new county were in favor of such proposition, the governor, within ten days thereafter, shall issue his proclamation declaring the same adopted."

Perhaps this does not mean that only those voting in the proposed new county will have any voice in the matter; but some of the lawyers who have examined the bill declare that this is precisely what it does mean.

The ostensible object of the bill is to make it easier to divide a county—particularly St. Louis county—by providing that only the question of division shall be submitted at the first election, which may be a special election.

Only One Question at a Time.

But the bill goes farther than that and provides that in no case shall more than one proposition be submitted at the same election.

Under the terms of the bill a county division election can be brought about by a petition signed by 25 per cent of the voters of a county. If a general election is due within six months of the filing of the petition with the secretary of state, the question is to be decided at the next general election. If not, it is made the duty of the governor to direct the county auditor to call a special election.

If division carries, the change of boundaries becomes immediately effective. Within ten days the county auditor is to call a special primary election in the new county, to nominate candidates for county commissioner, auditor, treasurer, superintendent of schools, register of deeds, clerk of court, county attorney, sheriff, judge of probate, surveyor, coroner and court commissioner, and to pass upon the location of the county seat. Such special primary election is to be not less than thirty days nor more than forty days after the filing of the order.

This election held, it is necessary to hold still another, this time to elect five commissioners at large and the rest of the county officers enumerated above. The names of the two communities having the highest number of votes at the primary election are to be placed on the ballot for this third election. Thereafter the new county is in legal existence, and the old county must divide up its property with the new one.

the building were not in hand, no way to provide them had been shown. Besides, the state board of control would have the handling of the matter, and he thought the board could be depended upon to erect and equip the building at the lowest possible cost.

The bill will have to be passed upon by the appropriations committee before it is finally enacted.

Suggestions by Iverson.

At a joint meeting of the finance committee of the senate and the appropriations committee of the house, held yesterday afternoon, State Auditor Iverson made two interesting suggestions which the committee will act upon at a meeting to be held next Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Iverson's first suggestion was that all standing appropriations be wiped out, so that at each session the legislature would have to provide a complete new budget covering every item of public expense. As it is now, part of the state's expenses are provided for by continuing appropriations, and the rest by biennial appropriations. Mr. Iverson thought it would be better business to have a new budget every session, and thought the committee did not act upon his suggestion, most of the members seemed to agree with him.

His other suggestion related to the fees by which a number of state bureaus, like the game and fish commission, the dairy and food department, etc., are supported in whole or in part. He thought that instead of leaving these fees to the departments to which they are paid, they should all go into the general revenue fund, and the legislature should in its biennial budget make proper provision for all the departments by direct appropriation.

This suggestion, too, seemed to meet with the approval of many of the members, and it will be acted upon next Tuesday.

The house committee on dairy products and livestock will have a public hearing tomorrow afternoon on the oleomargarine bill and the cold storage regulation measure.

Public Utility Bills.

Three bills providing for the state regulation of public utilities and a number of "blue sky" bills were considered yesterday afternoon by the senate committee on general legislation.

Each subject with the bills relating to it was referred to a sub-committee with the chairman of the general committee, Senator Gunderson, to act as chairman of each sub-committee.

The members of the sub-committee to consider the state regulation of public utilities are Senators Gunderson, George H. Sullivan, Fosseen, Cheadle and Rockne. The bills before it are those by Senator Rockne, whose measure reaches only telephones; Senator Murray, whose measure is a complete public utility bill modeled on the New Jersey law; and Senator Wallace, who adopted as his model the successful Wisconsin law.

The senate committee on general legislation will give a public hearing Feb. 5 on the Moonan-Nelson bill giving property owners the right to sue for damages from public service corporations who occupy adjacent streets, alleys or other highways. The bill has special reference to high-power electric wires.

Distance Tariff Bill.

The H. H. Dunn distance tariff bill will be given a public hearing in the house chamber next Wednesday evening. This was decided at a meeting of the house committee on transportation held yesterday afternoon. Mr. Dunn said he was ready to proceed, but some of the opponents of the bill wanted more time.

Mr. Dunn stated that he was preparing and would offer an amendment to his bill giving it more flexibility so as to reach the short haul and long haul situation. Under the straight distance tariff principle, many fear, the effect would be to destroy competition where two points are connected by a long line and a short line, because if the long line met the short line's rate it would have to lower its rates correspondingly on its other lines. The effect of this, it was thought, would be practically to kill off the long line, and with it the towns situated upon it. The plan is to give the railroad and warehouse commission power to let the long line meet the short line's rate without affecting its rates on other lines.

J. H. Beck of the St. Paul Jobbers' association was present, and stated that he was authorized to appear for Winona against the bill, and that other outside communities wished to be heard in opposition.

Gilman-Coates Contest.

The contest of former Lieutenant Governor Charles A. Gilman against J. H. Coates, the sitting member from the Benson county district, was taken up yesterday afternoon by the house committee on elections, N. J. Holmberg, chairman.

Governor Gilman was represented by James H. Mayhury and Representative Coates by Former Senator Ripley P. Brower.

Coates was given his certificate with a plurality of eight votes. A recount was brought about, and what resulted from it is the matter in issue between the parties. Gilman's attorney asserted that the undisputable count gave Gilman a lead of one vote, with seven ballots set aside as possibly irregular. The Gilman side asserts that all but one of these should be counted for Gilman, if at all.

The Coates side claims, somewhat less definitely, that the undisputed votes are a tie, with eight ballots to be passed upon, most of them invalid; and that the net result is a plurality of one vote for Coates.

The bill introduced in the senate yesterday by Senator Peter Van Hoven of St. Paul, requiring the state to pay local improvement assessments against property exempt from assessment, because of the railroad gross earnings tax, would, if enacted, right a long-standing injustice.

Except where a railroad agrees to pay assessments as a consideration for its access to a community, its property is entirely exempt from assessments for local improvements, no matter how much the railroad is benefited by these improvements. The entire tax goes to the state, and it is in lieu of all other taxes and assessments.

While the large cities are the greatest sufferers from this condition, Duluth at least as much as any, practically all of the smaller communities are affected similarly.

Senator H. W. Cheadle yesterday renewed his acquaintance with Theodore M. Krumseig, a well known former alderman of Duluth. Mr. Krumseig lives in Milwaukee now, and he was in St. Paul to lay away the remains of his wife, who died lately, in the family burying plot here.

BELIEVED IT DUTY TO GET LETTERS

said Mr. Mooney, "that it would have been entirely proper for me to buy original letters containing matter of such a criminal character. I did not want them, however, and I did not care to have them remain in my possession or in the paper's possession."

Mr. Mooney denied the statement in affidavit by Charles Stump, presented to the committee last week, that "Mr. Chamberlain and Mr. Mooney" had inspected letter books taken from the Standard Oil offices. He said he never saw any such books and that he had never negotiated with Mr. Chamberlain for any letters. He added further that he had never talked with Mr. Hearst about the correspondence and had never bought any of the originals.

Mr. Mooney branded the statement that $34,000 was paid for copies of the Standard Oil letters as an "absurdity," when asked for his judgment as to the statement that $4,500 was paid, Mr. Mooney replied that from a news point of view, that price would not have been excessive.

The committee took an indefinite recess.

In response to the recall by the senate of the Moonan resolution providing for investigation and action by a joint committee on the governor's recommendation for a reorganization of state departments, the house recalled the resolution from the committee on public accounts and expenditures and sent it back to the senate.

Bills Introduced.

The following new bills came in:

Senator Benson—Proposing constitutional amendment providing for educational qualifications for candidates for county superintendent of schools.

Senator Clague—Extending local option on liquor licenses to fourth-class cities.

Senator Wilson—Providing for double electrical steel lined vaults and alarm systems for the offices of the state treasurer and superintendent of banks.

Representative Ribenack—Increasing the limit of county aid to humane societies from $1,200 a year to $2,400.

Representative Larson — Requiring berry boxes to be of full size.

Representative Skartum — Appropriating $50,000 for each of the next two years for state aid in building county tuberculosis sanatoria, and imposing a state tax for four-tenths of a mill for the next four years for this purpose.

Representative Hafften—Prohibiting fraud in the sale of commercial stock and poultry foods.

Representative Steen—Creating the office of state plumbing inspector.

Representative Conley—A new commission plan law for cities other than of the first class.

Representative Norton — Requiring full crews on trains.

Representative Conley—Reorganizing the state fire marshal's office.

Representative H. H. Dunn—Giving owners of abutting property the right to collect damages from public service corporations which erect poles and wires in highways.

Representative Swensen — Making road overseers appointive by town boards instead of elective.

DON'T GROW BALD, YOUNG MAN!

Take Care of Your Hair While You Have Hair to Take Care Of.

It's a safe ten to one bet that the young man who uses Parisian Sage as an occasional hair dressing will never grow bald.

There's a reason, of cours, and it's a very good and sufficient one.

Dandruff germs cause falling hair and falling hair means thinner hair and in due time baldness.

Parisian Sage prevents baldness, by destroying the cause of baldness—the little persistent vociferous dandruff germ.

If you have dandruff or itching scalp it means that dandruff germs are sapping the vitality from the roots of your hair. Get rid of all hair troubles by using Parisian Sage. It does not contain poisonous sugar of lead or any harmful ingredients. It is a scientific preparation that abolishes dandruff, stops falling hair and scalp itch, and makes hair grow lustrous and luxuriant.

Many young women as well as men are growing bald and from the same cause—the dandruff germ.

Use delightful, refreshing Parisian Sage; it nourishes the hair roots, if the roots are not dead, and brings to every user a head of glorious hair—radiant and fascinating. Large bottle for 50 cents at drug stores and toilet counters. See that you get Parisian Sage.

Boyce Drug Store guarantees it.

COMPANY C TO HAVE BANQUET

Members and Officers to Gather at Commercial Club Tuesday.

A banquet and smoker will be held by the members of Company C of the Minnesota National Guard on Tuesday evening, Jan. 28, at the Commercial club. The affair is in the hands of a committee consisting of Lieut. Roy K. Carpenter, chairman; Sergeants A. K. Wheaton and A. W. Gasper; Corporals H. C. Foster and F. E. Smith, and Private J. Strauss.

SUSTAIN ACTION OF UNION OFFICERS

Chicago Tugmen Expelled for Rejecting Their Wage Agreement.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 23.—The licensed Tugmen's Protective association, in annual convention here, voted last night to sustain the action of the organization's officers in expelling Chicago local No. 2, whose members last May rejected the conference agreement and quit work on the Great Lakes Towing company's fleet. Two days had been spent in discussing the case.

DISORDERS INCREASE IN CHINESE PROVINCE.

Amoy, China, Jan. 23.—The disorderly elements in the province of Fu-Kien have become so formidable that the authorities are unable to cope with them. In the neighborhood of Hinghwa traffic has become unsafe except for very strong parties and these are compelled to keep to the principal roads.

Piracies are very frequent on the Dragon river, even large vessels being attacked. A junk chartered by an American oil company was boarded by pirates today and the captain killed.

Bemidji Bowlers' Plans.

Bemidji, Minn., Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Efforts are being made here to organize either a five-man or two-man bowling team to compete at the fifth annual international tournament in Minneapolis, Feb. 15 to 24. Within the last eleven days forty scores of 200 or better have been made by Bemidji bowlers. Of these, Gene Holmes has the record, 275. Mayne Stanton comes second with 252 and George Donaldson third, with 234. These men are suggested as good representatives.

Another Butte Will Contest.

Butte, Mont., Jan. 23.—Undue influence in aiding an aged woman in drawing up her will is alleged by the guardians of Miss Dorothy Williams in her suit to set aside the will of Mrs. Rachel Williams, who bequeathed an estate valued at $100,000 to Andrew J. Davis, president of the First National bank of this city, who is rated as a multi-millionaire. Dorothy Williams, who was granddaughter of Mrs. Williams and her only alleged heir at law, was left $500.

TRAVEL TO CANAL ZONE

Steamship Agent Says Panama Is Popular as Winter Resort.

Heavy Ocean Travel Good Indication of National Prosperity.

Panama is not slow in coming to the front as a winter resort, according to C. A. Okstad of Minneapolis, Northwestern traveling passenger agent for the White Star-Dominion and other steamship lines, who was a visitor in Duluth yesterday.

In his opinion, Panama's winter recreation spots are gaining in popularity over the older established winter resorts of Florida, California and the Southwest. The newly developed country, he claims, is becoming the favorite for those who go South to spend the winter months.

Steamship travel, Mr. Okstad advises, is particularly heavy between New York and the Panama canal during the winter months. The steamers Laurentic and Megantic of the White Star line make this trip each month, and on each occasion the passenger list has been filled several days before the sailing date.

Bookings for an Easter cruise on the Laurentic from New York to Panama, the West Indies and South America are now being made. The boat will sail on Wednesday, March 12, and will be on the cruise for twenty-seven days.

Steamship Travel Heavy.

Steamship travel in general has been better this winter than ever before, according to Mr. Okstad. This is especially noticeable, he declares, in the winter Mediterranean tourist trade, which has been the heaviest this year in the history of the transoceanic transportation companies.

"This is generally conceded," he said, "to be an indication of good times. The fact that there is more ocean travel from the United States shows that people have money to spend for such a purpose, and furnishes proof that the people are more prosperous than they have been for some time past."

Besides the White Star-Dominion steamship lines, Mr. Okstad is also Northwestern traveling passenger agent for the American line, Holland-America line, Red Star line, Atlantic Transport company and Leyland line. He spent the day in the city yesterday among the local railroad and steamship line offices.

RUSE FAILED TO SAVE HIM

James Powers Coolly Plays Pool While Officers Search for Him.

James Powers, colored saloon porter, didn't save himself from arrest, but he fooled the police for a time by knocking balls about a pool table in a negro club on Michigan street last evening while the officers were searching the place for him.

Powers was arrested on a charge of attempted assault. It is claimed that he drew a knife on William ("Butch") Kennelly and Frank Belanger as the two came out of the Home restaurant on Superior street near First avenue east. Kennelly gave chase and saw the negro run into the Jefferson club. He notified the police and a search of the place was started.

When the officers entered the place the other players left the tables, but Powers continued to wield his cue. The police went through all the rooms and then took Powers in charge. He was identified by Kennelly as the would-be assailant. Kennelly is bartender at the Astoria saloon and Belanger farms near Lakeside.

JUDGE RULES AGAINST JUNKET

Jurors Will Not Visit Farm to Decide Condemnation Case.

In district court yesterday, Judge Dancer ruled against a visit of a petit jury to the farm of Hendrick Dorffi at Midway, where first hand information could be obtained on points involved in a lawsuit now on trial. The action is an appeal from an award of condemnation commission for damages for land taken for right-of-way purposes by the Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific railroad.

The condemnation board allowed $2,400 for the right-of-way through Dorffi's farm. Dorffi wants this figure raised to $6,000. The survey was made and the condemnation proceedings started three years ago. Washburn, Bailey & Mitchell, attorneys for the railroad, asked the court to allow the jury to visit the farm.

The railroad attorneys declared that they would bear part of the expense in hiring an engine and caboose in making the trip. One of the jurors asked for a passenger coach, but was informed by counsel for the railroad that the company couldn't spare it. Judge Dancer ended the discussion by ruling against the junket.

John Jenswold, Jr., is attorney for Dorffi.

Fat Is Ridiculous

Overfat men and women, mortified and humiliated by the publicity of conspicuous rolls and billows of fat, are gradually learning that through the discovery of an eminent physician the burden of overfatness is taken from them, leaving the figure attractively proportioned, the flesh firm, the skin smooth, and the general health vastly improved, without dieting, exercise or resulting wrinkles or flabbiness. There is no equal and no substitute for the famous Marmola Prescription, but there is a new and more convenient form—a tablet form of this safe fat remover. Marmola Prescription Tablets contain the same harmless, effective ingredients as the original prescription that has enabled so many thousands of uncomfortable men and women to reduce their weight evenly and steadily at the rate of a pound or more a day. An exceptionally large case of these Marmola Prescription Tablets is sold by all druggists at 75c or sent you direct by the Marmola Co., Farmer Bldg., Detroit Mich., on receipt of price.

For many years piano manufacturers and dealers have tried to reduce the selling expense of pianos, the old way of paying solicitors, paying teachers' commissions and engaging great artists to play their pianos at fabulous sums are being eliminated and now it is the question of the best advertised piano, and one in which the purchasers are given the greatest possible value. This is the age of co-operation and the manufacturers correctly believe that the best way to market and introduce their product is to spend the advertising money in making special offers to the people rather than employing world-famous demonstrators at fabulous expense and making the people pay for such methods by asking a heavy price for the piano.

JURY DELIBERATED TWENTY-FIVE HOURS

Discharged By Judge Dancer After Failing to Reach Agreement.

Judge Dancer at 5 o'clock last evening discharged a jury which reported a disagreement in the $25,000 personal injury suit brought by Andrew Ekola against the Northern Pacific railroad. The jury had been out twenty-five hours.

The case went to trial Wednesday, last week. Ekola asked damages for alleged permanent injuries resulting from being thrown off a moving passenger train. Plaintiff asserted that he had been invited to ride on the train by a brakeman named James Ross. Near the station of Hugo, Ekola claimed the brakeman threw him off. He alleged that he sustained a broken leg and other bodily injuries.

NO CELEBRATION OF ST. PATRICK'S DAY.

Hibernian societies will not celebrate St. Patrick's day this year, as March 17 comes in Holy Week. In the past the Duluth lodge has not had any special celebration, but many local members have gone to Superior, where the day has been commemorated with special ceremonies. The "wearing of the green" is no violation, and shamrocks will be in evidence in customary profusion.

WOMAN'S BURNS FATAL.

Mrs. Greene of Stanton, N. D., Dies in Bismarck Hospital.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 23.—Mrs. Carrie A. Greene, aged 44, who was brought here about a month ago from Stanton, N. D., for treatment at a hospital for burns received in a fire at her home died two days ago.

She suffered intensely from the burns she received, and, although she had the best of medical attention and careful nursing, the extent of her injuries was such that very little encouragement for her recovery could be given from the outset.

The body, accompanied by her husband, her brother, and her brother-in-law, was taken to East Troy, Pa., for interment.

VISITING NURSES DOING GOOD WORK.

Visiting nurses at Hibbing and Virginia are doing splendid work in the handling of tuberculosis cases and the checking of the spread of the dread disease, according to Dr. C. J. Woolway, poor farm medical superintendent.

The nurses, he says, do excellent work in the range towns where foreigners are taken ill and are likely to remain so for many weeks before their true condition is known.

There are now but sixteen cases of tuberculosis being treated at the county poor farm sanitarium.

SEEK LODGE ORGANIZER.

Odanah, Wis., and Other Points Are Anxious to Find W. T. Meade.

Odanah, Wis., Jan. 23.—W. T. Meade, who aided in organizing Owl lodges at Odanah, Saxon and Hurley is a much wanted man according to report. After he got through his work at Odanah, it was found that he had collected quite a sum of money which he failed to turn over to the proper lodge officer and a tracer was sent out for him but he kept ahead of the police officers who are after him.

He has been heard of at South Bend, Ind., where he worked the same game and the police of that city have offered a reward of $100 for his capture.

At last accounts, however, he has decamped for Canada and has worked his little game at Fort William but moved on before being arrested.

CO-EDS BREAK RULES.

So North Dakota U Sophomore-Freshman Party Is Cancelled.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Violation of coeds in the University of North Dakota of rules has resulted in cancelling the date for the sophomore-freshman party scheduled for Saturday night.

At a meeting of the freshmen class it was found that a large percentage of the girls in the two classes had been caught in violations of campus and dormitory rules, and to them such frivolities as parties are denied. The class accordingly decided that a party would not be worth while without girls, and postponed the event till next semester when, it is expected, the ban now existing will be raised.

New Richmond $10,000 Fire.

New Richmond, Wis., Jan. 23.—The plant of the Vanmeter-Welch Printing company was destroyed by fire early Wednesday. The loss was $10,000, only partially insured. The News and Republican-Voice, semi-weekly, will be published temporarily from the office of the Star Observer in Hudson, which is owned by the same company.

CAUSE OF DRINK HABIT NOT UNDERSTOOD

Drinking Men Are Considered Either Wilful or Afflicted With a Disease.

The terms "alcoholism" and "drink habit" mean that the drinker of alcoholic liquors is poisoned with an insidious cumulative poison—alcohol—which dominates his whole being and will do so just so long as a trace of alcohol remains in the system. This poison can be easily and quickly eliminated and its effect neutralized by the modern Neal Three-Day Treatment, which is a harmless, vegetable remedy, administered internally—no hypodermic injections.

For full particulars regarding the Neal Liquor and Drug Habit Treatment call at the Neal Institute, corner Belknap and West Seventh street, Superior, Wis.; St. Paul Institute, 676 Dayton avenue; Minneapolis Institute, 403 South Seventh street.

TRAPPED BY A TRAP DOOR —By C. L. SHERMAN

This Week's Sunday School Lesson

WRITTEN FOR THE HERALD BY REV. J. S. KIRTLEY, D. D.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON, JAN. 26.

Genesis iv, 1-15: Cain and Abel.

CONNECTION.

After the sin of the man and the woman we may expect any development in the way of sin, both against man and God. Here is the first outbreak into murder. They had been expelled from the garden, but were still in the territory known as Eden, in which the paradise or park was located. Where they lived and how they did we have no means of knowing. The purpose of the writer was to give the religious life of man and he takes up no details that are not on that point. There were good as well as bad boys and girls born to them. Two tendencies are manifest. Seth was one of the better. The ages of the first two boys, when this tragedy was enacted, are not given.

THE LESSON.

"And the man knew Eve, his wife; and she conceived, and bare Cain, and said, I have gotten a man with the help of Jehovah. And again she bare his brother, Abel. And Abel was a keeper of sheep; but Cain was a tiller of the ground. And in process of time it came to pass that Cain brought of the fruit of the ground an offering unto Jehovah. And Abel, he also brought of the firstlings of his flock and of the fat thereof. And Jehovah had respect unto Abel and to his offering; but unto Cain and to his offering he had not respect. And Cain was very wroth, and his countenance fell. And Jehovah said unto Cain, Why art thou wroth? and why is thy countenance fallen? If thou doest well, shalt it not be lifted up? and if thou doest not well, sin coucheth at the door; and unto thee shall be its desire; but do thou rule over it. And Cain told Abel, his brother. And it came to pass, when they were in the field, that Cain rose up against Abel, his brother, and slew him."

1. CHILDREN.—The man and woman lived to an old age and three sons are mentioned, also daughters. On the birth of the first Eve was pleased and gave him a name which means "possession" or "acquisition," and, in saying "with the help of Jehovah," she recognized God's providence in her motherhood. She was evidently penitent for her sin and was a trustful child of God. The second son was given a name meaning "Vapor" or "Vanity" in anticipation of some calamity which would terminate his life or the name was given after his death. Adam and Eve must have taught the children to worship God in the ways they had been taught by God or had worked out under His providence. They were probably doing the best they could.

2. BROTHERS.—The two brothers were just as different as we often find two brothers now. The difference was in their characters and points of view. Their callings were both good, Cain a farmer, Abel a herdsman. Man was mingled good and bad and the two tendencies are here embodied in the two brothers. Somehow the habit of making offerings to God had started, as it kept up among all of Adam's descendants. The word "offering" might mean with, or without, blood. They had the idea that sins were to be confessed in that way. It was possible to offer something merely as a compliment to God. Abel's was accepted because he had the right attitude toward God, Cain's rejected for the opposite reason. Cain was defiant, vicious, self-reliant; Abel was trustful, with a sense of sin and humility. Cain made a present to God from the fruit of the soil, a present He was always glad to receive when it was done in the right spirit; Abel offered a sacrifice for sin, "the firstlings," in recognition of God's ownership, and the fat, the choicest part. It was Cain rather than the offering that was rejected; it was Abel that was accepted. He "looked upon" the latter, which mean approval, but turned away from the former in disapproval. Both knew what God thought of them.

3. JEALOUSY.—Anger cast its shadow on his face — "countenance fell." He hated God and he hated his brother for no other reason than that he was better than Cain. The habitually vicious hate those who are better, especially if their goodness shows up their evil more clearly. When reproved for it by God he was still more angry. God fixes responsibility on him by telling him that if he will still do well he could again lift up his countenance, but that, if he persists in his jealousy, there is a growling beast watching at his door whose desire is for him, to destroy him entirely, but that he could get command of that beast; he must strike first.

4. ASSASSINATION.—It was stealthy. Cain told his brother—there the story stops, for what he said is lost, but the supplied word is probably "let us go out to the quiet country." It was not a fight but stealthy murder, planned with satanic skill and vindictiveness.

II.

Condemnation and Punishment. 9-15.

"And Jehovah said unto Cain, Where is Abel thy brother? And he said, I know not; am I my brother's keeper? And He said, What hast thou done? the voice of thy brother's blood crieth unto Me from the ground. And now cursed art thou from the ground, which hath opened its mouth to receive thy brother's blood from thy hand; when thou tillest the ground, it shall not henceforth yield unto thee its strength; a fugitive and a wanderer shalt thou be in the earth. And Cain said unto Jehovah, My punishment is greater than I can bear. Behold Thou hast driven me out this day from the face of the ground; and from Thy face shall I be hid; and I shall be a fugitive and a wanderer in the earth; and it will come to pass, that whosoever findeth me will slay me. And Jehovah said unto him, Therefore whosoever slayeth Cain, vengeance shall be taken on him sevenfold. And Jehovah appointed a sign for Cain, lest any finding him should smite him."

1. DEFIANCE.—The first effect of the crime was the death of all sense of brotherhood. Cain was now an unnatural brother. As a result of that he lied to God, twice. He knew where Abel was; he knew that he was his brother's keeper. There is something in any brother that makes him feel that he is his brother's protector in danger, his keeper. To deny the brother is to defy the Father. No one can think wrongly of his fellows and think right of God.

2. EXPOSURE.—There was no way of keeping it secret. The life of the dead brother as symbolized by his blood would tell the secret from the ground which that blood had incarnadined. Not many murders have ever remained unexposed. One of Cain's punishments was the exposure. Even if it could be concealed from men it would be as clear as day to God. The man who sins is dealing with God.

3. BANISHMENT.—His personal punishment was to be driven out of that territory called Eden and compelled to change his calling from that of farmer to something else, probably city builder. No permanent physical change came over the earth on account of sin, but from there was no more of the old employment, it was the same as if the earth was stricken with barrenness.

4. UNPROTECTED.—In the old ages each man was supposed to be protected by the clan to which he belonged, but thrown out from all his early associates, for there were children and grandchildren and a growing posterity to Adam and Eve, Cain would have no one to defend him, and would be in danger of death at the hands of any one in the future who would learn that he was a murderer. But God was more merciful than Cain feared and made up to him what the clan would have supplied and put on his forehead, or on his person somewhere, some "sign" that would serve the purpose of the clan sign, so that those who met him would know that he was protected. Any one who took blood revenge on Cain would have God to deal with. God Himself was taking care of that case and He says "Vengeance is mine; I will recompense." No one has the right of private revenge. It was too late to say "my punishment is greater than I can bear."

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

You have sinned and suffered for your sin. You have asked your heavenly Father to forgive you and He has forgiven you. But still you suffer. Woman, be thankful that you can suffer. The worst trouble in the world is the trouble that does not know God and so does not suffer—Deland.

Cain typifies the class of men who argue that if they follow the light of their own reason, as best they can, they do not need the help of the Bible or church. That is exactly what African fetishism is doing and Hindu immolations, and Burman cruelties, and the atrocities of savage cannibalism. That's what the ancient Hawaiians did with their deadly tabu and horrible infanticide. As a matter of fact, the man in a Christian land who claims that he is following his own light isn't doing anything of the sort; in so far as he is possessed of a light, he has borrowed it from centuries of Christian ancestry and civilization. Why not quit navigating by the moonshine and take his reckoning from the Sun of Righteousness?—Cowan.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

1.—How is it that a person can be happy after sinning?

2.—What is the best thing to do with a wayward boy at the start?

3.—Has any one the right to lay his sin on any one else?

4.—Why is it that the wrongdoer always gets mad at the one who exposes him, instead of at himself?

5.—Does any sin take one beyond the reach of God's mercy?

JAMESTOWN WANTS COUNCIL OF U. C. T.

Jamestown, N. D., Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—A movement has been launched here for the organization of a council of the United Commercial Travelers. Should the movement be successful, this city would have the fifth council in the state, there being such organizations now in Grand Forks, Bismarck, Fargo and Minot.

CLOSING THE LAST GAP

Only a Short Stretch of Grand Trunk Pacific to Be Built.

Will Be the Shortest of All Ocean-to-Ocean Routes.

When the Grand Trunk Pacific railway sometime next summer lays the last piece of steel on a stretch of new road between Hazelton, B. C., and Tete Jaune, a point 300 miles to the east, the shortest and most direct ocean to ocean railway route in Canada or the United States will be in readiness with a transcontinental service that cannot be excelled, if the predictions of W. J. Gilkerson of St. Paul, traveling passenger agent for the Grand Trunk system, are true. Mr. Gilkerson was a Duluth visitor yesterday.

The transcontinental route now near completion will be at least 300 miles shorter than any other having direct connections between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. The road is practically built but for a stretch of 300 miles on which construction is now in progress.

Prince Rupert, the western terminus of the road, says Mr. Gilkerson, is generally conceded to be one of the most magnificent harbors on the Pacific coast. From Prince Rupert, the railroad has been built east and inland to Hazeltown. West from Toronto, there are direct connections to Tete Jaune, a point within 300 miles of the Prince Rupert extension from the west coast. The connecting line, which is now being supplied, will furnish, he says, the last link in the newest and shortest transcontinental route.

The Grand Trunk, he says, now has a freight service to the present western terminus at Tete Jaune from Toronto. As soon as the new road is built between Tete Jaune and Hazeltown, the through passenger service will be immediately extended to the coast.

The Grand Trunk owns its own systems of hotels in the larger cities along its new line. The handsome Chateau Laurier at Ottawa, built at a cost of $2,500,000, and the Fort Rouge at Winnipeg, costing $3,000,000, are the most notable hostelries owned and controlled by the railroad. At Edmonton, a costly new hotel is also being built at the present time. It will be known as the McDonald.

The railroad also owns and controls a line of steamers, which ply between Prince Rupert and Seattle and which are popular in the tourist trade.

Mr. Gilkerson declares that from his observations immigration to the Northwest will be much heavier during the coming year than ever before. He also predicts that the completion of the Panama canal will divert much of the wheat traffic to the Western coast.

Shot By Mail Carrier.

Birmingham City, Utah, Jan. 23.—James M. Morris, postmaster at Rosette, Utah, was rushed here on a special train yesterday, having been shot and probably fatally wounded by William M. Cobia, a mail carrier. The men quarreled over some land Cobia had rented from Morris. Cobia was arrested. The shooting occurred in front of the postoffice.

HEAD ITCHED AND BURNED

Ears Swelled Up and Got Raw. Scratched In Sleep and Made Sores. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Now Well.

415 S. W. Boulevard, Rosedale, Kansas.—"My trouble commenced in my ears about fifteen years ago. My ears swelled up and got raw and ran a thick yellow mucus. There were small pimples that had a thin yellow fluid in them. When they broke the fluid ran down on my face and neck which poisoned the places. Sometimes this would all dry up and the flesh would be dry and hot and crack open in places. Then it would all break out again. It itched and burned dreadfully. I would lie awake nights for hours. I scratched in my sleep and made sores. Then that yellow fluid would come out of the sores. I suffered a great deal with my head itching and burning and it broke out in pimples around the edge of my hair on the back of my head.

"I used everything I heard of but got no relief, in fact got worse. My ears swelled two or three times their own size and turned almost black and I was in despair. A friend asked me if I had tried Cuticura Soap and Ointment, so I went and got a box of Cuticura Ointment and cake of Cuticura Soap and commenced. By the time I had used one box of Cuticura Ointment and one cake of Cuticura Soap I was well." (Signed) Mrs. Mary Conkling, Apr. 25, 1912.

ADMITS RAIL POOL EXISTED

Former President of Steel Corporation Before Commissioner.

Corey Furnishes Government With First Testimony in This Line.

New York, Jan. 23.—William Ellis Corey, former president of the United States Steel corporation, a witness in the Federal suit to dissolve the corporation under the Sherman anti-trust law, furnished the government with the first testimony it has been able to obtain in support of its allegation that the corporation participated in an international steel rail pool.

Mr. Corey followed Theodore Roosevelt on the stand after the latter had repeated his testimony given before the Stanley steel investigation committee concerning the acquisition of the Tennessee Coal & Iron company by the corporation during the panic of 1907.

Col. Roosevelt was examined at his editorial offices by Jacob M. Dickinson, former secretary of war, chief counsel for the government in this case.

Understanding Existed.

Mr. Corey testified in a room in a downtown office building. He said that as late as 1910 an understanding had existed with foreign rail manufacturers under which the Steel corporation agred to not compete with them in their own countries, and foreign manufacturers in turn agreed not to seek business in the United States.

"It was understood," said Mr. Corey, "that competition should be restricted to neutral markets, countries which did not produce steel rails."

Whether in these markets there was any understanding with foreign producers as to prices and a division of tonnages, the witness professed ignorance.

"Wasn't Mexico assigned to the United States Steel corporation?" asked Judge Dickinson.

"I could not say so," replied the witness.

"Was Mexico assigned to anyone?"

"I don't know about that."

Little to Do Personally.

Mr. Corey explained he had had little to do with making the arrangements himself, but had gained his knowledge from James A. Farrell, when in charge of the corporation's export business, who has since succeeded the witness as president of the corporation. Mr. Farrell, he said, had made trips abroad to discuss the matter with the foreign manufacturers.

Mr. Corey testified to the existence of a steel rail pool among American manufacturers as late as 1904, under which prices of rails were kept on an even keel and business divided. In this the Steel corporation proceeded, he said, and was reported at meetings by Judge Elbert H. Gary, Charles M. Schwab or himself. Mr. Corey testified further that one of the reasons the Union Steel company was taken over by the corporation was that "it was getting customers from the Carnegie company." The Union company, he said, had built twelve plants for the manufacture of steel by the open hearth process, at that time a new method. As soon as the corporation secured control, blast furnaces belonging to the Sharon company, a subsidiary of the Union, had been dismantled, he said.

MUST REDUCE WEIGHT.

Patrolman May Be Lieutenant By Taking Off 75 Pounds Weight.

Chicago, Jan. 23.—All Patrolman Kearney Driscoll has to do to become a lieutenant is to reduce his weight 75 pounds.

A fortnight ago the civil service commission told Driscoll that his 325 pounds was too great a weight for a man who might have to chase bandits at any time. He was suspended with the proviso that he would be reinstated when he had reduced twenty-five pounds.

Today he brought a certificate stating that his weight was only 296 pounds.

"Would you agree to take off 75 pounds more if it would make a lieutenant out of you?" inquired Commissioner Bower, mindful of the big man's long and faithful service.

"It's awful work, commissioner," replied Driscoll as he flapped the now too ample folds of his trousers and coat, "but you are a man of your word and I'm for promotion; I'll try it."

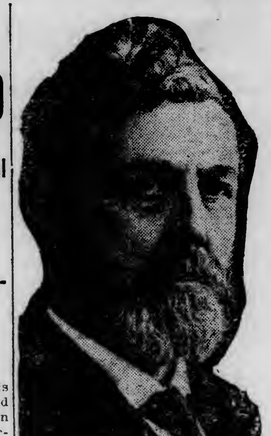

"BIG TIM" SULLIVAN FOUND INCOMPETENT.

New York, Jan. 23.—Timothy D. Sullivan, congressman-elect from this city, was adjudged as an incompetent by a sheriff's jury yesterday. Four physicians pronounced him incapable of carrying on his property, which is estimated at $1,000,000.

Mr. Sullivan has been a patient at a private sanitarium since last September. He is suffering from "maniacal depressive insanity," according to one of the medical witnesses, another of whom testified that a cure was "possible, but not probable."

In the East side, where Sullivan was born fifty years ago, and where he built up a strong political machine that elected him to the New York assembly four times, to the state senate four times, and to congress once previous to his election last fall, he is known as "Big Tim." He was the friend of the poor and it is said that he never turned a begging hand away without a coin.

Much of his estate consists of holdings in amusement enterprises and New York city real estate.

The DOCTOR'S ADVICE by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character; the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply to any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Kilwood Sts., Dayton, Ohio, enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

"Anxious Wife"—Give 10 to 15 drops of the following in water an hour before each meal and your child will soon be cured of bed-wetting: Comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz.; tincture cubebs, 1 dram; tincture rhus-aromatic, 2 drams.

"La Rue" writes: "For many years I have suffered with stomach and bowel trouble which has been caused by a severe case of catarrh. My blood is also in poor condition. What can be done for me?"

Answer: If you follow the directions given below you will soon be well and strong again. Obtain the following from any well-stocked drug store and mix by shaking well, then take a teaspoonful four times daily: Syrup sarsaparilla comp, 4 ozs., comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz., fluid ext. Buchu, 1 oz. Use in connection with this the following local treatment: Get a 2-oz. package of antiseptic vilane powder and make a catarrh balm by mixing one ounce of lard or vaseline with a level teaspoonful of the powder and use in the nostrils daily. Also make a wash of one pint of warm water and one-half teaspoonful of Vilane powder and use two or three times a day until the nostrils are thoroughly cleansed and your trouble will soon be gone.

"Elsie M." writes: "I have such short, stringy, straggling hair and my scalp is full of dandruff. Please advise what to do."

Answer: The best advice I can offer is simple. Get at a well-stocked drug store a 4 oz. jar of plain yellow minyol directions accompanying, and use it regularly. It promotes a healthy, vigorous growth of hair and cures dandruff, itching scalp, lusterless hair and stops falling hair. If the hair is harsh and straggling it restores a soft, fluffy appearance, and brings back the intense natural color.

"Hazelle" says: "I would certainly appreciate something that would increase my weight, and take away that languid feeling which I am subject to most of the time. My blood is weak and watery and my appetite is poor."

Answer: Your condition is very easily overcome if you will follow the directions given below. Ask your druggist for three-grain hypo-nuclane tablets and take according to the directions and your weight will increase. These tablets promote assimilation, absorption and aid digestion, transform the complexion and figure. They are prescribed by physicians and are perfectly harmless. They should be taken regularly for several months and you can depend upon gaining flesh and that languid feeling will vanish completely.

"D. E. G." writes: "My rheumatism is getting worse all the time. I am getting so stiff that it makes it very hard for me to get around."

Answer: Do not worry about your rheumatism as that can be very easily cured by using the following: Get at the drug store the ingredients named and mix thoroughly and take a teaspoonful at meal time and again at bed time and you will soon be entirely cured of that disagreeable disease, rheumatism. Purchase 2 drams of iodide of potassium; one-half ounce of wine of colchicum; 4 drams of sodium salicylate; 1 oz. comp. fluid balmwort; 1 oz. comp. essence cardiol; and 5 ozs. of syrup sarsaparilla. This has cured thousands and I am sure it will cure you.

"Musician" asks: "Can you tell me how to overcome a bronchial trouble which manifests itself after singing, by a tickling in the throat, hoarseness and a slight cough?"

Answer: Obtain a bottle of essence mentho-laxene and use it pure, or make into a cough syrup by mixing with ordinary granulated sugar syrup or honey. Directions for use and how to make accompany the package. It makes a full pint of effective pleasant cough syrup and cures all throat and bronchial trouble.

"Mrs. G. B." writes: "I suffer a great deal with stomach disorders. Heavy feeling after eating, heart palpitation, wind and gas on stomach, etc. Am restless and irritable. Afraid to eat a hearty meal. Sometimes great pain. I fear appendicitis."

Answer: The neglect of constipation and indigestion is the most frequent cause of appendicitis. It is better to prevent than to cure by an operation. I advise that you obtain tablets triopeptine and take according to directions accompanying sealed carton. They are pink, white and blue to be taken morning, noon and night respectively. I think many cases of appendicitis could be prevented by using triopeptine intelligently.

"Mrs. C. C." writes: "Can you prescribe a tonic for one who is sleepless, nervous, hysterical, thin and getting thinner. Have little appetite and am restless day and night."

Answer: The following if used for several weeks will gradually restore and strengthen your nervous system: Compound syrup of hypophosphites, 5 ozs.; tincture cadomene, 1 oz. (not cardamom). Mix, shake well and take a teaspoonful before each meal.

K. K. K. asks: "I am growing more stout as I get older and weigh 60 pounds too much now. I am alarmed and want to reduce. Please advise what to take?"

Answer: You need not be alarmed if you will begin taking 5-grain arbolene tablets. These tablets reduce usually at the rate of a pound a day after the first few days. Any druggist can supply them in sealed tubes with full directions.

"Poor H." writes: "My health is very poor on account of a long-standing constipation. I have to use pills or something all the time. Can you prescribe something to take that will cure chronic constipation?"

Answer: Constipation is probably the cause of more illness than any other thing. Most remedies only relieve the trouble and never cure. I always prescribe three-grain sulpherb tablets (not sulphur tablets), and have found them most reliable and gradually curative. They act pleasantly and tone up the bowels and liver, while purifying the blood.

LAWYER CHARGED WITH BRIBING HIS CLIENT.

New York, Jan. 23.—Edward J. Newell, a lawyer, is charged with having bribed his former client, George A. Sipp, to leave the jurisdiction of the New York courts when he was wanted some time ago as a witness against the police in an indictment handed down by the special grand jury investigating vice in New York.

Newell surrendered to the district attorney and was given until next Monday to enter a plea. Inasmuch as he had been a member of the bar twenty-five years, his bail was fixed at only $1,000. His alleged advice to Sipp was rejected and Sipp, who was a former hotel keeper, has testified several times before the grand jury concerning his dealings with the police.

GETS ANGRY AND CASTS $600 DIAMOND IN BAY.

San Francisco, Jan. 23.—Down in the murky depths of San Francisco bay lies a $600 diamond ring that now and again sparkled on the hand of Miss Irene Kelly. Between whiles its radiance was immured in pawn brokers' vaults.

Rudolph Wolb gave the ring to Miss Kelly. Whenever he missed it, she would give him the ticket and he would redeem the pledge. Tiring of this pastime after spending $200 in pursuit of the original $600, he cast the ring into the bay, and anybody can redeem it, he says, who wants to.

Miss Kelly was so indignant that she swore out a warrant charging Wolb with larceny.

OPENS UP NOSTRILS, CLEARS HEAD, ENDS COLDS OR CATARRH AT ONCE

Instantly Relieves Swollen, Inflamed Nose, Head, Throat--You Breathe Freely -- Dull Headache Goes--Nasty Discharge Stops.

Try "Ely's Cream Balm."

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it—Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning! the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake to-night struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucus dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.

ECZEMA

(Also called Tetter, Salt Rheum, Pruritus, Milk-Crust, Weeping Skin, etc.)

ECZEMA CAN BE CURED TO STAY, and when I say cured, I mean just what I say—C-U-R-E-D, and not merely patched up for awhile, to return worse than before. Remember I make this broad statement after putting twelve years of my time on this one disease and handling in the meantime nearly half of a million cases of this dreadful disease. Now, I do not care what all you have used, nor how many doctors have told you that you could not be cured—all I ask is just a chance to show you that I know what I am talking about. If you will write me TODAY, I will send you a FREE TRIAL of my mild, soothing, guaranteed treatment that will convince you more in a day than I or anyone else could in a months time. If you are disgusted and discouraged, just give me a chance to prove my claims. By writing me today you will enjoy more real comfort than you had ever thought this world holds for you. Just try it and you will see I am telling you the truth.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE—

Default has been made in the payment of the sum of Two Thousand One Hundred Eighty and no-100 Dollars ($2,180.00) which is claimed to be due, and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Stefan Smolinski and Stanislaw Urban, mortgagors, to G. A. Tomlinson, mortgagee, bearing date the 22nd day of July, 1911, and with a power of sale therein contained, which said mortgage was duly filed and registered in the office of the Registrar of Titles in and for the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, on the 15th day of August, 1911, at ten o'clock in the forenoon thereof, as document number 7461, and entered in Register of Titles number 38, on pages 183 and 184 thereof, as a memorial upon the certificates of title covering the mortgaged premises and numbered, respectively, 11750 and 11751;

Which said mortgage is upon and covers certain real estate therein and hereinafter described, which said real estate was, on the 21st day of April, 1909, pursuant to the order of the District Court, Eleventh Judicial District, County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, brought under the operation and provisions of an act concerning land titles, being Chapter 305 of the Laws of Minnesota for the year 1905 and all acts amendatory thereof, and the title to the same duly confirmed and registered by said Registrar of Titles, as in and by said act provided;

And no action or proceeding has been instituted at law, or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

NOW, THEREFORE, Notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the Statutes in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage and situated in said County of St. Louis, namely:

Lots Sixteen (16) and Seventeen (17), in Block Forty-seven (47), Gary, First Division, according to the recorded plat thereof, on file and of record in the office of the Registrar of Titles of St. Louis County, Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the Sheriff's office in the County Court-house, in the City of Duluth, in said County and State, on the 10th day of March, 1913, at ten o'clock in the forenoon thereof at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said mortgage indebtedness and interest and the taxes, if any, upon said premises, and Seventy-five Dollars attorneys' fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to the redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

ROYAL ROAD TO WEALTH SHOWN TO CREDULOUS

New System of Selling Washing Machines Captures Duluth Women.

Every "Investor" Has the Right to "Pass the Buck."

A golden road to wealth is opened to Duluth people, possessed of at least $150 and an ample supply of credulity, by the Domestic Utilities Manufacturing company, which has opened an office on Superior street.

You pay in $150, $500, $1,000, $2,500 or $5,000, according to the amount of money you can raise after the plausible lecturer has opened to your view the road to wealth, and then you get a cartload or a carload of washing machines, and a contract giving you the right to sell the machines, the right to hire sub-agents and the right to sell similar job lots and contracts to other people, if you are able to put up the same kind of an argument as the plausible agents doing business on Superior street.

The Domestic washing machine isn't what one might think a machine is. It consists of a stick resembling a broom or mop-handle, with a funnel-shaped contrivance that is made of material strongly resembling tin.

"Compressed air and suction do the business," says the plausible agent, and the contrivance really appears to do the business as the demonstration goes. But the people doing business on Superior street aren't greatly interested in selling machines one at a time at the retail price of $3.50 per. They are selling job-lots of machines accompanied by contracts.

Getting the Money.

It is a great scheme for getting the money and the people in charge of the Duluth office of the Domestic Utilities company are getting the money here, according to their own statements.

The smallest contract sold is $150. You get fifty of the machines, with the right to retail them at $3.50 each. In fact you must retail them at that price, if you retail them at all. You have the right to hire sub-agents to sell them for you and you can sit back and reap the profits. Additional machines cost you $1 each and you may also buy "at the manufacturer's price," wringers and ovens, which are also manufactured by the company.

Of course, if you don't want to sell the machines, you may "pass the buck" by convincing somebody else of the beauty of the plan and selling him a $150 contract, turn over the machines and get your money back, still retaining the right to buy additional machines at $1 each and to sell contracts.

The $5,000 investor is the big boy in the game. That term, "$5,000 investor," rolls off of the tongue of the plausible lecturer time after time. The "$5,000 investor" has the "right of succession." That is, he draws a percentage from all sales made by others to whom he sells contracts. But it isn't an endless chain. Dear no, for the line of succession breaks when some man to whom the "$5,000 investor" has sold a contract himself becomes a "$5,000 investor."

The $5,000 Investors.

There are "$5,000 investors" in Minneapolis, Chicago and many other cities, according to the people here, and they are all coining money. One poor little girl, who used to wait on table in a hotel on the coast, has made $97,000 in eighteen months. She pawned a diamond ring to get the first $150. Another girl made so much money in a school vacation that she quit her position and has kept on selling washing machines, or contracts.

"If you will show us one $5,000 investor who hasn't made $16,000 if he has been a $5,000 investor for a year, we will give you $5,000 worth of machines and a contract free," said the plausible lecturer to a Herald reporter.

Said another, when the profession of the visitor was learned, "If you will find a lawyer, who will point out anything illegal in this plan, we will give him $500 and give you $5,000."

The goods are actually delivered in the form of washing "machines," so the company has stood investigation so far as legality goes. The advisability of playing the game is still open to question. Somebody has to hold the bag at the finish, and it is pretty certain that a good many people will be holding it, shy a sum of money and possessed of a load of washing machines and a contract.

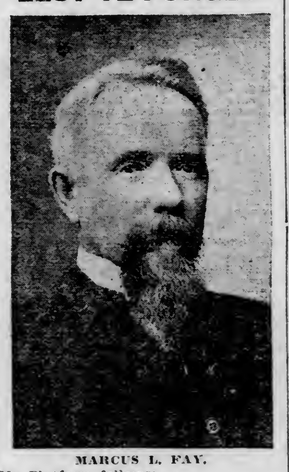

The people doing business in Duluth now aren't selling at retail now, but they are going to, they say. Likewise, they say they are thinking of putting up a factory in Duluth, sometime.

People who have attended the demonstrations says that women are carried along as at a revival meeting and that money is flowing into the coffers of the concern.

"LEST YE FORGET"

MARCUS L. FAY.

My Platform follows:

I believe it is wrong to enforce the excise or liquor laws against the few and allow the many to violate the same. I believe those laws were enacted to protect the rising generation now in our schools, and other generations yet unborn, from temptations being set in their pathway by the unlawful traffic in intoxicating beverages. Therefore, I believe that this law, and all other laws enacted for the purpose of preventing crime, should be enforced.

As our people have voted to bond the city for upwards of $700,000 for the purpose of constructing a lighting plant, I believe that these bonds, or part of them, should be disposed of and that said plant should be commenced at once and pushed to completion as fast as possible; thus enabling our city to light its streets and public buildings at 50 per cent of the present cost, and furnish light to consumers at 25 per cent less than what they now pay.

I hold that eight hours a day is long enough for any man to work for a day's pay, and that the city should follow the example set by the United States postal laws covering this point.

I oppose the letting of contracts for all city work except buildings, and believe that the city should require that this work be done by the day. In my opinion, this would work a saving to the property owners of from 50c to $1.00 per yard in paving, and the same percentage may be saved to them in the building of sewers, and that the new lighting plant can be put in much cheaper by the city direct than by contract; the power house alone excepted.

However, the leading issue in the coming campaign will be the strict and impartial enforcement of the liquor laws. The people should make all candidates for mayor or commissioner put themselves on record as to where they stand on this question. All candidates for mayor must take one side or the other. I prefer to stand for LAW ENFORCEMENT.

BILL TO PREVENT DISCRIMINATION

Measure Introduced in Wisconsin Legislature to That Effect.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 23.—Speaker Hull introduced an anti-discrimination bill which will prevent a corporation, partnership, firm or individual from selling the same products lower in one community than in another, for the purpose of driving some competitor out of business. Speaker Hull allows for the "difference, if any, in the grade or quality and in the cost of transportation from the point of production" a heavy fine or imprisonment is provided for violation of the act.

Assemblyman Gorecki, Socialist, introduced a bill at the request of the Polish School association and Polish society, Milwaukee, forbidding the sale of liquor in any school building or on the grounds regardless of the character or feature of any gathering.

Another bill provides for a state normal school at Green Bay, Shawano and Oconto also want a normal school.

The assembly judiciary committee reported favorably for the adoption of the resolution for the initiative and referendum amendment.

A bill by Assemblyman Grimsrud permits re-election of sheriffs. Action by the senate on the appointment of L. A. Anderson to succeed Insurance Commissioner Ekern was deferred until Feb. 6.

Interment will be at Calvary cemetery. Mrs. Tierney was a pioneer resident of Minnesota, and had lived in Duluth 23 years. She is survived by five children, Mrs. A. J. Carey of St. Paul, Mrs. E. Schriener of Tacoma, Wash., Miss Annie M. Tierney and Patrick H. and Moses F. Tierney of this city.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS

BIG CANOE ASSOCIATION WILL INCLUDE DULUTH

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 23.—At a gathering of the officials of the leading canoe organizations of the Northwest, at the Athletic and Boat club, last night, it was definitely decided to merge all the separate canoe clubs and organize them into one large body to be known as the Northwestern Canoe association.

Success of the new movement will mean that the sport of canoeing will receive great impetus the coming season through healthy rivalry between the different units of the new organization in races and other events pulled off at the different meets. One of the greatest benefits to come from the new movement will be the unifying of all rules and regulations covering regattas.

The national organization of canoeists, known as the American Canoe association, was represented at the meeting by Former Commodore I. R. Robertson of Boston. Commodore Robertson spoke enthusiastically of the probabilities of ultimately including the new Northwestern association in the national organization and the possibility, in that event, of Minneapolis being able to secure the next national convention and regatta of the Canoe Association of America, which brings canoeists from all sections of the United States and Canada and is a ten-day event, crammed with interesting and exciting races, fascinating pageants and a social whirl of much renown.

The new Northwestern Canoe association will, as now planned, consist of the following clubs: The Athletic and Boat club, Minneapolis; Tri-Lake Canoe club, Minneapolis; Harriet Canoe club, Minneapolis; Minnesota River Canoe club, St. Paul; Duluth Boat club, Duluth.

There are several minor organizations which have been extended invitations to join. The next meeting of the new organization will be held Feb. 10 at the Athletic and Boat club on Lake Calhoun, Minneapolis.

It was definitely decided, however, that a regular convention of the new organization, at which all representatives will be present, will be held March 8. The business meeting will be convened at the Athletic and Boat club the afternoon of that date and in the evening a banquet at the West hotel has been provided for.

Those taking active part in the new organization as official representatives of this organization are as follows: Athletic and Boat club, Minneapolis, represented by Dan S. Hunter and Thomas W. Hicks; Minnesota River Canoe club, St. Paul, represented by L. A. McKercher, L. B. Grogan and W. S. Bradish; Tri-Lake Canoe club, represented by H. H. Ellis; Lake Harriet Canoe club, represented by E. C. Pentecost.

GOVERNOR'S SON AN AMATEUR BOXER

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 23.—"Archie" Johnson, youngest son of Governor Hiram Johnson, appeared at the Olympic club at noon today to weigh in for his bout tomorrow night with Ernie Clark of Los Angeles, welterweight amateur champion of the Pacific coast.

Young Johnson informed the directors of the club last night that he weighed 149 pounds, four pounds over the welter limit, and he doubted if he could take off the extra poundage without weakening his system. Whether the fight takes place rests with De Witt Van Court of Los Angeles, representing Clark, who must decide whether the championship is to be risked against a man who is not a welterweight within the rules.

Fighter's Father Dies.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 23.—Andrew Ybarra, father of Joe Rivers, the lightweight pugilist, died today of pulmonary tuberculosis. The young fighter reached his father's bedside just a few hours before the end, after breaking several ring dates in the East.

AN HONORABLE CAREER.

Indianapolis News: John Campbell of Pittsburg, locomotive engineer, deserves to be put on the roll of industrial honor. He ran an engine for forty-eight years without ever killing a human being, and without even injuring any person sufficiently to draw blood. He was never suspended or censured by his employers during his long career as engineman, which terminated happily on Sept. 6, when he retired from the position which he had so honored.

CHICAGO EQUALS 100 RENOS

Illinois Courts Set a Record of Fifty Divorces an Hour.

Chicago Tribune: In two hours one day recently judges sitting in the courts of Chicago heard one hundred divorce cases. Not one of the suits was contested. In nearly every case the judges have no alternative but to grant decrees.

Most of the litigants have children. When the decrees are entered Chicago will have at least one hundred new "divorce orphans." The "divorce orphan" is the most miserable orphan in the world. Between the child and one of its parents the law has placed a barrier. Too often the other parent "doesn't care."

Recent dispatches announce that the Nevada legislature is about to put the "easy divorce mill" at Reno out of business. It really does not matter. Compared with Chicago Reno is an infinitesimal dot on the map as a divorce center.

Reno judges in the period from 1887 to 1906 granted only 327 decrees. In the same period Chicago courts ground out 33,906 divorced couples.

A Continuous Grind.

The record of fifty divorces an hour repeats itself day after day. There is no time for inquiry, little opportunity for reconciliation, multitudinous chances for fraud. The court hears the story of the plaintiff and the corroboration of one or possibly two other witnesses. A prima facie case is made out. The evidence is "written up." It comes back to the judge in due course of time and he has no choice under the law but to enter the final judgment which the bill of complaint granted.

The divorce courts make more orphans in Chicago than death. Judge Kavanagh said that an average of 175 persons a day in Cook county every week. The divorce decrees granted in the same weekly period quadruple that number.

From the Middle Class.

"Divorce orphanage is much more pitiful than the orphanage of death," the judge added, "because of the disgrace and shame that follows these children throughout their lives. The sanctity of the marriage tie seems to be becoming less and less regarded. Year by year more and more persons come to our courts to be relieved of wife or husband.

"One of the alarming features of our divorce evil is the fact that it pervades practically one stratum of society here and that the largest body of our citizenship. It obtains especially among the ordinarily well-to-do people—the middle class. We have comparatively few divorce cases among the wealthy class.

"We find almost no divorce cases among the poor. A man may have to support a big family on meager wages, but he doesn't seek divorce courts. He needs his wife and his children—they are his chief attractions."

THE FIRST "DARK HORSE."

Springfield, Mass., Republican: The political term "dark horse" is believed to have had its origin in the following circumstances: In the last century there lived in Tennessee a "character" named Flynn, an elderly person who dealt in horses. Flynn generally contrived to own a speedy nag or two for racing purposes if he could arrange for "a good thing" during his peregrinations throughout the state.

The best of Flynn's fliers was a coal black stallion named Dusky Pete, almost a thoroughbred and able to go in the best of company. One day Flynn visited a town where a race meeting was in progress. He entered Pete. The people, knowing nothing of the horse's antecedents, and not being overimpressed by his appearance, backed the local favorite heavily against the stranger.

Just as the horses were being saddled for the race, a certain Judge McMinamee, who was the "oracle" of that part of the state, arrived on the course, and was made one of the race judges. As he took his place on the stand he was told of the folly of the owner of the strange entry. Running his eye over the track, the judge instantly recognized Pete. "Gentlemen," said McMinamee, "there's a dark horse in this race, as you'll soon find out." He was right. Pete, "the dark horse," lay back until the three-quarter pole was reached, when he went to the front with a rush and won the race.

THE DAY OF CIVIC EXPERTS.

Philadelphia Public Ledger: The most encouraging sign in American municipal life is the awakened civic spirit everywhere noticeable. It is the dawn of a better day in the government of our cities, the evidence of disgust and weariness with the mismanagement of political regimes, so marked a characteristic of former years and an earnest of the near realization of general businesslike administration of public affairs.

There is a concrete example in Philadelphia of a movement that is now nation-wide. All great cities and not a few lesser ones are seeking trained men to conduct departments, displacing professional politicians with experts untrammeled by party domination and dedicated only to the task of thoroughness and efficiency. Everywhere the American people are showing personal pride in highway cleanliness, good order and good government. Men who are counting upon any permanent return to power of the old type city boss fail to read the signs of the times.

NAVIGATING BY WIRELESS.

Indianapolis News: Successful experiments in the control of small vessels by aerial electric waves have been made in France, where Gabet has operated torpedoes in this way, and in America, where Anthony has applied the same principle, with satisfactory results, to the guidance of a small dirigible balloon. The most remarkable achievement in this line, however, has recently been made in Germany, where two unmanned motor boats, thirty-three and fifty feet in length, have been steered, stopped, started and controlled by electric waves transmitted from the shore without the use of wires.

A LETTER WRITER'S SCHEME.

Christian Herald: Dozens of persons write plainly and legibly until they reach the page where they sign their name. The signature trails off vaguely, vowels and consonants running into one another until the unfortunate person who receives the letter is puzzled to ascertain from whom it has come.

A woman who receives a great many letters from the outside public is sometimes compelled to paste the signature of a correspondent on the envelope that carries back her reply to an interesting letter. She has decided upon this plan as the only peaceable way of saving herself from misunderstanding and of lessening the burdens of the officials in Washington who open and return dead letters.

If you are "easily satisfied" with your boarding place, it will not be long before nothing else will matter much, either.

WHO is so bold to state that times are not growing less tempestuous? Cruising down from the stone age to the gentle time confines of the present era, one is sometimes struck with the elevation of instincts and the bringing into play of gentle manners that in the strenuous struggles of the past were kicked underneath the stove.

In the days of Nero and near Neros the lovely ladies used to sit in the boxes, if history is not slipping one over on us, and, make signs with sparkling jeweled thumbs indicative of the quick demise of some warrior who was getting a trimming from the champion mace swinger, or the about to be champion.

The emperor had the final say in the thumb wig wag signal, but the ladies lent gentle encouragement, and in case they didn't like the looks of the gladiator, sometimes even went so far as to shout for another one.

Not so many days ago at La Crosse, famous for beer and a bum baseball team, Willie Ritchie, present champion of the lightweights, got into an altercation with the colored porter. Fighting followed, instead of bridge whist.

In the midst of the festivities, according to current rumor, from out of a berth there appeared a vision in a pink kimona, who begged the champion of the world to desist from the battle. Then when the racket was over this fair maid (let's have all the frills with the story) held forth a thermos bottle and beseeched the Ritchie rogue to moisten his chiseled lips with cold tea.

Again we ask, who is there so perverse, so argumentative, as to say that the leavening of humanity has not accomplished at least part of the great work it has set out to accomplish.

THERE is a story going the rounds to the general effect that flatfootedness has all these years kept Rube Marquard out of the navy. With that lucrative vaudeville engagement putting the chances of the wolf several blocks beyond the immediate exigencies of the present, and a baseball parcel of payment that is fairly remunerative, it should be the bounden duty of Monsieur Marquard, if he has the least thrifty lust in his nature, to thank nature or life on the farm for those flat pedals of his.

MIKE YOKEL is going to take no chances in the world with the water he drinks during the days he sojourns in our midst preceding the match with Walter Miller.

Though he has been informed that the water here is the best and purest in the world, the Mique Yokel man is going to bring a barrel of aqua pura along with him, toting it all the way from Salt Lake city.

Verily, it is true that uneasy is the head that wears the crown, or even part of a crown.

AFTER that signed and sealed interview in which Charles Webb Murphy breaks the mystic veil of silence, saying Chance will probably not make a success of the job of bossing things from the bench, and hurling in other unkind things by way of generous unkind measure, it must be comforting to know that the fans of Chicago are petitioning that the opening game of the season between the White Sox and New York Americans be set for Saturday and Sunday, in order that the fans of the Windy City may turn out en masse and give vociferous welcome to the former idol of the West Side fans.

Mister Murphy may be a very bright man—some of his enemies vouch for this fact—and yet he is going against a task something akin to that of the little old woman who tried to sweep back the briny deep with a little old last year's broom, when he attempts to turn the sentiment of the fans against Frank Leroy Chance.

IN THE older and more hardened days of the great national game, it was the custom for the hardest swearing, the most handy fisted manager to be accounted the greatest success in the game. Time speeds along and in its wake leaves many wrecks of the past.

Now we behold the spectacle of Davy Jones, former outfielder of the Detroit crew, declaring that he is mighty glad to leave the environs of Bennett park, simply because he cannot stand the rough and profane language employed by Jennings.

In the lamented days of Pete Browning such precipitous action as the one charged against Mons. Jennings would have not in the least excited any perturbation upon the part of the most timid and shrinking member of the naughty nine.

McGOORTY DEFEATS HICKS.

Middleweight Aspirant Makes Rather Poor Showing, However.

New York, Jan. 23.—Eddie McGoorty of Oshkosh, Wis., defeated Freddie Hicks of Detroit in a 10-round bout here last night.

McGoorty was the aggressor nearly all through, but seemed to lack steam in his punches. He landed left hooks frequently on the head and face and right uppercuts to the body, but Hicks withstood them all and kept placing lefts to the stomach and ribs in nearly every round. These jabs to the body evidently hurt McGoorty. Outside of these Hicks only reached the head or face a few times during the bout.

Hicks took a lot of punishment, but stood it well. There was little or no infighting, all of the work being done at long range, with McGoorty landing four punches to the other man's one. It was a rather tame exhibition. The men weighed 158 pounds each.

WILLARD KNOCKS OUT BAUER IN FIFTH ROUND.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Jan. 23.—Jess Willard, the Kansas "white hope," knocked out Frank Bauer of St. Charles, Ill., in the fifth round of a scheduled ten-round bout here last night. A right uppercut to the point of the jaw ended the contest.

Bauer was outclassed throughout. In the third he was sent to the mat with a right to the jaw, but was saved by the gong. Willard broke a bone in his hand during the bout.

To See Inauguration.

Washington, Jan. 23.—Manager Clark Griffith of the Washington American league baseball team has planned to have the regular members of the 1912 team see the inauguration of President-elect Woodrow Wilson as the guests of the club management. Yesterday he sent letters to members of the team, ordering them to report here March 3. The team will go in training at Charlottesville, Va., March 5 or 6.

Pitcher Drucks Released.

New York, Jan. 23.—Manager McGraw of the New York National league club announced yesterday that Pitcher Louis Drucks has been released to the Sacramento club of the Pacific Coast league. Drucks joined the Giants in 1909.

DULUTH FACES BEST BASEBALL YEAR IN HISTORY OF THE GAME

Dr. McCuen and President Blume Return to Duluth From Twin City Meeting, Predict a Great Success for the New League.

"We are going to have a real league, and we are going to have a brand of baseball that will make the fans sit up and notice."—Dr. J. A. McCuen, president of the Duluth Baseball association.

"There is no reason why the best baseball that has ever been played in this section of the country should not result from the organization of the association that will be formed with the assistance of the magnates of the St. Paul and Minneapolis American association teams. We have got what we have been after for years, and the brand of baseball we are going to get to satisfy all of the fans and make Duluth the baseball center that it should have been years ago."—Harry A. Blume, president of the Central-International league.

Dr. McCuen and President Blume returned last evening from the meeting at Minneapolis, fairly radiant with baseball enthusiasm and declaring that at last this city had achieved the object of long years of baseball maneuvering.

Not all of the details were completed at the meeting that came to a close yesterday. There will be another meeting within a week or so, when the election of officers of the new league—for the new lineup will be virtually that—will be held and the work of starting on the schedule will be taken up.

As stated in this paper several days ago, it is likely that a Minneapolis man will be elected at the head of the league, and faint rumor is authority for the statement that John H. Ritchie, sporting editor of the Minneapolis Journal, will head the organization, though it must be admitted that rumor only stands behind this hunch and broadly shows its gold teeth.

Superior's Status.

With the happy work of organizing the new league comes the ghost of a belief that poor old Superior may not be in the league. Will Sommer hiked for the warmer climes of the West, and left the baseball business in a bad way.

The game, according to the most authentic reports, is not held in high esteem across the bay. The reason is not hard to find. With the element that controlled last season, the better class of people got to the point where they lost interest.

It is hoped that a new company will be organized and the franchise across the bay taken over. Under normal conditions Superior is a very good baseball town and it is wanted in the new league.

According to President Harry Blume, the probable lineup of the league will be St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth, Superior, Winnipeg, Fargo, Fort William and Virginia or Grand Forks. In the event that Superior does not come into the league, it is very likely that a substitution will be made and eight teams employed to make up the organization.

"The breaking into the American association territory, a feat that we have longed to achieve these past ten years or more, simply means that at last the fans of this city are going to have the kind of baseball the size of the city entitles them to, and the kind they have been demanding for the last decade or more," said Dr. McCuen.

"Duluth is a city that wants the best, and we are confident that the new lineup is one that can give the fans some of the best baseball of any of the leagues under a lower classification than the American association and International league.

Will Get Youngsters.

"Young players that are not quite fast enough for the American association will be used in the new league. St. Paul and Minneapolis will get many of the youngsters that cannot be used during the first season on the teams of the American association teams of these cities, and this fact will serve to make the other teams of the league hustle to maintain the pace."

"What about Duluth?" Dr. McCuen was asked.

"We are going to have the best team in the history of the city," he answered.

"Last year we gave Duluth clean baseball and a businesslike management. We were unfortunate in having a four-club league and starting late on the season. But nevertheless the fans appreciated the efforts put forth to improve the game and cut out many former abuses.

"With a league that should excel in general points of advantage any little league in the country, and with eight clubs in the circuit, it looks now as if, the coming season will be by far the best in the history of the game here, and that Duluth is to finally come into its own, in the baseball sense."

Fans over the city are in perfect accord with the sentiments of Mayor McCuen. The winter league clubs are organizing, and from now on there promises to be a new and vigorous interest taken in the game.

By the time the season is ready to open, it is safe to predict that there will be real and deeply genuine baseball enthusiasm in this town, something that will be of the order of the innovation and something that should prove a distinct novelty.

Duluth is ready, after the comparatively lean years, for what the conditions promise, and the baseball development from now on will be watched with interest.

Y. M. C. A. ATHLETES IN COMPETITION

The Second Series of All-Around Contest Is Well Contested.

The second athletic competition of the series that is to determine the all-around championship of the Y. M. C. A., was held at the association gymnasium last evening, the various events being well contested, and some very good marks being set up.

Three events are to be completed each week until the full program of twenty-one events has been run off. The three events of last evening make six in all that have been completed.

Following is the record of last night's competition:

Standing Broad Jump.

Ed. Anderson, 15 feet, 8 inches; H. Bartholdi, 17 feet, 5 inches; A. Beck, 15 feet, 2 inches; A. Ellingson, 14 feet, 10 inches; H. Hillman, 17 feet, 5 inches; W. Martin, 17 feet 9 inches; Scott Oblinger, 13 feet, 6 inches; C. Cannon, 15 feet, 8 inches; C. Wright, 15 feet, 2 inches; C. Evans, 15 feet, 5 inches; Clay Darmyple, 14 feet, 5 inches; H. W. Davis, 15 feet, 7 inches; M. Alexander, 16 feet, 11 inches; R. M. Lattuer, 12 feet, 9 inches.

Standing Kick.

Ed. Anderson, 5 feet, 10 inches; F. Bartholdi, 6 feet, 6 inches; A. Beck, 6 feet, 4 inches; A. Ellingson, 6 feet, 2 inches; H. Hillman, 6 feet, 2 inches; Ed. Johnson, 5 feet, 4 inches; W. Martin, 6 feet, 7 inches; Scott Oblinger, 5 feet 6 inches; C. Cannon, 6 feet, 6 inches; C. Wright, 5 feet, 6 inches; C. Evans, 6 feet, 2 inches; Clay Darmyple, 5 feet, 8 inches; H. W. Davis, 5 feet, 8 inches; M. Alexander, 6 feet, 8 inches; R. M. Latture, 6 feet, 4 inches.

Snap Under Bar.

Ed. Anderson, 6 feet 9 inches; H. Bartholdi, 6 feet, 1 inch; A. Beck, 7 feet, 6 inches; A. Ellingson, 6 feet, 5 inches, H. Hollenbeck, 5 feet, 8 inches; H. Hillman, 5 feet, 2 inches; Ed. Johnson, 3 feet 5 inches; W. Martin, 5 feet, 10 inches; Scott Oblinger, 6 feet, 9 inches; C. Cannon, 7 feet, 2 inches; C. Wright, 4 feet, 6 inches; C. Evans, 6 feet, 10 inches; Clay Darmyple, 6 feet, 1 inch; H. W. Davis, 5 feet, 6 inches; M. Alexander, 5 feet, 6 inches.

DR. JOHN TAMBLYN RETURNS TO DULUTH.

Dr. John Tamblyn, the former Hancock, Mich., hockey star, has returned to the city and will be in the Duluth hockey team's lineup of tomorrow evening. The Copper country crack, considered one of the best players that the yellow metal district has ever turned out, is expected to add strength to the team, as he is a real player. With such stars as Linder, Greaner, Mahan, Mullen, Cummings and Tamblyn in the game, Duluth will start the game of tomorrow night with the strongest lineup in the history of her hockey teams.

KETCHEL AND BROWN READY

Both Fighters Ready for What Promises to Be Corking Mill.

Steve Ketchel of Chicago and Pal Brown of Chisholm are scheduled to go ten rounds at the Grand opera house in Superior this evening. The fight is being looked forward to by the fans, and, according to Curley Ulrich, the promoter on the other side of the bay, the fight will be the best that has been staged in Superior for a long time.

Ketchel is a tough kid who gave Battling Nelson a hard fight for fifteen rounds last fall. He is considered a comer and in Chicago is regarded as one of the best of the lightweights. His forte is said to be infighting, ceaselessly boring in and never giving ground, much after the manner of Battling Nelson. As Brown likes the other fellow to carry the battle to him, the style of milling employed by Ketchel should suit the range chap.

The fight is to go ten rounds, and in the event of both men being on their feet at the end of the distance, no decision will be given.

Friends of the range boy believe he will win, and this in a decisive manner. Ketchel is full of confidence, and is showing lots of confidence in his ability to at least win the popular verdict over the home scrapper. The battle promises to be filled with action.

There will be a six-round preliminary and a semi-wind-up.

SEE WHO'S HERE!

Winona, Minn., Jan. 23.—Some of the baseball fans here are suggesting it would be a good thing for Winona to endeavor to get into the See-Eye league now the invasion of the Twin Cities looks likely.

Winona was the best ball town in the old Minny league next to Duluth and Superior, and should be a better paying proposition than Fargo with a population of 14,331, and Grand Forks with a population of 12,478, in the new league. Winona's population is now 22,000.

Fight to a Draw.

Dayton, Ohio, Jan. 23.—Clarence "Wildcat" Ferns of Kansas City and Al McCoy of New York, welterweights, fought fifteen rounds to a draw here last night.

DULUTH LOOKS FOR HARD GAME

Fort Frances Has a Very Well Trained Hockey Team.

Fort Frances comes tomorrow evening for the first of a two-game series with the Duluth Curling club hockey team. While the Canadians were beaten by Houghton last evening by the score of 11 to 6, it must be taken into consideration that the Houghton seven is the challenger for the world's amateur title, and that the showing of the Canucks stamps their team as one awfully hard to beat.

Duluth hopes for victory, but Capt. Joe Linder says that the game is going to be a hard one, as the Fort Frances boys play with all of the Canadian dash and know thoroughly the fine points of the game.

With the interest in hockey at its highest point, it is expected that the two games will be witnessed by large crowds, and that the two contests will furnish the best exhibitions of the winter sport that have been seen in Duluth for years.

"SOME CLASS" TO BAT'S WEDDING

Pugilist Marries Young Woman Cartoonist Sent to Interview Him.

Chicago, Jan. 23.—Jack Robinson, manager of Battling Nelson, was busy yesterday arranging for the pugilist's marriage to Miss Fay King, a Denver cartoonist, at Nelson's home in Hegewisch, a suburb, today.

Up to the time that Robinson went to his hotel last evening, he had chartered two special trains to carry the bridal party to and from Hegewisch, hired a band to furnish music, obtained a marriage license, completed a holiday program for his native city, including a parade, arranged for a wedding party, and ordered a wedding feast.

The fighter and his fiancee will be met at the train on which they are traveling from Denver by a crowd of friends in automobiles. Then they will speed across the city to their special trains, where the band will be giving a concert. After the wedding in Hegewisch, the party will return to Chicago. The honeymoon will be spent in Chicago.

On Feb. 5 Nelson will get back into the ring, fighting at Racine. Nelson is 30 years old and his fiancee is 23. They first met when she was sent to interview him.

STAGG IS BUSY.

Chicago Coach Is Training Men for Long Running Events.

Chicago, Jan. 23.—Coach A. A. Stagg's scheme to produce a race of long-distance stars at the University of Chicago received its first definite boost yesterday when Coach Page named Friday afternoon as the time for a tryout of the director's plan. The occasion will be unique in the history of Maroon sports, as it will bring together every student with wind enough to run a mile in reasonable time, with silver loving cups in view for the fleetest.

The millers will have their innings all afternoon, and the two-millers will be tried out at a later date. Coach Page announced there would be dozens of aspiring long-distance stars in the running. The candidates will include representatives of every athletic squad and gymnasium class on the campus.

The racers who make the best showing in the tests will be drafted for the track team, according to Stagg's plan. The Maroons are weaker in distance men than they have been in years. Donovan is the only veteran distance man in the school.

SPORTSMEN WILL MEET.

Game and Fish Protective Association Will Elect Officers.

Sportsmen from St. Louis and Lake counties will gather at the Commercial club tonight for the annual meeting of the Northeastern Minnesota Game and Fish Protective association.

The sportsment held a meeting last week, but the election of officers and other business was postponed until tonight. The legislative committee will probably make a report on the fish hatchery, and other important business will be considered.

UNION BASEBALL AFFAIRS.

President Elected and Information Received as to Salary Limit.

Butte, Mont., Jan. 23.—E. C. Mulroney of Missoula was unanimously elected president of the Union Baseball association to succeed William Lucas at a meeting here last night. A telegram from August Herrmann, chairman of the National commission was read stating that a special concession had been granted to the Union association, allowing a salary limit of $1,650 exclusive of a playing manager. This limit was adopted for the coming season.

The directors agreed to grant franchises to Idaho Falls, Idaho, and Pocatello, Idaho.

AMERICANS WIN TROPHY

Take International Event From Canadian Rinks at St. Paul Bonspiel.

Dunbar Rink Defeats the Crack Rochon Rink From Winnipeg.

St. Paul, Jan. 23.—The American rinks playing in the twentieth annual bonspiel of the Northwestern Curling association, late last night won the match for the international trophy, a handsome silver cup presented by L. W. Hill of the Great Northern railway. Aggregate scores: American rinks, 254; Canadians, 227.

The finish was a sensational one, Bob Dunbar of St. Paul, champion American curler, defeating Mack Rochon of Winnipeg, Canadian champion, by a score of 15 to 10. The American rinks will now play down for possession of the trophy.

In the afternoon draw in the Patrick-Duluth trophy, Dunbar of St. Paul defeated McGregor of Butte, Mont., 25 to 3. In the same event, Deffel of St. Paul defeated Midwinter of Winnipeg, 20 to 7. Other scores were:

Crawford of Wingham, 11; Olson, Duluth, 7.

Hastings, Minneapolis, 14; Murphy, St. Paul, 10.

Thomas Cambria, 13; Nell, Winnipeg, 9.

Southerland of Selkirk, Man., forfeited to Robb of Portage and Clark of St. Paul, forfeited to McLeod of Selkirk.

The following scores were made in the St. Paul jobbers trophy last night:

Rochon, Winnipeg, 7; Melver, Port Arthur, 14.

Dunbar, 16; Robb, Eveleth, Minn., 6.

Huntsman, St. Paul, 11; Elliott, St. Paul, 9.

NELSON BEATS SUPERIOR MAN

The West Duluth "Terrible Swede" Gets Two Straight Falls From Beaulieu.

Carl Nelson, the "Terrible Swede," last evening at Proctor sprung a distinct surprise on the fans of that little burg and also some of the Superior crowd, when he decisively defeated Billy Beaulieu, the wrestling hope of the town on the other side of the bay, in two straight falls.

The contest of last evening is really but the second professional appearance of the young West Duluth Scandinavian. His first trial was in the preliminary to the Miller-Matsuda match, when he met and quickly beat Fred Smoker, the hugely muscled Swiss.

There were but few who believed the young Swede had a chance with Beaulieu. The surprise was the greater when he pinned the shoulders of the Superior blacksmith in the ring in the first bout in five minutes. A full nelson brought about the defeat of Beaulieu in the first bout, a double bar lock and scissors winning the second fall for Nelson in 19 minutes.

Engleberg Forsmeart and Peter Gilbertson went on for the preliminary, the former winning the contest in straight falls.

After the contest Nelson challenged Nestor Tuominen, the Finnish champion, for a finish match, best two in three, to be wrestled on the evening of Feb. 10, when Walter Miller and Mike Yokel of Salt Lake City meet for the world's middleweight title.

WHITE BEAR TO PLAY IN DULUTH

The White Bear hockey team, which held the crack Phoenix seven of St. Paul to a very close game, is to play the Intermediates of the curling club here on Jan. 31.

It is expected that this will be one of the fastest intermediate games of the present season, if not the fastest.

The contest will be staged at the big curling club rink and will be one of the events of the season in the Duluth Amateur Hockey league circles.

May Change Circuit.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 23.—The definite make-up of the Wisconsin-Illinois baseball league circuit for the coming season is scheduled for discussion and final action in Milwaukee late this afternoon.

Considerable gossip attaches to the report that Aurora, Ill., will likely be eliminated from this year's circuit, Milwaukee and Beloit are mentioned as candidates for the probable vacancy.

ON THE IRON RANGES

SETTLES DAMAGE ACTION FOR $500

Chisholm Council Disposes of Mrs. Imbleau's Judgment for Injury.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The village council last night settled the case of Imbleau vs. the village, a personal injury action, for $500. Judgment had been awarded for $700. Attorney McManon of Virginia appeared for Mrs. Imbleau, who was injured on a slippery sidewalk in 1910.

Members of the Woman's club personally asked the council to enforce the curfew ordinance. The council acted favorably.

Humane Officer Brown asked the council to be authorized to place placards in saloons and bowling alleys to prevent them from giving liquor to minors and prevent their entering bowling alleys and pool rooms. The council acted favorably on the matter. F. W. Kinney, an architect of Minneapolis appeared in behalf of his bill for the work of preparing plans for a library which were not used. The bill amounted to $560.

To Consider Library Petition.

The Ladies Art and Study club petitioned the council for $25,000 for a library, will be considered in the near future. The village attorney was instructed to procure options on five prospective sites for a library location.

Mr. Poole of the Lake City nursery, presented a plan for beautifying the streets with trees. A call for bids for furnishing 1,000 trees will be made immediately. Raymond Maturi was granted a renewal of his liquor license. The bond covering the construction work of paving the past season, was ordered released and a maintenance bond retained. The council adjourned Saturday night next to dispose of business laid over.

WANT ALICE ON RANGE RAILROAD

Petitions Being Circulated to Have Line Extended There From Hibbing.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The circulation of petitions directed to the officers of the Mesaba Railway company, asking for the extension of the interurban electric railway from Hibbing south to the village of Alice has begun. The petitions are being largely signed by both the residents of Alice and Hibbing. They will be presented within a short time. The extension would necessitate about a mile of new construction south of the present terminal on South Third avenue and involves a viaduct over the D. M. & N. tracks, or the partial reconstruction of the present viaduct on the Alice highway. The people of both cities are anxious to see the line extended.

REGULAR SERVICE OVER WHOLE LINE

Hibbing, Chisholm and Buhl Are Now Enjoying Interurban Service.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The long looked for connection of the principal towns on the Mesaba range by an interurban electric line has at last been realized. Regular car service is now running over the entire system including Hibbing, Chisholm and Buhl. There is general rejoicing all over this section as it means much in a general knitting of the various towns closer together and will prove of great benefit to all.

The Commercial club is arranging for a banquet to properly observe the opening of the system to be held at a later date. Chisholm also will celebrate.

Open Hibbing Office.

The local office of the company has been opened in the Hotel Hibbing in charge of J. B. Graham, who has been with the Cleveland Cliffs construction company. From 6 o'clock a. m. until 11:30 p. m. cars will leave Hibbing hourly at ten minutes to the hour. The last car to Gilbert leaves this city at 8:50 p. m. Cars leaving at 9:50 and 10:50 go to Olcott park, on the outskirts of Virginia only and the last car to leave Hibbing at 11:50 p. m. connects at Chisholm for Olcott park. The Sunday service will be one hour later than the week day schedule.

Officials and operatives say the new line is working perfectly and are much pleased with the conditions attending the commencement of the service. The line was formally turned over from the construction company to the Mesaba Railway company yesterday.

The stations on the line are Hibbing Terminal, Hibbing Center, Hibbing North, Lavinia, Chisholm Substation, Meyers Location, Croxton Location, Buhl West, Sharon, Lucknow, Kinney Location, Kinross, Mountain Iron, Hanna Location, Olcott Park, Virginia Center, Eveleth Center, Genoa and Gilbert.

Cash fares will be collected twice from passengers traveling from points on one side of Virginia to points beyond that city. Virginia will be the dividing line.

FEAR TEAMSTER HAS PERISHED

Leaves Eveleth for Hibbing With Load, Then Disappears.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Jim Callahan, a teamster from Hibbing, has mysteriously disappeared and a search is being made for him along the road from Eveleth to Hibbing, where it is possible his body is lying frozen.

Jim came to Eveleth Sunday from Hibbing with a team after a load of house moving material for A. J. Lindsley. He loaded up and started back Sunday afternoon, but did not reach Hibbing. Tuesday men were started to look for the man.

His Team Is Found.

The team was found late in the afternoon in the woods between Mountain Iron and Buhl, both horses in a bad condition, due to exposure, but the search up to the present has not revealed the whereabouts of the driver. Whether Callahan for some reason deserted his horses, or whether he was waylaid, or met with some other mishap is yet to be determined.

PHONE ORDINANCE IS MUCH CHANGED

Virginia City Council Tears Originial Document All to Shreds.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—When the city council got through with the Range Telephone company ordinance, granting that concern a franchise to enter Virginia, late last night, the original document was literally shot to pieces. The shattered document was referred back to the city attorney for rewriting and will be further considered next Tuesday night.

The council decided that the company shall furnish the city with fifteen telephones at one-half regular rates; shall specify in the bid for the franchise what percentage of gross earnings on long distance business it will give the city, and what its charges will be for the cutting of wires for the moving of houses.

To Handle Law Breakers.

Mayor M. A. Murphy reported for the council committee of the whole in the future policy of the body in reference to saloon keepers who violate the laws. He stated that licenses would be revoked, that well defined rules would be formulated, that no evasions would be countenanced by attempts to transfer licenses, that no mercy would be shown and that excuses would not go. He recommended that all brewery representatives be called in conference with the council and that the rule be made that if the breweries sell to blind piggers, they may expect the licenses they hold for recognized saloons will not be reissued at expiration and may be revoked. The mayor said the people would see that he and the present council favors reduction in the number of saloons and the enforcement of the state laws.

Mayor Murphy, Aldermen R. J. McGhee and F. J. Collan were appointed a committee to make the effort to obtain for Virginia, the 5-acre tract which is owned by the state on the Mountain Iron road, opposite Olcott park. The mayor called attention to the meeting for the discussion of county division affairs at the city hall Thursday evening and recommended that all who heard him would attend and bring others along for the purpose of having it on record for the benefit of the members of the legislature, that they may know that the people want the bill which has been submitted to be enacted into a law.

Lawmakers Thanked.

On motion of Alderman R. J. McGhee the council passed a resolution of thanks to Senator J. P. Boyle, Representative C. T. Knapp, and co-workers for their efforts in the passage of the security bill. Following the mayor's recommendations, the council also passed a resolution of indorsement of the county division bill and recommended that the men in the legislature use their best efforts to have it enacted into a law.

When it came to a vote on the revocation of the licenses of Andrew Johnson, Gus Snyder and Arthur Caza, who have been convicted in the municipal court of law violations, only Alderman A. D. Heritage and Alderman Conrad Mattson voted "yes." It will be the policy of the council to revoke licenses only after the saloon keepers have been fully warned what the policies and attitude of the council will be.

CITY LABORATORY.

Eveleth Has Equipped Plant to Properly Analyze Water.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Eveleth now has a complete laboratory equipment for the analysis of water or any other purpose to which the city may have occasion to put it, including the determination of the existence of contagious diseases. It is under the charge of Health Commissioner Bulkley and the doctor says that it is in fine working order. At the suggestion of Dr. Bulkley the city council has made formal application to the state board of health to have the Eveleth laboratory designated as a sub-laboratory of the state board of health. In that case all cases on the ranges where analysis is needed might be submitted here instead of being subjected to the delay necessary when such matters are submitted to the Minneapolis laboratory.

Chisholm Bridge Club Meets.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Ladies Bridge club met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. Ferdinand Drotning. The head prize was awarded to Mrs. Chas. E. French. Delicious refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held on Feb. 4 at the home of Mrs. W. M. Pratt.

WOULD RECOVER MONEY SHE PAID

Aged Woman Sues to Recover Amount Paid for Her Keeping.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Christina Rosa likes to lock herself in her room and enjoy a quiet smoke, and Sakria Mattson, with whom she lives, objects, and as a result, Rosa wants her money back and is suing Mattson in the district court for $1,030. It is claimed that Mattson agreed to take care of Rosa during her declining years, and because he would not let the old lady smoke she left his home and wants the money she gave him to take care of. Mattson says he was afraid that she would burn the house down with the ashes from her pipe, and she says that she was forcibly ejected from her room and mistreated, neglected and abused. Mattson sets up a counter-claim of $911.35. Mrs. Rosa is 80 years of age.

Sold Liquor to Blind-Pig.

The Duluth Brewing & Malting company was unable to recover $120.25, alleged to be due them from Andrew Storgie of Buhl since May 21, 1909. Sorgie was garnished by the brewing company after being granted a judgment in the municipal court here by Judge J. P. Carey. The jury brought in a verdict for the defendant, after being instructed by the court that the brewing company had no recourse, having sold the liquor to a blind-pigger.

Hibbing Council Has Tenders From Duluth Contractors Under Advisement.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The village council has under advisement bids received for the proposed sewer outlet and ditch. These are being figured upon and the award will be made next Monday night. Duluth contractors are prominent in the bidding. P. McDonnell of Duluth is the lowest bidder on the sewer outlet, offering to do the work for $61,268, while A. C. Osman's bid of $29,966 is the lowest on the ditch. Other ditch bids are: Coons & Butler, Hibbing, $37,117.25; Carl Hall & Co., Duluth, $42,572.22; P. McDonnell, $44,743.30.

Besides the bid of McDonnell, the tenders for the sewer outlet work are: A. G. Osman, $65,252.20; C. G. Pastoret, Duluth, $88,842.64; Lawrence & Co., Duluth, $75,749.

The estimate of the engineer on the sewer outlet is approximately $60,000, and that on the ditch approximately $30,000. The combined figures of the two low bidders on the job are about $6,000 below the engineer's estimate. The specifications call for the completion of the ditch by Nov. 1, and of the sewer outlet by July 1.

ADMITS HE IS PARTY.

Man Arrested at Keewatin on Charge Preferred in Wisconsin.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 23.— Special to The Herald.)—Joe Pojinick, wanted at Dodgeville, Wis., on a statutory charge was arrested Tuesday at Keewatin by Chief Martin Teller of the Oliver police force. He admitted his identity and said he would not require requisition papers if it was necessary to take him back to Wisconsin. An offer of marriage on his part to the woman in the case was telegraphed to Dodgeville.

LIVES ON RAW EGGS.

Capt. Smart of Chisholm Improves on Slim Diet.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Captain Smart of the Monroe location is fasting and dieting for relief from indigestion with which he has been afflicted for several years. On Dec. 1 he began a vigorous dieting plan which he carried out up to Jan. 1 but on account of not receiving the proper relief he decided to try a plan recommended to him by his sister.

During December he confined himself strictly to liquids which included a variety such as vegetable soups, oyster soups, milk, etc., but felt no improvement and knowing that a weakness in the stomach was a family failing he wrote a sister in New York state who had several months prior consulted an eminent specialist in New York city. The instructions were to eat nothing but raw eggs until she found her condition sufficiently improved to permit of eating more hearty foods. She wrote her brother that the result had been simply wonderful and Captain Smart decided to try the remedy. Beginning Jan. 1 he began by eating two raw eggs at a meal and eating three meals a day which practice he has since followed and is still following. He maintains that he feels 50 per cent better and though he felt a little weak the first few days that as a matter of fact he is now gaining in strength and weight and sleeps well throughout the entire night. His friends have noted the improved appearance in his face and general appearance. He expects to keep up the practice throughout the entire month and after that time will probably test his stomach with other foods to ascertain its condition.

Captain Smart was appointed assistant health officer last spring expecting that the outside work would prove beneficial to him but found that the remedy lay in dieting and fasting.

CAPT. POLGLASE IS PLACED IN CHARGE.

Iron River, Mich., Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—E. L. Laing, representative of the fee owners in the Davidson and Zimmerman properties, has selected Capt. J. H. Polglase as mine expert in looking after the underground work of these properties. Capt. Polglase has been a miner all his life, and has held responsible positions, and his selection by Mr. Laing is a guarantee that the underground work will be looked after in a practical and most efficient manner. Capt. Polglase is well known to the mining men of Duluth and the ranges.

HIBBING INVITES WHITE WAY BIDS.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Bids for installing the new white way system the full length of Pine and Third streets will be received by the light and water commission up to and including Feb. 4. As soon as the contract is closed work will proceed and Hibbing will soon boast of a fine white way. The commission has engaged Earl D. Jackson, a St. Paul engineer, to inspect the light and water plant with a view of bringing those systems up to a higher state of efficiency.

Sells Eveleth Store.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Dulcie Pryor has purchased of Miss May Nagle the Bon Ton millinery store. Miss Nagle, who opened another store in Virginia last spring concluded that it was too much of a tax on her time to take care of two stores, and decided to confine her efforts hereafter to the Virginia store alone.

SCHMAHL BUYING LAND.

Secretary of State Takes Over Redwood County Property.

Redwood Falls, Minn., Jan. 23.—Julius A. Schmaahl is becoming a heavy landholder in Redwood county.

He has secured the deed to 560 acres of the best land in the county, lying in Johnsonville and formerly owned by Otto Dresow and wife.

The land was bought under contract two years ago but the transfer was just made. It is understood that the compensation was $22,040. Mr. Schmaahl says he would not take $75 an acre for it now.

Any Suit $15---Any Overcoat $15.

Try This Home-Made Cough Remedy

Costs Little, But Does the Work Quickly, or Money Refunded.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle; then add the Sugar Syrup. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

You will find that this simple remedy takes hold of a cough more quickly than anything else you ever used. Usually ends a deep seated cough inside of 24 hours. Splendid, too, for whooping cough, croup, chest pains, bronchitis and other throat troubles. It stimulates the appetite and is slightly laxative, which helps end a cough.

This recipe makes more and better cough syrup than you could buy ready made for $2.50. It keeps perfectly and tastes pleasantly.

Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in guaiacol and all the natural pine elements which are so healing to the membranes. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

This plan of making cough syrup with Pinex and sugar syrup (or strained honey) has proven so popular throughout the United States and Canada that it is often imitated. But the old, successful formula has never been equaled.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Arrows fly with the wind. First figures, temperature; second, precipitation of .01 inch or more for past 24 hours; third, maximum wind velocity.

COLDER

The temperature wasn't very low this morning, but the wind was brisk and uncomfortable. Last evening was beautiful for the outdoor sports enthusiasts. Fair weather is promised for tonight and tomorrow, but it will be accompanied by below-zero temperatures, according to the forecast sent out from the tower on the hill.

Fair, cold weather prevailed a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 7:44 and it will set at 4:57 this evening, giving nine hours and thirteen minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Another cold wave has developed in the Northwest. Temperatures have dropped 10 deg. to about 30 deg. in Saskatchewan, Manitoba, the Dakotas, Western Minnesota, Montana, Northern Nebraska, Wyoming, Idaho and Nevada during the last twenty-four hours, reaching 20 deg. to 30 deg. below zero in Northern Montana, Manitoba and Saskatchewan. This cold wave will reach the Head of the Lakes this afternoon and tonight. During the last twenty-four hours snow or rain fell over the lake region, Ohio and Mississippi valleys, West Gulf states, Arizona, Colorado, Utah, Wyoming, Nevada, Idaho and Washington."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Jan. 23.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Friday:

Wisconsin—Generally fair tonight and Friday; colder; cold wave tonight.

Minnesota—Fair tonight and Friday; colder tonight; cold wave in east portion; rising temperature Friday in west portion.

Iowa—Fair tonight and Friday; colder tonight with cold wave in east portion; warmer in west portion Friday.

North Dakota—Fair tonight and Friday; rising temperature Friday and in west portion tonight.

Montana—Fair tonight and Friday; warmer in north portion tonight.

Shippers' forecast—Protect thirty-six hour shipments of perishables against temperatures zero to about 20 deg. below in the Dakotas, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Bill Respecting Removal of County Officers on Charges.

Another Measure Designed to Prevent the Sale of Snuff.

Bismrck, N. D., Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representative C. S. Buck's bill covering the removal of county officers, introduced yesterday, is somewhat different from official removal measures that have been previously introduced in the North Dakota legislature, and all of which have failed of enactment. Representative Buck would have a trial before a district judge in cases where complaints are made by five reputable citizens, and he defines the causes that shall be considered, which include the usual charges upon which officials may be custed from office. He makes the power of removal lie with the judge upon the proof of the charges.

Another interesting bill by Mr. Buck provides for the registration of attorneys annually. He would compel all lawyers to file declarations with the clerk of the supreme court each year, showing that they had been engaged in the practice of law, and that they expected to remain in the profession.

An appropriation of $184,625 for the Valley City normal school has been proposed in a bill introduced by Representative Ployhar. That sum provides for permanent improvements and maintenance, and is somewhat lower than the amount asked for two years ago.

Non-Partisan Elections.

The election of the superintendent of public instruction and the county superintendents upon a non-partisan basis is proposed by Representative Curry. His bill has been referred to the educational committee of the house. The plan proposed is similar to that being employed in the election of supreme and district court judges.

Velva, in McHenry county, has joined the procession of North Dakota cities seeking the location of the proposed new asylum for the insane. Velva is the seventh city to make a bid for the proposed hospital.

Another anti-snuff bill has been introduced. Two years ago the legislature passed a snuff measure, but it has failed to operate in the manner anticipated, for snuff still is being sold. Senator Thoreson of Barnes county is sponsor for this year's snuff measure, which, it is contended, would effectively shut off the sale.

Senator Leutz believes that mortgages given to insure the payment of the premium on hail insurance policies should be given priority over all other mortgages with the exception of seed grain mortgages, and has introduced a bill to that effect.

The clearance bill that has been introduced, and which has the support of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, makes the provision that no engines, motors or cars shall exceed the width of 10 feet 6 inches, or be more than 14 feet 2 inches high from the rail. Wrecking cars, snow plows, pile drivers and caboose cupolas are excepted. The bill also would remove obstructions inside of eight feet from the middle of the track, while overhead obstructions must be at least twenty-one feet from the top of the rails. The bill provides that the railroad commission may exempt structures raised previous to the passage of this bill.

DEAD MAN'S MONEY HAS BEEN LOCATED

Widow Gets Right Tip From Man Supposed to Possess Occult Powers.

Holt, Minn., Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—A letter from John Gunderson, now living at Saskatchewan, who, a number of years ago, lived near Thief Lake, and is supposed to be the possessor of supernatural powers, has caused excitement here. The letter gives information pointing to foul play in the death of Carsten Gronvold which occurred suddenly a couple of weeks ago. Gronvold had been found unconscious one morning on the road from Middle River, and shortly afterward he died, leaving his family in poor circumstances. Mrs. Gronvold knew that he had some money before he died, but could not find it. Upon the advice of a neighbor, she wrote to Gunderson, who had been away several years. Gunderson replied, telling her to look under the kitchen roof in the cellar and in the barn, giving detailed descriptions of the places, and when she, with the help of a neighbor, Gunder Sorter, searched these places, $715 was found, which has been deposited with the Holt State bank. What the investigations, made on the strength of other information in Gunderson's letter, will result in is not yet known.

Buy North Dakota Banks.

Schafer, N. D., Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.) — W. D. McClintock of Rugby and W. C. McClintock of Tioga and their associates have purchased the McKenzie County State bank. They originally intended to establish a new competitive bank here. The local people are greatly pleased over the deal as the capital stock is to be increased and the institution under the new management will be able to do much more for the development of this section of the state.

Bemidji People Recovering.

Bemidji, Minn., Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Bemidji is shaking itself loose from a seige of pneumonia. About forty patients have been treated for that disease in St. Anthony's hospital here, of which two have died. Four other deaths have occurred. At present seven pneumonia patients are in the hospital here.

YOUNG MOTHERS

No young woman, in the joy of coming motherhood, should neglect to prepare her system for the physical ordeal she is to undergo. The health of both herself and the coming child depends largely upon the care she bestows upon herself during the waiting months. Mother's Friend prepares the expectant mother's system for the coming event, and its use makes her comfortable during all the term. It works with and for nature, and by gradually expanding all tissues, muscles and tendons, involved, and keeping the breasts in good condition, brings the woman to the crisis in splendid physical condition. The baby, too, is more apt to be perfect and strong where the mother has thus prepared herself for nature's supreme function. No better advice could be given a young expectant mother than that she use Mother's Friend; it is a medicine that has proven its value in thousands of cases. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.

A Soldier of Fortune.

"Because I Am So Beastly Well Connected," sings Herbert Cyril at the Orpheum this week. It is an English comedy song, and tells of the many things the singer could not do because he was "so beastly well connected."

The phrase applies to Mr. Cyril personally. There were many things he could not do in England for that reason. He was a "younger son" of an old English family, and but few lines of honest work were open to him in England. Accordingly he ran away from home when but a young man and went to Africa, where he worked in the diamond mines. Since then he has been somewhat of a soldier of fortune, and has worked as a cowboy in the Southwest, and as a sailor before the mast in the South Seas. He drifted back to England, got a chance in vaudeville, and then came to America with Miss Blanche Mehaffey, with whom he is appearing this week.

HELP WANTED IN DULUTH

And Furnished By the Help of Duluth People.

Those who suffer with kidney backache, urinary ills or any little kidney or bladder disorder, want kidney help. Who can better advise than some Duluth resident, who has also suffered, but has had relief. Duluth people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Here's one case and there are many others.

J. E. Watts, 918 Tenth Ave. W., Duluth, Minn., says: "I take pleasure in verifying the statement I gave in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills in 1898. I had backaches and lameness across my loins that made me stop work. The pain over my kidneys was so bad I couldn't stoop and I was stiff and lame. I knew that my kidneys were disordered, but nothing relieved me until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. They acted like a charm and I couldn't have had better results. Since then I have always kept Doan's Kidney Pills on hand."

UNFINISHED BUSINESS.

To the Common Council:

Your committee on finance, which was requested to investigate as to the advisability of outlining a tentative plan relative to division of duties of commissioners under commission form of government and other matters made necessary by the change from the present form of government to that of commission form, beg to report that following the suggestions offered in the resolution requesting this committee to make such investigation your committee wrote to a number of cities of approximately the size of Duluth, and from the information obtained, we find that in none of these cities was a plan of organization prepared for the commissioners before their induction into office; but in this connection we desire to point out that the charters of all the cities heard from have an administrative code incorporated therein which made the change to the commission form of government much simpler than it will be under our charter, which does not outline the manner in which any administrative work shall be carried on. Your committee believes that the most important work that will confront the commissioners at the time they take office is the framing and adoption of a simple and efficient administrative code, and your committee has consulted the heads of the departments of the present city government and believe such officers capable of framing such a code, but as most of them has the time to devote to working out, into a comprehensive plan, the suggestions which might be made. The more your committee has considered the question, the more impressed they have become with the necessity of employing some one to work in conjunction with the heads of the departments of the city government in preparing a tentative plan of organization and administrative code. It might not be amiss for your committee to present for your consideration one or two points that have led them to the above conclusion. This council has ordered this year more improvements than in any year in the history of the city. Members of this council are vitally interested in seeing these improvements completed this year. Funds have been provided and the work has been ordered done and the new commissioners will come into office just at the time of year when the work should be rushed. Many of the men elected will, in all probability, be unfamiliar with city work. The charter does not outline any methods of doing things as did the old charter. Every one realizes that work cannot be done effectively without a system, and the commissioners, instead of getting work done, will have their time frittered away in considering how to get it done. We believe these details should be provided for in advance. These considerations apply to all departments of city government, and even a partial survey of the situation will convince any one of the multiplicity of detail that will have to be taken care of. Your committee believes that this council should aid the commission in any way possible in order that the immense amount of work which has been planned for the year may be accomplished.

In view of these suggestions, your committee would recommend that it be authorized to investigate as to the qualifications and remuneration of a number of men, any one of whom might be employed by the city to consult the officers and heads of the various departments, and in conjunction with these officers work out a plan of organization and administration which the commissioners may use until they work out a better.

FRANK JORDAN,
J. B. GIBSON,
Committee.

Alderman Jordan moved that the report be adopted as the sense of the council and the committee be given authority asked.

The motion was declared lost on the following vote:

Yeas—Aldermen Bernard, Gibson, Hicken, Hogan, Jordan, MacDonell—6.

Nays—Aldermen Curren, Hector, Krueger, Makowski, Miller, Neff, Phillips, Sandberg, Scott, President Hoar—10.

By Alderman Makowski:

Resolved, That public necessity requires the taking of private property for a 66-foot roadway beginning at a point on the Farrell road where the present graded roadway ends, thence westerly to the southwest of the northwest of the southwest corner of section 15, township 50, range 14 west; thence through blocks 32, 31, 19, 14, and 3 in Trigg's and Kennedy's addition; through blocks 45, 37, 38, 29, and 40 in Gray's addition; thence westerly to connect with the Rice Lake road; thence southwesterly to connect with Highland avenue as platted in Duluth Heights, Sixth division and it is hereby ordered that such roadway be condemned.

Section 1. That section 17 of title 1, chapter 2, of the ordinance entitled, "An ordinance to regulate the erection, construction, use, control, maintenance and repair of buildings within the limits of the city of Duluth, Minnesota, used for human occupancy or habitation, the number of occupants, and the mode and manner of occupancy, for the purpose of securing the healthful, safe and sanitary environment for the occupants thereof, and to compel the owners of such buildings to alter, reconstruct or modify the same, or any part thereof, for the purpose aforesaid, and to prohibit the unlawful use or occupancy of such building or buildings," be amended to read as follows:

"In every tenement house and dwelling house hereafter erected, every room, including alcoves, water-closet compartments and bath rooms, shall have a window area of at least ten

CHICAGO RAID BEARS WHEAT

Markets of North America Follow Example of the Windy City.

Decreasing Receipts of Flax Send Values Generally Higher.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 23.—A bear raid on wheat in the Chicago pit today had the effect of sending wheat down on all the leading North American markets, Duluth May wheat closed 2c ½@⅞c lower. Cash wheat closed 2c under May, durum ¾c off, oats ⅝c off and rye and barley unchanged. Duluth January linseed closed ¾c higher and May 1c up.

The strength of the Liverpool wheat market had little apparent effect on the North American markets this morning, for not only was the gain at Liverpool offset by bearish cables from other European grain exchanges, but, as far as Duluth was concerned, there was little doing in the way of export of anything else than durum. No. 1 northern keeps so high-priced at home in comparison with the Canadian wheat that there is no chance to export it with the Duluth and Winnipeg markets standing as they do, relatively. Durum, however, maintains its premium over No. 1 northern, the demand for foreign markets continuing strong.

Duluth May wheat, which closed yesterday at 88⅛c bid, opened today at the same figure bid and at noon was selling at 87⅞c. There were lofter quotations also at Chicago, Minneapolis and Winnipeg. On the whole the wheat trade was quite listless. Minneapolis reported the cash demand poor.

Liverpool wheat today closed ½@¾d higher. That market was bullied by the reports of a drouth in Northern India, a fair demand from the continent and firmer cargo offers, but the rise was checked by the forecast of larger Argentine shipments, freer Platta offers of new wheat and the expectations of larger world wheat shipments in general.

Flax Market Strong.

Light receipts, together with a good demand and bullish foreign cables, produced an upward movement of flaxseed on the Duluth market this morning. The Minneapolis demand was quite brisk for cash seed and the cash price there was more than 1½c over the price of Duluth January. This accounts for the fact that Minneapolis has lately been receiving so much more flaxseed than Duluth. The crushers of that city seem somewhat concerned that they will not have as much flaxseed as they need to supply their oil trade before the next harvest. Duluth January flaxseed at noon today was 2¾c up, at $1.29 bid. May was a cent higher. Winnipeg January was 1½c higher, at $1.08, being 21c under Duluth January. Buenos Ayres February seed last night closed 1⅝c up, at $1.20⅞. London-Calcutta January today closed ½c higher, at $1.67⅞.

MARKET GOSSIP.

A Minneapolis wire says: "The cash demand lacks snap. Mills are moderate buyers. No. 1 northern blue stem is 1½@⅞c under May. Velvet chaff is 1½c under May. Flour sales are light and there are some complaints of slow shipping directions."

Duluth bonded grain receipts today: Wheat, 19 cars; barley, 2 cars; flax, 3 cars; total, 24 cars.

Foreign closing cables: Liverpool—Wheat, ¼d to ½d higher; corn, ¼d to ¾d lower. Paris—Wheat, unchanged; flour, ¾c to 1½c lower. Berlin—Wheat, ½c lower. Budapest—Wheat, ¾c lower. Antwerp—Wheat, ⅝c lower.

Broomhall's Argentine estimates: Wheat, 2,000,000 bu; corn, 3,400,000 bu.

Bartlett-Frazier wired from Chicago: "A cable received from Rosario this morning states that the rainfull is general and will be very beneficial. We think reports of damage much exaggerated, the crop being well advanced, and it is too early to place any estimate upon the same."

J. C. Murray of Chicago, connected with the Quaker Oats company and chairman of the crop improvement committee of the Council of Grain Exchanges, was a visitor on the floor of the Duluth Board of Trade today.

Mr. Murray expressed the opinion that there would be just a shade less winter wheat in the United States this year than there was last year. "Farmers of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan did not have good luck with their winter wheat last year," he said, "and for that reason I believe they have cut down the acreage in their sowing for this year. At the same time I do not think there will be any great diminution in the acreage of winter wheat over the country at large.

"The land that is afforded for other purposes by the decrease in the winter wheat acreage will probably go to corn and oats. I think the prospect is good for a large sowing of corn over the country at large. To be sure there has been a larger and larger amount of corn raised each year in the Northwest of late, but one should remember that there is a vast and growing demand for corn. Meat is high-priced and the cattle and hogs must have feed. Cattle no longer have the great ranges they once had for feeding, and farmers must therefore raise more feed for them.

"I believe the sowing of oats this year will be on about the usual acreage, notwithstanding the present cheapness of oats. Farmers through the central part of the country did their fall work very thoroughly last year and will be able to get at their sowing early. As a rule, if they do not get their oats planted by April 15, they put in corn instead. I do not think there will be any trouble this spring in getting all the oats they care to plant sown in time.

"Rye and barley, I think, will have their normal acreage over the country at large.

"I should like to mention the excellent work that is being done by the North Dakota Better Farmers' association during the two years of its organization. It has made great strides in the way of improving the choice of seed and methods of agriculture in the Northwest."

American primaries: Wheat receipts, today, 1,125,000 bu; last year, 586,000 bu; shipments, today, 626,000 bu; last year, 283,000 bu. Corn receipts, today, 1,023,000 bu; last year, 1,106,000 bu; shipments, 879,000 bu; last year, 793,000 bu.

Minneapolis indemnities: May puts, 86⅜c; calls, 87⅛c.

Clearances: Wheat, 957,000 bu; corn, 609,000 bu; oats, 6,000 bu; flour, 22,000 bbl; wheat and flour equal 1,056,000 bu.

Duluth car inspection: Wheat—No. 1 northern, 31; No. 2 northern, 22; No. 3, 1; no grade, 14; western red, 1; durum, 9; winter, 3; rejected, 3; mixed, 3; total wheat, 87; last year, 286; flax, 3; last year, 20; oats, 12; last year, 6; barley, 9; last year, 1; corn, 1; last year, none; total of all grains, 128; last year, 53; on track, 75.

The following from B. W. Snow: "The second cable received this morning from the Argentine comes from the firm that from my personal acquaintance with the trade in that country I regard as possessing the best means of local crop information that exists in Argentine. Where it refers to the possibility of this year's crop being below that of last year, it must be remembered that the 1912 crop was one of the largest that they ever gathered. The present crop is now well along in the roasting ear stage and has reached a point where the worst that drought could do would be to reduce the yield. It could not destroy the crop, and if the rainfall now reported is ample, much of the threatened loss would be made good. The corn belt there lies nearer relatively to the tropics than does ours, so that the present status of their crop is about the same as the bulk of ours would be on Sept. 1."

Paine, Webber & Co., received the following wire from Boston: "Increased strength developed in the copper metal market this morning and 16¼c for electrolytic was quoted by all the leading selling and producing companies. During the past few days the sales have been very heavy and some producers are well sold for February. While the volume of business has been small the inquiry both for domestic and foreign consumers continues heavy and prospects of substantial sales at the new level are good."

Gay & Sturgis received the following stock letter from J. W. Prentiss at New York:

"The Turkish-Balkan war is ended and now, according to previous predictions, Europe should buy an enormous amount of copper—money on the other side should become very cheap, and all together the financial situation should greatly improve. I think, the fact that the end of the war was expected has had considerable to do with the rally of the last two days.

"It is unquestionably true that there is a much better situation in the copper metal market, and substantial sales have been made in the neighborhood of 16½c. The copper shares ought to have a little more rally than they have yet had."

Cotton Markets.

New York, Jan. 23.—The cotton market opened steady with a decline of 1 point on January and March, but generally 3 to 4 points higher and the active old crop positions sold 10 to 12 points above the closing figures of last night during the early trading. This reflected a renewal of yesterday's buying movement, encouraged by firmness in Liverpool and the Balkan settlement. Liverpool also was a good buyer here, but the market met a great deal of cotton on the advance and later eased off to about the closing figures of last night. Reports from New Orleans that the advance was meeting increased offerings of spot probably inspired part of the selling. The census report showing 13,091,000 bales ginned to Jan. 16, was just about as expected and appeared to have no influence on the market.

Spot closed quiet; middling uplands, 12.85; middling gulf, 13.10. Sales, 1,700 bales. Futures closed steady. Closing bids: January, 12.45; February, 12.06; March, 12.07; April, 11.88; May, 11.90; June, 11.74; July, 11.75; August, 11.68; September, 11.30; October, 11.23; December, 11.26.

South St. Paul Livestock.

South St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 23.—Cattle—Receipts, 700; killers, steady; steers, $5.75 to $9.00; cows-heifers, $4.00 to $7.60; calves, steady, $4.25 to $9.50; feeders, steady, $4.00 to $7.10. Hogs—Receipts, 3,200; 5c lower; range, $7.10 to $7.22½; bulk, $7.15 to $7.20. Sheep—Receipts, 200; steady to 25c lower; lambs, $4.50 to $8.25; wethers, $4.00 to $5.50; ewes, $2.25 to $5.00.

London Stocks.

London, Jan. 23.—American securities opened steady and a fraction higher today. Part of the list later declined under realizing. At noon the tone was quiet and values were from ¼ above to ⅛ below yesterday's New York closing.

American securities opened quiet and a fraction higher. Later in the forenoon part of the list receded under realizing and in the afternoon local and New York selling caused a general decline. The closing was weak.

Midway Horse Market.

Minnesota Transfer, St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 23.—Barrett & Zimmerman report: The opening auction of the season was well attended by buyers from all parts of the Northwest, and a good clearance of all classes of horses was reported. The demand centered on general purpose farm horses and mares weighing from 1,300 to 1,400. Mules found a number of takers. Shipments were made to Phillips and Abbotsford, Wis.; Newberry and Bessemer, Mich.; Edmonton, Alta.; Yarrow, Man., and Duluth, Minn. Values as fellows:

STOCKS ARE DEPRESSED

United States Steel Under Pressure and Prices Take Drop.

Active Buying Later Causes Partial Recovery of Losses.

New York, Jan. 23.—Revelations growing out of the dissolution proceedings against United States Steel, especially the admission of a former president of the corporation concerning an international rail pool, were responsible for heavy pressure against Steel shares today. The decline of Steel exerted a depressing influence on the general market and offset the good effects which was expected from announcement of the virtual settlement of the Balkan war.

London sent over only a slightly higher range for Americans and the whole market failed to hold the pace set at the close yesterday. This hesitancy encouraged bears to put out short lines on a larger scale. Steel, Reading, Union Pacific, Amalgamated and Canadian Pacific were all depressed materially.

Bonds were easier.

Trading was active at the opening today and changes were irregular. The active leaders, particularly Steel, Union Pacific and Amalgamated, were distinctly heavy. Large blocks of Steel were sold and the price was forced down a point. Union Pacific also lost a point and Amalgamated ¾. Some of the less active issues were higher. American Can rose a point.

Pressure ceased and the list picked up smartly. Losses were mostly recovered but dealings contracted on the advance which influenced some later selling. Can issues were heavily bought and gained over 2 points on reports of large earnings.

Selling orders appeared to be exhausted by the time Steel had been lowered 2⅜, and Reading and Union Pacific 2 points. Trading then became dull with an average recovery of ½ a point.

The market closed firm. Active buying of the general list was resumed, coincident with another upward spurt in American Can, which lifted it to 33, and the preferred to 120. Recoveries from the low level reached a point or more elsewhere. St. Paul touched 114⅛ on the rally, but broke on one sale to 113¼ on the decision of the directors to issue $15,000,000 more convertible 4½ per cent bonds. The bonds went down to 104⅝.

LEGAL NOTICES.

NOTICE OF ELECTION UPON THE QUESTION OF ISSUING BONDS OF THE INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF DULUTH—

At a special meeting of the Board of Education of the City of Duluth, duly held on the 9th day of January, 1913, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That in the opinion of the Board of Education of the City of Duluth, it is expedient, and it is hereby so declared, that additional bonds of the Independent School District of the City of Duluth, in St. Louis County, Minnesota, in the sum of two hundred thousand dollars, be issued and sold to provide funds for the purpose of erecting and furnishing two school houses in said district as follows:

First. The Robert E. Denfeld Industrial High School Building, to be erected on Lots twelve (12) to eighteen (18), inclusive, in Block ninety-five (95), and Lots six (6) to eleven (11) inclusive, in Block ninety-four (94), all in West Duluth, Sixth Division, according to the recorded plat thereof.

Second. The first unit of the Roger S. Munger graded school building, to be erected on Lots nine (9) to sixteen (16) inclusive, in Block one hundred and fifty (150), Portland Division of Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof.

That said bonds draw interest at the rate of 4½ per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, and that they run thirty (30) years from their date with the option reserved to this Board to redeem the same, or any part thereof, at the end of twenty (20) years from their date, or on any interest day thereafter.

That the question of the issue of said bonds be submitted to the voters of said district at a special election to be held therefor upon the first day of February, 1913.

That the Clerk of this Board give notice of this special election in the manner provided by law; and that he cause the same to be published in the Duluth News Tribune and The Duluth Evening Herald, two daily newspapers published in said School District. In each issue of such papers during the ten (10) days immediately preceding the day of such election.

That a copy of this resolution be published in connection with the notice of the election at which the question is to be submitted.

NOW THEREFORE, Pursuant to said resolution and to authority duly given by the Common Council of the City of Duluth, as by law provided, NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that a special election of the Independent School District of the City of Duluth will be held upon Saturday, the first day of February, 1913, for the purpose of voting upon the question of the issuance of the bonds referred to in the foregoing resolution which is made a part of this notice. The polls will be open at six o'clock A. M. on the day of such election and will remain open for purposes of voting until seven o'clock P. M. on said day. Voters wishing to vote for the issuance of bonds in accordance with the said resolution, should indicate their wish by use of the following words upon their ballots, namely, "Shall bonds be issued—Yes." Voters wishing to vote against the issuance of bonds in accordance with the foregoing resolution, should indicate their wish by the following words upon their ballots, namely, "Shall Bonds be issued—No."

COUNTY TAX LEVIES TO SUPPORT DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATIONS PROPOSED

Bill Authorizing Contributions of Five Cents Per Capita.

House Refuses to Pass Bill to Send Veterans to Gettysburg.

Old Members Asked to Return Copies of Revised Statutes.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Official support of development associations by county tax levies is provided for in a bill introduced this morning by Representative C. W. Bouck of Royalton, authorizing county boards to contribute to the limit of 5 cents per capita to the support of such incorporated associations as will advertise agricultural resources and promote settlement. The bill has the backing of the development associations of Northern, Western and Southern Minnesota.

The use of prisoners at the state prison and state reformatory on state or county road work is provided for in a bill by Representative W. A. Campbell of Minneapolis, which came in this morning. Prisoners so occupied must be compensated for their work, their pay going to dependent relatives.

The house, after a long spell of oratory, this morning refused to suspend the rules and pass a bill by R. C. Dunn appropriating $36,000 to take the veterans of the First Minnesota and other Minnesota participants in the battle of Gettysburg to the semi-centennial celebration at Gettysburg in July.

Mr. Dunn proposed the passage of the bill, which he introduced this morning under suspension of the rules

MINNESOTA'S BIG SURPLUS

Nearly $20,000,000 Now in the State's Permanent Funds.

Advocates of the Tonnage Tax Plan Are Given Hearing.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—For the information of the members of the legislature and the public generally State Treasurer Walter J. Smith has prepared in tabular form, compressed within the limits of a small booklet, a showing of the present condition of the state's permanent funds which shows this commonwealth to be in a situation of extraordinary solvency not equalled by any state in the Union.

Coupled with the revelations of the state's enormous wealth as the greatest iron mine owner in the world, made the other day in a hearing before the house committee on mines and minerals, this statement should be a source of pride to every citizen.

Besides the known mines which according to the state auditor will increase the state's permanent funds to upward of $200,000,000, and the mines

PROGRESSIVES IN CONFERENCE

Senator Beveridge and Others Are Speakers of the Day.

St. Paul, Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The conference of Progressive party leaders, representing Michigan, North Dakota, South Dakota, Wisconsin and Minnesota, opened here this morning for an all day's session to close with a banquet this evening.

At this morning's meeting, which opened the proceedings, short addresses of general progressive topics were made by Former United States Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana, Mrs. Maud Howe Elliott, national committeemen and chairmen of the various state organizations.

Former Senator Beveridge will be the principal speaker at the banquet at the Auditorium tonight.

TRAPPER FOUND DEAD.

First White Resident of Iron River Dies Alone.

Iron River, Wis., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Francis Lore, the first white resident of Iron River was held here Wednesday from the Congregational church. He was a trapper living in a shack on the East Fork of the Iron river and was found dead in the woods.

EDISON SENDS WIFE TO RECEIVE MEDAL FOR HIM

New York, Jan. 24.—Thomas A. Edison remained at work over a new invention in his laboratory at Englewood, N. J., last night instead of coming to this city to receive from the American Museum of Safety a medal in honor of an old invention. Mrs. Edison, who came to accept the honor for him, explained that the inventor has been in seclusion in his workshop for two months, sleeping there and having his meals sent to him, and expects to continue in retirement until he completes his invention.

The medal is the Rathenau honor for an invention of a storage battery device which permits light without heat in places where explosives are handled and gases generate, reducing to a minimum danger to life and limb.

WILL NOT CONFIRM TAFT APPOINTMENTS.

Washington, Jan. 24.—Democratic senators in caucus today reaffirmed their determination to permit none of President Taft's nominations to be confirmed at this time, with the exception of army, navy and diplomatic appointments. The caucus was called at the instance of Senator Newlands. Senator Smoot, for the Republicans, said the Republicans would meet next Tuesday to determine upon their attitude.

MENOMINEE, MICH., MAN ENDS HIS LIFE.

Chicago, Jan. 24.—William Belongy, 30 years old, advertising manager of the Herald-Leader of Menominee, Mich., committed suicide by shooting today in the Chicago hotel, 20 South Clark street. He left his home eight days ago for Green Bay, Wis., where he said he desired to attend to a few personal business affairs.

No word was received from him since he left and several days ago his friends asked the Menominee police to search for him.

Before leaving home he complained of headaches and insomnia. Belongy registered at the Chicago hotel yesterday afternoon.

LUXURIES TO BE HEAVILY TAXED

Many Articles in "Schedule J" Come Under This Classification.

Washington, Jan. 24.—More than 16 per cent of all the tariff revenue for 1912 was raised from "Schedule J," consideration of which the house committee on ways and means began today. Linens, laces and linoleums, waterproof cloth, cork carpets and hydraulic hose, curtains, cables and cordage, threads, tapes and tampico and a variety of other manufactures of flax, hemp, jute, ramie and so on, are embraced in the schedule on which the government last year derived $49,000,000 of revenue from imports whose aggregate valuation reached $108,698,000. The ad valorem rate now averages 45 per cent.

All along the line, luxuries are to be taxed on a high duty basis under the Democratic program for the coming extra session. Most of the large number of items in this schedule come under the luxury classification. Under the present law the great bulk of laces, for curtains, pillowshams, wearing apparel and many other uses pay 60 per cent and some other laces as high as 70 per cent ad valorem. Cotton collars are now dutiable at 45 cents a dozen and 15 per cent ad valorem and linen collars 40 cents a dozen and 20 per cent. Democratic members of the committee think that the schedule generally is highly competitive and that while most of the articles will not be disturbed materially, there will be reductions on many where the committee believes it can cut with help for the revenue.

Montana Child Burned.

Missoula, Mont., Jan. 24.—In a fire which destroyed the ranch home of Otto Bauer, near the geographical center of the former Flathead Indian reservation, the farmer's 3-year-old daughter, Ellene, was burned to death and Mrs. Bauer and two other children seriously injured.

Lose on First Round.

Helena, Mont., Jan. 24.—The first round of the fight for the consolidation of all the state schools came up in the senate yesterday and opponents of the plan won out. After the bill had been read, President McDowell referred it to the committee on judiciary. Abbott moved it be referred to the committee on education and his motion carried by a vote of 17 to 12. This is taken as an indication that the majority of the senators do not favor the consolidation scheme.

YOUNG TURKS IN CONTROL OF SITUATION AND WAR IS LIKELY TO BEGIN AT ONCE

HEARINGS ARE NEARLY ENDED

Committee Hopes to Finish Money Investigation at Once.

James J. Hill and Son Are Waiting to Testify.

Washington, Jan. 24.—Hoping to conclude the money trust investigation today, the Pujo committee of the house confronted an abbreviated list of witnesses and a day of rapid-fire examination.

Henry P. Davison of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., who occupied the stand throughout the greater part of yesterday's session, and F. L. Hine, president of the First National bank of New York, were to be today's most important witnesses.

The chairman of the committee, Representative Pujo, and Counsel Untermeyer will make arrangements immediately upon the conclusion of the oral hearings to examine William Rockefeller. Chairman Pujo expects that Mr. Rockefeller will be in New York early next week, and it is ex-

FIREMAN DROWNED PERFORMING DUTY

Overcome By Fumes and Falls Into Three Feet of Water.

St. Louis, Jan. 24. — A fireman was drowned and ten other firemen were overcome by chemical fumes and smoke while fighting a fire at the plant of the Condie-Neale Glass company, 2600 North Broadway, today, which the police believe was started by burglars.

When firemen reached the building, a 6-story structure, they found the doors locked. In order to get to the flames they climbed a fire escape to a window on the fourth floor. Through this they entered. On the first floor they found a freight elevator which blocked the elevator shaft and prevented the fire from reaching the upper part of the building.

Going down a winding stairway, the firemen entered the basement but were either overcome by ether fumes or driven back.

The basement had been flooded by an automatic sprinkler. Charles Koester, a pipeman, was overcome by ether fumes and was drowned in three feet of water.

The police found that several desks had been broken open and money and stamps taken. The building previously had been broken into Wednesday night when a desk was rifled.

TO RECALL DELEGATES AT LONDON

Complete Revulsion of Feeling Regarding Proposed Surrender.

Fighting and General Disorder Break Out in the Capital.

London, Jan. 24.—The confirmation of the news of the complete revulsion of feeling in Constantinople against the proposed surrender to the allies has created the impression among the peace delegates that war will begin again almost immediately.

There are, however, two currents of opinion among the representatives of the Balkan league. One of these is in favor of asking Sir Edward Grey as honorary president of the peace conference immediately to convoke a session of the delegates at which the re-

REPLY IS NOT SATISFACTORY

London Newspapers Do Not Approve Secretary Knox's Suggestions.

Washington Officials Are Anxious to Hear From British Government.

London, Jan. 24.—Secretary Knox's reply to Sir Edward Grey on the question of Panama is found unsatisfactory by those evening newspapers which comment on it.

The Westminster Gazette, generally looked upon as the mouthpiece of the government, says:

"The Knox suggestion leaves the door open to a long series of bickerings which might do much to undermine the good relations of the two countries."

The Pall Mall Gazette says:

"Coming from any other country than the United States the tone of Secretary Knox's reply would be deeply resented. Unless international law overrides municipal law when treaty rights clash with it, international law has no existence and peaceful intercourse between states becomes impossible."

Should Decide at Once.

Washington, Jan. 24.—Secretary Knox's reply to the British protest against the exemption of American coastwise shipping from tolls in the Panama canal having been received in London, it is incumbent upon the British foreign office to come to a decision at once as to the course to be pursued in the continuance of the negotiations; to determine whether the efforts shall be continued to adjust the supposed

RELIEF PARTY IS FORCED TO RETURN

Started to Help German Scientists in Spitzbergen.

Christiana, Norway, Jan. 24.—The Norwegian expedition for the relief of the German scientists reported to be suffering terrible privations in a remote part of Spitzbergen, left Advent Bay, Spitzbergen, on Monday, but was forced to return there today as the water was found open and communication overland impossible. The relief of the German scientists will be impracticable until new ice has formed.

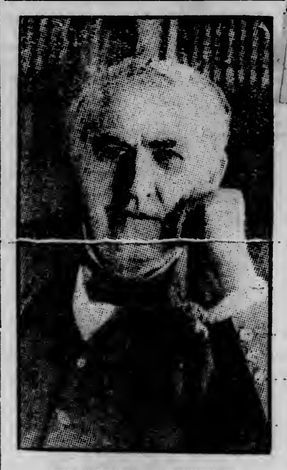

The first news of the plight of the German expedition reached Advent Bay last week. Capt. Ritzschel, one of the German explorers, came to seek aid for his companions whom he had left exhausted with cold and hunger on Wijde bay. Several others of the party had not been heard from since August, when they started on a sledge journey.

GRAND MARAIS SWEPT BY FIRE

Total Loss Is About $30,000, With Insurance of $11,000.

Grand Marais, Minn., Jan. 24.—(Special by Wireless to The Herald.)—Fire wiped out about two-thirds of the business district of Grand Marais early this morning, and it was only by very strenuous efforts that the rest of the village was saved.

The total loss was about $30,000, with insurance of $11,000.

The fire started in Ashford's pool hall, and aided by a high northwest wind, spread rapidly to the adjoining buildings, cleaning out the business district on Broadway back to the lake front within an hour.

The individual losses follow:

Ladd brothers, hotel and saloon; loss, $8,000; insurance, $1,500.

Morris Johnson, pool hall; loss, $2,200; insurance, $1,600.

Stubstad & Co., drygoods; loss, $2,500; insurance, $1,800.

Fred Winter, barber shop; loss, $3,000; insurance, $2,200.

Mrs. Sterling, boarding house; loss, $3,000; insurance, $2,000.

C. M. Ashford, pool hall and restaurant; loss, $4,000; insurance, $2,000.

Silas King, saloon; loss, $5,000; no insurance.

Mrs. Sterling succeeded in saving some of her furniture, and Ladd Bros. some of their stock, but in the other cases nothing was saved.

WANTED IN LOGUE MURDER CASE

George Cramer Arrested By Police of Davenport, Iowa.

Davenport, Iowa, Jan. 24.—George Cramer, said to be wanted in Chicago, in connection with the murder of Diamond Merchant Logue, was arrested in Davenport last night. He had been working at the carshops in Betterndorf for several weeks. He was lodged in jail last night, being held for investigation.

Chicago, Jan. 24.—Chief of Detectives John J. Halpin explained that a letter signed by Cramer was found among the personal effects of Joseph H. Logue, the murdered diamond merchant, who was killed in his office Dec. 20. The letter requested Logue to sell sixty pounds of silver.

Later Capt. Halpin recognized a photograph of Cramer as that of a man who was convicted of committing several burglaries on the West side and sentenced to the penitentiary eight years ago.

Cramer was placed under arrest by Detective O'Hara of Chicago, who had been watching him for some days. He stoutly maintained that he is innocent of the Logue murder. He said, however, that he had been visiting in Chicago at the time and returned to Davenport shortly afterward.

AITKIN CHILD CALLED.

Apparently She Is Recovering When She Expires Very Suddenly.

Aitkin, Minn., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Marcel, the 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hanson, died suddenly Wednesday morning at 11:30. She had been ill but a few days with typhoid fever, and was apparently becoming better. Wednesday, as she was being given some medicine, she gasped and expired immediatly. The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon.

Shutte of Mankato Policeman Budde Without Warning.

Shutte Was Mail Carrier, Forced to Quit Work By Brain Trouble.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 24.—Alex Shutte, a mail carrier of Mankato, Minn., this forenoon shot and killed Joseph Budde, a policeman of the same city, and then turned the weapon on himself with fatal results, while on board a Chicago & Northwestern railway train passing through West Allis en route to Milwaukee from the Northwest. Shutte was on his way to a sanitarium and was being attended by Budde. It is believed Shutte was insane.

Pulls Gun From Pocket.

Budde was sitting in the front seat of the smoker looking out of the window and paying no attention to his charge. Suddenly Shutte pulled a new .38-caliber revolver from his pocket and held the muzzle to Budde's head. Men in the car screamed in terror and just as the policeman turned his head the gun was discharged and the bullet entered his brain, killing him instantly.

A brakeman rushed toward the murderer but before he could reach him the man had turned the gun on himself and fired three times. The bullets went in either shoulder and a third went into the heart and Shutte died instantly.

Dr. E. E. Baker, Madison, was in the car and pronounced the men dead. The train made no more stops until reaching here. The bodies were then taken to emergency hospital where their identity beame known through letters. Twenty-five bullets for the revolver were found in Shutte's pocket.

Dr. S. Stack of a local sanitarium, said that reservation had been made in the psychopathic ward for Shutte who had been forced to quit work as a mail carrier because of brain trouble. Shutte is unmarried while Budde leaves a wife and seven children.

PRICE OF STEEL RAILS UNCHANGED

Former President Corey Says They Have Not Varied Since 1901.

New York, Jan. 24.—William E. Corey, former president of the United States Steel corporation, testified on cross-examination today in the government's suit to dissolve the corporation. For two days Mr. Corey has given testimony bearing on the contention of the government that the corporation is a monopolistic combination. He was examined today by C. A. Severance.

Mr. Corey was asked concerning the steel rail pool among American manufacturers. He said that the pool was a "hangover" from a pool which existed before the corporation was organized. It was broken up, he said, in 1904, or 1905.

Thereafter, Mr. Corey testified, some other manufacturers wanted to raise the price on several occasions, but the steel corporation declined. Since 1904 the price of steel rails, Mr. Corey said, had not varied from $28 a ton.

"For several years," he added, "prices of steel rails have been higher in France, Germany, Austria, Italy and Russia than here.

Taking up the international steel rail pool, Mr. Severance sought to show that the reason why producing countries did not invade one another's territory was because transportation rates would make it impracticable to do so.

"It was not the common custom to do so," Mr. Corey replied.

Mr. Severance asked if the witness did not recall cabling to James A. Farrell, when Mr. Farrell was abroad asking him to ascertain at what price rails had been shipped from Belgium to the Pacific coast for consumption by the Harriman lines.

"I remember that I cabled Mr. Farrell to that effect, Mr. Corey replied, "but I am not prepared to say whether it was before or after the period you refer to."

This period ended in 1910.

MANY OF ESCAPES WERE MARVELOUS

Doctor Crawls Under Ruins and Administers to Girl.

McKinney, Tex., Jan. 24.—The death list from the collapse of a store here yesterday, remained at eight today with one person—Mrs. Bel Williams—probably fatally injured and fourteen slightly hurt.

Recovery in quick succession of five bodies gave weight to early reports that many had been killed, but when the entire floor space was laid bare today, it was found that there was no possibility of any large number of bodies remaining underneath the wreckage that remains.

Many stories of miraculous escapes and heroic rescues are being told this morning. A. Kistler dug his little daughter out of the ruins, and was directed by the child to her imprisoned mother and grandmother, whom he found and released unharmed.

Dr. J. E. Knight crawled under the ruins and using restoratives, kept Miss Lula Zarcy, a clerk, alive for an hour until a rescue party reached her. She will recover.

The accident occurred when the walls of a building occupied by a farm implement concern fell in and crashed into an adjoining department store, causing that structure to collapse.

NO HEIRS TO CLAIM ESTATE.

The county treasurer will hold in trust for unknown relatives of three heirs of John Five, a former Duluthian, who have died since Five's death nearly six years ago, the sum of $1,081.20. If the heirs of the heirs are not found or do not claim their respective shares within a period of twenty-one years, the money will revert to the state.

John Five came to Duluth a number of years ago from Fergus Falls. He was employed for some time by Pulford & How, local real estate dealers. During the fall of 1907, Five's health failed and he went to Colorado. He had been in Denver but a few days before his death occurred. He died on Nov. 18, 1907. He was sent to Fergus Falls for burial.

As heirs, Five left six brothers and sisters and three nephews and nieces. A will provided that each of the former should be given one-seventh and each of the latter one-twenty-first of his estate.

Since Five's death, two brothers known as Benjamin Olson and Jacob Olson, have died. Their share in the estate in each case was $463.80. A nephew, Peter Erickson, also died. His share was to have been $154.60.

Of the three heirs who have died, the administrator knows practically nothing. Under an order of final distribution made today in probate court, the money payable to the heirs, now dead, will be paid over to the county treasurer to be held until claimed by their heirs.

GLEANED ALONG THE POLICE RUN

The operative of a private detective agency told an interesting incident at headquarters the other day, showing how a young man had had his eyes opened.

The detective was not one of the "tin horn" variety so often associated with alleged private detective agencies which exist by digging in mire to get evidence for divorce suits and perchance material for blackmail. He had been in the business for years, dealing with higher class crimes and has a good standing with police departments over the country with which he has co-operated at different times. The pretended "detectives" of the shady sort do not go very far with the average police department.

The operative had been listening to a discussion of various kinds of raids, among them being some in which questionable women had been arrested, which brought up the incident which he related.

"I was up in Winnipeg when an employer was turned over to me who wanted an investigation made of one of his employes. He said that his accounts did not appear to be right and that he feared he was going the pace.

"I lost no time in getting acquainted with the young man. He had a good standing in his own circle, but was undoubtedly spending more than he was earning. It did not take me long to learn that his money was being squandered upon a woman with whom he had become acquainted. He was infatuated over her and he thought that she was in love with him.

"I told him that she was just playing him for a sucker, which only made him angrier. I said that all she wanted was his money and that she was like a lot of others. I knew that she was stringing him along for what was in it for her, but he couldn't see it that way.

"I then made a proposition to him. I offered to bet him $25 that if he took her out and she found that he did not have any of the green plush, she would toss him over. He took me up on it as soon as he could get the words out of his mouth. We arranged a little party, of which the woman in question was to be one. The arrangements went as per schedule and I did the buying, spending the money which went across the table. Of course, it did not come out of my pocket. After a while the woman leaned over to him and asked him if it wasn't pretty nearly time that he was buying a drink.

"'I'm broke, tonight,' he confessed. 'I haven't got any coin with me.'

"'Well, I like your nerve,' was her rejoinder, 'taking me out this way when you're broke. What do you want to come around me for when you haven't got the money?'

"That opened that young man's eyes. A little later we sent the others home in a cab and he turned to me with the remark that I had won my bet. I told him that he could keep his money and explained the reason. I went to his employer and informed him of what had taken place. The employer was the right kind of man. He kept the young man at the same position. His work improved at once. He is now drawing a higher salary and has money in the bank. He learned a lesson which he will never forget to his last days. From my observation the same kind of a lesson would work a revolution in a lot of young men now playing the parts of deluded fools."

Elsie Johnson, the girl who was arrested early yesterday morning, was convicted of drunkenness in police court yesterday afternoon. She confessed that she had been drinking Manhattan cocktails and the police stated that she was so helpless that she had to be assisted into the station. She attracted the attention of a policeman by her screams. She was in an automobile with a man well known in the city, but he was not detained. She got a straight sentence of five days in the county jail. The authorities said that they would probably want to use her for a witness in another matter.

Because Henry Miller snored while he slept, he and Carl Nelson were driven from their downy couch on the stone stairs in the postoffice building early this morning. The two claimed that they had gone there to get out of the cold. Nelson explained that the attention of the watchman was attracted to them by the rasping sounds emanating from the region of Miller's proboscis. A policeman was called by the guardian of the premises of the Federal building and they were sent to headquarters. Both were given their liberty when arraigned in police court this morning.

Charles Shubert was arrested about 4 o'clock this morning by Patrolmen Wanvick and Andree on a charge of keeping his saloon, at 713 West Superior street, open before hours. It is claimed that several men and women came out of the place and that the officers stepped inside when the door was opened to let them out. Shubert pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for Monday afternoon.

A poker which had become red hot while being used in the furnace, was dropped in a pile of excelsior in the basement of the store at 405 East Fourth street yesterday afternoon. The fire department was summoned and squelched the blaze before any material damage was done. An oil stove used in an upper room of the Omaha station took fire last evening, causing the department another run. The loss was trivial.

John Waland started to scuffle with a policeman who placed him under arrest last evening on a charge of drunkenness. In the melee he strained his knee. He claims to be so badly hurt that he couldn't go to court this morning, but will likely be arraigned this afternoon.

William Korpela, Ely saloon man, was arrested this morning on a charge of having sold Christopher Columbus, an Indian, three bottles of whisky for $3. He waived examination and was bound over to the grand jury.

John Pgescich, the giant foreigner arrested yesterday morning by Patrolman John Connor, confessed yesterday afternoon that he is the man wanted in Minneapolis for having shot a man the night of Jan. 20. John is over 6 feet 4 inches tall and weighs about 225 pounds. Detective Oman of the Mill City force reached Duluth today to return him to Minneapolis.

Two fugitives arrested here were taken away yesterday. John W. Jordan, wanted at Winnipeg for burglarizing box cars and jumping a $2,000 bail bond, and Ernest Redenberg, wanted at Big Rapids, Mich., for burglary and breaking jail, both changed their minds about fighting extradition and left in the custody of police officers yesterday.

C. P. Larsen, arrested on a charge of being an itinerant merchant selling goods at 2004 West Superior street without a license, was not tried this morning. The case against him was dismissed on motion of the county attorney for lack of evidence.

August Koskinen, arrested on a charge of assaulting John Lanko, was convicted in police court yesterday afternoon. The evidence showed that without provocation Koskinen had slashed Lanko in the back of the head with a knife at 18 Sixth avenue west. He inflicted a deep scalp wound. Koskinen drew a straight jail sentence of sixty days.

GRAIN SAMPLES BY PARCEL POST

Special Delivery for Some Samples Asked By Congressman Miller.

Washington, Jan. 24. — A change in the parcel post law by which samples of grain may be sent by special delivery into Duluth for exhibition to members of the board of trade has been suggested to the postoffice department by Representative Miller. Before the parcel post law went into effect samples of grain were taken from cars in transit and sent to the board of trade by special delivery on fast trains arriving several hours ahead of the consignments.

Under the parcel post law, these samples must be sent by parcel post and there is no special delivery provision in the law. This delays purchase of grain in transit on sample and, it is alleged seriously interferes with expeditious unloading or reconsignments of grain at Duluth and Minneapolis.

Postmaster General Hitchcock has been impressed with the need for changes in the parcel post law to meet this and other conditions and expects to suggest some modifications of the law to congress during the present session.

FRENCH RE-ELECTED.

George Grout of Duluth Official Judge for State Dairymen.

Northfield, Minn., Jan. 24.—Andrew French of St. Paul was re-elected president of the State Dairymen's association at the session here.

There was some opposition to Mr. French's re-election headed by A. J. Vye, of St. Paul, but not enough to make the result of the election at any time doubtful.

Chris Heen of Osakis was re-elected first vice president to succeed Charles Nelson of Litchfield, and Ed. Ulrich of Biscay, second vice president to succeed Mr. Heen.

F. D. Currier of Nicollet was re-elected secretary; J. M. Jack of Stanton, treasurer, and George P. Grout, Duluth, official judge.

Capt. Jolley Dismissed.

Washington, Jan. 24.—The navy department has announced that President Taft has approved the verdict of a Norfolk court-martial which found Capt. Wade Jolley of the marine corps guilty of absence without leave and non-payment of debts. He is accordingly dismissed from the service. Capt. Jolley, who was appointed from Iowa in 1899, lately was sentenced at the marine barracks, Philadelphia.

Has Silver Fox Pelt.

Renville, Minn., Jan. 24.—Mathias Jordet, living nine miles northwest of Renville, is the owner of a silver fox that he captured last spring. He is asking $1,000 for the pelt.

SUFFRAGE BILL BEFORE SENATE

Is Favorably Reported to Upper House in North Dakota.

New Salem Makes Bid for Proposed Asylum for Insane.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The action of the senate women suffrage committee in favorably reporting the Bronson bill yesterday marks the first step towards the passage of such a measure by the legislature this winter. It is practically certain that a bill providing for the submitting of the question to the people in the election of 1914, will be passed. The senate committee's report carried with it minor amendments which were adopted, and today the bill is on the calendar for final passage by the upper house.

Senator Porterfield of Fargo has introduced the first bill on the question of oil inspection. It is proposed to reduce the tests on kerosene, it being contended that the flash test and gravity tests prescribed are such as to make it impossible to bring the best burning oils into the state.

Lignite Experiment Station.

Fifteen thousand dollars for the work of the state lignite coal experiment station at Hebron is proposed in a measure introduced yesterday by Senator Leutz of Morton county. The Hebron station was established four years ago and it has been operating most of the time since then, the principal object being the working out of a process for the briquetting of lignite coal, and the utilization of the lignite coal in the manufacture of gas.

New Salem, in Morton county, has broken into the list of cities that would like to have the proposed asylum for the insane, Representative Mann Kellogg favoring that city.

The adoption of the Minnesota plan for the publication of the laws of the state following each legislative session through the newspapers is proposed by Representative Martin of Morton county. He would have the session laws published in at least one newspaper in each county within one month after the session is adjourned.

Representative Bass has introduced a bill providing for the inspection of steam boilers and for the licensing of engineers in charge of them.

Citizens of Park River to the number of seventy-five filed a communication yesterday asking that an exhibit be maintained at the San Francisco exposition in 1915.

For Industrial School.

Senator Barnes has introduced a bill asking for an appropriation of $146,000 for the state industrial school at Ellendale. That sum would care for maintenance and for permanent improvements proposed during the coming two years.

Senator Jacobson's measure relating to unfair discrimination upon the part of central creameries in the purchase of cream has been recommended for passage, only minor amendments being proposed.

The Hendrickson bill proposing that it require a unanimous vote of the supreme court to declare any measure unconstitutional caused considerable debate in the house. This is the first attempt at curbing the powers of the supreme court that has been made during this session. Several of the lawyer members, including Chairman Divet of the judiciary committee, contended that the author of the bill did not know its effect, if passed, and that it would be inoperative and ineffective.

The picture of Former Senator C. B. Little of Bismarck will be placed in the senate at the side of the picture that has already been hung there of Senator Jud La Moure. Both are pioneer senators of the state who have discontinued their services in that body.

An income tax is proposed by Representative Morkrid, and he would make it a duty of the state tax commission to enforce such taxation.

Yesterday the proposal of the Tri-State Grain Growers' association, to have a committee appointed to visit Europe and make a study of the methods of obtaining credit and capital for farmers, was placed before the legislature.

HIDDEN BOOKS

Brought to Light---The Problem Solved.

Last month five thousand books were dragged from hidden corners in Duluth houses and exposed to the light for the first time in years.

Many were of beautiful binding, some were of unusually fine craftsmanship. Two or three rare originals were among them, the first time the owner had seen them in months.

These books were practically lost to the world and probably would still be if the owners had not visited Bayha & Co.'s store and purchased the Gunn sectional bookcases which admit a library of any size without crowding.

There is no limit to their capacity.

If your library is crowded—if you have books in hiding bring them to light in a Gunn sectional case.

CHILD LABOR WILL BE THEIR THEME

Sunday will be observed throughout the country as Child Labor Sunday.

Churches, benevolent organizations and clubs of various kinds will discuss the child labor situation and bring to light some of the horror of this kind of employment. The Inter-Church Council of Duluth, through its social service committee with Frank Crossweller as chairman, has arranged for a service of this character. The committee has secured Miss Jean Poirier who has made a special study of this subject and Rev. J. A. McGaughey, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church. The subject will be discussed by those two local authorities from the standpoint of the social, economic, moral and religious phases. The committee has secured the auditorium of the Young Men's Christian association for this special service. The time for the service is 3:30 p. m.

Both men and women are invited to this service. The subject is of interest to both and it is expected that the auditorium will be filled. The Y. M. C. A. orchestra will precede the service by a half hour concert in the lobby.

PROBATE JUDGE TURNS DOWN CLAIM

Estate of Hack Driver Is Sued By Michael Jordan.

In probate court yesterday, Judge Gilpin disallowed a claim of $635 brought by Michael Jordan against the estate of John Wilson, a well-known cab driver of this city, who died in June, 1912, leaving $8,500. Jordan sued for services.

The probate court yesterday entered an order determining the inheritance tax in the estate of John Megins, former owner of the Bon Ton bakery and other valuable Superior street property, who died leaving an estate of $129,464.31. The inheritance tax to be paid by the various heirs will total $2,267.51.

Under a pre-nuptial agreement, the widow receives $20,000, all of which the court holds exempt from inheritance taxation. There are twenty other beneficiaries receiving amounts ranging from $10,000 to $1,000.

WRENSHALL ROUTE IS PREFERRED

Elwell Law Petition for New Road Will Be Circulated.

A special committee of the Commercial club at a meeting yesterday, decided to get out an Elwell law petition for the building of a road from Duluth to Carlton by a bridge at Fond du Lac and a route through Wrenshall.

C. I. McNair of Cloquet, a member of the state highway commission, and several other Cloquet and Carlton people attended the meeting. Judge Cant is chairman of the Commercial club committee and the other members are: E. J. Filiatrault, William Burgess, H. J. Mullin and H. V. Eva.

The route over the old St. Paul & Duluth right-of-way was considered, but it was held to be prohibitive on account of expense.

H. J. Mullin, secretary of the Automobile club, will call a meeting at Pine City soon to consider the route of the road between Duluth and the Twin Cities from Carlton southward.

CONVENTION OF ODD FELLOWS

Duluth Lodges Prepare for Big Meeting to Be Held in June.

At a meeting of delegates, representing the various lodges of the Odd Fellows of Duluth, yesterday afternoon, arrangements were made for the entertainment of the delegates of the grand lodge, which will hold its annual convention in Duluth on June 8, 9 and 10.

Committees were appointed as follows: General committee, Dr. W. H. Kohler, L. A. Simonson and E. R. Beady; on arrangements, William Bernard, E. W. Hugo and B. Silberstein; financial, George M. Peterson, W. B. Hartley and E. L. Hollander; entertainment, L. A. Simonson, L. W. Gilliland, E. L. Hollander, Edward C. Johnson of Virginia, A. T. Hill and M. P. Carlson; ladies' entertainment, Frank McDonald, J. W. Preston and Joe Becks; press, S. R. Forgy and E. L. Hollander. The general committee will meet Monday evening, Feb. 17, at Central Link hall, Fifth avenue west and Fourth street.

Every-day Dyspepsia.

S. B. HARTMAN, M. D. Columbus, Ohio.

In my article last Sunday I made the statement that there are a great many cases of catarrh of the stomach that are not recognized as such.

I want to emphasize that statement. Nearly every case of so-called dyspepsia is in reality catarrh of the stomach. A great many cases of so-called rheumatism are catarrh of the stomach. A great many cases of constipation are caused by catarrh of the stomach. A great many cases that come under the general term of billousness are catarrh of the stomach.

Thousands of Testimonials.

As stated in my article last Sunday, there is no class of cases that write me more frequently or more enthusiastically as to the benefits received from Pe-ru-na than this very class. I feel safe in saying that a greater number of people have recovered from catarrh of the stomach by taking Pe-ru-na than any other remedy in the world. This may be partly due to the fact that more people know about Pe-ru-na than any other remedy, but it is certainly also due to the fact that Pe-ru-na is an excellent remedy for such cases.

Write to Dr. Hartman.

Wherever it seems to fail a letter calling my attention to the matter is generally sufficient for me to be able to set it right. Even though Pe-ru-na be taken, the patient may be imprudent in his diet or habits and thus defeat the remedy. But under ordinary, reasonable circumstances Pe-ru-na may confidently be expected to render exactly the assistance that Nature needs in these cases.

Pe-ru-na, Man-a-lin and La-cu-pla manufactured by the Pe-ru-na Company, Columbus, Ohio. Sold at all drug stores. No. 40.

SUBPOENA DIDN'T HOLD

Brought From Chicago By Federal Court, Immune From District Court.

J. A. Cavanaugh of Chicago, state's star witness who suddenly lost his ardor and who refused to come to Duluth to testify in the four untried embezzlement cases pending in district court against Andrew Smith, former manager of the now bankrupt Northland Mercantile company, cannot be made to testify under a subpoena from the state courts which was served upon him while he was in Duluth recently to testify before the United States district court grand jury.

Judge Dibell so held yesterday when arguments were heard before him on a motion which sought to release Cavanaugh from any obligation to obey the subpoena. Attorney J. A. Hanks, representing Cavanaugh, appeared in court in support of the motion and County Attorney Greene was heard in opposition. The court threw out the subpoena on the grounds that Cavanaugh, a Chicago man, came into the state and jurisdiction of the court, to answer to a Federal court subpoena and that while so engaged, he was immune from any process served by the state of Minnesota.

Cavanaugh claimed the right of exemption and insisted that although it was immediately after his discharge as a witness before the Federal grand jury, that the state subpoena was served upon him, he had not as yet had time in the usual course of travel to return to his home in Chicago. He took the attitude that he came into the state at the summons of the Federal government and not of his own free will and accord. The law is understood to be that a witness brought into the state as a witness before a Federal court is immune from any process served by a state court, whether it be a warrant of arrest or a subpoena as a witness.

Cavanaugh is manager of the H. H. Hixon company, a Chicago wholesale coffee house with which Smith had numerous dealings prior to his arrest for embezzlement. At Smith's hearing in municipal court at the time of his arrest and also before the September grand jury, Cavanaugh appeared as the principal witness for the prosecution. Cavanaugh faithfully attended the sessions of the grand jury and according to the county attorney appeared anxious to secure Smith's conviction.

Change of Heart.

County Attorney Greene, at the time Attorney O. J. Larson for Smith attempted to have the court dismiss the indictments because of delay in the trial, stated that it was owing to Cavanaugh's apparent interest in the prosecution of Smith that he did not deem it necessary to subpoena him to appear at the trial. Later, when Cavanaugh was asked to be on hand at the trial, he refused, and ignored every request of the prosecuting official.

The county attorney also claimed at that hearing that he had reason to believe that friends and relatives of the defendant Smith had induced Cavanaugh to stay outside of the state in order to escape subpoena.

Prior to the convening of the January grand jury of the Federal court, County Attorney Greene and Assistant United States District Attorney Oakley were in conference, and it is supposed that it led to an investigation of the Smith case by the Federal grand jury. At any event, Cavanaugh was served at Chicago with a Federal court subpoena commanding him to appear before the Federal court in Duluth with the books of the company and other data concerned in the dealings with Smith and the Northland Mercantile company.

Whether or not the Federal grand jury returned an indictment against Smith on some charge affecting his relations with the bankruptcy proceedings, over which the Federal government would have jurisdiction, has not been disclosed by the United States district attorney.

Cavanaugh is the principal witness in the four cases pending against Smith. His testimony is understood to be vital in importance, and it is doubtful if the state will proceed without him. He is now out of the court's jurisdiction and cannot be subpoenaed unless he comes within the boundary lines of Minnesota on another mission than that of answer to a Federal court summons.

BUSY YEAR FOR PARK BOARD

Summary of Work of Past Twelve Months Contained in Report of Secretary.

The past year has been a busy one for the park board, according to the annual report of Henry Cleveland, secretary and superintendent.

The board has maintained nine public rinks and supervised seven others; many improvements have been made in the various parks and driveways; numerous culverts have been installed, the Snively road opened to traffic, scores of trees planted and replaced, several tracts were added to the park system and plans prepared for securing others and considerable other detail work given attention.

Interest in the activities of the park board has been steadily increasing in Duluth. To show what has been done Mr. Cleveland has prepared a summarized statement showing the accomplishments of each month in condensed form. It is in part as follows:

January—Eight skating rinks were operated during the month with good attendance. Four additional rinks were supervised and assisted.

February—The eight skating rinks were operated for twenty-three days, season closing on account of weather conditions. Fertilizer was hauled for trees and parks and materials placed for erection of shelter houses on play grounds. Teeter boards and giant strides prepared for use later.

March—The road culverts were again chipped out and thawed out by portable steam boiler and all water ways opened and cleaned.

April—Commenced work on the retaining wall in Chester Park. Park and boulevard crews were set at work for the season clearing up and repairing roadways, walks, etc.

May—Commenced work on the grading of Snively road. Erected four shelter houses on playgrounds. Planted 2,754 trees and shrubs in Central park. Cleared and planted ten blocks on D. & I. R. R. right-of-way in Lakeside. Cultivated and fertilized same. Trees and shrubs also planted in Chester Hill Top and Lincoln parks. Park seats, tables and comfort station painted in Lester park and the general work on roads, paths and parks brought up to season. Replaced 210 trees on various streets of city and fertilized street trees as far as material was procurable.

June—Work on Snively road continued, also work on Central park paths and parkways. Dead and down timber in Lester park removed. Westerly portion of Lincoln park cleared and brush cut.

July—Completed work on Snivley road and opened it for traffic July 7. Completed walks in Central park. Commenced work on north roadway, Congdon park. Commenced grade to reconnect the boulevard at Piedmont avenue and Hermantown road to meet the twelve-foot cut in grade made by county commissioners on Hermantown road. Resurfaced east end of boulevard with gravel. Improved grades in paths. Opened up three vistas. Reseeded, washed banks and repaired pavilions, all in Chester park.

August—Graded triangle at East Fifth street and Woodland avenue. Completed north road in Congdon park as ordered. Commenced work on western extension of boulevard at Oneota cemetery (westward). Partially graded three of playgrounds. Completed connection of boulevard with Hermantown road at Piedmont avenue and opened it for traffic. Commenced tree pruning and cultivation on city streets and avenues.

September—Continued work on west extension of boulevard. Regraveled paths in Washington, Portman, Chester and Lester parks. Continued clearing of woods in Lester park.

November—Completed work on exboulevard to Earl street (Proctor road). Resurfaced portion of boulevard and replaced worn out plank culvert at Seventh avenue east by corrugated steel culvert. Mulched young trees and prepared parks as far as means permitted for winter season.

December—Prepared plats for various extensions; Fairmont part, about thirty-five acres; Lincoln park, about forty acres, including upper portion of Miller's creek, both sides; Fortieth and Forty-first avenues west, about seven acres; western extension of boulevard, routed largely on dedicated lands and surveys made. Plans examined and adopted for future work in Lincoln, Lester, Fairmount, Chester and Central parks for the season of 1913, also the improvement of squares at Fond du Lac, Minnesota Point and Lakeside. Completed maps for information bureau of department and commenced official map of park system on one sheeet 36 by 4 to be completed this winter by order of president of the board.

FINED FOR SELLING LIQUOR TO INDIAN.

In district court yesterday afternoon S. J. P. (Doc) Lackie, fur trader and saloon keeper at Tower, was fined $75 by Judge Dibell, who received a plea of guilty on a charge of selling liquor to an Indian. Lackie sold two bottles of liquor to George Vivvier, an Indian, on Jan. 18 last. He paid his fine.

This afternoon Willie Korpela of Ely will be brought into district court and will be allowed to plead guilty to a similar charge. He is accused of having sold three bottles of liquor to Christopher Columbus, an Indian, on Jan. 14 last. In police court this morning Korpela was bound over. He told the police that he would plead guilty this afternoon in district court.

Red River Valley Association to Keep Up Its Work.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Swedish Lutherans of the Red River Valley association will raise $1,000 for mission work during the coming year, decision to do so being made at the annual meeting, adjourned here last evening.

It was also decided by the association to continue support to the North Star college at Warren, Minn., which is maintained by the Swedes of the Northwest. Reports of that institution, submitted to the association, showed that it had a very profitable year.

NO PUBLIC RECEPTION

Not Likely to Be General Reception After Inauguration.

Canvass of Senate Shows Opposition to Social Function.

Washington, Jan. 24.—As the result of a general canvass of the senate today, announcement was made that in all probability there would be no general public reception to President Wilson, following his inauguration March 4 next. When the Washington inaugural committee referred the subject to the congressional inaugural committee and that body refused to take cognizance of it, the senate members of the committee, led by Senator Overman of North Carolina, interviewed practically all members of the senate. They found a preponderance of opinion in opposition to any public demonstration during the evening following the inauguration.

Reasons given for this conclusion were many. Necessarily the inauguration ceremonies, involving a trip to the capitol, participation in the inauguration of the vice president and the proceedings in the senate, the delivery of the inaugural address and the prolonged review of the inaugural procession are to come, and it is feared to follow these with a general reception would overtax the endurance of Mr. Wilson, especially in view of the fact that it would be impracticable to limit the attendance. It is estimated that from 50,000 to 100,000 would be in the line of those who would want to shake hands with the new president.

There is also apprehension as to the result upon the people themselves of getting together in such a throng. The fact is recalled that when President Johnson undertook to give an inaugural reception the White House was so crowded and some of the people so disorderly, that it became necessary to throw many out through the windows.

The president-elect's friends in the senate feel satisfied that their decision will met with his approval. They declare that if the house should adopt a resolution providing for a reception it would be killed in the senate.

REMANDED FOR A NEW TRIAL

Court of Appeals Reverses Decision in "Bleached" Flour Case.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 24.—The United States circuit court of appeals yesterday reversed the district court decision in the case of the government against the Lexington Mill & Elevator company of Lexington, Neb., in the "bleached flour" case.

The lower court held that the electrical bleaching process was a violation of the pure food law, but the court of appeals remanded the case for re-trial.

Judge McPherson of Kansas City charged the jury that if it found that the bleaching process added anything to the flour, whether injurious or not, it should return a verdict in favor of the government. The higher court ruled that Judge McPherson erred in this instruction.

In the arguments before the court of appeals, the attorneys for the company said that a nitrate was added to flour in the bleaching process, but contended that a man would have to eat about 15,000 loaves of bread before he would get any ordinary dose of chemical. Attorneys said that the bleaching process was so valuable to the millers of the country that were its abandonment enforced, the flour supply of the nation would be reduced greatly, while the flour was bleaching naturally, or the wheat thoroughly ripening.

The merits of the Alsop electrical process of bleaching flour are not affected by today's decision of the Federal circuit court, the case being reversed and remanded for new trial on a technicality having to do with exceptions to the district court jury, which originally found against the Lexington mills.

DIOGENES WOULD HAVE PAUSED HERE

Charles S. Starkweather, former Episcopal rector, former mayor of Superior, and now running a cigar store on West Superior street, says that every once in a while something happens which restores his waning trust in humanity. The latest happening of this kind has for its heroine Miss Marie Burkley, cashier in one of the cafeterias of this city.

On Wednesday morning Mr. Starkweather went into this place of "help-yourself" lunches for breakfast. He was wearing a bow-tie and had put his valuable stick-pin in a purse he was carrying. When he came to the cashier's desk to settle he pulled a small check out of the purse and had it cashed. That evening when he looked into his purse again he found the stick-pin gone. He remembered the incident of the check and concluded that he had pulled the pin out when he pulled out the check, for they were in the same compartment.

Inquiry failed to get the pin that night, so next day he went to the manager and asked if a pin had been found. On giving its description the manager handed it out. Miss Burkley, on finding it turned it over to the management.

It is a very valuable pin, not only for its intrinsic worth but for the sentiment attached to it. It is a cluster of nine pure diamonds, the center one being a large one. It had been the late Mrs. Starkweather's.

"Things like these," said Mr. Starkweather yesterday, "are what restore confidence in human nature. Miss Burkley need not have said a word and nobody could possibly have known but what the next one to step up to the cashier's desk had found the pin."

PLEADS FOR MAN WHO SHOT AT HIM.

Rolla, N. D., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Because Al Martin, at whom he is charged with having fired several shots, appeared in district court and asked that he be paroled, J. Hukill will not have to stand trial. Martin, who is a county official, made his plea for clemency before Judge Buttz. The shooting took place on the streets of Bibee several months ago.

BENEFIT AT MIDWAY.

To Be Given for Andrew Hedeen's Family Next Wednesday.

Midway, Minn., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Midway Literary society will give "The Old District School," a comedy farce in two acts, at the Woodmen hall next Wednesday evening at 8:30. This is to be a benefit performance, the net proceeds going to the Andrew Hedeen family, who are in very unfortunate circumstances owing to accidents which have befallen them. Mr. Hedeen was run down by a street car last summer and crippled for life. Mrs. Hedeen was later on injured in a runaway accident, from which she has not yet recovered. The cast of characters is as follows: Miss Jemima Simpkins, teacher, Mrs. J. F. Anderson; Deacon Tidd, Henry Norman; John Jacob Astor, Joe Highmark; Patience Puddifoot, Frances Lackie; Jesse James, Carl Strom; Mehitable Honswoggle, Anna Lackie; Liza Ann Snodgrass, Helen Dodge; Lydia Pinkham, Hilda Ekeroth; Ben Butler, Fred Hendrickson; Tooty Frooty, Helga Ekeroth; Christopher Columbus, Paul Larson; Peruna Jones, Frances Anderson; Daniel Webster, Emil Nolin; Petey Barnum, Eller Ekeroth; Semanthy Small, Mable Larson; Brigham Young, Albert Ekeroth; Buster Brown, George Highmark; Cornelius Vanderbilt, William Lackie; Jim Blaine, Eric Johnson; Mrs. Amanda Quackenbush, Miss Dorothy E. Scott.

HELD UP BY MANN.

Minority Leader of House Halts Business By Filibustering.

Washington, Jan. 24.—It took the house exactly three and a half hours today to approve its journal of yesterday. Conducted by Minority Leader Mann, an expert in filibustering, the friends of the Lincoln memorial project forced the clerk to read the journal in full for the first time in many years.

Mr. Mann conducted the filibuster, he said, "to teach the other side that the minority is not to be trifled with."

The filibustering tactics on the Democratic side had prevented the house from reaching the Lincoln memorial bill, which the Republicans had hoped to secure action on. As soon as business was started today, Mr. Mann demanded the reading of the journal in full, a task usually dispensed with by unanimous consent. The clerk skipped over the introduction of bills, but the Republican leader caught the omission, and the clerk was forced to go back and start again.

Representative Fitzgerald finally moved that the journal be approved; Mr. Mann moved that it be amended and when this was ruled out or order, moved to lay Mr. Fitzgerald's motion on the table.

In the maze of roll calls, parliamentary inquiries and Democratic attempts to start the day's business, the house consumed half a day's session, while legislation waited. Representative Mann finally abandoned his fight, after securing a parliamentary advantage which will probably result in the consideration of the Lincoln memorial bill next Wednesday.

Duluthian Mine Cashier.

Negaunee, Mich., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—John L. Fook, Jr., of Duluth has succeeded J. E. Nelson as cashier at the Republic Iron & Steel company's mines here. COUNTY CAMPAIGN.

Stutsman County, N. D., to Boom Better Farming.

Jamestown, N. D., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Under the direction of the Better Farming association experts located in Stark county, a series of meetings will be held, beginning next week and continue during the month of February, the purpose being to create a better acquaintance with the work of the organization. In order to get the greatest possible benefit out of the meetings, it has been decided by the several experts to have the farmers themselves as speakers, and the program for the Jamestown meeting on Jan. 29, when farmers will talk on the feeding of various animals, is illustrative of the plan.

Meetings also will be held at Spiritwood, Courtney, Woodworth, Pingree, Streeter and several other places during the next few weeks.

Near 70—Feels Like 50

MRS. A. CAMPBELL.

Mrs. Campbell's doctor advised her to take a tablespoonful of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey before each meal. She did so and recovered health and youthful feeling.

"Eight years ago, when sick, I lost my appetite. I could not eat solid foods. My family physician advised taking a tablespoonful of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey before each meal as a stimulant, as it was good for the system. It did much more good than the doctor said. I feel more like fifty years old than sixty-nine. My appetite is splendid, and I find a tablespoonful of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is very invigorating. A dealer tried to sell me a substitute for Duffy's, but the doctor told me to insist on the genuine; that some dealers tried to sell something else to make more profit on inferior goods." Mrs. A. Campbell 1111 West 9th St., Spokane, Wash.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

Mrs. Campbell's experience is similar to that of thousands of men and women who have been brought back to a state of health and vigor by using Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey as directed. Many learn its great medicinal value first from their own family doctors. Others hear from friends or relatives direct. Still others read the testimonials of those who are so grateful to Duffy's that they wish to aid fellow sufferers by writing of their good fortune in using this pure malt whiskey.

Sold in SEALED BOTTLES ONLY by druggists, grocers and dealers, at $1.00 a large bottle. Our doctors will send you advice free, together with a valuable illustrated medical booklet.

Uncle Sam Makes It Easier for You to Get a Homestead

The required term of residence on Government Land has been reduced from 5 to 3 years. Settlers are also allowed 5 months leave of absence from their claims each year.

Why Not File On a Homestead Claim?

Bridgman and Nash with their Shields River Valley Montana Wheat, on the Northern Pacific Railway, won first prize under most exacting rules and tests at the Northwest Products Exposition, November, 1912. Their yield (which was banner yield in the contest) was 59 1-3 bushels per acre on non-irrigated DRY-FARMING LAND—no better land than much of Uncle Sam's 40 million acres of homestead land in the Northwest available to you for proving up under the revised and easy homestead laws. Similar land also on sale by reliable land dealers at low prices and on easy terms.

CHICAGO CHURCH AND PUBLICITY

Put in Advertisement for Thirty Sunday School Teachers.

Chicago, Jan. 24.—Rev. J. B. Martin caused to be published in a local paper the following unique want ad.:

"Thirty Sunday school teachers wanted—Halsted Street Institutional church (Twentieth and South Halsted street). No denomination test, but only earnest Christians wanted. Apply 2:45 p. m. Sunday or address the pastor, the Rev. J. B. Martin, 1918 South Union street; 600 were present last Sunday. We need help at once."

"It is hard for us to secure sufficient teachers for our Sunday school," said Mr. Martin. "We are having a hard time to accommodate those attending our classes. The church is in great need of earnest Christian workers for teachers, and, strange to say, we cannot find them. Although the work of the church is conducted by the Methodist Episcopal church, its ministry is undenominational.

"During the forty-six years the church has been in existence it has labored unselfishly among the poor of the West side foreign tenements. Hundreds of men and women have found the inspiration they needed in its message of hope.

"A branch of the church, known as the friendly visitors, goes into the homes and gives assistance in case of trouble, sickness or death. It is impossible to estimate the good the visitors have accomplished. No worthy case of need or suffering ever is turned away unheeded. Five thousand visits were made last year and relief was given in the shape of coal, food and clothing, amounting to over $1,000. Its social settlement contains 50,000 people.

"The boy problem, the city problem and the immigrant problem are among those we are trying to solve.

"The institution occupies an entire three-story building, covering 100 square feet. It also owns and operates an institutional church settlement house.

"During the summer months we conduct a summer vacation school, and for six weeks during the summer vacation period children are gathered off the sweltering streets in the morning for two hours of school in the cool gymnasium.

"Saturday nights in the warm summer street meetings are held."

HOME TO BE PROVIDED

Novel Plan Is Adopted By German Workingmen and Women.

Neither Race, Nationality Nor Religious Creeds Cuts Any Figure.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 24.—Unwilling to become dependent upon their relatives or friends during their declining years, more than 400 German workingmen and women of the city have hit upon a heretofore unheard-of plan to provide a home for themselves when they shall no longer be able to earn their own livelihood. On Monday, Jan. 27, an application will be made in common pleas court for a charter for the intended corporation to be known as the Workingmen's Home Society for the Aged.

Immediately upon the granting of the charter a site will be selected and and upon it wil be built a modern structure with accommodations for about 200 members of the society who are eligible to become inmates. Here they will be cared for during the remainder of their lives absolutely independent of anyone except the society of which they are now raising funds to support. It is the plan of the incorporators to admit not only members of the society to the institution, but also "anyone who is a member of a workingman's organization or who is in sympathy with the principles of such organizations." To be accepted applicants must be of good character and habits.

A year ago twenty-five German workingmen assembled in a hall and formulated plans that are now beginning to materialize. One and all, they took the stand that although they were not overburdened with worldly goods, yet they desired to make provisions for their future comfort while they are still able to work. The plan was a novel one, and when discussed among the friends of the first twenty-five members of the society it was received with approbation, and immediately applications for membership began to pour in. Meetings are held on the third Wednesday of each month, and up to the present no meeting has been adjourned before a score or more of workingmen have been accepted into the society.

Wealthy and philanthropic Germans heard of the plan of the working men and women and within the last few months the treasury of the society has been increased by hundreds of dollars from persons who are in sympathy with the movement and desire to lend practical aid to such a worthy scheme. Coincident with the granting of the charter it is expected that donations aggregating thousands of dollars will be made to the society and that it will be made possible to erect an institution many times larger than the one now contemplated. If this is done, accommodations will be provided for hundreds of worthy persons who are no longer able to earn their own keep.

Capitalized at $20,000.

The proposed charter states that it is the object of the corporation to organize, establish and maintain a home for the aged working men of whatever race, nationality or religious creed. It is planned to capitalize the society at about $20,000, most of which has already been subscribed. If the plans of those in charge of the movement are successful this amount will soon be raised and the whole plan placed on a larger basis.

Since the society was organized a year ago assessments have been made monthly on the members to obtain funds with which to establish a fund to erect the home. The assessments or dues vary, depending on the nature of the member's employment, income and age. No one is expected, however, to pay less than $4 annually into the treasury of the society. When the society was organized even the most optimistic member did not believe that it would be possible to procure sufficient members and funds within a year to make the plan a reality. The idea met with instant success, however, and a year hence, it is expected, the home will have been formally dedicated.

FOSSIL REMAINS OF CAMELS ARE FOUND.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 24.—One of the most remarkable discoveries in the history of paleontology in America has been made by Prof. R. C. Stoner of the University of California in the famous La Brea asphaltum beds at the western city limit, appropriately named the "death trap of the ages."

Prof. Stoner, who for months has been excavating strange fossils of the quarternary period, came upon the perfect skull and nearly the whole skeleton of a gigantic camel of the pleistocene age.

There is no previous record that this animal ever existed on this continent.

"We have been getting deep in our excavations," said the professor, "and new fossils have been numerous, but we have been able to classify them with others irght along, so there has been no great comment, but when we came upon the long-nosed, narrow, headed skull, different from anything ever found, we were startled. It was in excellent preservation, and when we uncovered the vertebrae from the shoulder blade down to the pelvis, with complete leg bones, the problem was practically solved. The animal lay just as it must have perished in the treacherous tar where it sank."

WOMAN'S RIGHT TO TALK IS UPHELD.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 24.—A women's right to talk so long as she wishes was upheld in the probate court by Judge Holt Camp, who refused to compel Miss Minnie Wagner to answer categorically a question asked by Attorney Carl Otto. Miss Wagner, who is executrix of the estate of her father, Melchior Wagner, was being questioned as to the ownership of $1,500 and to many of Otto's questions she entered into long explanations. Finally the attorney protested.

"Your honor," he exclaimed, "these questions can be answered by simply 'yes' or 'no,' and I object to this witness talking so much."

"If you can stop a woman from talking before she is ready, it's more than this court can do, and we are not going to try it, either," the judge said. "Proceed with the examination and let the witness answer the questions fully."

Attorney Otto conceded that he knew of no way to stop a woman's tongue. He said he did not care how much the witness said, so long as he had the court's assurance that only relevant statements would be considered.

CORKSCREW NOT A TROUBLE PULLER.

Chicago Record-Herald: Mrs. Netty Kibby, conductor of the National Divisions of Sons of Temperance, in a temperance address pointed out the absurd folly of attempting to drive away sorrow by getting drunk.

"There is no greater fool on earth," she said, "than the man who tried to pull himself out of trouble with a corkscrew."

LIGHT HORSE HARRY LEE

Remains of the Revolutionary Hero Are to Be Removed.

Died in Georgia on a Visit and Was Buried There.

Brunswick, Ga., Jan. 24.—Mrs Lucy Carnegie has given her consent to the removal of the remains of Light Horse Harry Lee, Revolutionary hero and father of Gen. Robert E. Lee, from the burial ground on the Carnegie plantation at Dungeness, on Cumberland island, to Virginia, where they will be reinterred with suitable ceremonies by the side of his illustrious son.

This decision on the part of Mrs. Carnegie ends the long fight by the Georgia division of the Daughters of the American Revolution against the removal of the body of the revolutionary cavalier. Gen. Lee died on Cumberland and his body was buried there. And there it has remained for more than a century. The grave has been carefully tended by each successive owner of the land.

A year ago the Virginia legislature named a committee and appropriated $500 to defray the expenses of removing the body from its present resting place to the Lee burial ground at Lexington, Va. It was not presumed at that time that there would be any objection to the transfer. It was the object of the Virginia legislature to gather together the dust of all the family of Lees and to buy them together in one spot.

Opposed the Removal.

But the Georgia division of the Daughters of the American Revolution opposed the removal from the first. At its meeting in Marietta last spring resolutions were adopted protesting the removal on the ground that since the remains had rested in Georgia soil so long it would be an act of desecration to disturb them at this late day. The movement was headed by Mrs. J. H. Redding of the Waycross chapter, who got up a petition which was signed by hundreds of the daughters throughout the state, knowledge of which was sent to Mrs. Carnegie.

It was the intention of the state regent to have the matter brought to the attention of the Georgia legislature at its last meeting. It was proposed to memorialize that body to take action in the matter as an offset to the activity of the Virginia legislature. But for some reason the proposed resolution was not presented, and the legislature adjourned without having considered the proposition. It is possible that the failure of the Georgia legislature to act may have influenced Mrs. Carnegie in reaching a decision.

Robert Lee Satisfied.

The strongest argument made by the daughters against the removal was a statement made by Gen. Lee after a visit to the grave of his father in 1870. The Confederate chieftain is alleged to have said on that occasion that he was satisfied with the resting place of his father, and that no prettier or more restful spot could have been chosen for his grave. The daughters contended that if Gen. Robert E. Lee was satisfied to have the remains of his father rest on Georgia soil the Virginia legislature ought to be.

The committee appointed by the Virginia legislature to make arrangements for the transfer of the remains is expected to arrive in Georgia shortly. The precise date of the removal has not yet been announced. The consent of Mrs. Carnegie to the removal removes the last stumbling block in the way of the transfer. It is not probable that the Georgia daughters will take any further action in the matter.

In the later years of his life Gen. Henry Lee made a journey to Cuba in the interest of his health. Finding himself only slightly improved and very weak he determined to stop over in Georgia on the return trip and visit his friend and comrade in arms, Gen. Nathaniel Greene, the then owner of Dungeness and Cumberland island. The Revolutionary hero was so weak upon his arrival that he had to be helped from his horse. There were no railroads through the South in those days.

Grave Well Cared For.

Gen. Lee failed to improve at Dungeness, although every care and attention was bestowed upon him. He grew weaker and weaker, and finally died there. He was given burial on Cumberland in the little cemetery that sheltered the mortal remains of the bygone Greene. And there he has lain through all these years, guarded by primeval oaks and with a carpet of periwinkle for a coverlet. A small stone slab marks his resting place. The grave has been cared for zealously by all who have owned Dungeness since those early days.

When the island came into the possession of the Carnegies their first care was to make arrangements for the perpetual tending of the grave of Lee. Nothing had ever been done looking to the removal of the remains to Virginia. After the visit of Gen. Robert E. Lee to Georgia, and his expression of satisfaction at the last resting place of his father, it was not presumed that it would ever be done. But after the lapse of more than a century Virginia remembered her son lying under an alien sky, and now, at last, Lee is to rest with his forebears in the burial acre at Lexington.

BRUTALITY IN STATE PRISON IS CHARGED.

Spartanburg, S. C., Jan. 24.—Tortures said to be inflicted on prisoners in the state penitentiary are described in a statement issued by Assemblyman Cecil Wyche in connection with his bill for the abolition of the hosiery mill in the prison. Even women are stripped and flogged, according to Mr. Wyche, who is a staunch supporter of Governor Blease and is said to have obtained much of his information from the executive.

Governor Blease has threatened to liberate all the prisoners in the penitentiary if the hosiery mill is not abolished. The legislature refused to do away with the mill last year because of the state's contract with the Northern manufacturers who operate the plant.

Mr. Wyche says: "These convicts are given certain tasks to perform, and if these tasks are not performed each day the prisoners are sent to what is called the leather room and brutally and severely beaten. In numerous cases the skin is broken and blood is drawn from the naked bodies of both men and women, and in order to prevent poisoning, stinging salt is put into the wounds."

HUMAN SKELETON IS FOUND IN SOLID ROCK.

Wagon Wheel Gap, Colo., Jan. 24.—The skeleton of what was evidently a human being has been found here forty feet below the surface of the ground in a solid rock formation. The skeleton, which apparently had been sealed in the rocks for thousands of years, was in an almost perfect state of preservation.

The discovery, which may prove a most important one in aiding scientists to learn more about the early inhabitants of this country, was made by Ellwood Bergey, a mining man of this section, who was driving a shaft on some mining property and had gone about forty feet, most of the way through a solid rock formation.

A charge of dynamite set off in the bottom of the shaft exposed in the side walls a small fissure about six feet long and one foot wide, which was tightly sealed with rock and talc formations.

Within this silent and long-buried tomb the fossil was found.

The discovery is exciting much local interest and the skeleton is on exhibition here. It is small, but seems too strongly built to be that of a child.

Foods That Bind Little Children

Start Them Off Right With a Good Laxative and Then Watch Their Diet.

MARJORIE DARLING.

Mothers are often unconsciously very careless about the diet of their children, forcing all to eat the same foods. The fact is that all foods do not agree alike with different persons. Hence, avoid what seems to constipate the child or to give it indigestion, and urge it to take more of what is quickly digested.

If the child shows a tendency to constipation it should immediately be given a mild laxative to help the bowels. By this is not meant a physic or purgative, for these should never be given to children, nor anything like salts, pills, etc. What the child requires is simply a small dose of the gentlest of medicines, such as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which in the opinion of thousands of watchful mothers is the ideal remedy for any child showing a tendency to constipation. So many things can happen to a constipated child that care is necessary. Colds, piles, headaches, sleeplessness, any many other annoyances that children should not have can usually be traced to constipation.

Many of America's foremost families are never without Syrup Pepsin, because one can never tell when some member of the family may need it, and all can use it. Thousands endorse it, among them Mrs. M. E. Darling, R. F. D. No. 4, Belleview, Pa., who writes: "I certainly think Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin saved my baby's life. Marjorie is a bottle baby and could not get her food to digest, but I found by giving her a small dose of Syrup Pepsin when she had colic it always cured her." Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is sold by druggists at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, the latter size being bought by those who already know its value, and it contains proportionately more. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

Everyone likes Syrup Pepsin as it is very pleasant to the taste. It is also mild and non-griping and free from injurious ingredients.

If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin and you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way of a druggist, send your address—a postal will do—to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 417 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed you.

WILL WHITNEY BE GOVERNOR?

Rumors That the Premier of Ontario Will Make Change.

Provincial Secretary Hanna Is Likely to Succeed Him.

Toronto, Ont., Jan. 24.—Much new interest is being manifested in the movements of Sir James Whitney, the Ontario premier, by reason of a rumor that he will shortly lay down the scepter in Queens Park and will hie himself to a different sphere. The office of lieutenant governor of Ontario will become vacant during the present year when Sir John Gibson's term of office will expire. The story told about Sir James is that he will give up the premiership and accept the post of lieutenant governor.

In support of this prediction much is said. It is pointed out that Sir James has had a goodly share of power and that perhaps it might be well to give another and a younger man a chance before the time when perhaps the lean days may overtake the party. It is further said that Sir James of late years has shown himself rather too much a dictator, both as regards party discipline and administrative matters, and that a change in the leadership might be welcomed by a rather large element in the party. Furthermore, something is made of the argument that Sir James has little to gain by hanging on. He cannot go higher and there are no more honors coming to him. Only recently he was recognized a second time by the king.

Hanna May Be Premier.

On the other hand, nobody is prepared to say that Sir James Whitney will give up the premiership until he wants to, and nobody seems very sure that he does want to. If he does, and when he does, the mantle is most likely to fall upon the shoulders of W. J. Hanna, provincial secretary, one of the three wise men of the administration. Next to Sir James himself, Mr. Hanna has been regarded as the strength of the government. He fought with Whitney in opposition and has been a member of the present government since its inception. Everybody knows that he had the refusal some months ago of the chairmanship of the Dominion railway commission. That he did not accept was unquestionably due to the efforts of Sir James Whitney, but just what method of persuasion Sir James adopted only he and Mr. Hanna know. If Mr. Hanna were given to understand that by staying with the government he might hope soon to step into the premiership, there may not be much wrong with the story that Sir James is contemplating a change. Mr. Hanna as premier would be in many ways a contrast to Sir James Whitney. He has not the rugged ways of Sir James. He is a diplomat.

Bi-lingual Schools.

The Ontario government has declined to withdraw any of the regulations issued last June for the conduct of the bi-lingual schools in Ontario. It will be remembered that there had been long public discussion as to the value of these schools under the old bi-lingual system and the government caused a thorough inquiry to be made into the whole question. Following this investigation the instructions of June last were issued. When attempts were made to enforce the regulations in some of the schools of Eastern Ontario trouble resulted. Last December a deputation representing the supporters of these schools came to Toronto and asked for the withdrawal of some of the regulations in regard to French teaching and in regard to the visits of Protestant inspectors.

The petition presented my this deputation has now been replied to by the government. None of the requests made is granted but the statement is made that the school inspectors before entering upon their duties were told that any recommendations made by them at the end of the school year for the improvement of the schools would be considered. These inspectors are now to be instructed to put themselves in direct communication with the trustees and others interested so they can work together. The government further announces that it is ready to receive more deputations.

Queen's May Get Aid.

Queen's university of Kingston may yet be receiving a provincial grant. The institution occupies a high place among the Canadian universities and many men of great influence in Canadian affairs look back to Queen's as their alma mater. The university was for years the principal Presbyterian seat of learning in Ontario, but latterly it has, after succeeding efforts, become undenominational. Some of its friends are now seeking to persuade the government to grant provincial aid to the institution, both for the maintenance and for the extension of the university.

The fact that the institution has been weaned from the church is the chief argument in support of the plea that the same favor shown to other nonsectarian universities should be shown to Queen's. The University of Toronto receives large grants from the provincial treasury and at the same time the supporters of Queen's find difficulty in providing for the proper payment of its staff and for the addition of necessary equipment. Premier Whitney is believed to have lent a sympathetic ear to the appeal from Kingston.

Gospel of the Open Window.

Dr. Hastings, Toronto's medical health officer, is preaching the gospel of the open window. He is urging upon the people of Toronto the sovereign benefits of fresh air and good sanitation. Some of his methods are quite catchy. His latest is to compare the annual death rate in Toronto to the Titanic disaster. He says that a greater unnecessary loss of life occurs yearly in this city than was entailed by the Titanic loss. There were, he says, as many as 1,700 deaths from preventable and communicable diseases in Toronto last year.

DON'T "FIRE" THE MAN BECAUSE HE DRINKS

"Save Him" is Now a Corporation Rule.

Don't "fire" the valuable man who drinks. Save him! Right in line with the policy of a score of corporations and business houses that have sent employes to the Neal Institute, the Ohio Pail company of Middlefield, Ohio, believes that it is good business to save victims of the drink habit.

President Joe E. Johnson of that company, writes the Neal Institute: "Any successful manufacturing business requires of its employes practical abstinence from the use of intoxicating liquors. Good business and good whisky make poor partners. We have had several years' experience with the product of your institution. It has been the means of our retaining in our employ several first-class workmen who otherwise were fast approaching human wrecks. We now make it a policy of this company to encourage our employes who drink to take your treatment. We know you cannot keep everyone from learning over the use of liquor, but in our experience of several years we have yet to send a man to you who has not stayed a sober man thereafter. We believe you are doing a great work for humanity, and God strengthen your hands for good."

Three days of Neal Treatment as now administered at the Superior Neal Institute is sufficient to rid any alcoholic victim of all desire for drink. Business men who have employes who are "losing out" through drink are invited to ask about this quick Neal way of getting rid in three days of all desire for liquor. Investigate yourself. Address Neal Institute, corner Belknap and West Seventh street, Superior, Wis.; St. Paul Institute, 676 Dayton avenue; Minneapolis Institute, 403 South Seventh street.

CAUGHT HER SMILE

With Camera, and Photographer Denies Woman Was Insulted.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 24.—Whether a woman's smile in a photograph is evidence that she was in good humor when it was taken, or is merely a stereotyped response to the direction "Look pleasant," will be an issue in a suit for $4,500 damages which Mrs. Marguerite Nott Busch has brought against a photographer.

The plaintiff alleges that she was insulted by one of the photographer's employes while sitting for a picture in his studio on Dec. 30.

The photographer replies that while his assistant may have touched her cheeks with his fingers or her arms with his hands it was merely to direct her into the proper pose of head and body. He says the picture shows she was in good humor, and declares this disproves her statement that she was offended.

FIVE-YEAR-OLD GIRL CALLED ON POLICE.

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 24. — Theatened with a whipping by her mother because she refused to wash her hands before coming to the supper table, little 5-year-old Mary Foltz, the daughter of Police Surgeon Foltz, called the police, but when they arrived they were just in time to see the finish of an intensely thrilling tragedy—that is, it was tragic to little Mary.

"Come right up here, right away; something awful is happening," shrilled a voice in the ear of the police surgeon. Then the click in his ear told him that the receiver had been hung up at the other end. Horrible thoughts filtered through his mind as he hurried home with an officer. There he found that the "something awful" was a spanking then being administered.

INFLUENCING THE PUBLIC

Railway President Tells How Public Opinion Is Easily Swayed.

Asks That Railways Be Protected in Their Property Rights.

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 24.—W. W. Finley, president of the Southern Railway company, was one of the speakers, at the annual dinner of the New Haven Chamber of Commerce in the Yale university dining hall last evening. Mr. Finley spoke on "State of Mind." He quoted from a recent magazine article by President-elect Wilson as follows:

"Don't you know that some man with eloquent tongue, without conscience, who did not care for the nation, could put this whole country into a flame? Don't you know that this country, from one end to another, believes that something is wrong? What an opportunity it would be for some man without conscience to spring up and say: 'This is the way. Follow me' —and lead in paths of destruction."

Mr. Finley followed this by a quotation from M. Gustave Le Bon's book entitled "The Crowd, a Study of the Popular Mind," showing the small part often played by reasoning in influencing public opinion and the ease with which it may be swayed by affirmation and repetition. He argued that these quotations demonstrated the wisdom of so grounding public opinion in economic truth respecting the problems of the day that mere affirmation and repetition could not lead to the belief that wrongs existed where they did not.

Economic Truths.

Referring to the problems relating to transportation as among those as to which public opinion should be well grounded, Mr. Finley went on to deal with the economic truths affecting transportation from various points of view as a basis for an intelligent public opinion and the fair attitude of the public mind as to the railway system of the United States. Pointing out that the transportation system of the country was made up of the country highways, the waterways, and the railways, each important in its particular field, he showed the relative magnitude of the railway system and its importance as a factor in civilization, national progress, and development, and gave a passing glance at some of the problems of railway management. Continuing, he said:

"The railways of the United States give to society a transportation service that is more comprehensive from year to year. They perform this service at rates of compensation that, on the whole, are lower than those paid for similar service in any other country. They give employment, directly or indirectly, to millions of our fellow citizens and expend such vast sums in the purchase of supplies and materials that, not only the industrial life, but the general prosperity of the country, are largely dependent upon the maintenance of their wage-paying and purchasing power.

What the Railways Ask.

"In return for their service to society the railways ask from society, not as a favor but as a right, that after they have been subjected to such regulation as will protect the rights of the public, they shall be protected in their property rights and shall be permitted to enjoy such a measure of liberty in the management of their affairs as is necessary to the success of any business undertaking. It is just as true today and in the United States as it was 1900 years ago in Judea that the 'the laborer is worthy of his hire.'

"This great American enterprise is willing to be judged by the standard recently proposed by our distinguished citizen, the president-elect, in his question: 'Are you giving anything to society when you want to take something out of society?'"

EFFECTS OF POSLAM SEEN OVERNIGHT

"Now you see it and how you don't," is literally true of the magic worked by Poslam, the unequalled remedy on any affected skin.

By taking a small part of the skin where appear pimples, rash, blotches, etc., or which is unduly inflamed, itching or chafing, and applying thereto only a small quantity of Poslam, an overnight demonstration may be had of its remarkable properties, and enough Poslam for the purpose will be mailed free of charge, upon request, by the Emergency Laboratories, 32 West Twenty-fifth Street, New York City. Eczema, acne, tetter and all itching skin diseases yield to Poslam as to nothing else.

All druggists sell Poslam (price, 50 cents) and Poslam Soap (price, 25 cents).

FORTUNES AWAIT MANY PERSONS

People Who Are Now Being Sought to Their Advantage.

London, Jan. 24.—Once more nearly half a column in the Times is filled with the names of the missing heirs who were advertised in the year just past, and, as usual, the phrase "last heard of in the United States is a frequent one in this list, which is compiled annually by an English next-of-kin agent.

Both money and estates in this country are waiting for these folk or for their nearest relatives, if they are no longer in the land of the living. Among them is Harry E. Heard, who left England for America in 1893 and who is "urgently sought to his advantage;" James Boothby, who is said to have adopted an assumed name and died in the United States; John W. Lascelles, formerly of Plymouth and last heard of in San Francisco; the heirs of Andrew and Norah Gallivan, who left Ireland for Baltimore in 1882, and those of Robert Cooke, a coachman, of Manchester, who emigrated to Milwaukee in 1873. Once more, too, the representatives are sought of shareholders in the West New Jersey society, on whose stock no dividends have been paid since 1892.

They literally are all sorts and conditions of men, these heirs who are advertised for in the agony columns of the English papers. One of them is James Tagg (gentleman), originally of Reading and afterwards of Melbourne, while his neighbors in the next-of-kin man's list are Elizabeth Collett, "who was married to a blind boot repairer," and Joseph Harker, "believed to have driven an omnibus in London." Inquiry is made, too, for Joseph Roberts, who, in 1882, "went to assist the Black sea Russian fleet," as well as for James Edwards, "formerly of the Hongkong police force," and for the heirs-at-law of Mary Roberts of Bedford, who, though she died in a workhouse, left an estate worth nearly $10,000.

TRY IT! SAGE TEA DARKENS GRAY HAIR BEAUTIFULLY

Druggist Says When Mixed With Sulphur Prevents Dandruff and Falling Hair.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur and alcohol added, then left to age and carefully filtered will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant; remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching, and falling hair.

Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, gray or dry, scraggly and thin. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," thus avoiding a lot of muss. Some druggists make their own, but it isn't nearly so nice as "Wyeth's."

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur no one can tell, because it does it so naturally; so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. Do this tonight and by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, after another application or two it will be restored to its natural color and be even more glossy, soft and luxuriant than ever.

Local druggists say they are selling lots of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur;" it surely helps folks appear years younger.

WHAT OTHER CITIES ARE DOING

Activities of Other Municipalities, Which Might or Might Not Be Copied in Duluth.

In Pittsburg a plan to secure pensions for all city employes, other than the firemen and policemen, is now under way and the promoters hope for success. There are about 3,350 eligible to join the organization and already 2,200 have become members. The initiation fee is $1. The association has not yet asked council for an appropriation, but intend to do so next spring, when the appropriations for the year are taken up. Although Mayor Magee and Controller Morrow are members ex-officio of the board, the organization, as yet, has no connection with the city government. The system as laid out will give pensions, death and disability benefits. The pension is to go into force after twenty years of service. The employes are to be paid pensions at a rate of half of the salary they made during the vast five years of their service. This is to prevent persons being promoted into high salary positions near the end of their twenty years of service and then collect pensions of half of what they made in this position. No one will be eligible for a pension until he has paid in for ten years. And then, in no case will the pension be more than $100 a month. The dues are to be 1 per cent of the salary, with permission of the association to increase this assessment to 3 per cent, when it is deemed necessary.

Firemen and policemen in Duluth have their own relief associations, as is probably the case in Pittsburg, but none of the other employes have any organization which gives pensions, or death or disability benefits. The minor employes under civil servce might find it to their advantage to investigate the possibilities of such an association.

BUTTER PRICE WORKS LOWER

Fresh Eggs Maintain Their Low Price for This Time of Year.

Poultry and Meats Remain High—Lemons Scarce and Dearer.

Butter is lower priced than it was a week ago. The Eastern markets have been easing off, owing, in all likelihood, to the uncommonly good output of milk for this time of the year. The winter has been thus far exceptionally mild. Feed has been cheap and plentiful and farmers have found it a paying proposition to keep their cows for milk, rather than sell them for beef. Thus the very cause that has kept beef extremely scarce and forced its market prices to figures unprecedented has caused a larger output of milk and butter and brought the price of butter down. The best creamery, which a week ago sold in prints at Duluth for 36 cents a pound at wholesale, has dropped to 34 cents a pound. A year ago this same butter was commanding 38 cents a pound.

Low prices of feed have likewise induced people to keep chickens through the winter rather than send them to market, and that factor, together with the mild winter, has kept up the production of eggs, which are still selling at wholesale for 26 and 27 cents, a pretty low price for the latter part of January. A year ago the wholesale price was 30 cents.

The fact that few cattle, swine and sheep, and almost no live poultry, are being marketed has kept the price of all kinds of meat very high. The country is really very short on livestock, especially cattle. Of recent years feed has been scarce and high, and pasturage very poor, and therefore farmers have marketed their animals rather than feed them. Now they are keeping them because of the comparative cheapness of feed.

Pork loins are higher than they were a week ago, now bringing 12 and 13 cents a pound at wholesale at Duluth. A year ago pork loins were 10 and 12½ cents a pound. Beef, which price ranges from 9 to 13 cents a pound, a year ago sold for 7 to 12 cents.

Poultry is selling at the same price it brought a week ago. There is very little of the fresh poultry left. Few people care to ship in such weather as this, for there is always danger of the fowls freezing. Very soon there will be no poultry on the market except the frozen stock. There is a fairly good supply of this. Dressed hens are now bringing 17 cents a pound wholesale at Duluth. A year ago they sold for 16 cents a pound.

The vegetable market has hardly changed at all from its status of a week ago. Hothouse radishes are a little cheaper. Radishes, which a week ago were bringing $1 per dozen bunches, now bring 85 cents. Hothouse cucumbers, which a week ago were selling at $2, now bring $2 to $2.25.

Celery has taken quite a bulge, the supply being scarce for the present, as the California crop was badly damaged by the same frosts that wrought such havoc with the oranges and lemons in that state. A bunch of California celery, which a week ago brought $1.25 has gone up to $1.40. When the frosts and their damage were at first reported the harm done to the celery was not realized. Celery will continue to be scarce in Duluth until the next supply can be obtained from Florida, which will be after two or three weeks.

No supplies of lemons have been received from California, since those that were shipped before the frosts arrived. The damage done to the lemons was really greater than that which the oranges suffered, for at the time of the frosts vast quantities of oranges had already been packed and stored in cars for shipment. This was not so with the lemons. A box of lemons, which a week ago brought $8 at Duluth, now sells for $9. If the California lemon supply has really been so much depleted as has lately been reported, it will be necessary to ship Sicilian and Italian lemons to the West from New York. Though these lemons are imported for the Eastern American markets, they can scarcely compete with the California product in the markets of the West. Oranges are at about the same prices as they brought a week ago. The market has tended rather to ease off than to go higher.

Florida grapefruits, which a week ago were bringing $3.75 to $4.25, are now selling for $4.25. The cheaper kinds, which were rushed upon the market first, as it was feared they would not keep well, have been about all sold out.

There are no Malaga grapes on the market. It is not likely that any more of these imported grapes will be brought to Duluth during the present season, as the trade does not seem to desire them.

DULUTH BOOSTERS WILL GET TOGETHER

Conference of Commercial and Improvement Clubs Will Be Held.

Several hundred Duluthians imbued with civic spirit will gather at the Duluth Commercial club tonight for a big general meeting of civic and improvement clubs.

The Duluth Commercial club has issued invitations to the the members of all other civic and improvement clubs to be the guests of the Commercial club tonight at an informal meeting for the discussion of subjects affecting the city. The invitation has been accepted by all of the clubs and many of their members will be on hand tonight.

The meeting will be an informal smoker, which has for its object the bringing of Duluth citizens into closer personal touch with each other, as well as the arousing of a co-operative spirit among the organizations.

Secretary H. V. Eva will speak for the Duluth Commercial club, explaining the plan of organization of the club and some of the movements it now has under way. The presidents of the other organizations will give short talks on the work which is being done by their clubs.

Among the clubs which will be represented tonight are the West Duluth, West End and New Duluth Commercial clubs, the West End Hillside, Oneota and Hazelwood, Fifth Ward, Central Hillside, Lakeside and Lester Park Improvement clubs.

ALFALFA BILL IS A RIDDLE

New Oklahoma Congressman Keeping the Politicians Guessing.

Beneath Exterior of a Demagogue He Is Genuinely Honest.

Tishomingo, Okla., Jan. 24.—William H. ("Alfalfa Bill") Murray, who was elected representative to congress at large from Oklahoma, is the riddle of Oklahoma politics. His enemies accuse him of being a demagogue. That is the worst thing they have been able to say about him. His methods have been somewhat spectacular. In his campaigns he has appealed to sectional prejudice. Murray is careful of his scenic effects. When he goes among the "boys" at the cross forks and visits the "hill billies" he talks their language. And it is not one bit assumed. He learned it as a boy picking and chopping cotton and punching cattle. Later he was a teacher and a newspaper reporter.

Clothes a Strong Argument.

Clothes always have been one of his strong arguments. As one critic said: "Bill always look as if he had been riding all night in a coal car."

It made a hit with the "boys" and Murray never overlooked such details. When a candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination he discarded his farmer clothes and bought a real tailor-made suit. His friends feared for the result when the news got back home, but Murray was ready with an answer.

"I shall say to the boys," he said, "that there are two classes of people in this world—one that votes for the man and the other that votes for the clothes he wears. The first class knows me and will vote for plain 'Alfalfa Bill.' My new clothes will get the votes of the others. I need them both to be elected."

Proud of Being a Farmer.

While his methods, sometimes, have been those of the demagogue, he has been genuinely honest and sincere in his convictions. He has fought for the great middle class—the farmers. He takes his greatest pride in being a farmer. He has been in disputes with the big interests and with part of the labor class. In all these struggles he has opposed what he believed to be the unjust demands of both.

"I am for honest capital and honest labor," he said, "but I will not be the fool or tool of either or the fool and tool of the fools and tools of both."

While president of the Oklahoma constitutional convention Murray worked for the initiative and referendum. That was opposed stronkly by the reactionaries. He told the convention that he would rather see statehood defeated than the clause omitted. Most of the progressive measures in the Constitution were written by him. He has been called the "Father of the Oklahoma Constitution."

"Chickasaw Squirrel Rifles."

It was at this time the famous "Chickasaw Squirrel Rifles" came into existence. The enemies of the Constitution were trying to prevail on the supreme court to declare it unconstitutional. Murray rose in his wrath one day in his home in Tishomingo and wrote a public letter. He called attention to the fact that once the citizens of Texas gained their rights by arming themselves with squirrel rifles and marching on the enemies of good government at Austin. He said if the fight were kept up that that bit of history might be re-enacted in Oklahoma by an advance on Guthrie.

The letter became the joke of the campaign. The Chickasaw Squirrel rifles were organized with Murray as commander-in-chief. The commissions of the officers bore the seal of the organization, in the center of which was a cocklebur rampant. The number of cockleburs on the lapel of the officers denoted their rank. Murray is 44 years old.

Mill City Jury Disagrees.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 24.—After deliberating nineteen hours, the jury in the case of John C. Conley, charged with the murder of Mrs. Bertha Anderson here on Jan. 4, failed to agree, and was discharged.

A Splendid Tonic

Cora, Ky.—Mrs. Iva Moore, of this place, says, "I was so weak, I could hardly walk. I tried Cardui, and was greatly relieved. It is a splendid tonic. I have recommended Cardui to many friends, who tried it with good results." Testimony like this comes unsolicited, from thousands of earnest women, who have been benefited by the timely use of that successful tonic medicine, Cardui. Purely vegetable, mild, but reliable, Cardui well merits its high place in the esteem of those who have tried it. It relieves women's pains, and strengthens weak women. It is certainly worth a trial. Your druggist sells Cardui.

LAST WISH GRATIFIED.

Stillwater Woman Lives Until Grandchild Is Born.

Stillwater, Minn., Jan. 24.—Mrs. Frances Grant, aged 66, died on her birthday from dropsy and her wish was granted that her only great-grandson should be born before her death and upon her own birthday. The child is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Nethaway, an only grandchild, and is the only grandchild of Judge and Mrs. J. C. Nethaway. It was born the same evening of the death of Mrs. Grant. Deceased was the widow of the late Charles J. Grant, a Civil war veteran and mother of Lieut. G. H. Grant, who served as such with Company K, Thirteenth regiment in the Philippines.

RAILROADS

DULUTH NOT GIVEN CUT

Only City in State Not Receiving Fare and Third Rate.

Delegates to the Masonic Grand Lodge Protest Against Discrimination.

Every town in Minnesota but Duluth was given a rate of a fare and a third for the meeting of the grand lodge of Masons at St. Paul this week.

Duluthians were called upon to contribute about $1 additional to the railroads.

The regular fare to St. Paul is $3.80. The return fare of one-third should have been $1.27, but when the delegates to the grand lodge went to buy their tickets, they were informed that the minimum for the return would be $2.20, making the total cost of the ticket $6 where it should have been $5.07 if Duluth had been given the same treatment that the rest of the state was accorded. In addition to this the railroads charged twenty-five cents for validating the certificates, making the total cost of the ticket $6.25 or more than mileage for the distance would have cost.

The explanation made by the railroads was that if the rate of a fare and a third had been given it would have been less than 2 cents a mile. The regular fare is based on the Omaha road's fare, as that line runs the greater part of the distance through Wisconsin, and the 2-cent fare is compulsory there. With the regular rate but little over 2 cents a mile, a reduction to a third of that for the return trip would bring the cut rate to less than 2 cents a mile for the entire distance, so the roads tacked on 93 cents.

OFFICIAL CHANGES ON MILWAUKEE ROAD.

New York, Jan. 24.—H. R. Williams was yesterday elected a vice president, director and member of the executive committee of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway. Formerly he was president of the Puget Sound division.

Mr. Williams, with headquarters here, will be in charge of the company's finances, to that extent succeeding the late Roswell Miller, who was chairman of the board. The other duties of the latter position have been combined with those of the president.

Other changes announced were: E. D. Sewall, now assistant to the president, elected vice president with headquarters at Chicago; D. L. Bush, elected a vice president, also to be stationed at Chicago; H. E. Earling, elected a vice president, with headquarters at Seattle.

FORMER MAYOR IS N. P. INSPECTOR.

Brainerd, Minn., Jan. 24. — Adolph Ousdahl, former mayor of Brainerd, is now an inspector of power plants for the Northern Pacific railway, which has some twenty or more plants. His residence is at Seattle and Mr. Ousdahl travels over the entire system in his work of supervision and the increase of efficiency.

CAR SHORTAGE IS NOT SERIOUS.

Kenneth Watson of Winnipeg, district passenger and freight agent of the Pennsylvania lines, who was a visitor in Duluth today, said that while there was a shortage of cars throughout the American and Canadian Northwest, this shortage was not such as would be likely to cause any serious trouble or hardship. The railroads of that territory, he said, were carefully watching the situation, and were not allowing any more of their cars to go East than they were absolutely obliged to. He said there was no congestion of wheat this year on the Canadian side, as there was a year ago. The sidings were being kept clear and the grain was being moved as fast as it was brought in from the farms.

MURPHY AND TAFT BUY PHILADELPHIA PARK

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 24. — President Charles W. Murphy of the Chicago National League club, announced here today that he had purchased a half interest in the Philadelphia National League Baseball park and that the park now is jointly owned by himself and C. P. Taft of Cincinnati.

Mr. Murphy said that Mr. Taft and he had no interest in the Philadelphia ball club, but only in the real estate or the grounds on which the team plays.

Mr. Murphy further said that at the recent sale of the Philadelphia club to William H. Locke and associates, an agreement was entered into by which the Philadelphia club owners could purchase the playing field in 1920 for $400,000.

Woman's Realm

A lively discussion of Henri Becque's "The Crows," followed the reading of the last part of that play this morning at the meeting of the Modern Drama Class of the Twentieth Century club held at the guild hall of Trinity pro-cathedral. The characters as well as the treatment of the whole party were spoken of by different members of the class.

Perez Galdos, the Spanish dramatist, will be the next writer taken up, and Mrs. J. C. H. Engel will give a twenty-minute talk on his life and his works at the next regular meeting of the class, Feb. 14. His play, "The Grandfather," will be taken up, with Mrs. M. Cook as leader.

LADIES' NIGHT.

Commercial Club Will Have Social Evening.

Ladies night at the Commercial club this month will be Friday, Jan. 31. This is the second of the social evenings planned by this club and a program followed by cards and dancing and a supper will be features of the evening. Arrangements are being made for the affair by the members of the entertainment committee, Mrs. William H. Hoyt, Mrs. C. F. Macdonald, Mrs. E. S. Oakley, Mrs. H. V. Eva and Mrs. F. Church.

The committee met yesterday afternoon at the Commercial club to discuss the program to be given.

CHURCH SOCIAL.

Interesting Program Planned By Women in Charge.

A program of interest has been arranged for the social which will be held this evening in the parlors of the Lakeside Presbyterian church under the direction of the second division of the women's aid society of that church. Miss Lena Ward will sing, Stanley Lamb and Mrs. Ida Merritt will give readings and Miss Katherine Hall will contribute a piano solo.

The social is open and a most cordial invitation is extended to all members of the church, their friends, and all who are interested. The hours will be from 8 to 10 o'clock.

BURNS' BANQUET.

Plan for Four Hundred at Annual Function.

Preparations are being made for 400 guests at the banquet with which the Scotch people and their friends of this city will celebrate the birthday anniversary of Robert Burns at the Spalding hotel, under the auspices of Clan Stewart, No. 50, O. S. C.

Alexander Anderson, chief of the clan, will preside and Warren E. Greene will give the toast on "Robert Burns." A program of musical numbers arranged by A. F. M. Custance will be given, one of the special features being an original sketch by the "Kiltie Lassies," the nature of which has been kept secret. Miss Helon Benson will take the part of Miss Columbia, and Miss Lillian Ramstad and Miss Lois Curtis will be her assistants and Miss Elfa Smith will be the spokesman.

The Scottish Rite quarter, composed of Don E. Cole, R. A. Burquist, Charles Applehagen and Don C. Gearhart, will be featured and vocal numbers by other prominent soloists will be given preceding the dance which will be held the last half of the evening.

Sleighride Party.

The choir of the First Swedish Lutheran church entertained at a sleigh ride and cabin party at Camp Komagin near Arnold last evening. An enjoyable evening was spent by the following:

Misses—
Edla Magney, Esther Wipson, Ellen Carlson, Alfreda Hokanson, Lillie Carlson, Elsie Thorwall, Ethel Dahlman, Olga Johnson, Esther Berg, Minnie Eyberg, Mabel Johnson, Caroline Carlson, Elna Wipson.

Esther Mack, Mary Berg, Amelia Berg, Ruth Ten Brook, Edna Kreiger, Lillian Watts.

Masters—
Herman Lavin, Marshall Haines, Ralph Fiskett, Raymond Blais, Wallace Malcolm, Francis Emanuelson, Sigred Benson, Chesley Cluett, Walter Nelson, Ernest Nelson, Vinton Malcolm, Louis Breole, Ernest Wilson, Ernest Watts, George Wooten.

Afternoon Teas.

The King's Daughters have instituted a series of afternoon teas at Jane Listman's shop at Seventh avenue east and Superior street which promise to become popular for small parties. Yesterday afternoon the first of these under their direction was held, with Miss Jessie Hartley and Miss Genevieve Washburn in charge.

This afternoon Miss Mary Paine and Mrs. Seth Marshall served the tea, and the hostesses for tomorrow afternoon are Miss Dorothy House and Miss Judith Hartley. Miss Caroline Marshall and Miss Marjorie Morrow have been appointed for the hostesses on Monday afternoon, and others will take charge the other afternoons. Tea is served there from 4 to 6, and a number of small parties dropped in yesterday afternoon for a cup of tea and rest after shopping.

These teas will be continued for a month, with members of that society in charge each day.

Famous Dancer Arrives.

Mlle. Adeline Genee, the famous dancer who will be seen in a program of her own dances this evening at the Lyceum theater, in the third of the events in the Reyner Memorial series, arrived in Duluth at 2:25 this afternoon in her private car with her own orchestra and company.

Sodality Party.

Members of the Blessed Virgin's Sodality of the Sacred Heart cathedral will be entertained this evening at an informal party in the club rooms of the cathedral hall. A program of music and readings and games has been planned.

Story Club.

Mrs. A. G. Barnard of 2334 Bank street entertained the members of the Daisy Chain Story club yesterday afternoon. Twelve members were present.

Observe St. Paul's Day.

Tomorrow, St. Paul's day, in the church calendar, will be observed at St. Paul's Episcopal church with the celebration of holy communion at 10 a. m.

Card Party.

Mrs. George Drewett of 826 East Fourth street entertained at cards last evening. The guests were:

Messrs. and Mesdames Harry Pearson, Charles Worth, W. F. Hutchins, J. W. Getty; Mrs. William Zuck; Miss Edith Drewett; Messrs. Oscar Eilert and Gus Peppard.

Goes to Banqpet.

Mrs. W. H. Hoyt of 313 South Twenty-first avenue east left this afternoon for Minneapolis where she will attend the banquet which will be given for the Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority at the Leamington hotel tomorrow evening.

Titsch-Sitz.

Mr. and Mrs. William Titsch of Dayton, Ohio, announce the marriage of their daughter, Margaret E., to Rufus B. Titz of this city, on Wednesday evening, Jan. 22, at Duluth. The wedding was performed by Dr. M. S. Rice, pastor of the First M. E. church at the parsonage of the church at 7 o'clock. Miss Katherine Gillis and Edward Burns were the attendants.

Spalding Tea.

Miss Wally Heymar will be the soloist at the regular matinee tea at the Spalding hotel tomorrow afternoon from 4 to 5:30 o'clock, and a program of trio numbers will be played by Miss Brown, Miss Heymar and Miss Lawson. A number of informal parties have been planned for the afternoon.

Mrs. Williamson Hostess.

Mrs. H. F. Williamson of 2402 East First street was hostess at eight tables of bridge yesterday afternoon at her home, and prizes were won by Mrs. Gibson L. Douglass, Mrs. J. H. Harper and Mrs. William Pitt Abbott.

Mrs. Williamson entertained at cards again today, bridge being played at seven tables this afternoon.

Johnston-Balduc.

The wedding of Miss Ethel May Johnston to Albert J. Balduc took place last evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. J. Johnston, 2004 West Superior street, Dr. A. W. Ryan, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, officiating. The service was read in the presence of a number of friends and relatives and a wedding dinner was served at a prettily appointed table after the ceremony.

Miss Anna Danielson was the bridesmaid and Frank Drew was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Balduc left for Minneapolis, where they will spend three months, after which they will return to Duluth to make their home here.

SATURDAY CLUB.

History Will Be Topic for Afternoon.

The History of Holland and Belgium since 1830 will be the subject for the meeting of the Saturday club tomorrow afternoon at the library club room at 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. Theodore Nauffts will be the leader. The subject for current events will be "The Norwegian Monarchy."

The program as arranged for the afternoon follows:

"Adoption of Constitution of 1848 and Extension of the Franchise."..... Mrs. Nauffts.

"The Dutch Colonists in Africa" .... Mrs. L. Downs.

"Suffrage and Educational problems in Belgium" ..... Mrs. W. B. Brinkman.

"King Leopold II. and his Work".. Mrs. Hugh Steele.

EBERHART'S POLICIES.

Dr. McClaran Speaks on Measures Favored By the Governor.

Dr. Sarah McClaran in her talk on Governor Eberhart's policies given last evening at the meeting of the Business Women's club held in the library clubrooms under the joint leadership of Mrs. W. C. Allen and herself said that reapportionment is the subject which Governor Eberhart features above all others in his present administration.

"He takes the stand," she said, "that basing representation on anything but population is unconstitutional, and he has pledged himself anew to reapportionment.

"Governor Eberhart favors the proposed public utilities commission, a commission of three members to regulate all public utilities and public service corporations, the prices they shall charge for service, the hours of labor, and the arbitration of difficulties.

"He also favors the 'blue sky law' to prevent indiscriminate sale of worthless stocks and bonds; a presidential primary law; a state income tax; the initiative and referendum; state control of tubercular patients and conditions; a law making property owners responsible for all gambling carried on on their premises and all losses due to gambling, which if passed, would probably do more than any other one thing to put a stop to gambling."

The club voted to take up the study of a recent work in twelve volumes, "The Woman Citizen's Library," at the regular fortnightly meetings. The first volume, a brief survey of political science, will be begun at the next meeting, Thursday evening, Feb. 6.

The income tax as compared with present modes of taxation was discussed at the close of the program, the general opinion being that the former would be more fair, but like prohibition, should be made national to be fully effective.

For the "G. and R." Club.

The members of the G. & R. club were entertained last evening by Miss Anna Sundeen at the home of Mrs. M. Ayotte. Games were played, for which the favors were won by Mrs. Ayotte and Paul Ayotte.

Church Meetings.

The Missionary Society of the Glen Avon Presbyterian church will have a luncheon at the parlors of the church next Wednesday and the regular monthly business meeting will follow.

* * *

The Forward guild of the First Presbyterian church will meet tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in the parlors of the church. The subject for the afternoon will be "The Problem of Environment," including the home, the street, the school, the industry, amusement and the church, in the elements of the environment in the downtown city.

Large Class Formed.

Thirty-eight girls joined the folk dancing class at the Whittier school which held its first meeting last evening under the direction of Miss Susan House, principal with Miss Johnston, one of the teachers there as instructor and Miss Peterson as pianist. More girls have sent in their names as wanting to be members and several little folk dances were started last evening.

The youngsters too want to learn so plans have been made to arrange a class for the boys and girls of the fourth and fifth grades after school hours on Thursday afternoons.

Miss d'Autremont Hostess.

Miss Marie d'Autremont of 1401 East First street entertained at an outing party last evening. The party took the trip down the trail from Woodland to Lakeside coming out at the Country club where a supper was served and they played games and danced for an hour. There were twenty in the party.

Skating Party.

Fred Wolvin was host at a skating party Wednesday evening and after skating at the Curling rink a supper was served at his home, 1105 East Superior street. There were twenty guests.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Working Girl Better Groomed Than Stay-at-Home Sister.

Do I think the girl who works for her living or the girl who stays at home makes the best appearance—and why? queries a correspondent, hoping to get me to commit myself, and possibly become unpopular with one faction or the other.

I do not know that I have ever before given the subject any considerable thought. I know I have occasionally wondered why it was that women of comparative leisure and means made such frumps of themselves. I know I have openly and vehemently declared that if I had as little to do as some people whom I know, I could, without any trouble keep myself well groomed and neatly clothed.

And on thinking it over, I am actually surprised to find that of the two, averaging them, the working girl of my acquaintance is away ahead of the stay-at-home girl of leisure and means, as far as grooming and gowning go.

Now, as to why it is, I am not so sure. Business requires it. Possibly that is the strongest argument. It not only demands it, but business associations act as a spur. There is no excuse or hope for the girl in business who neglects herself. Frayed skirt bindings, run-over heels, unpolished shoes, grimy nails, unkempt hair, bedraggled garments, none of these are permitted the self-respecting working girl. Did she persist in being untidy she would pass from one position to another, each one being lower than the one preceding it.

If a woman wants to attain anything in the business world she must be neatly, becomingly and appropriately dressed. She must be everlastingly at the task of keeping herself clean. Not for her the extra nap in the morning, with fresh ruching to sew into neck and sleeves, shoes to polish and the rip in her glove to mend. For upon these very trifling things, no less than on the quality of her work, depends the holding of her position.

And aside from what business demands of the woman who works, I think the fact that she does work is an incentive. She sees more people than the stay-at-home girl. She rubs elbows every day with women who are exquisitely dressed and groomed.

All this may at first incline the working girl to extravagance, to wishing for the unattainable and to envy. But truthfully, I think, on the whole, that the working girl makes the most of herself, and to her all credit is due.

MAKES RHEUMATISM PROMPTLY DISAPPEAR

Chronic, Crippled-up Sufferers Find Relief After Few Doses of New Remedy Are Taken.

It is needless to suffer any longer with rheumatism, and be all crippled up, and bent out of shape with its heart-wrenching pains, when you can surely avoid it.

Rheumatism comes from weak, inactive kidneys, that fail to filter from the blood, the poisonous waste matter and uric acid; and it is useless to rub on liniments or take ordinary remedies to relieve the pain. This only prolongs the misery and can't possibly cure you.

The only way to cure rheumatism is to remove the cause. The new discovery, Croxone, does this because it neutralizes and dissolves all the poisonous substances and uric acid that lodge in the joints and muscles, to scratch and irritate and cause rheumatism, and cleans out and strengthens the stopped-up, inactive kidneys, so they can filter all the poison from the blood, and drive it on and out of the system.

Croxone is the most wonderful medicine ever made for curing chronic rheumatism, kidney troubles, and bladder disorders. You will find it different from all other remedies. There is nothing else on earth like it. It matters not how old you are, or how long you have suffered, it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. You will find relief from the first few doses, and you will be surprised how quickly all your misery and suffering will end.

An original package of Croxone costs but a trifle at any first-class drug store. All druggists are authorized to sell it on a positive money-back guaranatee. Three doses a day for a few days is often all that is ever needed to cure the worst backache or overcome urinary disorders.

CHANCE FOR LONG CRUISE

Naval Militia Members Excited at Prospect of Panama Trip.

Many More Men Needed to Complete Duluth and Pine City Divisions.

Members of the Minnesota Naval Militia are all excited over the prospect of being regularly enlisted in the navy for the cruise through the Panama canal on the opening of the big ditch.

The canal is expected to be opened next fall, and the opening will be attended by the passage of a big fleet of ships of the navy. The secretary of the navy and other officials are expected to accompany the fleet.

Officers of the Minnesota militia are laying tentative plans to have the two Duluth divisions and the Pine City division filled out for the cruise. The full complement of the divisions is 275 men, and the officers hope to have that number for the trip through the canal. A time limit will probably be placed on enlisments, so that there will be plenty of time to drill all the men and have them efficient enough to take places on the regular ships of the navy.

When the Duluth boys went to New York for the naval review last fall they were placed on regular ships with the enlisted men. The officers were also given their watches and the ordinary duties of officers of the regular navy. The Minnesota men acquitted themselves creditably, and the experience will be valuable in making preparations for the longer cruise next fall.

Commander Guy A. Eaton, who has been in St. Paul, will be in Duluth tomorrow and will discuss plans with the other officers.

HANDCAR CREW HURT.

Riding on South Shore Track and Struck By Locomotive.

Iron River, Wis., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—A South Shore bridge crew working at Pike river while returning to camp from Iron River a few nights ago on a hand car were struck by a locomotive at Twin Bear. The car was knocked off the track and three hurt.

Carl Lidja was the most seriously injured. His left leg was broken in three places above the knee. He was taken to St. Mary's hospital at Superior.

John Paulson's left hand was badly bruised and he was injured about the face. He was taken to a hospital in Marquette.

Table McGovern's Appointment.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 24.—The appointment of L. A. Anderson, the governor's candidate for insurance commissioner, to succeed Ekern, was tabled by the senate. On motion of Senator Killeen, the appointment was laid over for two weeks.

CANAL WOULD BE USELESS

Commercial Impracticability of Waterway to Mississippi Is Shown.

Duluth's Traffic Commissioner Punctures Claims Made By Backers.

The commercial impracticability of a canal between the Head of the Lakes and the Twin Cities is shown in a statement just completed by G. Roy Hall, traffic commissioner of the Duluth Commercial club, for the board of United States engineers which has the project under consideration.

Mr. Hall testified before the board at a recent hearing on the canal project and he was asked by Col. C. L. Potter to prepare a statement showing the tonnage possibilities of the canal. He has submitted the statement to Capt. E. D. Peek of the local corps of engineers, Capt. Peek being a member of the board.

Mr. Hall's statement follows:

"In considering the commercial possibilities of a canal from Lake Superior to the Mississippi river, it seems proper and fair to take up the movement of various commodities between Duluth-Superior harbor and the Twin Cities, both locally and destined to points beyond, the volume of such movement in total, and during both the open and closed season of navigation upon the canal, the railroad rates for the transportation of such commodities, the service performed by the railroads as compared with that which might reasonably be performed by the canal, the railroad rates for such transportation and the possibility of rates being made for transportation on the canal, low enough to attract traffic from the rail lines and affect the rail rates.

"As the southbound movement will probably considerably exceed the northbound shipments in the future, to at least as great an extent as at present, consideration will be given to that traffic first.

Coal Movement.

"For the season of 1911, there were received by lake at Duluth-Superior harbor 1,364,568 tons of hard coal and 7,070,337 tons of soft coal.

"Hard coal is used mainly for house heating during the winter months and the shipments from the Head of the Lakes move almost exclusively during the late fall and winter when the canal would be closed to navigation. It therefore seems fair to eliminate the hard coal tonnage unless it can be shown that the rates on the canal can be made low enough to warrant the shipping, prior to the close of the canal, of large quantities for storage at the Twin Cities or other points. This feature will be taken up later.

"Soft coal is used the year around, but a much greater tonnage is consumed during the winter months than during warm weather, as this class of coal is used largely in the heating of large buildings and even steam plants require more fuel during the winter than in the summer.

"Presuming for purposes of argument that the demand is uniform throughout the year and the shipments each month are about equal. The largest estimate presented at the hearing was that 50 per cent of the receipts at Duluth-Superior harbor goes to the Twin Cities, and beyond. Fifty per cent of the 1911 receipts of soft coal was 3,535,168 tons, equal to 294,597 tons per month. The canal would not be open for traffic over seven months in the year, and for that period 2,062,179 tons would move under normal conditions. This movement, like that of hard coal, is dependent upon the canal rates and service.

Service.

"Coal transported by rail is loaded into cars at the docks at the Head of the Lakes and delivered next day to consignees in any part of the Twin Cities without any additional charge beyond the freight rate from Duluth to St. Paul. Shipments by canal would have to be unloaded and loaded into cars for delivery at points of destination not located on the canal. Coal transported by canal could not be delivered to consignees in the Twin Cities in less than five days on the average.

"The price of coal f. o. b. cars at Duluth is 25 cents per ton less than the price of the same coal f. o. b. barges at Duluth. The deterioration on soft coal in the transfer from barges to cars is estimated by the coal dock managers at Duluth-Superior harbor to be about 20 cents per ton. The charges at the Twin Cities for moving coal from the canal terminals to industries or team tracks would be, on a distance tariff basis, as follows:

	Rate.
5 miles, per 100 pounds	3 cents
10 miles, per 100 pounds	3 cents
15 miles, per 100 pounds	3 cents
20 miles, per 100 pounds	4 cents
25 miles, per 100 pounds	5 cents
30 miles, per 100 pounds	5 cents
35 miles, per 100 pounds	6 cents
40 miles, per 100 pounds	6 cents

"The rates from the canal terminal to destinations on rail lines would depend upon the location of the canal terminals.

"To sum up, the cost of delivering coal from Duluth to on board cars at the canal terminals, exclusive of the charge for transportation on the canal, would be substantially as follows:

	Per ton.
Extra charge for loading barges	$.25
Deterioration	.20
Transfer barge to car	.15
Total	$.60

"The rail rates from Duluth to the Twin Cities are $1.25 per ton on hard coal and 90 cents per ton on soft coal, leaving 65 cents per ton on hard coal and 30 cents per ton on soft coal to cover the canal charge from Duluth to the Twin Cities and the rail charge from the canal terminal to final destination in the Twin Cities.

"From this it would seem doubtful if the canal could equal the rail rates, and practically impossible for the canal to offer rates enough lower than those of the rail lines to attract any considerable tonnage for the Twin Cities locally.

"As to coal traffic from Duluth destined to points beyond the Twin Cities which might move by canal. The rail rates from Duluth to such destinations are substantially the same as the rates to the same points from Lake Michigan ports and from mining points in Illinois.

Merchandise.

"Westbound general merchandise traffic destined to the Twin Cities is handled on through rates which are the following differentials higher than the rail-and-lake rates to Duluth, governed by official classification:

Classes	1	2	3	4	5	6
Cents per 100 lbs.	15	13	9	5	4	2
Iron and steel articles				2 cents
A very large percentage of special commodity rates				2 cents

"The canal boats could not reduce these figures and live.

"The lumber manufactured in Duluth is shipped East by lake.

"This is substantially all of the southbound traffic.

Northbound.

"The claim has been made that flour, grain and manufactured articles will furnish a heavy northbound tonnage.

"The mills at Minneapolis are located above any possibility of navigation on the Mississippi river, so far as the proposed canal is concerned, therefore there will be a rail movement from the mills to the canal. The transfer, estimated from the experience at Duluth in unloading from cars and loading on board vessels, would be 30 cents per ton. The same charge would be made at Duluth for transfer from barge to lake vessels. This would make a charge of 60 cents per ton for handling [illegible]. The proportional rate on flour [illegible] from Minneapolis to Duluth is 5 cents per 100 pounds or $1 per net ton. Deducting the canal handling charges leaves 40 cents per ton, out of which to pay the rail charges from the mills to the canal, and the charges for canal transportation to Duluth.

"Flour and package freight cannot be handled to advantage in the same type of barge as coal and other bulk commodities, and a coal barge would have to be thoroughly cleaned before loading with flour.

"Grain is not shipped locally from the Twin Cities to Duluth. Such grain is handled on a proportional rate not exceeding 5 cents per 100 pounds or $1 per ton. The bulk of the grain moving from Minneapolis to Duluth is handled on through rates from points of origin to Duluth.

"The through rates from points on the Great Northern railway in Southwestern Minnesota, Iowa and South Dakota to Duluth, in no case exceed the rates from the same stations to Minneapolis by more than 3 cents per 100 pounds or 60 cents per net ton.

"In order to attract grain shipments to the canal, a rate materially lower than 60 cents per ton would have to be made between Minneapolis and Duluth. Grain could not be handled in a coal barge, unless the barge was subjected to a thorough cleaning before the grain was loaded. The elevators in the Twin Cities are not located so as to load direct to barges. This would necessitate a rail movement from elevator to barge and a transfer charge of at least 20 cents per ton from car to barge.

"On all merchandise traffic through Duluth, both east and westbound, there is a dockage charge of 40 cents per ton, which is absorbed by the rail lines. Some arrangement would have to be made by the canal boats to take care of this charge.

"All of the rail rates include insurance against loss and damage. The matter of claims has not been referred to as it does not seem necessary to go further into details in view of the impossibility of the commercial success of the canal.

"The rail rates are so adjusted, and the transportation conditions so unfavorable to canal traffic, that there seems to be very little possibility of rates being made on the canal, which added to the various charges incidental to transportation via that agency, would meet the rail charges, and no possibility of canal rates being made low enough to influence the movement of traffic by rail or affect the rail rates."

WHITNEY WALL IS HOST TO EMPLOYES

Talks on Building Management Given at Commercial Club Dinner.

About fifty employes of the Whitney Wall company were guests of the company at a dinner at the Commercial club last evening. It was a "get together" meeting, in which the employes and their employers talked over matters of building management.

The guests of the company are employes at the Manhattan, Palladio, Providence and Torrey buildings, and the subjects of the talks were applied to the work in the buildings.

Whitney Wall was toastmaster, and talks were made by him and several guests. Chief of Police C. H. Troyer told of the manner in which employes in buildings may assist the police in guarding property. E. F. Kelly, manager of the Western Union, told of the operations of the watch system and the necessity of vigilance on the part of watchmen. W. E. McEwen gave a general talk on the subject of efficiency in labor, also touching upon the relations between tenant and building employes. H. W. Nichols, manager of the Northland Coal company, talked on fuel efficiency, and H. E. Elden on boiler inspection and care of machinery.

Mr. Wall gave a short talk in which he pointed out that the interests of employer and employe are mutual, and that the best of service from both is due the tenant. He said that the "get together" dinners would be annual events in the future, but that the spirit shown at the dinner should continue through the year for the maintenance of efficiency of service.

Canary birds are now part of the equipment of very well regulated mines. If the atmosphere is questionable the birds are carried into it, and they show signs of its effects at once.

GET RID OF ALL INDIGESTION

If Your Stomach Is Lacking In Digestive Power, Why Not Help the Stomach Do Its Work.

Not with drugs, but with a reinforcement of digestive agents, such as are naturally at work in the stomach. Scientific analysis shows that digestion requires pepsin, nitrogenous ferments, and the secretion of hydrochloric acid. When your food fails to digest, it is proof positive that some of these agents are lacking in your digestive apparatus.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain these natural elements necessary to digestion and when placed at work in the weak stomach and small intestines, supply what these organs need. They stimulate the gastric glands and gradually bring the digestive organs back to their normal condition.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been subjected to critical chemical tests at home and abroad and their composition has been approved by the highest authorities.

There is no secret in the preparation of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Their composition is known among physicians, as the most popular of all remedies for indigestion, dyspepsia, water brash, insomnia, loss of appetite, melancholia, constipation, dysentery and kindred diseases originating from improper dissolution and assimilation of foods, because they are thoroughly reliable and harmless to man or child.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by all druggists at 50 cents a box and are at once a safe and a powerful remedy, one grain of the active principle in these tablets being strong enough (by test) to digest 3,000 grains of steak, eggs and other foods. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest your food for you when your stomach can't.

MINING BUILDING NEEDED.

One more committee must act on the proposal to erect a state mining building at a point on the iron ranges, before the measure will be ready for final consideration by the house. There ought to be little delay in getting the present bill to its final stages, and there should be equal expedition in passing the bill.

It is not alone that the iron range region is entitled to a state building, but the state's mineral interests are so great that it is a matter of economy to have a public structure in the mining region. It is necessary for a certain force of state employes to be always present, and the old system of renting accommodations for them and their work is bad.

The state should provide permanent headquarters for its mining interests. It should have a place arranged and fitted up for that special work. And the headquarters should be where the work has to be done—in the iron region itself.

Southern California will now look to Luther Burbank to produce a freezeless frost.

WILSON'S "VISIONARY" NOTIONS.

Pat upon the heels of Wall street's oracular outpourings about his visionary tendencies and the vagueness of his ideas, comes Governor Wilson's bouquet of corporation bills for the consideration of the New Jersey legislature. And now we hear no more of vagueness or visions.

On the contrary, Wall street seems to have retired suddenly into its boudoir or its smoking room or its hole, or whatever it calls that sacred place of refuge, to cogitate over the likelihood that the trust nursery may be turned into a kindergarten in popular rights, a sort of school in the Montessori method for semi-public business.

It has been charged that Mr. Wilson had no definite notions as to responsibility for infractions of the laws governing business; and Mr. Wilson has replied by submitting a bill for severe and direct penal action against the individuals who instigate and carry forward such infractions.

It has been charged that he offered no solution for the overcapitalization of industry or other business; and he replied with a bill that forbids the issue of stocks or bonds on anything but a bona fide valuation.

It has been charged that he had no remedy for the concentration of power; and he replied with a bill that will do away with holding companies and with unrestricted mergers.

It has been charged that he had no remedy for destruction of competition; and he has replied with a bill that provides for just and equitable variations in price, based on locality and transportation charges.

And so, throughout the whole series of his "seven sister bills" the president-elect has answered his critics in a fashion that not only seems to have silenced them, but that must have set them to thinking. For these laws he proposes are not visionary and "academic," but are drawn in correct legal phraseology, cover amply the abuses they seek to correct, and are declared by competent legal authority to be safely within the decisions of the courts and the constitutional and statutory provisions governing state acts. As the New York Sun says:

> That the governor of New Jersey and the next president of the United States means business there can be no doubt in any intelligent mind. He is no longer amorphous. We commend his crystallized ideas to candid and respectful consideration.

President-elect Wilson, in short, seems to be long on horse sense and keen understanding. His method of going after needed results in New Jersey promises uncommonly well for what may be expected of him when he gets his hand on the tiller of the national ship of state.

The impression prevails that those electoral votes were cast at Dr. Butler rather than for him.

THE "CERTIFICATE" NONSENSE.

There promises to be short shrift for the clause in the new immigration bill that declares all immigrants must be provided with "certificates of character" from the officials of their native country, if they come from countries that issue such papers. The clause should be stricken from the bill without hesitation or debate. Its insertion there in the first place was sheer nonsense, and the senate did well in refusing to concur in any such provision.

A man may not measure up to the requirements that Russia, for example, would demand before the granting of a certificate of character, and yet may have in his makeup the requisite for a first-class American citizen.

This country has always held itself up as a haven for political refugees, and has gained some of its best citizens from that class. Carl Schurz, for example, turned out to be an American of whom the nation had reason to be proud. But if Carl Schurz had been barred from this country until he could obtain a certificate of character from his native country, he never could have come to America.

The man who regards a republican form of government as superior to a monarchical form, and has conviction enough to say so, is pretty well qualified, in that point at least, to become an American. But such a man would stand precious little show of getting a certificate of character from Russia.

If we are going to limit immigration, let us find some other basis than that of some foreign country's estimate as to the value of the citizenship of the man who would seek a home here.

Anybody else with any ideas about the amalgamation of the G. O. P. and the Bull Moose party will please consult with Oyster Bay before risking publication.

BEHOLD THE S. S. B.

Behold the Seven Senators Bill. It riseth fresh as a precocious youth who butteth repeatedly into the deliberations of his elders. It bringeth ever new sensations wherever it goeth. It careth naught for the will of the people or the wording of the Constitution. It bloweth where it listeth, and no man knoweth the reason or sense thereof. Snubs are to it but as the falling of insipid moisture on the sleek plumage of the helldiver; and fairness and justice are words not in its vocabulary. In mathematics it is but little versed, and it dependeth on the magic number 7 for its logic and its prestige. Yet doth it serve a purpose, for it amuseth its framers, and keepeth them out of possible mischief that might be taken seriously by their colleagues. It bringeth the smile of weariness to the face of the well-informed. It lighteneth the burden of the legislative clerk, who knoweth he but needs to clip it out of the repudiated sections of the last state ballot and paste it in his records instead of having to write it all out. Truly it hath its value, for its composition occupieth minds that otherwise might lie idle and liable to invasion by ideas of real subtlety and peril to the common weal.

But think of the advertising Adrianople is getting out of it all.

THE COST OF LIVING.

Among the bills pending before the house at Washington is the Crawford-Sulzer bill providing for the creation of an international conference on the cost of living. The bill has passed the senate, but is threatened with a dull, sickening death in the house.

There have been widely diverse theories to account for the high cost of living, and one of the most frequent assertions of the opponents of the charge that the tariff has something to do with conditions in this country has been that the conditions existing here are in fact worldwide.

It is to investigate the truth of this assertion, and to study with the men of other nations, in case some basis be found for such an assertion, the causes and remedy for present conditions, that this bill has been framed. It is entitled to favorable action by the house, for surely if ever there was a matter that was of interest to every nation, this is.

There is nothing of partisan nature in the bill, and it need grate on the party loyalty of no member to vote for it. There may be worldwide conditions that have operated to bring about the present high prices. If that is true, international action probably would be needed to solve the trouble. And if the conditions are confined to our own nation, this proposed conference would bring out that fact and put us in a fair way to solve the trouble ourselves. At any rate the conference would be sure to be beneficial in the interchange of information, and the house should pass the present bill.

Some moving pictures were made of the election of Senator Nelson, but it was in the election of Lorimer that the really moving pictures were set.

JUST SIMPLE DUTY.

Conditions in the North Dakota state asylum have been investigated by members of the legislature of that state and found to be deserving of condemnation. Unsanitary surroundings for the inmates have been proved, and other less serious but no less undesirable conditions were found by the legislators who visited the institution. As a result there is a strong sentiment among the law makers to furnish a generous appropriation for the improvement of conditions there.

Such a movement is nothing more than a simple duty on the part of the state. Some of these people come from homes where they could be cared for with at least a fair show for physical health, but it is deemed advisable that they be looked after by the state instead. Others, not having relatives who could look after them, are dependent on the state for a place to live.

In the present advanced stage of humanitarianism it is a recognized part of governmental policy that those whose care devolves on the state are as much entitled to healthful surroundings as other inhabitants. The days when bare necessities, without physical comfort, were regarded as the limit of good the state needed to furnish its wards have gone forever, it is to be hoped.

Furthermore, it is the experience in institutions of this character, that proper food and proper surroundings will sometimes operate to restore health to the minds of the insane. This being the case, it clearly is the duty of the state to provide such conditions, not only for humanity's sake, but in order that the burden of caring for curable individuals may be taken from the state's shoulders.

Recognition of the existence of the evils complained of is a big step toward remedying them. The state should not hesitate to complete the work by whatever means lie within its power.

The Turks have formed a new cabinet already. It must be easier over there than it is in this country.

LORIMER TO THE RESCUE.

President Taft is not to be left entirely helpless in his struggle to save what is left of the Grand Old Party. The S. O. S. and C. Q. D. signals that have been oscillating from the flagstaffs of the White House golf grounds have not been sent out in vain. Something has been done—something tangible and definite—something practical and strictly under the wing of the statutes in such case made and provided.

Briefly, Lorimer has incorporated. Not Lorimer alone, but Lorimer and some of the other staunch supporters of the G. O. P., and in the act of incorporation they have raised up the flag of their party from the dust and debris of last November's collapse and have given it a deathless place in the records at the Illinois state capitol.

This has been accomplished by the incorporation at Springfield of the Republican club, whose objects are thus set forth:

> To perpetuate the principles of the Republican party as promulgated in the platforms adopted in its national conventions from its birth to the convention of 1912 inclusive; to oppose the initiative, referendum and recall of judicial decisions, and every other policy which proposes a change in the fundamental principles of the government inaugurated by the fathers and consecrated by the blood of the sons; and to afford recreation, education and fellowship for its members.

Hurray!

Likewise hip, hip!

And all the furbelows and flummididdles.

If anybody has the openers, the jackpot is ready for business and the first draw will be dealt as soon as all are in who wish to try to fill.

It isn't always that recreation and fellowship are linked with efforts to save the hair and hide of a defeated and disrupted political pachyderm, but there seems to be no valid reason why they shouldn't be resorted to in extreme cases. With Lorimer for the mahout, maybe the fallen Jumbo can be resuscitated after due time for recreation. Anyway, the experiment ought to be interesting to watch, and it is safe to trust to somebody to take at least that much interest in it.

If you are looking for a subject for your next literary effort, you might try your luck on "Furnaces I Have Met." At least it will give a chance to show some heat.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussion of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

DULUTH NIGHT SCHOOLS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Will you kindly inform me through the Open Court column if there is a free evening school for foreigners to learn English. If so, where is it located, and how may I become a pupil?

M. M. B.

Duluth, Jan. 23.

Two night schools are conducted by the board of education, one at the Central high school and the other at the Industrial high school at West Duluth. Two classes meet at the Central high school, one on Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights and the other on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday nights. The class at the Industrial high school meets on Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights. A nominal fee of 25 cents is charged for admission to the classes. Anyone presenting himself at either school on class nights will be admitted to the classes.—The Editor.

Four Thousand Women Ministers.

New York Post: There are more than four thousand women ministers in the United States. Many of the state suffrage organizations are under the leadership of women ministers whose experiences in the various missions have brought them, as they have brought settlement workers, into the suffrage ranks.

Monte Carlo---You Cannot Beat It

Melville Davisson Post in the Saturday Evening Post.

One is disillusioned when he comes finally into the gambling rooms. The whole place is silent, except for the spin of the ball in the roulette wheel, the announcements of the croupiers, and the clink of coins as they are raked from the tables. All the essence of the place is tense and sinister. The faces of the players look like those of persons waiting for the arrival of the greatest event, as the verdict of a jury determining the issues of life. There is no conversation and no expression of emotion except what may be seen in a trembling hand or in the aspect of some player who has heavily won or lost. Occasionally one enters with a careless, jaunty air, but it presently disappears, and, whether he plays or not, his face presently takes on the tense expression of those about him. It is a deep, deadly, serious business in which most of these persons are engaged. Almost all of them are keeping records in a little lined book, in an effort to figure out some system by which they can beat M. Blanc at his own game.

In this they never succeed, however; for M. Blanc "meets all comers," in the language of the prize ring, and he welcomes every system.

In spite of the combined ingenuity of the gamblers his establishment continues to win at the rate of 25 million francs a year.

There are only two games played at Monte Carlo—roulette and a simple card game called trente-et-quarante. One is assured that these games are played quite fairly and that the percentage in favor of the bank is sixty-one to sixty. Whatever it may be, this certain percentage in favor of the tables overcomes all systems that human ingenuity can work out by any law of averages. M. Blanc will permit you to play any way you like, and to double your bet as often as you like until it reaches six thousand francs at roulette or twenty thousand francs at trente-et-quarante. Then you must begin over again, for it is quite clear that if one were permitted to double indefinitely it would only be a question of time and sufficient money to put M. Blanc out of business.

Thus it happens that M. Blanc, who takes no chance, wins against all those who are permitted to take any sort of chance they like. Sir Hiram Maxim disposed of all systems when he shattered a popular delusion in these words:

"If red has come up twenty times in succession it is just as likely to come up at the twenty-first time as it would be if it had not come up before for a week. Each particular coup is governed altogether by the physical conditions existing at that particular instant. The ball spins round a great many times in a groove. When its momentum is used up it comes in contact with several pieces of brass, and finally tumbles into a pocket in the wheel which is rotating in an opposite direction. It is a pure and unadulterated question of chance, and it is not influenced in the least by anything that has ever taken place before or that will take place in the future."

The Market Basket

Philadelphia Evening Telegraph: In part, at least, the high cost of living today is attributed to the passing of the market basket. Formerly the housewife herself went to market and carefully chose the food that was to go upon her table. She knew exactly the cost of every package stowed away in that basket which she or her servant was carrying. Nowadays the telephone is usurping all sorts of duties, and although it is a convenience it has its drawbacks. In marketing it no doubt saves time, but it has a decided tendency to flatten the family purse.

Many women in Philadelphia still cling to the old custom of going to market themselves and carrying the good old basket with them. They are certain to get much better service in various ways than the woman who orders by telephone or by messenger. For instance, the average marketman likes to be consulted, and if you get him when he is not too busy he will probably be glad to give you generous slices of advice and information.

The butcher will tell you of cuts of meat of which you never heard before, maybe, and he will dwell at length on their possibilities. For example, there's a flank steak, a delicious dish when properly prepared. The meat packers will tell you that, too, for did they not make it the piece de resistance of their fall banquet? You may roll it and roast it, with or without stuffing, or if you prefer, you may cook it like any other steak.

As to veal, there is a certain thick part between the loin proper and the leg which has just the same flavor as the latter, and though a little cheaper is exactly as good. It is wiser to buy this than the cheaper shoulder, because it is solid meat, and you really pay less, because there is a great deal of waste in the shoulder.

Buying vegetables by weight is a reform that many a dealer is advocating. It is a general custom abroad.

The Rich and the Poor.

Life: A New York physician, recently testifying before the supreme court of Massachusetts, declared that he would not treat Mr. Rockefeller unless that gentleman paid in advance.

"The rich," said the doctor, "are ever disputing their bills."

The gentleman is quite right. The rich are the poorest customers in the world. They can afford to dispute their bills without subjecting themselves to any humiliation. That they are rich is known, and that they keep people waiting for their money, and haggle over the amount, does not detract one iota from their prestige among themselves. It is also a mistake to suppose that because they "stand you off" you can charge them more.

The only people who pay more than they ought to for everything that they get are the poor. The poor cling passionately to independence, because with them independence is such a precarious asset, and they will almost always pay more than an article is really worth rather than to lay themselves open to criticism by disputing the the price.

Another advantage in having the poor for customers is their number. They pay promptly in cash all the way from 10 per cent to 50 per cent more than the article is really worth; and there are such quantities of them that the emoluments in their case are very much larger than in the case of the few rich people, each of whom may buy in quantity.

Keep away from the rich, therefore, if you wish to make big money, and cling to the poor.

Suspicions.

"Quite true. Some youngster been snowballing you."

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Without wishing to start an argument with the man who declared that nobody can eat a quail a day for thirty days, one may at least state that the rule does not apply to turkey. Senator Shelby M. Cullom eats turkey every noon for weeks and weeks at a time.

But at that he has nothing on Justice Charles E. Hughes when it comes to gastronomic continuity. The supreme court justices have their luncheon served in a private room off the courtroom, and it has been noted by the other associates that not once since he ascended the bench more than two years ago, has Hughes failed to eat a lamb chop or two each noon. It has to be a thick lamb chop and cooked just so.

Then there is Senator Crawford of South Dakota. He is another statesman who does not flit from flower to flower in his food quest, like a humming bird, but sticks to one thing. He himself cannot remember when he has gone twenty-four hours without eating a pot of baked beans.

Oscar W. Underwood now gets to his office every morning a trifle later than he used to. He formerly rode to the capitol in an automobile; now he walks. Not long ago he got to thinking it over and determined that if he couldn't get a little exercise each day for his health's sake, just because he is the ways and means committee chairman, he might as well get into some other line of activity, even if he had to go over to Venice and start a livery stable. He, therefore, made a New Year's resolution that he would walk the mile or two to his office each morning, rain or shine.

In order to offset this little extravagance with his time, he had his telephone put on a private list, and his name omitted from the directory. Things had got to a point where he was called so frequently at meal hours that he scarcely had time to swallow a bite or two of food between trips to the 'phone. He would just get a bite of mashed potatoes and gravy mixed in the right proportion when the bell would ring.

Underwood is the most calm man in congress, and yet the job of keeping the house Democrats cheerful at their tasks is a great tax on the nerves of any leader, and little things bother him now that never bothered him before. Not long ago he had his desk moved four times before he got it placed to suit him. Every time something about his work annoyed him more than usual he decided that the light or draft about his desk was not all that it should be.

Representative Sharp of Ohio was driving along with his family in his automobile, and stopped to say something to Representative Claude Kitchin of South Carolina.

"And I wish to call your attention to the large family I have," remarked Sharp, pointing to his six children.

"Yes, it's fairly large," said Kitchin, without much enthusiasm.

"You have some children, haven't you?" asked Sharp.

"I have—let's see—eight, I believe it is," replied Kitchin.

Just then Martin Littleton, the New York lawyer, happened along and they told him about their discussion of large families.

"Well, I've had a little experience with big family groups myself," observed Martin. "My parents were thoughtful enough to provide me with eighteen brothers and sisters."

Howard Sutherland, who will be representative-at-large from West Virginia after March 4, came to Washington the other day on a visit, and went to the capitol to see a friend, who is a member of the house. He sent his card in at the house main entrance, in the usual manner, remarking to the doorkeeper:

"It won't be long now 'till I'll have the privilege of the floor myself."

"Why, are you a member-elect?" asked the doortender, and Sutherland was obliged to admit that he was.

"Then you have the privileges of the floor right now," the doorkeeper told him. "You don't need to wait for March 4. Just walk right in."

And straightway the delighted Sutherland entered the chamber, where he was treated as an equal by one and all.

Representative Steenerson of Minnesota has a great flock of Red Lake Indians among his constituents. These are divided into Progressives and Standpatters in their attitude toward certain tribal affairs. One of the Red Lakes, in Washington recently, was explaining it all.

"What about Steenerson? Is he for the Progressives or the Standpats?" the Indian was asked.

"He's a Progressive," replied the Red Lake, "but he is equally friendly with the Standpats."

Which seems to show that Cousin Steenerson must be not only right smart of a politician, but a diplomatist, too.

Mr. Uncle Joe Cannon was inspecting the costly new home of a friend out in Illinois. One of the things the friend was proud of was the subdued lighting effect in the dining room, which was finished in dark colors. The electric lights could not be seen—in fact, nothing could be seen with much distinctness, so completely had the subdued effect been carried out. Mr. Cannon likes plenty of light in a dining room, and the arrangement did not much appeal to him.

"What do you think of it?" asked the friend.

"Well, if you want the truth," said Mr. Uncle Joe, "I think it looks like Hades with the fires banked."

Kissing a Lost Art.

London Chronicle: Kissing, which has been sanctioned, under certain conditions, in the city of Wheeling, W. Va., is almost a lost art in England. Its universal prevalence in the seventeenth century was the wonder of the foreigner. Nicolaus de Bethlen, who visited this country in 1663, relates that "my brother and I behaved very rudely on one occasion, being unaware that it was customary in that country to kiss the corner of the mouth of ladies, instead of shaking hands as we do in Hungary. We were invited to dine at the house of a gentleman of high rank, and found his wife and three daughters (one of them married) ready to receive us. We kissed the girls, but not the married ladies, and thereby greatly offended the latter. Duval apologized for our blunder and told us when saluting we must always kiss the senior lady first and leave the girls to the last."

Where's the Cure?

Philadelphia Inquirer: William Rockefeller evidently believes an ounce of medical prevention is worth a pound of legal advice.

The Press and the Legislature

Newspaper Views On the Session.

State Land Taxes.

Hibbing Mesaba Ore: The people of Koochiching county are fighting an uphill battle to have the state Constitution so amended as to allow the counties where the state is the heaviest landholder, such as is the case in Koochiching, to place a tax on the state land. The fund thus raised could be used in building roads and schoolhouses, the cost of which is too great for the few landholders that do live in those counties to stand. The state land is increased in value when good roads are built near it, and there is no logical reason why the state should not help to pay for the improvements, the same as any individual landholder has to do.

More Laws Needed.

Laporte News: Over thirty bills were introduced before the legislature on the first day allowed for that purpose. It is estimated that over 1,000 bills will be introduced during the session, and yet some people say we have too many laws already.

Constitution in the Way.

Roseau Times: There is mentioned an intention of lawmakers to provide a law for the disposal of state lands to actual settlers. At the suggestion of Senator Gunn of Grand Rapids, we drafted an outline of law permitting the pre-emption of state lands, which followed along the lines of government pre-emption and homestead laws and provided for the payment of the appraised price by the settler as now paid by purchasers. This looked good, but upon examination of Article 8, Section 2 of the state Constitution, we found that school and other state lands could not be disposed of otherwise than by public sale to the highest bidder.

The Niche Is Ready.

Detroit Record: It is reported that the 2-cent passenger fare is to come up again during the present session of the legislature, and if the author of the bill can only make it stick through the Federal courts he will win an everlasting place in the state's hall of fame.

All Are Progressive.

Northfield News: Evidently a good many of the members of the state legislature have been inspired by the spirit which seems to animate the chief executive. In their zeal to occupy front seats on the Progressive band wagon they are making quite an effort to push original reformers off. If they ever get it to themselves, however, it isn't very hard to guess, judging from their past record, to tell what they will do with it.

Non-Partisan County Officers.

Roseau Region: The present legislature is likely to amend the primary law so as to make all county offices non-partisan. There are no valid reasons why this should not be done. The adoption of the proposed plan will go far toward simplifying the primary election with respect to candidates for county offices. When the primary law becomes more generally understood, state offices should also be made non-partisan.

Starts Out Well.

Sauk Centre Herald: The Minnesota legislature starts out as though it meant business. May it keep up the pace.

"Little Fellows" on Top.

Pine River Sentinel: The "Old Guard" fared rather poorly at the hands of Speaker Rings and Lieutenant Governor Burnquist. Looks like the "little fellows" were going to be "some pumpkins" this session.

Giving Him a Shock.

New York Tribune: Apropos of a railroad wreck due to a defective bridge, Jerome S. McWade, the Duluth sociologist, said the other day:

"The railroad's cool stand about this bridge reminds me of a worse case—a case about a toll bridge in the South.

"The toll bridge was rotten, and a woman fell through a hole in it, and was drowned. Her indignant townspeople held a mass meeting, and in response to their resolution of protest the company wrote:

"'Gentlemen: Your resolution about our bridge has been duly received. It will be laid before the board at our annual meeting, eleven months hence. In the meantime, to prevent, if possible, a recurrence of the small accident to which said resolution refers, would it not be better if all your citizens used the company's other bridge, three miles to the north of town? The water there is scarcely deep enough to drown a man of full height.'"

The Raggedy Man.

O the Raggedy Man! He works for Pa;
An' he's the goodest man ever you saw!
He comes to our house every day,
An' waters the horses, an' feeds 'em hay;
An' he opens the shed—an' we all 1st laugh
When he drives out our little wobble-y calf;
An' nen—ef our hired girl says he can—
He milks the cow for 'Lizabuth Ann—
Ain't he a' awful good Raggedy Man?
Raggedy! Raggedy! Raggedy Man!

W'y, the Raggedy Man—he's 1st so good
He splits the kindlin' an' chops the wood;
An' nen he spades in our garden, too,
An' does most things 'at boys can't do—
He clumbed clean up in our big tree
An' shooken a' apple down fer me—
An' nother'n, too, fer the Raggedy Man—
Ain't he a' awful kind Raggedy Man?
Raggedy! Raggedy! Raggedy Man!

An' the Raggedy Man, he knows most rhymes
An' tells 'em, ef I be good, sometimes;
Knows 'bout Giunts, an' Griffuns, an' Elves,
An' the Squidgleum-Squees 'at swallers therselves!
An' wite by the pump in our pasture-lot,
He showed me the hole 'at the Wunks is got,
'At lives 'way deep in the ground, an' can Turn into me, er 'Lizabuth Ann!
Ain't he a funny old Raggedy Man?
Raggedy! Raggedy! Raggedy Man!

The Raggedy Man—one time when he
Was makin' a little bown'n'orry fer me,
Says, "When you're big like your Pa is,
Air you go' to keep a fine store like his—
An' be a rich merchant an' wear fine clothes?—
Er what air you go' to be, goodness knows!"
An' I say, "'M go' to be a Raggedy Man!—
I'm 1st go' to be a nice Raggedy Man!"
Raggedy! Raggedy! Raggedy Man!

John Christie went to Chicago today to complete arrangements for starting a lithographing plant here.

Balance of Power in the Hat

London dispatch in the Philadelphia Times: Once more the tyranny of the hat was asserted recently in the house of commons, which, though it claims to be the most dignified legislative assembly in the world, is in many ways one of the most ridiculous.

It seems almost incredible that in the English house of commons no member can raise a point of procedure during the division unless he is sitting down with his hat on, but it is solemnly laid down in the rules, and it was for this reason that one silk hat had to serve three heads during the debate on home rule a few nights ago. It is the custom for members of the house to sit with their hats on, and many and various are the rules as to when a member must keep his hat on and when he must take it off. This house is the only legislative assembly which has such a fashion.

When a member of the house addresses that body he is supposed to rise and remove his hat before beginning, but the rule that he must be seated and wearing his hat when he takes an exception to the ruling of the chair is an ironclad one. Even Gladstone, at the top of his power, was called to order on the one occasion when he forgot to observe it.

Being on their feet much of the time, the occupants of the ministerial and opposition front benches generally sit bareheaded. In the midst of the home rule debate a few night ago, both Sir Edward Carson and Austen Chamberlain had questions to put to the chair when the division was called.

Both, however, had left their hats in the members' cloakroom. After a minute or two, Sir John Lonsdale handed over his silk hat, which was donned first by Sir Edward and then by the Right Honorable Austen, neither of whom it fitted.

There is no end to this farce of the hat. A member is supposed to raise his hat whenever he is referred to by another member or whenever he speaks to anyone either on the bench above or below him. If he wishes to propose a motion he signifies the fact by raising his hat. Hats are used, too, to reserve places in the house, just as travelers reserve places in trains by leaving their bags on the seats, and for this reason most members have a spare tile in their lockers.

The Marvel of an Egg.

New York Tribune: Ernest Thompson-Seton was narrating anecdotes about his beautiful residence Wyndygoul, at Cos Cob, Conn., which he has just sold.

"And one day," he said, "I asked a little boy in one of my camps to tell me something wonderful about birds.

"'Why,' said the little boy, 'how they come out of the eggs, that's wonderful.

"'Now,' I went on, 'tell me something about them more wonderful still.'

"'Why,' he answered, 'it's more wonderful how they ever got into the eggs.'"

T. F. COLE IS LARGE BANK SHAREHOLDER

On List of Men Interested in Twelve Big Institutions.

Washington, Jan. 24.—Northwestern men and interests are identified prominently with some of the twelve great national banks that are supposed to exercise a large influence in the affairs of what has come to be known as the money trust, now under investigation by the Pujo committee of the house. The committee has spread upon its record the names of the shareholders in the twelve banks in question, holding 1,000 or more shares of stock in those institutions.

Among the names that appear in the record are those of James J. Hill of St. Paul and Thomas F. Cole of Duluth.

This information was supplied to the committee by Lawrence O. Murray, comptroller of the currency, with the consent of President Taft. Mr. Murray was asked to furnish to the committee a statement of the shareholders of 1,000 or more shares of stock in national banks in the five principal central reserve cities of New York, Boston, Chicago, Pittsburg and St. Louis, which banks have sufficient capital and surplus to make loans of $1,000,000 or greater.

The banks for which this data was furnished to the committee are twelve in number and include the National City bank, National Bank of Commerce, Chase National bank, Mechanics & Metals National bank, Hanover National bank and First National bank of New York City; the Continental and Commercial National bank and First National bank of Chicago; the Mellon National bank of Pittsburg; the National Shawmut bank and First National bank of Boston, and the Mercantile National bank of St. Louis.

The comptroller's statement gives Mr. Hill's holdings as foflows:

In the First National Bank of Chicago, 1,500 shares; First National Bank of New York, 3,900; Chase National Bank of New York, 1,500.

Thomas F. Cole of Duluth holds 1,647 shares in the Mechanics & Metals National Bank of New York.

The Timber Land company of St. Paul has 1,395 shares in the Continental and Commercial Bank of Chicago.

yet to be developed which will make that figure larger still, and the state's holdings of timber and farm lands of enormous but uncalculated value, the state now has in its permanent funds nearly $20,000,000.

This money cannot be spent by the state, under the wise provisions of the Constitution; but the revenue from it is available for educational purposes.

The exact amount of the state's surplus at the time of the statement prepared by Treasurer Smith was $19,968,-074.80.

Of this total $6,109,000 is invested in the bonds of other states, $12,818,074.80 in loans to counties, towns, cities, school districts, etc., in this state, $900,-000 in state capitol certificates of indebtedness, $50,000 in state prison certificates of indebtedness, $21,000 in certificates of indebtedness of the state board of control, and $70,000 in bonds of the city of St. Paul.

State Bond Holdings.

The state holds bonds of the state of Massachusetts amounting to $2,025,000. Bonds to the amount of $420,000 draw 3 per cent and the balance draws 3½ per cent. The first Massachusetts bonds purchased were bought Aug. 4, 1897, and the latest Feb. 15, 1904. The state paid premiums amounting to more than $300,000 to get these 3 and 3½ per cent bonds. The bonds mature—and their face only, not the premiums, will be paid at that time—at varying dates from 1922 to 1941.

The state holds bonds of the state of Virginia amounting to $2,145,000. Most of these bonds were bought at a sharp discount, and the total of $2,145,-000 face value was bought for $1,865,-590.05. However, the rates of interest are low. Practically all of them bore interest at 2 per cent for the first ten years and 3 per cent thereafter. Except a small block of $52,500 due in 1932, none of these bonds mature before 1911, and the interest is so small that probably they never will reach par before maturity. The earliest Virginia bonds were bought in 1894, and none have been bought since 1901.

Tennessee bonds of a par value of $350,000 are held by the state. They were bought in 1894 at a premium of $8,750, carry 4½ per cent interest and are due Oct. 1, 1913.

Bonds of the state of Louisiana aggregating $211,000 are owned by the state and all of them bear 4 per cent interest. They were bought in 1901 and 1902, with premiums amounting to $19,423.12, and are due to be paid Jan. 1, 1914.

The state has bonds of the state of Alabama amounting to $143,000. They were bought in 1895 and 1896, carry 4 per cent interest and are due Jan. 1, 1920. They were bought at a discount of $11,837.50.

Delaware bonds to the amount of $121,000 were bought at part in 1898, carry 3 per cent interest and are due in 1927.

Utah bonds amounting to $100,000, carrying 3½ per cent interest, and payable in 1920, were bought in 1901 at a premium of $2,423.49.

The state capitol bonds, amounting to $900,000, will be cleared up on the installment plan, but the last is not due until 1928. The board of control and state prison certificates of indebtedness are due in 1913 and 1914 and the St. Paul bonds are due in 1917.

A considerable amount will be released from these investments for reinvestment in bonds for local development from time to time, but it is held by State Treasurer Smith that only the sale of some of the foreign bonds will release enough to meet the needs of the subdivisions of the state.

Every county is represented in the list of loans made from these permanent funds to municipalities, the total of which is $12,818,074.80. The largest item is St. Louis county, with $688,697, with Kittson county close behind with $513,209.57. Cook county owes the state $67,000, Lake county $100,000, Koochiching county $177,530.90, Itasca county $134,500, Carlton county $100,090, Aitkin county $259,191, Beltrami county $323,942, Pine county $178,620, Cass county $24,300, Crow Wing county $347,826 and Hubbard county $98,896.

An Unbusiness-Like System.

The plan being considered by the senate committee on finance and the house committee on appropriations of requiring all fees received by state departments to be turned directly into the state treasury, the salaries and expenses of the departments to be met by direct appropriations, commends itself more and more to members as they consider it.

In fact, it has proved rather astonishing to some of the members to find that so unbusiness-like a method is in vogue as letting any department handle its receipts and expenditures, practically without check from the regular accounting and auditing departments of the state government.

It is true that fee-earning departments are required to submit reports showing their receipts and disbursements; but these are formal in their character and usually those to whom they are made are very formal in their examination of them. No wrong is charged, but it is so apparent that the system is unbusiness-like that there is very little question that it will be changed at this session.

Coupled with the determination to do away with all standing appropriations, this means that all revenues of the state government will go into a common fund, and that at each session of the legislature a complete budget will be made up for the ensuing two years.

The proponents of the tonnage tax plan will have their inning this afternoon before the house committee on taxes and tax laws, T. T. Ofsthun of Glenwood, chairman, when H. O. Bjorge of Lake Park and Thomas Frankson of Spring Valley, joint authors of the tonnage tax bill, will present their arguments.

Another hearing will be held a week from today when the opponents of the measure will be given an opportunity to state their case.

Alarm has been spread in the Cuyuna range country over the effect of the tonnage tax proposal, and representatives of that section are expected to be here in opposition to the bill.

Bills Favored for Passage.

The senate committee on mines and minerals yesterday afternoon recommended for passage the house bill by Representative H. H. Dunn, forbidding the patenting of further land grant lands to the Duluth & Iron Range railroad unless the mineral rights in these lands are reserved to the state.

The committee also voted to recommend favorably the bill by Senator James P. Boyle of Eveleth, providing for state land sales in March, in addition to those now required by law.

The house committee on general legislation, of which Representative Cleon T. Knapp of Chisholm is chairman, yesterday afternoon recommended for passage the following bills:

By Representative W. I. Nolan—Prohibiting and punishing fraudulent advertising.

By Representative Elias Warner—Repealing the law requiring merchants whose weights and measures are examined by the state railroad and warehouse commission to pay fees therefor, and putting the weight and measure service on a salary basis.

By Representative A. P. Peterson—Proposed constitutional amendment authorizing the state board of investment to loan state funds on improved farm lands. This amendment was defeated at the last election.

By Representative Anton Borgen of Duluth—Relieving John McAlpine of the obligation to pay the balance on state timber which he purchased, which he was unable to cut within the life of the permit issued to him, and which the state has since sold to other parties for a higher price.

The committee recommended for defeat the bill by Representatives Knapp and McGarry providing for the examination by the public examiner of the financial condition of municipalities applying for loans from the state.

Balk at Reapportionment.

The first symptom of rebellion against the reapportionment plans of the house reapportionment committee were exhibited yesterday afternoon when the members from the Third congressional district got together.

Instead of apportioning among the counties in the Third congressional district the senators and representatives allotted to it by the sub-committee, the members from that district passed a resolution ordered by Representative Garfield W. Brown to the effect that no attempt along that line should be made until the committee has drafted a congressional reapportionment bill showing the new congressional districts. The meeting also approved a motion by Mr. Brown opposing any increase in the membership of either branch of the legislature.

Under the terms of the resolution adopted by the reapportionment committee, this action means that the sub-committee will have to make the reapportionment for the Third congressional district, the members from that district having failed to act.

The house comittee on insurance yesterday afternoon had Insurance Commissioner Preus before it to give his opinion of the O'Neill bill, allowing the Minnesota members of the Modern Woodmen of America to secede from the parent organization and form a new one of their own. Mr. Preus suggested several amendments and the bill was referred to a sub-committee, to be appointed by the chairman, to incorporate these changes in the bill.

Gilman-Coates Contest.

The house committee on elections concluded its hearings on the Gilman-Coates contest yesterday afternoon and will decide the case as soon as it has considered the evidence.

Aside from the disputed ballots, to which reference has been made, the case hinges on charges made by both contestants that the corrupt practices law was violated in the campaign, and upon the claim by Coates that the returns from the township of Alberta were tampered with.

In the original returns, Coates had a lead of four in Alberta. When the recount was made it showed a lead of four for Gilman, thus making a change of eight and wiping out Coates' plurality. Gilman's attorney asserted that this was clearly due to a mistake on the part of the judges and that there was no evidence whatever of tampering.

Representative Coates charges that Governor Gilman violated the corrupt practices act by circulating campaign cards on election day and by hiring paid workers to help him on that day. These charges are denied by Gilman, who in turn accuses Coates of publishing in the St. Cloud Times on the eve of election day a false statement to the effect that Coates had heard Senator Knute Nelson say that Governor Gilman ought not to be a candidate because he was too old, and that he was satisfied with Coates' candidacy. This publication, Gilman's attorneys declared seriously injured their client's candidacy.

Mr. Coates, through his attorney, showed that the advertisement referred to was inserted by his brother, John Coates, without his knowledge, and pursuant to a decision that as Gilman's friends were charging that Coates would not vote for Nelson, the charge should be refuted. No claim was made that the statement in the advertisement was true, but the Conteses asserted that its appearance was due to a misunderstanding by the editor of the Times, who wrote the advertisement, of what John Coates wished to have appear in it. An advertisement inserted the same day by John Coates in the Journal-Press did not contain the statement challenged by Governor Gilman.

In the hearing on the contest before a justice of the peace, Governor Gilman practically admitted that he tried to hire workers in his behalf in St. Cloud on election day, but said that it was in order to offset if possible the effect of the false statement that Nelson did not wish him to succeed.

The sub-committee of the house committee on elections which has been considering the several initiative and referendum bills that has been referred to the committee has agreed on a committee bill, which will come before the house soon. It is based on the Ohio plan, which provides that measures may be initiated by petitions signed by 3 per cent of the voters, that the legislature shall first have a chance to pass these measures, and that if it does not they can be referred to the people by an additional petition signed by 2 per cent of the voters. Constitutional amendments may be proposed by 10 per cent of the voters, but they go directly to the people. STILLMAN H. BINGHAM.

COMMITTEE CHOSEN; CONVENTION ADJOURNS.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 24.—The twenty-third biennial council of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations closed here yesterday with the election of an executive committee consisting of thirty memebers. The place of the next meeting of the union in 1915, was left to this committee, and will be decided upon later.

The new executive committee organized shortly after the session of the council by electing J. Walter Freiberg of Cincinnati, president; Charles Schol of Cincinnati, vice president, and Solomon Fox of Cincinnati, treasurer. The other members of the executive committee are: Isaac W. Bernheim, Louisville; Berhard Bettman, Louis J. Goldman, E. L. Heinsheimer, Max B. May, Sigmund Rheinstrom and Samuel Straus of Cincinnati; Josiah Cohen and Marcus Bauh of Pittsburg; Adolph Kraus, Julius Rosenwald and Jacob Schnadig of Chicago; Garuch Mahler and Martina Marks of Cleveland; Adolph S. Ochs, Jacob H. Schiff and Solomon Sulzberger of New York city; Abraham Oppenheimer, Buffalo; Simon W. Rosendale, Albany, N. Y.; Marcus Stern, New Orleans; Louis Schlessinger, Newark, N. J.; Gustav A. Efroymson, Indianapolis; Joseph Welsenfeld, Baltimore; Jesse W. Lilienthal, San Francisco; Albert Wolf, Philadelphia; Emil Nathan, St. Louis and William P. Woolner, Peoria, Ill.

Maurice Ioth of Cincinnati was elected an honorary member of the executive board and Levy Lipman of Cincinnati was chosen secretary.

A resolution was adopted by the council to appoint 1,000 representatives throughout the country, who in turn will endeavor to get 1,000 men to donate $1,000 each. This total of $1,000,-000 will become an endowment fund, the interest from which will be used to maintain the Hebrew college of this city.

It was also agreed to abolish the stipend system at the college and substitute the scholarship system.

Pimples Source of Great Danger

May be Means of Absorbing Disease Germs in Most Unexpected Manner.

The research laboratory of The Swift Specific Co. has collected a vast amount of information regarding the spread of blood diseases. In thousands of instances the most virulent types have been the result of coming in contact with disease germs in public places, and the apparently insignificant pimple has been the cause. It spreads with astonishing rapidity, often infecting the entire system in a few days.

It is fortunate, however, that there is a remedy to cope quickly and thoroughly with such a condition, and thanks to the energy of its producers the famous S. S. S. may not be had at almost any drug store in the civilized world.

This preparation stands alone among specific remedies as a blood purifier. It is somewhat revolutionary in its composition, since it accomplishes all that was ever claimed for mercury, iodides, arsenic and other destructive mineral drugs, and yet it is absolutely a purely vegetable product. There are more cases of articular rheumatism, locomotor ataxia, paresis, neuritis and similar diseases resultant from the use of minerals than from disease germs direct. These facts are brought out in a highly interesting book compiled by the medical department of The Swift Specific Co., 127 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. It is mailed free, together with a special letter of advice to all who are struggling with a blood disease.

Get a $1.00 bottle of S. S. S. to-day of your druggist. It will surprise you with its wonderful action in the blood.

COMMISSION IS PROPOSED BY KNOX

Replies to British Protest on Exemption of Canal Tolls.

Washington, Jan. 24. — Secretary Knox's reply to the British protest against the exemption of American coastwise shipping from Panama canal tolls assures the British government that domestic coastwise trade will not be permitted to extend operations into foreign competitive fields, and that increased tolls will not be laid on foreign shipping to balance the remission to American ships. If Great Britain is not satisfied on these points, America proposes a special commission of adjustment.

The communication is devoted to the purpose of reducing to the smallest point and number the issues upon which the two governments failed to agree, and as to these—only two—it is contended that they are entirely susceptible of adjustment by diplomatic means and without recourse to arbitration.

If this course should not prove acceptable to the British government, it is suggested that the whole controversy be referred to a special commission of inquiry, provision being made for it in the unratified Knox-Bryce general arbitration treaty. That convention was approved by the senate with an amendment which curtailed the power of the commission of inquiry to mere investigation and report, and refused to permit the commission to bind either country to a course of arbitration in its findings. Because of this amendment, President Taft has so far declined to consummate the treaty by exchanging ratifications with the British government.

To meet the needs of this present issue, Secretary Knox now offers to give life to the treaty by an immediate exchange of ratifications, which would insure the existence of a general arbitration treaty between America and Great Britain after the lapse of the existing Hay-Pauncefote treaty, June 4 next. As an alternative, the secretary is willing that a commission be created for the special purpose of ascertaining the facts in regard to the effect upon British shipping of the Panama canal tolls act and the president's proclamation fixing the tolls.

GRAND FORKS K. C. MEETING.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local council of the Knights of Columbus will hold its annual winter ceremonial session Sunday and there will be a class of fifty initiated. Members of the councils of the Twin Cities, Duluth, Winnipeg, Crookston, Fargo, Bismarck and Minot have been invited. There will be a banquet Sunday evening, with Attorney H. O'Keefe of Grand Forks as toastmaster.

CHILDREN LOVE SYRUP OF FIGS

Gently Cleanses the Stomach, Liver and Waste-Clogged Bowels.

Every mother immediately realizes after giving her child delicious Syrup of Figs that this is the ideal laxative and physic for the children. Nothing else regulates the little one's stomach, liver and 30 feet of tender bowels so promptly, besides they dearly love its delightful fig taste.

If your child isn't feeling well; resting nicely; eating regularly and acting naturally it is a sure sign that its little insides need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or your little one has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, tongue coated; give a teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs and in a few hours all the foul, constipated, clogged up waste, undigested food and sour bile will gently move on and out of its little bowels without nausea, griping or weakness, and you will surely have a well, happy and smiling child again shortly.

With Syrup of Figs you are not drugging your children, being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics, it cannot be harmful.

Mothers should always keep Syrup of Figs handy. It is the only stomach, liver and bowel cleanser and regulator needed—a little given to-day will save a sick child tomorrow.

Full directions for children of all ages and grown-ups plainly printed on the package.

Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," prepared by the California Fig Syrup Co. This is the delicious tasting, genuine old reliable. Refuse anything else offered.

YOUNG TURKS CONTROL SITUATION AND WAR IS LIKELY TO BEGIN

sumption of hostilities will be declared. The other urges that the powers should first be allowed to deal with Turkey.

The European governments are already in communication with regard to the situation. The view here is that the reply of Turkey to the note of the powers must be awaited before any drastic action can be inaugurated.

Lack of information as to the real meaning and scope of the movement in Constantinople precludes in the official view, anything in the nature of peremptory action.

The delegates of the allies were busy all day obtaining the views of the foreign ambassadors, prior to their formal meeting at the Servian headquarters this evening.

To Recall Delegates.

London, Jan. 24.—The new Turkish cabinet has decided to recall the Ottoman peace delegates from London, according to a dispatch today from Constantiople. The Turkish government is said also to have requested its ambassadors at Vienna and St. Petersburg to return to the Turkish capital.

Enver Bey, the most spirited leader of the Young Turks, was today appointed chief of the general staff of the Turkish army.

Fighting in City.

Constantinople, Jan. 24.—Fighting has occurred at several places in the city this morning. A dozen or more persons have been wounded and many arrests have been made. Great public excitement has followed the killing of Nazim Pasha, the former war minister, and commander of the Turkish army, who was shot during public demonstrations here last night.

Talaat Bey, the new minister of the interior, informed the European embassies today that all measures necessary to insure the security of the city had been taken. He also addressed circulars to the provincial governors explaining the reasons for the change in the government and calling upon the people to lend their moral and material aid to the government.

"We are determined," he said, "to defend the interests of the country, now face to face with the prospect of a resumption of hostilities."

Enver Bey, who has taken such a prominent part in the overthrow of Kiamil Pasha's cabinet, is the popular hero of the day.

Nazim Pasha's death by a shot from the revolver of Enver Bey or Talaat Bey is believed to have been accidental. The two officers, in order to protect themselves from the fire of Nazim's aide de camp, who had shot at them from a window, drew their revolvers and emptied them at him. A bullet struck and killed Nazim Pasha, who was seated inside the room.

May Not Prevent War.

Berlin, Jan. 24.—The new situation in Turkey is commented upon with great reserve in official quarters here. It is doubted whether diplomatic means will suffice to prevent the resumption of hostilities, but it is declared that the European powers will concentrate their efforts on localizing the conflict should it break out again.

Government officials do not see any indications that the unity of the powers has been shaken by the latest developments and it is understood that the nations interested are alreay conferring on the situation.

The Bourse today received the news from Constantinople with something akin to dismay, inasmuch as operators had been trusting implicity in the conclusion of an early peace. Panicky conditions prevailed at the opening of the market when an enormous volume of rush selling orders were executed. Prices broke violently, all the Balkan securities being hard hit. German bonds also sharply depressed.

Great Excitement.

London, Jan. 24.—At the new headquarters of all the peace delegations the greatest activity and excitement prevailed today. Cipher telegrams from Sofia, Belgrade, Athens and Cettinje crossed messages from London to those capitals during the early morning hours. Before noon the heads of the four delegations had held several meetings to discuss the situation.

The allies seemed disposed to consider the revolution in Constantinople as an affront to the European powers more than to themselves. Therefore they think that the powers are entitled to make the first move. Whatever it may be and whatever its result it cannot prejudice their future action, they declare.

Messages received from various points in the Balkans show that negotiations concerning the next development are proceeding actively between the capitals of the allies. The delegations cannot be sure as to what will be their ultimate attitude until they have received instructions from their respective governments.

The delegates, however, consider that the resumption of the war in the course of next week is almost inevitable, even if the powers should agree on active interventlon.

Nazim Pasha Killed.

Constantinople, Jan. 24.—Nazim Pasha, the former war minister and commander of the Turkish army, was shot dead during demonstrations here last night which preceded the resignation of the cabinet.

Envir Bey and Talaat Bey had given explicit orders that no blood should be shed. But Nazim Pasha's aide de camp fired from a window of the porte at Enver Bey and his companion, and they returned the fire.

Their bullets killed Nazim Pasha himself.

Nazim Pasha, war minister and generalissimo of the Turkish armies, was a man of great physical and mental strength. He was close to 60 years of age, and was characterized as the best commander in chief Turkey possessed in recent times.

Nazim took supreme command of the forces after Abdullah Pasha suffered defeat around Kirk-Kilisseh and Adrianople. He was appointed minister of war in the first Kiamil cabinet. This aroused the opposition of the committee of union and progress and practically resulted in the overthrow of the ministry. He then became commander of the First army corps and was in command of the troops in Constantinople at the time of the revolutionary movement that dethroned Abdul Hamid. Nazim Pasha became minister of war again in 1912 in the Mukhtar cabinet and continued to hold office when the second Kiamil cabinet was formed in October of that year.

Nazim Pasha was in personal command of the troops that checked the advance of the Bulgarians at the Tchatalja lines. He reached that district in time to gather together the scattered troops after the battle of Tchorlu and notwithstanding the disorganization of the army, and the ravages of bushess, he brought about a spirit of union among the discouraged soldiers through good generalship. He has been connected with the Turkish army for many years.

A Wonderful Hair Secret

Has Made Valeska Suratt, the Beauty-Actress, Known as the Only Woman on the Stage Who Uses No Hair Subterfuges.

"I have used many things in my day in an effort to make my poor, sick hair grow, and prevent it from coming out in masses on my comb or brush. The result was absolutely fruitless. Not even the most widely known hair treatments produced any benefit. It was then I resolved to delve into the subject myself and solve my own problem. The result has been a formula which has given me my greatest pride, for today I am known as the only woman on the American stage who wears no switches, puffs, wool rolls, turbans or other hair subterfuges.

"A trial of this remarkably effective formula will certainly prove its startling effect. My hair stopped falling in a few days' time, dandruff vanished and my hair began to grow most luxuriantly. It is today part of my fortune.

"Mix a half pint of alcohol with half a pint of water, then add one ounce of beta-quinol, shake thoroughly, and it will then be ready to use. If you prefer, you can use imported bay rum instead of the water and alcohol.

"The beta-quinol you can get at almost any drug store for not more than fifty cents.

"This formula should be applied very freely on the scalp after brushing the scalp generously for a few minutes all over. Rub the tonic thoroughly into the scalp with the finger tips."

differences between the two countries by further exchanges or to accept Secretary Knox's offer to exchange ratifications of the Knox-Bryce general arbitration treaty, as amended by the senate, and refer to a special commission the task of finding the actual facts as a basis for possible arbitration.

Awaiting Decision.

Officials here are awaiting this decision with great interest because upon it will depend the probability of President Taft's reaching a satisfactory settlement of the question before he leaves office. If the British government should decide to regard as satisfactory the American statement that its apprehensions for the future treatment of British shipping in the canal are groundless and will so express itself, the incident will be closed, at least for the time being or until some subsequent congress might endeavor to act in a way as to warrant the charge of discrimination against foreign shipping.

Secretary Knox, in his note expressly invited the British government to examine the facts cited by him as a basis for his statement that through Prof. Johnson's inclusion of American coastwise shipping in his calculations upon which the tolls are fixed, the British objection that an unjust burden was to be fastened upon British shipping, has been completely met.

It should not require much time to confirm that statement, as it is known that Prof. Johnson's report is already in the possession of the British foreign office, so that the way is clear to a speedy understanding.

Taft Ready.

If Sir Edward Grey prefers to immediately exchange ratifications of the pending arbitration treaty, President Taft is ready to almost immediately appoint the three American members of the special commission provided under its terms to ascertain and report upon the facts.

The United States senate cannot intervene at this stage to prevent such action on the part of the president and while it is true that the special commission would have no power to force arbitration of the question of canal tolls, it is probable that the recommendation of such a tribunal, required by the terms of the treaty to be supported by no less than five of the six members, would carry such weight that it might be difficult to resist the acceptance of its plan.

NEW HYOMEI Vapor Treatment A SUCCESS

Catarrh, Coughs, Colds and Sore Throat Quickly Yield to Soothing, Healing, Antiseptic Vapor.

Clears Stuffed Up Head Overnight

Hundreds of thousands of sensible people all over the civilized world have successfully breathed Booth's HYOMEI for catarrh and nose and throat misery.

Besides breathing HYOMEI through the inhaler during the day thousands have used the vapor treatment at night with a teaspoonful of HYOMEI in a bowl of boiling water.

A series of tests just completed prove that the following vapor treatment is just as effective and more economical and we publish it because thousands will be glad to know it. Here it is:

Heat a teacup and then fill it half full of boiling hot water; pour into the water one-half teaspoonful of HYOMEI, hold the cup close to face and breathe the healing, germ destroying vapor through both nose and throat deep into the lungs.

A bottle of HYOMEI is 50 cents at druggists the world over. The complete outfit which includes inhaler costs $1.00. Just breathe it—no stomach dosing.

For catarrh, coughs, colds, and sore throat and all nose and throat misery.

HYOMEI is guaranteed by Boyce Drug Store.

pected that the examination will be made there.

Hill to Testify.

J. J. Hill, the railroad man, was on hand when the committee convened, accompanied by his son, Louis W. Hill, and his counsel, Former Senator John C. Spooner. Counsel Untermeyer for the committee said Mr. Hill's examination would be brief. He was hopeful that the hearings would be closed today and contemplated a long session to conclude the examination of witnesses.

Before resuming the questioning of Mr. Davison, Mr. Untermeyer put into the record a letter from Jacob H. Schiff to amplify his recent testimony before the committee. The letter read in part:

"If I had had the opportunity to make proper answers to your questions I should not have hesitated to state that the multiplication of banks and trust companies has heretofore led to an over-extension of credit, to over-trading and to illegitimate conditions in general and that the financial panic of 1907 and other financial depressions that have preceded it, have largely been brought on by the too great multiplication of banks and trust companies."

Mr. Untermeyer took up Mr. Davison's statement of yesterday that "the concentration of banking resources in New York was sufficient to care for the business of the country at its present development."

Less Consolidation.

"There is less consolidation in New York banking today than there was ten years ago," said Mr. Davison. "The resources of the New York banks are only 18 per cent of the resources of the entire country.

"We are dealing today in larger units, industrially, commercially and every other way. In many instances a corporation may want to borrow up to $5,000,000. It is much to that corporation's advantage to be able to make that loan from a single bank than to have to go shopping around making loans of $500,000 here and there."

"Don't you think it would be an advantage to have a good many independent banks in New York so that he could have some place to go 'shopping around' if he had to?" asked Mr. Untermyer.

"I think the banks of New York are independent," replied Mr. Davison. Mr. Davison added he knew of no bank in New York controlled by another bank.

Mr. Davison distinguished between control of stock and control of the management of banks. Mr. Davison reiterated that a law preventing "interlocking directors" would set the country back twenty-five years. He agreed with Mr. Untermyer that it might be well to cut down the size of boards of directors of banks.

COUNTY TAX LEVIES

as a compliment to the veterans. He made a moving speech in support of his proposal and was supported eloquently by John G. Lennon of Minneapolis.

Several members, however, were critical of the proposal, though none opposed the subject matter of the bill. Representative Knud Wefald of Hawley noted that the governor and his staff are to be sent, too; and said that, while all real old soldiers should go, no soldiers on paper should be sent at the state's expense.

Representative Prince said that while the veterans were at Gettysburg their wives were at home, and he thought the surviving war wives ought to be sent on this trip also.

The house voted down a motion to refer the bill to the appropriations committee, 38 to 58, but Mr. Dunn's motion to suspend the rules was lost, getting 67 where it needed 80, with 47 votes against it.

Asks Return of Statutes.

The house adopted with laughter a resolution by Representative Burchard asking the old members to return to the house for the use of new members the copies of the Revised Statutes bought for them two years ago. Mr. Burchard said there had been some talk of asking for the return of knives and fountain pens, too, but it was decided that the statutes would be enough.

The new members voted down the old and passed the resolution.

To Legalize Roosevelt Party.

Senator Sageng, Populist, introduced the bill legalizing the Roosevelt party in this state. It does away with the present requirement that a party must have had 10 per cent of the votes in three elections, and lets it in on the requirement of 5 per cent of the vote in one election. Representative Frankson will introduce the bill in the house.

The senate committee recommended for passage Senator Haycroft's bill appropriating $50,000 for a new reformatory for women offenders.

Senator Works offered a resolution asking congress to give national banks the right to loan money on farm lands.

The senate approved Governor Eberhart's appointment, including Guy A. Eaton of Duluth as oil inspector.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

HILL'S ROAD TO GIVE AID

Great Northern to Help Further Beltrami County Sheep Feeding Plan.

Bemidji Has Set Feb. 6 for Sheep Day to Consider Matter.

Bemidji, Minn., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Assurance that the Great Northern railway will back Beltrami county in its efforts to establish sheep raising as an industry came to J. J. Opsahl of this city in a letter from W. P. Kinney, a vice president of the railway company.

"Personally, I think," wrote Mr. Kinney, "that the small farmer and settler in your vicinity should be assisted to secure sheep for the purpose of not only clearing up the land, but getting him interested in livestock raising, and undoubtedly if he starts in with sheep he will later on go into it to a much larger extent, and, of course, if this is done it will lead to prosperity not only to the territory mentioned, but to the city of Bemidji.

"We will co-operate in every way and I will have the matter followed up thoroughly."

When Mr. Opsahl first wrote Mr. Hill in regard to feeding sheep in transit here, both he and Mr. Kinney were in the East, and the matter came through the freight department to J. H. Griffin of Grand Forks, division freight agent. Mr. Griffin reported his meeting with the Commercial club, and suggested several means of getting livestock men of the West interested in the possibilities of Northern Minnesota as a sheep raising country.

Would Interest Livestock Men.

In regard to this matter Mr. Kinney wrote: "As to inducing the livestock men to meet at Bemidji, I do not know whether or not we can interest them, but will take the matter up with our Montana men and endeavor to do so.

"The sheep men have not been feeding sheep in transit of late years, and of course the big flocks of sheep have been eliminated from Montana to a large exent due to the settling up of the country and the fencing of the land in that state."

Feb. 6 has been set as the date for a big sheep day in Bemidji, and farmers, boosters, bankers and business men will confer with railway officials here on that day in regard to this proposition.

MAKE SUCCESS IN BELTRAMI COUNTY

Couple Settle in Wilderness, But Now Have Fine Farm.

Bemidji, Minn., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—A farm of 160 acres, most of which is cleared and under cultivation, and cash in the bank, is what Mr. and Mrs. Herman Eickstadt, who live about six miles east of Bemidji in the town of Frohn, have to show as the results of sixteen years in Beltrami county. Not only have they cut a farm out of the jack pine, but they have raised nine children, have built commodious farm buildings, have sufficient stock for their own use, and have several pieces of modern machinery.

Mr. and Mrs. Eickstadt were born in Germany. Herman served in the German army from 1878 to 1882 and was with the king's studs for a time after his term of enlistment. Dissatisfied with his wages in the Old Country, he followed his mother to America and located in Douglas county. He came here in 1884 and went to work at $18 per month. It was not long before he had enough to send for the girl he had left behind and they were married in 1886.

They lived in Parkers Prairie for ten years before coming to Beltrami county. Mr. Eickstadt homesteaded his land and when picking it out did not look at the timber but at the soil beneath. "We want a farm," he said. So now when the timber is gone, the Eickstadts have a farm of black loam and with enough roll to properly shed water. The wood lot is large enough to supply fuel for many years to come.

Actress Tells Secret

Miss Blanche Rose, a well-known actress, who darkened her gray hair with a simple preparation which she mixed at home, in a recent interview at Chicago, Ill., made the following statement. "Any lady or gentleman can darken their gray hair and make it soft and glossy with this simple recipe, which they can mix at home. To a half pint of water add 1 oz. of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and ¼ oz. of glycerine. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until it becomes the required shade. This will make a gray haired person look 20 years younger. It is also fine to promote the growth of hair, relieves itching and scalp humors and is excellent for dandruff and falling hair."

INDIANS AFTER BETTER THINGS

Residents of Fond du Lac Reservation Seeking General Betterment.

Cloquet, Minn., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Indians on the Fond du Lac reservation are becoming up-to-date in their progress, and have organized councils that correspond in their objects to the white man's Commercial clubs. At Sawyer the council numbers twenty-five, and the council at Cloquet is considerably larger. The latter held a meeting Tuesday at the social hall in the Indian village to elect delegates to the general council of Chippewas to be held in Cass Lake in February. Another meeting is to be held Sunday afternoon at the same place to make further arrangements. The aim of these Indian organizations is the bettering of conditions among the Indians, the extension of farming and employment of more modern methods, the general good of the race physically, mentally and morally. In the past few months there has been a noticeable awakening to a desire for better things, and it is especially observed that since the government discharged the annual pay checks as an experiment, the greater part of the local Indians are very ambitious to prove that they are capable of handling their increased funds with intelligence and economy.

Indian and White Pupils.

G. W. Cross, the Fond du Lac agent, went to Sawyer this week to look over the schools there to discover if the plan carried out a year ago of closing the government Indian school and placing the children in the district school had proved feasible. He found the number of Indian children and of white children enrolled about equal, and on the days he was there the number of Indian children attending was larger than the white pupils. Miss Bertha Groth of Wright is in charge of the school and the progress of the children of the two races has been practically uniform. The Indian children were warmly clothed and clean and the school board satisfied with the arrangement of both races receiving their education together, the Indian department paying their pro rata of expense.

Guy H. Houchen of Mechanicsville, Ill., has been secured as assistant Indian farmer to F. J. Adams, who has been located on the Indian farm near Cloquet for a couple of years past. Mr. Houchen will have his headquarters at Sawyer, where he will supervise and assist the Indians of that section in their farming.

Indians at Cloquet Schools.

Mr. Cross has made arrangements with the city board of education that the Indian children living southwest of the city be allowed to attend the city school, the government paying their share of expense. There are eighteen children, both white and Indian, who come in every morning, meeting the covered wagon at the house on the state forestry tract. For several years past a bus has conveyed the country children from north of the city to and from school, and the growth of farmers southwest of the city has made it necessary to run a second conveyance.

ASHLAND MUST WAIT.

Another Petition Must Be Circulated Asking for Commission Form.

Ashland, Wis., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ashland will have to wait until another petition is sent to Mayor Dood before the people will have a chance to vote on having the commission form of government, as the mayor has turned down the petition just sent to him asking for that privilege. The mayor claims the petition is not legal. He says, however, that if another petition is filed containing the requisite number of names he will call the election.

Petition the Mayor Turned Down.

The petition is sworn to by Ned Withers as containing 517 names of men that Mr. Withers presented as electors of the city. Mayor Dodd states that the actual count of every name on the petition shows that there are only 496 names listed instead of 517. The mayor also said that he and the city attorney had Ned Withers before them and it was learned there were many names on the list that Mr. Withers admitted he knew nothing about and did not know whether they were electors or not, although the mayor asserted that there were several that he personally knows are not electors. This made the list of 496 names fall below the 492 required and he declared he will pay no attention to it.

PROSPEROUS YEAR.

New York Mills Creamery Did Very Well During 1912.

New York Mills, Minn., Jan. 24.—The annual meeting of the local creamery stockholders, held this week, showed that the institution did a good business last year, the total business being $41,505.64. A premium of 2 cents was declared to be paid to patrons for every pound of butter fat delivered by them during the past year of 1912.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: President, E. A. Rousu; vice president, William Oman; secretary, H. W. Almquist; treasurer, J. W. Jacobson; board of directors, Paul Koria, M. H. Korkalo, Andrew Piilola.

COMING FOR POINTERS.

Mayor of St. Cloud to Visit Duluth and Iron Range Towns.

St. Cloud, Minn., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—A trip to Duluth and a number of towns on the iron range, as well as the Twin Cities, is being planned by Mayor Seberger. Mr. Seberger will leave next Monday and spend a short time in several of the range towns. A fire auto truck, an auto sprinkler and other municipal improvements will be the subjects of his inspection while away from the city.

HANCOCK WOMAN HAS TITANIC CLAIM.

Hancock, Mich., Jan. 24.—An echo of the Titanic disaster is heard in Hancock in the filing of a claim for damages which Mrs. Davies, one of the survivors, proposes filing in a few days. Mrs. Davies and her two sons were passengers on the ship when it went down, and the eldest of her sons, Joseph, went down with many others. The boy was 29 years old and the mother's sole support.

During the past week Mrs. Davies has received letters from a New York firm of attorneys asking her to place her claim in their hands. The firm requests a deposit of 1½ per cent of the amount of the claim before starting suit. Upon local advice Mrs. Davies refused to place her claim with the Eastern lawyers.

A Copper country man, who goes East in a couple of weeks, has been asked to look after Mrs. Davies' interests in New York. Mrs. Davies will make no claim for loss of baggage.

CANNOT GET PICKLES.

So North Branch Pickle Factory Will Be Moved Elsewhere.

North Branch, Minn., Jan. 24.—H. L. Ruffcorn, for five or six years manager for the M. A. Gedney company here but now of Amery, Wis., says that his company will likely move their large plant from this point to some other point this coming spring, as the farmers around here positively refuse to longer raise pickles to support the industry.

Mr. Ruffcorn spent a couple of weeks here a short time ago trying to sign up with our farmers for the coming season but met with such poor success that he gave the job up as useless.

The M. A. Gedney company factory, which is located on the west side of the tracks, is one of the largest on this line and at one time, in fact up to a year ago, was one of the busiest places the company operated. It is estimated that from $6,000 to $8,000 was paid out yearly to farmers for pickles. The past year the factory never opened.

WESTERN UNION CO. DROPS TAX SUIT.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 24.—The Western Union Telegraph company has dropped its suit to recover $10,000 from the state which was started two years ago. The company claimed that the state made an excessive tax assessment against the company of this amount.

CORRUPT PRACTICES ACT KNOCKED OUT.

Stevens Point, Wis., Jan. 24.—The Wisconsin so-called corrupt practices act, passed by the last legislature, was declared unconstitutional here by Judge Byron B. Park of the circuit court in the case of Walter A. Watson vs. Don C. Hall. The plaintiff accused the defendant of securing the nomination for the state assembly on the Republican ticket by corrupt acts such as illegal expenditures. Hall was also permitted to retain his seat.

FORMER PRINCETON RESIDENT CALLED.

Princeton, Minn., Jan. 24.—Mrs. Lillian Stiles, wife of the general manager of the sales department of the Postum Cereal company of Battle Creek, Mich., died at her home in that place on Jan. 16. Mrs. Stiles was a former resident of Princeton and many will remember her by her maiden name, Lillie Walker. She was 41 years of age and was a niece of Mrs. M. C. Libby and Mr. and Mrs. A. Z. Norton. Her husband and two sons of 9 and 11 years survive her.

GUNDERSON DECLINES NORTH DAKOTA JOB.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Former Senator J. G. Gunderson of Aneta announces that he will not be able to accept the appointment by Governor Hanna to the position of state bank examiner. Mr. Gunderson says he cannot take up the state position because of his banking and other business interests.

$600 for Silver Gray Fox.

Ada, Minn., Jan. 24.—Tom Pederson, who resides on the old Norby farm on the Wild Rice river, about six miles southwest of Ada, returned this week from Wisconsin, where he went last week with the hide of a silver gray fox which he trapped recently near his farm. He received $600 for it.

Mill City Coaster Killed.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 24.—Arvid Danberg, 18 years old, died at St. Mary's hospital Wednesday night from injuries received when coasting on Prospect Park hill Tuesday night. He turned his sled to avoid running into a party of coasters and crashed into a tree.

Mellen City Clerk Shot at.

Mellen, Wis., Jan. 24.—Gus Johnson, assistant postmaster and city clerk at Mellen, was shot at Wednesday night. He was leaving the postoffice to go to the council meeting. The bullet just grazed his head. It is not known who attempted the assault.

Could Not Write

Versailles, Ky.—Mrs. Elisha Green, of this place, says, "I could not write all the different pains I had, when I first tried Cardui. I could scarcely walk. Now I am able to run the sewing machine and do my work; and my neighbors tell me the medicine must be good, for I look so much better." Cardui is a specific, pain-relieving, tonic remedy, for women. In the past 50 years, it has been found to relieve women's unnecessary pains, and female misery, for which over a million suffering women have successfully used it. Try Cardui for your troubles. It will help you. At the nearest drug store.

It takes good food to build children like these—and in this case, what is good for the child is good for the grown-ups.

Oatmeal is an admirable food. In its combined richness of protein (which builds brain, bone, flesh and blood) and fat and carbohydrates (which supply heat and energy) oatmeal leads other foods.

If you want the authority for this statement, send for the U. S. Department of Agriculture Bulletin No. 249, and look on page 12.

There are other good foods to give children, but you can always be sure that oatmeal is a safe, sure food; and if you serve H-O Oatmeal you can be sure that it will always be properly cooked.

Twenty minutes on your stove plus the more-than-two-hours' cooking we give it in the mill, insures that.

Right away, order a package of H-O from your grocer. Costs less than half-cent a dish.

WANT MORE STOCK IN NORTH DAKOTA.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The North Dakota Live-stock association is planning a great period of activity this winter. The members are readjusting themselves to the changed conditions which followed the increased farming area and curtailment of the ranges of this state.

With only one animal of the horse, cow, hogs and sheep breeds to every twenty-two acres of land in North Dakota, they realize that something must be done to improve the present conditions and increase that number within the next five years by thousands of per cent. For this purpose an effort will be made this winter through the farmers' institutes and other agencies to reach as many people as possible and induce farmers to raise more of either horses, cows, hogs or sheep. No visionary plans are to be urged. The efforts will be centered on inducing each man to increase to some extent the number of animals of his favorite breed.

WEST END

YOUNG OLD TIMERS WILL GIVE DANCE

Second Annual Event Will Attract Big Crowd Thursday.

There is much preparation being made for the second annual ball of the Young Old Timers of the West end, which will be given next Thursday evening at the Modern Woodmen hall at Twenty-first avenue west and First street. Already 475 tickets have been sold, and it is likely that each ticket sold means two people, the crowd may be estimated. Only those invited may attend. On the back of the program is printed the admonition:

"If you want to dance with my girl bring a girl to dance with me."

The first annual ball given by the society last year was a surprising success, but everything points this time to a far greater one. The committees in charge have worked hard over the affair and have made elaborate preparations. The hall will be handsomely decorated, there will be carnations passed out to the ladies who attend and souvenirs of some kind will be given to the men. The officers and committees of the society follow:

President, William Harvey; vice president, William McCallum; treasurer, E. A. Swanstrom; secretary, Axel Erickson.

Committee on music—Fred Lindbeck, A. J. Otterson and Albert Peterson.

Printing—Axel Erickson, E. A. Swanstrom and Jack Lindbeck.

Invitation—William Harvey, A. Lofgren and E. A. Thompson.

Refreshments—Ed. Miely, A. M. Johnson and William McCallum.

Decorations—Axel Erickson, Axel Lindberg, Albert Peterson, E. A. Thompson, Iver Seasted and Edward Miller.

Reception—E. A. Swanstrom, A. Lofgren, William Harvey, William McCallum, E. A. Thompson and Joe Miller.

Floor—A. J. Otterson, Steve Cody, G. W. Hellstrom, Axel Erickson, Fred Lindbeck, Albert Peterson and Iver Seasted.

GOOD PROGRAM AT BRYANT SCHOOL

Large Crowd Entertained By Playlets in Which Children Appear.

As an example of the success of social center work developed so far in Duluth, although its beginning was but recent, was the entertainment given last evening in the Bryant school. It was well attended, well enjoyed and both participants and spectators felt at home, which is the part mostly to be desired in its work, it is claimed. The affair was under the auspices of the Junior Dramatic league.

A playlet "Little Woman" was given by the eighth grade pupils under direction of Mrs. George W. Morgan, the pupils having done all of the preliminary work such as building the stage, making the costumes and constructing everything necessary in connection with it. The acting was of the first order. Those taking part were: Margaret Adler, Marie Gleuson, Gertrude A. Adler, Thyra East, Julia Strass, Elsie McCarty, Alexander Koefold, Ross Beatty and Conrad Swanson.

In addition to this playlet first grade pupils appeared in another one, "Billy Bobtail" and were most amusing. The school orchestra did itself credit in its rendition of several numbers. Miss Cora Davis gave several readings and Sheldon Johnson gave a number of piano selections admirably.

JOHN J. MOE IS NOT A CANDIDATE

West End Merchant Throws Cold Water on Political Talk.

There has been much inquiry of late as to the possibility of J. J. Moe, the West end merchant, entering the field either for the office of mayor or that of commissioner, and there has been much speculation about it for it has been conceded that his entry into the field would have an important bearing on the situation. Yesterday The Herald asked Mr. Moe about it.

"I have heard some talk," said Mr. Moe but have simply ignored it. I would not consider such a matter for an instant. My business requires my attention to begin with and I have no desire for political honors. The only interest I have in the matter is to do all in my power to have the right men elected. If the right men are chosen the new form of government will be a success. If otherwise, I fear failure. I do not want to see $1,200 men in or even $4,000 men in the offices to be filled. I would like ot see $6,000 to $10,000 men in the seats of the commission, for then we would be assured of good business government."

DECIDE ON DATE FOR BANQUET.

The committee of the West End Commercial club, having in charge arrangements for the forthcoming annual banquet of the organization, met last evening at the office of Dr. O. A. Oredson and decided upon Feb. 28 as the night of the banquet, as forecasted in The Herald. That will be on a Friday, and it is believed to be the best evening for the event. The affair will take place at Woodmen hall and a committee was appointed last night to make arrangements for the most pretentious banquet that the club has yet given. This committee consists of L. A. Simonson, Dr. O. A. Oredson, Carl Lonegren and A. B. Width.

Meeting Postponed.

The West End Commercial club will not hold a regular meeting this evening according to schedule. It will meet with the Duluth Commercial club in the "get-together" meeting to be held this evening. The West end club will not meet until two weeks from tonight.

OLD RESIDENT OF WEST END DIES.

The death of Carl Victor Bjork of 2221 West Eleventh street, which occurred yesterday afternoon, removes an old resident and one who was quite well known in the city, particularly in the West end. He was 43 years of age and leaves a wife and two children, besides his mother and two brothers, and two sisters, the latter five residing in Sweden.

Pneumonia and general weakness was the cause of death, but it is said that Mr. Bjork never recovered from the shock caused quite a number of years ago, when he was so badly injured in one of the Consolidated elevators when he lost one of his legs. Ever since that time he has been a sufferer, and the disease which carried him off attacked a weakened system.

The funeral will be held tomorrow at 1 o'clock from Olson & Crawford's undertaking rooms on West First street near Twenty-first avenue west, and at 1:30 from the Swedish Mission church. Interment will be in Union cemetery.

Petition Complete.

The petition out for the nomination of Capt. D. E. Stevens for commissioner is, it is announced, filled to overflowing.

Luncheon.

Mrs. Beck of 2012 West Fourth street entertained a number of friends yesterday afternoon at luncheon. Her guests were: Mesdames O. Lundquist, O. Peterson, D. Johnson, G. Wallen, L. Bjorn, A. Sandberg and J. Ek.

Services in Hall.

The Sunday morning and evening services of Trinity English Lutheran church, Rev. F. O. Hanson, pastor, will be held in Woodman hall. The Sunday school will meet in the basement of Bethany Lutheran church as heretofore.

West End Briefs.

Miss Ollie Metcalfe of Minneapolis, who has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. George Kratskey of 1020 West First street, will return to her home on Sunday.

The funeral of Mrs. Jennie Chnod took place this afternoon from the family residence, 1032½ Garfield avenue, interment being in Forest Hill cemetery. Services were conducted by Rev. W. A. Harmann.

Miss Lillian Cleveland and West Superior street and Twelfth avenue is in Minneapolis visiting relatives.

The entertainment of the Varde club at French hall, Twenty-sixth avenue west and Third street, was well attended and much enjoyed. An excellent program was furnished.

The Young People's Society of the Central Baptist church will hold a meeting this evening at the church parlors to begin an active campaign to increase its membership. Addresses and musical numbers will follow the business session. Albert Glover is in charge.

Applicants for the position of organist of Bethany Swedish Lutheran church are being considered, Miss Lydia Johnson having resigned. A. S. Palmer of Ishpeming played there last night and is being favorably considered.

"INCURABLE" HEART DISEASE SOON CURED

By the Great Specialist in Treating Weak and Diseased Hearts, FRANKLIN MILES, M. D., LL. B.

Who Will Send $2.50 Worth of Special Treatment and New Book Free.

To prove the remarkable curative powers of his new Special Personal Treatments for heart disease, short breath, pain in side, shoulder or arm, oppression, irregular pulse, palpitation, smothering, puffing of ankles, or dropsy, Dr. Miles will send to every afflicted person a $2.50 Free Treatment. Bad cases soon relieved.

These treatments are the result of 30 years' extensive research and remarkable success in treating various ailments of the heart, stomach and nerves, which often complicate each case. So astonishing are the results of his treatment that he offers all sick persons a two-pound Trial Treatment free. Do not fail to try it.

Certainly nothing could be more generous. Few physicians have such confidence in their treatments. All afflicted persons should avail themselves of this liberal offer, as they may never have such an opportunity again. Delays are dangerous. No death comes more suddenly than that from heart disease.

Send for Remarkable Cures in Your State.

Mr. Gilbert Ward, Crown City, O., cured after 8 prominent physicians failed. Mr. W. J. Crites, Ludington, Mich., cured after 4 failed. Mr. P. W. Runyan, Spencer, Iowa, after 3 failed. Mr. Ira Dexter, Friendship, N. Y., after 2 failed. Mr. H. L. Davenport, Conneautville, Pa., after 4 failed. Mr. C. E. Smith, Wayne, Mich., after 3 failed. Mrs. Lizzie Ewing, South Charleston, O., after 2 failed. Mrs. Eva Jeannerette, 1138 Park Row, Meadville, Pa., after several failed. Many cured after 5 to 15 physicians had pronounced them "incurable."

Send to Dr. Franklin Miles, Dept. H 1422 to 1432 Main St., Elkhart, Ind., at once, for Free Heart Book, Examination Chart, Opinion, Advice and Free Treatment. Describe your disease.

TEACH HOUSEKEEPING.

Madison, Wis., Has Professional Housekeeper Who Makes Visits.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 24.—The capital city of Wisconsin has adopted a plan for teaching housekeeping through the medium of a visiting housekeeper.

Upon learning from the Associated Charities of homes where tidiness and new methods of housekeeping generally are needed, the professional housekeeper assumes the work of instruction.

Some of her duties are: Teaching and securing cleanliness of person and home; teaching cooking, sewing and general housework; insuring school attendance of children; compelling observance of simple rules of sanitation; securing employment for women and sometimes for men; settling family quarrels and inducing men to go to work, and discovering fakes and professional paupers.

HELD FOR TRIAL.

Hancock Editor and Cartoonist Indicted for Misusing Mail.

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Deputy United States Marshal W. R. Ross has returned from Hancock, where he arrested John Nimminivuori, manager of the Tyomies Publishing company, and John Salminen, a cartoonist employed by the concern, on bench warrants and served a summons upon the company through its president, Gust Toppari, on charges of sending obscene printed matter through the mails, indictments for which were returned last week by the Federal grand jury at the Soo.

Nimminivuori and Salminen were arraigned in justice court at Hancock and were held for trial at the term of Federal court opening in Marquette April 8. Each furnshed $500 bonds. The summons served on Toppari orders him to appear in court at the same time.

The Tyomies is a Finnish daily newspaper which has a large circulation in the Upper Peninsula.

Hughes Bill Favored.

Valley City, N. D., Jan. 24.—(Special to the Herald.)—Members of the Valley City Commercial club are in favor of the enactment of the Hughes highway bill, introduced in the state senate, which provides for the creation of two state highways. The Hughes bill creates a highway commission, provides for convict labor on highways, and the construction of two state highways, one running from Grand Forks to Williston, and the other from Fargo to Beach. Cash payment of road taxes also was approved by the local club.

CANDIDATES LINING UP FOR HOT MUNICIPAL CAMPAIGN

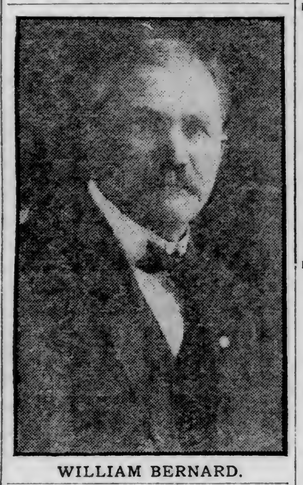

List of Aspirants for Office Under New System Is Long.

T. T. Hudson Passes on Wrinkles in the New Charter.

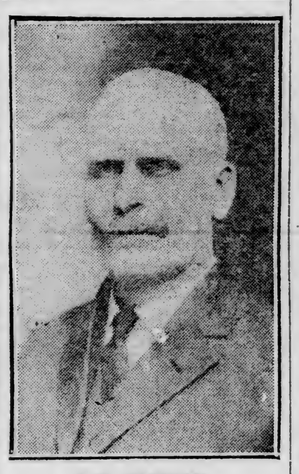

A ballot on which a voter fails to mark four first choices for commissioner will not be thrown out entirely, but no votes for commissioner will be counted, in the opinion of T. T. Hudson, chairman of the charter commission.

Mr. Hudson has had under consideration the apparent conflict in two sections of the charter. One provides that the vote for commissioners shall not be counted unless a first choice is expressed for as many men as there are offices to be filled. Another provides that the ballot shall be void under similar circumstances.

Mr. Hudson holds that the ballot shall be void only in so far as it applies to commissioners, but that the vote on mayor and on municipal judges shall be counted.

WILLIAM BERNARD.

J. W. PRESTON.

Another question which has arisen was also passed upon by Mr. Hudson. The charter provides that in case a sufficient number of candidates do not have a majority of the first choice votes, the second choice votes must be added, and a majority will then elect. Mr. Hudsont holds that when the second choice votes are added in, only a majority of the total vote at the election, not a majority of the total with the second choice votes added in, is required for election.

Naming Executive Committees.

Mr. Hudson is now busy making up the executive committee, which is to conduct the campaign of education on the preferential system of voting. He is naming one man from each ward and is exacting a promise that each man appointed will give his personal attention to the campaign, so that efforts will be made to reach every voter in the city.

The executive committee will be completed tonight or tomorrow and a meeting will be held early next week to outline definite plans for the campaign. Speeches will be made at many public gatherings, with charts for illustration. Demonstration elections will be held in order to familiarize the voters with the use of the new ballot and every effort will be made to minimize the chances of confusion at the election.

The circulation of petitions continues and few voters may say that they have not been approached to sign. Nearly a month remains before petitions may be filed, and it will be a busy month for candidates who have not yet completed their petitions.

One candidate has cards out and two candidates have begun their advertising. Within the next few weeks the city will be flooded with campaign cards, and the newspapers will be carrying columns of political advertising. Every medium for getting their cases before the public will be utilized and the indications now are that Duluth is in for a campaign that will live in memory.

DENFELD IS MOVED ALONG

Promoted to Deputy Grand Master at Meeting of Masons.

R. E. Denfeld of Duluth is next in line for the position of grand master of the Masons of Minnesota.

At the meeting of the grand lodge yesterday in St. Paul Mr. Denfeld was chosen deputy grand master, and according to the established custom will move up to the position of grand master next year.

R. E. DENFELD.

Duluth was well represented at the grand lodge meeting yesterday. There were five delegates from Palestine lodge, three from Ionic and two from Euclid. There were also five from Two Harbors. The following officers were elected. W. H. Laird of Winona, grand master; R. E. Denfeld of Duluth, deputy grand master; H. M. Burnham of Jackson, senior grand warden; A. G. Pinkham of St. Paul, junior grand warden. Albert Berg of Spooner was appointed senior grand deacon.

W. A. McGonagle of Duluth and W. P. Roberts of Minneapolis were named as trustees of the Masonic home, and the sum of $1,000 was voted toward the home fund. The fund now totals $30,000 and the grand lodge is determined to prosecute an energetic canvass throughout the state this year to complete the $100,000 desired.

The Masonic Veterans' association met Wednesday evening and re-elected its officers. The veterans are those who have been Masons for twenty-one years or more. The officers are: Dr. A. Clark of Stillwater, president; W. B. Patton of Duluth, vice president; W. P. Roberts of Minneapolis, second vice president.

Gossip, Comment and Sporting Editorial Review as Written By Bruce.

CHANCES are the game guarantee in the new league—what's the name, now? The one that St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth and Winnipeg, cities, and some villages, such as Superior, Virginia and others are going to be in—will be considerably higher than the one in the old league—though, come to think of it, the See-Eye was not so old.

There is a rumor that it will cost, in addition to the balls used, uniforms, advertising and incidentals, $75 to put on every game. In other words, fellow fan, if there are not 75 simoleons in the park the home club will have to come through with the difference.

Another thing, now that we are on this sordid subject of mere lucre, filthy that stuff, it is whispered that there will be turnstiles in the parks and that the youth, lady or man of the wise and wicked world who gets by the gate without showing sufficient cause or reason therefor, will be entitled to amateur honors as a budding diplomat.

There has been a hint, only a soft, velvety insinuating suggestion that some of the gate counts last year were a trifle to the Tom Thumb; in other and more explicit words, a little short.

No more of this; there is no use, not the least in the world in placing temptation before any man, and the best way, argue some of the magnates, perhaps led into this righteous desire through the acumen of Mike Cantillon, is to place the little registers at each of the gates, and let them tell the story.

THERE have been vague hints that Charley Murphy is not Irish, and this despite the name. But if the owner of the Cubs is Irish, Bill, he is going to be true to the name he bears by hiring three backstops who first saw the light of this world on the auld sod.

Archer, Bresnahan and Needham are Irishmen; as Irish, in fact, as the potato that some men will insist upon eating with their knives. Therefore when anyone screams derision at the Murphy cognomen and spurts forth his disbelief, all that Murphy will have to do is to tell the unbeliever to look at the trio that is doing the catching for the owner of the Cubs.

IF ANYONE in all this town knows of a one-legged heavyweight boxer who would have the least inclination to mix with another fellow man short one of his propellers, he will do a favor by carrying the information to Arthur L. Ryberg.

Up at the steel plant there is a husky with but one leg. The loss of a limb has not in the least curbed the athletic enthusiasm of this chap. He classes himself as one of the white hopes; a white hope with but one leg.

He has been sending many and urgent requests that he be allowed to enter the tournament. But Ryberg has as yet been unable to find any heavyweight with one leg. If there is one in town, and should he care to put poultices upon the hot desires of the man at the steel plant, he should communicate quickly with Mons. Ryberg.

THE other night, in one of the spots where fighting is graciously and benevolently permitted, Jimmy Brady, the elongated phantom readily and without agitation or perturbation, defeated one Rabbit Hedlund, or a youth of some such name, the referee finding it necessary to stop the festivities in the seventh round.

The speed, cleverness and clean and rapid hitting shown by the Brady boy in this encounter make it clear that only the best boys in the feather-weight division have any chance with this youth.

A year ago Jimmy was around these parts possessing a small grip and a tap that would dent a piece of butter in mid July. But the youngster has brains and perseverance and he has learned to hit, and he is hitting better in every fight.

Brady is stopping most of his opponents in his battles these days, and if the lad continues the present pace he is going to fight some of the boys who have a muscular grip on the topmost rung of the pugilistic ladder.

THIEF River Falls, Minnesota, is the proud possessor of a bouncing wrestling boy that the village is endeavoring to proudly push out in the big world of sports. Keep it up, T. R. F., gol darn ye, it's all right.

But lightly skipping from the slightly facetious to the soddenly serious, let it be proclaimed here that Loren Curtis, the wrestler in the case, seems to be arriving. The other night Al Francis of St. Paul, a man who has been steadfastly holding the lantern of scornful ridicule on the claims of Walter Miller, journeyed up to Thief River Falls and came back, a sadder and wiser man. The Curtis cuss threw the St. Paul boy in straight falls.

Now Loren, like Napoleon, Alex the great and Mary McLean, is ready for more worlds to conquer. Miller is the man he would meet. The special dispatch hastened to The Herald tells of how Loren, by hek, is willin' to rassle Miller, and how his backers will come through with some of the sordid stuff to make the little fuss all the more interesting for the little Miller man.

Right at the present time the Pole has a task on his hands that is going to engage all of his time and attention for a few weeks. When Walter gets through with Mike Yokel, or Yokel gets through with Walter, just as the case may be, there may be some chance for Loren and the loudly lurched claims of his backers.

Right here let us extend the friendly hand and pat Loren on his broad back. We hope he's there; moreover, Loren, here's hoping you are able to hop the home corral and beat it for a wide patch of publicity.

AMATEURS TO BE PAIRED OFF

Large List of Contestants for Boxing Show Will Be Matched.

With the list of something like twenty-eight amateur boxers in his possession, Arthur L. Ryberg, head of the sporting goods department of the Quayle-Larsen company, will today complete the work of pairing off the contestants for the big amateur tournament of Wednesday night.

According to the plans of Ryberg, there will be something like seven bouts on the progam of the evening. Some of the very best amateur boxers from various points of the Northwest have entered, and with their names and weights available, the work of pairing off the entrants will be easy.

Little Tony Ross, the clever amateur boxer from Chicago, is one of the boys who will try for one of the medals, and Clarence Wallace, winner of the amateur tournament of Milwaukee, is another one who will answer the bell.

Followers of boxing in Duluth are looking eagerly forward to the bout between Eddie Barry, brother of Jimmy, the boxing instructor of the Y. M. C. A., and one of the best boxers in the Northwest, and Bugge, whom many class as the best boxer in the city today.

All of the amateurs have been working hard the past few weeks. Judging from the workouts of some of the boys, the amateurs are going to put on some clever and clean boxing, and some of the bouts are expected to open the eyes of the fans.

The tournament of next Wednesday will be the first held in this city. The contests will all be run off under the rules adopted by the Amateur Athletic union, and the show will be similar to those conducted in the East.

In the event of young Eddie Barry being returned the winner in the bout with Bugge, there is some talk of the youngster being entered in the amateur championships, which will be held in New Orleans. The Duluth kid is held by some to be one of the crack amateur boxers of the Northwest.

However the friends of Bugge are saying that he is going to beat Barry, clever as the latter may be, and the bout promises to be fast and clever.

Snodgrass Signs Up.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 24.—Fred Snodgrass, center fielder of the New York Nationals, whose muff of a fly ball in the deciding game of the world's series last fall was a large factor in losing the pennant for his team, yesterday signed a contract to play with Manager McGraw. Snodgrass says his contract gives him a substantial increase in salary.

MUCH INTEREST IN BASKET BALL LEAGUE

Much interest is being manifested in the public school basketball league that is to be conducted by the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. this season.

The league will open Tuesday, Jan. 28, at 4:30. The following schools have each entered two teams—Bryant, Washington and Salter. Others are expected to be in by Friday. The winning school is to receive a pennant made in the colors of the school and the members of the winning team will each receive a gymnasium jersey with their school monogram on it.

CENTRALS WILL PLAY CATHEDRALS

High School Basket Ball Teams Will Meet at Central Gym.

Basket ball enthusiasts will have their first chance to view the Central high school team in action when the quintet from the big institution lines up against the local Cathedral high school team at the Central gymnasium tonight.

Tonight's game promises to develop into one of the best exhibitions of basket ball this season, as both schools have speedy quints.

The Cathedral team has been playing for some time, and last Friday evening defeated the strong Superior normal team, 18 to 15, in a hard fought contest. The game this evening is the big one of the season for the Catholics and they are out to win.

The Central quintet has been practicing daily under the direction of Coach Schilling and has developed rapidly. Four of the positions on the team will be filled by players who have won their "D's" in basket ball, so the fans will see a representative Central team.

The line-up of the two teams follows:

Central.		Cathedral.
Elder	f	Monoghan
Duclett or Lawrenz	f	Graves
Osman	c	Barrett
Harris	g	Daugherty
Jeronimus	g	Summers or Kelly

As a preliminary to the big game Coach Schilling has arranged to have the senior and junior class teams battle for the first honors in the interclass league.

The lineup:

Seniors.		Juniors.
Wernst	f	Gonska
Burnside	f	Larson
Davis	c	Duclett
Cullum	g	Whiteside
Anderson	g	Lawrenz

THIEF RIVER FALLS CLAIMS A CHAMPION.

Thief River Falls, Minn., Jan. 24.—The claims of Loren C. Curtis of Halstad, that he is entitled to a chance to wrestle Walter Miller for the championship of the world in the middle-weight division, were definitely proven in this city this week, when Mr. Curtis won in straight falls from Al Francis of St. Paul. Francis recently succeeded in winning a handicap match from Miller in which Miller agreed to throw him twice in thirty minutes. In the match here, Curtis won the first fall in twenty-six minutes, and the second fall in one hour and fifteen minutes. Curtis, through his backers here, issues a challenge to wrestle Miller at any time and place, for any reasonable amount and feels confident that he can win. Miller has so far ignored any communications from Curtis relative to a match.

MAKE REMARKABLE RECORD IN WORLD-WIDE AUTO TOUR.

New York, Jan. 24.—Forty thousand miles by automobile, a trip through thirty-three countries and around the globe, ended here yesterday when Mrs. William A. Hall and her son, Melvin Hall, steered their car into its Broadway garage. Their trip is said to be the first of its kind accomplished by amateur drivers. They wore out 117 tires and burned up 5,000 gallons of gasoline, but suffered no serious mishaps.

The Halls, with their four-cylinder phaeton type car, sailed from New York June 10, 1911. Originally they had no thought of encircling the world. They motored through England and Wales and then through nearly every country in Europe. From Naples their automobile was shipped to Bombay, and they spent several weeks driving through India. They wore out dozens of tires on the roads of Ceylon, Sumatra, Java and the Malay peninsula. They motored through Cochin China and to Hong Kong and thence through Japan and the Philippines.

Landing at San Francisco the motorists traveled through Northern Mexico and then came home by way of the Santa Fe trail and through Denver, St. Louis, Pittsburg and Washington.

I'VE GOT A TEAM RIGHT NOW, SAYS IRISH ORATOR

White Sox Leader Tells of Some Strong Players He Has Signed for His Team.

"I have everything in good shape now, so you can get into any class you want to and I will have a club that will make them all go."

Extract from the oration of Darby O'Brien.

The Orator writes to The Herald that he has right now the best team that he has ever gathered. During his work he has made practically all the territory within a large radius from Cleveland, and he has had the opportunity, he says, of looking over the best players of the great state of Ohio.

Already the Irish leader has arranged for the spring training of his club. The men will be assembled at an early date at the Cleveland American league grounds, the work there lasting probably two weeks, and then the men will be taken on a series of spring training games, the idea at the present time being to land here around the second of May.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Kalamazoo, Mich., Madison, Wis., Oshkoosh, Wis., and several other towns are down on the list for exhibition games.

Darby says he has a find in Outfielder Smith, a player he has picked up down in Ohio. Roodger is also considered in the light of a find by the White Sox manager.

The Orator is of the opinion that third base and shortstop will be well taken care of.

There is some talk of making a catcher out of Homerun Lacey Sours. The hard hitting chap was obviously out of his place in the shortfield, and he was one of the first to admit the accusation. Sours never cared to play the shortfield, but was forced into the field through the exigencies of the situation, so to speak.

Johnson and Brackett will be back and Monte Woods, a southpaw, also will be out for a pitching position. Mullin, a brother of the famous George Mullin, the star of the Detroit Tigers, and Hanifer are pitchers that have been signed by the Duluth pilot.

If there is any chance to get Harvey Bluhm, the read headed wonder that went to Toledo, he will be back on first for the White Sox. The Orator has written to the management of the Mud Hens, and if Harvey doesn't fit into the Toledo infield the chances are that he will be back stopping wild throws and digging low ones out of the sand at Athletic park.

DULUTH READY FOR BIG GAME

Fort Frances Here for First Hockey Game of the Series.

Duluth and the Fort Frances hockey teams will meet this evening at the big curling club skating rink for the first game of a two-game series. The Canadians have a very strong aggregation, according to the reports, and both games are expected to be close and well contested.

Dr. John Tamblyn, Capt. Joe Linder, Johnny Mahan, Helmer Grenner, Arnie Olson, Young Olson of Virginia, Owens and several substitutes will most likely be seen in the Duluth line-up.

It is said that the team representing Duluth in this evening's game will be the strongest that has ever played for this city. Coach Linder has been drilling the men for the past few weeks and the contest with the Canadians is expected to bring out the best playing of the season.

The game will start promptly at 8 o'clock and by far the largest crowd of the year will be on hand, according to the present indications. The Fort Frances aggregation got in early today and are in fine fettle for the meeting with the curling club seven.

Dr. John Tamblyn will make his bow to the hockey fans of Duluth, and as the genial doc is said to be one of the stars of the game, his playing is due to excite a lot of interest.

SPORTING NOTES

Last night the Park Point hockey team won from the Maroons by the score of 4 to 3. The contest was one of the best that has been played in the Duluth Amateur league this year.

ELLIS WARD TO QUIT COACHING

Philadelphia, Jan. 24—Pennsylvania's crews will row for the last time this year at Poughkeepsie under the training of Ellis Ward, for the rowing committee at the university has announced that when the coach's contract expires on Aug. 31, it will not be renewed.

This announcement is in response to an agitation against Ward, at the university, among the graduates, which took shape a few days ago in a letter published in the college daily to J. W. Townsend, chairman of the committee, asking why Ward had been retained in the face of the decision to the committee that a new coach had been decided upon. It is announced that nine applications for the position have already been received from coaches here and abroad, and more are expected, and the men are being carefully considered and investigated.

Ward's retirement will bring to a close a career of thirty-four years as coach for the Red and Blue, he having been in continuous charge of the oarsmen since 1879. During this time he has turned out some remarkably good oarsmen, but since 1900, when Pennsylvania won at Poughkeepsie for the second consecutive time, the crew has generally finished in the ruck, the best showing being in 1910, when rough water for the other crews and the inshore course gave second place to the eight, a position it would not have had under other circumstances.

TROPHY GAMES BEGIN MONDAY

Duluth and Superior to Contest for Manley-McLennan Cup.

The first game in the Manley-McLennan curling trophy series which will be contested by the Duluth and Superior clubs will be played at the new rink Monday evening.

Curlers are looking forward to the playing of these games with considerable interest, as they promise to be the best exhibitions of curling of the present season. Superior will send the very pick of its curlers in an endeavor to retain possession of the handsome cup, while Duluth is going to make every effort in the world to again become the possessor of the trophy.

NEGROES MAY FIGHT IN PARIS

New York, Jan. 24.—It will be Joe Jeannette and not Al Palzer whom Jack Johnson will box in Paris on June 24, the eve of the Grand Prix, should Johnson be permitted to leave this country, according to Dan McKettrick, a prominent boxing promoter, today.

McKettrick, who sails today to stage a bout between Willie Lewis and Adrian Hogan, one of the latest French middleweights, said he had a signed letter from Johnson wherein he agreed to meet Jeannette in a 20-round bout in Paris on June 24.

He exhibited the letter in which Johnson said the guarantee of $50,000, win, lose or draw, was satisfactory, and that he would be ready to sail for Paris as soon as the final arrangements had been made. McKettrick said he had been assured by authoritative sources that Johnson would be able to make the trip to Paris.

Battle Creek, Mich., Jan. 24.—Edward Winberg, first baseman of the Battle Creek club of the Southern Michigan league, was yesterday sold to the Louisville American association team. He batted .338 last season.

DULUTH GETS ANNUAL BONSPIEL FOR 1914

Northwestern Curling Association Awards Gathering of Next Year.

C. A. Duncan Chosen President—Four Other Duluthians Are Elected.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 24.—The members of the Northwestern Curling association in attendance at the twentieth annual bonspiel here this week, did not curl last night. They held their annual banquet and business meeting instead.

Duluth was selected for the 1914 gathering and the following officers were elected:

President, C. A. Duncan, Duluth; vice-presidents, George B. Reedal, Phillips, Wis., and R. C. Oglevie, Superior, Wis.; secretary, F. W. Hargreaves, Duluth; treasurer, John S. MacGregor, Duluth; members of executive committees, D. B. MacDonald of Duluth, Frank Wade of West Duluth, Dr. A. B. Lenont of Virginia, W. T. Pehler of Minneapolis, and Dr. L. A. Nelson of St. Paul.

At the banquet the American and British flags were draped about the room and toasts were drunk to President Taft and King George of England.

Play in the several unfinished events was resumed this morning.

Yesterday's results:

Patrick-Duluth—Cameron of St. Paul beat Lenont of Virginia, by 14 to 8; Blackburn of Winnipeg lost to Hallock of the same city, 7 to 15.

Minneapolis—Wade of Duluth lost to Lowe of Winnipeg by 9 to 11; McLeod of Selkirk was beaten again yesterday morning when Dr. Kelly of St. Paul defeated him by 12 to 10; Defiel of St. Paul beat Anderson of Duluth by 15 to 9; Raup of Portage beat Campbell of Eveleth by 24 to 3; Dunbar beat Haig of Winnipeg, 11 to 9.

Dunbar has scored 126 points in eight games to his opponents' 52. Dunbar, at the beginning of play yesterday, had won two games in the St. Paul event, two in the Minneapolis and two in the Duluth.

Chisholm of Winnipeg had won two in the St. Paul, one in the Minneapolis, one in the Patrick-Duluth, and two in Duluth.

Williams of Winnipeg had won two games in the St. Paul, one by default in the Minneapolis, one by default in the Patrick-Duluth and three in the Duluth, one of them by default. Games won by default do not count in the grand aggregate.

Rochon of Winnipeg had won one in the St. Paul, two in the Minneapolis, one in the Patrick-Duluth and two in the Duluth.

McLeod of Selkirk had won three games in the St. Paul, one in the Minneapolis, one by default in the Patrick-Duluth and two in the Duluth, one of Duluth and two in the Duluth, one of them by default.

BROWN AND KETCHEL GO TEN ROUNDS ON EVEN TERMS

Neither Boy Has Advantage in Lively Mill Staged at Superior Opera House.

Pal Brown of Chisholm and Steve Ketchel of Chicago went ten no-decision rounds at Superior last evening, there being little to choose between the two battlers at the end of the bout.

Ketchel was the very embodiment of aggressiveness, carrying the battle to the range boy throughout the ten rounds of milling, but the lad from the iron ranges held his own, though there were some in the audience of the opinion that the little Chicago boy, short and stocky and possessed apparently of unlimited muscular energy and immense vitality, was a trifle fresher than Pal at the expiration of the final round. On the other hand there were many to claim that Pal shaded his opponent.

However the bout was only booked for ten rounds, and taking it at that distance there was little to choose between the two combatants.

Ketchel's mode of battle was a rushing one, and once near his man he would flail away with both gloves for body or head, and his short half arm swings and uppercuts seemed to carry a lot of steam.

But Brown showed strength in the clinches and landed some hard blows on the onrushing little demon from Chicago. He worked his favorite kidney blow, though the toughness of the youth from Chicago seemed proof, like some armored cruiser, against the blows that the range fighter landed.

The fight was fast throughout every round, neither battler showing any aversion to getting in close and flailing away with both hands. But those who journeyed across to "Siberia" expecting to see a knockout, were doomed to disappointment.

Once in the eighth round, when Ketchel landed one of the best blows of the evening, it looked as if Brownie was just a trifle wobbly, but if he was he recuperated quickly, and at the end of the round was battling with unimpaired vigor.

In the case of last evening ten rounds proved too short to determine the merits of the two boys. Some say Ketchel would be the winner in a bout extending to the 20-round limit, and others gathered round the ring hold just the opposite view. Therefore the merits of the two boys will doubtless be argued for many moons.

Young Colon, calling Ashland his home, as he hasn't traveled widely, went ten rounds with Battling Johnson of Washburn, there being little to choose between the two boys.

Two local embryos, representing one of the Superior athletic organizations, went on in the curtain raiser, and while their expectations might have been great and the desire to commit execution might have burned in their gloves, when the referee signalled that the hostilities must cease neither combatant was damaged to a marked degree.

There was a large crowd present, the larger part of it being from this side of the bay.

FILIATRAULT MADE PRESIDENT

Fish and Game Association Honors West Duluth Nimrod.

M. J. Filiatrault was elected president of the Northwestern Minnesota Game and Fish Protective association at the meeting held last night in the Commercial club rooms.

T. F. McGilvray was elected vice president; Cameron Hewitt, secretary-treasurer, and T. J. Storey, executive agent. The following board of directors was elected: S. H. Bingham, J. C. Green, John G. Ross, J. A. Ferguson, J. A. Flynn, J. J. Foreman, H. W. Cheadle, L. A. Lawrie, C. E. Wachtel.

Among other accomplishments of the meeting, the association went on record as being against the use of high-power rifles, also going on record as being opposed to the Peterson bill now before the state legislature.

The association is opposed to the sale of game birds. The association members also want a contraband game law, similar to the one now enforced in Wisconsin, which will give the game warden the authority to search cars or any place but a sealed box and a private residence in search of game.

No changes were suggested in the present game laws, though considerable discussion was held on this subject. The members of the association are in favor of a law making it unlawful for any one fisherman to have more than fifty trout in his possession at any one time.

NO FIGHT IS ON.

Governor Johnson's Son Too Heavy for Proposed Contest.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 24.—There will be no six-round bout tonight between Ernie Clark of Los Angeles, amateur welterweight champion of the Pacific coast, and Archie Johnson, youngest son of Governor Hiram Johnson. When Johnson weighed in yesterday at the Olympic club the beam balanced at 148 pounds, three pounds over the welterweight limit. In refusing to waive the difference in weight, Dewitt Van Court, representing Clark, said:

"Clark boxes at 138 pounds and I couldn't afford to let him risk his title against a man ten pounds heavier. Johnson is a middleweight and one of the cleverest for his inches and pounds I have ever seen. With a less able contender I might take a chance."

Johnson himself seemed sincerely disappointed and anxious to go on. He had trained faithfully and stripped strong and clean.

Bout Is Off.

Chicago, Jan. 24.—The bout between Jess Willard and Dan Daly, scheduled for next Saturday night in Philadelphia, was cancelled yesterday on account of Willard's breaking a bone in his right hand while boxing Frank Bauer of Fort Wayne Wednesday night. It will be at least a month before Willard can fight again.

MILWAUKEE GETS IN.

Replaces Aurora in Wisconsin-Illinois League This Year.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 24.—Milwaukee will replace Aurora, Ill., in the Wisconsin-Illinois league this season, according to announcement after a meeting here yesterday. The remainder of the circuit will consist of Wausau, Green Bay, Oshkosh, Appleton, Madison and Racine in Wisconsin and Rockford in Illinois.

C. F. Moll is behind the Milwaukee franchise and arrangements have been made to play the games at the American association grounds. The schedule of the Wisconsin-Illinois league will be arranged so that there will be no conflict here. The Rockford management agreed to meet the requirements of the league and the proposition of Beloit to replace the Illinois city was not considered.

To Training Camps Soon.

Philadelphia, Jan. 24.—The Philadelphia National baseball club, it was announced yesterday, will train at Southern Pines, N. C. The squad will leave Feb. 24, the same day the Philadelphia Americans depart for San Antonio, Tex. Wallace F. Schultz, pitcher of the Philadelphia Nationals, was sold to the Sacramento club yesterday.

ON THE IRON RANGES

EASTERN ITASCA COUNTY IS BEING RAPIDLY SETTLED

FIRST THRESHING MACHINE IN THE WAWINA COUNTRY.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The rapidity with which what is called the Wawina country, in the eastern part of Itasca county is being settled up by Finnish farmers is quite remarkable. A Finnish Lutheran church was recently built here while there are many other evidences of civilization.

Most of these new settlers are men who worked in the mines just long enough to get money for the first payment on a piece of state land, while others came directly from the old country, with hardly enough to pay the filing fee on government land. All were practically penniless when they came.

COLERAINE MEN ENJOY BANQUET

Boosters in Annual Gathering Felicitate Themselves on Conditions.

Coleraine, Minn., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The members of the Coleraine Commercial club and their friends to the number of over 100 gathered about the banquet boards Wednesday night at the annual booster meeting. The splendid village auditorium never accommodated a jollier group of men. The Coleraine orchestra and the Commercial club quartet furnished stirring music and songs with local hits. The tables decorated with carnations and laden with tempting food well served by the liveried men waiters afforded a compelling attraction to hosts and guests.

Splendid speeches were made by farmers, miners, business and professional men. The reports of the officers showed a surprising amount of work accomplished by the club the past year and that the finances were well taken care of.

Badges with the interrogation "If not why not?" were worn by all members and many other good fellows were likewise decorated during the evening thus signifying their intention of joining the jolly boosters for a bigger and a better Coleraine.

WILL DEDICATE GILBERT CHURCH

New Edifice to Be Given Over to Sacred Work Sunday.

Gilbert, Minn., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The dedication services of the Catholic church will be held Sunday morning when a solemn high mass will be celebrated.

Rev. Father Pirnat will be assisted by Rev. Father Culligan of Eveleth and Rev. Father Power of Virginia. There will be special music by the choir composed of the following members: Sopranos, Misses Angela Schumacher, Julia Costen, Irene Fay, Mary Small, Anne Galligan; altos, Philomena de la Pointe, Magdalene Fegereisen, Genevieve Rolsch; tenor, A. E. Schneider; bass, W. J. Dowling, F. A. Bowman; organist, Mrs. W. J. Dowling.

GILBERT MONEY MEN IN CONCERN.

Gilbert, Minn., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Several local moneyed men are interested in organizing a large wholesale establishment in Virginia to supply the range towns. Enough capital has been promised to finance the project but it is likely that a number of smaller investors will also take an interest in the concern.

ALLEGES ILLEGAL CHARGES ON LOAN.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The trial of the case of Lew O. Melhus vs. Maude A. Thayer to set aside a mortgage on his land held by the latter is on in district court here. The action is based on alleged illegal charges for the loan, it being complained that an excessive bonus was exacted. It is the first case of this nature to be tried here in years.

Judge McClenahan dismissed the damage suit of Nova Dosiah vs. the La Rue Mining company to recover $35,000 for injuries alleged to have been sustained in a mine of the defendant. Several important witnesses could not be here now, but the court declined to continue the action, so it was dismissed without prejudice and can be renewed at the next term.

HOW TO MAKE YOUR HAIR BEAUTIFUL

Ten Minutes' Home Treatment Works Wonders, Stops Falling Hair, Itching Scalp and Dandruff and Makes the Hair Soft, Brilliant, Lustrous and Fluffy.

Better than all the so-called "hair tonics" in the world is a simple old fashioned home recipe consisting of plain Bay Rum, Lavona (de composee), and a little Menthol Crystals. These three mixed at home in a few minutes, work wonders with any scalp. Try it just one night and see. Get from your druggist 2 oz. Lavona, 6 oz. Bay Rum and ½ dr. Menthol Crystals. Dissolve the Crystals in the Bay Rum and pour in an 8 oz. bottle. Then add the Lavona, shake well and let it stand for an hour before using. Apply it by putting a little of the mixture on a soft cloth. Draw this cloth slowly through the hair, taking just one small strand at a time. This cleanses the hair and scalp of dirt, dust and excessive oil and makes the hair delightfully soft, lustrous and fluffy. To stop the hair from falling and to make it grow again rub the lotion briskly into the scalp with the finger tips or a medium stiff brush. Apply night and morning. A few days' use and you cannot find a single loose or straggling hair. They will be locked on your scalp as tight as a vise. Dandruff will disappear and itching cease. In ten days you will find fine downy new hairs sprouting up all over your scalp and this new hair will grow with wonderful rapidity.

Any druggist can sell you the above. The prescription is very inexpensive and we know of nothing so effective and certain in its result.

CHISHOLM LIKES NEW CAR SERVICE

Inauguration of Interurban Service Is Proving Very Popular.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—This village is rejoicing over the inauguration this week of regular service by the Mesaba Range railway.

The cars have been well patronized ever since the opening of service and the business houses have already experienced increased trade.

The cars stop at the sub-station and at Third avenue to pick up and let off passengers and run at fifteen minutes after every hour.

The local freight and passenger office of the company is at the sub-station on the corner of Central avenue and Chestnut street. A handsome brick building has been erected and is ready for the accommodation of passengers and freight. Elegant seats have been put into the building for the convenience of those waiting for the cars. The first car to leave Chisholm in the future will depart at 6:15 and the last car will leave at 12:15 a. m. going east. The time of the departure of the last car for Hibbing, from Chisholm going west, has not been set, the framing of a complete schedule depending on demand of trade.

The fare to Hibbing and Buhl is 15 cents from Chisholm.

WORKS VIRGINIA WITH BAD CHECKS

"Joseph Tuttle" Said to Have Stung Several People Then Fled.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—A livery barn, the European hotel and a bus driver were among those victimized recently by a man who signed his name as Joseph Tuttle. It is claimed that Tuttle cashed bogus checks varying in amount from $20 to $50, and made his getaway on the Canadian flyer Tuesday. The police have been unable to trace the man and have notified Chief C. H. Troyer of Duluth.

AFTER OFFENDERS.

Kitzville to Punish Blind-Pig Patrons Who Raise Rumpus.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Jacob Lenarcic, who came in from one of the locations and set out to run the town, paid a fine in Judge Brown's court at Kittzville yesterday on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. Kittzville officials say that a good many people at the locations, after filling up on liquor at the "pigs", come into that town imbued with the same obsession as Lenarcic, and no leniency against such offenders will be shown in the future.

WEDS IN NEGAUNEE.

Two Harbors Man Takes Bride in Upper Peninsula City.

Negaunee, Mich., Jan. 24.—The marriage of Miss Nell Nolan of Negaunee to J. R. Shey of Two Harbors, Minn., was solemnized Wednesday morning at St. Paul's church, Rev. Father Buchholtz officiating. After the wedding breakfast the couple left on a honeymoon trip, after which they will make their home at Two Harbors, Minn., where Mr. Shey is traveling engineer for the D. & I. R. railroad at that place.

CHISHOLM TO PLAY AURORA.

Aurora, Minn., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Tonight the high school basket ball team will play the high school team from Chisholm. The local team has thus far shown good form and with the consistent practice of the week the boys are in trim for a good game.

DISTRIBUTION OF DAMAGE MONEYS

Judge Hughes Lays Down Rules to Protect Successful Litigants.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The following rules governing the distribution of monies received as damages on account of accidental or wrongful death were made by Judge Hughes and ordered filed today:

That the petitioner for administration of said monies, amongst other things, shall state: His official capacity and when and by whom appointed; the date of death of decedent, his residence, his employer at the time of receiving injuries resulting in death, and brief description of such injuries; the amount received in consequence of death, and whether by judgment or settlement; a statement of all expenses incurred by administrator, the amount claimed by administrator for services and the nature of said services; the names and addresses of surviving relatives, and whether they are heirs of decedent, and their ages; whether the funeral expenses have been allowed, and the amount; whether any of the beneficiaries are not English-speaking people.

Another item that the ruling provides is that no money shall be paid as damages for wrongful death until a bond approved by the court shall have been given for the full and proper distribution of such monies to the right and proper parties entitled thereto.

LAST JURY CASE HAS BEEN TRIED

Balance of Virginia Term Given Over to Court Cases.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 24.—The jury in the district court was dismissed yesterday afternoon shortly after 3, the last case to be taken up by the court this term, Rosu vs. Mattson, being settled by mutual agreement Thursday afternoon. The balance of the cases on the January calendar are all court cases and will proceed at once.

The suit for $1,030 damages, brought by Mrs. Christiana Rosu against Sakira Mattson was settled with the understanding that Mattson is to pay Mrs. Rosu a portion of the money she alleges she left with him for her keep, at the rate of $18 a month.

PLAYING GOOD GAME.

Gilbert High School Basket Ball Team in Good Form.

Gilbert, Minn., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Gilbert high school basket ball boys are practicing strenuously under direction of Coach Perry S. Pray, and are now playing the game in good form. Since the holidays they have defeated the strong quints from Eveleth and Aurora, winning the latter game by brilliant work and fine team play against some phenomenal shooting by one of the Aurora players. Tonight the team plays in Mountain Iron, and Saturday night they go to Two Harbors, where they expect a close contest. The probable lineup of the team for these contests will be: Forwards, F. Indihar and W. Crellir; center, F. Eschul; guards, T. Eschul and F. Sullivan.

Want to Feel Young?

It's Olive Tablets For You!

Beware of the habit of constipation. It develops from just a few constipated days, especially in Old People, unless you take yourself in hand.

Coax the jaded bowel muscles back to normal action with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel. Don't force them to unnatural action with severe medicines or by merely flushing out the intestines with nasty, sickening cathartics.

Dr. Edwards believes in gentleness, persistency and Nature's assistance.

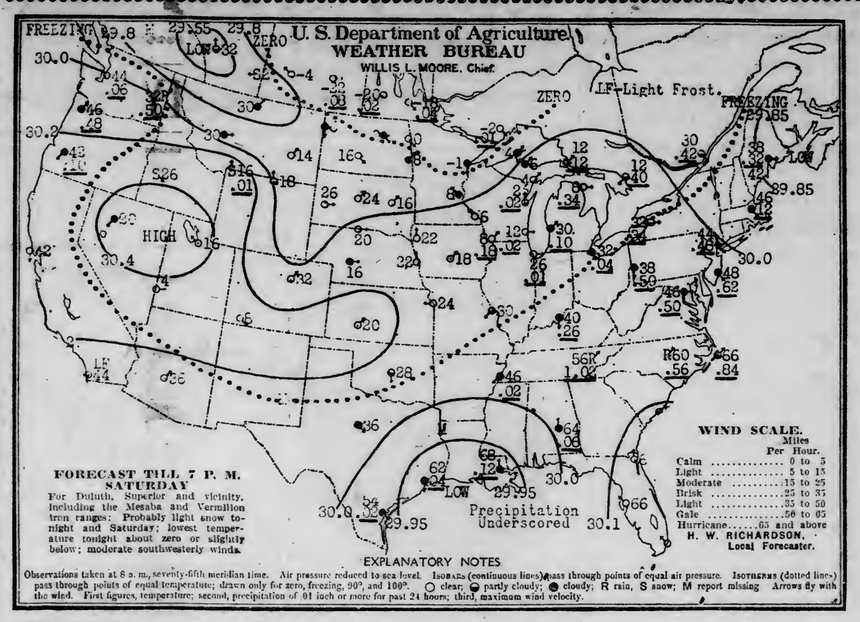

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets oil the bowels; their action is gentle, yet positive. There is never any pain or griping when Olive Tablets are used. Just the kind of treatment old persons should have.

Take Olive Tablets mixed with olive oil and have no trouble with your bowels or stomach.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

SNOW

The air was snappy last night, but the cold was not very intense compared with what has gone before. Today is gray and cold, with a continuation of temperatures around zero predicted. Snow is also on the forecast for tonight and tomorrow.

Below zero temperatures prevailed a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 7:42 and it will set at 4:58 this evening, giving nine hours and sixteen minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comments on weather conditions:

"Colder weather prevails from the Lake region southwestward to Mexico, while in Atlantic and Gulf states and in districts north of Nebraska, Colorado, Utah and Nevada the temperature has risen during the last twenty-four hours. In the meantime light rain or snow fell over Atlantic and Gulf states, the Mississippi and Ohio valleys, Lake region, Canada, Wyoming, Idaho, Oregon and Washington. Conditions favor only slight changes in temperature at the Head of the Lakes during the ensuing thirty-six hours."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Jan. 24.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Saturday:

Upper Michigan—Generally cloudy with local snows tonight or Saturday; warmer tonight in west portion; warmer Saturday.

Wisconsin—Fair and warmer tonight; Saturday increasing cloudiness.

Minnesota—Unsettled with probably snow tonight or Saturday; warmer in south portion tonight.

Iowa—Fair tonight with warmer in east and south portions; Saturday probably unsettled.

North Dakota—Probably snow tonight or Saturday; colder.

South Dakota—Fair tonight with colder in north portion; Saturday increasing cloudiness and colder.

Montana—Snow tonight or Saturday; colder in east portion tonight; cold wave in northeast portion.

CHISHOLM OWES ABOUT $20,000

Growing Range Village Has No Outstanding Bonds and Feels Fine.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Citizens of Chisholm point to the splendid financial showing the village is making for a town once wiped out by fire and rebuilt on a better scale.

At the end of March, 1912, the village had standing indebtedness of $72,000 and the budget for expenditures provided for $20,000 to apply against that amount. The $20,000 has been kept intact, and in addition no less than $30,000 will be added to the sinking fund, which will reduce the outstanding debt to approximately $20,000 by the end of March next. All the indebtedness of the village is included in the $20,000. The village has no bonded indebtedness, the amounts owing by the village being floating debts.

Many Improvements.

Among the most important works undertaken and completed in which the administration has spent village funds are: Paving of Lake street at a cost of almost $35,000; purchase of cemetery and preparing it for use represents an expenditure of $5,000; preparing of First and Second avenues for paving next year, cutting down grade of Lake street west to make it suitable for street car service, the laying of no less than 26,589 feet of sewer, laying of almost two miles of sidewalk, extension of water mains, painting and decoration of village hall, purchase of extension fire ladder and wagon, improvement of road leading to Lincoln school, settlement of law suits arising out of the Central avenue damage suits from the outgoing council, etc.

GILBERT CONCERN ELECTS OFFICERS.

Gilbert, Minn., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the annual meeting of Saari, Campbell & Kroker of Gilbert, held this week, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: J. Saari, president; C. M. Campbell, vice president; M. G. Kroker, treasurer. The firm, which is the largest mercantile establishment on the Mesaba range, reports a good business during the past year, and the usual dividend was declared.

COHASSET BANK IN STRONG HANDS.

Cohasset, Minn., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—A change which has just taken place in the management of the Cohasset State bank puts that institution into unusually strong hands. E. P. Sheldon of Minneapolis and A. G. Wedge of Bemidji, have taken the institution over, and are now in charge. New officers have been elected as follows: F. P. Sheldon, president; A. G. Wedge and H. H. Carrier, vice presidents, and F. J. Skocdopole, cashier.

Chisholm Man Seeks Divorce.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Claiming Mrs. Hatcher will not cook suitable meals for him or keep the rooms in clean and neat condition or stay home evenings but goes out with other men, Charles W. Hatcher of Chisholm asks a divorce from his wife, Lucille M. Hatcher. He is 41 years old and his wife is 19. They were married at Chisholm on Nov. 19.

HIBBING BOWLERS.

Bankers Still Tied With Another Team for First Place.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Uncle Sams defeated the Bankers at the Airdome bowling alleys by 44 pins in the third game of their series on the schedule of the Hibbing Bowling association. The Bankers are still tied for first place with the Burrows Packing company, however. Nord of the Bankers got the high score 219 and Geiselman of the same team, the high average 191. Following is the score:

Uncle Sams.
Rejac	153	144	165

At the Ryan alleys the Hibbing city team defeated the Chisholm city team in three straight games. Joe Maras bowled the high average and Winslow of Chisholm bowled the high score. The Hibbing city team challenges any team on the Mesaba range for a game and will be among the contestants in the Head of the Lakes bowling tournament next month.

Chisholm Rink Popular.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The municipal skating rink which opened Saturday and has been used by the girls and boys, young men and ladies of the village and surrounding towns to advantage ever since. Commissioner Flip Harrington has spared no pains to make the rink the very best possible and his efforts have been crowned with success.

A TEN CENT BOX OF "CASCARETS"

Keep Your Liver and Bowels Active and You Feel Bully for Months.

Put aside—just once—the Salts, Cathartic Pills, Castor Oils or purgative waters which merely force a passageway through the bowels, but do not thoroughly cleanse, freshen and purify these drainage or alimentary organs, and have no effect whatever upon the liver and stomach.

Keep your inside organs pure and fresh with Cascarets, which thoroughly cleanse the stomach, remove the undigested, sour and fermenting food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the intestines and bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will make you feel great by morning. They work while you sleep—never gripe, sicken and cost only 10 cents a box from your druggist. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never have Headache, Biliousness, coated tongue, Indigestion, Sour Stomach or Constipated bowels. Cascarets belong in every household. Children just love to take them.

Start Big Ditch Job.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 24.—Coons & Butler, the successful bidders for the St. Louis-Aitkin county ditch, have men at Floodwood clearing ground for the construction of the main ditch and its laterals. The excavation work will begin in a short time. C. L. Ruprecht took a crew of men to Meadowlands, where the firm recently purchased a dredging machine and is arranging for its removal to Floodwood this week.

Child Run Over.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 24.—Special to The Herald.—Dorothy Trehilcock, a little girl, fell under the runners of a heavy sleigh at the Higgins location Wednesday afternoon and suffered serious injuries to her leg. The little girl was brought into Virginia for medical treatment and is reported to be doing nicely.

Repairing Bridges.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—County Commissioner R. S. O'Neil is making necessary repairs to bridges in his jurisdiction and Foreman Joe Simpkin has placed crews at work. Under the present weather conditions it is impossible to do a great deal toward improving highways but the bridge work can be done to advantage.

Gilbert Bowlers Win.

Gilbert, Minn., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Gilbert bowling team defeated the Eveleth team this week in Eveleth by a score of 2,335 to 2,109. Wednesday night they won from the Virginia team on the local alleys in the Rubenstein block by a score of 209 pins.

BOY MATHEMATICAL WONDER AT CEYLON

Tamil Youth of 16 Does Wonderful Problems With Ease.

Colombo, Ceylon, Jan. 24.—A Tamil boy, 16 years old, has for some time past been astonishing the inhabitants of India and Cochin China by his wonderful calculating feats, and has now submitted to a test at the hands of the Ceylon branch of the Royal Asiatic society here.

He knows little English except the names of the numerals and mathematical expressions. He is abnormal not only in mind, but also in body, for he has six fingers on each hand and six toes on each foot. His own account of himself is that his wonderful powers are the direct gift of the god Subramana, and he says that when he was 8 years old he was taken to the Karthigay festival at Tiruparankundram and that in the night he dreamed that the god came to him and wrote the word "mathematics" on his tongue and in the morning he had twelve fingers and twelve toes instead of ten. At the same time he found himself possessed suddenly of great calculating powers.

Among some of the tests given him at two recent public demonstrations, all of which are answered correctly, were the square root of 853,776, the answer of which—924—was given in an instant; the cube root of 274,625—65, which was given just as quickly. When asked the result of 982,347 multiplied by 231, in about two seconds came the answer. In the case of one sum set him the examiner had the wrong sum set down in writing, but the correct answer was given by the boy.

Problems in compound interest, discount, exchange and other arithmetical rules were set him and he answered all tests correctly, using only mental calculations, and in considerably less time than the problems could have been worked out on paper. The boy, whose name is Arumogan, comes from a working class family and is quite illiterate.

AMUSEMENTS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS

ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.

Next Week's Bill.

For next week the Orpheum will present what is claimed to the biggest dramatic offering now in vaudeville. It is a play in three scenes by George V. Hobart, entitled "An Opening Night" and is presented by a company of twenty-five people. The play lasts nearly an hour, and is said to be a most entertaining and novel little drama. Owing to the length of this one act, there will be but six acts on next week's bill, in place of the customary seven. The other five acts will be: Melville and Higgins, Mlle. La Tosca and company, Doc O'Nell, the Gasch Sisters, and Tuscano Brothers. There will be three more performances of this week's bill, this evening and tomorrow afternoon and night. The matinee audiences have been very large this week, owing to the popularity of the "Top o' the World Dancers" with the children.

EARNEST ADVICE

However painful, however stubborn your rheumatism may be, even if the disease is of long standing and many remedies have failed, do not despair, but give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial. The rheumatic poison is in the blood and it defies any treatment that does not build up and purify the blood. Rubbing something on your skin will not drive it out. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills attack the disease at its root, in the blood, and rheumatism cured in this way stays cured.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists at 50 cents per box or six boxes for $2.50, or direct by mail, postpaid, upon receipt of price by the

IRONWOOD PIONEER CALLED IN SOUTH.

Ironwood, Mich., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.—Edward D. Nelson, a pioneer of this city, who has long been engaged in banking and other lines, including the electric and water plants, died Wednesday at San Antonio, Tex., where he had gone for his health. Prior to coming here in the early days of Ironwood, he lived in Ishpeming, where he was engaged in the banking business.

Mr. Nelson was born in Ohio Aug. 27, 1846. He received his education in that state, and remained there continuously until he came to Ishpeming. In the fall of 1880 he was elected to the state legislature as representative from the Ishpeming district. Mr. Nelson was married in 1876 to Miss Minnie Camp, daughter of William M. Camp, at that time cashier of the First National bank of Milwaukee.

Cloquet Vital Statistics.

Cloquet, Minn., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—There were 237 births in Cloquet in 1912, 115 boys and 122 girls. Dr. James Fleming, city health officer, in compiling the vital statistics for the year finds 78 deaths, from the following causes: 8 from tuberculosis; 9 from accidents; 2 from diphtheria; 13 from pneumonia; 33 in infancy and the remainder from natural causes. There was a natural increase in the city's population of 159. During the year 22 houses were quarantined.

Wants $10,000 Damages.
Nils J. Petterson in district court before Judge Dibell and a jury this morning is suing Butler Bros. for $10,000 damages for personal injuries alleged to have sustained as a result of an accident at the Grant mine near Buhl on May 23 last. Petterson claims that his left foot was crushed under the wheels of a dump car. He is suing his employers, who are well known stripping contractors on the Mesaba range.

Woman Is Recovering.
Mrs. Arthur Fannier of 711 Eighth avenue east, who was overcome by escaping coal gas early one morning a week ago, is recovering at her home, although she still feels ill effects from her harrowing experience. Trying to escape she fell to the floor with her baby in her arms. Mr. Fannier woke up in time to rescue his wife and child by carrying them from the gas-saturated atmosphere.

SCHOOL HAS ELECTION

Hot Campaign Has Been Waged at Longfellow Building.

This afternoon the pupils of Longfellow school are holding their "municipal" election. The pupils of the school are allowed to work under the self-government plan and Miss McArthur, principal of the school, says that it has been singularly successful.

Misdemeanors are punished by a supreme court formed of members of the upper classes of the school and their punishment, while simple, is carried out. However the stigma of guilt is felt and there are few pupils with the bravado to incur the displeasure of the government of their fellows more than once. It is of inestimable aid to the teachers, for they have practically no trouble in maintaining discipline.

The conventions were held a week ago, at which time the various candidates were nominated and the campaign has waged warmly ever since. Placards, cartoons, posters and speeches have had their part and the youngsters are showing a deeper knowledge of the game of politics than many of their elders can muster.

Candidates for Office.

Following is a list of the candidates who are being balloted on today:

For mayor—Roy Winnis, Dewey Downs and Alfred Polasky.

For city clerk—Cecil McRyan, George Wood.

For chief of police—Joe Welschay, Alvin Peterson and John Stawny.

For park commissioner—Wesley Perrin and Louis Haburt.

There will be no election this time for judges of the supreme court, as they are all holdovers.

The officers elected will hold office during one semester and then another election will be held. Installation of the newly elected officers will take place next Friday.

Lectures on various important matters to the developing young are given right along, and recently one subject was on "Politeness." It is said to have made the deepest impression of all.

One of the special teachers who visits the various schools entered the office of the Longfellow school principal recently with a dazed look on her face and asked what had come over the boys. She said that when she got off the car one of the pupils hurried toward her, raised his cap and asked if he might not carry her satchel of books. She was thankful for it, for the satchel was heavy. He was the soul of politeness all the way to the school and when she got there two boys quit their play and jumped for the doors to open them for her. A succession of such shocks came rapidly until the poor young woman was simply gasping. Miss McArthur explained the situation and now this young teacher is enthusiastic for the new system.

GAUTHIER FOUND NOT GUILTY

A jury in district court this morning found Joseph Gauthier not guilty of having taken indecent liberties with Ethel Arbour, a 15-year-old West Duluth girl. Gauthier was accused of the crime by an indictment returned by the January grand jury. The indictment charged that the offense occurred in rooms above Gauthier's saloon on Central avenue, Dec. 11 last.

Mason M. Forbes, assistant county attorney, directed the prosecution and A. E. McManus conducted the defense. At the opening of court this morning Judge Ensign gave the case to the jury, the final arguments of the attorneys having been completed before an adjournment was taken yesterday afternoon. The jury was out about one hour.

Gauthier is in the saloon business at West Duluth with Joseph La Fortune. He is a married man and is the father of nine children.

Swedish Spelling Bee.

When the Adelphia society met last evening the parlors of the Bethel Swedish Lutheran church, Fifty-second avenue west and Wadena street, it enjoyed the novelty of taking part in a spelling match in the Swedish language. A musical and literary program followed and then came luncheon. The members in charge of last evening's meeting were Miss May Norlund, Miss Vivian Lybeck and Walter Saari.

MORE ROOM IS NEEDED

Annual Report of Visiting Nurses Shows Nopeming Overcrowded.

Despite the recent addition to the new Nopeming sanitarium still more room is needed for the treatment of tuberculosis patients in this city, according to the annual report of Miss Louise E. Schneller and Miss Eba B. Kerr, visiting nurses of the health department.

Miss Schneller said this morning that there are many patients in the city who cannot be given the best treatment because there is no room for them at any institution of that character. She explained that Nopeming is filled and has a long waiting list. This necessitates those afflicted with the disease remaining in their homes and treating themselves under the direction of the nurses. This applies more particularly to the further advanced cases.

The visiting nurses recommend the passage of a law compelling attending physicians, property owners or patients to notify the department of the removal of a case of tuberculosis within twenty-four hours so that the house or room can be properly fumigated and cleaned, thus preventing any unnecessary spread of the disease. They also state that notification and registration of all cases of tuberculosis should be made compulsory. Although the city has several hundred tuberculosis patients, the annual report shows that but twenty-six of them were reported to the health department by physicians.

The statistical report shows that during the year, beginning Feb. 1, the number of cases enrolled was 311; old cases resumed, 141; cases closed, 111; cases under care of private physicians, 68; under care of dispensary or clinic, 273; at home under supervision of department, 286; in institutions outside city, 50; reported by physicians, 26; reported by sputum examination, 30; reported miscellaneously, 12; sent to hospitals and sanitariums, 89; positive sputum cases, 78; visits made by patients to clinics, 809; children examined at clinic, 178; adults examined at clinic, 226; visits made by nurses, 2,096.

Education Needed.

The report goes on to say:

"Further education on the subject of tuberculosis is necessary to make the city an ally of the workers in the present fight against this disease. For the new year we wish and ask for more co-operation, and in order to make the anti-tuberculosis work a success we must have more co-operation from all the people.

"There is also great need for an increased institution to accommodate consumptives. A special effort is made to locate all such cases in the city and to place them in an institution if that is possible. If not, arrangements are made for them to take the cure at home, in which the visiting nurses have many lessons to teach.

"Many complaints have been received and investigated during the year, which brings us back to the law which should be enacted to make notification and registration compulsory. There should also be a law which would compel attending physicians, the property owner, or the individual who has tuberculosis to notify the department or the visiting nurses within twenty-four hours of the removal of a case of tuberculosis, thereby enabling the department to have the house or room properly fumigated and cleaned before allowing any one else to occupy the same.

"Many cases are lost by neglecting to notify the department of changes of address and sometimes nurses are unable to trace them. This leads to further and unnecessary exposure of others."

Men's and boys' overcoats 19c, at the fire sale in basement, 123 West Superior street.

SALOON MAN OF EVELETH TRIED

Alleged to Have Hit Rev. Phillip Schwarz in Face.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Jance, who runs a saloon on Grant avenue, was tried before Judge Moylan in municipal court today on the charge of striking Rev. Phillip A. Schwarz, Jr., pastor of the Presbyterian church, who has been active in the campaign for enforcing the liquor laws. Jance is alleged to have struck the minister Wednesday night, when the latter entered his place through a rear door after 11 o'clock to demand why the place was not closed. Jance pleaded not guilty yesterday morning and demanded a jury trial today.

Minister Tells of Assault.

A jury was secured and Mr. Schwarz offered his evidence. He said that about midnight Wednesday he was passing Jance's place and noticing a light stepped into the side entrance to learn why the place was open. As he entered a man he identified as the proprietor yelled, "What do you want here?" at the same time striking him in the face. Mr. Schwarz left and procurred a warrant for Jance's arrest.

The jury that heard the case retired about 11:30 a. m. today, but up to 2 this afternoon had not reported a verdict.

Mine Foreman Hurt.

Albert Davey, foreman at the Adams mine, is recovering from being struck on the head by a heavy chunk of ore which fell from a passing car. He was knocked unconscious, but is considerably better today.

CITY NOTICES.

PROPOSALS FOR THE PURCHASE OF BONDS.

Notice is hereby given that the Council of the City of Duluth, Minnesota, will receive sealed proposals at the Council Chamber in the City Hall in the said City of Duluth at 7:30 o'clock in the evening on March 3, 1913, for the purchase of gold bearing coupon bonds to the amount of $100,000 in denominations of $1,000, $500, $100 and $50 (excepting that where not inconsistent with the bids made they shall be in denominations of $1,000.)

Said bonds are issued for the purpose of extending the water and light plant of the City of Duluth, by authority of an ordinance duly adopted by a vote of the people at the annual city election held Feb. 7, 1911.

Said bonds are to be dated April 1, 1911, and will become due on April 1, 1941, bearing interest at the rate of four and one-half (4½) per cent per annum, payable semi-annually April first and October first of each year, according to interest coupons attached to each of said bonds. Both principal and interest is made payable in gold coin of the United States at the American Exchange National Bank of the City of New York.

Said bonds to be paid for within ten (10) days after notice that the same are ready for delivery and such delivery will be called for March 21, 1913, said delivery and payment to be made at the First National Bank of Duluth, Minnesota.

The sale of said bonds will be awarded to the highest responsible bidder at a sum not less than par value thereof and interest accrued to date of delivery.

Each bidder is required to file with the city clerk prior to 2 o'clock of said day a certified check on or a certificate of deposit of a national bank, payable to the order of the City of Duluth, without condition, for an amount equal to one (1) per cent of the full face value of the bonds to be bid for, or a good and sufficient bond in the said sum, to be approved by the council of said city, and conditioned that the party making said bid will, if awarded the sale, take the bonds and pay for them according to the terms of said bid and the ordinance; that in case of failure so to do, the City of Duluth shall have the right to sue upon said bond and to recover the full face thereof, which shall be and in said bonds shall be stated as being the sum agreed upon as liquidated damages in case of a breach thereof.

Said checks and bonds shall at 2 o'clock p. m. of said day be submitted by the city clerk to the city attorney for his opinion as to whether said checks and bonds conform to the conditions of the ordinance, and the bid of any person whose check or bond the city attorney shall deem not to be in legal form according to the terms of the ordinance shall not be received unless such bidder shall have such check or bond corrected to meet the requirements of the city attorney or shall deposit a new bond or check duly approved by said city atttorney before 7:30 o'clock p. m of said day.

In all cases of bids received and not accepted the check or certificate received therewith shall thereupon be returned.

In case said bonds are awarded to any bidder and the said bidder refuses to accept and pay for said bonds or any part thereof within ten (10) days after notice that the same are ready for delivery, the said amount of the certificate of deposit or check so furnished to the city shall be retained by the City of Duluth as its own as and for liquidated damages for the breach of the contract on the part of said bidder.

In case any bidder furnishing such certificate of deposit or check shall take said bonds, said sum shall be credited to him on account of the payment thereof.

Each bidder must give his address, street and number.

The right to reject any and all bids is reserved to the City of Duluth.

Duluth, Minn., Jan. 16, 1913.
C. S. PALMER,
City Clerk, Duluth, Minn.

WHEAT MAKES QUICK UPTURN

Reaction From Effects of Chicago Raid Prompt and Decisive.

Diminishing Flaxseed Receipts Affect the Prices Bullishly.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 24.—The North American wheat markets had a prompt and decisive reaction today from the effects of the bear raid that took place on the Chicago market yesterday. Duluth May wheat closed ¾c higher. Cash wheat closed 2 cents under May. Durum closed ¾c to ½c higher, oats ¼c up and rye and barley unchanged. Duluth January flax closed today at an advance of 1¾c and May 1c up.

Wheat worked higher on the markets of North America during the morning, the upturn being mainly in the nature of a reaction from the effects of the bear raid that took place in the Chicago wheat pit yesterday. There seems to be a growing feeling among the wheat dealers of this country that the United States has no more than enough wheat to supply the demands of the country, including the seeding, up to the coming of the next crop. Furthermore, it seems to be pretty generally understood that there will be reduced acreages of wheat this spring both in winter and spring wheat. All in all, it looks like a restoration of a domestic basis for American wheat. The primary receipts, today, however, were, as usual, far in excess of those of a year ago.

Duluth May wheat, which closed yesterday at 87⅝-½c, opened today at 87½c, bid and at noon was selling at 87¾c. There were higher quotations at noon today likewise at Chicago, Minneapolis and Winnipeg.

Liverpool wheat today closed ⅛d lower. The market was beared by the increasing Argentine shipments, the forecast of larger world shipments this week and larger La Plata offers with a rapid increase of stocks in that region, but the decline was checked by the better continental inquiry and the less favorable political news.

Flax Goes Higher.

Flaxseed worked higher on the Duluth market this morning, by reason of very light receipts, while the demand was good. The Minneapolis cash price was 1c over Duluth January, showing that crushers there were eager buyers. Duluth January flaxseed at noon today was 1¾c up and May was ⅞c up. Winnipeg January at noon was 1⅝c up at $1.09 bid, this being 21¾c under Duluth January. Buenos Ayres February seed closed last night ⅝c off at $1.20⅜. London Calcutta today closed 4¾c up at $1.62½.

MARKET GOSSIP.

A question that is exciting general interest on the grain exchanges at present is how large a fraction of the wheat crop of the United States of last fall still remains in the hands of farmers. Nobody seems in a position to give any very definite or reliable information on this point. It seems to be the general opinion that the invisible supply, or that which is still in the hands of the farmers, is a great deal smaller in proportion to the visible supply than is usually the case at this season of the year.

The figures published by C. F. Lewis of Minneapolis, to the effect that the farmers of North Dakota have 28 per cent of their latest wheat crop, those of South Dakota 31 per cent and those of Minnesota 52 per cent, is received with much skepticism by wheat traders on the Duluth market, who think these percentages too high.

H. J. Chidlaw of Grand Forks, superintendent of McCabe Bros.' elevators in North Dakota, Southern Manitoba and Eastern Montana, who was on the Duluth grain exchange today, expressed the opinion that the farmers of North Dakota probably still had 20 to 25 per cent of last year's crop. He did not think it could be over 25 per cent.

"The farmers of North Dakota had to rush their wheat to market in a hurry this crop year," said Mr. Chidlaw. "They were very largely in debt and they needed money without delay. North Dakota farmers are good spenders and they do not mind running into debt. Moreover, during the present crop year the railroads have handled the grain remarkably well. Their managers have learned by experience how to keep a car going. Instead of letting it get tied up in some congested yard.

"I do not think we can look for the usual amount of wheat seeding in North Dakota this spring, even with the most favorable weather. I do not think more than 10 per cent of the lands were plowed in the fall, and the immense amount of spring plowing that must be done this year will prevent the usual amount of sowing of wheat, even if the spring opens very early in the year. There will probably be a larger sowing of the coarser grains. I think a great deal of North Dakota land will be allowed to lie fallow next year.

"North Dakota has been raising more and more corn every year, but there has been little, if any, for shipment out of the state. It is needed at home for the stock."

A Liverpool cable states that the wheat market is affected by political complications in Turkey. There is no demand. Corn is weak.

• • •

A Minneapolis wire says: "The cash wheat market is unchanged. The demand is firm. No. 1 northern blue stem is ⅛c to 1c under May. A few choice cars are bringing up the May price. Velvet chaff is 1½c under May. Flour sales are moderate."

Nice rains are reported in the Rosario corn zone.

Dornbusch of London says: "It is very evident that there will be a large Canadian surplus available for Europe and, as America is not wanting to import this season, there is now much anxiety evinced to find buyers on this side, not only of seed but of linseed oil. The product has again offered somewhat freely this week, and the arrival in London of 100 tons has been the cause of weakening spot values in a greater proportion than forward positions. There is no general desire to purchase either seed or oil, the fear being entertained that, with record productions, supplies will not only be abundant all the season but that fulfilment of the numerous contracts open for May-June Canadian seed may clash with free shipments from India at the very period when heavy arrivals will be taking place here of Argentine seed.

"An entire reversal of the position a year ago has taken place. Instead of North America being a large buyer of seed from Argentine and India, the crop in the States and Canada is more than sufficient for their requirements, and they may have an available surplus for export of 200,000 tons. This, added to the surplus from the Argentine as against last year, would give us a total of 600,000 tons more seed, or equal to nearly 200,000 tons of oil, allowing that the crop in India will be the same as that of last year.

C. E. Lewis wired from Minneapolis: "The last of the year we mailed postal inquiries to 600 correspondents and 1,000 country bankers in Minnesota, North and South Dakota, asking in their opinion and from the most reliable information they could obtain, what per cent of the 1912 wheat crop remained in farmers' hands on Jan. 1; also the amount of wheat in local elevators at their stations. Replies received from a large majority of these inquiries indicate that in North Dakota there was 28 per cent, in South Dakota 31 per cent, and in Minnesota 52 per cent of the crop held by farmers; or, if we accept the government figures of the total crop in the three states of 233,000,000 bu, farmers held 93,000,000 bu and total country elevator stocks were about 32,000,000 bu. Minneapolis and Duluth public stocks of the same date were 25,000,000 bu; private stocks about 4,000,000 bu."

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

New Rumors From Balkan War Have Bullish Effect on Wheat.

Chicago, Jan. 24.—The recorded intention of the Turkish ministry to recall its peace envoys from London had a bullish effect on wheat at the opening today. May opened ⅜c to ½c up at 92⅝c to 92⅞c and sold early to 92¾c and 92⅝@92¾c.

The political crisis in Turkey continued to affect wheat. May touched 93c and closed firm, ⅝c up at 92⅜c.

Corn was nervous, inclined to easiness on its own account, and the other way in sympathy with wheat. May opened a shade down at 51⅝c and sold between 51⅝@51¾c and 51⅜51½c.

The close was steady, May ⅛c up at 51⅜@51⅝c.

Oats also were a trifle higher. May started a shade to ⅛c up at 33⅝@33¾c to 33¾c and sold to 33⅛@33⅜c.

Provisions were quiet and steady. May pork opened 2½c lower at $18.22½ and sold to $18.90; May lard opened 2½c lower to unchanged at $10.12½ to $10.15 and May ribs a shade up at $10.12½.

IRREGULAR RECOVERY

Selling of Stocks on European Situation Causes Declines.

Market Made Some Gains When Pressure Was Relaxed.

New York, Jan. 24.—The unexpected change in the attitude of Turkey and the resultant weakness of European markets, constituted the chief influence in trading here. London and the continental markets were sellers here when business began but reversed their attitude later and took back some stocks. International shares were the weakest, but professional selling soon culminated and there was an irregular recovery which brought the leaders to within fractional distances of yesterday's close.

The advantage was not long maintained, however. A break of 5½ points in Illinois Central, which was attributed to misgivings as to the maintenance of its dividend, undermined the market and prices fell back to the low point.

Bonds were steady.

The slump of Americans in London owing to the outbreak of Turkey was followed by a severe break in the home market at the opening. Weakness was confined largely to the international issues. Canadian Pacific was heaviest with a loss of 2¾. Declines of 1 to 2 points were recorded in Amalgamated, Steel, Reading, Union Pacific, Northern Pacific, Smelting, Utah Copper, Rubber, Can common and preferred and Kansas City Southern.

Buying orders were encountered on a scale down and the decline was soon checked. Reading recovered fully and American Can sold above yesterday's best. Other active issues also rallied ½ point to a full point.

Union Pacific gave way 2 points when Illinois Central broke to 121 on the fear that the income from the road's $22,000,000 holdings of Illinois Central stock would be materially reduced if the dividend was cut. General selling stopped soon after mid-day and there was a slow recovery running to about a point in some instances. Illinois Central rallied 2½.

The market closed steady. Later operations were livened by spasmodic selling of important shares and a bear drive against Can, which forced it to 31½. Earlier low prices were duplicated in some instances, but the pressure was of brief duration and the market made some recovery when selling let up.

Midway Horse Market.

Minnesota Transfer, St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 24.—Barrett & Zimmerman report: It is now evident that horses will not bring the price they did a year ago, as values are from $20 to $25 per head under last year's quotations. Evidently the large amount of cheap feed throughout the country has reduced the cost of putting horses in marketable condition. Moreover, the demand for horses is much less urgent than last year. Buyers in the country must pay less for their horses if they expect to break even on the market. Values as follows:

Drafters, extra	$175@235
Drafters, choice	150@175
Drafters, common to good	90@125
Farm mares and horses, extra	125@175
Farm mares and horses, choice	100@125
Farm horses, common to good	75@100

Mules, according to size	135@235

Cotton Market.

New York, Jan. 24.—The cotton market opened easy at a decline of 11 to 15 points in response to very weak cables and apprehensions that the trouble reported in Turkey would further prolong the war in the Balkans. Offers were very heavy, but there was active covering at the decline, which carried March contracts off to 11.90, or about 47 points under the low level of yesterday. Before the end of the first hour prices had rallied to about the closing figures of last night with sentiment showing some improvement owing to reports from London that the new Turkish government already had opened peace negotiations with the powers.

Spot closed steady; middling uplands, 13.05; middling gulf, 13.30; sales, 1,900 bales.

Futures closed firm; closing bids: January, 12.69; February, 12.31; March, 12.32; April, 12.14; May, 12.16; June, 11.99; July, 12.04; August, 11.94; September, 11.43; October, 11.36; December, 11.39.

London Stocks.

London, Jan. 24.—The revolution in Constantinople with a strong possibility of prolonged peace negotiations caused disappointed selling on the stock exchange today. Speculative issues were prominent in the general weakness and later in the session continental offerings accentuated the heatiness and made the closing nervous and at practically the lowest point. Turkish bonds lost 1½ points, Russian bonds a point. Rio Tinto stocks 2 and consols a ¼ point.

American securities opened weak and from ¼ to 3 points lower on local and continental selling. Later prices improved a fraction on light repurchases and at noon the tone was steadier. The market was supported in the afternoon when New York buying orders advanced prices another fraction. The closing was steady.

New York Money.

New York, Jan. 24.—Money on call steady, 2@2¾ per cent; ruling rate, 2¾ per cent; offered at 2¾. Time loans steady; 60 days, 3½ and 90 days, 3¾; six months, 4¼ per cent.

Prime mercantile paper, 4½ to 5 per cent. Sterling exchange strong with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.83.75 for 60 day bills, and at $4.07.90 for demand. Commercial bills, $1.83. Bar silver, 62½c. Mexican dollars, 46c. Government bonds steady; railroad bonds, irregular.

LEGAL NOTICES.

NOTICE OF ELECTION UPON THE QUESTION OF ISSUING BONDS OF THE INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF DULUTH—

At a special meeting of the Board of Education of the City of Duluth, duly held on the 9th day of January, 1913, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That in the opinion of the Board of Education of the City of Duluth, it is expedient, and it is hereby so declared, that additional bonds of the Independent School District of the City of Duluth, in St. Louis County, Minnesota, in the sum of two hundred thousand dollars, be issued and sold to provide funds for the purpose of erecting and furnishing two school houses in said district as follows:

First. The Robert E. Denfeld Industrial High School Building, to be erected on Lots twelve (12) to eighteen (18), inclusive, in Block ninety-five (95), and Lots six (6) to eleven (11) inclusive, in Block ninety-four (94), all in West Duluth, Sixth Division, according to the recorded plat thereof.

Second. The first unit of the Roger S. Munger graded school building, to be erected on Lots nine (9) to sixteen (16) inclusive, in Block one hundred and fifty (150), Portland Division of Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof.

That said bonds draw interest at the rate of 4½ per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, and that they run thirty (30) years from their date with the option reserved to this Board to redeem the same, or any part thereof, at the end of twenty (20) years from their date, or on any interest day thereafter.

That the question of the issue of said bonds be submitted to the voters of said district at a special election to be held therefor upon the first day of February, 1913.

That the Clerk of this Board give notice of this special election in the manner provided by law; and that he cause the same to be published in the Duluth News Tribune and The Duluth Evening Herald, two daily newspapers published in said School District, in each issue of such papers during the ten (10) days immediately preceding the day of such election.

That a copy of this resolution be published in connection with the notice of the election at which the question is to be submitted.

NOW THEREFORE, Pursuant to said resolution and to authority duly given by the Common Council of the City of Duluth, as by law provided, NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that a special election of the Independent School District of the City of Duluth will be held upon Saturday, the first day of February, 1913, for the purpose of voting upon the question of the issuance of the bonds referred to in the foregoing resolution which is made a part of this notice. The polls will be open at six o'clock A. M. on the day of such election and will remain open for purposes of voting until seven o'clock P. M. on said day. Voters wishing to vote for the issuance of bonds in accordance with the said resolution, should indicate their wish by use of the following words upon their ballots, namely, "Shall bonds be issued—Yes." Voters wishing to vote against the issuance of bonds in accordance with the foregoing resolution, should indicate their wish by the following words upon their ballots, namely, "Shall Bonds be issued—No."

FAST MAIL ON C.M.&ST.P.RY. LEAVES RAILS

Engine Strikes Abutment and Plunges Into Shallow Creek.

Engineer Probably Fatally Injured and Fireman Hurt.

None of 150 Passengers on Train Was Seriously Injured.

La Crosse, Wis., Jan. 25.—Fast mail train No. 56, of the C. M. & St. P. railway carrying heavy mail from Minneapolis and points west to Chicago and points east, was wrecked near Columbus, sixty miles west of Milwaukee, early today. Engineer McBride and Fireman Butz of Portage were seriously injured and are in the hospital at Columbus.

Traveling Sixty Miles an Hour.

The train was traveling sixty miles an hour when it left the track. Nine coaches went with the engine as it ploughed up more than 100 feet of track. The engine then struck a stone abutment to a highway bridge, turned over and fell into a shallow creek carrying the engineer and fireman with it. Brakemen rushed to the aid of the men and it was some time before they could be released from the cab as it lay submerged in the mud and water.

Engineer McBride sustained a broken right leg and internal injuries from which it is thought he cannot recover. Fireman Butz was bruised about the head and body but will live.

A mail, baggage and express car turned over with the engine but none of the men was injured outside of minor bruises and scratches. There were 150 passengers, and many were bruised but not hurt seriously. The engineer stuck to his post and made every effort to stop the engine.

PROPOSES CHANGE IN OLD STATUTE

Wisconsin Legislator Would Allow Wife to Testify Against Husband.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 25.—Two hearts will no longer beat as one if a legislative bill fostered by Assemblyman Carl Hansen is enacted into law. This proposed law would allow a wife to testify against her husband and vice versa in any civil or criminal action. The fact that one or the other refuses to give testimony in a trial shall not be made known to the jury in any action and no reference shall be made to the fact in the argument. The bill has been referred to the judiciary committee. It is said that the women's clubs will endorse the measure on the ground that it is an advance step toward woman's rights. When the first constitution was submitted to the people for ratification in 1846 it was voted down because it would give women the right to hold property. This right was later granted them by statute.

TRAINS COLLIDE.

One Killed, Twenty Hurt in Accident at Lockport, N. Y.

Lockport, N. Y., Jan. 25.—One man was killed and twenty persons seriously injured in a collision between a trolley passenger train and a freight on the International railway here today. The injured are all members of the Lockport aerie of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, who were returning from a lodge entertainment in Buffalo last night.

The freight train was standing on the main line when the passenger train crashed into it. The forward car of the passenger train and the rear car of the frieght were completely demolished.

According to the conductor of the freight train a switchman was sent 3,000 feet back of his train to flag the passenger trolley. The switchman says he waved his lantern until the cars were almost upon him and had to jump to save his life. He declared that the trolley cars were making more than thirty miles an hour when the crash came.

THREATEN TO CLOSE.

Will Shut Down Rochester Mill Unless Strikers Return.

Rochester, N. Y., Jan. 25. — Unless there is a decided change in the garment strike situation here before Monday there will begin a shutdown of factories that will throw 12,000 workers out of work and entail conditions of trade stagnation unlike anything this city has ever experienced. The manufacturers declared today that they will close down all their factories Monday unless the strikers return to their work unconditionally. The strikers demand recognition of their union but the manufacturers say they will not grant this under any circumstances.

One faction of the garment workers is attempting to bring peace but the factory owners are in no mood to make any concessions.

The yearly production of clothing in Rochester is approximately $22,000,000. One-third of this sum is paid out for labor. The possibility that this sum will be taken from the weekly income of local business men has aroused them to a point where state mediation is being urged.

THREE MOORS KILLED IN FIGHT WITH FRENCH

Mogador, Morocco, Jan. 25.—Heavy losses were inflicted on a large force of Moorish rebels who last night attacked a French expeditionary column near this place. The fighting was very severe for some hours and 300 Moors were killed or wounded.

They were finally routed and fled in all directions, but the French were unable to pursue them owing to the smallness of their force. The French casualties were eight killed and forty-one wounded.

BILLS IMPORTANT TO THE DEVELOPMENT OF NORTHERN MINNESOTA

Will Permit Counties to Take Active Part in Development.

Providing for Really Effective Forestry Work By the State.

Public Hearing on Tonnage Tax Bill Next Friday Evening.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Several measures of large importance in the development of Northern Minnesota were in the flood of bills which hit the house yesterday, and which were briefly described in yesterday's reports.

Among these were the Bouck bill to legalize county aid in development work and the Kneeland forestry bills. The Northern Minnesota Development association is doing a splendid work in the development of Northern Minnesota along the lines of crystallizing and making effective the progressive sentiment of the northern counties, advertising the state's rich idle acres, attracting immigration, encouraging and directing road improvements and pushing legislation.

Yet its support for these important services depends entirely upon voluntary contributions from the various county development associations, which necessarily is an irregular source of income.

The Bouck bill authorizes counties to appropriate such sums as they desire, up to the equivalent of 5 cents per capita, for the support of this and other similar associations.

The bill has the backing not only

SENATOR EDWARD RUSTAD
Of Traverse County, Who Has Introduced Bill Exempting From the Poll Tax All Who Vote at Primary and General Elections.

TO STIMULATE RURAL VOTING

Exemption From Poll Tax Proposed for All Who Vote.

"Widows' Pension" Bill Is Favored By House Labor Committee.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—An interesting bill introduced the other day by Senator Rustad escaped notice at the time of its introduction because its real purpose was not apparent on its face.

As explained by Senator Rustad, the effect of this bill will be—at least it is so intended, and it seems likely to produce the effect designed—is to stimulate voting in the rural districts.

The measure proposes to exempt from the poll tax everybody who votes at the biennial primary and general elections.

And in order to make the plan more effective, the bill makes the poll tax mandatory in villages and townships, as it used to be instead of optional with the town and village officers.

As it stands now, if any town or village wishes to impose a poll tax, it may. The tax is $1.50. If Senator Rustad's bill goes through each town

INVESTIGATION MAY BE EXTENDED

Question of Telephone and Telegraph Franks Under Consideration.

Denver, Colo., Jan. 25.—Facing the possibility of continued questioning into the use of telephone and telegraph franks, more than a score of witnesses were under subpoenas as witnesses today in the government pass investigation in progress here under the direction of Interstate Commerce Commissioner James H. Harlan. The day's witnesses included railroad and city officials and shippers.

Yesterday's inquiry developed an unanimity on the part of the witnesses favoring the abolition of railroad passes. Railroad officials expressed satisfaction that the Federal indictments returned last November against the Denver & Rio Grande and Colorado Southern railroads had given them an excuse to abolish the pass.

What further examination relative to telephone and telegraph franks might disclose was a topic of apparent concern among those who gathered for today's hearing. It was known that shortly after the present Colorado legislature convened, a proposition to install booths at the state house for the free use of legislators for long distance calls was turned down.

WOMEN ARRESTED.

Second Raid Made in Fashionable New York Apartments.

New York, Jan. 25.—The second raid within a week disclosing alleged gambling among women at poker at uptown apartment houses, was carried out by the police late last night, it was learned today. A score of women and men in evening dress were arrested, including a handsomely gowned young woman who said she was Mrs. Alice Merrill for whose arrest the detectives carried warrants charging her with keeping and maintaining a gambling house. She was locked up notwithstanding her protests that she was only entertaining a few guests at cards.

The arrests were made by detectives who had succeeded in getting places at the poker tables without their identity being suspected, the methods which were successfully used about a week ago in a raid upon another party.

SUPREME COURT ORDERS ARREST OF GEN. SICKLES.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 25.—Upon application of the state authorities the state supreme court today issued an order for the arrest of Gen. Daniel E. Sickles of New York, who as chairman of the New York monuments commission, is alleged to have failed to account for $23,476 of the commission's funds.

SLOW WORK IN LEGISLATURE

Little Progress Yet Made By the North Dakota Solons.

Senate Committee Divided on Confirming Appointments By Burke.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Slow progress has been made by the North Dakota legislature since it convened nearly three weeks ago, and with the session almost one-third gone, the solons have hardly gotten down to real work.

This afternoon the senate probably will have an interesting executive session, as the appointments made by Governor John Burke to the board of control of penal and charitable institutions come up for consideration. Three of the state affairs committee submitted a report against confirmation while two were in favor of confirmation. Should the appointments be confirmed the board members would hold their offices till in July, and previous to that time the term of Warden Hellstrom of the state penitentiary expires. It is contended that if the present board was confirmed that Hellstrom would be reappointed, and it is to prevent this that the fight is being made.

The expected contest in the house yesterday over the Henrickson bill providing that a unanimous vote of the

EXTRA POLICEMEN GUARD N. Y. HOTELS

Further Rioting of Striking Waiters Will Be Quickly Suppressed.

New York, Jan. 25.—A detail of 500 extra police were distributed through the hotel district today in an effort to check further rioting of striking waiters. Special officers are assisting the uniformed force and the sheriff is ready to swear in any number of deputies to cope with the situation. With those precautions taken, the Hotelmen's association said today that the idea of calling on the governor for the National Guard had been abandoned.

Officers of the International Hotel Workers' union estimated that 4,000 waiters and kitchen helpers were out.

Last night's serious rioting in which hotel windows were broken and pedestrians shoved from the sidewalk has had the effect of clinching the hotelmen's determination not to yield to the strikers' demands. Many of the big hotels are crippled, but nonunion help is being engaged wherever possible. The strikers demand among other things, more pay, better food and the abolition of fines.

LA FOLLETTE WILL OPPOSE WARREN

If Elected, Wisconsin Man Will Try to Oust Him.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Jan. —After four days' deliberation, the committee on privileges and elections of the lower house of the Wyoming legislature returned a majority report last night dismissing the contests against the three Republican representatives, thus giving the Republicans a majority of one vote in the house. The committee also returned a minority report sustaining the contest in favor of the Democratic candidates. The reports were strictly partisan. If the house adopts the majority report, as now seems most probable, it will ensure the election of Senator Francis E. Warren to the United States senate, as in joint session the Republican majority is seven.

In that connection it is learned that Senator Robert La Follette announced in a letter to Governor Carey and other Progressives of Wyoming that he would contest Warren's election in the United States senate on the ground that his preferential election was gained through extensive alleged frauds in the coal mining districts of Uinta county.

YOUNG TURKS CARRYING THINGS WITH HIGH HAND IN THE OTTOMAN CAPITAL

Arresting Political Adversaries to Perpetuate Their Power.

Houses and Clubs Are Searched and Documents Confiscated.

Italy Alarmed Over Return of Young Turks to Power.

London, Jan. 25.—Constantinople is practically in a state of siege, according to dispatches received today by the peace delegates of the allies. The young Turks, fearing that the reins of power may again escape from their hands, are said to be arresting their political adversaries right and left, searching houses and clubs and confiscating documents. They hope in this way to break up the opposition.

The allies express the opinion that under these circumstances any excesses may be expected. With this prospect in view, the European powers are sending war vessels to reinforce the ordinary guardships stationed at Constantinople.

Italy especially is alarmed over the return to power of the young Turks, who were inexorable during the Libyan war.

An Irreconcilable.

The United States ambassador at Constantinople, William W. Rockhill, during the negotiations for the conclusion of peace between Italy and Turkey, described Djavid Bey, now head of the committee of union and progress, as an irreconcilable. Djavid Bey declared that Turkey would fight in Tripoli as long as she possessed a soldier.

The position of the 5,000 Italian residents of Turkey is now regarded as so precarious that Italy has despatched to Constantinople two cruisers and a gun-

WITNESS CAUSES SOME EXCITEMENT

Repeats to Committee What He Says Northwest Farmers Told Him.

Washington, Jan. 25.—A ripple of excitement was created when V. R. Blehden of Buffalo, N. Y., testifying before the house ways and means committee, in favor of retaining the duty on flax tow, said the farmers in the flax section of the Dakotas and Minnesota had told him the committee was the "——— set of fellows you ever saw." He said they warned him "that the committee would not listen to you;" that "they gave you five or ten minutes and shut you out;" that "they want to ruin the whole world;" and that "Mr. Payne, the Republican ranking member, is in with them now." Representative Payne did not hear the remark, but when it was repeated to him he roared with laughter.

Work of 1,500 Men for Over Week Proves of No Avail.

Waters Pouring Over Some of Finest Land in Section.

Vicksburg, Miss., Jan. 25.—The Beulah levee on the east side of the Mississippi river near Greenville, Miss., broke today and the flood waters are pouring over some of the finest farming land in that section.

The crevasse resulted from a settling of the foundation in the new levee.

Fifteen hundred men, including several hundred convicts, had been working day and night for the last week in an attempt to rebuild the levee which was carried away by last spring's flood.

Last night the new levee was two feet above the high water stage, but the river was rising rapidly and when the new foundation settled today the big embankment broke.

It is not believed possible to close the crevasse and the government and state levee workers will try to save the levees at Fitlers and Lake Jefferson, where the increasing floods are threatening.

WILL ASK REPEAL OF FREE PROVISION

Predicted Wilson Will Quickly Act on Canal Controversy.

Washington, Jan. 25.—Chairman Adamson of the house commerce committee, today predicted that one of President-elect Wilson's first requests upon the incoming congress would be for repeal of the free passage provision in the Panama canal act, applying to American ships.

"If Secretary Knox succeeds in avoiding or postponing the demands of England," said Mr. Adamson, "he will undoubtedly also remove all foundation for the illogical claims of our people, who say they are opposed to subsidies but still favor discrimination in favor of coastwise ships from tolls which is a subsidy. England justly may complain that if the canal is to be used as an instrument to distribute subsidies under the treaty, these subsidies must be equal to all nations.

"The true issue for us to determine is shall we rob our own people by an unjust discrimination to enrich the coastwise shipping trust. I would not at all object to a brush with England if we had a just cause, but it looks very foolish and unprofitable to maintain any sort of row with her, commercial, diplomatic or warlike, to defend the infliction of an incidental discrimination caused by the immoral and unjust robbery of our treasury and the masses of the people to confer benefits upon a special interest."

DECLARES THE COURT HAS NO JURISDICTION

Attorney for Governor McGovern Makes Formal Protest to Judge.

Temporary Injunction Is Granted Commissioner Ekern Up for Hearing.

Affidavit From Governor Also Attacks the Ekern Complaint.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 25.—Hearing on the temporary injunction granted by Judge E. Ray Stevens of the Dane county circuit court on Tuesday restraining Governor F. E. McGovern and others from removing the deposed state insurance commissioner, Herman L. Ekern, from office by force, came up in Judge Stevens' court this forenoon. Governor McGovern was represented by Attorney Harry L. Butler and Ekern by Attorneys John A. Aylward and M. B. Olbrich. Neither McGovern nor his appointee as insurance commissioner, L. A. Anderson, was present.

Alleges no Jurisdiction.

When Judge Stevens called court, Attorney Butler for Governor McGovern, presented a motion alleging that the circuit court had no jurisdiction to commence an action of this character against the governor. This motion was made merely as a matter of record. Attorney Aylward asked for an amendment to Ekern's complaint to show the facts relating to the attack on Ekern's private office on the afternoon of Jan. 21.

"The facts which have occurred subsequent to the commencement of this action cannot be used to justify this order," interposed Attorney Butler.

Judge Stevens allowed the amendment to stand. At this point, Attorney Aylward attacked the right of Attorney Butler to appear in the case representing the state of Wisconsin. He said this action was not directed against F. E. McGovern, L. A. Anderson and W. L. Essmann as officials, but as individuals. He said the governor had no right to have the state pay the expenses of an action started against him as a private individual.

Aylward insisted that these facts be made a matter of record. Attorney

NO INSPECTORS IN FRUIT HOUSES

Packers Can Tell Just as Well What Is Fit for Shipment.

Washington, Jan. 25.—Officials of the pure food board hold they have no authority to place government inspectors in Pacific coast packing houses to inspect citrus fruit before shipment, as has been requested by the fruitmen. In view of the board's order prohibiting the sale of citrus fruits frozen in the recent cold snap on the coast, the growers asked the board to inspect shipments in the packing houses instead of the Eastern markets, that they might not suffer losses in having shipments condemned after incurring freight and packing charges.

W. D. Bigelow, acting chief of the bureau of chemistry, and a member of the board which issued the order today, said that such requests had been made before.

"Under the law we have no authority to go into packing establishments," he declared. "We have been asked to do this in many cases but the department has always held that it was without that authority. The packers can tell just as well as we what fruits are fit for packing."

Secretary Wilson would not talk today on the propriety of complying with the request of the packers. He and Dr. Alsberg, chief of the chemistry bureau, conferred last night on the decision reached by the pure food board which received the secretary's approval.

WANT "CONVICT MADE" ON ALL PRISON GOODS.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 25.—The words "convict-made" will be required to be stamped on a label and attached to all goods made in penitentiary, prison or reformatory if a bill presented to the legislature by Assemblyman Gorecki of Milwaukee, and endorsed by the Social Democrats, passes at the session of the legislature. The provisions of the bill ar broad and require that "all goods, wares and merchandise wholly or partly made by convict labor shall be branded."

PERUVIAN AVIATOR FLIES OVER THE ALPS.

Domodosola, Italy, Jan. 25.—Jean Bielovucci, the Peruvian aviator, flew across the Swiss Alps from Brig to this city in less than half an hour today.

Bielovucci had been waiting for favorable weather since Jan. 9. He followed the same course over the Simplon pass as was taken by his compatriot, Chavez, in September, 1910. Chavez accomplished the flight, but in landing hurt himself severely and later died from his injuries.

QUESTION OF NAMES FOR JEWS TO BE DECIDED

St. Petersburg, Jan. 25.—The right of Russian subjects of the Jewish faith to assume ordinary Russian first names and to confer them on their children instead of those recognized as characteristically Hebraic, is to be brought before the senate for decision by the ministry of the interior.

The custom has recently grown and the ministry has hitherto held that while a man could not arbitrarily assume another name than that entered on his record at his birth, nothing could prevent Hebrew parents from conferring on their children non-patriarchal names.

The holy synod has objected strongly to this custom and as a consequence the ministry has appealed to the senate for a decision.

Do You Buy Through Knowledge?

Give this question careful thought.

Your grandmother and great-grandmothers bought without full knowledge of what they were buying. They purchased by instinct.

Times have changed. Today you must exercise judgment in the matter of filling your wants. You can use your best judgment only by having thorough knowledge.

The woman who buys without thorough knowledge, because of an alluring price, risks unknown qualities. This careless buying results in many disappointments.

The woman who buys through knowledge gets the best of everything that money can buy at the lowest price; she knows just what is best and just where it can be had most economically.

Read the advertisements in THE HERALD closely and constantly every day and be well informed regarding everything you need. You will then be able to profit by the knowledge thus obtained.

UNCLE SAM IS AFTER TEACHERS

Government Looking for Instructors to Go to the Philippines.

The United States civil service board is making every effort it can to obtain teachers for the educational service in the Philippines and is sending out circulars just now pointing out that the last examinations for these appointments for the next school year will be held on March 12 and 13, for teachers, industrial teachers and assistants.

Graduates of college or normal schools and of polytechnic and agricultural schools are desired, but well prepared teachers with successful experience are eligible. The entrance salary of the majority of male appointees is $1,200 a year and expenses to the islands paid by the government, with eligibility for promotion up to $2,000 as teacher and $3,000 as superintendent. The service requires women for home economics, and men for agriculture, manual training, high school science, mathematics, English and as supervisors of school districts. E. M. Barker, superintendent of the registry department at the postoffice, who is local secretary of the board, will give any information desired.

Other examinations just announced and to come off soon are as follows: Feb. 5, assistant horticulturist, male, in the bureau of plant industry, department of agriculture; Feb. 5-6, male surveyor in the general land office, ages changed from 21 to over 20 years; preparator in entomology in the department of agriculture; Feb. 17, chief of the department of medicine, male, in the Philippine general hospital; Feb. 26, nautical expert in the hydrographic service, junior chemist in radio activity in the bureau of mines at Denver, aid in division of graphic arts in the national museum, electrical assistant in the signal service at large of the war department, and photostat photographer in the bureau of plant industry of the department of agriculture.

J. J. HILL APPEARS AT MONEY HEARING

Tells Committee About His Directorships and Interests in Railroads.

Washington, Jan. 25.—The house money trust committee closed its hearings yesterday for time after H. P. Davison of Morgan & Co., J. J. Hill and others had testified.

Mr. Hill opened his testimony with a list of his directorships in New York and Chicago banks and in the Great Northern and Burlington railroads. Mr. Hill said the Great Northern and the Northern Pacific railroads were competitors.

When the Northern Securities company was dissolved, he said, he received 37,000 shares of Great Northern and 62,000 shares of Northern Pacific. He now has 20,000 shares of Great Northern and his son, Louis W. Hill, has 13,500 shares. Mr. Hill testified he was a director in the First National bank of St. Paul, one of the largest in the Northwest. He disagreed with Mr. Untermeyer's suggestion that minority stockholders be given representation in directorates through cumulative voting. He said such a system might allow competitors to obtain a corporation's secrets.

On the question of interlocking directors, Mr. Hill said he held that the propriety of the practice rested entirely upon the character of the individual man.

Mr. Hill was excused after a brief examination.

Last night at the Commercial club, representatives of ten clubs working in various localities were guests of the Commercial club. The purposes and plans of the clubs were explained, and the opportunity for united action pointed out. The leading members of the different clubs were brought into contact with each other and a feeling generated that is expected to result in great good for Duluth.

In its efforts to arouse a co-operative spirit among civic organizations, the Commercial club has arranged a series of meetings at which the organizations will be entertained. It is believed that many misunderstandings will be eliminated and that a common plan of activity for the good of the whole city will result.

The meeting last night was a most successful one from that standpoint. Bouquets were tossed back and forth during the speeches. The Commercial club, the central organization covering the whole city, was hailed as the big brother of the locality clubs, which are working out the details of development and improvement in their localities. The visitors were given a clearer insight into the operations of the Commercial club, and Commercial club members were made to realize that the smaller clubs scattered over the city are a great power for good, not only in their own localities, but generally through the city.

The meeting was an informal one in the form of a smoker. Talks were made by members and workers in the Commercial club and by representatives of the other organizations. The speech-making was followed by a luncheon.

Julius H. Barnes, vice chairman of the public affairs committee, presided over the meeting in the absence of Chairman W. A. McGongale. Mr. Barnes in opening assured the visitors that the Commercial club is always ready to act with the other clubs of the city in any movement for the common good. He said the club has the facilities for effective work and that any club or individual may bring matters to the attention of the Commercial club with assurance that they will be given attention.

On the Threshold.

"Duluth is on the threshold of great progress," said Mr. Barnes. "Many influences are verging toward a common fruition. The Erie, Panama and Welland canals are opening our field of trade. The steel plant is nearing completion. We have assurance of an ample supply of raw material. Railroad rates are being straightened out. Discriminations are being removed. Every Duluth citizen should be proud of that, but he should also be proud of the Duluth citizenship and public spirit."

Mr. Barnes introduced Bishop McGolrick as the first speaker. The bishop made a general talk on united action and was given enthusiastic applause.

"The united action of the representative men of Duluth working together for the common good cannot but be productive of great progress in the growth and welfare of our city," said Bishop McGolrick. "Active co-operation for the encouragement of whatever makes for the educational, the moral and the beautiful must bring gratifying results at this period in our history, when we are about to commence a new and interesting form of government.

"Notably within the last half dozen years a great change has taken place for the better in our city and instead of placing a stigma on those who did so much for us in the past, we would do far better to offer them the return of our thanks."

Tribute to Schools.

Bishop McGolrick paid an enthusiastic tribute to the Duluth school system, with its opportunities for training in industrial trades, home economics, business practice and other practical work. He included in his tribute the normal schools in Duluth and Superior, which, he said, are turning out teachers capable of training children to be good citizens.

"A city built as ours on the bluffs overlooking a great inland sea can be made beautiful by judicious outlay," said the bishop. "Nature has done its share in no stinted measure, but there is needed also a combined effort on the part of our citizens to aid nature, for Nature has made improvements both costly and difficult.

"It is only when we grow to be a great city that citizens will begin to appreciate what is now secured largely for the future. For the beautifying of a city individual action must be combined with general civic work. Every owner of a house and lot can aid in making a city beautiful by making the greensward a pleasure to the eye and bringing to bear upon his careless neighbor pressure so that he may cease to supply his surrounding friends with thistle and dandelions and pusley. What a change for the better within the last few years in our city lots and front yeads in the growth of flowers and trees!

"Stand on the boulevard on a clear spring day and look down on the bright green foliage spreading out amid residences—red and yellow and green—business houses, schools and church spires, and is it not an inspiring sight? What inland city can give the artist a more charming view of lake and bay and river, of changing pure blue sky shadowed and developed in ever changing water below?

"'All poetry,' says the matter of fact man, 'and all poets are liars.' God forbid! The poets teach us to see and make all nature sing to us of spring and summer and autumn and winter."

Bishop McGolrick paid a tribute to the men with whom he has been associated in the Commercial club. They have worked faithfully in the last twenty years for the upbuilding of Duluth, he said.

Younger Men Coming.

"Younger men are now taking up the work in the various departments of civic associations and we gladly bid them hearty welcome," said Bishop McGolrick. "Before them lies a wide field for cultivation, the building up of factories, the development of business the growth of gardening and agriculture with the nucleus of a well-established agricultural college, the encouragement of dairies and due protection to their products, the extension of street car lines in directions where the workman may find a little spot of green earth around his modest home for the well-being of his wife and family—these and much more are opportunities for the best thought and labor of every man among us. Let us be brothers for the common good. Let there be clear and open discussion among the various civic clubs of our young city, and the result will be such a union of hands and hearts as will make it a joy to live in Duluth."

Bishop McGolrick was followed by Secretary H. V. Eva of the Commercial club. Mr. Eva gave a clear outline of the plan of operation of the club. He explained the purposes of the various bureaus and sketched some of the work they have done. The public affairs committee meetings are open to all he said, and no sub-committee has power to take definite action on any subject unless it has been authorized to do so by the public affairs committee.

Ready to Serve.

Traffic Commissioner G. Roy Hall invited all citizens of Duluth to make use of the traffic commission. He said the commission is there to serve all citizens, whether members of the club or not. He said the commission is often able to get to the right man with a complaint more readily than is an individual citizen, and the commission is always ready to take up any claim or complaint of rate or service with railroads, telephone companies, telegraph companies, express companies or the postoffice officials.

Mr. Hall said that the commission has always paid close attention to passenger rates, but that it has found it to be impossible for a railroad manager to have passenger trains leave a terminal point at the exact minute each inal point at the exact minute each inpass each station at the exact minute that would suit the convenience of every passenger.

It has been charged that the rate cases of the commission do not mean anything, Mr. Hall said. He pointed out that in 1893 Duluth had under construction milling capacity greater than that of Minneapolis, but that a decision of the interstate commerce commission changed the rates, and that the mills immediately went to Minneapolis. The grain rate case has brought back to Duluth some of what the city lost in 1893, he said.

The Twin Cities have advantages and Duluth has advantages, Mr. Hall said, and the lake and rail case now pending before the commission is intended to correct a condition by which the Twin Cities has its own advantages plus the advantages of Duluth.

Dr. B. M. Rastall, secretary of the industrial bureau, explained that the bureau is working carefully and cautiously, avoiding boom methods. The opportunities must be developed before factories can be shown chances of success. He said living conditions, traffic conditions, labor supply and publicity all have their part in industrial development, and the bureau is now working on those things. He said that it hopes soon to have a company organized that will build workingmen's homes and rent or sell them on terms that will give the investors only a fair return on their money.

Must Succeed.

"It is one thing to get an industry and another thing to have it succeed," said Dr. Rastall. "It is more important to Duluth to have the industries that are already here succeed than it is to get more. The upbuilding of general business conditions will not only assist the industries here, but will make the opportunity for more industries."

Too many cities have worked on the "hit or miss" plan, said Dr. Rastall, getting industries that have no chance of success. He said the industrial bureau intends to guard against mistakes that will bring failed plants and wrecked buildings.

Dr. Rastall said that when negotiating for an industry to be located in Duluth, the character of the industry, its chances for success and the caliber of the men behind it must all be considered. Nearly every industry needs some financial assistance. In obtaining the investment of local capital, the industrial bureau must stand behind the industry, and a few failures would destroy the efficiency of the bureau.

He said that he expected no results for the first six months of his work here, but that already a cap factory, a glove factory and a knitting mill have been located here, better quarters have been found for the expansion of an industry already here, and a similar work in behalf of another industry is now under way. He said negotiations were closed yesterday for another important industry, which is small, but has great opportunities for growth. He urged people to bring in ideas as to industries that might be located here to advantage, and as to industries that are looking for a new location.

Rotarian Speaks.

E. J. Filiatrault, president of the Rotary club, made a ringing speech on co-operation between civic clubs. He spoke of Duluth's many advantages, which may be developed by intelligent effort on the part of all boosters for Duluth. He said Duluth is no place for the "knocker" but that everybody must get behind and push every good movement.

"Do you realize that seventy-six passenger trains go in and out of Duluth every day?" he asked. "Do you know that fifteen railroad lines enter Duluth? Do you know what we have in the steel plant? Do you realize that every man who leaves Duluth is glad to get back and doesn't grumble about the climate any more? We need optimism here, the kind of optimism that can see what we really have. We must work together as brothers, we must discuss questions calmly and clearly, and must always remember first the good of the city."

A. G. Macauley, president of the West Duluth Commercial club, gave the municipal market movement as an example of the effect of co-operative action. The West Duluth club worked alone for many months, but when joined by the West end and Duluth Commercial clubs, the markets were obtained.

O. A. Wicklund, president of the Oneota and Hazelwood Improvement club, said that the city should have a civic body made up of representatives of the various clubs, a kind of municipal clearing house, as he expressed it.

A. A. Fider, secretary of the Central Hillside Improvement club said that individual effort had failed for fourteen years to get Sixth street graded, but that the Hillside club when organized had the improvement made. He said the club has hopes that the Ninth street car line will be ultimately extended over the hill to Kenwood and around through Woodland. He urged united action on that subject.

Douglas Moore, president of the Fifth Ward Improvement club, said that the club is now misnamed on account of the change in government, but that it will choose a new name and go on working for Fifth ward improvements.

J. W. Cumming, president of the West End Commercial club, spoke for that organization. He said that it has taken on a new lease of life and is now ready to join in every movement for the betterment of Duluth.

J. C. Bush, president of the Lester Park Improvement club, pointed to its war on billboards as an example of accomplishment.

E. E. Martel and Noble Sampson of the New Duluth Commercial club made a plea for the street railway extension to New Duluth. They said that they would be compelled to walk six and one-half miles to return home. They said that New Duluth is coming into its own and now considers itself a most important part of the city.

Alderman Frank Jordan spoke on behalf of the Third Ward Improvement club, S. W. Richardson for the Park Point Improvement club and Carl E. Staky for the West End Hillside Improvement club.

Through the whole gathering ran the spirit of co-operation, indicating that influential men in all the various parts of the city from New Duluth to Lester Park are ready to join together to work for the upbuilding of Duluth in all lines.

Increased Flax Acreage.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Everything indicates that Northwestern North Dakota farmers will plant a larger arcreage of flax this year than last. The agitation for the use of flax straw for commercial purposes, particularly in the manufacture of paper pulp, has aroused among the farmers a new interest in flax-growing, and the result will be an increased acreage of flax during the year of 1913.

Many Building Silos.

Sheldon, N. D., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Great interest is being taken here in silo construction. It is estimated that fifteen or twenty will be built during the spring and the summer in this part of the state. As soon as they are constructed it will result in the revival of interest in dairying.

I want to help men and women to success. My own success has caused me to be called "The Wizard of the Mail Order Field." I KNOW what others MUST KNOW to succeed. My Free Book tells how to get a business of your own.

If you are one of the thousands of slaves of the pay-check, grinding away the best years of your life for some other man's profit, let me show you how, while you are still earning a salary and with very small capital, you can embark in a business that will free you forever from the grinding, bodyracking wage slavery. Let me show you the way to financial independence and happiness. I will supply you a carefully devised, elaborately worked out and completely equipped set of 20 plans to select from and embark on. I will explain everything to you from basic idea to full operation. This will include how to handle the business when you get it, and how to develop it as your facilities and capital increase. The whole mail order plan will be supplied you. It is the most complete, thorough and invincible instruction possible, each plan capable of earning you a splendid income. A FEW DOLLARS STARTS YOU.

Then by putting your profits each week back into your business, you can grow rapidly. Start in and grow a spine; wade out of your self-pity and find the man in yourself. I show you how to make the start with just a few dollars, and the postman will soon wear a path to your door laden with letters and orders for the things that I show you how to sell.

"RISE, GO ON AND UP! The road is clear. A glorious future summons you to the battle of betterment. Dare on, you whose souls are bruised with past defeats. Twist your frown into a smile, because fortune awaits you in this business, if you will let me start you NOW.

Let me show you how to BE more and DO more and HAVE more in this life. Quick profits are certain if you follow my way. Don't be a WISHER and a HOPER and a HESITATOR, held down by foolish doubts and empty fears. Don't be timid, clinging with a drowning man's grasp to your slender salary, just because you think money-making is a mystery you can never learn. I will put you on the quick road to independence and will show you how to get a look-in at luxury and happiness. Don't be a boss-scared, job-hugging, wage-cowed slave; stop doing the dull drudge lock-step to and from work. Let me set off the sky rocket of your ambition. You can make a fortune in this business if you will let me show you how.

Pardon my plain talk, but plain talk, like the arnica you put on a burn, stings like blazes, but it goes straight to the spot. PLAIN TALK STINGS GOOD MEN TO ACTION; PRODS THEIR PRIDE, AND PUTS THEM ON THE PRIMROSE PATHWAY TO PROSPERITY.

AUTO SHOW FOR DULUTH

Arrangements Being Made to Hold Exhibition at the Auditorium.

Winter Motoring Becoming More and More Popular in Minnesota.

Archibald Cohen of Toronto, Ont., is in the city making preliminary arrangements for an auto show to be held at the Auditorium in Duluth on March 1. He is conected with the management of the Toronto and Montreal auto and truck shows, and the concern is extending its territory into all parts of Canada and into the United States, particularly the northwestern part of the latter. For the present there is nothing to announce in connection with the exposition to be put on except that the Auditorium has been engaged for it.

It is noticed these days that motoring in and about Duluth is becoming more and more general. "Everybody's doing it," it is asserted, whereas, one motor enthusiast observed a few days ago, eight years ago it was impossible. The decided change is laid at the door of the development of good roads in the county, even the Miller trunk road being in good shape for motoring. The growth of farming too has its effect. The increasing number of farmers keep the snow pounded down about as fast as it falls and it is therefore no longer a terror for the man who likes to rush his machine out in a ripping atmosphere. It is also pointed out that the building of the Canadian Northern road has increased traffic, chiefly in the way of logging sleighs and tote teams, on the main highway to Hibbing, thus keeping that road in the best of condition at all times.

Apropos to this subject, E. J. Filiatrault told The Herald today about seeing a nervy autoist last Sunday headed toward the ranges on the Miller trunk road at a high rate of speed and riding, evidently as smoothly as in the best of summer weather. The auto was entirely enclosed so Mr. Filiatrault could not see the driver when they passed at White Face river, but he considers the man a plucky one to take the chance.

The Duluth Auto company has just closed a deal with the Premier auto people for the agency for this territory, and there is now a carload of Premier cars on the way here, the Duluth company having sold them the first week the agency was obtained. This company also sold this week a Peerless, two Premiers and one Reo.

The Mutual Auto company has received orders during the past week for eleven Overlands and Fords and in fact complains that the orders for small cars are coming in so fast that delay in delivery is feared. Two orders for Chalmers cars were taken during this week for March and April delivery.

• • •

The Mutual Auto company is making extensive changes and alterations in its mechanical department, introducing new features and additional machinery to facilitate work. J. E. Marshall, the new superintendent, says that when the work is finished, March 1, the garage will be one of the most modern in the United States. Over $2,000 worth of "parts" of Ford, Chalmers and Overland makes were received during the past week.

E. J. Filiatrault of the Mutual will leave the first of the week for Chicago to attend the auto show and gather information on the new wrinkles in machines and their accessories for the current year.

The complete victory of the motor truck over the horse has attracted so much interest, that attention has been diverted from the fact that the doughty truck is accomplishing duty that has never, in modern times, been the province of the horse, but of the railroads," said J. T. Peacha, manager of the Interstate Auto company. Continuing he said:

"A great deal of the interurban traffic that a year or so ago was the work of steam and trolley lines, is now handled by motor trucks. Take two cities, say fifteen to twenty-five miles apart, shipping by rail from one to another, meant the handling of the goods three times, namely, by truck to the freight station in the initial city, then by car, and third by truck again. Motor trucks running between points so situated, take on their load at the shipper's platform, and deliver direct to the door of the customer in the other town. Not only is the method a remarkable saving of actual time of transit, but is decidedly less expensive. Lines of this nature are rapidly multiplying. Particularly successful interurban motor companies are operated between St. Paul and Minneapolis, and many other points. Those named use Kissel Kar trucks, and have found them perfectly adapted to the work.

"But it is not alone in professional haulage that this use of the motor truck is in evidence. Several manufacturing corporations and firms have adopted it to serve patrons in nearby towns that formerly depended on the railroads. Many are finding out that the motor truck fills the place of the horse, to just about the same extent that the typewriter replaced the long hand writing in business correspondence."

G & J BRAND UNITED STATES TIRES

If it were necessary to pay more for

Mr. W. E. Clark of Waterloo, Iowa, has gone through the mill in tire experience, and has discovered (as a good many motorists are discovering) that tires are not all alike.

He says—

"I wish to say unsolicited that G & J Tires have been the most satisfactory tires we have ever used in the past seasons. It is hard to express one's feelings towards a tire that has given the satisfaction G & J Tires have given up to the present time."

You can have the same kind of service by using the same kind of tires.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF THE AUTOMOBILE WORLD

A recent investigation by the Cadillac company developed some very interesting information concerning the efficiency of their electric cranking device.

Out of 617 replies received, 528 owners reported that in not one single instance had they been obliged to crank their cars by hand, while only 89 owners had done so. Among the reasons assigned were a number who said they had cranked their cars by hand just to see how it was done. The total miles traveled by the 617 cars was 1,468,385 and the total times cranked by hand 166, showing an average of one hand cranking to each 8,665 miles of travel, or one in about what is equal to two years' average use.

Another question asked was: "Has your electric system been thoroughly efficient?" Every reply, without exception, was "Yes."

The Franklin "Little Six" recently purchased by Lamar Cobb, state engineer of Arizona, made a trip of 400 miles in three days in which not a difficulty was experienced, not even a puncture. The route covered was a rough one, along the Santa Cruz river, and deep sand was encountered throughout. The Franklin easily pulled through the sand, although at one time horses had been sent for to assist over a bad stretch of road.

A Franklin five-passenger touring car owned by the Rosenbaum Auto company of Harvard, Neb., recently carried twenty-one people, going through water up to the hubs, and made the trip without trouble of any kind.

The car is a 1907 six-cylinder Franklin and has been run four and one-half years, going over 75,000 miles. The car has been used night and day and, despite its years of steady work in livery service, is still in excellent shape.

A wire has just been received by the American Motors company of Indianapolis, Ind., that D. S. Menasco, vice president of the company, was the first to file a formal entry blank for the proposed tour of the Indiana Automobile Manufacturers' association, from Indianapolis to San Francisco during the month of July, 1913. Two "American Underslung" cars have been entered and will bear the much coveted "No. 1." This will add additional prestige to that already enjoyed by the manufacturers of the famous "American Underslung" for being foremost in everything they undertake.

It will be recalled that Mr. Menasco was chairman of the 1912 four-states tour and contributed largely to the success of that undertaking. He was in a position to keep constantly in touch with the attitude of the public during the tour throughout the territory covered and realizes possibly better than anyone else the success and benefits to be derived from a tour of this kind.

"Dead or alive, the people of this section demand Overlands," writes A. E. Reed, Louisville, Ky., distributer for the Willys-Overland company of Toledo, Ohio. "An undertaking firm in a small Kentucky town, not far from this city, recently purchased a Model 69T and is using it regularly as a hearse. The tonneau of the car has been remodeled to accommodate a big coach-like box and caskets are carried therein on the trip to the cemetery. The firm has already held several of these 'Sixty-nine' funerals and the new vehicle has met with considerable favor."

At a meeting of the contest board, held at the A. A. A. national headquarters, Jan. 10, at which were present: David Beecroft, Chicago; P. D. Polwell, Philadelphia; H. W. Knights, Boston; Frank G. Webb, Brooklyn, and William Schimpf, chairman, the following action was taken:

The automatic disqualification of Teddy Tetzlaff of Los Angeles, registered racing driver, No. 166, for driving exhibitions at an unsanctioned race meeting held at San Fernando, Cal., on Nov. 28, 1912, was definitely fixed to expire on May 28, 1913.

E. E. Hewlett of Los Angeles, manager of Tetzlaff and owner of the Flat car driven by him at such unsanctioned meeting, was rendered ineligible for participation in any event sanctioned by the A. A. A. for a like period.

The application for reinstatement to good standing of the Staver Carriage company of Chicago, manufacturers of Staver-Chicago cars, who were on Oct. 21 last disqualified and suspended to June 1, 1913, for violation of Rule 75 of the contest rules in advertising the performance of the Staver-Chicago cars which participated in the "Around Lake Michigan" tour, conducted as a grade 3, non-stock run, as being the performance of "stock cars," was considered and denied.

Frank C. Hamlin of Los Angeles, entrant and driver of the Franklin car which won the 1912 Los Angeles to Phoenix desert road race, was disqualified and suspended until April 1, 1913, for violation of rule 75, in advertising the winning Franklin as "a regular stock car," when the race in question was conducted as a non-stock free-for-all event.

The feature of the Knox automobile exhibit at the Madison Square Garden show which is attracting most attention from the lumbermen and coal merchants, is the demonstration of the quick changing of the Martin tractor from one wagon to another.

Whenever an appreciable length of time is consumed in loading or unloading, this tractor with its interchangeable trailer system, comes nearest to a solution of the elimination of the time losses than any other motor vehicle. This is especially true in the transportation of lumber, coal and kindred trades. Often half a day is spent in loading and unloading a truck load of several tons, during which time the truck is idle. No so with the tractor trailer system, for while one trailer is being loaded the tractor has another on the way to its destination, where perhaps a third trailer is being unloaded. The operation of shifting one trailer to another is but the work of a few minutes.

Anxious to add more laurels to his already brilliant record, Harry Endicott, one of the most daring and skillful speed pilots in the United States, will drive a Nyberg car in the third annual 500-mile International Sweepstakes race, which will be staged at the Indianapolis motor speedway Memorial day. Formal entry of the car has been made by the manufacturers, and this is the first time in the history of the Nyberg Automobile company of Anderson, Ind., that one of its cars has been entered in a race. The car is now in course of construction, and while Driver Endicott is superintending the work, it will be practically a stock car. It will have a piston displacement of 389 cubic inches, and great confidence is placed in the wire wheels with which the car will be equipped. These, it is believed, will prevent tire trouble, a factor which enters largely into the chances of winning a race.

The city of Stockton, Cal., has received from the Kissel Motor Car company a 50-horse power police patrol that has shown in test, speed capabilities of forty-six miles per hour. It is electric lighted throughout and is called the handsomest job of its kind on the Pacific coast. Stockton is the seventh city to adopt Kissel Kar patrols in its police department and all are reported as doing good work.

A southwestern owner of a Kissel Kar writes to the Kissel Motor Car company stating that in a recent tour of short duration he found fully stocked Kissel service stations at three different points.

"For beauty of lines and finish and mechanical worth I will put my Kissel Kar against any car," he says, "but if it was inferior in the latter respect, I would still prefer it to others on account of the service your company offers to owners.

DULUTH SCOTS PAY TRIBUTE TO THE MEMORY OF BURNS

Clan Stewart Holds Annual Observance of Poet's Birthday.

Warren E. Greene Pays Glowing Tribute to Bard of the People.

Fitting tribute to the memory of the illustrious Robert Burns, the beloved bard of Scotland, was paid by Duluth Scots, who gathered 400 strong last evening at the Spalding hotel for a dinner, concert and dance in commemoration of the 154th anniversary of his birth.

The Burns dinner and dance is an annual event with Clan Stewart, No. 59, Order of Scottish Clans. The affair last evening eclipsed all former celebrations, not only in point of attendance but also in the entertainment provided.

Few have paid a rarer tribute to the sturdy plowman and poet, around whose shrine thousands of Scotia's sons gather annually for worship, than did Warren E. Greene, who gave the Burns toast at the Spalding dinner last evening. It was rich with praise and teeming with admiration for the beloved Burns. And it was delivered in the masterful manner which has placed Mr. Greene foremost among Duluth's after dinner speakers.

After explaining how it happened that he was not a Scot, owing to his failure to pick out the right parents during his early infancy, Mr. Greene took up the subject assigned to him. He said that he had chosen a text and that that text was from the lines of the famous Burns, "The rank is but the guinea's stamp, the man's the gowd for a' that."

Writers on Mount Parnassus.

"Shakespeare," declared the speaker, "was the greatest writer the English language has ever known. Goethe was pre-eminent among the Germans and Carlyle was the great intellectual giant of the Scots. If it were true that the great departed gathered on Mount Parnassus, we would find these three there. We would give them our respect, our regard and our admiration. To us these men are as demigods and we would gaze upon them with an awe that would amount to reverence. In this day, it is success, wealth and honor that are made standards of greatness—it is by the dazzling and dramatic that men are judged. Bobby Burns had neither the literary ability of a Shakespeare nor the intellectual force of a Carlyle, but in his songs and sonnets he had heart to heart talks with his people. He understood them, because he was one of them—flesh of their flesh, bone of their bone. On the mountain of Parnassus, we would pay our respect to Shakespeare, Gothe and Carlyle and then turn to the throng below, pick one from the humble toilers of the soil, and place upon the brow of Bobby Burns, the sturdy plowman, the richest and rarest crown ever woven from the love of mankind.

"It was Burns' sense of honesty that made him so outspoken and intolerant of hypocrisy and deceit. He turned his back on the lords and ladies and wrote the songs of the people, songs that today echo from heart to heart with a love and sympathy that throbs through every verse. Much has been said about his religion. It appears to me as if he had grasped the essentials of all religions and retained the superstitions of none."

Burns Hated Deceit.

Mr. Greene then likened Burns to the mountain which overtowers Loch Lomond, with its slopes blooming with heather and its peaks lost in the clouds. Burns, he said, tore a mask from the face of convention and preached that all men should be weighed in a common balance on the scales of honest manhood.

"Tonight," said Mr. Greene, "I would not care to picture Bobby Burns in some mythical heaven. I would rather fancy him over there on the banks of the Dee, listening to the west wind, the wind he loved the best. And that wind would come to him not only with the remembrance of his bonny Jean, but also with the love of all Scotsmen, wherever they may happen to be tonight. And I fancy him looking across the waters smiling in response to our message of love and devotion."

The speaker also paid a tribute to the liquid fire of patriotism which run through the veins of the illustrious Burns. "We sometimes say," said Mr. Greene, "that the works of men live after them. With Burns it is more than that—his personality still lives with us."

Shrine Girls Score.

Mr. Greene was the only speaker of the evening, the remainder of the program being devoted to songs. The hit of the evening along the line of musical entertainment came with the hop, skip and jump and tuneful Scot melodies of the "Kiltie Lassies." This consisted of an original sketch prepared by Prof. A. F. M. Custance and staged by his Shrine girls.

Lady Columbia first appeared on the stage. A dozen Kiltie lasses joined her. When she asked them who they were, one of them replied that they were not delegates to a special meeting of the Modern Samaritans nor the fifty-seven varieties of candidates for the commission form of government, but twelve loyal clansmen gathered to honor the memory of Burns. During the sketch, a number of the prominent members of the clan were made the subjects of local hits, among them John Christie, A. G. McKnight, Alexander Anderson, John G. Ross, Cameron Hughitt, Henry Taylor, Sam Gillespie, Dr. Harrin and Simon Clark.

Robert Mowbray furnished the bagpipe selections which opened the program and in connection with the Scottish dances which followed the dinner and concert.

The Scottish Rite quartet was heard in several Scottish songs. Among the soloists on the program were Philip Gordon Brown, Miss Gladys Reynolds, A. Rudolph Burquist, Charles O. Applehagen. All were compelled to respond to one or more encores. Miss Lillian MacGaskill and Prof. A. F. M. Custance acted as accompanists.

Shortly before midnight the concert was over and the floor was cleared for dancing. A program of twenty-one dances, including the highland schottische, rye waltz and Scottish reel, was played by Di Marco's orchestra.

BILLS IMPORTANT TO THE DEVELOPMENT OF NORTHERN MINNESOTA

of the Northern Minnesota Development association, but of other similiar organizations in Western and Southern Minnesota.

Its terms are as follows:

"The board of county commissioners of any county in this state is hereby authorized and empowered to appropriate out of the general revenue fund of such county a sum of money not exceeding a sum equal to 5 cents per capita of such county, according to the last census. Such sum so appropriated shall be paid to any incorporated development society or organization of this state which, in the opinion of the board of county commissioners, will use such money for the best interests of such county in advertising the agricultural resources of such county, and such other matters as may tend to a development of the county.

"How this would work out—if the maximum were appropriated by each county, is illustrated by the following figures reached by applying the basis of 5 cents to the population of the several counties: St. Louis, $8,163.70; Aitkin, $518.55; Carlton, $877.95; Cook, $58.80; Itasca, $880.40; Koochiching, $321.55; Lake, $400.55; Pine, $793.90; Beltrami, $966.85; Roseau, $566.90.

This bill takes the place of a bill previously introduced by Mr. Bouck allowing each county to appropriate $300 for advertising purposes. This sum would achieve no tangible result, but the new plan will permit the several counties of Northern Minnesota, if they will, to take an effective part in the development not only of their own counties but of all Northern Minnesota.

Southern Minnesota surely can have no objection to the bill because its counties need not do anything of this sort unless they wish, and whatever the Northern Minnesota counties do will work to the advantage of all parts of the state by settling the state's lands, increasing the state school fund and putting idle acres on the tax roll.

• • •

For Forestry Purposes.

The Kneeland bills, which are introduced at the suggestion of the state forestry commission, open the way for really effective forestry work on the part of the state.

Two of these bills provide for acquiring land for forestry purposes; and it is to be noted that in both bills provision is made for limiting the land to be devoted to this purpose to land that is not fitted for agriculture.

The more important of these two bills is that which appropriates $100,000 annually to buy non-agricultural land from private owners, at a price that is not to exceed $2 per acre, and to devote this land to forestry purposes. The owners are allowed to reserve mineral rights, in consideration of the low price allowed to be paid. State lands, if necessary to complete a forestry plantation, may be bought at not more than 20 per cent in excess of appraised valuation. The timber on these lands may also be purchased by the state at prices to be fixed by the forestry board.

The second bill allows the state forestry board to take over lands, untitted for agriculture, which revert to the state because the taxes are not paid upon them. If any of these lands are suitable for farming, they may be sold by the state auditor for such purposes at a quarter down and the balance in one, two and three years at 6 per cent interest. This bill provides an appropriation of $3,000 for the expenses of carrying on this work.

The proposal of municipal forests, made in a third bill by the same author, is new and interesting. Under it any city or village may procure land, by gift or purchase, in order to establish a municipal forest which is to be handled according to forestry principles under the direction of the state forestry board. Any municipality taking up this work—new in the United States, but by no means new in Europe—is permitted to levy a tax of 5 mills to carry it on.

Tonnage Tax Hearing.

There will be a public hearing on the Bjorge-Frankson tonnage tax bill in the house chamber, before the committee on taxes and tax laws, next Friday evening.

At this hearing those opposed to the measure will have a chance to state their case. Delegations from the Cuyuna range have already asked to be heard in opposition to the bill, and the Mesaba and Vermilion ranges will also have an opportunity to present their opposition if they desire, and unless they leave the presentation of their case to the members of the legislature from their districts.

This was decided at a meeting of the house committee on taxes and tax laws yesterday afternoon, and it was also decided to give the authors of the bill an opportunity to present their arguments at a meeting of the committee Tuesday afternoon. The sense of the committee was that as the burden of the proof was upon those who propose to change the method of taxing iron mines, they should present their arguments first.

In all probability one more hearing will be held after that of next Friday, when the authors of the bill and Representative Cleon T. Knapp of Chisholm and A. L. Warner of Duluth will close the arguments, after which the committee will vote on the disposition of the bill.

The lack of interest in the measure on the part of the house members was shown by the fact that there was barely a quorum of the committee present yesterday, though Messrs. Bjorge and Frankson had announced that they would make their arguments.

At a conference between Representatives Knaop, Bjorge and Frankson yesterday afternoon, it was agreed to conclude the hearings as soon as possible and bring the measure before the house at the earliest possible moment.

Grain Elevator Probe.

The Bendixen committee, appointed yesterday by Speaker Rines pursuant to the Bendixen resolution calling for an investigation of grain dealers, terminal elevators and the state grain inspection service, will begin work early next week, according to Chairman Bendixen.

The committee consists of the following representatives: C. M. Bendixen, Morgan; A. T. Teigen, Montevideo; Frank Hopkins, Fairfax; Martin Schwartz, Ottawa; and Daniel P. O'Neill, Thief River Falls.

The committee is authorized by the resolution creating it to appoint an attorney, and one of its first tasks will be to pick out one who is friendly to the investigation and capable of carrying it on. This attorney is to draw $10 per day.

"No possible harm can come of this investigation," said Chairman Bendixen yesterday. "The farmers of the state have certain ideas, such as that they get paid at low grade rates for grain that the buyers market at high grade rates, and that they are systematically 'worked' by transfer charges at Minneapolis. If there is nothing to these ideas, the fact will be brought out by the investigation, the farmers will have their minds relieved, and the terminal market men will be cleared of suspicion. If we find these charges to be true, we can devise legislation that will correct the evils complained of.

"I don't mind stating that the impression among farmers, so far as I have gathered it, is that they get better treatment at Duluth than they do at Minneapolis."

STILLMAN H. BINGHAM.

DECLARES THE COURT HAS NO JURISDICTION

Attorney Files Statement.

Attorney Butler filed with the court the following statement signed by himself:

"In appearing for the defendants (F. E. McGovern, W. L. Essmann and L. A. Anderson) presenting the affidavit and argument in opposition to the motion for an injunction herein made, I do so insist that this court has no jurisdiction in injunction proceedings against the governor of this state, that the title to the office of insurance commissioner cannot be tried in this proceeding, that the plaintiff has no adequate remedy at law and that there is no jurisdiction to grant equitable relief or to grant any relief in this action, brought by the individual plaintiff in this court."

An affidavit by Governor McGovern attacks the Ekern complaint. It charges that all of the governor's acts relating to the Ekern affair were official; that for months before the opening of the legislature, Ekern's office was a "political headquarters."

Following the presentation of Governor McGovern's affidavit, the attorneys began their arguments.

supreme court must be had to declare any legislative enactment unconstitutional failed to develop, and the measure is now before the house for third reading with the report of the committee of the whole favoring its passage.

For School of Forestry.

At the school of forestry an expenditure of $16,000 is proposed for the coming two years, almost the entire amount being necessary for maintenance, with only a slight portion of the sum being used for permanent improvements.

The locomotive engineers of the state are proposing the passage of a bill which would regulate the promotion of firemen to the positions of engineers, it being provided that firemen must make a total mileage of 110,000 miles before they shall be declared eligible to advance.

A county fund for fighting tuberculosis is the proposal of Representative Barclay. Under the present laws the counties are without authority to make expenditures for that purpose, but it is proposed in this bill that county boards of health shall have the authority to create funds and expend the same in the campaign against the white plague.

The written journal has been abolished, the bill covering that question being passed by the house yesterday.

Montana State Fair Fight.

Helena, Mont., Jan. 25.—Mains of Teton county gave notice in the legislature Friday of intention to introduce a bill to remove the state fair from Helena to Great Falls and to appropriate money for the purchase of a site and buildings. This will precipitate one of the hottest fights of the session.

boat, prepared to land 500 bluejackets. At the same time the admiralty has ordered the entire Italian squadron, now stationed in the Grecian archipelago, to keep itself in readiness. The remainder of the Italian fleet is at Taranto within easy call.

Says City Is Quiet.

Washington, Jan. 25.—Ambassador Rockhill at Constantinople reports the Turkish capital quiet, despite the incident which resulted in the overthrow of the cabinet and the killing of Nazim Pasha. He says the new government has given assurances that all necessary measures have been taken to guarantee the safety of persons and property. He adds that there is reason to believe that parliament is likely to be convened at an early date and that the resumption of hostilities will not necessarily result from the coup d'etat.

Will Not Force Matters.

London, Jan. 25.—Some days must elapse before the situation arising from the revolution in Constantinople becomes clear. As far as may be judged, there is no intention on the part of the new Turkish government to force matters or resume hostilities if any reasonable compromise with the Balkan allies is possible.

A dispatch from Constantinople says the council of ministers met to discuss the reply they will make to the note of the powers and it is believed this reply, while insisting on the retention of Adrianople by Turkey, will point to Thursday's demonstration as a real manifestation of the national will.

The new government is finding difficulty in filling the post of foreign minister. The portfolio has been offered to several Turkish ambassadors abroad, but thus far all have declined. Until the ministry is completed by the appointment of a Cheik Ul Islam and a foreign minister, it is probable that no definite steps will be taken.

WHAT OTHER CITIES ARE DOING

Activities of Other Municipalities, Which Might or Might Not Be Copied in Duluth.

APPLETON, Wis., is going into the construction business. The city commissioners, having discovered they can hire men by the day and put down pavements cheaper than they can get the work done by letting it out to contractors, will do this work under their supervision and responsibility. During the summer of 1912 the city commission saved nearly $3,000 on three small pavement jobs by doing the work by day labor instead of letting the work out by contract.

The advantages of Duluth doing its own paving promise to be forcibly brought to the attention of the people in a very short time. Several of the candidates for commissioners are already urging that the city should go into the paving business itself for reasons of economy and when their campaigns get into full swing they will use all the means at their command to get their views before the voters. However, it is claimed that Duluth has fared well on the prices paid for its pavements in recent years.

Warning Issued.

Washington, Jan. 25.—As a result of the rains during the last thirty-six hours, according to the weather bureau reports issued tonight a 40-foot stage in the Mississippi at Memphis within the next six or seven days, is now announced, with the possibility of a still higher stage. Helena, Ark., will have a stage exceeding 49 feet.

Warnings for the smaller rivers have been issued as follows: For a flood stage in the Illinois river from Havana, Ill., northward, next twenty-four hours; for a flood stage in the White river of Arkansas, at Batesville, within the next forty-eight hours; for a stage in the Yazoo river of Mississippi of 29 to 30 feet at Swan Lake, Miss., about the 30th inst., and a stage of 21 feet at Jackson on the Pearl river on the 25th or 26th inst.

E. D. NELSON BURIED.

Last Rites at Ironwood for Late Traction Owner.

Ironwood, Mich., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The body of Edward Dean Nelson, long identified with banking, traction and other interests here, who died this week at Galveston, Tex., aged 67, arrived from the South today and the funeral was held this afternoon from the home, Rev. Mr. Weed, rector of the Church of the Transfiguration, of which Mr. Nelson was a member officiating. Interment was made in Riverside cemetery.

With the exception of Mrs. Chester Shepherd and Mrs. H. F. Jahn all the the members of the family were here for the funeral. Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Sedgwick of Chicago arrived here yesterday morning.

Mr. Nelson is survived by the widow, one son and four daughters, these being Mrs. Phillip (Frances) Kaye of Topeka, Kan., Mrs. A. K. (Kate) Sedgwick of Chicago, Mrs. Charles E. (Amy) Mitchell of New York city, Edward Dean Nelson, Jr., of this city and Mrs. Chester (Polly) Shephard of Manilla, Philippine islands. The third daughter, Mrs. Earl (Alice) Mallory, died in Chicago about two years ago. Two sisters and one brother are living, Mrs. H. F. Jahn, who is with Mrs. Shepherd in Manila, Miss Carrie Nelson of this city and Charles Nelson of Detroit. From the time Mr. Nelson came to Ironwood up to eighteen months ago, when he sold his interests in the traction, lighting and waterworks systems of Ironwood and Hurley, he was identified with many of the cities largest enterprises. He superintended the construction of the street car line; largely through his efforts the Curry hotel and the National bank building were erected and he carried through the merger of the traction, water and lighting plants of the two towns.

Mr. Nelson was mayor of Ironwood in 1898 and represented Marquette county in the Michigan legislature in 1880.

TO BUILD RAILROAD.

Arpin Lumber Company Getting Out Material for New Line.

Couderay, Wis., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Arpin Lumber company of Grand Rapids, Wis., has men making ties and getting out other material for their track which they plan on extending from Exland to Radisson, near here, in the spring.

The Arpin Lumber company owns the large concrete dam across the Chippewa river near Radisson, which has been under construction for the last three years and is nearing completion. The supposition is that some large manufacturing plant will be erected at the dam in the near future to utilize the enormous water power that the dam will develop, and the building of the tracks to the dam is the beginning.

State Bankers to Hold Convention in Zenith City in July.

About 400 bankers and bank employes of the state will assemble in Duluth next July to attend the annual meeting of the Minnesota State Bankers' convention. The exact date of the convention will be decided by the executive committee. The Duluth Clearing House association will have charge of the affair. The meetings will be held at the Commercial club. It is intended to have addresses delivered by banking men of national prominence.

Ironwood, Minn., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Joseph Lauda, motorman at the Newport mine, had a miraculous escape from death or serious injury this week when a trestle across which he was running cars collapsed, sending the cars to the ground forty-five feet beneath. He saved himself by jumping from the motor as the trestle began to creak and sway and scampering to safety.

ADDRESSED BY BEVERIDGE

Roosevelt Party Leaders of Northwest Listen to Ex-Senator.

Urges Closer Relations Between the North and the South.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Closer relations between the North and South were urged by Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana, former United States senator, in an address at a banquet which closed the conference of leaders of the Progressive party from five Northwestern states here last night.

"The people of the South and North are blood brothers," said Mr. Beveridge. "The people of Minnesota and Virginia are kinsmen. A common current runs through the veins of the citizens of Wisconsin and Florida. Michigan and the Dakotas have the same national hopes and interests as Georgia and the Carolinas have. Why should there be any other difference of political thought and action between the people of Alabama than there is between the people of Iowa?

"Should a party be preserved that stands in the way of making the American people one again? Should patriots cling to a party that sunders one portion of their country from another? Would Lincoln have done so? Yet the Republican party keeps sectionalism alive and thus divides the nation. The South will be solidly Democratic as long as the Republican party lives; it will cease to be so only through a new party which Southern men and women can support without feeling that they insult their tenderest memories and without calling to mind their heaviest burdens. This is merely human nature. Thus the Progressive party fulfills Lincoln's dearest dream and noblest purpose. Thus the Progressive party answers the call of the patriotism of today."

Mr. Beveridge made a plea for the continuance of the Progressive party, saying it alone of the political parties could deal with the problems of child labor, conservation and other reforms.

Mrs. Maud Ward Elliott and several local speakers also made addresses. Dr. W. H. Magie of Duluth was toastmaster. The banquet was held at the Auditorium.

With the banqueters seated at tables on the main floor of the big convention hall, the galleries were thrown open to the public and a large crowd witnessed the feast and listened to speeches. Senator Beveridge, speaking before the conference in the afternoon, criticised the Minnesota laws which prevent the recognition of the Progressive party in this state and declared that if the legislature now in session fails to amend existing laws, every Progressive should take the stump in an effort to retire to private life "the men who make these laws."

Col. Roosevelt in a telegram expressed regret at not being able to attend the meeting and emphasized what he considered the necessity of the Progressives remaining intact—a party by itself. He, in his message, declared the Democratic tariff policy to be as dangerous as the Payne-Aldrich tariff measure.

and village must impose the poll tax, but those who vote will not have to pay it.

So it will be worth $3 for the resident of a township or village if he does his duty as a citizen at the polls.

This affects only rural voting, and no plan is proposed to stimulate urban voting.

"So marked has public neglect of the ballot become," said Senator Rustad yesterday, "that there is talk in some states of making voting compulsory. But of course that would not work. My plan, I think, would result in a pretty full rural vote, and that will be to the advantage of the state."

Widows' Pension Bill.

The house labor committee yesterday afternoon recommended for passage by a unanimous vote Representative W. A. Campbell's "widows' pension" bill. There has been some criticism of Mr. Campbell's proposal, but it has all been based on his original proposal of a pension for independent mothers to be ordered by the judges of the district court. This plan has been abandoned, and the bill approved by the labor committee yesterday applies only to children under 16 that have been committed to the state school at Owatonna. It gives the superintendent of that institution the power to return any such child to its mother, at such time as he deems fit, and to fix the amount the state is to contribute toward the support. This amount is not to exceed $10 per month, and it is to be paid by the state instead of by the county, as the former bill provided. This action is to be taken by the superintendent of the Owatonna school when he believes it will be to the best interest of the child to be with its mother. The bill carries an appropriation of $60,000, which will have to undergo the scrutiny of the appropriations committee.

Representative R. C. Dunn's proposal to have a state tax on automobiles, in lieu of all other taxes, state or local, the money to go into the state road and bridge fund, was approved by the house committee on taxes and tax laws yesterday afternoon, and it will be reported favorably to the house next Monday. Under this bill the state will collect a license fee of 50 cents per horse power—$20 on a forty-horse power machine—which will be in lieu of all other taxes, and the proceeds will go to swell the state road and bridge fund.

Representative Westlake of Minneapolis thought it wrong to tax an old machine the same as a new one, and to base the tax wholly on horse power instead of value, but his was the only vote against the bill.

Carlton and Lake Conflict.

Carlton and Lake counties were in conflict yesterday before the house committee on taxes and tax laws over the Hillman bill, proposed by the state tax commission, providing that logs shall be assessed and taxed where they are cut instead of where they are sawed.

Lake county has timber and no sawmills and Carlton county has sawmills and little timber. Hence the difference in opinion.

J. E. Diesen, former county attorney of Carlton county, and J. A. Fesenbeck, city attorney of Cloquet, appeared in opposition to the bill. They pointed out that while there are practically no schools to be supported where the timber is cut, it would be a great loss to Cloquet and Carlton county to have the present assessments on logs taken away and would cripple the schools and local government.

The tax commission proposes the bill in the interests of settlers where the logs are cut, and asserts that under the present method many logs—most of them—escape taxation. This was disputed by the Cloquet representatives and by Representative D. P. O'Neill of Thief River Falls, who also pointed out that, because of the lower taxes, logging companies would get off with a lighter tax if the new bill goes through.

The committee postponed action on the bill until next Friday, when the tax commission will be asked to justify the measure.

Representative W. T. Stone of Park Rapids introduced his reapportionment bill yesterday. It provides for forty-five senators and 120 representatives, and gives St. Louis county, with Lake and Cook, five senators and ten representatives, as provided in the Congdon bill. It allows Hennepin county seven senators and Ramsey county five. Dr. Stone's idea is to follow this up with a constitutional amendment providing that these senatorial districts never shall be changed.

Representative Knapp of Chisholm yesterday introduced a bill changing the statute of limitations in so far as it applies to embezzlement. As it now stands, no prosecution can be brought for this offense when three years have elapsed after the commission of the offense. The Knapp bill dates the beginning of this period from the discovery of the offense, and it is introduced at the request of County Attorney Warren E. Greene because of a Duluth case where the three-year period had expired when the embezzlement was discovered.

The Gettysburg Celebration.

R. C. Dunn's bill appropriating $30,000 to represent Minnesota at the semi-centennial celebration of the battle of Gettysburg next July provides for taking to the celebration the following: "All surviving members of the First Minnesota Volunteers, on the rolls at the time of the battle, including all surviving members of Companies 1 and 2, the two so-called Minnesota Sharpshooters, attached to the said First Regiment, and honorary members of the said regimental association, and also all surviving soldiers, Union and Confederate, now residing in this state who can furnish satisfactory evidence that they were engaged in the battle of Gettysburg on either day thereof, together with the governor of Minnesota and his staff, all ex-governors of the state, the members of the Gettysburg Celebration committee appointed by the Minnesota department of the G. A. R., the commanders of the Loyal Legion and G. A. R. in Minnesota, and a suitable drum corps or band." The commissioners to have charge of the expedition are Gen. A. L. Grant, Capt. W. H. Harries, Maj. C. B. Heffelfinger, Capt. J. N. Searles, Capt. Thomas H. Pressnell of Duluth, Samuel Lilly and Edward A. Stevens.

Senator James P. Boyle, at the request of Senator Cashman, will address the Knights of Columbus at Owatonna Sunday, when there will be an important meeting of the order, attended by representatives from many parts of Southern Minnesota.

Both houses adjourned yesterday to meet Monday morning, the house at 10 and the senate at 11.

Beautiful Chest —OF— Silver

For many years piano manufacturers and dealers have tried to reduce the selling expense of pianos, the old way of paying solicitors, paying teachers' commissions and engaging great artists to play their pianos at fabulous sums are being eliminated and now it is the question of the best advertised piano, and one in which the purchasers are given the greatest possible value. This is the age of co-operation and the manufacturers correctly believe that the best way to market and introduce their product is to spend the advertising money in making special offers to the people rather than employing world-famous demonstrators at fabulous expense and making the people pay for such methods by asking a heavy price for the piano.

BAD COLD? YOUR HEAD STUFFED?

One Dose Pape's Cold Compound Gives Relief—Cure in Few Hours.

You will distinctly feel your cold breaking and all the Grippe symptoms leaving after taking the very first dose.

It is a positive fact that Pape's Cold Compound, taken every two hours, until three consecutive doses are taken, will end the Grippe and break up the most severe cold, either in the head, chest, back, stomach or limbs.

It promptly relieves the most miserable headache, dullness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, sore throat, running of the nose, mucous catarrhal discharges, soreness, stiffness and rheumatic twinges.

Get a 25-cent package of "Pape's Cold Compound" from your druggist and take it with the knowledge that it will positively and promptly cure your cold and end all the grippe misery; without any assistance or bad after-effects and that it contains no quinine—don't accept something else said to be just as good. Tastes nice—acts gently.

How She Discarded Unsightly Complexion

(Mona Morrow in Town Tattler.)

How often I exclaimed as I beheld my ugly complexion in the mirror, "If I only could tear off this old skin!" And, do you know, I've learned how to do that very thing? Not to actually remove the entire skin all of a sudden; that would be too heroic a method and painful, too, I imagine. The worn-out cuticle comes off in such tiny particles, and so gradually—requiring about ten days to complete the transformation—it doesn't hurt a bit. Day by day the beautiful complexion underneath comes forth. Marvelous! No matter how muddy, rough, blotchy or aged your complexion; you can surely discard it by this simple process. Just get an ounce of ordinary mercolized wax at your druggist's, apply nightly like cold cream, washing it off mornings.

My wrinkles I got rid of by an equally simple method. By dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half-pint witch hazel and bathing my face in the solution, every line completely disappeared. First the finer lines, finally even the deep crow's feet, vanished entirely.

HUDSON NAMES CITY COMMITTEE

One Man From Each Ward in Charge of Ballot Campaign.

T. T. Hudson, chairman of the committee which will conduct an educational campaign to explain the preferential system of voting, has announced the names of the executive committee, consisting of one member from each ward. The Third ward man has not accepted the appointment and his name was withheld. The others are: Walter F. Dacey, First ward; S. S. McDonald, Second ward; J. H. Cook, Fourth ward; I. K. Lewis, Fifth ward; Alex Kennedy, Sixth ward; Charles M. Mork, Seventh ward, and Thomas Olafson, Eighth ward. A meeting of the committee is planned for this afternoon at Mr. Hudson's office to make preliminary arrangements for the campaign.

HIGH PRAISE FOR DULUTH FARMS

Writer in World's Work Comments on Duluth Agricultural Results.

The splendid farming qualities of the country about Duluth are beginning to attract attention on the part of agriculturalists in all parts of the country. The successes achieved at the Jean Duluth farm, the farm of G. G. Hartley and others are becoming the subject of much comment on the part of periodicals of nation-wide circulation. A contributor to the February number of The World's Work says:

"I saw, in Duluth, thirteen acres set out to head lettuce, on the farm of G. G. Hartley. In 1911 Mr. Hartley had a net income of more than $9,000 from three acres of lettuce, shipping to Chicago after the Duluth market was supplied, and the quality of his product caused such a sensation among lettuce growers throughout the Middle West that some of the most successful of them, after visiting Duluth, announced their intention of buying farms in the vicinity. Mr. Hartley's farm and the Jean Duluth farm, with 600 acres now cleared and stocked with 200 pure-bred Guernsey and Red-polled dairy cattle, Percheron horses, and Shetland ponies, are in a sense demonstration farms where the small farmer and market gardener have object lessons ever before them."

Chicagoan Killed.

Huron, S. D., Jan. 25.—Angus Searzow of Chicago was killed and Karl and Will Modigar, brothers, of this city, were seriously injured in an automobile accident near here Friday, when the car in which they were driving failed to respond to the steering gear and plunged through a bridge over a creek.

FEEL SHAKY, BILIOUS, HEADACHY, OR CONSTIPATED? TAKE CASCARETS

Sick headaches! Always trace them to lazy liver, delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or a sick stomach. Poisonous, constipated matter, gases and bile generated in the bowels, instead of being carried out of the system, is reabsorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, sickening headache.

Cascarets remove the cause by stimulating the liver, making the bile and constipation poison move on and out of the bowels. The effect is almost instantaneous. Ladies whose sensitive organisms are especially prone to sick headaches, need not suffer, for they can be quickly cured by Cascarets. One taken tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box will keep your head clear, stomach sweet, liver and bowels regular and make you feel bright and cheerful for months. Children need Cascarets, too—they love them because they taste good and never gripe or sicken.

MINNESOTA UNIVERSITY

Pan-Hellenic Dance Is Successful Under John Jenswold's Direction.

Farmers' Short Course Opens With Enrollment of 135 Students.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The fraternity men of the university turned out en masse on Wednesday night at the annual Pan-Hellenic dance. This dance is the largest informal affair of the college year and ranks next to the junior ball as a society event. This year the National Guard armory was engaged and the ballroom, the largest in the Twin Cities, was crowded by the 250 couples who danced during the evening. A ten-piece orchestra played a program of eighteen dances. The programs and decorations carried out the inter-fraternity idea. Though an informal affair, the gowns worn by the women would have added splendor to the most formal of parties. The Tillikum Klub, the senior inter-fraternity society, gave the party and John Jenswold was in charge of all of the arrangements. Among the Duluthians and former Duluthians who attended were: Misses Cleo Fenton, Maude Matteson, Dorothy Davis, Ella Gamble, Eunice Smith, Alma Strand, Gladys Segog, Gladys Lenning, and Messrs. John Jenswold, Morrison Harris, Roland Kaiser, Hardoldson, Harvard Rockwell, Robert Ely, Leonard McHugh, Lawrence Jaques.

The farmers' short course Jan. 20 to Feb. 15 at the agricultural college opened with an enrollment of 135 students, whose ages vary from 18 to 50. Prof. C. C. Hopkins of the Illinois Agricultural college will be one of the special lecturers during the course. Several other men of national reputation in the study of farming methods will be on the program. The most elaborate course ever given will be offered this year. Soil fertility, permanent systems of agriculture, seed corn, horse culture are some of the subjects which will be studied. Among the special features considered will be the silo. An open forum for the exchange of ideas will be conducted.

Prof. G. N. Briggs of Washington, D. C., who is in charge of all teaching positions in the Philippine islands, conferred with students during the past week to interest them in teaching or administrative positions in the Philippine islands. Prof. Briggs said that young men are needed in various lines of teaching in college, city high schools and provincial schools, and young women are needed to teach domestic science. Salaries of $1,200 for nine months teaching are offered, with transportation both ways and round trip passage for both parents to visit once during the term, for those who sign a contract for two years.

During his recent visit in the East, President Vincent called upon President-elect Wilson and Col. Roosevelt hoping to secure the presence of these two men of national prominence at the anniversary of the founding of the agricultural college. Both men declined the invitation because they were too deeply engrossed in work to accept. President Vincent conferred with Dr. Flexner of the Rockefeller Institute of Medical Research concerning the problem of reorganizing the medical faculty of the university during his trip.

The University Catholic association enjoyed their annual banquet last Monday night. The dinner was given in Shevlin hall. About 150 students assembled and enjoyed the program. Judge Leary of the Hennepin court presided as toastmaster, and speeches were made by Dean Margaret Sweeney, John McGovern, Raymond Caverly and Frank Gallagher. The girls entertained the guests by stunts, each college putting on a skit.

There is to be a series of lectures given at the university under the auspices of L'Alliance Francaise, the first of which will be given in the auditorium of the law building, Feb. 14. M. Firmin Roz on that day will speak on "Realism in Contemporary French Literature." M. Roz is sent out from France by the alliance to address the various organizations at the universities and colleges of this country that are studying French literature. Other lectures will follow throughout the year.

Willing to Surrender.

Highbridge, N. J., Jan. 25.—A. L. Reavers, cashier of the First National bank of this place, who disappeared after confessing that he had embezzled more than $50,000 of the institution's funds, has promised to surrender himself to Federal authorities today. It is said that the shortage may amount to considerably more than at first reported.

BUSINESS IS NOT RUSHING

Domestic Utilities Company Is Not Getting Much Money in Duluth.

Business isn't just exactly rushing in the office of the Domestic Utilities Manufacturing company on West Superior street, but neither is it precisely at a standstill.

Several women called yesterday to listen to the glowing descriptions of the lecturer who was pointing out to them a pathway to affluence via the washing machine route. Just how much of a harvest is being reaped in Duluth by the promoters of the washing machine is a matter for conjecture.

The "washing machine" is nothing like the imagination pictures it when the name is first heard. It is a much simpler contrivance than that painted in the mind's eye. Instead of a contrivance with cogs and wheels, etc., it has a handle like a broom, with a shiny, funnel-shaped contrivance where the business end of the broom would ordinarily be. The funnel-shaped apparatus is what does the business if the person holding the handle puts the requisite energy back of it. To make it work so that the "compressed air and suction" will be effective, the operator juggles it much in the same manner as the farmer's wife did in days gone by when the old-fashioned churn was used for making butter. Making butter was one of the things which made the farmer's wife healthy, wealthy and strong of arm.

The agent who is putting the new washing machines on the market doesn't enter into a butter-making dissertation or upon the joys of pumping the funnel-shaped contrivance in the wash tub with the aid of the broomstick handle. He centers his energies in making clear to the prospective buyer how she or he can become wealthy over the washing machine trail by buying a contract for from $150 to $5,000 and in turn selling contracts to others. "Machines" at $3 per go with the contracts and the purchaser has the privilege of selling the "machines" at $2.50 each.

AMUSEMENTS

GENEE DELIGHTS BIG AUDIENCE

Famous Dancer and Company Offer Evening of Rare Entertainment.

The father of a famous dancer once said that the only reason his son's feet touched the ground at all was that he wished to prevent the humiliation of the other dancers.

That is the feeling Adeline Genee inspires. One wonders why she needs to touch the ground at all.

The third attraction of the Reyner Memorial course, presented at the Lyceum last evening, more than made up for any shortcomings there may have been to the second number. Genee and her assistants were wholly satisfying and wholly delightful. Any who wondered how they could be entertained by an entire evening of dancing, were very quickly shown. She and her company had the audience absorbingly interested almost from the moment she appeared, and genuine enthusiasm was shown throughout by the big audience which completely filled the theater. At the end of her hunting dance she was given a real ovation.

It was in such numbers as the hunting dance, and her comedy dance, that Genee was at her best. These might be called her creative dances. The first part of the program was devoted to a series of pictures of famous dancers. It was extremely interesting, but did not arouse the enthusiasm that the other dances did, when she simply presented her own conceptions. Not until then did the audience get an insight into the little artist's spirit. Spirit Mme. Genee is, even when clad in hunting habit and boots, and none could tire of watching her bound on the scene, poise on her toes for an instant, and then fall into the various gaits of the horse from trot to canter and gallop.

Again in the comedy dance with the Pierrot, the audience was shown her rare ability as a pantomimist. It was real comedy in dancing.

While Genee was unquestionably the star of the company, in fact as well as in name, she did not monopolize attention. The three little pas de deux numbers by Alexander Volinen and Mlle. Schmoltz were among the most enjoyable features of the entire program. Volinen is a clean-cut, virile-looking young man of remarkable grace. The most natural comparison to make is with Mordkin, who was seen in Duluth a year ago. Volinen is more slender than Mordkin and lacks some of the physique and fire of his famous countryman, but he makes a most admirable assistant for Genee and contributes no small measure to the success of the evening's entertainment.

The orchestra of twelve pieces, was excellent, and the costumes all that could be asked.

Duluth has rarely had a more thoroughly enjoyable and artistic evening's entertainment, and it will be long remembered by those who were fortunate enough to witness it.

WEST END

THREE YEARS TO MOVE SHACK

And the Shack Is Still Unmoved Despite City's Orders.

Contractors Ignore Commands to Vacate the City's Property.

There is a loud-toned protest booming among the business men of the West end these days over the laxity or helplessness, whichever it is, of the city officials in causing their orders to be obeyed. This is aroused because of the fact that an old warehouse, fast falling into decay, and belonging to Hugo & Tims, contractors, still stands on city property at the foot of Twenty-first avenue west after its owners have been repeatedly ordered by the city authorities during the last three years to have it removed. These orders have been totally ignored, no effort having been made to take the building away or to raze it.

More than three years ago the firm was notified to remove the building as it occupies city property. Only echo answered. Last year the board of public works repeated the demand and again there was nothing doing. Not so very long ago the police department was asked to take action and Chief Troyer notified the contractors that an objectionable building stood on city property at the foot of Twenty-first avenue west and must be taken away at once. Several months have elapsed since that time and still the building remains on the city property. Business men of the West end feel that not only is the authority of the city defied but that this end of the city is burdened with an eyesore and it is proposed that some stern measures be taken to bring about what the city authorities have failed to do.

HAZLEWOOD PEOPLE WANT FIRE HALL.

Residents of Hazelwood Park and others who hold property there are anxious to have a fire hall established somewhere in that district, and when the commission takes office a plan will be put up to it to have such protection granted.

The city owns lots at Thirty-ninth avenue and Traverse street, and, it is pointed out, these can be used for a building. It is also claimed that a building of sufficient size will cost not more than $5,000, including the purchase of the necessary equipment. If nothing more could be obtained a combination chemical-hose cart would help materially because of being close to the scene of necessity.

It is claimed that at this time it takes a considerable period for the companies from the nearest stations to get to the Hazelwood district in case of fire.

MR. WERMINE RETURNS.

Swedish M. E. Pastor Back From Ironwood and Preaches Sunday.

Rev. C. W. R. Wermine, of the Swedish M. E. church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street, who has assisted Rev. A. G. Ekstrand of Ironwood, Mich., in a ten-day revival meeting, has returned to Duluth. The meetings at Ironwood, he says, were very well attended and the results gratifying. Several additions to the church resulted from the services and the work has taken on a new aspect. The pastor and the people feel very much encouraged.

Rev. A. G. Ekstrand will come to Duluth some time in February to assist Rev. Mr. Wermine with services in the local church. He is a very strong preacher and it is hoped that much good may result from his visit to the church.

Rev. Mr. Wermine will speak at both services tomorrow. Other meetings for Sunday are as follows: Sunday school, 9:30 a. m.; morning service at 10:45; Epworth League at 6:45 p. m.; Mrs. C. W. Wermine, leader; evening service at 7:45 p. m.

ENGLISH LUTHERAN CHURCH SERVICES.

Tomorrow both morning and evening services of the newly organized Trinity English Lutheran church will be held at the Woodmen hall, corner of Twenty-first avenue west and First street, the pastor, Rev. F. O. Hanson, preaching at both services. Sunday school will be held in Bethany church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street.

Mr. Hanson said today that he and his congregation expect to find temporarily permanent quarters before very long, and will soon take steps toward the erection of a building of their own. The congregation, considering the fact that it has just been organized, is a large one.

Evangelist to Preach.

Rev. Paul W. Rood of Chicago, a noted Swedish evangelist, is in the city and will preach tonight and three times tomorrow at the Swedish Mission church, corner of Twenty-first avenue west and Second street. The service this evening will be at 8 o'clock. He will speak tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock, at 5 o'clock in the afternoon and at 7:30 in the evening. The afternoon meeting will be especially for young people and will be in the English language.

West End Briefs.

The Normanna Male chorus will celebrate this evening the nineteenth anniversary of its organization, the affair to take place in Foresters hall. A musical program, followed by refreshments will be given.

On Wednesday of next week, Mrs. Chandler, 2310 West Fourth street, will entertain the Ladies' Aid Society of the Second Presbyterian church.

Lars Thorson and his daughter, Mrs. Hans Moen returned to Washburn, Wis., yesterday after visiting relatives here for a time. They expect to return to the West end in about a month to make it their permanent home.

For Rent—Heated furnished room, central West end. Call Lincoln 460.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Simonson, 2102 West Superior street, entertained Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Strand of Two Harbors, yesterday.

At the pink tea to be given Tuesday afternoon by the St. Luke's Guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church in the guild room, a cup and saucer will be given away to each visitor as a souvenir. A program will also be offered.

Taft to Go to Baltimore.

Washington, Jan. 25.—President Taft will leave Washington late today for Baltimore, where tonight he will be a guest at the annual dinner of the Merchants' & Manufacturers' association. He expects to return to Washington tonight.

OPPOSED TO O'NEILL BILL

Woodmen Should Settle Their Own Rate Difficulties, Says Norton.

Controversy Has Already Been Left to a Referendum Vote.

John H. Norton returned this morning from St. Paul, where he has been appearing before the legislature in opposition to the O'Neill bill, which would allow camps of the Modern Woodmen of America in Minnesota to withdraw from the parent organization.

Local members of the Woodmen are greatly interested in the proposed legislative action, which is a sequel to the rate controversy which has raged in the order for some time past. A truce has now been declared in the rate war, the head officers having decided to leave the matter to the next meeting of the head camp. Copies of the order to that effect have just been received by the Woodmen camps in Duluth.

"The head officers and directors of the Modern Woodmen have decided not to attempt to enforce the new rates made in Chicago, but they will leave the whole matter to a referendum vote of the jurisdictions so that the delegates to the next head camp in June, 1914, shall have the final say in the order as to just what rates shall be paid," said Mr. Norton today. "This happy ending of the serious situation in the order is pleasing to the members in the city.

"The campaign of education which has been carried on for the last year through the medium of the head camp and the insurgents will have the effect of educating the membership up to a point where they will readily understand that if the Modern Woodmen of America are to remain a permanent institution in the insurance world it must go upon adequate rates."

"I have just returned from St. Paul where the Minneapolis insurgents headed by John L. Sundean are attempting to put through the legislature a bill which has for its sole purpose the disruption of the Modern Woodmen in the state of Minnesota. So far as I have been able to learn a great body of Woodmen, both those who are standing by the head officers and those who are opposed to the Chicago rates are standing together in opposition to this O'Neill bill. Those Woodmen all believe that the order is big enough and its members are intelligent enough to settle their internal differences without the aid of legislatures or courts and the legislative attempt to settle the internal policy of the corporation as well as its control and management is certainly an innovation in the legislative field which is not less than revolutionary."

The O'Neill bill would allow camps of the Modern Woodmen, by a majority vote, to withdraw from the national organization and to band together into a separate organization. It would give them possession of all property of the camps and exempt them from the law which provides for the National Fraternal Congress rates for all fraternal insurance companies entering Minnesota to do business.

SAYS LAWYERS KEPT BAIL MONEY

Eveleth Man Says Attorneys Were Too Diligent in Collecting Fees.

Michael E. McMahon and John C. McGilvery, attorneys at Eveleth, are defendants in a lawsuit brought by Herman Larson, who asks for a judgment of $1,000 against them, claiming that they unlawfully came into possession of $1,000 bail put up for a prisoner by Larson and retained the amount for fees.

On Sept. 1, 1911, the complaint says, one Matt Lake was arrested at Eveleth and charged with the crime of assault in the first degree. Thirteen days later, after a trial, Lake was convicted and sentenced to Stillwater where he is now serving time.

At the time of Lake's arrest, Larson furnished $1,000 bail, he claims, securing the prisoner's release from custody until a judgment of conviction was entered against him.

Larson claims that there was an agreement between himself and the attorneys that in case Lake should be acquitted they would receive a fee of $1,000. In case of a conviction, however, they were to receive nothing, he says.

The plaintiff declares that as soon as Lake's conviction was on record, that the attorneys got the bail and kept the $1,000 for a fee.

Steamer Arrives.

Charleston, S. C., Jan. 25.—The steamer Mae of the Philadelphia & Gulf line, which was disabled off Cape Lookout on Wednesday, arrived here today under her own steam and conveyed by the revenue cutter Androscoggin.

THE HOME BOOSTERS' CHORUS

Every time you come down town
And start to throw your money 'round
Say "Duluth goods are the stuff for me,"
Because they mean prosperity.

A dollar you send to the Eastern shore
Says: "So long, Bill, for evermore."
So keep it here and you'll hear its sound
When it comes back to hang around.

The folks around are getting wise—
There's a way to beat those "furin" guys,
Who pocket your coin and never come 'round
With enough of the stuff to feed a hound.

We love Duluth—the great North gate—
Our motto is "co-operate".

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

U. C. T. PLANS BIG ROUNDUP

Commercial Travelers of Minnesota and North Dakota After Members.

Grand Councillor Fegan Issues Order for Big Initiations March 29.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. W. Fegan, grand councilor of the Minnesota-North Dakota grand jurisdiction of the U. C. T., has issued an edict fixing March 29 as a special day for the initiation of new members. Under this dispensation every council will be permitted on that day to receive, elect and initiate candidates into the order.

March 29 is the close of the fiscal year of the grand domain, and Mr. Fegan is anxious to make a big showing for the year that he is in the office as head of the grand council. During the past quarter he cites the fact that the U. C. T. added 174 new members to its rolls in the twenty councils in the two states.

Fegan to Attend Exercises.

Mr. Fegan will be present at the initiatory ceremonies at the council having the greatest number of members for initiation on that night, and each council will notify him several days in advance as to the number they expect, giving him an opportunity to make his plans for being present.

During the last quarter, the St. Paul council of the U. C. T. won the flags that are offered for the greatest increase in membership during the quarter-year period. The Saintly City council added fifty names.

At Devils Lake a new council will be organized within a few days, while Jamestown, N. D., also is planning a new council.

The grand council will hold its annual meeting this year at Crookston, and Mr. Fegan says plans are already well advanced for that big event, the Crookston council having its committees appointed and being engaged in furthering the preliminary details of the big show in a very spirited and satisfactory manner.

IS CAUGHT IN IOWA.

Woman, Who Passed Worthless Duluth Check in Hinckley, Arrested.

Hinckley, Minn., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—A woman giving the name of Mary Harris, who passed a worthless check here last week, has been apprehended in Council Bluffs, Iowa, and is said to have confessed. She will be returned here for trial. She represented to W. H. Noble here Jan. 16 that she was without funds and prevailed upon him to cash a check for $12.50, drawn on a Duluth bank, which she said her father had sent her. The check was returned marked "no funds," and Mr. Noble got busy.

The State Bankers' association was notified, and Wednesday Marshal Newton received a telegram from C. F. H. Bloom, chief of police, that a woman giving her name as Anna B. Michael and Ollie Best Pickett had been arrested at Council Bluffs, and the woman confessed to passing the check in Hinckley.

She also is alleged to have passed a bad check in St. Paul.

FARGO IS HAVING HOUSE CLEANING

Injunctions on Ten Buildings Used for Alleged Immoral Places.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—In the recent raid on some places in this city under the direction of State Agent Watkins injunctions were placed on ten buildings, one of which was a business block the second floor of which was occupied by William Belfry, said to have been conducting an immoral place. The lessee of the entire building sought to have the injunction set aside on the ground that he had no knowledge of the purposes to which Belfry was putting the part he had sub-rented. Witnesses testified to having informed the lessee's agent. The latter admitted that fact but stated he had not informed the lessee. Judge Pollock has the matter under advisement and property owners are much interested in his decision.

"Lid" for Boy Smokers.

Pool playing and the purchase of tobacco by boys under 18 years of age is a thing of the past in Fargo. There are rigid statutes against these two practices and Fargo's new police matron reported the violation of these measures was the rule rather than the exception. Judge Pollock issued an order to the sheriff to stop these two things at once and also to prevent boys under 18 from playing slot machines of all kinds.

FERGUSON RE-ELECTED.

Again Heads Carlton County Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Co.

Carlton, Minn., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The eleventh annual meeting of the Carlton County Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance company was held at the courthouse on Tuesday. There was a meeting of the directors in the forenoon and the meeting of the association was called to order at 1 p. m.: T. M. Ferguson, president in the chair. Mr. Ferguson said the object of the meeting was to elect two directors, amend the articles of incorporation, so as to describe the territory in which the company could do business, and transact other business. The annual report of the secretary showed a very satisfactory condition of affairs. T. M. Ferguson was re-elected president and Charles A. Marks, vice president.

The second anniversary of the organization of the Priscilla club was celebrated in fitting style at the home of Miss Ella McKinnon last Monday evening. Refreshments were served and one new candidate ushered into the mysteries of the club.

MINISTERS ELECT.

Swedish Lutherans of St. Croix Valley Meet at Rush City.

Rush City, Minn., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual meeting of the Swedish Lutheran St. Croix valley district was held here Monday and Tuesday. Delegates from each congregation represented in the district were present to the number of twenty. Sermons were delivered by Rev. J. A. Johnson, president of the district, on Monday night, and Reverends O. Olander of North Branch, P. E. Bergstrom of Trade Lake, Wis., and J. E. Chester of Harris, Tuesday afternoon and evening. Sermons in Swedish and English were given. Rev. J. A. Johnson was re-elected president; Rev. E. Schold vice president; Rev. P. E. Bergstrom, secretary; Rev. J. E. Chester, treasurer; Rev. P. E. Bergstrom, delegate to synod meeting in June, and Rev. E. N. Hedeen, alternate.

DR. REID PRESIDENT.

Deerwood Physician Heads Upper Mississippi Medical Society.

Wadena, Minn., Jan. 25.—The Upper Mississippi Medical society met here this week. The day was devoted to this program: President's annual address by Dr. C. F. Coulter; "Case of Malignant Endocarditis," by Dr. J. J. McKinnon; "Some Conclusions from Reminiscenses of Thirty Years," by Dr. Knickerbocker of Staples.

The election of officers resulted in Dr. William Reid of Deerwood being chosen president; Dr. W. A. Desmond of Akeley vice president; Dr. A. W. Ide of Brainerd secretary, and Dr. P. E. Kenyon of Wadena treasurer.

New Agent at Odonah.

Ashland, Wis., Jan. 25.—Philip Everst, who has been disbursing agent for the Indian department on the Menominee reservation, near Green Bay, has been appointed agent here, succeeding Agent Campbell, suspended.

Spooner Civic League.

Spooner, Minn., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—For the general betterment of this village a civic league has been organized, with these officers: President, William F. Steffes; vice president, Mrs. John Weeks; secretary, Warren Scoville; treasurer, Mrs. Ella Koefol; executive committee, Joseph Melony, George Ericson, Mrs. John Kyler, Mrs. William Nelson and Mrs. J. E. Corrigan.

It is the intention to improve conditions here generally; to replant trees on the streets, as they were all destroyed in the forest fire of 1910; to seed all vacant lots to grass, and that all refuse left of the fire be disposed of and otherwise to improve and beautify the village.

Deserted During Honeymoon.

Stillwater, Minn., Jan. 25.—Fannie L. Colford, aged 45 and a resident of Washington county for ten years, sues in the district court for a divorce on the grounds of desertion from John A. Colford, aged 35. She also asks for the custody of their 8-year-old daughter. It is alleged that the husband deserted his wife during the holidays in 1905, four days after the wedding.

St. Paulites Raise $100,000.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 25.—The $100,000 cathedral fund raised by public subscription in St. Paul as a testimonial to Archbishop Ireland will be presented to him at his home, 977 Portland avenue, this evening. The fund will be in money and pledges, more than $70,000 of it will be in cash. Probably no public subscription in St. Paul ever had as long a list of names.

North Dakotan Weds.

Fond du Lac, Wis., Jan. 25.—Miss Julia E. Madden of this city and Walter J. Price of Jamestown, N. D., were married at St. Paul's cathedral Wednesday morning. The wedding was a quiet one, only members of the families being present. A luncheon was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Madden, 146 Sheboygan street, after the ceremony. Mr. Price is an employe of the Northern Pacific railroad. His bride is a daughter of Edward Madden and well liked in the city.

Washed Potatoes Sell Well.

Manistique, Mich., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Upper Michigan potato growers have latterly been trying the experiment of washing their potatoes, sorting them as to size and wrapping them in paper before shipment. Potatoes thus prepared have brought as high as $2 a bushel in the Milwaukee market.

Brakeman Killed at Barnesville.

Barnesville, Minn., Jan. 25.—Brakeman McFarland, aged 26, on Great Northern train No. 1 was instantly killed here Thursday night while his train was switching in the yards. McFarland was riding on the fender in the rear of the engine and was crushed between the tender and a box car. McFarland's home was in St. Paul and it is stated here that he was married and is survived by his wife.

Mill City Banker Retires.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 25.—Otto E. Naegele, pioneer Minneapolis banker, has retired as vice president and director of the Metropolitan National bank.

He gives as reason the need for rest after a long business career. George B. Norris has been elected vice president.

Mr. Naegele has been actively engaged in banking business in Minneapolis for twenty-seven years.

Dickinson County Peaceful.

Iron Mountain, Mich., Jan. 25.—According to a report filed by Judge Flannigan there was less litigation in Dickinson than any county in his circuit. During the past year only sixty cases were filed in this county. Marquette again leads in the number of causes of action with a total of 219. Delta county is second with 180; Iron 114 and Menominee 72.

Oldest Michigan Mason.

Cooks, Mich., Jan. 25.—Special to The Herald.)—A member of the order for more than sixty-six years, the distinction of being the oldest Mason in the state, is claimed by J. C. Messenger, a well-known hotel man of this Schoolcraft county town. Mr. Messenger became a Mason June 28, 1846, at Sturgeon Bay, Wis., when he was 20. He is now a member of Lakeside lodge of Manistique and for the last fifteen years has held the office of past master. Mr. Messenger was 86 years of age last October. He is the father of fifteen children.

JAPANESE ONCE USED HOBNAILS AS TEETH.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 25.—The fact that the ancient Japanese used hobnails for teeth was brought to light in a display collected in the Orient and showed at the seventh annual clinic and manufacturers' exhibit of the Marquette University Dental Alumni association in the auditorium.

The ancient Jap who through neglect of his natural grinders was forced to have recourse to the artificial, was fitted out with a set of "store teeth," consisting of a plate of hardwood and molars of nail heads. They were, so to speak, "chewing nails."

The exhibition, which belongs to the S. S. White company, shows the ingenious methods employed by the Japanese dentists of long ago, hampered by their crude materials and appliances.

RUSH CITY BEATS ST. PAUL TEAM.

Rush City, Minn., Jan. 25.—The Rush City debating team won a unanimous decision from the Humboldt team of St. Paul here on the question of nationalization of the railroads, the local team supporting the affirmative. The judges were Prof. Frank M. Anderson and Prof. H. B. Gislason of the state university, and Supt. Rand of Grantsburg, Wis. This gives Rush City the championship of the Fourth district.

Dakota Briefs

Grand Forks, N. D.—Grand Forks will be the center out of which Fred W. Merrill, former Federal expert in dairying, will work as the representative of a separator company in the carrying on of a campaign for the betterment of dairying conditions, using the creamery as the unit about which the work will be conducted.

Valley City, N. D.—The third annual meeting of the Valley City Chautauqua association was held at the city hall, and drew a small but enthusiastic audience. At the close of the business meeting the following directors were elected: Rev. Bohnhoff, D. W. Clark, W. L. Craswell, M. J. Engler, Supt. Hanna, F. Heimes, L. E. Hedstrom, G. A. McFarland, Miss Minnie Nielson, D. O'Malley, F. E. Osborne, F. White, O. Zetterberg and Alex Karr.

Devils Lake, N. D.—The Farmers' Society of Equity of Minnewaukan township will hold their first meeting at the Louck school. This society, composed of the farmers of Minnewaukan township, was organized about two weeks ago, to promote better farming. The officers elected were: President, S. L. Miller; vice president, Even Evenson; secretary, D. P. Matson; treasurer, R. A. Miller.

Fargo, N. D.—Mrs. May Conway of Vergas, Minn., formerly Miss May Bullis of Fargo, died Wednesday at her home after a very sad wedded life. Death was caused by pneumonia which was thought to have been contracted on account of squalid surroundings. She leaves three young children. The deceased was only 24 years old. Her mother was a Fargo widow, Mrs. Bullis, who married several years ago to a man named Tom Conway.

Medora, N. D.—Ray Doyle, who it is alleged abducted Hazel Ryder and took her to Minneapolis, was brought here by the sheriff and the couple were married, the family consenting and refusing to prosecute.

Fargo, N. D.—The funeral of Mrs. E. D. Carver, a pioneer of Page, Cass county, was held this week. The deceased is survived by one son, Walter Carver of Page, one granddaughter, residing in Page, and three grandsons of Minneapolis, sons of a departed daughter. Her husband died a year ago.

Peninsula Briefs

Norway — Norway will have a fine new high school building. The election held Jan. 22 resulted in a decision from the voters favorable to the issuance of bonds in the sum of $65,000. The vote was a small one, only 290 rate-payers attending the polls. The proposition received 184 votes and the negative side 106.

Marquette — The proposed Upper Peninsula league of Odd Fellows, a preliminary meeting for the organization of which was held in Marquette last fall, virtually is assured. Chairman Conlin is to have the organization plan printed and sent to all lodges, encampments and cantons in the Upper Peinsula.

Ishpeming — The following Ishpeming men are on the list of petit jurors for the February term of circuit court: Archie McWilliams, William Hooper, John F. Anderson, August Samuelson, John Webster, William J. Vivian, John J. Giles and Albert Andrews.

Hancock—Ingot hive, Ladies of the Modern Maccabees, will publicly install officers at the Odd Fellows' hall on the evening of Jan. 30. The ceremonies will be conducted jointly with those of the Knights of the Modern Maccabees.

Marquette — Twenty-three beaver licenses have been issued from the office of County Clerk Jenks. Capt. Adams of Clarksburg was the first to bring beaver pelts to the office of the county clerk, having secured eight.

Laurium—Secretary Martin Prisk of the Laurium water board reports that collections for the quarter ending Dec. 31 are coming in rapidly and by the third week of January, the entire roll of $2,200 will have been in the hands of the city.

Houghton — Catherine, the 5-year-old daughter of Edward C. Des Rochers, died Thursday morning at 9 o'clock. The funeral took place from St. Ignatius' church and interment was made in Forest Hill cemetery.

Wisconsin Briefs

Chippewa Falls — Joseph Rooney, aged 30, while on a machinery hoist in a paper mill at Cornell, Wis., was thrown off when the supporting chain broke. He fell twenty-five feet on the cement floor, fracturing his skull. He is not expected to live. Carl Johnson, a fellow workman, was hurled off, but landed on his feet uninjured.

Racine—John Walberg, perhaps the oldest man in Southern Wisconsin, has just reached the century mark and the event was celebrated with a family reunion in his home in Lyons, Walworth county. Mr. Walberg was born in Germany on Jan. 23, 1813, was married in 1867 and came to America in 1873. His wife is dead, but their six children are all living.

Janesville—Miss Angie King, one of the oldest, if not the oldest woman legal practitioner in the state, is dead, aged 72. She was born in Janesville and was one of the pioneer woman suffrage advocates.

Fox Lake—James Gamble, 73 years old, died at his home at Fox Lake, Wis., on Wednesday, after an illness of about two weeks. Pneumonia following the grip was the cause.

Rio—Death has visited the flock of the Norwegian Lutheran church in this city and five members of the congregation have been touched in five days.

Milwaukee — Miss Lutie E. Stearns has resigned the office of president of the Wisconsin Woman's Suffrage association, to which she was elected in November, 1912, at a convention here.

Sheboygan—Sheboygan is actively in the field for the 1914 state meeting of the Wisconsin bowlers.

Madison—The plan to give Wisconsin state insurance at cost promises to be a failure unless the legislature makes an appropriation for advertising expense or some higher rate of pay for solicitors.

Eau Claire—Two girls, aged 16 years, who had ran away from their homes at Baldwin and River Falls, in search of work were apprehended by the local police Thursday and sent home in the company of the father of the girl from River Falls this noon. The girls left home recently in search of work.

Minnesota Briefs

Blackduck—A representative of the state pure food commission who recently visited Blackduck made a thorough inspection of the Blackduck Dairy farm, owned and conducted by Eugene Marquis. He found this to be one of the cleanest and most up-to-date dairies in the state.

Wadena—The night school organized on Monday evening by Supt. E. T. Carroll and R. Viergever, principal of the commercial department of the public schools, is very successful. The attendance on the opening night was upwards of forty, and additional pupils have taken up the work since then.

Perham—Henry Schroeder, Sr., a resident of this section for the past twenty-eight years, died at his home in Rush Lake town Sunday at the age of 80 years, 4 months and 28 days. Mr. Schroeder is survived by his wife and four children: Mrs. Henry Runge, Perham; Mrs. Theodore Runge, Owatonna; Miss Minnie Schroeder and Henry Schroeder of Perham. One sister survives him, Mrs. Henry Hoist, Sr., of Perham.

Stillwater—O. H. Flynn, well known in Minneapolis theater circles, is the new manager of the Grand theater, which is run in connection with a chain of theaters in the East.

Ward—An adjourned term of the district court was held at the courthouse Tuesday, Judge P. S. Stolberg presiding. Outside of a few minor cases, the judge found little to do except disposing of two liquor cases which were brought up from justice court.

Mankato—Word was received by the Order of Eagles here Thursday of the death of Ed Burcha in Iowa, the result of an accident where he was working. Mr. Burcha lived in Mankato some time ago and spent part of last summer working in the Wildell company's quarry here.

Moorhead—On Sunday evening next Rev. H. A. Kernen will address the Employes' association of Moorhead, the members of which are clerks of the business houses of the city.

Crookston—Henry Lyngholm was removed to the St. Vincent hospital and underwent an operation. He is getting along nicely.

Little Falls—Carl Joseph Ehman, for about twenty years section foreman for the Northern Pacific Railway company here, died Wednesday night at the home of his son, Julius Ehman, at Bozeman, Mont., where he went last July. Mr. Ehman, who was 68 years of age, was born in Gottingen, Germany, and came to this country in 1880.

Rush City—The entertainment given under the auspices of the M. W. A. on Tuesday evening brought out a large audience that fully enjoyed an excellent program of motion pictures and monologue and song numbers.

Stillwater—When C. F. Lane was released from the state prison at the end of a term of two years and eight months for grand larceny it seemed hard to make him understand that he was to go free. Lately he showed traces of an unbalanced mind. An officer had to carry him out. A brother was there to take him to his home in Wisconsin.

Minneapolis — The street railway company Thursday paid its special tax on 343 cars for the year 1912. The city treasurer received the company's check for $8,575. A city ordinance requires the company to pay a tax of $25 per year on each car utilized an average of 18 hours per day, 365 days a year.

Glenwood—Henry C. Hallett, for many years a resident of Glenwood, but for the last three years a resident of Minneapolis, died Wednesday night at the home of his son, F. S. Hallett, 1092 Fourteenth avenue southeast. He was born in Steuben county, N. Y., Jan. 14, 1837, and came to Minnesota about forty years ago, settling at Glenwood. His wife and eight children out of a family of fourteen survive.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Prof. Kenneth G. Olsen, head of the debating and public speaking department, who has charge of the Wallace cup contest this year, will introduce a new plan in regard to the tryouts.

Each class will hold an elimination contest, and then the representatives of the several classes will meet in a final contest to determine who will represent the school. In this way Prof. Olsen hopes to create more interest in the work and give all the students a better chance of displaying their ability. The interclass tryouts will be held Feb. 24, 25, 26 and 27.

Miss Dorothy Patton is expected to be chosen as the school declaimer in view of the fact that she was Central's representative last year and won first place in the dual meet.

George H. Madison, bass, will be the soloist at the second annual concert to be given by the Central high school orchestra on Saturday evening, Feb. 8. Mr. Madison will sing arias from Mozart's "Magic Flute" and Gounod's "Queen of Sheba," with orchestral accompaniment. A number of the best soloists in the city will also contribute to the program.

The orchestra which now numbers some thirty pieces, has been rehearsing regularly in preparation for the concert under the direction of Prof. Dwight W. Hiestand. Among other numbers the orchestra will play are: Massenet's "Pherdes" overture, Ponchielli's "Dance of the Hours," from "La Giocanda," and music from Humperdinck's new opera "Konigs-Kinder."

A number of the high school girls took part in the entertainment at the Robert Burns banquet given last evening at the Spalding hotel by the Clan Stewart.

They were the "Shrine Girls" or the "Klitie Lassies" and they contributed to the evening's entertainment by the presentation of an original sketch, which featured the musical program arranged for the occasion by A. F. M. Custance.

Further arrangements for the class play were completed Monday afternoon at the monthly meeting of the senior class when the fourth year students elected William Elder, stage manager for the production, and elected James Owen to the important office of business manager. Several other matters relative to the play were discussed and referred to the committee.

Virginia Harrison was chosen to head a committee which is to decide on several suitable yells and report them to the class for their consideration in the choice of a class yell.

The sophomore class has made arrangements for the placing of an additional order of the official 1915 class pins, and a large number of the second year students who neglected to secure a pin last year have taken advantage of this opportunity to get one. This is the last chance to obtain one of the pins before the senior year. The order will probably be placed next week and the pins will be received soon, as the manufacturers have assured delivery at any early date.

Friday, Jan. 31, is the date set for the concert to be given by the musical society of the high school, under the direction of A. F. M. Custance. Admission will be free upon presentation of tickets which may be secured gratis from any member of the society, or at the principal's office after Monday.

As in former years, a collection will be taken at the concert, and the proceeds will probably be given toward the fund for the publication of the 1914 "Zenith."

The championship of the Interclass Basket Ball league was settled last evening at the high school gym when the juniors defeated the seniors by a score of 33 to 21. The game was hard fought throughout, although the junior quint played all around the representatives of the fourth year class. The championship series was the first in several years that a third game was necessary to decide the league leaders.

The final examinations for the first semester have made their appearance during the last two weeks, and the examinations in many of the subjects have been completed.

The first semester of the present school term ends next week, and the semester reports will be distributed to the students on the following Monday.

WILL ASK ELKS TO STOCK FOREST

Members of Fraternal Order May Provide Herd of Elk.

Oscar Erickson of Crookston states that if he cannot get sporting organizations in this part of the state to interest themselves in the movement to stock the Superior forest reserve with elk, he will take the matter up with the various Elk lodges in Northern Minnesota.

Mr. Erickson says that the animals can be secured if application is made through the proper channels by reliable organizations and clubs. He states that the big forest reserve in the upper end of the state would be an ideal place for them, as they would be well protected and have plenty of fodder. Many die in Wyoming from exposure and starvation, he points out. Three carloads recently passed through St. Paul on their way to Pennsylvania and Virginia.

Brotherhood Meets.

The Brotherhood of the First Christian church met in the church parlors last night. Dinner was served by the women of the church at 6:45. The program of the evening consisted of an address by E. A. Risdon on "The Obligation of the Brotherhood Man to His Fellow Man" and an address by the pastor of the church, Ray E. Hunt, on "The Obligation of a Man to the Church."

Several informal talks were given in which the work of the brotherhood was discussed. It was decided that the brotherhood should become sponsor for the Men's Bible class. It is planned to have fifty men in the Bible class within two months. V. B. Sing will be the teacher of this class and it will meet at 10 o'clock Sunday morning. Plans were made for a Lincoln birthday celebration banquet. This dinner will probably be held the night of Feb. 12. The following officers have been chosen for the ensuing term: President, J. A. Robinson; vice president, M. J. Murray; treasurer, Arthur Spearin; secretary, Ted Cordner; pianist, Charles Roberts. The brotherhood now enrolls about forty men.

GLEANED ALONG THE POLICE RUN

Elsie Johnson, taken from an automobile early Thursday morning in a maudlin condition, is not a stranger to the local police.

She was in Duluth about four years ago and at that time was taken into custody on a charge of vagrancy. She was detained in the old Bethel pending communication with her parents near Ontanagon, Mich., the outcome of which was that Elsie was returned to her home.

She says that she is now 20 years old. Her language, actions and demeanor are not those of an unsophisticated country girl.

The police state that she started to take a course in a downtown business college, but did not continue that branch of her education for any material length of time. They say that her education has been along other lines and that she has been carrying on with rather a high hand.

Police Prosecutor Wharton asserts that Elsie had been masquerading under the name of another highly respectable young woman, causing her a vast amount of embarrassment. The young woman went to Attorney Wharton with her story. She said that some bad things have been credited to her because Elsie has been using her name. She asserted that Elsie not only got mail under her name but that men called her up at her home over the telephone attempting to make engagements with her under the assumption she was the girl they had met when, as a matter of fact, they had been with Elsie, who was using the other name. The officials say that the case of Elsie is one of the hardest with which they have had to deal in a long time. Even though it were possible to prosecute her for her liberties with the names of other people, they would not consent to it because of the unpleasant notoriety which it would involve.

Elsie was convicted of drunkenness in police court Thursday afternoon. She was given a straight sentence of five days in the county jail. That she was not sent to the municipal lodging house is considered a mistake by some who have been in touch with the case.

Attorney Wharton and one judge had planned to send her to the home, but through a misunderstanding the other judge handled the case. He did not know of the arrangement and perhaps did not think of the municipal lodging house when he imposed the sentence. It was the first case which has come before the court since the place was established in which the services of the municipal home might have been invoked. It was not called to his attention and he sent her to the county jail. He knew that the officials wished to detain her so that they could again communicate with her parents and that an investigation could be made to determine whether or not any further prosecutions would grow out of the situation. The police say that not nearly as much harm, if any, was done, as if a younger girl who had made her first misstep had been sent to the county jail. Several who had not been arrested before were arraigned several days ago, but all of them were placed on parole under the probation officer. None of them was sent to jail. Nor would Elsie have been had her case not been considerably different from that of the average young woman who is brought into headquarters.

Policemen regulating traffic on the corners of the crowded districts of Indianapolis are having their feet kept warm for them this winter. They do not have to jig or dance or hop in order to keep the lower extremities from freezing. They are standing over small radiators set in manholes and connected with local heating systems. George Woods, the traffic policeman at Third avenue west and Superior street, would appreciate such an arrangement, but he is not building any fond hopes of getting it this winter.

Little is known of Robert Thomas, about 50 years old, who died last night at St. Mary's hospital. He was taken to the institution two nights ago in a delirious condition, suffering from a severe attack of pneumonia. He died without recovering consciousness. The hospital authorities say that he was brought to the hospital by some one, evidently a friend, but they have no further information about him. Their records show that he was there in March, 1911, for an operation. The names of no relatives were obtained but it seems that he had friends residing at 23 Eleventh avenue west. He is thought to have worked in the woods as a blacksmith.

About $3 in pennies was stolen, presumably by boys, from the butcher shop at 527 East Fourth street. They broke in through the rear. An effort was also make to rifle the grocery store of Robert Lueck at 525 East Fourth street. Mr. Lueck, who lives upstairs, went inside the store about 11 o'clock to fix the fire and frightened the would-be thieves away. They had already cut a hole through the door and slipped the bolt. As far as could be learned, they obtained nothing.

The number of lodgers at headquarters has taken a sudden jump the last two nights. Last night fifteen men sought shelter in the bull pen and eleven applied the night before. Previously but four or five have been stopping in jail over night.

The grist this morning could not have been smaller and have been a grist. It contained a single man, Richard V. De Coster, billed for drunkenness. He admitted the allegation but was given a suspended sentence.

Peter Stula was found not guilty in police court yesterday afternoon of having stolen a coat from Peter Babich at New Duluth. He was discharged.

Oscar Wailand, who sprained his knee while wrestling in the bull pen night before last, was taken to the poor farm yesterday. He will remain there until he is able to walk again.

The police have been asked to try to locate John Vaughn, thought to be in or near this city. He is described as weighing 150 pounds, smooth-faced and with a dark complexion. His home is in Wheatland, Pa. His brother writes that if he is in jail he would not give his right name as he would be afraid his mother might see it in the newspapers.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Benson of Minneapolis are anxious to get trace of their son, Walter Benson, 23 years old. Mrs. Benson has not heard from him since he left home Dec. 31. He said he was going to try to join some league ball team, having played ball before. His parents wish that he would write to them so that they may know where he is and that nothing has happened to him.

He is about 5 feet 8 inches tall and of medium complexion. He wore a grayish, dark brown overcoat, a purplish brown checked suit and a derby, according to his parents' letter.

TELEPHONES FOR AUTOS

Motorists and Settlers Will Be Able to "Plug in".

A boon to the autoist who likes to tour, and who makes the range route much, will be offered when present plans of the Zenith Telephone company are completed. No matter where the autoist happens to be along the Miller trunk road, should he have a blowout or any other accident which will require expert help, he will have it at hand in a very short time.

The company now has part of the necessary poles on the ground for a line to the range towns, and expects to begin building before long. It already has a franchise at Biwabik, expects the one applied for at Gilbert to go through next week, and hopes to obtain one at Virginia in a short time.

If all this comes about a system of telephone service unique to the Northwest will be installed. At distances of about two miles or less apart on the Miller trunk road, small telephone sockets will be attached to poles. In this socket, a person possessing the necessary key, can insert the connection of a hand telephone and connection with the nearest central office is obtained. This hand telephone is a neat looking instrument and in the case of an autoist, can be carried in the tool box with ease—in fact it is so compactly packed that it can almost be carried in a pocket. A box six inches wide and ten inches long will contain it. The proposition as it now presents itself is that the Zenith company will rent to autoists one of these telephones and whatever service is necessary. Therefore, an autoist who happens to have an accident on the Miller trunk road need not walk over a mile to get to the pole socket and call for whatever kind of aid is necessary.

Settlers along the route will be granted the same privilege, and it is believed that such service will be eagerly accepted, for except to those settlers who are close to the road, there would be considerable cost to get the telephone service to their houses.

It is believed that the introduction of this innovation is chiefly due to the development of auto touring from Duluth to the ranges and of range auto drivers coming to Duluth.

DEMOCRATS NOW IN CONTROL OF SENATE

Election of Shields Gives Them One-Half of Members.

Washington, Jan. 25.—Democratic control of the next senate, which became a certainty when John K. Shields was elected by the Tennessee legislature Thursday, now rests at the minimum strength of forty-eight, exactly one-half of the membership of the senate.

Democratic leaders, disappointed in the recent loss of Senator Gardner's seat in Maine, are now hopefully watching Illinois, New Hampshire, West Virginia and Wyoming in the belief that a Democratic senator may be added to the lists for some of the states.

The control of the senate, if no further Democratic additions are made, will be so narrow as to make action on many contested problems, and on tariff legislation, a matter of constant doubt.

With Vice President Marshall's vote to rely upon in the case of a tie, the Democrats will have control of the senate organization and of general senate affairs. It is recognized, however, that on may tariff questions and on other matters of general legislation divisions within the party after March 4 may in many cases reduce the Democratic majority to the vanishing point.

The fight against Senator Warren in Wyoming, the contest to upset Senator Fall's re-election in New Mexico and the effort to make some arrangement that will give the Democrats at least one of the two places to be filled in Illinois, now are holding the attention of the party leaders. Democratic control after March 4 will be strengthened by the long standing division within Republican ranks and the presence of at least two Progressives, Senators Clapp and Poindexter, on the Republican side of the chamber.

SENTENCED FOR ROBBING MAILS.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge Amidon of the Federal court imposed a sentence of nine months in jail on S. H. Woolsey, a railway mail clerk, formerly running into Portal. The prisoner pleaded guilty of robbing letters in the mails.

NEW LINES IN MONTANA

Soo Railroad Plans Extensions of 725 Miles of New Road.

Will Build From Plaza to Connect With Canadian Pacific.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 25.—The Soo line will put $25,000,000 into the building of 725 miles of new road, which will cross the state of Montana and strike the Canadian Pacific somewhere near the extreme edge of Montana, where the state of Idaho begins. This announcement was made today by President Edmund Pennington, who has just returned from a trip to Montreal.

In December the road announced the extension of the Plaza, N. D., line, thirty miles to the Missouri river and the new plans given out today in part are a continuation of that scheme.

The road will build from Plaza, crossing the Missouri river at Sansit, and then strike westward following the Yellowstone river for 250 miles across the northern part of Dawson county. According to the plan the line will then go over the Mussel Shell river into Fergus county, cross the southwestern portion of Choteau county, enter Teton county in the western end of Montana, and then strike northerly and westerly, crossing the Canadian boundary either in Teton or Flathead counties.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS

COMING HERE TO PLAY VOLLEY BALL

Grand Forks Business Men Want Game With Duluth Capitalists.

For the first time in the history of Duluth a visiting volley ball team is coming here for a game with one of the volley ball teams of this city. The Grand Forks, N. D., volley ball team, led by C. W. Graves, secretary of the Commercial club of that city, will meet a team picked from the Y. M. C. A. business men's class, at the gymnasium on next Thursday evening.

All of the men participating in the game will be representative business men of Grand Forks and Duluth.

Some time today the business men of Duluth will hold a meeting and make further arrangements for the game. It is expected that the visiting players will be entertained and made to feel the Duluth boosting spirit.

CLEVELAND HOCKEY TEAM WILL COME

Guy Warren, chairman of the hockey committee of the Duluth Curling club, today received a wire from the manager of the Cleveland hockey team, stating that the games with Cleveland have been decided definitely and that the Forest City bunch will play here on the evenings of Feb. 6 and 7.

The statement published this morning in regard to the dates for the game between the Duluth team and Houghton at Houghton is erroneous. The Duluth seven will play at Houghton on Jan. 28 and 29.

Cleveland will play the Houghton team on Feb. 4 and 5 of next month, and it is also probable that Coddy Winters' aggregation will meet the Phoenix team of St. Paul on the evening of Feb. 9, though this date is not certain as yet.

Duluth has also arranged a game with the Virginia team for Feb. 8, the game being scheduled for the range city.

BRIEF INTERVIEWS WITH ZENITH CITY VISITORS

J. H. Smith of Des Moines, Iowa, stated at the Spalding today that Duluth was making no mistake in voting in favor of the commission form of government.

"Des Moines started to boom when the commission form of city government went into effect," he declared. "Our streets were poorly paved and the town was something like an overgrown village.

"The commissioners, because they were intelligent men, took hold and started to advertise the city. Des Moines started to grow and wake up. Now it is one of the most wideawake cities in the country for its size and also one of the best governed. Des Moines has achieved fame for its form of government and its citizens have also felt the benefit."

William Rigg, known to most of the men and women of the Northwest, at the Holland today, declared that the business prospects of the Northwest were the best in years.

"I have been traveling over the greater part of Minnesota, that is the northern part," said Mr. Rigg, "and the conditions are everywhere good. The ranges expect one of the very best years that they have ever had. The lumbermen of the Northwest are also feeling very optimistic."

K. M. Nicoles, former superintendent of the Northern Pacific at Duluth, but now stationed at Dilworth, N. D., on the Fargo division, is a booster for Fargo.

"Fargo is the liveliest city in the world for its size," declared Mr. Nicoles. "The people in North Dakota are feeling great these days. They had a pretty good crop up there and the prospects right now are very good for another big one. Dakota shares in with the optimism of the Northwest, for we are looking for a great season."

PASSES ON CASE IN HIS BEDROOM

Sick Grand Forks Judge Grants Divorce in Sleeping Apartment.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Though ill in bed with an attack of grip, Judge C. M. Cooley of the district court was able to grant Mrs. Emma Blumenthal a divorce from Edwin Blumenthal, she pleading desertion.

For the occasion Judge Cooley transferred his divorce court to his bedroom, and, wrapped in a long bathrobe, he heard the woman tell her story and granted the separation.

The couple were wedded in Crookston in 1905, and she charges that he deserted her in July 9, 1909.

Preparing for Big Race.

Buffalo, N. D., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Harry Buckley, the auto driver, who was born and reared here, is in California preparing for the big road races in that state. After his sensational work at the Savannah road races, he was planning a trip back here, but has not been able to renew old acquaintances so far.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR NOTES

For Sunday, Jan. 26, the topic is: "Mission Work, at Home and Abroad; first Evangelism." Acts xiii, 14-44.

The quarterly Christian Endeavor rally of the Duluth union was held on Friday, Jan. 17, at the First Christian church. The attendance from all the societies was 215. The banner was taken by the Harvey Webb Methodist Episcopal society, it having the best attendance, while the Union Church society was second and the Highland society, third. An illustrated lecture "Scandinavia and Holland" was given by Dr. M. S. Rice of the First M. E. church.

Sunday, Feb. 2, will be observed by the Union Church Endeavor society as Christian Endeavor day, it being the anniversary of the founding of the Christian Endeavor movement by Dr. Francis E. Clarke. The leader for the evening, C. J. Hockin, who is president of the Duluth union, is preparing a special program for the evening. A cordial welcome is extended to all. The Union church holds its services in the K. P. hall.

C. J. Hockin, president of the Duluth Christian Endeavor union, will be one of the speakers on Sunday evening at an installation service to be held by the Westminster society of West Duluth.

Miss Ruth Webb will lead the Christian Endeavor meeting at the Highland Presbyterian church Sunday evening, the time of the meeting being 6:30 p. m.

The Christian Endeavor meeting of the First Baptist church will be in charge of the president. The time of meeting will be 1 p. m. B. C. Wade, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., will speak to the young people during the regular meeting on "Service." Don't fail to catch this important message from a man who is well qualified to speak.

The study class meets as usual on Monday evening at the home of the pastor, Rev. Mr. Sayles, in the Berkshire apartments.

The monthly executive meeting will be held at the home of the president, Walter Hoeffiin, on Tuesday evening, the 28th. This will be a very important meeting and every officer should plan to be present.

The Christian Endeavor meeting of the First Presbyterian church will be in charge of the prayer meeting committee; time of meeting, 6:45 p. m. Stanley Lamb will have charge of the meeting of the Lakeside society in the Christian Endeavor rooms of the church. This society will have charge of the meeting at the county farm this Sunday, and will take the car leaving Lester Park at 1:50 p. m. On their return they will go directly to the Christian Endeavor rooms of the church for the Christian Endeavor meeting.

Miss Dorothy Older, who is chairman of the missionary committee of the First Christian church, will lead the Christian Endeavor meeting at 6:45. Everyone is requested to come prepared to talk on the subject. The society met Monday evening at the home of Miss Haglar, 1219 East Fourth street, where they practiced special music for the Christian Endeavor day, which is Feb. 2.

Miss Margaret Tidball will lead the Christian Endeavor meeting of this society Sunday evening. The time of meeting will be 7 p. m. Special topics are being prepared. This will be an interesting meeting. Those expecting to come to a dry missionary meeting will be disappointed. This society meets in the K. P. hall.

The Glen Avon Christian Endeavor society will hold its regular monthly missionary meeting this Sunday evening at 7 o'clock.

TheChristian Endeavor of the Second Presbyterian church will meet at 7 p. m. The topic for the evening will be "The Uplift of China," with Mrs. McCaughey as leader.

The Lakeside society will have charge of the meeting this Sunday at the county farm. Those desiring to go will take the incline car leaving Superior street on or about 2:30 p. m. The society will leave Lakeside on the car leaving Lester Park at 1:50. This is a very pleasant outing for the Sunday afternoon, mingled with the missionary spirit.

REDUCES PHONE RATES.

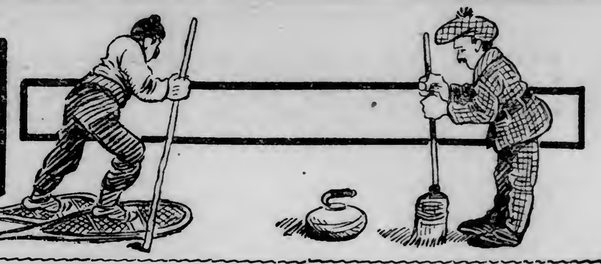

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Michigan State Telephone company has reduced toll service in Mackinac and Chippewa counties. The tariff from St. Ignace and Mackinac Island to Cedarville and Hessel has been cut from 80 cents to 25 cents and to De Tour from 90 cents to 35 cents, with an additional charge from Mackinac Island of 25 cents for cable service, as formerly. The reduction in rates means a considerable saving to the business interests of the two counties.

SPORTS

Gossip, Comment and Sporting Editorial Review as Written By Bruce.

NOSING into view as the next event on the Duluth sport program, the amateur boxing program stands out and cheers three times to attract attention. While a decided innovation here, glove wielding under the protecting wing of the amateur rules, is no new sporting pastime of the East. The simon pures have boxed in many sections of the effete country, and right soon the championship tournaments are to be held down New Orleans way.

Promoter Arthur L. Ryberg has enough men entered in the tournament to stage seven bouts during the course of the evening's entertainment. Two of the contestants are budding white hopes, one weighing something around the comfortable and complete heftage of 218 pounds, and his rival scaling in right near this palpitating mark.

While there will be all sorts of amusement and hilarity is expected to run high during the show, there promises also to be some very clever boxing. Some of the home talent gang have speed, cleverness and the ability to put 'em over; and considering the fact that the entrants have been working for several weeks for this chance of publicly exhibiting their prowess, several corking bouts promise to result from the generous melee of mixing.

WE might as well call it the Winona wail. One of the purring papers of the city of vested interests devotes three columns to describing the grand opportunity of getting into a real league and being in close proximity to the live ones, meaning of course, the league we expect to travel with this season about to be.

The man behind the quivering quill points out that the total population of the new alignment, including Winona in the list of franchise holders, is 819,241, which, by the way, is considered quite classy enough for the hated rival of La Crosse.

While it's kind of mean to thus rudely sink the harpoon of disdain, it must be said that Winona is one village and belongs strictly in the Saturday afternoon and Sunday league. While this soft impeachment still tingles, let us state that Red Wing and Rochester generally follow the lead of Winona, and thus it can be seen at one quick glance that there isn't the slightest chance in the world for the wooded and well shaded village, with its retired farmers, coupon counters—though there are some mighty pretty girls—and others, who still have the habit of going down to the depot to welcome the train, to break into the new league.

Avaunt with the idea; please chase it away, for it surely will irritate you should you continue to fondle it.

HIS honor, Governor Sulzer of New York, after inspecting the boxing bill of the Empire state comes to the front and declares the legalized boxing of that commonwealth is all to the goody good.

There were rumors and reports and stern declarations anent the attitude of the new ruler of the state. Some were of the firm opinion that the "Gov" would be "set agin" the boxing game. But, after investigating the present law covering the contests in the Eastern state, and further investigating the manner in which the contests are conducted in New York, the executive has stated that there is no fault to be found.

EVERY once in a while there is something said about the flimsy structure of the Eiffel tower of Paris, and the the poor population in the immediate vicinity shivers with the icy reverberations of apprehension. The rock of Gibraltar is fairly safe from adverse criticism, but life insurance companies, the characters of great men and copper stocks are institutions that create a foment of uneasiness every once in a while. After this period comes Ed Konetchy, first baseman and larger part of the St. Louis Nationals.

With Roger Bresnahan and Edward on the team—and by the by, before we forget, Konetchy is from La Crosse—no, honestly, it's true—the fans down St. Louie way could also state with some degree of truth that they had at least part of a great team.

But Mrs. Helene Hathaway Britton, she up and held a remnant sale, so to speak, or worse than that, gave away one of the two remaining great, and now Konetchy is the only one left.

And here is where we come to the great uneasiness stage, which, as we have pointed out and endeavor lucidly to explain, comes at frequent intervals to various men and institutions.

Konetchy, rumor ranteth, may leave the Cardinals, and then, pray, what would there be to the team?

Therefore while the cits of Paris may have apprehensions, and other vaguely impending events may shake the plastic nerves with fear, St. Louis, too, has its trials and tribulations, for Konetchy, the one remaining hope of the few faithful fans, may leave the team.

IT IS generally believed that the league—here we hesitate for want of a name—the league that is going to be made of Duluth and the Twin Cities and some more towns, is going to return to the three-game series plan.

Last year, as some of you will recall, the four-game series idea was tried—and found in some respect wanting. The three night stand has been tried in many places by the theatrical managers and found desirous. Baseball men in the American association last year went to experimenting and monkeyed a bit with the four game stand. Now it is said that they are ready to go back to the trio trend of their ancient ways, and ditto is the song that will most likely be chanted by the moguls of this league.

The three game plan gives the fans a greater variety and a more legitimate excuse when accounting shortness in salary to friend wife.

For instance, when John, let us say, says to Mary, his wife, let us say, that he is going out to see the St. Paul team, Mary may counter with the trite and true statement that John hiked out to the park yesterday and witnessed the gambol between the same teams.

John can only hang his bean and curse the exigencies of the situation.

But, and here is the emphasis, should it be that St. Paul only played three games, John could come to Mary on the merry morrow, and say, in this manner:

"Canst go to the baseball game, Mary?"

And Mary, arching two black brows, replieth:

"Didst not see the Apostles play, John?"

And John, slowly smirking in his sleeve, comes back thusly:

"Yes, 'tis so, Mary dearest, but it is Minneapolis that would fain play today."

Mary, thus taken off her guard, sullenly relents and the magnate gets John's two bits.

Lid on Boxing.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 25.—Boxing is a thing of the past in Milwaukee, according to a statement handed down by District Attorney Yockey yesterday, after warrants had been issued for the arrest of Jack Redmond and Joe Welling, on the charge of participating in a prize fight here on Jan. 13.

DULUTH'S CRACK SHOT TEAM

This team, representing the field staff and band of the Third Infantry Minnesota National guard, won the battalion trophy, the A. B. Siewert trophy and the Superior trophy in 1912 and the indoor championship of Minnesota in 1909, also numerous other matches. All are members of the Third infantry team and four have shot in the national match. Nearly every member of the team has won a large number of individual medals and decorations. All the members of the team expect to go to Camp Perry, Ohio, this year to take part in the international to be held there.

WOLVERINES TO LOSE VALUABLE ATHLETE.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 25.—Charles Barton of the 1914 engineering class, varsity football player and member of the varsity track squad, has handed in his resignation to the engineering department of the University of Michigan. If Barton persists in his intention of giving up his university work, Michigan will lose a valuable athlete and the friends of the gridiron star are doing their best to deter him from taking this step. It is understood that Barton desires to give up his work in the university in order that he may enter business, though it is possible he may return to the university at some future date to resume his studies. Barton has announced to his friends, however, that he will not finish this semester's work.

All rumors as to whether Michigan would have Branch Rickey as the baseball coach this spring, were set at rest by the announcement that the baseball mentor would be on hand when the cage is lowered. Rickey was recently sold by the New York Americans to the St. Louis Browns and it was rumored he was to be tendered the position of secretary, and if so, he would not be able to coach Michigan. But whatever position he will occupy with that team, it is certain he will return here.

REPORT PREMATURE.

Chivington Thus Classes Talk of Minor League Invasion.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—President Tom Chivington of the American association last night said the report that the Wisconsin-Illinois team would be permitted to invade Milwaukee, St. Paul and Minneapolis during the coming session was premature.

"The annual meeting of the committee would investigate the feasibility of such action and the conditions under which the teams would be allowed to enter," Chivington said. "That committee has not held a meeting nor has it made any reports. The conditions might not suit the smaller league, so it would be better for the organization not to take any immediate action."

CHRIS VON DER AHE, THE BUTT OF BASEBALL, DYING

The Famous Owner of Four-Time Pennant Winners of St. Louis, Near the End of His Fantastical Career.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 25.—With his life hanging by a thread, Chris Von der Ahe, who put St. Louis on the baseball map, is fighting for his strenuous life to go into the "extra innings." His physician believes the ailment ultimately will put the veteran baseball magnate "out."

Chris Von der Ahe was born in Hille, Germany, in 1852. He came to the United States in 1870 and settled in St. Louis. Very soon after his arrival he opened a saloon and boarding house on the northwest corner of Grand and St. Louis avenues, then in the suburbs.

The present Sportsman's park was a vacant lot. The boys who played baseball, then in its infancy, resorted to this vacant lot. Von der Ahe found the people who came to see and to play baseball good customers at his bar.

So he became interested in baseball as he might have become interested in pretzels, peanuts or any other incitive to thirst and beer drinking.

In 1880, Al Spink, Charley Higgins, the late William F. Nolker, John J. O'Neill and others organized the St. Louis Baseball association. This club played independently in 1881 and made some money. Von der Ahe enjoyed the refreshments privileges and they proved more remunerative than the "gate" itself.

Much encouraged by the receipts of bar and gate, in 1881 Von der Ahe did what many of his critics have said was the one really clever business act of his baseball career. He bought a great majority of stock in the St. Louis Baseball association and became owner of the famous Four-Time Pennant Winners, the St. Louis Browns, of 1885-86-87-88.

Was Sport, Not Business, in '81.

Baseball in 1881 was deemed a sport, not a business. The stockholders of the St. Louis Baseball association bought a few shares each to help the sport along. A great majority of the stock was left in the hands of Von der Ahe to be sold, if possible.

At the end of the season Von der Ahe surprised and pleased his stockholders by telling them that he had sold all the stock in the club, 180 shares, at par, $10 each, or $1,800 in all.

"Who bought it, Chris," asked a delighted investor.

"Neffer mindt who pought it," said Von der Ahe. "Here is der check of Chris Von der Ahe for $1,800."

In the following eight years Von der Ahe made more than $500,000 on that original investment of $1,800, became a national figure, owned the greatest baseball team of the time, built blocks of houses about Grand and St. Louis avenue and was one of the most written and talked-about men in the United States.

For eight years he made money hand over fist, though his business methods were lax to a laughable degree. It has been often said that he was plundered of more than he made in these eight years.

Baseball war with the Brotherhood of Players' league, in 1890, and a war with the National league in 1891, depleted Von der Ahe's resources and changed his fabled "Dutchman's luck." His last winning club was that of 1891, which finished second in the American association, in which he had been chief, in fact, sole, factor for ten years.

Lost Club in 1899.

In 1892 he entered the twelve-club National league, and his teams invariably finished last or next to last until 1899, when the Sportman's Park and club were sold to satisfy the demands of Von der Ahe's innumerable creditors. The sale was made by the sheriff at the east steps of the courthouse, and bought by E. C. Becker, a retired grocer of St. Louis, for Frank De Hass and Mathew Stanley Robison, who transferred the Cleveland club to this city and named it the Cardinals.

Mrs. F. Schuyler Britton, the present owner of the Cardinal team, is a daughter of Frank De Hass Robison and directly inherited the property from her uncle, the late Mathew Stanley Robison. On his retirement from baseball in 1899 Mr. Von der Ahe went into the saloon business at his old place, Grand and St. Louis avenues. Later he was in business at Jefferson avenue and Olive street and Market and Thirteenth streets. The saloon at Jefferson avenue and Olive street is still in his estate.

A perfect picture of Gambrinus, and the possessor of a delightful German comedic dialect, a generous and wholesouled fellow, Von der Ahe became the delight of newspaper reporters and that part of the American people who read baseball and who like droll stories.

Chris was rubicund, stocky, possessed a wide smile and a great array of gold teeth and untold vitality. He soon became known as the "best buyer" that ever entered a saloon, and his fame and generosity, as well as his side-splitting dialect, and his grotesque mistakes, made him the idol of the fun-loving American people.

Hero of Dialect Stories.

Every funny German dialect story that came out was attributed to Von der Ahe.

He had among his players several wags and jesters, among them Arlie Latham, Charlie Comiskey, Tommy Dowd, Bill Gleason, Bobby Carruthers, Yank Robinson, etc., who never were so happy as when they were retailing "a new one on the Dutchman." The players always were playing practical jokes on their employer and always laying some pitfall for his entertaining tongue.

Thus "Von der Ahe stories" became so famous that a book of them was compiled at the time and has a large sale in baseball circles. One of the funniest was the umbrella-telephone tale which has in one form or another been used by generations of German dialectitians.

A friend phoned to Chris saying:

"I left an umbrella at your park today. Have you seen it."

Chris (at phone and holding up umbrella): "Vos dis idt?"

Again Von der Ahe was lecturing his players for drinking. "I will soagk any man vot I catch trinkin' vun munth's pay," cried Chris. "I ain'dt mention's no names, but if Ladam (Latham) or Macgardy (McCarthy) is listenin' dey know who I mean."

Anon Chris was again lecturing his winners for drinking. He had them in his room on the fifth floor of the old Fifth Avenue hotel, New York. His broken English elicited a loud laugh from Latham.

"Dott laff gosts you vun hundred, Ladam," cried Chris in great anger.

"Honest Boss," said Latham, "I was laughing at a boy that passed the window and made a face at me."

Easily Is Mollified.

"Dot's all right, den, Lad," said the good-hearted Von der Ahe, who gave no thought to the fact that a boy could scarce pass by a fifth-floor window.

Later on McCarthy called his attention to the oversight.

"Yee, Dommle," cried Chris, "why didn't you dell me, den. I'd half soaged Ladam two hundret instead of vun. Bud, it's too late now. He touched me for all der glub owed him before I got oud of der room."

ATTACK ON STANDING OF CHAMPION THORPE

Charged That Great Indian Athlete Played Professional Ball in 1910.

New York, Jan. 25.—Charges questioning the amateur standing of James Thorpe, the Indian athlete and all-round Olympic champion, were filed yesterday afternoon with James E. Sullivan, secretary of the Amateur Athletic union. The charges are important because if sustained they would destroy Thorpe's eligibility as an amateur when he won the penathlon and decathlon contests in the Olympic games in Stockholm last summer and also would depose him as the American all-round champion, a title he won here upon his return from Sweden.

The charges are based on the statement of Charles A. Clancy, manager of the Winston-Salem baseball team of the Carolina association. Clancy is quoted as stating that the Indian pitched and played first base for the Winston-Salem club in 1910.

CURLING SEASON WILL START OFF WITH A RUSH

Regular Trophy Event Play Will Begin Monday Evening and Rigid Rules Demand That All Games Be Played Promptly and on Scheduled Time.

Draws were made yesterday for the Duluth Universal Curling event and the Gruesen Curling events, two of the important trophy events of the season. The draw of the Universal completes the events and play will start in The Herald, Duluth Universal and Gruesen events Monday evening.

According to the mandate issued by the games committee, games will be rushed starting in on Monday evening. Rules have been adopted governing the play and their enforcement is to be rigid, according to the statement of the chairman of the committee.

All event games are to start promptly at 8 o'clock, and this means 8 o'clock. Just to prove it the games committee has made the rule that every 10 minutes delay after 8 o'clock will count as one point for the rink that is kept waiting.

The non-appearance of a rink will mean the forfeiture of a contest. If the skip of a rink can arrange with some other rink to take his place in an event and also secure the consent of the rink he is scheduled to play with, to this arrangement, a forfeit will not be marked against him. In other words, if the play is not hindered by some mutually agreeable arrangement that will work out in the draw, games will not be counted against rinks that cannot appear for their scheduled games.

But all games must be rushed, starting with the play of Monday evening, as there are something like 240 games to complete in the trophy events. All skips are warned that no excuses will be accepted and that all rinks must play their scheduled events, unless some arrangement, as explained above, can be made.

Following is the Monday draw and the Gruesen and Duluth Universal event draws:

Monday, Duluth Universal event—Dunlap vs. Richardson, Forsyth vs. Ketchum. Herald event—Pierce vs. Treadwell, Hemick vs. Farmer, Warren vs. Beerhalter. Gruesen event—Starkey vs. Hallock, Doran vs. Plotnicky.

Clabby Gets Decision.

Denver, Colo., Jan. 25.—Jimmy Clabby of Milwaukee was awarded the decision over Howard Baker of Boulder, Colo., at the end of a ten-round bout here last night. Clabby had an advantage in every round, knocking the Colorado boy down in the second and third rounds. Baker claims to have broken his right hand in the first round.

CATHEDRAL QUINT TO PLAY CLOQUET FIVE.

The Cathedral high school quint will go to Cloquet today to play the high school basket ball team of that town. This is a return game, the Cathedrals having defeated Cloquet in the local gymnasium Jan. 10. The team from the Brothers' school is badly crippled and after the poor showing made against Central last evening it is rather doubtful whether they will be able to carry off another victory this evening. Barrett, the speedy center for the Cathedrals, is suffering from a bruised muscle in the thigh and was almost useless last night. He will not be taken on the trip today, and it is hoped he will get in shape for the return game with Central, which takes place Feb. 4, in the C. A. C. gymnasium. Tourville will take his place at center. Summers, who has been laid up most of the past week with the grip, is in very poor shape and will have to be replaced by Nicholson. Both these men are speedy and should be able to check the Cloquet forwards. Graves and Monaghan are both in good condition, but with their team-play destroyed last evening neither of them was able to accomplish much.

CURLING TROPHY GIVEN BY THE PATRICK COMPANY AND THE WINNERS

J. CLELAND, THIRD; D. MacNEIL, SECOND; C. C. CHISHOLM, SKIP; E. E. HEFF, LEAD.

The Patrick-Duluth trophy was won last year by the Chisholm rink of Winnipeg. It is one of the handsomest trophies hung up at the spiel and is being contested for at St. Paul the present week.

PLAY BEGINS IN INTERNATIONAL

American Curlers Competing for Trophy Won From Canadians.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 25. — Play by American rinks for the International trophy, won from the Canadian curlers, was begun in the bonspiel of the Northwestern Curling association this morning. The first rinks in this contest are those skipped by Bob Dunbar of St. Paul and Kelm of Portage, Wis. Others in this contest are as follows: McNeil, Virginia, vs. Ordway, St. Paul; Thomas, Cambria, vs. Hartman, Eveleth; Kelly, St. Paul, vs. Russell, Superior; McGregor, Butte, vs. Wade, Duluth; Patterson, St. Paul, vs. McLeod, Minneapolis. Other contests being waged today are.

Duluth Curling club trophy — Lowe, Winnipeg, vs. McIver, Port Arthur; Williams, Winnipeg, vs. Rochon, Winnipeg.

Patrick-Duluth — Lightner, St. Paul, vs. Holland, Duluth.

Afternoon play will be: Dunbar, St. Paul, vs. Lightner, St. Paul.

Minneapolis club — Hastings, Minneapolis, vs. Hallock, Winnipeg; McGregor, Minneapolis, vs. McMillan, Butte; Rochon, Winnipeg, vs. Hunter, Minneapolis.

St. Paul Jobbers—Williams, Winnipeg, vs. Wade, Duluth.

Northwestern club — Hartman, Eveleth, vs. McLeod, Duluth; Robb, Eveleth, vs. Emerson, Duluth; Defiel, St. Paul, vs. Oldham, Duluth; Holland, Duluth, vs. Russell, Superior.

International—Stewart, St. Paul, vs. McNabb, Grand Rapids.

WANTS TO FORBID KILLING OF DOES.

Green Bay, Wis., Jan. 25.—Senator Timothy Burke will present a bill before the state senate that will have for its object to increase the number of deer in the Wisconsin forest and to protect human life.

The bill will provide that only bucks may be killed during the hunting season. The idea the Green Bay senator has is that if female deer may not be killed the supply of deer will be greatly increased in a few years.

When antlers appear before him the hunter will know he is allowed to shoot, and the senator believes that with his bill enacted into law the number of deaths each hunting season will be cut down 50 per cent, perhaps more.

MANY BOWLERS ENTER TOURNEY

Range Teams Will Take Part in Head of the Lakes Bowling Meet.

Range bowlers promise to send representatives to the Head of the Lakes bowling tournament, which will be held in Duluth from Feb. 5 to 16. The plan is to have all of the best bowling teams from Hibbing, Virginia, Chisholm, Eveleth and other range towns here, and these in competition with the teams from Duluth and Superior, should make the tournament the most successful ever held in the history of the local sport.

The entry list of the tournament will close this evening. President Dick Jacobs predicts the greatest tournament by far in the history of Duluth, and the present indications confirm the optimistic view of the president of the association.

CONCERNING THE GAZABO WHO GAMBOLED WITH "ANSE"

BY GRANTLAND RICE.

The Man Who Played with Anson on the Old Colt Team.

(Absorbing considerable of the paraphernalia and impetus from Eugene Field's account of "The Man Who Worked with Dana on the Noo York Sun.")

Thar showed up out in Mudville in the spring of eighty-three
A feller evidently just recoverin' from a spree;
He said his name wuz Casey and he wuz a sight to view
As he walked into the ballyard and inquired for work to do;
Thar wusn't any openin', for you might understand,
Them wuz the days when Mudville had a bunch of stars on hand;
But the stranger lingered, tellin' Mickey Nolan and the rest
What an all-fired battin' average he possessed when at his best;
Till finally he stated, quite by chance, as it would seem,
That he had played with Anson on the Old Colt team.

Wal, that wuz quite another thing; we owned that any cuss
Who'd played with old Pop Anson must be good enough for us;
So we took Casey at his word and signed him while we could,
Well knowin' if we didn't that some other ball club would;
For Kankakee wuz on the hunt for people who could play,
And Pikeville wouldn't overlook this feller any day;
So we give him quite a contract, though it made the others swear,
Sayin' we had done 'em dirty and it wuzn't on the square;
But we laid back and cackled—for the pennant warn't no dream
With the man who played with Anson on the Old Colt team.

It made our eyeballs nigh pop out and pop back in again
To hear that Casey tellin' of old Anson and his men;
Why, home runs wuz so common that nobody raised a hat
With Williamson, King Kelley or Fred Pfeffer at the bat;
A man who didn't hit above Five Hundred couldn't stick
With that old bunch, for Anson would release him mighty quick;
They handled ground balls with their teeth and often shut their eyes
While in the act of pullin' down the longest, hardest flies;
And after all the "fannin' bees" each night we used to dream
Of the man who played with Anson on the Old Colt team.

But somehow this feller Casey never felt like goin' in;
He spent his time at Wilson's shakin' poker dice for gin;
Whenever he wuz needed he wuz always sure to shirk,
Remarkin' he would have to wait before he started work;
If any other gent had loafed the way he used to do
We've have handed him the Tinware, with a fine to carry through;
But you see the fans respected him and backed him to the last
On account of his connections with the diamond in the past;
For no one felt like knockin' or handin' out a call
To one who'd played on Anson's team—the greatest of 'em all.

Wal, finally the climax came—the big test of the year;
The bugs were there in clusters from the country far and near,
Especially attracted by the statement made that day
That, having rounded into shape, big Casey was to play,
The other nine was lookin' kinder worried and upset,
And they wouldn't even listen to an even money bet;
We kidded 'em and joshed 'em, but no wagerin' wuz done
Till at last we placed a thousand at the odds of ten to one;
But even at these odds it looked an easy money scheme
With the man who played with Anson on the Old Colt team.

But Casey never drew a chance to shine in any way—
They handed him a base on balls without the least delay;
The pitcher didn't seem to care to put one over straight
While the man who played with Anson was a-standing at the plate;
He only had one fly in left, which bounded off his head—
(It seems the sun was shinin' in his countenance, he said).
And so the people waited in much anger and suspense
For Casey's show to wallop one across the outfield fence;
And it came—O yes, it landed with a nauseating rap
For the man who played with Anson and referred to him as "Cap."

Old Mudville wuz a run behind when that last ending came;
The bases full and two wuz out—a hit would win the game.
"He's got to put it over now"—each rooter waved his hat
And shouted in delirium as Casey came to bat.
The first two inshoots jumped across the center of the plate
As Mr. Anson's college chum found out a bit too late;
The next looked good, and Casey swung—there came a mighty crack,
But the noise originated from the spine in Casey's back;
In reaching for that outshoot he had wrenched the spinal beam
Of the man who played with Anson on the Old Colt team.

That night we wired Anson to discover if he knew
A guy by name of Casey—as we felt we oughter do;
And when the answer came ne xt day it stirred up quite a fuss;
"Yes, I remember Casey well; he carried bats for us."
We hunted for him quite a spell, but he had gone away—
Else the daisies would be bloomin' over his remains today;
But if you land in Mudville on the lookout for some fun
Don't ever mention Casey's name unless you wear a gun.

CENTRAL EASILY BEATS CATHEDRAL

High School Basket Ball Team Defeats Catholic Quint 56 to 10.

Duluth Central high school last night easily defeated the Cathedral five at basket ball, the score being 56 to 10. The Central quint proved its utter superiority in every department of the game. In floor covering, basket shooting, team play and combination play the Centrals simply outclassed their opponents.

The curtain raiser of the evening was the game between the juniors and seniors of Central, this contest being for the class championship of the school. The third year men won by the score of 33 to 23, the good work of the junior guards preventing the seniors from overcoming the early lead of the near-to graduates.

The first half in the main evening contest closed with the score 21 to 5 in Central's favor. The combination work of the hill top boys proved too strong, while the defensive work of the guards broke up and completely smothered the attack of the Cathedrals.

Osman of the high school team proved the star, shooting eleven baskets. Jeronimus and Harris also starred, these two players breaking up the attack of the Cathedral quint.

The summary:

High school—Forwards, Elder, Duclett, Werntz and Lawrenz; center, Osman; guards, Jeronimus and Harris.

Cathedrals—Forwards, Graves and Monaghan; center, Barrett and Terville; guards, Daugherty and Summers.

GREAT BOOSTER OF THE HOCKEY SPORT

GUY WARREN,
Chairman of the Hockey Committee of Duluth Curling Club.

BOSTON WANTS NEW YORK MEN

Stallings Would Give Campbell for Speedy Little Josh Devore.

New York, Jan. 25.—George Stallings, custodian of the much managed Boston Nationals, is casting covetous glances at a portion and a half of the Giants. Perhaps it would be more correct to say three half-portions, for the midgets upon whom the eagle eye of the big chief is trained are Josh Devore, Heiny Groh and Milton Stock.

All three of these diminutive athletes have worked for Stallings in the minors—Devore at Newark, and Groh and Stock at Buffalo. Big George has an idea that McGraw can spare either Groh or Stock if Artie Shafer reports, and he hopes to coax Devore away by offering Vincent Campbell in exchange for the Terre Haute capitalist.

Stallings is coming up from his Georgia plantation next week to have talks with his boss, Jim Gaffney, and Manager McGraw, who closes his vaudeville engagement Saturday night, and will be here Monday to attend strictly to baseball affairs.

While the Boston club has a good shortstop in Maranville and several outfielders, Stallings can find a regular berth for a handy chap like Groh. The big chief must practically remodel his infield. Bill Sweeney is sure of a job at second base, but Stallings is not keen on starting the season with two beginners — Maranville and Buesguarding the left side of the diamond.

When Devore first joined the Giants, Stallings took Josh over to Newark for a year and taught him many things. Stallings always praised the little fellow's work, and would like to have him again. The Boston team, as now constituted, lacks individual and team speed, and Devore is fast.

If Stallings can convince McGraw that Vincent Campbell will play ball in New York the prospect for a deal is good. Campbell is one of the speediest outfielders in the game, a wonderful fielder and a good base runner. He never has developed into a star because of his weak hitting. But Vincent is a smart youth, and with competent instructors he might develop into a good hitter. Anyway he is the type of player that McGraw admires, and he certainly has great possibilities.

Campbell has married since the close of last season and announces that he has quit baseball. At present he is in business in St. Louis. He made this assertion two years ago, however, and undoubtedly a chance to perform with the Giants and get into a world's series would cause him to change his mind. But it is fairly certain that he will not go back to Boston.

Whatever success McGraw has in developing George Burns as a regular outfielder will play a part in Devore's future.

JOHNSON IS BEST.

Hal Chase Says Washington Pitcher Has It on Baumgartner.

New York, Jan. 25.—"I'm just a bit interested in this talk of young Baumgartner, the Brownie's pitcher, being speedier than Walter Johnson," says Hal Chase, the Highlanders' crack southside first sacker. "That sort of talk is always heard in the winter and fades away before spring comes. By the time the hot weather shows up all these phenoms are out of sight, and the big fellow with the Washington club is winning game after game, fanning the best hitters in the league, and piling up more laurels for himself.

"I never hit against Rusie, but I don't believe he had a bit more speed than Johnson. His 'jump ball' wasn't a bit harder to touch than Walter's wicked 'hook.' Why, when Johnson is going at top speed, it's just a mere guess when you swing your bat. No man in the world can follow the course of the ball.

"This Baumgartner is a pretty good pitcher at that, but it's all rot to compare his speed with Johnson's; all rot."

If you are "easily satisfied" with your boarding place, it will not be long before nothing else will matter much, either.

CANADIANS PROVE EASY

Fast Duluth Hockey Team Defeats Fort Frances By 11 to 1 Score.

Team Work Counts in Locals' Favor—Linder and Grenner Prove Stars.

The Fort Frances hockey team was overwhelmed last evening by the Duluth seven, the Canadians being beaten by the score of 11 to 1. While the visitors were grievously handicaped by the absence of their regular goal tender, the score last night shows with steady eyes and unlying lips the true merits of the two teams.

Duluth's playing last night is ample evidence of the vast improvement of the team under the coaching of Joe Linder. It was team work that won for the Duluth boys, and in this department of the game the local players were vastly superior to the men from across the international border line.

Not only did the opening game with the Canadian cousins show the general improvement of the Duluth team, but it also served to display the decided improvement in the stick handling of Duluth representatives. In the old days it was shooting and stick handling, along with a lamentable lack of team play, that worked against the chances of local teams. Last evening's play showed plainly that many of these weaknesses have been overcome.

In a measure Joe Linder proved the star of the game, through the work of Helmer Grenner stood out as one of the features of the evening. But one can't stop at any one player, or two, either. Olson at goal made some great stops and saved the locals from being scored upon several times, while Mahan, "Doc" Tamblyn and Jimmy Owens also scintillated copiously, if one can use the term.

Rough Work.

One of the regrettable incidents, not accidents, of the evening was the fouling of Halward of the visitors by Joe Linder. The Duluth leader struck the visitor over the head with his stick, putting him out for several minutes. No matter what the provocation was the play was a dirty one and failed to make a hit with the large crowd.

For the first few minutes of the game the play was even. Fort Frances rushed the puck into the territory of the locals, but the team passing of the visitors was poor and they failed to seriously endanger the Duluth goal. Duluth got started quickly and then began rushing the puck on combination play down to the goal of the Canadians, though the defense of the visitors showed fairly strong early in the game.

It was shortly after the start of the game that Linder took the swinging shot at Halward and drew 10 minutes on the railing.

During the latter part of the contest the combination rushes of Duluth completely took the Fort Frances defense off its feet, with the result that massed shots accounted for several of the goals scored by local men.

When Duluth had the puck there were generally three men in the play and several times clever combinations were effected right at the opposing net; and as a rule the play of the visitors was lacking in combination play, which resulted in the majority of passes being stopped before they got to the net.

Grenner Scores.

Helmer Grenner made the first score after 15 minutes of play, making a pretty running shot from an angle of the goal. This was after the Duluth players had begun rushing the puck down in the territory of the visitors and Helmer was the first to get by the defense of the fort.

Two minutes after Genner's goal, Jimmy Owens rushed the puck up the ice and made a pretty shot that left the ice and sailed through the opposing net. Johnny Mahan came through in about five minutes with a shot from scrimmage right in front of the Canadian cage.

About five minutes before the call of the first half, which went thirty minutes, George Angus of the visitors shot a short one from scrimmage, the shot eluding the vigilance of Goalkeeper Olson, though it was a hard one to stop. This both started and ended the scoring for the visitors.

Work started with a rush in the second half. The game hardly fairly started before Joe Linder took the puck and unaided rushed it up the ice and shot a short and snappy one in. Helmer Grenner made a scrimmage shot one minute later and in another minute came through with his second of the half.

In quick succession "Doc" Tamblyn, Johnny Mahan, Arnie Olson and Helmer Grenner scored. Just to make the good a little better and his record for the evening fat, Grenner shot one before the close of play, making his total of the night five, which isn't so bad. Helmer is from the West end.

With the regular goalkeeper in the game the Canadians are expected to make a better showing this evening. The visitors were considerably travel worn and after the rest of last night should go on the ice and make the Duluth boys travel some.

The lineup:

COUDERAY TRAPPER CATCHES TWO WOLVES

Couderay, Wis., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. H. Moyer of this place in making the rounds of his traps yesterday morning found two large timber wolves in two of them. The bounty is $20 on each wolf and the hides sell for $5 each so the day's catch netted him $50. There is an unusual large number of timber wolves in this locality this winter.

STAGELAND

AT THE LYCEUM

"Madame Sherry," the sensational musical production of a decade, is to be presented at the Lyceum next Friday and Saturday with a matinee Saturday.

Each year in the theatrical world there are just so many successes—plays that immediately grip the public and cause them to go to the theater night after night and applaud and enjoy the work of the artists appearing. Then out of these few successes, there is generally one that strikes a note much higher—so much so that it stands practically alone. Such a one was "Madame Sherry." Its success was immediate and lasting as was verified by the hundreds of thousands who flocked to see it wherever produced.

What is claimed to be the most wonderfully lyrical musical play of a decade, "The Quaker Girl," which is coming to this city, will be seen at the Lyceum Friday and Saturday, Feb. 7 and 8. This great English operetta was the tremendous hit of the coronation year in London, where it ran for two solid years at George Edwardes' Royal Adelphi theater, from whence it went to Paris for a year and ran all last year at the Park theater in New York with record-breaking success. The company consists of nearly 100 people headed by Victor Morley in the stellar role. There is a chorus of fifty fresh, young "American Beauties" with voices that match their physical perfections, and a metropolitan orchestra of twenty pieces. The scenery and electrical effects are so elaborate that they require three baggage cars for transportation. The entire stupendous production will tour the United States, Mexico, South America and the European centers. The authors of the play are Lionel Monckton, who wrote the score, Percy Greenbank and Adrian Ross of "Merry Widow" fame, who wrote the lyrics and James T. Tenner, who wrote the book. The plot of the story which weaves adroitly into one complete and melodious whole the twenty wonderful lyrics of the piece, concerns the adventures and love affair of a young Quaker girl who is cast off by her own people and who goes to Paris to see the world. She falls in love, quarrels with her jealous sweetheart and makes it up again and goes to a grand ball as the guest of a prince, where she turns the heads of the nation, but she remains true to Tony, though he doubts it, and the romance ends beautifully as all romances should. The role of Tony Chute, the hero of the play, is enacted by Victor Morley, who is perfectly irresistible with his buoyant spirits, his graceful dancing and his magnetic personality. The libretto is delightful; the music is lilting and heart-reaching, too, at times, and the spectacle of the grand ball with its scores of beautiful women dazzlingly gowned and bejeweled, is almost beyond description.

"Robin Hood," revived on a musical and spectacular scale that establishes a new record for American light opera productions, will be presented by the De Koven Opera company at the Lyceum theater, Feb. 10-11.

The De Koven Opera company is an organization formed to restore the glories of light opera to a stage that is now entirely unfamiliar with the possibilities of this style of entertainment, and it has been planned to be to America what the Opera Comique is to Paris. Mr. De Koven, the famous composer of "Robin Hood," together with a number of interested friends, organized the company, which may to a certain extent be regarded as an offshoot of the famous Metropolitan Opera company of New York since many of its directors are also directors of the Metropolitan. In organizing the cast for this revival of "Robin Hood" which ran for six months in New York, the forces of the Metropolitan were called upon and they responded with the "loan" of three principal artists—Miss Bessie Abott, who sings Maid Marian; Henrietta Wakefield and Herbert Waterous, the celebrated basso. From London came Walter Hyde, the internationally famous tenor of Covent Garden, who sings the title role. Other members of this remarkable cast are Carl Gantvoort, of the Boston Opera company; Miss Sylva Van Dyck of the Royal Opera, Dresden; Frank V. Pollock of the London Grand Opera company; Pauline Hall, Edwin Stevens, Anna Bussert, Dorothy Arthur, George Frothingham, Philip Sheffield and a grand opera chorus of eighty. The production has been lavishly staged under the personal direction of Daniel V. Arthur. It is safe to say that never before in light opera has there been such a magnificent revival as that of "Robin Hood."

"All the world's a stage," says Shakespeare. Thus did the myriad-minded poet-philosopher convey the thought that all mankind are only "players," and it is exactly this idea which is illustrated by Lyman H. Howe's Travel Festival which comes to the Lyceum the latter part of February. There is, however, this difference. Shakespeare regarded his lines as a mere figure of speech—as a figurative way of describing the insincerity of human nature. Lyman H. Howe's Travel Festival makes the whole world its "stage" in a most literal sense. Shakespeare's lines are symbolical—Mr. Howe's pictures are pictures of actualities. Shakespeare's words convey flights of fancy. Howe's reproductions record facts. Mr. Howe's "stage" is not made up of "portable" scenery. His scenery is a transcription of nature—the very counterpart of nature. Unlike an ordinary dramatic spectacle, he does not need to tax the credulity or imagination of spectators by expecting them to regard trains built of boards and trees or palaces made from canvas, etc., as real. On the contrary, when, from a comfortable theater seat, you encompass the whole work-a-day world-stage with Howe and witness its wonderful wealth of tone, form and color, and its human activities momentous and frivolous, you are not looking at a world of sham, pretense and artifice such as Shakespeare had in mind, but a real world palpitating with realities.

The Lyceum will have one of the most interesting attractions of the season early in March in the world-famed motion pictures of Paul J. Rainey's African hunt. After viewing them, it will be easy to understand why they continued to draw crowded houses for five months at the Lyceum theater, New York, remaining throughout the heat of the entire summer, and why they have proven a veritable sensation wherever else they have been shown.

There are many unusual and instructive features to this new theatrical diversion, for while there have been motion pictures before of wild animals, these are the first to show the beasts of the jungle exactly as they live in their native haunts. Nearly every animal which Noah is credited with having taken into the Ark is shown by the Rainey pictures. Herds of antelopes, zebras, monkeys, elephants, lions and even as many as seven rhinos at one time pass before the astounded gaze of the audience. The playfulness of some of the animals, the grouchiness of others become clearly apparent as the films are unreeled. Rhinos engage in a royal battle, while baboons chase one another across the ground.

The famous water hole picture fairly holds one spellbound as one species of wild animal after another comes there to drink. Many new lights on how the different animals do drink are shed by the accurate records of the camera.

A very interesting and instructive lecture makes clear every detail of the pictures, which afford even keener delight to children than to grown-ups.

George M. Cohan's latest play, "Broadway Jones," which has proved a sensation in New York, will be the attraction at the Lyceum in March.

"Broadway Jones" is positively the best play Mr. Cohan has ever written. The young author has put a touch of nature into his latest work that lives long in the memory of the audience, the comedy is clean and will appeal to every one. The plot is woven around characters chosen from the walks of every day life. It tells a true story of how a pretty girl can inspire the spirit in a man to fight for his rights and the people who love him.

Included in the cast who will present the play here are John Webster, Ralph Morgan, George Schaefer, Caroline Lill, George C. Staley, Daniel Burns, Jack Pierce, Marie Taylor, Fred Maynard, Grace Morrissey, Edith Lucket, George K. Henry, Charles H. Henderson and Dore Rodgers.

In the hotel scene at Ostend, portrayed in the second act of Werba and Luescher's great musical success, "The Rose Maid," realism is said to run riot. Life in a modern fashionable hotel has been portrayed with much faithful detail. The setting shows the lower floors of a sixteen-story hotel at the height of its busy season. On the lawn before the hostelry are numerous tables about which are seated elegantly gowned ladies and aristocratic gentlemen. All during the opening of the act these are being served by attentive waiters, flower girls and "bus" boys. Real food and drink is set on the tables while the gay music graphically suggest a merry party at dinner. This scene supplants the old time opening chorus number and is only one of many episodes in "The Rose Maid" that has helped to make this sister opera to "The Spring Maid" a distinct novelty. "The Rose Maid" is announced to appear at the Lyceum in March.

"Ben-Hur," Adelaide Thurston, Charlotte Walker in "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," "Gypsy Love," Pollard Juvenile Opera company, "Madame X" with Laura Frankenfield, W. H. Crane, Henry Miller, Chauncey Olcott, John Drew, Maude Adams and Francis Starr are among the spring bookings at the Lyceum..

SCENE FROM "MADAME SHERRY,"
At the Lyceum Next Friday and Saturday Matinee and Night.

SCENE FROM "AN OPENING NIGHT,"
Headline Act at the Orpheum Next Week.

AT THE ORPHEUM

"An Opening Night," is the title of the playlet which will come to the Orpheum next week. It is the biggest act on the Orpheum circuit at the present time and owing to its length there will be but six acts on the bill. It is from the pen of that clever writer for vaudeville, George V. Hobart. The playlets by Mr. Hobart are well known to vaudeville, for he is the author of "Cherie," "Dinkelspiel," "Christmas," "Everywife," and other classics of the vaudeville stage. "An Opening Night" is an elaborate production requiring twenty-five performers to produce and it is presented in three scenes. The sketch combines fun, pathos and realism. It is in fact a complete play condensed to forty minutes of splendid entertainment.

The story concerns Paul and Virginia Gordon, who are suffering from parental displeasures because of their marriage. The difficulties of making a living, a thing never attempted before by the young husband, are shown in the first scene. The manner of good fortune coming is like modern Arabian Nights, an Arabian Nights, however, that is thoroughly up to date. The first scene is the flat of the hero and heroine in the Bronx, New York city. The second scene is the exterior of St. Gregory's church and the third, which is a novel and interesting production, shows the interior of the "Uncle Sam" theater in the Bronx. Incidental to the play is a new game of Zim Zam, which takes the entire audience into the rollicking fun and incidentally provides seats for the next performance for a few lucky ones. A church choir of great ability is another interesting feature of the sketch.

Mae Melville and Robert Higgins will present a singing and dancing act that is said to be quite out of the ordinary. Their songs and chatter are new and clever and their twenty minutes of entertainment which has for its subject, "Just Married," is said to be smart and most delightfully entertaining. Melville and Higgins have a reputation over the Orpheum circuit that is equalled by few acts, and they ought to be the big comedy hit of next week's bill.

Mlle La Tosca comes to America after a series of European triumphs and she is in America en route for a world trip. This young performer is noted for her beauty as well as being a musician of great ability. She is assisted in her act by two young men of much musical attainment. Mlle La Tosca presents an act of vocal and instrumental music, including a number on the piano, organ, cello, piccolo and flute. The musical numbers of the Orpheum bills always find a place of warm welcome among the patrons, and this act is said to be an offering of much merit.

The man with the monologue is another who almost invariably finds a welcome with the habitual vaudeville patron and Doc O'Neil is said to be always sure of a very warm welcome on any of his return visits. He will be at the Orpheum next week. The title of this performer was gained because of his ability as a cheering person for those in need of a laugh. He is called, in fact, "Doc O'Neil, the medicine man with the laugh tonic." His "stuff" is new and is delivered in an original manner.

The Gasch sisters are gymnasts with a series of clever, unusual and interesting features that are done with unusual skill and grace. These performers have appeared in Europe much of their life, but have filed previous American engagements with much success. They will be at the Orpheum next week.

Garbed as Roman gladiators, the Tuscano brothers will give a picturesque and hazardous exhibition of battle ax juggling on next week's bill. The heavy instrument of early warfare, seldom if ever seen in any other juggling act, is whirled through the air and made the instrument of almost unbelievable cleverness. This act is said to be a genuine thriller.

The special pictures of the kinodrome, which is one of the most interesting and instructive features of the Orpheum bill, will be shown as usual with the newest and most up-to-date features of this form of entertainment, and there will be the usual orchestra numbers by the concert orchestra, with Fred Bradbury as director. The bill will open Sunday afternoon and continue all week with a daily matinee.

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

Mme. Simone is on her way to Paris to begin rehearsals in "Le Secret," the new Bernstein piece written for her.

Sophye Barnard, lately with "The Woman Haters' Club," went to New Haven last week to get acquainted with the prima donna role in "The Man With the Three Wives." Miss Barnard has been engaged for that part during the New York engagement.

• • •

Through an arrangement made with Klaw & Erlanger, Dorothy Jardon will sail for England tomorrow, there to prepare for the London production of "Oh! Oh! Delphine."

• • •

Miss Githa Sowerby, the author of "Rutherford and Son," in which Norman McKinnel is appearing at the Little theater in New York, is at work on another drama. The new play is said to be in a different vein from the one now being presented in this country.

• • •

Winthrop Ames' production of Arthur Schnitzler's satiric comedy, "The Affairs of Anatol," with the Little Theater cast, has closed its New York engagement.

• • •

This week at the Fifth Avenue theater in New York Violet Dale will return to vaudeville. Her offering will consist of character songs and a burlesque imitation of Mme. Nazimova in "Bella Donna."

• • •

"The Woman of It," written by Frederick Donsdale, was presented at the Thirty-ninth Street theater, New York, last week.

Sydney Rosenfeld has a new production in preparation. The piece is entitled "The Hundredth Man." It is a comedy by Hutcheson Boyd. The cast will be made up chiefly of members of "His Wife by His Side Company."

• • •

When the Weber and Fields company starts on tour, "Roly Poly" goes to the storehouse, and the skits used during the jubilee of a year ago will be substituted. The company will visit the South, pentrating even Texas. This territory has never been visited by Weber and Fields before, and the old travesties will be new to the patrons. The tour begins in Norfolk on Jan. 27. Several changes in the cast have been made. Walter Lawrence and Flavia Arcaro are now prominent in the company.

• • •

Olive Wyndham is to have the title role in "What Happened To Mary." The play is a comedy by Owen Davis, founded on a story that ran serially in a monthly periodical. The Lee Morrison Producing company is behind the project. In the cast are Alma Kruger, Kate Jepson, Ione McGrane, Gertrude Blanchard, Franklyn Underwood, Horace Newman, John O'Hara, James Manning, Morris Foster and E. M. Kimball.

• • •

The closing of "Blackbirds" last night leads to a change in H. B. Werner's business affairs. By an arrangement entered into with the Liebler company, Maurice Campbell now assumes his management. Under Mr. Campbell's direction Mr. Warner is to appear in a new play by Paul Dickey and Charles Goddard, entitled "The Ghost Breaker." The premiere of the play will take place next month.

• • •

The first performance of "The Master Mind," under the direction of Werba and Luescher, will take place at Ithaca, N. Y., on Thursday. The play is of the prevailing underworld variety, from the pen of Daniel D. Carter, Edmund Breese and Katherine La Salle are prominent in the cast.

• • •

The end of "Blackbirds" came last week. Later on Laura Hope Crews, who made a big personal success in "Blackbirds," will be starred in a new play.

• • •

Eva Tanguay has written a one-act sketch which was accepted for early production by the United Booking offices. The title of the one-act affair is "Chickens Come Home To Roost," and deals with stage life.

• • •

Maude Adams will interrupt her Western tour to British Columbia for a two weeks' engagement in "Peter Pan," at the Illinois theater, Chicago, beginning on Monday, March 3.

If "shopping" is pleasant to you under most any circumstances, it would be delightful if you were a regular ad reader.

NEW EMPRESS WILL BE OPENED FEB. 9

The Empress theater will close this evening to remain dark for two weeks. It will reopen Feb. 9 under the new management. W. M. Abrahamson is the president and manager of the new company, having control of the theater, and A. E. Ableson is assistant manager and treasurer.

It will open with vaudeville, the acts being supplied by the Western Vaudeville Managers' association, and musical comedies will be played whenever they are obtainable.

About $2,000 will be spent during the next two weeks in enlarging and redecorating the theater. There will be new electrical effects, new curtains, new draperies and new seats. When completed the new Empress is expected to be one of the prettiest little theaters in this part of the Northwest.

AT THE AUDITORIUM

"Always something doing at the auditorium," in the motto applied to Duluth's roller skating rink judging from the innovations the management has introduced in the rink from time to time.

Since they have inaugurated Thursday nights as ladies' night, when they admit ladies free, steady streams of merry skaters wend their way to Duluth's mammoth skating rink, Third avenue east and First street.

Roller skating affords invigorating exercise for persons of all ages and sexes. Exercise derived from roller skating develops the body systematically and healthfully.

Lillian Russell, in her beauty talks, advises roller skating as an excellent exercise for body development and circulation. She says, "Nothing gives more strength and agility to the limbs and hips than an hour's good steady roller skating. The glow in the cheeks, the clearness in the eyes, the lightness of the sensation of going through the air on wheels are all health-giving and beautifying."

The program for the week is as follows:

Tuesday night, roller hockey, skating before and after the game, open till 11 o'clock.

Thursday night, ladies night, ladies admitted free. Featuring the grand march and moonlight skate.

Friday night, the grand masquerade carnival. Six valuable prizes given away.

WOMAN'S BURNS CAUSE HER DEATH.

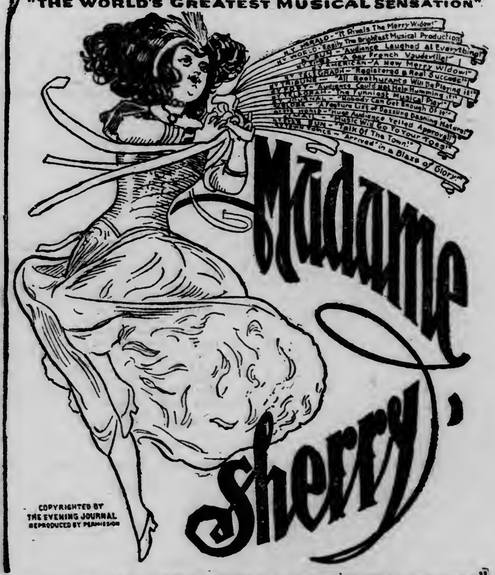

Fergus Falls, Minn., Jan. 25.—Mrs. Earnest Sandberg, who was terribly burned at her home in the town of Maine on the morning of Nov. 8 last, when a lamp exploded, died in this city Thursday. Mrs. Sandberg was formerly Miss Hattie Dayton, and was one of the popular teachers of Otter Tail county. Her home was in Northfield.

FEW BEAVER SLAIN.

Sidnaw, Mich., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—While beaver have been legal game in Michigan since Jan. 1 when the long period of state protection came to a close, the slaughter in the upper peninsula has been very light. It had been expected that hundreds of pelts would have been taken by this time. The trappers explain that the results have been due to the cold weather. The beaver are staying under cover in their dams. It is asserted that with the coming of soft, spring weather and the opening of the streams there will be a big slaughter.

That Shakespeare may have stubbed his mental toe when he said, "The evil that men do lives after them; the good is oft interred with their bones," may be proven by the case of that genius among newspaper men, C. C. Brown, "Charlie," as he was most frequently called, or "Brownie," which he liked to be called.

With Charlie Brown and the funny stories that are still extant among the "old timers" of Duluth and Superior about his antics, there is one fact that still sticks in the grateful memories of business men of the Head of the Lakes of twenty-five, twenty and even fewer years ago: That is that Charlie helped "put Duluth on the map." Duluth was bound to get on sooner or later, but he was one of those faithful and never-doubting souls who put his shoulder to the wheel and pushed the wagon up hill.

His pushing was not of the financial kind, for Charlie never has a cent ahead. What his income was did not matter—he spent it like a prince. Broke, he was genial, gentlemanly and entertaining; flush, he was ditto. Even his enemies—and they were few—had to admit his ability and energy even unto death. How did he push, then? Simply this way:

Brown was never so delighted and never so deeply in his element as when he was advertising Duluth. He advertised her with a vim and a verve and an ever widening territory that indicated the affection he held for his "home town," as he used to call her. He knew more facts—had forgotten more facts—and figures about this city than most of the business men of that time or now can hope to attain. He was a walking encyclopedia of what Duluth possessed, when these things started, how they developed, who backed them, who succeeeded and who failed. He could tell you offhand what the harbor tonnage had been for the last ten years at the time you asked him, and while he might not be correct down to the last figure he would be so near it that if you undertook to check him up you would be amazed at his memory, anyway.

Charlie was an incessant collector of photographs bearing upon the financial and commercial advancement of Duluth and the ranges and back of it. He would dig a story out at any time and was forever "querying" outside papers about sending them some story along this line and would be forever submitting them manuscript telling about the advantages of the Zenith City. Usually the latter method was the better, for Brown could put forth his story in such a convincing way and make the figures so entertaining that editors were usually hypnotized into publishing the story against their will. Brown never got a great deal for these stories, but that never discouraged him.

He had another faculty which few "string fiends" possess. He could take a picture of an ore dock just building, perhaps, or get out in a boat in the harbor and take a picture of the city as it was. Then he would go back to his desk, grab his pencil—for he never used a typewriter, saying that it disturbed the flow of one's thoughts—and would write a dream of what that picture meant in the way of future development. Of course he did not label it as a dream, or anything of that kind—he stated it as an indisputable fact, and, better than that, he made in most cases both editor and reader believe it.

Dreams Came True.

But, best of all, almost every one of his dreams—even those that the most sanguine Duluthians of those days declared to be crazy—have come true or are gradually developing. In fact in some cases the only place where Charlie fell down was that he did not dream wildly enough, for his dreams have been surpassed.

The accompany pictures, showing old scenes in and about Duluth, were all taken by old-time photographers who lived here in the early days, at the behest of Brown, and these pictures were used by him broadcast throughout the country. He rung the changes on Duluth with their ads from coast to coast. He did not, it is believed, miss sending copy to a paper of any size in the United States, and it is said of him that one time he persisted in sending copy for a whole year to the London Times before he decided to quit.

It would be nothing for Brown to take one of those pictures showing Superior street when it looked like the main street of one of those prairie towns that grow up in a night, and convince the reading public that there was to be the great thoroughfare of undoubtedly the greatest metropolis of the West, and then, pointing to the fact that Duluth is situated at the end of the forefinger of Lake Superior, convince them still further that ere long New York would look like a joke. They might shake off the hypnotism afterwards, but for the time even the matter in cold type would hold them spellbound.

There is no question but that Charlie believed what he wrote. He had unlimited faith in the future of this city. He firmly believed that ten years from the time he died, which was about ten years ago, the Twin Cities combined would be villages alongside of Duluth, and were he alive today there is no question but that he would figure that that matter was postponed through unfortunate circumstances only a very few years at most. That hope sprung eternal in his breast was characteristic. He never lost hope for the city in her darkest hour, and when he, himself, was "up against it," he just smiled and said nothing about it—for just one step beyond, and almost withing his grasp was fortune. When he knew he was dying he believed he would get well.

Mr. Brown's son, W. B. Brown, now a resident of Chisholm, has loaned The Herald his father's collection of pictures, which is a large one. They take in not only scenes in Duluth, but at Two Harbors and up on the ranges in the early days.

COREY SAYS GARY KNEW

Declares Chairman Was Familiar With Pooling Arrangements.

Admits Resignation Was Sequel to Friction With Gary.

New York, Jan. 25.—The participation of subsidiaries of the United States Steel corporation in pool organizations for the purpose of fixing prices, was known to Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the corporation, long before he gave orders that the pools should be abolished, according to William E. Corey, former president of the corporation. Mr. Corey so testified on cross-examination in the government suit to dissolve the combination under the Sherman anti-trust law.

The testimony preceded an acklowledgement of Mr. Gary that his resignation as president of the corporation in 1910 was the sequel of a dispute between himself and Mr. Gary, as to who was chief in authority, and that the finance committee of the corporation had upheld Mr. Gary. It gave direct contradiction to that of Chairman Gary before the Stanley investigation committee, that with the exception of the "rail combination," which he said did not fix prices, he had had no knowledge of the existence of pools and had ordered them abolished as soon as they had been brought to his attention. This was in the latter part of 1904.

Gary Attended Meeting.

Mr. Corey swore today that Mr. Gary "knew about all the pools all the time, because he attended some of the meetings." Although a meeting of the plate and structural pool in 1902 or 1903 was the only one at which he could remember that Mr. Gary was present, Mr. Corey said he was sure he was present at other meetings.

"Are you sure that Mr. Gary was present at the structural meeting?" asked C. A. Severance, attorney for the corporation.

"Absolutely," Mr. Corey answered.

Unable to shake the testimony of the witness, Mr. Severance held a brief conference with his associate counsel.

"You left the Steel corporation with some ill-feeling toward Mr. Gary, didn't you," Mr. Severance asked.

"We were not always in accord, but I think it was not ill-feeling," the witness replied.

Upheld Gary.

Mr. Corey then acknowledged that "there had been a question as to who was chief executive," and that the finance committee had upheld Mr. Gary.

Mr. Corey could not be induced to alter his previous testimony that the Tennessee Coal & Iron company, was a steel rail competitor of the Steel corporation before it was taken over by the corporation during the panic of 1907, with the sanction of President Roosevelt. He said he had opposed its acquisition on the ground that the price was too high. John W. Gates and others who controlled it, had placed a "nuisance value" on the properties, he said, and it would have continued a competitor of the corporation if it had not been taken over.

Mr. Corey also persisted in his opinion that the price paid by the Steel corporation for the lease of the Great Northern ore lands was too high, although counsel for the Great Northern ore trustees, defendants in the suit, made every effort to confute his testimony.

Rumors became current in Wall street that the United States Steel corporation intended voluntarily to dissolve. These were denied by Mr. Gary. The chairman would not comment on Mr. Corey's aestimony.

WOULD SETTLE TITLE DISPUTES

Steenerson Introduces Bill Applying to White Earth Lands.

(From The Herald Washington Bureau.)

Washington, Jan. 25.—Representative Steenerson today introduced a bill for the settlement of disputes over titles to land on the White Earth reservation not now involved in government suits. The bill provides for the appointment of a commission of two men, one to be selected by the department of justice and the other a citizen of Minnesota by the senior United States judge in Minnesota.

This commission is to prepare a roll of the Indians which is to be submitted to the United States district court for approval. Mr. Steenerson says his bill has the approval of the department of justice and of the interior department. It will be presented to the committee on Indian affairs by Representative Miller at the regular meeting next week.

MARINE HOSPITAL WANTED IN DULUTH

Delegates to Shipmasters' Association Show Need.

(From The Herald Washington Bureau.)

Washington, Jan. 25.—Delegates to the grand lodge of Great Lakes Shipmasters' association who are in session in this city have submitted a recommendation to the public health service for the establishment of a marine hospital at Duluth.

In a conference with Chief Surgeon Blue, it was pointed out that there is now no marine hospital on Lake Superior, although treatment is given officers and men at private hospitals in the various ports. It was declared that the establishment of a government hospital at Duluth was a necessity in view of the great number of men entering that port on the ships of the Great Lakes fleet.

THE BALLAD IN THE BALKANS.

London Chronicle: In the Balkan countries the ballad makers have certainly been at least as important as the makers of laws. Servia's national ballads, commemorating the glories of the Servian emperor, Dushan, the fatal battle of Kassovo, and the legendary exploits of the hero Marko Kralyevich and his horse Sharats, are of Homeric proportions, and sung to the accompaniment of a guitar with cords of horsehair tails, have kept national feeling warm for centuries. In recent years the Servian government published a popular edition. In Macedonia, Sir Charles Eliot heard a schoolboy recite a Bulgarian poem which took an hour and a quarter.

THE WARM-HEARTED DOLL.

Patty Comfort's a rubber lined dolly:
To hug any other were folly.
When blown full of air
She's as light as she's fair,
And full of hot water she's jolly.
—Philadelphia Record.

Of the making of dolls there is no end, but whoever before heard of a doll with a hot water bag in her little insides? And that is precisely what they have for sale at the exhibit of children's toys and garments now in progress at the New York Exchange for Woman's Work, at Madison avenue and Forty-third street. The poem above explains how nice she is, and if the poem's feet are a trifle queer Patty Comfort's feet are all right—two dear little feet, clothed in the cunningest of white shoes.

Patty has a pretty dress and a hat with little strings, and a face that you cannot help loving right away; and when you hug her there is that gentle warmth emanating from her little body—that is, if the hot water bag has been properly filled.

REMEMBER TO VOTE.

Don't forget the school bond question that is to come before the people of the city one week from today. The proposition is to issue bonds in the sum of $200,000 for the erection of two school buildings. The needs of the school children in these sections have been set forth time and time again, and it is imperative that some provision be made for them. But such provision cannot be made unless the people go to the polls and give their indorsement to the proposal of the school board for the issuing of these bonds.

It is the duty of the city to see that the children are given opportunities for education, but it is no less a duty to see that they are given healthful and suitable surroundings in the schools. This bond issue is a city proposition. It is your proposition as a citizen of Duluth. Next Saturday—one week from today—is the time at which you are to have an opportunity to express your will in the matter. Don't forget to do so.

Some Canadians are objecting to building a navy on the ground that the Monroe doctrine furnishes Canada all the protection she needs. Apparently some Canadians are not opposed to receiving some of the benefits of adjunctism.

QUICK FINISH IN FAVOR.

From some source or other has sprung a suggestion that is meeting with support from various parts of the country. It is that the time of the inauguration of the president of the United States be changed from March to the December after election, and that the administrative year begin in the latter month instead of the former.

Some pointed and sensible arguments are being advanced in favor of the change, among them the following:

That under the present system, the country is made at times to face a coming change for four months when it would be as well to have any uncertainties removed in a much shorter period.

That by prolonging the political power of a party or faction after it has been declared at the polls to be out of harmony with the wishes of the people, power is put into the hands of disappointed men to do the country harm through negligence or wanton abuse of waning authority.

That the president-elect is invariably made to endure greater or less drains financially and physically as a direct result of his success at the polls, though he is barred from the financial and other equipment provided for presidential duties.

The value of having uncertainties as to governmental policy removed at the earliest possible date is indisputable. Business affairs are almost invariably left in a state of doubt following a change in party in the national administration, and this condition would be much relieved by such a move as is proposed.

That a defeated party might do mischief in the last days of its power is not impossible, of course, though this year such a development is obviated by the fact that the house of representatives is of the same complexion as the incoming administration. A much stronger argument on this same line is that the continuation of a defeated party in power for four months after it has been repudiated by the voters of the nation is an anomaly in a country that bases its government on representation of the people.

That the expense and other strain upon a newly elected president before he takes office is considerable must be apparent to anybody who follows the news from day to day. It is said that Governor Wilson's postage bill alone has been swelled by more than $1,000 owing to demands created by his election.

Unquestionably, the factors of slow election returns and slow travel from remote parts of the country to the national capital figured in the arrangement made in the early days of the country's history for the lapse of so long a time between the election and the induction into office of the new administration. Now those difficulties have been done away with, and with them the only reasonable excuse for so much delay in making the change ordered by the people. There is nothing new in the idea of a change in the date of inauguration, but heretofore the demand has been for a later date than that of March 4. Perhaps we could do better yet by making the date three months earlier.

Col. Goethals wants an army of 25,000 men to guard the canal. He must expect that neighborhood to be a rendezvous for Latin-American ex-presidents and their followers.

NOT SATISFACTORY.

Secretary Knox's reply to the English protest regarding the remission of tolls for American coastwise shipping through the Panama canal is reported not to be satisfactory to the British press and people. No wonder. It isn't even satisfactory to those Americans who have any regard for the honor of their country and for square dealing on the part of its government.

There is only one reply which England has any right to expect to her protest, and that is that the terms of the treaty regarding the conduct of the canal will be respected by this government. And that would mean that no favorites are to be played in the management of the canal, and no differences made as to the charges laid on the shipping of different nations, our own included.

There is only one reply that should satisfy the American people, also, and that is that this country will live up faithfully to the terms of her treaty with England, and that no subsidy in the shape of remitted tolls shall be granted under the excuse of canal management.

American coastwise shipping does not need remission of tolls. It is not entitled to remission of tolls. The treaty with Great Britain forbids it, and not only that, but the principle of fair play forbids it. Granting of subsidies is against the principle of our government. It is only another form of special privilege such as we have been fighting in trying to eliminate the graft features of the tariff. And remission of canal tolls is only another way of granting subsidies.

England is right not to be satisfied. The American people join in her dissatisfaction. Secretary Knox and President Taft and the United States congress should join in doing the right thing by the world at large and by the American people.

The W. C. T. U. wants no liquor sold in Washington on the date of the inauguration. Now who has threatened to make these good women set 'em up on that day?

$25 FOR TWO CENTS.

Several thousand Englishmen lost the chance of a life time the other day because they couldn't believe in the good fortune offered them. It was a bona fide chance to buy a £5 note for 1 penny. Although the "sale" continued for several hours, only two purchasers took advantage of the chance. But because one of them made his purchase within less than twenty minutes of the opening of the offer, the dealer lost not only his two sold notes, but also his bet, which probably hurt him worse than the other loss.

The transaction grew out of a wager by a well known comedian that the British public is too unspeculative and skeptical in its nature to risk taking up an offer to buy £5 notes for a penny, a transaction equivalent to selling $25 bills for 2 cents in this country. With his beard half grown and dressed in shabby clothing, the man took his stand in one of the busiest quarters in London with a tray of £5 notes before him, and shouted his offer at the passers-by.

People looked at the vendor and his wares, smiled knowingly and went about their business, and it was some ten minutes before the postmaster general of a British colonial dependency decided to take a flyer in the odd market. Soon afterward another purchaser invested. But although the comedian kept at his losing game for some hours, no other sales were made.

We may laugh at the incredulity of the Britons who let this gaudy chance slip by them, but at least they have this in their favor: They have given convincing evidence that they offer but a poor field for the get-rich-quick game. It takes an American public for that. Therefore the American public is in need of such protective measures as "blue sky" laws. There are few comedians—or others—who can be trusted to sell $25 bills for 2 cents each, however glowing their offers. Perhaps after America has grown as old as England the American people will be as able to protect themselves as are the Londoners. But it isn't at all likely that they will ever get beyond the stage where they will at least investigate.

Almost time for somebody to find the Mona Lisa again.

AMERICAN CANADA.

Every once in a while Canada, or somebody who lives there, does something that gives the old world portion of the empire a case of the fantods. Two years ago the leading men in the Dominion sought to establish reciprocal relations with the United States, and some of the British yellow newspapers at once saw beginnings of the disruption of the empire.

Now comes a proposition that will raise more goose-flesh on the John Bullian cuticle. It is the opening of a campaign for the abolition of titles in Canada. The exponents of the idea want even the "harmless, necessary" appelation of "honorable" abolished, though its use now is restricted to cabinet ministers and other general officers. Also they want the Canadian cabinet barred from recommending Canadians for royal honors by the British crown.

If this proposition doesn't start something across the pond, then the general estimate of the British character is all to the bad. Imagine a part of an empire rendered titleless. What would become of time-honored institutions and ceremonials and rights and privileges? The government must prepare for some more and very pointed interpellations in the commons, as to what kind of a people is being bred on this side the water.

But we of this country mustn't make the mistake of thinking that Canada is "getting American." She isn't. Canada IS American, and the simple fact of her political attachment to Great Britain does not change that fact. The people of the United States have been reasonably comfortable without the title appendage to public life, and Canadians could and would get on just as well. "A man's a man," and Canada has plenty of well rounded, red-blooded men. She doesn't need a titled aristocracy. Now she is talking of getting rid of such a class. Let her go to it with a will, and if she has any titles already on hand that she wants to get off her hands, there are parts of this country of ours where they would be welcomed by one set and sneered at by everybody else, and so all would be made happy.

Queer how people disappear from view. What's become of Martin, who tackled Roosevelt's assailant at Milwaukee?

WHOM THE GODS WOULD DESTROY.

"Whom the gods would destroy, they first make mad," said an ancient writer. It begins to look as if the gods have decided on the termination of the Turkish empire.

When the peace negotiations at London opened, it looked as if there might be a way out of the situation for Turkey. The allies insisted on the surrender of Adrianople, and this the Turks resisted. But with the entrance of the ambassadors of the powers into the affair, there promised to be some kind of counter concessions that would at least have saved to the Turks some remnant of their ancient power in Europe.

Now that is all past. The unreasoning fanaticism of the Turkish people, leading to the overthrow of the government that was conducting the peace negotiations and to the resumption of hostilities at the frontier, very evidently spells certain ruin for the Turk in Europe. If the allies are able—and there seems no good reason to doubt that they will be able—to resume the series of successful assaults which marked the earlier stage of the war, it is impossible to see how Turkey can come out of the conflict with anything but a total loss.

It appears that the Young Turks have made a serious mistake. When, a few years ago, they overthrew the old regime in their country and started a new era with breadth of view and intelligence as its basic principles, they won and received the admiration and sympathy of the whole civilized world. By their present course in precipitating a resumption of a losing fight they are risking, if not actually incurring, the forfeiture of that sympathy. Perhaps they count on the proverbial jealousy of the European powers to save their country from division by the enemy, but the principle of the rights of might and conquest is so deeply imbedded in international practice that this at the best is but a forlorn hope, and a poor one at that.

Apparently the gods have willed that Turkey shall vanish from the map of Europe.

It may hurt William Rockefeller's throat to testify, but just imagine what it will do to his disposition.

AS TO FREEING ENRIGHT.

However laudable may be the humanitarian spirit that has prompted the movement to secure freedom from the Illinois state prison for Maurice Enright, serving a life sentence for the murder of Vincent Altman, there seems at this distance to be more of sentiment in this individual case than of sound reason.

Enright was convicted of having shot Altman in the back as the result of labor troubles. He denied his guilt, and according to his own words, confidently expected acquittal instead of conviction. He urged in his defense that he gave himself up when he found he was wanted on the charge and that in fact he "did not take the affair seriously."

As to the details of the case it is difficult to judge at this distance. But of the spirit of the man who was legally convicted of the killing of Altman and who now is serving a prison term for that crime, enough was shown in his own words to indicate pretty clearly that he is not the kind of man to be allowed unrestricted freedom.

In his talks to newspaper men during his trial he expressed surprise at the law's stepping in between warring gunmen; surprise that the law should be invoked to prevent his killing an enemy or an enemy killing him; profound amazement, in fact, at the idea that it is any of the law's business whether two gentlemen at enmity with one another puncture each other's skin with bits of lead or slice each other's throats with knives or bang each other over the heads with slung shots.

That isn't the kind of code that should be encouraged among free citizens. Enright has expressed belief in that code, and is now in prison convicted of having practiced it. To give him freedom would be to emphasize the "virtue" of such a belief in the mind of every reckless man in Chicago, and Chicago is amply supplied with that class. If they can find new evidence that will show Enright was wrongly convicted, then it would be time enough to consider executive clemency. But as long as he is under the shadow of conviction and entertains the views he is known to entertain, the prison is the best place for him.

It's nothing to the credit of Wall Street that it should begin to holler "Panic" whenever anybody in authority whispers "honesty."

THE OFFICE BOY SPEAKS.

Sewell Ford's characters have a way of saying pithy things in pithy fashion, but his Torchy quite surpasses himself in the advice he gives to Mortimer Upton, a millionaire's son who is put to work as a clerk in the bond department of a big brokerage office. Mortimer's envelope each week contains the munificent sum of $12, and the work is not at all to the young man's liking. Wherefore the son of luxury comes late, scrimps his work, and makes himself a general nuisance and eye-sore to his fellow employes.

Torchy, with a precocity and undeniable freshness not entirely unknown to his kind, passes some office criticisms along to this young man, who replies sulkily that the boss isn't treating him fairly; is spying on him, finds fault with him and, when he is late, fines him and takes the amount of the fine out of the beggarly $12 per. Let Torchy himself tell the rest of the incident.

"He does, eh?" says I. "Then beat him to it. Don't be late. Show up at eight-thirty instead of nine. That extra half hour ain't goin' to kill you. Be the last to quit, too. Play up to him. Do things the way he wants 'em done, even if you have to do 'em over a dozen times. And use your bean."

"But it's such petty, insignificant work," says Mortimer.

"All the worse for you if you can't swing it," says I. "See here, now—how are you goin' to feel afterwards if you've always got to look back on the fact that you began by fallin' down on a twelve-dollar job?"

One of the greatest troubles that employers have is the fact that there are so many like Mortimer. They fail to see the value, not to say the common honesty, in doing well in their "petty, insignificant work." They fail to "beat the boss to it."

There is an ineradicable impression among employers that the man who is unfit for a small job is just that much more unfit for a bigger one, and certainly the man who falls down on any job need not look for more pay than he starts with. Torchy might resent being called a philosopher. But he has "doped out" some "goods" that might make many self-styled philosophers blush, if they could realize how keenly he has phrased a truth that cannot be impressed too strongly on the young men of this and all succeeding generations.

'Long 'bout this time o' year a fellow wonders why on earth he ever spent any good money for an icebox.

Of course Turkey may have something up its sleeve, but it looks from here a whole lot like a case of imperial suicide.

The Maine legislature is struggling to define "intoxicating liquor." That's one trouble that comes from lack of experience such as they have in Maine.

James J. Hill is pessimistic about the outlook for the railroads, which probably accounts for the failure to give the regulation fare and a third rate to Duluth Masons who went to the meeting at St. Paul.

Edison was too busy to go and get the medal awarded him by the American Museum of Safety. Since Edison is noted for being practical, this rather serves as a classification of medals as far as practicability is concerned.

A Wisconsin corporation has been ordered to pay $2,000 for violating the child labor law. Now that its officers know the price they can go ahead and violate it some more at so much per violation. Fines don't mean much, in some cases.

It is proposed to reapportion legislative representation in the state on a basis of voters instead of population, in spite of the Constitution's provision to the contrary. But in a few years the women will be voting, too, and then we'd have to have another reapportionment.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussion of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

LAW ENFORCEMENT.

To the Editor of The Herald:

There are two questions that are paramount today: First, "Have you filed?" Second, "How do you stand on the social evil question?" In this morning's paper appeared the statement by one of the candidates for mayor that there were no laws governing the social evil. Mr. Editor, what are the people thinking of by not getting busy and directing that our lawmakers now in session enact a law so that this social evil can be handled in such a way as we, the people, desire it handled? Have that old law repealed at once; pass a new one giving all cities in Minnesota having over 50,000 population the right to make such laws on this matter as they desire, or to come right down to the plain facts, allow them local option on this subject. We are about to elect a mayor and four commissioners to handle our affairs, and they first must qualify by signing the oath of office, but if they then carry out the wish of 90 per cent of the people, they will have to break their oaths and are liable to forfeit their bond in the sum of $25,000. Why make criminals of our selected servants? This is not necessary, for all that it requires is a concerted effort on the part of the people in asking or demanding that our lawmakers give us the desired relief. If this is not taken up at once, we will be compelled to exist for two years more of law violation on the part of our city government in order to satisfy the demands of a majority of our people. Respectfully,

J. H. DAVIS.

Women in Washington

The Survey: Robert M. La Follette, United States senator from Wisconsin, has revised his bill regulating the employment of women in the District of Columbia and recently submitted it to congress again. It calls for an eight-hour work day and a six-day week for all women employed in factories and workshops. Consumers' leagues, federations of women's clubs and other organizations interested in bettering the working conditions of women, are declared to be in favor of this measure. Something of the attitude of the present congress toward similar legislation for men may perhaps be indicated by the passage at the last session of an eight-hour law applying to firms working on government contracts.

The scope of Senator La Follette's measure is indicated by the first section, as follows:

"No female shall be employed or permitted to work in any mill, factory, manufacturing or mechanical establishment or workshop, including, among others, any laundry, bakery, printing, clothing, dressmaking or millinery establishment, store, hotel, restaurant, office or where any goods are sold or distributed, or by any express or transportation company, or in the transmission or distribution of telegraph or telephone messages or merchandise, more than eight hours in any one day or more than six days or more than forty-eight hours in any one week."

The bill also prohibits any girl under 18 from working before 7 o'clock in the morning or after 6 o'clock in the afternoon. A notable feature of the measure is that it puts upon employers the task of finding out whether their women employes are engaged in other work, and if so, of seeing to it that the total time of their employment does not exceed that allowed in a single establishment.

To enforce the law three inspectors are to be appointed by the district commissioners.

Real Meaning of "Potluck."

New York Sun: The real origin of the word "potluck" is unknown to most people who use it. In Limoges, France, however, one runs into potluck itself. In a certain corner of the quaint city of jostling roofs there is still segregated, much as if in a ghetto, a Saracen population, probably a remnant of the wave of Saracens that swept over Europe hundreds of years ago. Here they live in their crooked, narrow streets, following old customs handed down from generation to generation. There are many butcher shops in the quarter and outside of each steams a great pot of soup over a glowing brazier. In each pot stands a ladle as ancient as the pot.

When a customer comes with a penny in goes the ladle and comes up full of savory broth and chunks of meat, odds and ends that the butcher has had left over. And what comes up the customer has to take. One can imagine how anxiously the hungry urchin or the mother of seven must have to eye the inexorable ladle and how a pretty girl might get another draw from the butcher's boy.

At any rate "to take potluck" means to take what you get and say nothing whether the pot is in Limoges or in the flat of the man who eagerly invites a friend of his youth to dinner.

How Not to Tip Your Hat.

Zoe H. Beckley in the New York Mail: "You Americans need to brush up on manners and dress," Count August de Castellane Seymore says. "There are five classes of men who do not know how to tip the hat. First, the lowbrow, who never tips it. Second, the middleman, who barely does. Third, the 'smart aleck,' who tips it after passing the woman. Fourth, the 'gent,' who tips it at a distance of three or four yards before passing her. Fifth, the man who tips the hat and holds it as one would a collection box, crown downward.

"A true gentleman commits none of these gaucheries. Correct taste guides him as an instinct. A gentleman is simply a 'gentle' man—one who is thoughtful of others. A gentleman carries his cane or umbrella point forward and downward. A 'gent' is too well known in your street cars, your streets and your elevators to need characterization.

"It is absurdly silly to remove the hat in a lift and replace it on stepping into a hotel corridor. It is also a mistaken idea to give up a seat in a street car to a society belle. Give it to a workwoman or a woman with white hair.

"Men who have something in their heads will not wear jewels. Paderewski has jewels in his fingers, not on them. Edison wears his in his head, not in his cravat. Mme. Schumann-Heink keeps hers inside her throat, not outside it. In a word, achieve something great before you adorn your person with magnificence."

Duluth and The Herald

Bouquets and Brickbats from the State Press.

One of Duluth's Needs.

Hibbing Tribune: About everybody who knows anything about it agreed that Duluth ought to have a new Federal building. The present structure is wholly inadequate and as to looks it can't compare with the handsome St. Louis county courthouse just up the hill.

The Herald on the Square.

Thief River Falls Times: The Duluth Herald came out with a full page ad for the Minneapolis Journal advertising the latter paper as the "leading daily of the Northwest." This is a rather unusual occurrence, this finding one paper advertising another in its own territory, but it just goes to show that The Herald is on the square, and willing to give a contemporary a "fair shake."

Possible—But

St. Cloud Times: George A. Ralph, state drainage engineer, is confident that a canal will be constructed from Duluth to St. Paul. Such a canal can be built in the opinion of government engineers, but would be a commercial failure.

Two Are Enough.

St. Cloud Journal Press: "The latest thing in dresses is said to have only two hooks—by design, not accident," says The Duluth Herald. Two hooks would occupy all the available space of some of the dresses we read about.

Both Are Needed.

Aurora News: An automobile road from Duluth to the Twin Cities would be a grand thing for some, but we believe that a few miles of road through the farming country would be more to the point. It would at least produce more material benefits. Of course, we have no automobile.

Duluth Is Willing.

Gheen Record: St. Paul wants to appropriate some of Duluth's fame and business as a lake port. Why not start a counter agitation—the removal of the state capitol to Duluth. Just picture the imposing state capitol buildings perched up on the crest of the bluff overshadowing the Zenith City. Now, wouldn't it show up some as you entered the port from the lake?

Not a Bull Moose, Anyway.

Deer River Times: "Somebody has offered President-elect Wilson a cow. What' smatter? Doesn't Pauline go with the job?" Inquires The Duluth Herald. Maybe Pauline is a Republican cow.

Nothing Can Ruin It.

Princeton Union: It is said that Duluth hotel men recently discarded the regulation government tested thermometers which hung outside their business places for the reason that upon several occasions the mercury was indiscernible, and replaced them with the "boarding house" variety, which can be regulated at will to suit the fancy. Those government thermometers threatened to ruin the prestige of Minnesota's favorite winter resort.

Come on to Minnesota

Little Falls Transcript: In the midst of reports of blockade of Western railroad traffic by reason of heavy snow storms, in some sections said to be the worst experienced in twelve years, and heavy floods in Ohio and vicinity which threaten the Mississippi, Ohio, Sandusky and Scioto rivers, Minnesota is unmindful of any agitation resultant from climatic disturbances. With snow sufficient to make fair sleighing and no storm as yet approaching a blizzard in fury, with an occasional below zero drop of the mercury in the thermometer the state invites all who are threatened or disturbed by climatic antics to seek refuge therefrom within its borders and once more enter into the real enjoyment of living, hand in hand with the weatherman and not in conflict with him. Come on! Come on to Minnesota, ye seekers for a paradise, all!

Japanese Embalming.

Los Angeles Times: In the olden days in Japan the embalmers were successful in securing an extraordinary amount of preservation in the bodies on which they operated.

The Japan Chronicle draws attention to a case of this nature which has recently come to light in Kobe. The operations, which are being conducted by the municipality, included the removal of some graves of the Aoyama family, situated in the rear of the Anyoji temple.

Two graves were opened belonging to old daimyo, who were buried about 200 years ago. The graves consisted of stone cells with large coffins of kosunoki wood, containing inner coffins of earthenware. When the spaces between the cell walls and the wooden coffins were opened those present were surprised to see that the bodies were in a state of perfect preservation, and had all the appearance of wax figures.

The old Amagasaki lords lay in almost lifelike freshness, dressed in the picturesque costume of an earlier day. Several valuable personal belongings were found in the graves, including two long swords, women's hair ornaments, boxes of pocket inkstones, gold family seals, etc. The bodies were interred in temporary graves in the temple compound, pending the completion of permanent graves, which are under construction close by.

The Aoyama family have consented to the personal relics being kept as curiosities in the temple.

The Sky Sheep.

Little Boo-peep, she lost her sheep,
All in the cold, blue weather;
Up in a misty, azure sweep,
Huddled and cuddled together.

Crook of the curved new moon she bore,
Sheep of her flock for tending;
Kirtle of crimson cloud she wore,
Over her lambkins bending.

Snarling, the Northwind drove them down,
Down from their sky fields, bleating;
Fluttered and frightened, to Hilltop Town,
Through the bare meadows fleeting.

Over the brown fields fleeting fast,
Each little white little straying;
There to be folded, safe at last,
Far from the wolf wind's railing.

Little Boo-peep I' the morning glow,
Found them, so safely sleeping—
"See," said the earth folk, "how the snow,
All in a night, came creeping!"

Twenty Years Ago

From The Herald of this date, 1893.

Mr. Cotton of St. Louis county introduced a bill in the house today legalizing and confirming certain franchises granted by villages to street railway companies. It provides that in all cases where any village has heretofore attempted to grant by an ordinance of said village to a street railway company the exclusive right and privilege of constructing, maintaining and operating a single or double track of street railway line, with all tracks for turnouts, etc., provided that such street railway has been in operation continuously for four years, such acts, contracts and ordinances of said villages shall be legalized and made as if they had authority to pass such ordinances at the time of their passage.

Rev. William Morris Barker, D. D., is now missionary bishop of Colorado. The consecration service was held at 11 o'clock this morning in St. Paul's Episcopal church in this city, of which he has been the beloved rector for the past four years. Rev. C. A. Poole of Seabury Divinity school, Faribault, acted as master of ceremonies, assisted by Rev. Stewart B. Purvis of St. Paul and Rev. H. J. Sheridan of Duluth. The celebrant was Bishop Morris of Oregon, the gospeller Bishop Spalding of Colorado, and the epistler Bishop McLaren of Chicago. Assistant Bishop Gilbert of Minnesota, Bishop Nicholson of Milwaukee, Archdeacons Schepeler of Wausau, Wis., and Appleby of St. Paul and many priests were present. Father Toth of San Francisco and Father Dabonsky of Minneapolis were present as authorized representatives of the Greek church. The anthem at the offertory was specially written for this occasion by A. F. M. Custance, the organist of St. Paul's church.

Fred H. Quimby has filed with the city clerk his nomination for alderman from the Fourth ward.

H. T. Dinham is a candidate for alderman from the Second ward.

A patent has been issued to Rudolph C. Kruschke of Duluth for an electric showcase alarm.

M. L. Fishbein, assignee of the Kahn dry goods stock, this morning sold the stock to Claflin & Co. of New York, one of the heaviest creditors, for $25,000.

Charles H. G. Schmidt of West Duluth left yesterday on a visit to friends in Cincinnati, Ohio, and Lexington, Ky.

Mrs. W. D. Reamy of Marquette, Mich., is visiting her sister, Mrs. M. A. Willesen, at West Duluth.

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

The Risky Business of Living.

It is rather a risky business to be alive at all. The world is full of pitfalls and dangers. One never knows what minute he is to encounter trouble. An automobile may hit him as he crosses the street. He may fall on a slippery sidewalk. There are a thousand noxious germs in every breath he draws, countless bacteria in every mouthful of his food.

Popular medical treatises induce in us the conviction that we are likely candidates for most of the troubles therein described. The pure food specialists, analyzing our habitual diet, almost discourage us from eating. From the heights of their success eminent lights of the business or professional world point to the thorny paths they had to travel and intimate to our aspiring spirits, "better not." One may easily get a case of nerves over the dismal situation. It takes some courage even to try to live.

Perhaps the course of wisdom would be to retire as far as possible from earthly strife, to exist in some insulated, sterilized chamber to which harm could never come. We might thus avoid risk and keep his life safe.

But even if one could do that it would give no relief. As a matter of fact we never escape risks by refusing to take any. There is a risk in anything we undertake to do in this world, but surely equal risk in doing nothing.

Abraham took a big risk when he left his ancestral home to go out into a land of which he knew nothing. But by so doing he became the founder of a great nation. Washington took a risk in crossing the Delaware on a wintry night. But it meant the gaining of a notable victory.

If I go ahead I run the risk of colliding with someone or something before me. But a rear-end collision is as disastrous as one head on. I am at least equally liable to be hit if I stand still—and am getting nowhere meanwhile into the bargain. On the sea it has been proved that the faster ships are, in the long run, safer than the slower ones.

While pushing ahead with soul intent on some good enterprise one is scarcely conscious of the incidental hardships of the way. You do not need to pity the man immersed in some useful occupation, because of the knocks he encounters. He is not conscious of any knocks. He is like a ship under way, cutting the billows and leaving them behind. It is only when the ship stops that passengers begin to get seasick.

Life even in its happiest and best estate involves risk. We cannot change the universe that God has made. We cannot perfectly understand its laws or control its forces. We must go out each day as the patriarch did, "not knowing whither he went."

But that God's world is essentially friendly to the man of courage we may heartily believe. We are not to cringe like slaves in the power of a capricious tyrant. God would have us march through life as soldiers, "breast and back as either should be." To find and to do one's duty regardless of seeming risk is the way to avoid the biggest risk of all, the risk of being useless in the kingdom.

I like that poem of Stephen Phillips entitled "The Want" in which the rich couple, lapped in luxury, bewail an apathy and languor unrelieved by all their possessions. They decide at last it is simply because they tread a selfish circle:

"Hence! Let us fly a common ease,
And share the common strife!
Into the human welter plunge,
And lose ourselves in life."

THE PARSON.

A LETTER FROM LOVELY WOULD HAVE BEEN BETTER BAIT —By C. L. SHERMAN

PRESIDENTS FROM OHIO

By SAVOYARD.

Washington, Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Old Virginia furnished five presidents of the United States with an aggregate service of thirty-five years and eleven months. Five came from New York with a total tenure of twenty-five years and eight months. And Ohio contributed five individuals to hold the chair of chief magistrate of the republic, with thirteen years and one month occupancy of the White House, allowing to Mr. Taft a full term of four years.

If you will take down the Bible and read the ninth chapter of Paul's Epistle to the Romans you will find that there is scripture for that theology which holds to the creed of predestination in the fates of men and things, and then turn to the famous chapter in Thackeray's "Catherine" and you will discover a powerful argument to sustain the faith.

A fatality adverse seems to pursue the Ohio man in the White House. William Henry Harrison, the first to be chosen president from Ohio, died April 4, 1841, just one month after his inauguration. R. B. Hayes was president a full term, but his title to the office was under a cloud and there was never a day that a majority of the American people believed that he was fairly elected to the dignity.

In many respects Garfield is the saddest name on the roll of American statesmen. As a free lance in the United State senate, with none to dominate him, he would have ranked with the greatest speculative political philosophers of history. When the son of the last Napoleon, an officer in the British army, fell in a skirmish with the savage Zulus of South Africa, a brother officer hastened back to the commander and made report of the disaster. Raising himself in his stirrups, the grim old veteran of the Crimea, who had fought in twenty climes, with suprise on his brow and scorn on his tongue—the grim old hero exclaimed: "And what are you doing alive?" Apprehension of somtthing like that came to Garfield at Chicago in 1880, a few minutes after he was nominated, when his first words were, "I hope nobody will think I betrayed John Sherman." He was there to nominate Sherman; he was himself nominated. Conkling, who was there to nominate Grant, could have had it on the same terms but rejected it with scorn. That was a bad beginning.

In September Garfield was hopelessly beaten. The Republican candidate for governor was defeated in Maine, Blaine's own state. Eugene Hale was beaten for congress, and then it was that Grant and his friends were to the rescue. I once tried to describe it after this fashion:

"No sooner did Conkling and Grant appear upon the stump than the tide turned. It was the grand old party again, the party of 1860, of 1868. It was irresistible. The great meeting at Warren, Ohio, was the signal. The fiery cross was uplifted on crag, in glen, surmounting Lochiel, Keppoch, Clanronald, Glengary and Maclan:

"'The standard on the braes o' Mar
Is up and streaming rarely!
The gathering pipe on Lochnagar
Is sounding long and clearly!
The Highlandmen from hill and glen
In martial hue, wi' bonnets blue,
Wi' belted plaids and burnished blades,
Are coming late and early.'

"'Dundee, he's mounted,' leads the clans, 'Thor with his hammer—triphammer with Aeolian attachment'—was in the forefront. 'Sun, stand thou still upon Gibeon, and thou, Moon, in the valley of Ajalon.' The tide was resistless, and swept over Ohio, Indiana, and the West."

There is no more doubt that Grant and Conkling elected Garfield than there is that Blaine nominated him. It is the most pathetic story in our politics—the motions and the conduct of Garfield between the election and the inauguration. At heart there never was a more thankful man; in act there never was a more arrant ingrate. He said that every president-elect should make a progress through political bankruptcy, and that is true, but he should put all his debts in the schedule. Garfield paid Blaine in full thrice over: he repudiated every obligation he was under to Conkling. The latter knew his man when refusing a private interview he said, "I can have no confidential conference with the president-elect except in the presence of a third person in whose veracity I have confidence."

All those weeks Garfield was helpless and hopeless, wanting to do right, but powerless in the grasp of his master, Blaine, who would not allow him to do right. Up to the very morning of March 4, he intended to appoint Levi P. Morton, secretary of the treasury, which would have driven Blaine out of the cabinet. For Morton was Conkling's alter ego so far as concerned the practical in politics. It was gossip that within half an hour before the names of the cabinet were transmitted to the senate a change was made. It is a great pity that Garfield was assassinated. The world will never know how James G. Blaine and Wayne MacVeagh would have yoked together at the same council board.

McKinley was the next president from Ohio, and personally his fate was that of Garfield—the victim of the assassin. He was as completely dominated by Mark Hanna as Garfield had been by Blaine, but he was fortunate in that there was none to play Conkling to Hanna's Blaine, though Tom Reed was picked for the role; though the issue would have been entirely different—entirely political and in no sense personal; but the fool Democrats marred the plot, if it ever was forming, when they forced the Spanish war. In the whole history of politics as played by civilized man the stupidest thing is the action of the Democrats in congress, who clamored for the war with poor old Spain. And not a mother's son of them cared a rap for Cuba, either, and in that they were in perfect accord with the Republicans, including McKinley and Hanna, who cordially wished Cuba at the devil when the Democrats forced the war on them.

Intellectually McKinley was far inferior to Garfield, or Taft. He was a good man, with wide experience, tactful, prudent—what Disraeli called "an Arch-Mediocrity."

• • •

Taft was the best of the entire Ohio lot. Had he been trained to politics as McKinley was his fate would have been more fortunate. He is the first Republican president to recognize the South as a full sister in the Union. He is a man of very superior ability. He loves his country and he is most cruelly misunderstood by the country. History will do him justice.

With an immense majority in the college in 1908, he gets but eight votes in that convocation four years later.

Can it be that ill-luck attends presidents from Ohio?

YOUNG GEORGE TELLUM AGAIN

By FRED C. KELLY.

Young George Tellum went to a dance one night and met a palatable-looking creature of Titania proportions, all done up in pale blue. After the dance was over and he had jotted down her street address he found that by walking two blocks from where he lived and, by taking a car and transferring, he could reach her domicile on a Sunday—matinee or evening—without a bit of trouble.

After a week or two he made another discovery, to-wit: That he would be thrown in her society more frequently if he ran in two or three calls on week nights.

That was the way things stood when he called one Wednesday night. She fluttered to the door, rustlingly, to let him in. He handed her his ante, consisting of a box of candy, to sit in on the cozy corner over beneath the picture of "Spring."

Now, George was one of those boys with a practically unlimited flow of the calorific talk. On this Wednesday evening he didn't waste much time.

"Say, I s'pose that isn't the swell outfit you've got on this evening!" he burst forth enthusiastically for an opener. "Mebby it doesn't fit you or anything—just looks as if it had grown right up with you, that's all!" Thus his talk ran.

By and by he went over to the piano and picked out three or four of the best sellers among the latest musical comedy selections. He had a way of making himself at home that was one of his strong plays. George would have been perfectly at ease in the dining room of a girl's boarding school or on the Hudson. "Run over two or three of these," he suggested gayly, stacking the selections up in the order he wanted to hear them. "Oh, that doesn't make any difference whether you've learned 'em yet or not. You can get more swing into them the first try-out than most of the girls who go in for that Chopin stuff can after practicing eight hours a day for three weeks. Your music always sounds mighty good to little me."

As soon as she had finished the chorus of the last best seller, George, leaning back luxuriously in a green plush armchair, reached over to the center table and picked up a popular novel that gave the ins and outs of a certain love affair with illustrations and lots of direct discourse.

"This one here reminds me of you," remarked George, pointing out a colored illustration of a dainty little queen with languorous, ox-like eyes, and great billows of lustrous auburn hair.

"You know I don't look like that," she returned coyly as she hastened to give two or three deft little pats to her coiffure and adjust the big comb in her back hair.

"You may not look just exactly like that," admitted George, "but you've got the same style, and," he added, "you're the swellest looking little girl in this man's town, too. You can just take that from me and hang it on the whatnot."

"Oh, I guess you're the only one who thinks so," said she modestly.

George blinked for a minute, wondering just what she meant by that assumption that he was the only one who thought so.

But it wasn't his disposition to put the soft pedal on that flow of calorific atmosphere, and he kept right on going.

By that time her parents had left the living room across the hall, and retired to the upstairs, the way a girl's parents should. George had joined the fluffy young creature over on the cusion-be-strewn window seat. She was thumbing over the pages of a 15-cent magazine with a picture on the cover of a girl in a red jacket riding horseback with that immaculate young man, who is always horseback riding or autoing when he isn't posing in the ready-made clothing ads. The setting was just right for some soft pedal, "Hearts and Flowers" conversation.

They glanced through the pages of a short story together, and she read aloud, casually, the closing sentence to the general effect that the hero and near-heroine were married the following spring, the tangle of affairs that threatened to block such an event having been satisfactorily disposed of by the author.

"They always get married, don't they?" observed George, with the aid of a man who's above such things.

"Yes," she agreed demurely, "when they meet the right one."

"Sure," says George. "There's nothing to it. A fellows a whole heap better off settled down in a nice, comfy, little plant like this with a trim little girl of his own than trying to run along single, spending his evenings in the hotel lobbies and drifting around like a tramp. I'm going to pass up this celibate state one of these days, and get married like a Christian."

George had never thought this all over before, but before he realized it he had gone ahead to express such views as would make him solid with the majority of the delegates present.

"But then a girl isn't going to get crazy about a wild scout like me in a hurry," he went on, hounded by a curiosity to know how strong he was with his audience and also to drop a mild hint that if the awful truth were known, he was the original divvle-of-a-feller.

"Oh, well," she remarked. "I've seen lots of worse fellows than you."

"Do you really think so?"

"Of course, I do. Why shouldn't I?"

"The trouble with me," went on George, tacking slightly, "is that the girls who make a hit with me don't care a continental about me, and—and vice versa."

"When you meet the right girl I guess there won't be any trouble," came back she, consolingly, her eyes twinkling.

"But, then, having known you—" suggested George with a knowing and winning grin, his curiosity still unsatisfied, "having known you, I might not recognize that right girl you speak of when I meet up with her. And," he pursued, picking up her small, velvety hand and looking it over critically, "even if I did know her, do you think I could capture her for mine?"

She had a hunch that like as not he could.

"Well," announced George, "that right girl will have to turn me down then in about a year if she doesn't want me, for the old man's going to take me into the business when I'm 24 and give me a little block of stock and things. Then it's going to be me for a little wickieup of my own and the connubial combination."

Somehow it had occurred to George that the talk was getting down sort of definite to things, and hence he had hastened to declare himself not in the market for at least another year. He went farther and switched the talk to theaters and in order to make that line of talk popular, he closed a date to take her to a comedy drama the following Tuesday evening.

A half hour or so later, after they had stood in the dimly lighted hallway and said good-by eighteen different times he hurried off the piazza to catch his owl car.

But wait! George isn't away yet.

"George!" she called after him, softly, "George—a year won't be so very long to wait, will it, dear?" And then she closed the door gently before George had time to recall what he had remarked that had to do with a year, long or short. Then he remembered.

"I suppose I'll learn one of these days," he muttered savagely, "to keep my fool mouth shut!"

Do You Know Enough to Vote?

POLITICAL SCIENCE FOR WOMEN. By Jesse Macy, M. A., LL. D.; professor of political science, Iowa college. (Title is Volume 4 of The Woman Citizen's Library, edited by Shailer Mathews, D. D. The entire set of twelve volumes is to be issued during the present year by The Civics Society, Chicago. Price of set $10.80; by subscription, $2 with application and $2 with each volume delivered.)

Probably nobody would be so bold in these days as to deny that women ultimately will be given equal political rights with men. The trend of public thought, the granting of equal suffrage in many states, the campaigns that are being urged in others in behalf of that cause, all point to the extension of the right of franchise to the feminine sex as a general matter. It is in preparation for this extension that this set of volumes is being prepared, and if the succeeding units measure up to this first issue in historical and political value, the set will be one of real usefulness.

In this first volume the origin of government, as we understand it today, is traced from the earliest times, with special attention paid to the growth of the Swiss federation and the Anglo-Saxon democracies. The significance of each step is brought out, and the force of the spirit of freedom as it operates in the development from feudalism down to the present day is made clear. The book is in fact a beginning of the study of political science, with its matter so condensed and clarified that the reader is enabled, in the perusal of a dozen pages with the accompanying notes, to cover ground that without such guide would hardly be gone over as thoroughly in two or three days of reference work and study.

Among the prominent authorities whose work will appear in the succeeding volumes of the set are Ford H. MacGregor, B. A., instructor in political science at the University of Wisconsin; Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the International Woman Suffrage alliance; A. B. Wolfe, Ph.D., professor of economics and sociology, Oberlin college; Grace C. Strachan, president of the New York Interborough association; W. W. Willoughby, Ph.D., professor of political science, John Hopkins university; Mrs. Catherine Waugh McConnell, Jane Addams, Mrs. Florence Kelley, Dean Walter T. Sumner, Frances A. Kellor, Mrs. Frances Squire Potter, Mrs. Philip N. Moore, and many others.

Though the set is called "The Woman Citizen's Library;" it is equally worth while as reading matter for the woman citizen's husband. It will fill an absolute need in the literature of today, and would constitute an exceptionally valuable course of study for women's clubs to undertake.

On Insurance Companies.

BEST'S KEY RATINGS OF FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES, with Comparative Underwriting and Financial Exhibit. New York: Alfred M. Best company. $5.00.

A small volume "showing in convenient form the comparative financial responsibility, reputation concerning loss payments and character of management of the companies and associations listed. It also contains a complete list of the 'surplus line' companies and associations operating in this country, with the sources from which their policies may be secured."

As stated in the introduction, "the object of this volume is to furnish for quick reference a list (1) of all stock, fire and marine companies licensed anywhere in the United States (excepting only those which write reinsurance exclusively), and (2) a list of all concerns seeking surplus line business here; with statistics and key ratings showing at a glance the financial condition, transactions and reputation of the companies.

"The five-year statistical exhibit includes a column showing the underwriting profit or loss of each company each year, and the table also shows its entire transactions for five years and the net underwriting result."

This information, it is asserted, has not heretofore been available in comparative form, covering the five-year period.

Poetry and Non-Poetry.

ANTHONY AND HERO. By "Simmie." Published by F. Simon, New Haven, Conn.: $1.30.

One author in the course of his writings may turn out widely divergent values in his work, but it is seldom that such wide divergences are seen in any single volume as appear in this compilation by "Simmie." With the real spirit and expression of poetry breathing through every once in a while, the bulk of his verse is a mass of unpoetic phraseology, twisted as to metrical effect, uncertain as to sequence and hardly above the mediocre stage of thought or expression. And yet, every once in a while the reader is brought up with a round turn by some thought and phrasing that would be appropriate in the stateliest literature of our tongue.

In this volume are "Anthony and Hero," a play in blank verse, and several versified sketches of a patriotic nature, dealing with Bunker Hill, John Paul Jones, and the sinking of the Maine. The play is very well done, as a whole, but there seems no excuse for making it culminate in a wholesale tragedy just as everything was smoothed out to give it a happy ending.

How To Do Everything.

POPULAR MECHANICS SHOP NOTES FOR 1913. Chicago: Popular Mechanics Book Department. 50 cents, postpaid.

Does your wife want you to do some odd job around the house that you don't just know how to tackle? Is there some little thing that needs to be done that puzzles you? Or are you of a mechanical turn of mind naturally, but without any means of knowing how to direct your activities in that line? If any of these hypotheses fits your case, get the "Shop Notes" and be happy. Avoiding technical phraseology, they tell in the simplest way how to do almost anything you find you want done, from cleaning the wastepipe of the kitchen sink to repairing intricate parts of an automobile. Even if you never use the ideas in practical work, you will get some useful information about first aid to the mechanically injured. Read the Shop Notes and beat the repair man to it.

Why Do Publishers Do It?

THE GNOMES OF THE SALINE MOUNTAINS. By Anna Goldmark Gross. New York: The Shakespeare Press, $1.00 net.

It is impossible to let a book of this character go by without a mention of the work and duties of publishers, and some attention to the book itself is necessary that the reader may understand the basis of the criticism. The scene of the story is laid in Austria, and the central figure in the story is a beautiful woman who has abandoned her poor husband and her small daughter for the wealth of an Englishman. The theme is crudely handled, and the dialogue is hysterical, where it is not wearisomely stilted.

As to style, whatever in that line the story may claim is of the most abominable sort. The writing is careless and shiftless in the extreme and consistency is ignored. For example: In the first chapter a character in a pageant is described as fishing with a golden net with golden meshes; the time, something after 5 p. m., is forcibly impressed on the reader, who a moment later is treated to a description of the effect on the pageant of "the brilliant afternoon sun;" a beautiful woman "with bewitching form" is referred to as a "dazzling apparition;" her impersonation of Cleopatra is declared to have been carefully worked out, and the next sentence we are told that she had "long, flaxen hair" and deep, black eyes; we are told further that she was "of entrancing beauty" and at the same time her "features were rigid and white."

In the next chapter a lone traveler in the mountains is described as being "frightfully anxious" for fear he will be late in filling an engagement to give a "humerous" lecture. And in the closing scene the beautiful woman enters a room, dazzlingly gowned, and wearing a bunch of lilacs on her bosom, and without even stopping for a period she turns "as white as the lilies at her breast."

These are but samples of the kind of work done in "The Gnomes," who, by the way, aside from appearing in the title, take but a minor place in the story.

The question naturally arises, why do publishers put such a book as this on the market? The fact that they are paid for the work may be sufficient excuse for printing it, but nothing can excuse its infliction on the public. The Shakespeare Press is one of those houses that make a business of looking up untried writers and offering to print their works for them, on terms to be furnished after the author shall have "risen to" the first letter. Judging from "The Gnomes," the publishers pay no attention to the character of the work. If the author is willing to spend some money with them, that seems to be sufficient to cause them to inflict the production on the public. Probably there is no way to reach this practice. As long as mankind is prone to write, and as long as amateur authors are enamored of their own brain-children, there doubtless will be pickings for houses that are willing to stoop to such methods. But it would be kinder alike to public and author to reject such productions outright and not encourage their authors to build vain hopes on worthless efforts. It is possible that "The Gnomes of the Saline Mountains" will fall into the hands of some English teacher who will be able to use it as a horrible example for his classes. Otherwise there is no chances of its serving any purpose whatever.

THE CRADLE OF THE DEEP. By Jacob Fisher. Boston: L. C. Page Co. $1.25 net.

If a young woman of the Boston aristocracy and a plain sailor man, with little refinement but an honest heart, are cast together on an uninhabited island, what will be the result? The author raises the question and answers it, in a manner that may not meet with the approval of all who read the book. Eleanor Channing is a type of the coddled daughter of the aristocracy. Stripped of the artificialities of environment, will her own veneer be stripped off and the true character of the simple American girl be revealed, or will she and the plain sailor continue at arm's length? The author evidently believes the two apparently opposite personalities can be reconciled. His reasoning is interesting and he reveals it through an interesting story.

THE SWORD OF BUSSY. By Robert Neilson Stephens. Boston: L. C. Page & Co. $1.25 net.

Bussy d'Amboise, breaker of hearts and heads, is an interesting character in this story of the court of France. In the midst of intrigue and romance, he stands forth as the braggart with a soul beneath his exterior. He foils his enemies, wins the love of a fair country maid, and escapes disaster in marvelous fashion. The story has a thrill to every chapter and will hold the most jaded fiction reader.

THE ISLAND OF BEAUTIFUL THINGS. By Will Allen Dromgoole. Boston: L. C. Page & Co. $1.25 net.

The reader knows him only as a little boy, called by courtesy to his own feelings Fuzzy-Wuzzy, a first-class fighting man. He is a sickly little chap, with rather advanced views of life, and he is popular in his neighborhood. He walks into the neighbors' homes without so much as "By your leave," and he is more than welcome.

The Man has come home after seven years' wandering in the desert. He thought his "pitcher was empty" when he had been spurned on the eve of his marriage, so he had gone into the desert. He had come up as a mother's call, but the old love remained and he thought his "pitcher was broken."

The little boy walked in on The Man the first morning The Man was home. He walked into The Man's sleeping room and made himself at home. He told the Man of the beautiful Lady, but the man wasn't interested in ladies. The Boy did succeed in rousing The Man's interest in life that morning and for many subsequent mornings.

Out of a friendship between a boy and a man, the author develops a wonderful story of the reawakening of interest in a heart that has been stunned into inactivity. She takes The Boy and The Man on wonderful excursions, in which The Lady is included once in a while, and finally she reveals The Man to himself.

It is a story that one may read once and read again without loss of appreciation. Miss Dromgoole is said to have a wonderful sympathy with the South and its people. She has more than that. She has a wonderful insight into human nature the world over.

OUR PRESIDENTS AND THEIR OFFICES. By William Estabrook Chancellor, Ph. D. New York: The Neale Publishing company. $3.00 net.

A voluminous work, in which is given an history of the presidency and biographies of the men who have held the office. The book goes into intimate details in regard to the presidents, but as a historical work, its value is impaired by the author's partisanship. However it is interesting reading, especially for one who has not gone closely into the details of American political history.

Among the Magazines.

The February Lippincott's is a well-rounded, ripe, and rich magazine, full of varied fiction and papers adjusted to the season. As usual, every feature in it is complete, there being nothing continued but the entertainment, which never flags. The novel, "Miss Phoenix," is by a new writer, Albert Lee. While its theme is entirely unlike that of Mary Roberts Rinehart's "Seven Days," the reader is reminded of that now famous story, because of its originality, humor, brisk action, tangled but quite plausible complications, and general breeziness. The plot hinges upon a young wife's well-meaning attempt to deceive her husband in a small matter and thereby avoid a family quarrel. But an untoward fate twists things up, and one prevarication leads to another, till a half-dozen or more people are involved and much trouble is threatened—trouble from which the author adroitly—and very naturally—frees his characters in the end. Most readers will feel rather surprised at his cleverness in doing so, because for a time things seem hopelessly enmeshed. "Miss Phoenix" is one of the funniest yarns which have appeared in print for a long time.

The February number of Scribner's Magazine is a special number devoted to some aspects of the problem of modern living—this one showing how the motor has influenced life in America, particularly by adding threefold or more to the habitable areas outside of our cities. Four special articles and many pictures in colors and black-and-white give a most interesting popular presentation of "The Day of the Motor," "Discovering America by Motor," by Ralph D. Paine, summarizes the touring conditions in America and shows the differing conditions in the East and the West, with many amusing incidents. Mr. Paine also connects the motor with the tremendous revival of interest in good roads. "The Automobile and Its Mission," by Herbert Ladd Towle, shows the growth of this manufacturing industry in the past decade. For the coming year 500,000 cars will be built, with a value of more than $600,000,000. He describes graphically four typical factories—one of them the largest in the world, manufacturing cheap machines. He particularly shows how the motor has become the useful ally of people of very moderate means, and discusses its commercial application by means of motor trucks, derricks, farm engines, etc.

Life ought to stop issuing its special numbers. They might become very tiresome if it were not for the fact that the subject is never overdone; for instance, if anybody really wanted to know what a siren was, this week's Life is the last place to find out, and yet the number is supposed to be devoted to this elusive, forbidding and dangerous subject. There is not even a basic idea in it, except possibly that all women are sirens, which most of us (who have had any experience with them) already know. Why enlarge upon it? Certainly, to devote a number to it and then have so little in that number relating to it—Go to! Life!

There are six short stories in the February Metropolitan by Gouveneur Morris, Dell H. Munger, Compton Mackenzie and others. "The Night of the Luminous Petticoat," by Mackenzie, is the first of a series of mystery stories. "Why Should I Marry?" is the title of an interesting interview with Geraldine Farrar, the prima donna. Arnold Bennett writes on "The Risks of Life," and Maurice Baring continues his amusing serials called "Around the World in Any Number of Days." Other articles are "Heroism; the Story of a Conversion," by Gustave Herve; "Where Philanthropy Fails," by Robert W. Bruere, and "A Magician of the Orchestra" (Richard Strauss), by James Huneker.

In the February Popular Magazine, Edwin Balmer has a story called "The Peace Advocate," which is a powerful argument for a bigger navy. He pictures vividly what might happen any day in a South American port, were a United States battleship has to fight a foreign ship of the same type, but carrying one more turret and two more fourteen-inch guns. We cannot recall a more vivid story of a sea fight. The terrible slaughter of men makes one gasp. It is "an operation of world surgery done with dull knives."

"The Conquest of Mt. McKinley," highest of American peaks, begins in the February issue of Outing. The story is told by Belmore Browne, the explorer and artist, who has accompanied Prof. Parker on all his expeditions. Kephart's "Southern Highlander" is continued with a chapter on the personal life of the "People of the Hills," and Kirk Alexander continues his angling adventures on the north shore of Lake Superior. An interesting addition this month is the tale of the voyage of the brig President from New York to Teneriffe in the '20s. It is taken from the personal journals of Capt. Nat Webber, an old clipper ship commander.

Elinor Glyn writes the complete novelette for February Ainslee's. It is entitled "The Point of View." The heroine, Beila Rawson, the niece of Canon Ebley, comes from England with her uncle and aunt to visit Italy. She has been led into a loveless engagement with the junior chaplain of her uncle's church. In Rome she meets a fascinating Russian count, who awakens her heart. The contrast in the point of view of the Russian lover and the fanatical young clergyman is the basis of much entertaining argument and incident through the story. It is vividly written, and is sure to prove of absorbing interest to Ainslee's readers.

"The Temperament of Clytie," by George C. Jenks, leading novelette in February Young's Magazine, is a story full of vigor and charm, depicting the nature of a young wife, who, though loving her husband, goes in for all sorts of fads and fancies. "Antoinette Claire," by Victoria Morton, is a powerful story of love and heartache. It concerns a young wife who visits an auction sale and there procures a quaint box which, later she discovers holds a secret drawer that contains love letters from her husband (written before his marriage) to a famous beauty. The story is tense and strong. "Flesh of Her Flesh," by Lulah Ragsdale, is an exquisite revelation of a mother's soul. "Red Glass Lanterns, by Louise Winter, deals with the supposedly placid current of middle-aged married life.

Two articles of special interest appear in Harper's Bazar for February, "Building Up a Business," by Mary Hatch Willard, in which she tells how a woman made a million-dollar enterprise out of a bowl of soup, and "Right Thinking and Right Living," by Dr. Samuel McComb of the Emanuel movement. "Women Who Achieve" is a page of portraits with stories of eight uniquely successful careers. The February Bazar is especially strong in short stories: "Getting Acquainted," with some Lucius Hitchcock pictures, and "The Fairy Amelook," by Margarita Spalding Gerry. A striking art feature is the second of the Bazar's full-page wood-engraving masterpieces. Seven articles appear in the special House Number pages, among them being "The Truth About Building a $5,000 House," "The Cottage-Bungalow for the Suburbs," and "Putting in Fireplaces," by Robert and Elizabeth Shackleton.

Recent discussion as to whether the best known stories of the last generation would be accepted by magazines of the present day has suggested to the Century the reprinting of a few of the noteworthy stories by well-known authors appearing in that magazine about twenty-five years ago. The February Century contains, in this series, "The Lady, or the Tiger?" Frank R. Stockton's famous story, with new drawings by Oliver Herford. Frank Weitenkampf, author of "American Graphic Art," reviews "American Cartoons of Today," and describes the work of many individual cartoonists. The article has fourteen illustrations. There are three Lincoln features of much interest. One is an explanation of Lincoln's secret promise to co-operate with McClellan to save the Union in the event of McClellan's election. A fac-simile of the manuscript which is owned by Mrs. John Hay, illustrates the article. John Langdon Kaine has written of "Lincoln as a Boy Knew Him," giving several anecdotes both serious and humorous. The third feature is "A New Story of Lincoln's Assassination," a hitherto unpublished record of an eye-witness, by Jesse W. Weik.

With forty-two state legislatures in session this winter and with a Democratic administration in the saddle at Washington for the first time since the early nineties—1913 promises to be an exceptional year in those fields of social concern where law is a factor. More than most years the problem of striking balances between public and voluntary effort, a question raised by Prof. Simon N. Patten of the University of Pennsylvania, in the January Survey, will be discussed. The Survey, which has been called the leading advocate of modern organized humanitarianism, breaks into the new year with a "bumper" sheaf of articles. In the field of charity fundamental issues have been raised by the agitation of "widows' pensions." On this subject Mr. Carstens presents the results of the first inductive study yet made of the operation of new types of public aid in Illinois, California, Missouri and Wisconsin.

Woman's World for February contains an interesting assortment of fiction, including short stories by A. Conan Doyle, E. R. Lipsett, John A. Moroso and the third installment of Gouverneur Morris' serial, "Under Pressure." Gutzon Borglum, the famous sculptor, in "When the People Spoke," has embodied in very tender and sympathetic prose the conception of the character of Lincoln which he has expressed in his statues and busts of the great emancipator. Herbert Kaufman's vivid prose poem, "Imagination," is above rather than below the standard of his past editorials, and his poem, "Atlantis," strikes a new note of sentiment.

The February American Magazine containes a wonderful letter by Allan Pinkerton, never before published, in which the famous detective relates his connection with the first plot to assassinate Lincoln. Lincoln was on his way to Washington in February, 1861, and the plan was to kill him in Baltimore while he was passing through that city on the way to Washington, where he was to be inaugurated. Pinkerton discovered the plot, saved Lincoln's life, and tells the whole story in this letter which was written in 1866 but never reached the public until the American Magazine got hold of it. Brand Whitlock, mayor of Toledo, Ohio, writes the second chapter of his personal reminiscences and tells some remarkable stories about James G. Blaine, Governor Altgeld and the Whitechapel club of Chicago, which in its time was probably the most famous and most interesting Bohemian club in the world.

A delightful feature of the February St. Nicholas is another of Charles G. D. Roberts' "Babes of the Wild" stories, telling "The Adventures of Young Grumpy"—Young Grumpy being a very cross woodchuck. There are some very clever pictures by Paul Bransom. The number contains also an appreciation of Frank Hall Scott, late president of the Century company, a brief but sympathetic record full of inspiration.

The issue of Harper's Weekly for Jan. 18 contains an article by Magistrate John J. Freschi of New York city, entitled "Where Probation Fails." Other articles in this issue are "Building Up the British Empire," by Sydney Brooks; "Overdoing 'Municipal Home Rule,'" by Walter Sallen; "First Aid for Lazarus," by Cromwell Childe; "Seeking a Famous Trophy," by William Inglis; "The Lure of the Films," by Olivia Howard Dunbar, and "How Government Ownership of Railways Works in Japan," by George Rust Bedinger. This issue contains the usual editorials, cartoons, fiction, illustrated accounts of current events, finance and humor features.

In Harper's for February, Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the explorer, tells of the remarkable hospitality with which he and his party were received by one of the strange tribes of Eskimos whom they encountered. Under the title, "Scotticisms and Americanisms," Prof. Thomas R. Lounsbery tells some interesting facts in regard to words now in general use which only a century ago were rejected by best authorities. F. B. R. Hallems, writing of his visit to "Udaipur the Unspoiled," gives a significant account of the tactful methods which England uses in controlling the plague in India. Sir Robert Parker continues his novel, "The Judgment House," and other stories include "Wild Oats," by Fleta Campbell Springer; "The Intruder," by Marjorie Bowen; "Miss Dalrymple's Hour," by Marie Manning; "Memory Plays Us Tricks," by William Gilmore Beymer; "The Woman With Yellow Gloves," by Madge C. Jamison; "The White Lamb," by Lillan A. North; "Sunset Island," by Ralph Roeder.

Woodrow Wilson's article on "The New Freedom," appearing serially in the World's Work, is continued in the February issue with "Freemen Need No Guardians." Mr. Wilson points out that for some time past the control of the government of the United States has been in the hands of men who look for advice not to the general body of the people, but to those self-appointed guardians of national prosperity who are our captains of industry. Mr. Wilson declares that he rejects altogether the guardianship theory of government and explains why he has faith in the wisdom of the common men and how he proposes to restore the government to their hands. C. M. Keys, in "The New Democracy of Business," shows in a striking fashion how the oligarchical structure of American business life has been torn down by recent events and replaced by a democratic structure in every field of enterprise save that of banking. In an article richly illustrated with portraits, Mr. Keys names and describes the new men who are the leaders in this new order—a fascinating and surprising review of the business situation today. "Two Cities That Turned Farmers," by Frank Parker Stockbridge, is a record of the effort of Duluth, Minn., to build up a supporting back country to care for the food supply of the city's increasing population; and of Delavan, Wis., to restore a proper relation between the city merchants and the farmers.

Social affairs of the week have been many and delightful. Bridge has held a strong place in the entertainment of guests, several large parties being given. Mrs. Richard Sellwood of 1931 East Second street entertained Wednesday afternoon at the game for her mother, Mrs. R. F. Fitzgerald, who has just returned from a six weeks' visit in Vancouver, B. C.

Mrs. C. E. Mershon assisted the hostess, and bouquets of pink roses were attractively used in decoration. The guests played at thirteen tables and prizes were won by Mrs. Victor Stearns, Mrs. F. L. Finkenstaedt, Mrs. Amy Fossberg, Mrs. F. D. Day and Mrs. Pitt Abbott.

Mrs. H. F. Williamson was hostess at two parties on Thursday and Friday afternoons. Mrs. J. G. Ketcham entertained for some of the younger set on Thursday evening, and Mrs. William Harrison was hostess at bridge this afternoon at her home.

The performance given last evening by Adeline Genee at the Lyceum theater, the third event in the Reyner memorial series, was one of the social events of the season and several small parties were given for that, preceding by a number of small dinner parties.

Meetings of the two chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution, of clubs and church societies have claimed much attention, and skating and out-of-door sports have had their share of the time of both the old and the young population of Duluth.

Mrs. F. W. Paine of 1007 London road was hostess at a luncheon of twelve covers this noon at her home in compliment to her guest, Miss Smith, of St. Paul.

Annual reports submitted at the annual business meeting of the Young Women's Christian association which was held Wednesday evening showed a balance of over $1,200 on hand after all bills are paid and a general increase in the efficiency of the association was apparent in the reports of what has been accomplished in the various departments. The election of seven directors and one trustee was also a feature of the meeting. Mrs. W. A. McGonagle, Mrs. J. A. Watterworth, Mrs. W. H. Cole and Mrs. E. T. Hughes were re-elected for the next three years and Mrs. G. G. Hartley, Mrs. W. W. Sanford and Mrs. E. D. Field were elected as new members of the board. W. G. Hegardt was re-elected to the board of trustees, Mrs. F. H. Rogers and Mrs. F. H. White were elected to fill unexpired terms of other directors for one year.

Doctors' Wives' Auxiliary.

The annual business meeting of the Women's auxiliary of the St. Louis County auxiliary was also an event of the week which was of interest to women. Mrs. E. L. Tuohy, secretary of that society, summed up the work for the year in an interesting report. The society has fifty-one members, forty-three of whom are from Duluth and eight from other points. Of the thirteen meetings held during the year five were social affairs. Courtenay Dinwiddie spoke on "Organized Charity" at one meeting and other programs of interest were given at the other affairs. She spoke of the affairs given for the wives of the doctors who met in Duluth in convention last summer and of the luncheon and Orpheum party given recently as a farewell to Mrs. J. B. Weston who has left for California to make her home there.

She complimented Mrs. Robert Graham, chairman of the social committee and Mrs. O. A. Oredson, chairman of the entertainment committee for their cooperation and the success in the entertainments and social functions and she reported on the Donation day which was held for the tuberculosis sanitarium at Nopeming shortly before Thanksgiving, under the direction of Mrs. J. A. McCuen.

Work of the philanthropic committee under the leadership of Mrs. Frederick B. Patten and Mrs. McComb was outlined and thanks were extended to Mrs. Haney as chairman of the press committee and to the press for co-operation.

Events of Interest

Mrs. Cassius H. Bagley of 1929 East Superior street was hostess at cards yesterday afternoon at her home. Bridge was played at ten tables and favors were won by Mrs. E. A. Separk and Mrs. F. L. Barrows.

* * *

Mrs. F. L. Finkenstaedt, Mrs. John Q. A. Crosby and Mrs. E. L. Bradley won the prizes at the second bridge party at which Mrs. H. F. Williamson, 2402 East First street was hostess yesterday afternoon. The game was played at seven tables and the rooms were prettily brightened with bowls of spring flowers.

The members of the Minnekahda club entertained Wednesday evening of this week at their lodge at Ironton.

INTERESTING PROGRAM WILL BE GIVEN BEFORE MATINEE MUSICALE

MRS. FRED G. BRADBURY, Pianist.

MRS. D. H. DAY, Accompanist.

MISS VALBORG GUNDERSON, Violinist.

MRS. GRACE S. BREARLEY, Pianist.

A PROGRAM of unusual interest will be presented Monday afternoon at the regular meeting of the Matinee Musicale. Mrs. Grace Senior Brearley will be heard in a piano concerto with the piano arrangement of the orchestral accompaniment played at a second piano by Mrs. D. H. Day. Mrs. Brearley is always heard with much pleasure by the club members, and in this splendid number will have opportunity for the greatest of her musical gifts. The vocal soloist for the afternoon will be George H. Madison, who will make his debut before the club in a group of numbers. Mr. Madison, basso, is one of Duluth's new singers, who came to Duluth recently from New York. He will sing a group of four songs, which will be of interest. This will be his first appearance before the Matinee Musicale, as he was prevented by illness from singing on their Christmas program. Miss Isabel Pearson will play his accompaniments.

His last song, "The Sacred Fire," is a new composition by Alexander Russell of New York, who is a personal friend of Mr. Madison and with whom Mr. Madison sang the song from manuscript at a concert in New York.

The club has this year made a feature of ensemble work and in this respect the Arensky trio, to be played by Mrs. Fred G. Bradbury, Mrs. J. B. Erd, and Miss Valborg Gunderson, is of particular interest. Several years ago Duluth had an opportunity of hearing some delightful chamber music by local musicians and two of the trio who played for several seasons were Mrs. Bradbury and Mrs. Erd. The violin work of the trio was then played by Mr. Bradbury. For several years there has been no chamber music available among local musicians for public nor even semi-public enjoyment, and the Matinee Musicale members will therefor have especial pleasure in welcoming again Mrs. Erd and Mrs. Bradbury. The violinist of the trio, Miss Gunderson, is a young musician who is doing her first work of this sort, and she has delighted those who have heard her in rehearsals this year in the splendid work that she is doing.

Chamber Music.

In the prospect of having more chamber music on its programs in the future the opinions of some musical writers on the kind of music is of interest. W. J. Henderson in his "What Is Good Music" writes: "In the performance of chamber music one should look for the same excellences as those of orchestral playing, with something added. Balance and quality of tone are absolutely essential to good quartet or trio playing, but, of course, it is not possible to obtain from three or four instruments that massive solidity of tone which is expected from an orchestra. On the other hand in a string quartet there should be a perfect homogeneity of tone, an absolute agreement of quality and force which no orchestra could quite equal. Precision, unanimity and flexibility can all be carried to a finer finish in chamber music than in orchestral performance."

The trio to be played Monday is by Antony Stepanovich Arensky, a Russian composer of the modern school. His style and temperament has considerable affinity to Tschaikovsky, his countryman. Of the trio Mrs. Erd has prepared the following interesting program notes:

"Arensky Trio in D minor in four parts. All different in mood and tone color; very melodious and well and clearly developed and characteristic. First movement—Allegro moderato in D minor, 4-4 time. Upward, striving, energetic, broadly outlined; motives taken up alternately by strings and piano, sometimes accentuated in unissonos by the three instruments.

"Second movement or part—Scherzo in D major, 2-4 time. Tune, allegro molto. A brilliant and sparkling movement with harmonic and pizzicato effects for the strings and brilliant scale and trill work for the piano. The middle motif of this movement is a broad, portly valse theme and when it is at its climax the first frolicky thought enters again and vanishes like an evening breeze a la Scherzo.

"Third movement — Elegie in G minor. Adagio, 4-4 time. The strings are muted and the piano has the somber march rythm. There the composer has dipped his pen into the well of sorrow and depression. The second thought or theme reveals a somewhat brighter strain, D major, in the piano, supported by muted triplet figures in the strings. Taking up the first mournful thought the elegie ends in G minor.

"Fourth movement—Allegro non trappo in D minor, 3-4 time. Rythm: Energetic and tone color; brilliant, poliphonic. Toward the middle of the movement the second bright strain of the elegie reappears and is played by the strings, while the piano supports the melody with double stop triplet figures. This is followed by the opening motif of the first movement and is presented in recitative form, and is played by each instrument in adagio tempo, which points out that motif very impressive and strong and now the last movement rushes out in an allegro molto finale by repeating the first motif of that part."

The program in detail is as follows:

Trio for piano, violin and 'cello—
"Trio" in D minor.....Arensky
Allegro moderato.
Scherzo—Allegro molto.
Elegia—Adagio.
Allegro non troppo.
Mrs. Fred Bradbury, piano; Valborg Gunderson, violin; Mrs. J. B. Erd, 'cello.

"Der Doppelganger" .....Schubert
"Der olde Garten".....Hildach
"Die Beiden Grenadiere"...Schumann
"The Sacred Fire"...Alexander Russell
George H. Madison.

Concerto, E flat major, op. 73—
.....Beethoven
Allegro.
Adagio un pocco mosso.
Rondo (allegro ma non troppo).
Grace Senior Brearley.
Orchestral part on second piano, Mrs. D. H. Day.

The board of directors will meet at 1:30 o'clock before the regular program at 3 to examine candidates for active membership and transact necessary business to come before the board.

The evening was spent dancing and refreshments were served.

One of the delightful events of the week was the Wesley tea, given yesterday afternoon at the First M. E. church parlors, attended by more than 100 guests.

The quiet charm of the affair was the old fashioned atmosphere given by Miss Genevieve Knight, who in the costume of the times, represented Susannah Wesley, mother of John and Charles, and she gave an interesting biography of her. Master Raymond Larsen read a biography of John Wesley and Kennard Copper of Charles Wesley, illustrating it by singing three of his hymns, and Miss Elsie Mapp told the history of the Wesley teapot, made by Josiah Wedgewood in remembrance of his friends.

After the program tea was served by Mrs. J. E. Goodman and Mrs John Carson, from a teapot which is an exact reproduction of the Wesley teapot with its inscribed verses on the sides:

"A cup of good tea
Is acknowledged to be
A famous restorer of gladness;
It quickens the flame,
Enlivens the frame,
And dispelleth the spirit of sadness."

and the other which has been used as a blessing:

"Be present at our table Lord
Be here and everywhere adored,
These creatures bless and grant that we
May feast in Paradise with thee."

Assisting the hostesses were members of the Queen Esther society and Mrs. L. W. Larsen and Mrs. T. A. Armstrong had general charge of the affair.

A delightful musical program was given by Miss Perrie Reynolds, who sany Nevin's "Jesu, Jesu, Miserere" and Carrie Jacobs Bond's, "His Lullaby," sweetly and with pleasing expression and Mrs. Lewis Merritt played as her piano solo, Nevin's "The Shepard's Tale."

The current events leader for the afternoon will be Mrs. R. C. Dryer.

FABBRINI PRAISED.

Pianist Will Give Concert in Duluth in February.

PIANISTS and music lovers in general are interested in the concert which Signor Giuseppe Fabbrini, the famous Italian pianist, will give in Duluth on Friday evening, Feb. 7, at the Pilgrim Congregational church. He has received highest praise in America and abroad, and the following press notices give an idea of the regard which is felt for his work in European cities:

"The Musica of Rome—This young pianist's concert yesterday has marked one of the most significant musical occasions in this city. The most critical and conservative musical public present testified voluntarily to this by means of a demonstration and applause that is seldom evinced in musical circles. Giuseppe Fabbrini's thorough and masterly interpretation revoked to life Mendelssohn, Beethoven, Chopin, Schumann, Liszt, Brahms, Martucci and others and proved beyond doubt the young pianist's genius and talent."

The St. Petersburg Gazette—The peer of pianists, Giuseppe Fabbrini, has exhibited an interpretative capacity in the music of Chopin and Liszt that equals that of any other pianist heard in our city."

Theosophical Society.

IRVING S. COOPER of Chicago, the general secretary's representative for the northern division of the Theosophical society, will give a series of free public lectures, as well as talks to members only in Duluth and Superior Feb. 20 to 25. The local lodge will hold its regular meeting Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in Burgess block, 310 West First street.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

On Curbing One's Tongue and Avoiding Gossip.

I have sometimes, in one of those wild flights of imagination in which I am prone to indulge, fancied myself flirting about with a pair of razor sharp manicure scissors, snipping a trifle over an inch off the tongues of most of my acquaintances. In deep humility I have seemed to wind up this performance by taking a snip off my own! These curious surgical feats usually succeed a moment of intense conviction that the human race talks a very large deal too much. Pruned closely, I am afraid I should find it hard to give any coherent anatomical reason why taking an inch or so off tongues all around would reform this evil.

Some indefinite, ridiculous notion that that little pointed tip wags most freely, and that the action of this unruly member might be rendered a trifle more sluggish, is the nearest I can come to an explanation of the vagary. But for the precursory conviction I have no apology to make. We certainly do talk too much.

There is a deal of profitless conversation indulged in, some of it harmless enough, but easily running over the danger line. Now I do not mean to say that I should want all people silent or uncommunicative. Life would be very colorless without its brilliant talkers. It's a gift of which no one need be ashamed; but, like a spirited horse, it needs lots of gentle curbing. No one realizes more than the natural conversationalist the value of silence; to regain one's poise, some times a bit endangered by emotional stress—to cause the good points of one's conversation to sink in,—these silences are invaluable.

One recalls men and women whose eternal rattle of talk leaves one a fit candidate for the lunatic's retreat. Not one word of all their prattle has in it a kernel fit to be cherished—too often it has sown seeds of a baleful sort, for it is an axiom that these over-talkative folk are apt to be mischievous unwittingly, and that half the evil gossip in the world starts from their unauthentic, puerile wanderings fanned into a flame of hideous scandal by malevolent listeners, who keep discreetly hidden under the broad blanket of "they say."

Let's have a whack at art, music and literature if we like. They are used to it and can stand it, and if we are dead in earnest it won't hurt us a bit. But let us leave our neighbors and their affairs alone.

The Emerson Pianos

Have you ever listened to the EMERSON Piano? If not, we want you to come in and hear it. It is only by listening to the peerless tone that you can understand the reverence the musical world has for the EMERSON name.

The EMERSON is not an ordinary piano. It is not in the ordinary class, but in a class by itself. Its merit has placed it in the very front rank. Its musical qualities are beyond criticism. The World Produces None Better.

DULUTH HAS MORE WINTER SPORT ENTHUSIASTS AMONG THE FAIR SEX THAN ANY OTHER CITY OF ITS SIZE IN AMERICA---ZENITH CITY GIRLS WELCOME WINTER'S BLASTS

(1) A Typical "Bobbing" Party on the Duluth Hills. (2) A Snowshoe Enthusiast. (3) One Sport the Women Have Not Invaded as Yet. (4) Duluth Girls Are Expert Ski Riders. (5) The Man Has a Fair Partner With Him on This Iceboat, Although She Cannot Be Seen in the Picture. The Girls Enjoy Iceboating as Much as the Men.

Where are the tiresome bards who sing of budding flowers and breath of spring? Bid them throw hackneyed themes of June in the shade and give us a song to the winter maid.

In no city in the county are there more healthful, happy looking girls than right here in Duluth, and plenty of fresh, pure air and plenty of vigor-our exercise are what makes them healthful and happy.

No city in the county offers more opportunities for winter sports and the girls and women enter into them as eagerly and with as much genuine enthusiasm as the men and boys. Snow shoes, skis, toboggans, bobs, skates and barrel staves, share alike in popularity. Visitors in Duluth notice nothing so quickly as the popularity of outdoor sports with Duluth girls and women. They think nothing of a five or ten mile tramp through the woods on skis when the mercury is below zero.

With the fine big new curling club and its mammoth skating rink, and with sixteen other open free rinks scattered through the city, besides the bay and lake, which afford skating space, the skaters of the city have ample room to indulge in that form of sport.

The ski club with its two toboggan slides and its ski slides is a popular resort and Duluth can boast of more than one girl who "takes" the jump off the small scaffolding at the hill.

The country club is the scene of some expert riding and of a good deal of fancy falling, as toboggan slides and the rolling hills attract coasters and the course down from Hunter's Park, which ends at the country club, is perhaps the most popular ski trip in the city. Members of the country club take the trip, stopping at the club-house afterwards for a supper, and the hundreds of cabins on the outskirts of the city are popular goals for outing parties.

Indeed nearly all Duluth gets out of doors in the winter time for sport of some kind or other. From father and mother down to little Johnny, who hides his barrel stave under the edge of the sidewalk during school hours, they are all eager to join in the fun.

Coasting on the avenues is a sport which the youngsters won't give up even though it is filled with the danger of trying to use the same space with an automobile or car coming from the cross streets, and bobs, sleds and toboggans see daily service for flying rides down the avenues from one end of the city to the other.

Swimming is hardly a winter sport, but the pool at the Y. W. C. A. is as popular on the coldest winter day as it is on the hottest day in summer. Miss Anders of the Y. W. C. A. stated that the attendance at swimming classes was heaviest during the very coldest weather and that the women and girls are immensely enthusiastic about the sport.

An open meeting for inquirers is held Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The weekly study class of the Theosophical society will meet at 2 p. m. Tuesdays in the same lodge rooms. This class is open to all who are interested in the study of mind, self-control and allied subjects.

AFTERNOON SERVICE.

CLUB NOTES.

Will Form Class in Parliamentary Law---Executive Board Meeting.

THE regular monthly meeting of the executive board of the Twentieth Century club will be held Monday morning at 10 o'clock at the library club room, for the consideration of several matters of general importance to the club, and all members of the board are urged to prompt attendance.

Parliamentary Law Class.

The first meeting of the class in parliamentary law for members of the Twentieth Century club will be held next Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock at the library club room, with Mrs. J. H. Crowley as leader. The subject for the meeting will be "Organization," and a most instructive course has been outlined for the course of eight meetings which will be held on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month. The meetings will be conducted by different leaders, and all women who are interested and who expect to join are urged to attend this first meeting that none of the course may be lost.

The women expect to derive great advantage from the careful study of parliamentary law, and membership in this class is a club privilege, no extra charge being made other than membership in the Twentieth Century club.

Shakespeare Class.

The evening Shakespeare class of the Twentieth Century club will hold its regular meeting at 7:30 o'clock on Monday evening at the library club room.

MIDWINTER CONCERT.

Attractive Program Prepared By High School Musical Society.

THE HIGH School Musical society will give their annual mid-winter concert in the assembly hall on Friday next, Jan. 31. A large part of the program will consist of ensemble numbers by a carefully trained chorus of about 100 voices. A glance at their selections will show the high class of compositions to be rendered, including a chorus from Smetana's opera, "The Bartered Bride," "Glory to Isis" (Aida), Schubert's "Erl King," selections from "Martha" and "Patience," and a "Nonsense Cycle" by A. F. M. Custance, composed some time ago, but given for the first time in public on this occasion. The society will be assisted by the following soloists: Loretto O'Gorman, soprano; Alta Hallock, contralto; A. Rudolph Burquist, tenor; Charles O. Applehagen, baritone; and Eleanor Kraft, violinist. Numbers will also be given by the Scottish Rite quartet. During the intermission a collection will be taken up, to help defray the expenses of "The Zenith," the annual school publication. Admission will be free to holders of tickets only, which may be obtained at the principal's office.

The program follows:

"Spring Chorus" ("Bartered Bride") ..... Smetana

High School Concert.

GEORGE H. MADISON, bass, will be the soloist at the second annual concert to be given by the Duluth Central high school orchestra at the assembly hall on Saturday evening, Feb. 8. Mr. Madison will sing arias with orchestral accompaniment from Mozart's "Magic Flute" and Gounod's "Queen of Sheba." He will also sing a group of songs.

The orchestra is larger than last year and is expected to be more efficient. Several of the best professionals in the city will aid in giving good balance. Among other numbers, the orchestra will play Massenet's "Phedre" overture, Ponchielli's "Dance of the Hours" from "La Gioconda," and music from Humperdinck's new opera "Konigskinder."

DRAMATIC CLUB.

Will Pick Cast for Two Plays to Be Given Soon.

The Cathedral Dramatic club will meet Monday evening at 8 o'clock at the Bishop's clubroom. Two little one-act plays have been chosen and will be worked up by the club for presentation some time shortly after St. Patrick's day and the casts for these plays will be picked Monday evening by Mrs. Kelley, the director of the club. They are "That Rascal Pat," a farce comedy, and "Kerry," a little sketch of delicious humor.

ELMAN AND ORCHESTRA.

Famous Violinist Will Appear With Duluth's New Musical Organization.

ONE of the biggest musical events of the season and one which will draw a capacity house is the concert which will be given next Wednesday evening at the Lyceum theater by Mischa Elman, violinist, and the Duluth Symphony orchestra.

Elman, who has been called the "emperor of violinists," has a world wide reputation and the mention of his name creates enthusiasm. His playing has become familiar to many through the Victor records which he has made and everywhere he has played he has received an ovation. Commencing when he was a tiny lad he has steadily advanced going farther in a musical way than any violist of his years and on all sides he has been a decided sensation because of his unusual powers.

The following clipping from the Musical America of Jan. 11, 1913, tells of a triumph he won in New York:

"Sunday afternoon's concert of the Symphony society, Walter Damrosch, conductor, with Mischa Elman as soloist in the Tschaikowsky Concerto, drew an audience to Aeolian hall that filled every seat in the new auditorium. And what is more, hundreds of persons were turned away, as there have not yet been made arrangements with the fire department for the privilege known as 'standing room.'"

The Duluth orchestra under the leadership of Gustav Flaaten has been working hard on a program of general merit and interest is felt in the development and growth of this orchestra, which started last year.

The program arranged for this concert follows:

NORMAL NOTES

At a meeting of the Thalian society held Thursday noon, the officers for the remainder of the year were elected. Miss Louise Coe succeeds Miss Ruth Brown as president; Miss Olive Scandling of Iron Mountain, Mich., becomes vice president in place of Miss Bessie Warren; Miss Helena Ritchie of Howard Lake succeeds Miss Florence Olsen as secretary; while Miss Mary Myron again becomes treasurer by a unanimous vote. The election was preceded by a vigorous campaign lasting a week. During that time a number of attractive bills and posters were placed in conspicuous parts of the building. The Progressive and Conservative parties "boosted" their respective candidates, and telegrams announcing the progress of the campaign were posted in the corridors. The excitement was intense and resulted in a record-breaking attendance at Thursday's meeting. Following the election an old-fashioned "spell-down" was held, and ten members were chosen to challenge the Greysolon society to a spelling match. The successful spellers were Magdalene Breen, Margaret Grannis, Florence Olsen, Ruth Bjorge, Nellie Ritchie, Nora Hanson, Olive Scandling, Charlotte Wohlin, and Lotlise Coe.

OLIVE SCANDLING,
Vice President of the Thalian Society.

The feature of Monday's chapel exercises was the playing of two delightful piano solos by Miss Marjorie-May Harrison, a member of the junior class. Her selections were Liszt's "Bandolero," and an exquisite "Tarantelle," by Touski. Following this the chorus sang an old English "Hunting Song" with good effect.

It has become impossible to accommodate in one lunch room all the students who desire that privilege. It has therefore been found necessary to provide another dining room and the old sewing room will be utilized for this purpose.

The spelling and penmanship examination system has been discarded and in its place a rule has been made to the effect that the daily work of each student in these branches must attain a satisfactory standard before permission is given to do practice teaching in the training department.

The Glee club enrollment has been increased by the addition of Nellie Ritchie, soprano, and Esther Mork, Gena Finstad and Alice Pastoret, second sopranos.

Several of the junior girls enjoyed a "Dutch lunch" Thursday. Those in the party were: Mary Myron, Ruth White, Bertha Hopkins and Estelle Watts.

The members of the Glee club are practicing several selections to sing during the session of the Northwestern Minnesota Teachers' association.

At the meeting of the folk dancing class Thursday afternoon Miss Taylor taught the Hungarian "Strosak." The class also practiced some of the dances learned the week before.

The members of the Senior Kindergarten club met last Saturday evening with Miss Mabel Smith in her room at Torrance hall. Those present were: Eva Potter, Ruth Geddes, Helen Grimes, Gladys Roskilly, Edith Canfield, Henrietta Peacha, Mabel Baillie, Evangeline Stephenson, Margaret Clark and Alphie Anderson.

A number of juniors gave an elaborate spread Thursday noon in the lunch room. Those present were: Hilma Koefod, Beatrice Andrews, Margaret Bomler, Gladys Hughes, Anna Ericson, Anna Brand, Mary Breen, Magdalene Breen, Mary Anderson and Frances Campbell.

Veronica O'Hara and Margaret Gleason, both of Torrance hall, were the week-end guests of Olive Scott of West Duluth.

The members of the Greysolon society will give a sleighride this evening.

The "Senior Seven" gave a delightful spread Friday in the lunch room. Those in the party were: Bessie Warren, Florence Olsen, Ruth Bjorge, Ruth Young, Nora Hanson, Ruth Brown and Louise Coe.

Miss Lucy Hart, supervisor of the kindergarten department, entertained all the training teachers in her classes at her rooms this afternoon. Those present were: Henrietta Peacha, Edith Canfield, Gladys Roskilly, Mabel Smith, Mabel Baillie, Evangeline Stephenson, Alphie Anderson, Margaret Clark, Helen Grimes, Ruth Geddes, Eva Potter, Alice Pastoret, Esther Mork, Eunice Willner, Eva Harrison, Edith Mullin, Ella Olsen, Agnes Peck, Louise Binney, Margaret Gleason, Sadie Selmser, Vernie Clarke, Nellie Ritchie, Ethel Robertson, Marion Kleinegger and Eva Harrison.

The freshmen held a meeting Friday noon.

• • •

The arrangements which were made for the Thalian sleighride have been cancelled, as the affair has been postponed indefinitely.

• • •

Miss Nellie Ritchie of Torrance hall was hostess Wednesday evening at a delightful birthday party in honor of Miss Catharine O'Connor. The guest of honor was presented with a hat pin. The other guests were: Verna Huff, MacCrum, Bessie Weatherby, Margaret Gleason, Mary Galob, Helen Maddy, Gladys Roskilly and Ella Schoen.

• • •

Miss Lucy Tomkins, critic teacher in the third and fourth grades, was the guest of honor at the weekly house meeting Wednesday evening at Torrance hall. She read to the students from Kipling's "Just So" stories.

• • •

During a Greysolon meeting, held Thursday, plans were made for the sleighride, and several new members were admitted.

• • •

The students who have been excused from the course in domestic science because of advanced credits in that subject, will be given a course in library science under the supervision of Miss Ruth Ely, in order to make up the twenty-four credits necessary for graduation.

• • •

Miss Lillie Strick left Thursday for her home in Hibbing because of illness.

• • •

The practice teachers in the training school have been assigned the subjects which they are to teach during the remainder of the term.

• • •

Miss Esther Strand of Torrance hall is the week-end guest of Miss Esther Minor of Superior, formerly a student at this school.

• • •

Miss Theresa Cox has been called to her home in Hibbing by the illness of her mother.

• • •

President Eugene W. Bohannon returned Saturday from a short trip to St. Paul, where he attended a meeting of the presidents of the five normal schools of the state.

• • •

Mr. Van Cleef accompanied the members of the freshman geography class on a field trip Wednesday to the weather bureau station.

• • •

Miss Matilda Runsvold and Miss Ida Johnson were hostesses Monday evening at a spread in their room in Torrance hall. Their guests were Gladys Caine, Florence Young, Helen Maddy, Nellie Pederson, and Mabel Thorpe.

• • •

Miss Ella Olsen of Washburn hall is spending a few days at her home in Two Harbors.

• • •

Miss Fena Holter entertained several of the girls at a tea party in her room at Washburn hall. Her guests were Margaret Corbett, Gladys Parmalee, and Maude Amberg.

HAIR LOSS IS NOT NECESSARY, SAVE IT WITH—NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

Approaching baldness, while frequently contemplated with misgivings, is nevertheless accepted as inevitable. It is not necessary to become bald. Baldness can be prevented.

Loss of hair is due to the activity of the germ which causes dandruff. Used regularly and intelligently, Newbro's Herpicide will remove every trace of dandruff and prevents the hair from coming out. The terrible itching of the scalp which is so annoying, stops with the first application.

This valuable scalp prophylactic adds luster and brilliancy to the hair and renders the scalp perfectly healthy. This permits the hair, hitherto stunted by the presence of dandruff, to grow freely and luxuriantly. It takes on a natural gloss and beauty where before it was dry, brittle, uneven and coming out with every combing.

Newbro's Herpicide is the first and "original dandruff germ destroyer," and costs no more than the off brand and so-called "just as good" remedy.

Newbro's Herpicide in 50-cent and $1.00 sizes is sold by all dealers who guarantee it to do all that is claimed. If you are not satisfied your money will be refunded.

Applications at the best barber shops.

Send ten cents in postage or silver to the Herpicide Company, Dept. S., Detroit, Mich., for trial bottle and an interesting booklet on the care of the hair.

Motherhood

The highest point of woman's happiness is reached only through motherhood, in the clasping of her child within her arms. Yet the mother-to-be is often fearful of nature's ordeal and shrinks from the suffering incident to its consummation. But for nature's ills and discomforts nature provides remedies, and in Mother's Friend is to be found a medicine of great value to every expectant mother. It is an emulsion for external application, composed of ingredients which act with beneficial and soothing effect on those portions of the system involved. It is intended to prepare the system for the crisis, and thus relieve, in great part, the suffering through which the mother usually passes. The regular use of Mother's Friend will repay any mother in the comfort it affords before, and the helpful restoration to health and strength it brings about after baby comes. Mother's Friend is for sale at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

ARE DENIED BY WOLVIN

No Truth in Reports Regarding Butte & Superior Concentrator.

Suit of Alice Minority Holders to Be Heard Soon.

Butte, Mont., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Capt. A. B. Wolvin, president of the Butte & Superior company, says there is no justification for the reports that the section of the mill in operation was not giving returns perfectly satisfactory. Capt. Wolvin said that it was true that at first the concentrator did not give the returns expected, but since the rebuilding of one section and the making of a few changes everything was running along smoothly, and not later than the first of April the other section would be in working order when the company would be in a position to treat 1,200 to 1,400 tons a day. At the present time the one section was handling about 500 tons a day.

The Alice Suit.

The suit of the minority holders of Alice company stock against the Anaconda Copper company, wherein it is sought to annul the sale of the Alice property to the Anaconda company, has been standing in abeyance for a long time. The demurrer to the amended complaint filed by the defendant was argued before Federal Judge Bourquin a few days ago and overruled. It looks like there will not be as much delay in the bringing the case to a hearing on its merits, as the judge made an order requiring the Anaconda company to file an answer by the next rule day. The minority holders of Alice stock are nearly all Massachusetts people.

Iron Mountain Tunnel Sued.

The Iron Mountain Tunnel company, through its officers and directors, are being sued by Edward C. Smith, one of the stockholders, for the recovery of the market value of one-half his holdings and $860.05, the amount of an assessment which was levied, and which Smith claims was illegal. It appears the officers of the company issued a notice to the effect that at a meeting of stockholders, which was attended by upwards of three-quarters of the stockholders, the stock of the company was declared to be assessable and Smith notified to pay his assessment, which he did. On receiving notification of a second assessment he discovered that three-quarters of the stockholders did not consent to the change from non-assessable to assessable and that, as a matter of fact, but ninety-six stockholders consented to the change. He thereupon refused to pay the second assessment and the stock was advertised for sale. Smith went into court to secure an order prohibiting the sale, and although he lost in the lower court he carried the question to the supreme court and the judgment of the lower court was reversed. He made an arrangement with his attorneys to pay them one-half of his holdings for conducting the case, which he valued at $750. This he did transfer and he asks the court to order the officers to refund this money, together with the amount of the assessment, making a total of $1,610.05.

The officers of the company named in the complaint are: W. Q. Ranft, president; Clifford Smith, secretary; Carl E. Boker, Carl G. Weldinger, S. B. Vrooman, L. A. Ramage, T. H. Burke, H. E. Chaney and E. L. Freeman, directors.

Butte Central.

The latest information concerning the Butte Central Copper company concentrator is that it will be in operation somewhere about the first week of next month. The delayed machinery has all been delivered at the mill and it is being installed with all the speed possible.

Davis-Daly.

There is being sent to the smelter each day from the Colorado mine of the Davis-Daly company about eighty tons of ore each day which runs about 6 per cent copper. The ore body, which it was expected would be encountered on the 1,500-foot level, has not been found, but there is every indication that the miners are getting close to it. The crosscut which the Anaconda company is running from the 2,000 level of the Gagnon for the Davis-Daly company, to intersect a probable rich body of ore in the Silver King ground, has now reached a little over 1,000 feet, and there is an estimate that possibly 200 feet more will have to be gone through before the ore body existing on the 300-foot level of the Silver King is encountered.

Bullwhacker.

The Bullwhacker leaching plant turned out a few sheets of copper about the first of the year, but has not been in operation since, owing to the inventor of the process, Milton Webster, having sustained a serious accident which has compelled him to remain in his apartments. It is stated that everything is in good working order, and that just as soon as Mr. Webster is able to be around, the plant will be put in operation and run continuously. In the spring it is said the capacity will be increased from twenty-five to fifty tons a day.

GREATEST OUTPUT IN IDAHO'S HISTORY

Produced $23,000,000 in 1912 and Was Heavy in Zinc.

The gross metal content of the ore mined in Idaho during the year 1912 was about $23,000,000, the greatest in the history of the state, it is stated by Robert N. Bell, state mine inspector. "Zinc has shown a marked increase in output and unless the threatened tariff legislation plays havoc with the metal markets, Idaho will continue to be a very large producer of this class of mineral," said Inspector Bell. "The Idaho-Consolidated mine in Bonner county has developed a big reserve of rich concentrating mineral and is being equipped with a 300-ton mill, and the Lawrence mine at Clarks Fork, in the same county, is being equipped with a 50-ton mill and has a splendid reserve of ore and a prospect of extensive resources, as it has an extensive plan of development in progress.

At the Gilmore district in Lemhi county the Pittsburg-Idaho and the Latest Out mines have shipped more than 30,000 tons and continue to maintain their usual reserves, which show evidence of permanence at depth. The increased yield of zinc has come principally from two mines of the Coeur d'Alenes. Idle for years and regarded as worthless as a source of profit, the Success, under the handling of H. F. Samuels, has been quite profitable during the last year.

"The Morning mine is the second largest producer of zinc in the Coeur d'Alenes. Complicated and refractory, the ore of this great mine sustains a serious loss in treatment. The copper output of Idaho increased 100 per cent over 1911 and will aggregate over 7,000,000 pounds. It was derived largely from the Snowstorm and the White Knob mines, the latter in Custer county."

ACTIVE IN DEVELOPING

Lake Copper Company Devoting Little Attention to Production.

Hancock Is Expected to Resume Production About March 1.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Lake Copper company is centering activity in development work and is at the moment giving small thought to production. Drifts are being extended on practically all levels from the third to the tenth. Stopes are also being cut out in preparation for a large increase in production which is to come later. Two formations are receiving attention—the famous Lake bed and the so-called East lode. The East lode has been opened by crosscut and drifts on all levels from the third to eighth inclusive. It is a rather narrow formation, but is showing exceptionally rich in stamp rock. The Lake main lode has been opened for a distance of about 3,000 feet on the sixth and seventh levels, with the ends of these drifts breasted within a very few hundred feet of either boundary. Total openings are now in excess of 30,000 feet. All but about 3,000 feet are in the main lode.

The company is maintaining a small production, shipments averaging around 300 tons of rock daily. The output could easily be trebled and could be pushed to 1,200 tons daily without straining matters greatly.

Hancock.

The Hancock expects to resume production about March 1, beginning with an output of about 500 tons daily. Development work is adding materially to ground reserves, and the outlook for a steady production is good. Excellent copper ground is being developed in an unidentified amygdaloid lying between lodes Nos. 3 and 4. This lode was encountered by the crosscut east on the 1,300 level. About 200 feet of drifts have been run upon it with altogether satisfactory results, and though the lode will probably average less than six feet in width, the mineral contents are such that the vein can be mined with profit. Work in the main shaft has been confined to station cutting and will reach its end with the completion of the station on the 3,925 level. This shaft will be the main avenue of production, the old incline shaft through which the mine was originally opened, being poorly adapted for work of this kind. Production is expected to put the mine on a self-supporting basis.

North Lake.

The North Lake, idle during the greater part of last year, is again engaged in shaft sinking. A depth of about 100 feet has been attained in the shaft which is sinking to develop several copper deposits previously disclosed in diamond drilling. Present plans call for a depth of 800 to 1,000 feet. The shaft is expected to pass through a copper bearing lode at a depth of about 400 feet, but there is now no intention to follow any showing that might be obtained there. Results, of course, will determine the course of action at and below this depth.

South Lake.

The South Lake is still in rich copper ground at a depth of 196 feet in the shaft sunk on the Evergreen lode. The lower bed, in which the shaft has been sinking for some time, now shows a width of more than twenty-five feet of commercial copper ground.

Indiana.

The Indiana is making better progress in shaft sinking. A depth of 1,265 feet has been reached. No other work is in progress. At a depth of about 1,302 feet the shaft should come into a narrow felsite bed in which drill borings previously made disclosed copper in commercial quantity. This bed is supposed to overlie the Indiana felsite from which the famous No. 2 drill core was obtained and which, if calculations prove correct, will be intersected by the shaft at a depth of 1,350 feet. The shaft which is sinking at the rate of about eighty feet per month is therefore expected to reach this famous deposit about March 1.

Allouez.

The Allouez is shipping steadily at the rate of 1,500 tons of rock daily. Recent work in the area tributary to the No. 2 shaft has shown material improvement. The situation in No. 1 shaft is little changed. This shaft is bottomed just below the eighteenth level. The No. 2 shaft is at the twenty-second level.

Keweenaw.

The Keweenaw is making slow progress in its exploratory operations on the Ashbed lode. Broken ground is proving troublesome. The No. 38 drill hole, which is the first hole of the present series, had attained a depth of 230 feet when the ground caved and stopped the work. The lower portion of the drill hole is being reinforced with cement. Drilling will be resumed when this work has been completed. The No. 39 drill hole has reached a depth of about 250 feet, and is sinking slowly. The Ashbed lode should be reached at depths ranging from 500 to 600 feet at this point.

New Arendian.

The New Arcadian is pushing work in the shaft which is sinking to develop three parallel copper bearing lodes in the Isle Royale-Portage horizon. The lodes were previously located in diamond drilling, and though none yielded cores of sensational richness a rather unusual result in present day diamond drill exploratory work in this district sufficient mineralization was revealed to warrant further investigation by means of underground openings as planned. The shaft is sinking in the middle lode and has reached a depth of 320 feet. The twin lodes on the east and west will be reached by crosscut at distances of 300 feet and 150 feet respectively. The first crosscut will probably be run at a depth of about 500 feet.

CHURN DRILLING IN BUTTE & ELY

President Cotton Submits Exhaustive Report on the Work.

Butte, Mont., Jan. 25.—At the meeting of the stockholders of the Butte & Ely Copper company, a report was submitted by the treasurer showing cash assets amounting to about $240,000. President J. B. Cotton offered an exhaustive report concerning the conditions existing at the property which adjoins that of the Giroux. According to the report a great amount of churn drilling is being done in the Butte & Ely ground, the work being done by the Giroux company and charged to the Butte & Ely company at cost.

Concerning the drilling and its results, the report says: "The management has endeavored, as far as possible, to follow out and act upon the recommendations of Engineer Frank and the stockholders' committee. The management has considered it important to first thoroughly explore the ground in the immediate vicinity of the Liberty pit and obtain sufficient data as to the extent and character of the ore body to enable it to intelligently work out an equitable contract, and, if possible, conclude negotiations with one of the large operating companies in the Ely district for the mining of our ores.

"No churn drilling was attempted at the bottom of the Bee Hive shaft, as the shaft is full of water and the company would be put to considerable expense in unwatering it at this time. A large sample was taken from the dump at the shaft some time ago and was found to average .92 per cent copper."

The results of the drilling show fair values. The report adds:

"Owing to the increased cost and the difficulty of securing sufficient water, drilling operations at the property will probably be suspended during the present month, until such time as the weather moderates. Operations will be resumed as early in the spring as the weather permits, and the work will be made to conform as nearly as is practicable to the recommendations embraced in the report of Mr. Frank and the stockholders' committee. Exploratory work on the Westphalia claim will be continued, and the management hopes soon to have sufficient data and information of a favorable nature to enable it to make a satisfactory contract for the stripping and mining of the ores in that portion of the property."

GOOD OUTPUT OF SHATTUCK MINE

December Total of Ore Smelted Exceeded 1,000,000 Pounds.

Douglas, Ariz., Jan. 25.—The Shattuck-Arizona mine is now outputting ore at the rate of 250 tons daily, all of which is sent to the Calumet & Arizona smelter here for reduction. Last month's output in copper metal amounted to slightly more than 1,000,000 pounds. his will be maintained by the company at present, according to L. C. Shattuck, managing director of the company, who was here on business last night.

Mr. Shattuck stated that his company now has in its employ about 240 men in all departments. When additional ore is developed, probably by the end of the present year, the increase in metal production during January, Mr. Shattuck stated that he did not think there would be, and that the December output had probably struck the average that will be maintained during 1912.

The annual meeting of the Shattuck company has been called for Feb. 15, in the offices of the company at Duluth.

A new feature at the Shattuck this month is the shipment of lead ore, which is being taken from the 300, 400, 500 and 600 levels. So far this month 350 tons of this ore has been sent to the El Paso smelter. This ore is running in values 40 per cent lead, 3 per cent copper and $7 in gold and silver values. It is expected that shipments of this ore will amount to 500 tons monthly in the future.

The ore now going to the Douglas smelter is averaging 8 per cent copper and is coming mostly from the 600 level. The deepest workings in the property are 900 feet.

STEWART LOSES ONTARIO SUIT

Judge Decides in Favor of the Defendant Company.

Wallace, Idaho, Jan. 25.—Judge W. W. Woods of the district court has rendered his decision in favor of the defendants for the Ontario Mining company, in the case brought by the Stewart Mining company, of which F. Augustus Heinze is the head. Heinze's attorneys gave notice that they will move for a new trial.

The decision of Judge Woods in full follows:

"In the case of the Stewart Mining company vs. the Ontario Mining company, I have paid very close attention during the trial and given very considerable thought to the investigations since. I have determined in favor of the defendants. There may be some little dispute about the apex of that vein, but there is no question in my mind as to its course, and there is no question in my mind as to the law of the case.

"I have a settled conviction, which it will take a decision of the supreme court of the United States to remove, that when a vein crosses a side line on its course, that side line becomes the issue and that it is the end line of that claim where it crosses, whether it crossed both side lines or not, and it is upon that ground chiefly that I award the decision to the defendants."

GOOD PROGRESS AT THE C. & A. SMELTER

Blast Furnaces and Converters May Be Running in May.

Douglas, Ariz., Jan. 25.—The new Calumet & Arizona smelter will probably be completed next August, according to the report made by General Manager J. C. Greenway, at the recent gathering of the directors of the concern. Prior to that time, however, it is stated locally, a goodly portion of the plant will be in operation. In fact, it is anticipated that, with no bad luck, the blast furnace and converters will be in operation during the month of May. The reverbatories will not be in operation until later in the summer, while the finishing touches will be put on the plant during August.

A number of the buildings are finished and ready to go to work as soon as the other portions of the plant, upon which their operation intimately depends, have been completed.

Among the buildings now completed are the sampling works, the roaster furnace building, dust chamber and stack, the waste heat boiler house, the reverbatory building and stack, the blast furnace building and dust chamber. It is announced by those in charge of construction that 75 per cent of the structural steel is now in place.

Some of the equipment is now being installed. The waste heat boilers are now in course of installation. Two blast furnaces are being installed. Two of the reverbatory furnaces have been completed, and two others are about 50 per cent finished. One of the electric traveling cranes over the main converter aisle has been installed, while the other is partially so.

Considerable new equipment is now arriving, included in which are the converters and the casting machine equipment.

The water storage reservoir and cooling pond are now about 80 per cent completed.

PROMISING EXPLORATION

Hanna & Co. Developing Mine on the Gogebic Iron Range.

Bristol Mine Expected to Make Record Output This Year.

While it would be premature to assert that the property will develop into a mine, a promising exploration on the Gogebic iron range is that of M. A. Hanna & Co. of Cleveland in section 18, 47-45, southeast of Bessemer and between that city and the village of Wakefield. The use of drills in testing the tract has been attended with such favorable results that preparations are being made to sink a shaft to better ascertain the extent of the deposit that has been located. Apparently the field is well worthy of exploration. Not only have Hanna & Co. encountered ore, but the presence of mineral in nearby lands has been determined in one instance as the result of sinking a well.

A boon industrially, the development of the Florence Iron company's new Ernst mine is occasioning inconvenience also. The Ernst is near the schoolhouse at Commonwealth, Menominee range. The surrounding land is being drained as the shaft is sent down to greater depth, with the result that many wells have been put out of commission. About the only convenient source of water supply remaining to the village is a well in low ground at the foot of a high hill, and it is likely that this will ultimately become "dry," as have the others. The destruction of enging house No. 1 by fire has put the Florence company's mine at the nearby village of Florence out of operation for a period measured by days. The plant had been in service for years. Its principal duties were to furnish compressed air for the underground drills and to operate the man car, all hoisting of ore being done from engine house No. 7 at the newer end of the mine. The loss is covered by insurance. The fire has been the means of hastening the installation of new electrical machinery and it will not be long now before various mechanical operations heretofore performed by steam will be performed by electricity transmitted from the big plant of the Peninsula Power company at Twin Falls, a dozen miles distant.

Expected to Make Record.

Oglebay, Norton & Co.'s big Bristol mine at Crystal Falls, Menominee range, is expected to make a record output this year. With a fine new shaft 1,000 feet in depth and excellently equipped, the property is in position to excel all past achievements. It is hardly expected that M. A. Hanna & Co.'s Sargenter mine will be added to the shipping list this year. Development work is little more than started. The Hanna company's Ravenna property will not ship heavily since the underground openings are still of small extent, but eventually this mine will be one of the largest producers of the Crystal Falls district. Corrigan, McKinney & Co.'s Tobin mine is being operated vigorously this winter. The Dunn also is putting considerable ore in stock. At the Armenia, a third member of the group, a new shaft is being sunk 150 feet east of the present working shaft. It will be put down to the fifth level. The shaft is designed both for ventilation and for the signed both for ventilation and for the purpose of winning the ore in the pillars and elsewhere about No. 1 shaft when the mine is robbed. The Armenia has seen its best days. Corrigan, McKinney & Co.'s Great Western mine continues idle and with a big pile of ore in stock. No shipments were made last season. Neither was any ore forwarded from the United States Steel corporation's Mansfield mine, although the property was continued in commission and is still being operated on a small scale. The future of the Mansfield, so far as the present regime is concerned, depends upon the outcome of negotiations for the extension of the lease to the tract, which is owned in fee by Dan F. Peters of Detroit and associates. The lease expires within a few years. No exploratory work has been done for months. Whether new deposits can be found to take the place of the depleted ground is a question. The Mansfield has the distinction of producing the only Bessemer ore mined in the district. Pickands, Mather & Co.'s Hemlock property at Amasa, the "Old Reliable," as the miners call it, is being wrought on its usual steady scale. An interesting report from this mine is that an additional body of ore has been cut in a diamond drill hole put down from the bottom level.

To Operate on Menominee.

The Cleveland Cliffs Iron company, which is one of the very largest of the so-called independents, is preparing to engage in mining on the Menominee range. Except that it operates the Crosby property, on the Mesabe, and until a few months ago wrought the Ashland, on the Gogebic, the company has confined itself to the Marquette district, in which it is the largest producer. Its Menominee department has been put in charge of John M. Bush, recently superintendent of the Ashland. The Cleveland Cliffs has under lease a number of tracts in the Iron River and Crystal Falls fields, and in at least one case, it is understood, sufficient ore has already been found to warrant the development of a mine. Exploration of the Cleveland Cliffs lands is in progress. The Duluth Diamond Drilling company, one of the most recent new comers in the Iron River country, is operating at the McDonald forty, in section 6, 42-34. The property is south of the Corrigan-McKinney company's Baker tract. Capt. John T. Spencer of Iron Mountain and associates are exploring the Greenhoot tract, south of the Zimmerman mine. At the new Bengal property of Pickands, Mather & Co., the shaft is down to the second level and drifting in two directions is in progress. A steel headframe and an engine house are being erected.

Stockpiles on the Marquette range are growing rapidly. In common with those of the other Lake Superior districts, the mining men expect the shipments the coming season to run well ahead of last year's record-breaking outgo. There is ample room at all of the properties to take care of the winter's production, less ore than usual having been left in stock at the close of navigation last fall. Shipments are being made to furnaces this winter as is customary. The Hartford mine of the Republic Iron & Steel company is shipping to the Lake Superior Iron & Chemical company's furnaces at Newberry and Manistique; the American mine of Hanna & Co., is forwarding daily consignments to the Algoma Steel company at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., and the Cleveland Cliffs Iron company is shipping to its own furnaces at Gladstone and Marquette, as well as to the Newberry and Antrim furnaces.

Big Force at Lake Mine.

The Cleveland Cliffs company's Lake mine at Ishpeming is now employing nearly 500 men on two shifts, the largest force in several years. Mining is being pushed vigorously and the stockpiles at the shafts will be of large proportions by April 1, notwithstanding part of the product is being sent to Marquette for storage. The Lake is a great mine, active already for many years. It is popular with miners, both in respect to safety and remuneration. Most of the men are employed on contracts. Ninety dollars a month is not an unusual wage. Its income derived from royalties obtained from the Cleveland Cliffs company, the Escanaba River Land & Iron company has paid its stockholders dividends of 51 cents a share, a total of $20,400, on the returns from last year's operations. Total disbursements of 52 cents a share were made in 1911. A materially increased revenue is expected this year, for the reason that much ore already mined will be shipped and thus become subject to royalty payment. The mine is in the Gwinn district of the Marquette range.

A joint enterprise of the Cleveland Cliffs company and the Goodman Lumber company, the newly erected works of the Cliffs Chemical company at Goodman in Northern Wisconsin, have gone into commission. The plant is operated in connection with a sawmill and produces charcoal, wood alcohol and acetate of lime. It is equipped with the retort system of wood distillation. The retorts are fired with the sawmill refuse. The charcoal will be shipped to the Cleveland Cliffs company's furnace at Gladstone and the crude alcohol and acetate of lime to the Pioneer furnace and chemical plant at Marquette for refination and the manufacture of other chemical products. By combining acetate of lime with sulphuric acid, which is made at Marquette from iron pyrites, acetate acid is produced.

SCHWAB OBTAINS VAST IRON FIELDS

Closes Deal for Rich and Extensive Deposits in Chile.

New York, Jan. 25.—Charles M. Schwab, president of the Bethlehem Steel company, who has returned from Europe, announces he had closed a deal with French interests and with representatives of the Chilean government that gave his company the richest and largest iron ore fields in the world. "The tract is known as the Tofo iron mines," said Mr. Schwab. "They are located on the Chilean coast, on the bay of Trus Grande, and so near the seaport town of Coquimbo that the ore can be sent to tidewater by elevated railways.

The ore assays about 67 per cent iron and has a small percentage of phosphorous. I regard the ore as even richer than the Swedish ores. At present there are fully 100,000,000 tons in sight."

Mr. Schwab said steamers will be built capable of carrying about 20,000 tons of ore.

He also announced that plans had been completed for vast improvement of the plant of the Bethlehem Steel company.

"The consumption of iron ore in our plant has increased from 300,000 tons to 1,500,000 tons in the past five years," said Mr. Schwab.

GRAND ARIZONA TO START WORK SOON

Michigan Man Is Now Arranging for Its Operation.

Douglas, Ariz., Jan. 25.—The Grand Arizona Copper company, which is located about twelve miles east of Douglas, after having been closed down for some time, has opened up work again, and within a few weeks the company will have a force of men at work. They propose to go ahead with the development. The plans now in view to be carried out will mean that they will be a large force of men at work shortly, and the company intends to expend a considerable sum of money on the property.

T. M. Davey of Houghton, Mich., one of the owners of the property, has been spending some time out at the mine. He has been busy getting the plans in readiness for the work to be done. Mr. Davey said that the showing now was so good that the company feels that it is justified in pushing the work, and that he intends to spend some time here looking after it.

FIGHTING THE RAT

Deratization Is Form of Health Insurance---Board Bill of Rodents Amounts to Millions---Only Good Rat Is a Dead One.

By WILLIAM COLBY RUCKAR, F. S., M. D.,
Assistant Surgeon General, United States Public Health Service.

(Exclusive Service the Survey Press Bureau.)

Several thousand years ago, the casual relationship existing between rodents and the spread of bubonic plague was noticed. Today the reason of this relationship has been found, and we have learned anew that useful as the rat once was as the unpaid village scavenger, the time has come when the rat must go.

Rats have bubonic plague which travels from them to men through the medium of carriers of plague, the flea. Rats also suffer from leprosy, cancer and a number of other diseases, but it is not proven yet that they transmit these to man. From the economic standpoint, it is equally important that rats be evicted from the habitations of man. The board bill which they levy is in the aggregate enormous, while the annual losses which we suffer through their wanton depredations round out their cost to man to a figure approximating millions. Hence deratization.

Fighting rats is just like fighting anything else. Dependence is not to be placed on any single measure. A pugilist with a single punch does not last the first round. In deratization, the enemy is to be simultaneously starved, poisoned, trapped and evicted.

In starving rats, the prime point of attack is the garbage can, because rats are natural scavengers. This means the enactment by all organized municipalities, of ordinances requiring householders to have water-tight metal garbage cans with tight-fitting lids. Next comes an efficient garbage collection and disposal service, and the proper supervision of the persons employed for this work. This accomplished, there is an immediate decrease in the available quantity of rat food. Then all food supplies should be removed from rats by being placed in rat-proof containers.

In order to poison your rat, first starve him. The United States Public Health service has experimented with a large number of poisons, and it is the consensus of opinion of the officers who have done this work that poisons which have phosphorus as their active agent, are the most effective. It should be borne in mind that phosphorus is liable to spontaneous combustion, and that it deteriorates somewhat rapidly. To overcome the first objection it is wise to employ poisons in which phosphorus is mixed with glucose. The deterioration of the phosphorus is really not an objection. If rats do not take poison in the first few days it is put out, they are not likely to take it at all. Therefore, it is better to employ as a poison, a chemical which loses its strength so that if it is taken by some other animal, no harm will result. Little cubes of bread are the best rat bait, but care should be taken that all six sides of the cubes are covered with the poison. These morsels should be placed in rat holes and in other situations where they may be taken by rats, but not by domestic animals or children. After the poisons have been left out long enough for the rats to take them, if they are going to, all poisoned pieces of bread which are left behind should be collected and destroyed.

Rats cannot be exterminated by traps alone, any more than they can by poison or starving alone, but trapping is a useful adjunct to other deratization methods. When the United States Public Health Service conducted the plague suppressive measures in San Francisco two types of traps were used, the large cage trap and the snap trap. Each is useful, but in the long run, the snap trap proves best. The best cage trap is the large 19-inch French type. It should be baited with some odorous food, to which the rat is not accustomed. The snap trap should be perfectly flat and should have a good strong spring, hung on a hair-trigger ready to go off the minute the rat touches the bait. Tough old bacon makes the best bait for such a trap. Do not put the trap in the middle of the room. Rats run by feeling with their vibrissae of whiskers. Therefore a rat runs around the walls. Place the trap against the wall.

It is a wise thing for individuals to trap rats. It is even better for municipalities to do so. In such a case all trapped rats should be slipped into strong paper bags which are tied tightly with a piece of string, and delivered to the city bacteriologist so that he may examine the dead rats. This should be done so that if plague happens to be present in the rodent community, it may be eradicated there before it has had an opportunity to spread to man.

Evict rats from human habitations. The best way to do this is by ratproofing. Concrete is the best agent for this purpose and ground areas, basements, and side walls should be protected by this material. This applies particularly to stables. When San Francisco waged its world-famous war on the rat, under the direction of Surgeon (now Surgeon General) Rupert Blue, of the United States Public Health Service, its 4,000 odd stables were protected by concrete. The measure not only kept the rats out, but also resulted in a marked improvement in the equine public health. Next to concrete, the best rat-proofing material is sheet metal. This lacks durability, but is good as a temporary device. It is particularly valuable in protecting grain, flour, and the like when these articles are put up in bags. The floor on which the sacks are to be piled, may be covered with sheet iron, and a temporary fence of the same material may be erected about the entire pile.

If buildings are raised 18 inches or more from the ground and the under surface left open to permit the ready entrance of the natural enemies of the rat, the cat and the dog, a condition known as rat-proofing by elevation is produced. This is useful in protecting shacks and small buildings which are used as places of temporary reidence.

Rat-proofing should not be directed alone at the lower portions of the house. The windows should be screened, and all roof openings through which rats might gain entrance should be similarly protected.

Rodent extermination is an all embracing sanitary measure. It not only prevents and eradicates plague, but because of the general improvement in the hygiene of the human environment, brings about a general betterment of health. After the vigorous anti plague work which made San Francisco one of the cleanest cities in the world, there was a great reduction in the incidence of communicable diseases in that city. Furthermore, the attention of the general public was turned to the need for an improvement in housing conditions and an active interest in the municipal protection of the public health was engendered.

Deratization is a form of health insurance which makes for the protection and improvement of the health of the body politic. Man has learned from the bitter experience of the ages that he cannot share his home with other species without danger to himself. The rat is under sentence of banishment. The rat must go!

DEEP CRACKS COVERED HANDS

And Itching Sores. Started with Pimples. Dreaded to Put Hand in Water. Scratched Until Blood Came. Cured in a Month by Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

R. F. D. No. 3, No. Crystal Lake, Ill.—"I had a most painful itching right hand from the thumb to the wrist. It was covered with deep cracks and itching sores. It started with small white pimples that itched terribly and when I scratched them would open and a water-like stuff would come out. Scabs would form to my annoyance, and they would then come off and leave the hand red and very sore. I dreaded to put my hand in water as it would hurt awfully. I sometimes would scratch until blood came and then the burning pain was enough to set a person crazy. I was ashamed to let anybody see my hand for it looked awfully. How I suffered none can imagine. I would wake up nights from pain caused by scratching. I had it for two years. It sometimes would heal and break out again.

"I tried ——— salve but that only made it worse. I used different salves but none did me any good until I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Now I have no more trouble and there is not a scar to be seen. In a month my hand was cured by Cuticura Soap and Ointment." (Signed) Mrs. Theo Freiburger, May 25, 1912.

Cuticura Soap 25c. and Cuticura Ointment 50c. are sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Tender-faced men should use Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick, 25c. Sample free.

CLEANS THE HAIR AND MAKES IT BEAUTIFUL—25 CENT "DANDERINE"

In a Few Moments Your Hair Looks Soft, Fluffy, Lustrous and Abundant—No Falling Hair or Dandruff.

Surely try a "Danderine Hair Cleanse" if you wish to immediately double the beauty of your hair. Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one small strand at a time, this will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or any excessive oil—In a few moments you will be amazed. Your hair will be wavy, fluffy and abundant and possess an incomparable softness, lustre and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Besides beautifying the hair, one application of Danderine dissolves every particle of Dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow abundantly long, strong and beautiful.

You can surely have pretty, soft, lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will just get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it as directed.

Before and After

ONE who had never tasted our quality product might be induced to restrain and deny himself its values indefinitely. But, once he has tried it, all the argument and all the king's horses and all the king's men could never persuade him to forego it again.

Secret of Mysterious Power Revealed at Last

How Prominent People Have Gained Wealth and Popularity.

Famous Hypnotist Perfects Simple Method that Enables Anyone to Control Thoughts and Acts of Others, Cure Disease and Habits Without Drugs, and Read the Secret Desires of People, Though Thousands of Miles Away.

Wonderful Book Describing this Strange Force and a Character Delineation Post Free to all who Write at Once.

The National Institute of Sciences has appropriated $25,000 toward a fund for the free distribution of Prof. Knowles' new book "The Key to the Development of the Inner Forces." The book lays bare many astounding facts concerning the practices of Eastern Yogis and explains a wonderful system for the development of Personal Magnetism, Hypnotic and Telepathic Powers, and the curing of diseases and habits without drugs. The subject of practical character reading is also extensively dealt with, and the author describes a simple method of accurately reading the secret thoughts and desires of others though thousands of miles away. The almost endless stream of letters requesting copies of the book and character delineations indicates clearly the universal interest in Psychological and Occult Sciences.

"Rich and poor alike benefit by the teachings of this new system," says Prof. Knowles, "and the person who wishes to achieve greater success has but to apply the simple rules laid down." That many wealthy and prominent people owe their success to the power of Personal Influence there is not the slightest doubt, but the great mass of people have remained in utter ignorance of these phenomena. The National Institute of Sciences has therefore undertaken the somewhat arduous task of distributing broadcast, without regard for class or creed, the information heretofore possessed by the few. In addition to supplying the books free, each person who writes at once will also receive a character delineation of from 400 to 500 words as prepared by Prof. Knowles.

If you wish a copy of Prof. Knowles' book and a Character Delineation, simply copy the following verse in your own handwriting:

"I want power of mind,
Force and strength in my look.
Please read my character
And send me your book."

Also send your full name and address (state whether Mr., Mrs., or Miss), write plainly, and address your letter to: National Institute of Sciences, Dept. 864-A, No. 258, Westminster Bridge-road, London, S. E., England. If you wish you may enclose 10 cents (stamps of your own country) to pay postage, etc. Do not enclose coins or silver in your letter.

Postage required on letters to England, two cents.

ISLE OF PINES

I have sold land in the past six years on the Isle of Pines at $30, $40, $50, $60, $75 and $100 per acre, an advance during that time of 300 per cent. I predict during 1913 that prices will go to $150 per acre, and within 5 years to $500 per acre. Fruit growers are making $500 to $1,000 per acre. You can readily see what lands are worth. There is no better investment for your money. You can have five years' time, easy payments.

Grape fruit will be here Wednesday next.

ENDERLIN, N. D., HAS DISASTROUS BLAZE.

Enderlin, N. D., Jan. 25.—What developed into one of the largest fires Enderlin has had in years started in the Lindemann building, occupied by Paul Zarkos for restaurant purposes. The fire had secured such a headway when the department reached the scene that it destroyed the building, partially destroyed a building to the west occupied by Peder Hill as a tailor shop, and burned the building to the east occupied for rooming purposes and owned by O. O. Golberg. The total loss is estimated at $10,000 partially covered by insurance.

POOR FAMILY NEEDS STOVE

West Duluth Woman Badly Handicapped in Struggle for Existence.

Supporting Three Children By Earnings From Washing and Crocheting.

In West Duluth there is what seems to be a worthy case for the attention of some charitable person to do a lot of good at comparatively small cost.

A widow with three small children, the oldest aged slightly more than 11 years, lives in ramshackle quarters over an empty store and has to do the best she can to keep herself and children from starving, and, during this weather especially, from freezing to death as well. Her requests are simple enough. She needs a heating stove and will try to do the rest herself. Somebody who does not get at it soon enough to furnish her with a heater can, it is assured by those who are acquainted with the case, confer a big favor by sending her some soft coal.

Her husband died about three years ago, leaving his widow penniless and with three small children to take care of. In summer she takes in washing, but owing to the lack of a heating stove, where she could dry the clothes, she cannot take washing in winter, and her children are too small to leave should she go out washing.

Rooms Are Cold.

So this winter she sits huddled up as closely as she can to a small cooking stove, not nearly large enough to heat the rooms she and her little ones live, or rather exist in, and with numb fingers does crocheting for a living. The building at best would be a cold one, but owing to the empty and chill-aired store room beneath, the rooms occupied by the four are bleak and dreary.

The woman says she can eke out a living by crocheting and can send her children to school, as she is doing right along, but she could make a much better living by washing. She does not say so, but the woman evidently puts everything she has into warm clothing and warm rooms for the little ones, for she herself is thinly clad and looks as though she has become almost immune to cold.

The case was brought to the attention of The Herald by A. Monahan, who runs a barber shop at 2222 west Superior street. He discovered her while delivering Christmas baskets for the Salvation Army, of which he is a member. He has tried to get some people interested in the case since, but has not been able to, so he has asked The Herald to help him. Anybody who wishes to take interest in the case may consult with Mr. Monahan.

THIRD OF SERIES.

Rev. Farrell Lectures Again Sunday on Life of Christ.

The election at Longfellow school, held yesterday, at which the "municipal" officers of the school were chosen for the coming semester resulted in the election of Roy Winness as mayor. His opponent was Dewey Downs and Alfred Polasky. Other officers elected were as follows:

For city clerk—Cecil McLyman over George Sand and George Wood.

For chief of police—Alvin Peterson over Joseph Werschay and John Satwney.

For park commissioner—Wesley Perrin over Louis Haburt.

The successful candidates will be inducted into office next Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock and will hold office until the end of the term in June.

The election throughout was exciting and close.

ELECTION AT THE LONGFELLOW SCHOOL.

The third of the series of illustrated sermon lectures on "The Life of Christ," now being given on Sunday evenings by Rev. W. H. Farrell of Asbury M. E. church, Sixteenth avenue west and Raleigh street, will be given tomorrow evening at 7:45 o'clock. Twenty-five pictures will be shown. Seats are free and the public in general is invited by Mr. Farrell.

The lectures already given have proven very successful and enjoyable. There will be morning service at 10:30 o'clock and Sunday school will be held at 11:45 a. m.

Arranging for Banquet.

It is likely that final arrangements will be made this evening for the annual banquet of the West Duluth Commercial club. The committee having the affair in charge will meet and receive bids for serving the dinner, the various women's organizations of West Duluth having been asked to name their prices. Other arrangements such as chosing speakers will be taken up also.

West Duluth in Briefs.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Lanners left last evening for a trip through the South.

A son was born yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. William Appleby of 1003 North Fifty-fifth avenue west.

W. B. Getchell is back from St. Paul where he attended the meeting of the Masonic grand lodge, as representative of Euclid lodge.

Charles Iltis and son, Leon, have gone to Chicago, where the boy will enter a conservatory of music, having shown a marked talent in that direction.

A daughter was born at the Duluth hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Oettel.

At the Western curling rink last night Simpson's rink defeated Wieland's, 15 to 8. This was in the Burns Lumber company event.

A son was born this morning to Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Erickson of 6215 Wadena street.

Emil Zauft's rink will play at the Duluth Curling club this evening.

The funeral of Daniel Willette was held this morning at 9 o'clock from St. James' Catholic church. Interment was in Calvary cemetery.

Mrs. Charles Warren Peters, soloist at the First Unitarian church, will take part in a special musical program to be given at the New Duluth Presbyterian church at tomorrow morning's service.

Rev. M. S. Rice, pastor of the First Methodist church of Duluth, will lecture at Asbury M. E. church Monday evening next. The subject announced is "With a Jayhawker Through Norway and Sweden." The lecture will be illustrated.

BOY STRUCK BY BOBSLED

West Duluth Lad Narrowly Escapes Instant Death While Coasting.

Sustains Bad Fracture of Leg But Is Expected to Recover.

The 9-year-old son of Axel Peterson of Spirit Lake was run down last night by a party of adult coasters near his home, and was badly injured and almost killed. Dr. Seashore of West Duluth was called and found that the boy's right leg is broken close to the hip. The doctor believes, however, because of the boy's vitality, that no serious results will be caused, but says that the youngster will be laid up a long time.

The boy had been coasting and was returning to the top of the hill, which was steep. He was at one side of the road, and was stopped by a passing train. Just as the train passed, a long bob carrying about twelve adult coasters, shot around the end of the train across the track, and as the boy had no warning of their coming he could not get out of the way.

The sled came down the hill at terrific speed and when it struck the boy it threw him quite a distance. He was unconscious and badly bruised, and as his injuries appeared to be very serious Dr. Seashore was sent for.

It is not thought that he was internally injured.

Funeral on Monday.

Mrs. Lydia Jacobson, who died at her home, 5005 Wadena street, was the wife of John Jacobson and was 27 years of age. Surviving her besides her husband are an infant daughter and two sisters. The funeral will take place on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from Filiatrault's undertaking rooms and interment will be in Calvary cemetery.

PROHIBITION IS GIVEN A BOOST

Beer Wagon Overturns and Scatters Load on Superior Street.

For a few minutes this morning, at the corner of Fourth avenue west and Superior street, it looked as though the prohibition cause in Duluth had been given a decided boost.

A big wagon loaded down with beer cases turned the corner of Fourth avenue on to Superior street, the wheel caught in the car tracks and about sixty cases and bottles were scattered over the street. Many bottles smashed in the crash, but those who looked for a flow of the amber fluid were disappointed. The bottles were empty.

The spilling of sixty cases of bottles made quite a mess. Car traffic was blocked for some minutes, and the driver of the wagon was busy for an hour gathering up the remnants of his load.

MAY NOT RAISE RATES ON TIES

Railroad Commission Decides in Favor of Lumber Shippers.

The Duluth & Iron Range and Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroads may charge no more for the transportation of ties than for the transportation of lumber within the state of Minnesota, according to an order of the state railroad and warehouse commission.

The order is the result of a hearing held at the Spalding Jan. 7, in which tie dealers appeared in opposition to a proposed advance in tie rates, which would make them higher than the lumber rates. The Duluth & Iron Range railroad had also asked permission for authority to advance the rates on ties, posts, poles and lumber, but at the hearing the application was withdrawn.

The range lines having arranged for increased rates to certain territory, there was considerable anxiety among the shippers on account of contracts having been entered into for winter and spring delivery. A prompt decision was requested of the commission and the request was complied with.

SUPERIOR

Jaques-Alvord.

Ned Alvord, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Alvord, was married a few days ago to Miss Loraine Jaques of Chicago in that city. Mr. Alvord was formerly in the newspaper business at the Head of the Lakes, and is now connected with the theatrical business.

Buys Big Land Tract.

Leonidas Merritt and others of Duluth, have purchased from the Farmers Land & Cattle company 13,000 acres of Douglas county land, the consideration being over $100,000. The tract lies in the town of Summitt. Mr. Merritt has announced that it is the purpose of the company acquiring the land to colonize it.

Finds Mother's Body.

John D. McLaren of 332 West Third street left his mother apparently well yesterday morning when he went to work at his job of switchman, but when he returned home, a few hours later, on entering the sitting room to their home, he stumbled over her body. She had been dead for over an hour. Apoplexy was the cause, it is said. Mrs. Della McLaren, the deceased, was a pioneer resident of Superior. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon from 717 Becker avenue. Father Eustace will read the service. Interment will be in Forest Hill cemetery, Duluth.

Talk of Big Reception.

Washington, Jan. 25.—Abandonment of the inaugural ball and the decision not to permit use of the capitol for a public reception, has aroused talk of a mammoth public reception at the White House on the evening of March 4

DEEDED FARM TO FIANCEE

Mary Ackerman Had No Claim to It When He Died.

Son of Her Intended Husband Gets Clear Title to Property.

Mary Ackerman didn't figure that she would be wearing mourning crepe instead of a wedding veil, when, back in 1907, she deeded her farm over to her prospective husband, George O. Parker, a widower. Parker died before the wedding day and the farm reverted to his son, William G. Parker. In district court, in a decision handed down today, Judge Ensign rules against Miss Ackerman and holds that the farm belongs to the son of her intended. He denied her request to have the deed set aside.

The farm involved in the lawsuit, which was brought by Mary Ackerman against William G. Parker, is in section 10, 65-17, on the Canadian Northern line, not far from the Canadian border. Judge Ensign holds that the son came by the property as the lawful heir of his father and refuses to set aside the conveyance made by Mary Ackerman to George Parker, in spite of the unfortunate story told by the woman, plaintiff in the action.

Mary Ackerman and George O. Parker were to have been married. Testimony at the trial last June showed that their relations were so intimate that they trusted each other with their business matters. On May 9, 1907, Miss Ackerman deeded over her farm to Parker. She claimed that the transaction was made to give Parker a chance to sell it for her at a better figure than she could get herself. There was no consideration, Parker simply to act as her agent.

Unfortunately for her, Parker died on Nov. 4, 1910, a short time before they were to have been married. Parker left no will. Earlier in his life, he had been married and his sole heir at law was a son, William G. Parker, who is now the record owner of the farm.

TO ADVERTISE ZENITH CITY

Commercial Club Will Use Newspapers in Publicity Campaign.

An advertising campaign to make Duluth known in its own territory will be inaugurated soon by the publicity committee of the Duluth Commercial club.

Duluth's general advantages will be made known and the city held up as an asset of the whole Northwest.

The advertisements will appear simultaneously in newspapers in the larger towns in Northern Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota. They will also appear in the Duluth papers, so that Duluth people may follow the campaign and know what is being done.

The campaign will start with a half page ad, which includes a panorama view of the city and harbor from the boulevard. Fourteen smaller advertisements will follow at regular intervals, setting forth respectively Duluth as a steel center, as a port, as an agricultural center, as a place in which to live, as a distributing center, as an educational center, as a model governed city, as a scenic point, as easy of access, as a manufacturing center and as a model in Coommercial club activity for civic development.

The object is to start publicity at home, by enlisting in the support of Duluth the people in Duluth territory. When they know Duluth better, they will appreciate it better, come and see it and join Duluth people in boosting the city.

ELEVATORS CONGESTED

Canadian Northern Puts Embargo on Shipments to Port Arthur.

A dispatch that should be of great interest to grain dealers of Duluth, especially the elevator men, was received today from Wninipeg. It was announced that the Canadian Northern railway had placed an embargo on all grain shipments over that railroad to Port Arthur, Ont., for one month. The reason given was the congestion at the terminal elevators.

This is the second time a railroad embargo has been placed on Canadian grain bound for the Canadian Head of the Lakes during the present crop year.

The Canadian railroads last winter experienced great embarrassment owing to the tying up of a vast number of cars in the railroad yards at Fort William and Port Arthur, and every precaution has been taken this year to avoid a repetition of that trouble. The railroads aim to keep all of their cars on the move, and thus transport the grain as fast as they possibly can, instead of having a large number of cars tied up and unused in congested yards.

The fact that the congestion at Port Arthur has been so serious as to necessitate the embargo might naturally lead one to expect that the Canadian shippers will again seek shelter for their grain in the elevators at the American Head of the Lakes, just as they did a year ago, routing their export wheat and other grains via Duluth instead of via Port Arthur.

BELIEVED STRIKE MAY BE SETTLED MONDAY.

New York, Jan. 25.—More than a hundred independent manufacturers agreed today to sign the protocol adopted by the union dress and waist makers and the employers' association and the belief today was that this would settle the strike in that trade Monday.

Four young women were arrested today for assaulting a girl on her way to work in a factory affected by the strike. The girl was knocked down and beaten with umbrellas but finally was rescued by a policeman.

MARTIN COLE IS RE-ELECTED

Duluth Man Again Heads Licensed Tugmen's Protective Association.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 25.—The Licensed Tugmen's Protective association, at its closing session here today, unanimously elected the present officers for another year. They are: Grand president, Capt. Martin Cole, Duluth; grand vice-presidents, Capt. E. F. Kemmet, Cleveland; John McSweeny, Milwaukee; T. N. O'Connor, Buffalo; grand secretary, H. H. Vroman, Buffalo; grand treasurer, Peter Gagnon, Two Rivers, Wis.

A resolution was adopted increasing the per capita tax of members from $1.50 to $1.60 per year.

The application for reinstatement of Chicago Local No. 2, expelled last May for failure to observe the conference agreement, was referred to the grand grievance committee, which will meet in Chicago probably next week.

WELSH RABBIT THE LIMIT

Worse Than Benzoate of Soda, Says Dr. Benedict.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 25.—"Welsh rabbit is the most injurious substance a person can eat," according to Dr. Francis G. Benedict, director of the Carnegie nutrition laboratory. He believes it is even worse than small quantities of benzoate of soda and borax and boric acid. The only difference is that one can achieve a weird dream on a rabbit, whereas benzoate of soda does not spur the sleeper's imagination.

Dr. Benedict ridiculed food faddists from Fletcher down in a talk at the Massachusetts College of Pharmacy. He declared vegetarians, although they might not indulge in a meat diet, were doing their best to imitate the taste and smell of it.

"Man is carnivorous, and is at his best only when he lives on a meat diet," said Dr. Benedict, "notwithstanding the fact that there are exceptions to this rule. Of course, moderation in a meat diet produces the best results. We are becoming a nation of cranks."

Form Development Association.

Bemidji, Minn., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Articles of incorporation of the Northern Minnesota Development association have been filed with J. O. Harris, register of deeds. The articles provide that the annual meeting shall be held in December of each year in Bemidji, which was selected as the place for those meeting at the Crookston meeting last December.

The week end shows prices for stocks on a firmer basis. Slowly, but surely, stocks are advancing to higher range of prices after the severe decline which was recorded during the month of December and the early part of January.

We advise the immediate purchase of RED WARRIOR, SUMMIT and SAVANNA. They are intrinsically worth much higher prices.

RED WARRIOR is in a splendid state of development, and this mine will make a record in the next six months in the way of shipments. The mine is in splendid condition, and the stock, marketwise, is in splendid condition also, as it has been liquidated and all weak holders eliminated. This RED WARRIOR has always been a big leader of the Duluth stocks, and its fluctuations have been large, enabling one to make large profits.

SUMMIT will soon have its new electric hoist installed. As soon as this is done, and sinking again begun on the shaft, this stock will advance to three times its present price.

SAVANNA should easily double from this price. Its holdings are worth a great deal more money. It has 2,000 acres of mineralized ground. The following is from the Boston News Bureau and shows what this camp can do in the way of big interests being interested: "Phelps, Dodge & Co., who recently acquired extensive copper mines in the Burro Mountain District of New Mexico, will soon build a railroad from Whitewater to the mines." Their property adjoins the Savanna holdings. The SAVANNA is managed by the same people who made such a wonderful success of the LIVE OAK mine.

WILSON VISITS ELLIS ISLAND

President-Elect Sees Immigration Laws in Operation.

Attends Special Meeting of the Board of Inquiry.

New York, Jan. 25.—The next president of the United States saw his country's immigration laws in operation today at Ellis Island, the gateway for thousands of aliens. Governor Wilson called the visit a pleasure trip but the immigration officials were inclined to attach importance to the fact that with him came several prominent persons who have been active in improving the conditions surrounding immigrants.

Under escort of William Williams, commissioner of immigration, Mr. Wilson saw Finns, Russians, Italians and other Europeans put through their examinations. He attended a special session of the board of inquiry, the final court of appeal at the island and saw seven aliens rejected. Three big ships had landed 1,300 steerage passengers this morning and the station hummed with activity.

Did Not See Castro.

The governor did not see Gen. Cipriano Castro, who is fighting for the privilege of entering the United States.

In the governor's party were Mrs. Wilson and the Misses Jessie and Eleanor Wilson; Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Robinson, Mrs. James Borden Harriman, Royal Meeker, professor of political economy at Princeton; Willard Straight and Mrs. Caroline B. Alexander, at whose suggestion the trip was made.

The president-elect asked many questions.

"I wonder," he remarked, as he looked down on the crowd awaiting examination, "if these people know before they arrive what they are to go through?"

Commissioner Williams told him that in general the immigrants were told on shipboard what was expected of them. The governor saw a Russian rejected on account of a weak heart and listened to the testimony before the board of inquiry regarding a Russian charged with being a "white slaver." This man was ordered deported.

Fullerton, N. D., Fire.

Fullerton, N. D., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—During the absence of Station Agent Kipp the depot and contents were burned. The Joseph Anderson family in the living rooms overhead were hurriedly forced out. A small amount of money and all the records of the office were lost. The fire started from the office stove.

LEGAL NOTICES.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Thomas Healey, unmarried, as mortgagor, to Duluth Brewing & Malting Company, a corporation, as mortgagee, bearing date the 19th day of April, A. D. 1912, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of St. Louis County, in the State of Minnesota, on the 22nd day of April, A. D. 1912, at thirty minutes past four o'clock in the afternoon, in Book 298 of Mortgages, on page 206.

Said default consists in the non-payment of the principal sum and interest, secured by said mortgage, no part of which has been paid. The amount due and claimed to be due on said mortgage and the note thereby secured is, at the date of this notice, the sum of one thousand fifty-seven dollars and seventy-seven cents ($1,057.77), and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, which has become operative because of said default, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage, and thereby mortgaged, to-wit: Lots numbered fifteen (15) and sixteen (16), in Block numbered six (6), in Magoffin's Division of Proctorknott, in St. Louis County, Minnesota, according to the recorded plat thereof in the office of said Register of Deeds, with the hereditaments and appurtenances thereunto belonging, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest and taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars ($50.00) attorneys' fees, as stipulated in said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said County, at the Sheriff's office, in the County Court House, in the City of Duluth, in said county, on the 26th day of February, A. D. 1913, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of said sale, as provided by law.

Dated January 8th, 1913.

ORDER OF HEARING ON PETITION FOR PROBATE OF WILL—
State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis. —ss.

In Probate Court.

In the Matter of the Estate of J. I. Van Vliet, Decedent.

A certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of J. I. Van Vliet, having been presented to this court and the petition of Belle S. BEARS AGAIN RULE WHEAT Dull Day in the Pit With Slow Demand Ends in Lower Prices.

Crushers Refrain From Active Flax Buying and Values Weaken.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 25.—The day was very dull and bearish on the wheat markets of North America. There was little demand either for domestic consumption or for export. Even the durum export trade at Duluth was rather lifeless. There seemed to be a general feeling that the bull movement of yesterday had gone farther than actual conditions warranted. Today that advance was almost but not entirely wiped out. Yesterday there was an advance of ¾c in Duluth May, but today that same option declined ⅝c. Duluth May wheat closed today at 87½@87⅝c bid against a close yesterday of 88⅛@88¼c asked. There were downward movements also at Minneapolis, Duluth and Winnipeg.

Notwithstanding today's decline, the general situation of wheat is decidedly bullish. The car receipts reported today at Winnipeg and Minneapolis were considerably below the corresponding receipts of a year ago. The American primary receipts were away above those of a year ago, yet even this excess is no longer so striking as it used to be. The opinion that the farmers of the United States have marketed a larger fraction of their last wheat crop than is usual at this time of the year seems to be gaining ground, and if it proves to be well grounded, an advance in the markets is almost certain to result.

Duluth cash wheat today closed 2 to 2¼c under May. Durum closed ⅝c to ½c off. Oats closed ⅛c up. Rye unchanged and barley 2c off to unchanged.

Liverpool wheat today closed ¼d to ⅜d higher. The advance was due to yesterday's strength in America and to the continued fair demand from the continent, with millers buying. The upward movement was checked, however, by the larger and cheaper Plata offers, more favorable Indian news and heavy American shipments.

Flaxseed is Weaker.

The flaxseed market of Duluth was weaker today, by reason of the fact that crushers were not in a mood to buy briskly on the recent advances and preferred to hold off and buy "from hand to mouth" feeling that recent advances, caused by diminishing receipts from the country had gone farther than actual conditions warranted. At the close today Duluth January flaxseed was ½c higher, but trading in that option was very narrow, so that those quotation were not a safe gauge of the market. Duluth May flaxseed closed half a cent off and July a quarter of a cent down. Winnipeg January flaxseed closed a cent lower at $1.08¼ being 23c under Duluth January.

The Minneapolis closing cash price was $1.31¾, just ¼c over Duluth January. The smallness of this margin showed that the Minneapolis crushers were no longer the eager bidders for flaxseed that they had been, and were not for the present quite so anxious to draw flaxseed from the Northwestern farms to Minneapolis, rather than let it go to Duluth. Buenos Ayres Februarry flaxseed last night closed ¾c up at $1.20½. London Calcutta January seed today closed 1¾c higher at $1.64¼.

MARKET GOSSIP.

The Chicago Paint, Oil and Drug Review says: "The advance in linseed oil, which we predicted for so many weeks, set in three weeks ago and has been steady since that time. Last week we reported the market firm at 41@42c, but there has been an advance and on Tuesday of this week the price for raw oil in Chicago is 42c for spot oil and no quotations on futures. From our review of the flaxseed situation, it will be understood this advance is fully justified, and that all the circumstances surrounding the situation point to a still further advance.

"It appears the Canadian flaxseed has been found to yield 21 pounds of oil to the bushel, which is fully 1½ pounds better than the best domestic seed and puts it on a parity with Calcutta seed. At least two crushing companies in this country have been using Canadian seed for making export oil which has been sold abroad in preference to oil made from seed from other countries. This has had a tendency to make seed prices abroad sag. Just as soon as the receipts from the domestic crop cease or become much smaller, there will be a demand in this country for Canadian seed, which will carry a similar premium and make correspondingly higher prices which are bound to be followed by oil made from seed from the Argentina without regard to the size of the crop.

"The linseed cake market is quiet but steady. Prices for quick export shipment are $24.50 per ton, Minneapolis, or at the rate of $26.50 at Chicago. There has been a big domestic meal business done during the past week, and this is reported better than that abroad, as indicated by the accompanying dispatch:

"One of our friends says their Rotterdam agent writes: 'Crushers are working slowly on account of the lack of demand for cake. Heavy arrivals have quite demoralized the market in Rotterdam and Antwerp. Prices for futures are also lower.

"Most of the American crushers have sold some future cake, running up to February delivery, and the home consumption of oil meal is good, and probably will continue for a month or so, but the spring and summer prices of cake are very weak, and very much lower than spot."

The weather in India continues dry. Broomhall's agent at Delhi cables that rain within a fortnight will save the crop in the unirrigated districts, otherwise the outlook is not favorable.

Broomhall's Argentine agent cabled last night that light rains had fallen in that country, but they were not sufficient to benefit the growing crop.

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Wheat Declines on Failure of Markets to Respond to Increase.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 25.—Wheat declined on failure of foreign markets to respond to yesterday's advance and this caused less apprehension over war scare. May closed ½c lower than yesterday and July ½@⅝c lower. Local elevator stocks decreased 1,191,000 bu for one day. May opened 87½c; high, 87¾@87⅞c; low, 87¼c; closed, 87¼c to 87½c; July opened, 89¼@89⅝c; high, 89½c; low, 88⅞c; closed, 88¾@89c.

Cash wheat steady but demand a trifle easier. No. 1 northern sold for ½c to 1c under May price.

Millstuffs—Shipments, 1,996 tons. Demand strong; offerings scarce; prices unchanged.

Flour—Market dull and featureless. Prices unchanged. Shipments, 70,122 bbls. In wood, f. o. b. Minneapolis: First patents, $4.30@4.65; second patents, $4.15@4.50; first clears, $3.10@3.40; second clears, $2.30@2.60.

Flax—Receipts, 52 cars; year ago, 27; shipments, 11. Demand continued good. Closing price, $1.31.

Barley—Receipts, 114 cars; year ago, 59; shipments, 90. Demand draggy for all grades. Closing range, 44@59c.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Day's News Has No Particular Influence on Wheat Prices.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—Wheat opened steady, the early news not being influenced one way or the other. May started a shade up to unchanged at 92⅞@93c to 92⅞c, sold to 93⅛@93¼c, where selling was induced and the option declined to 92⅝@92¾c.

The close was weak, May ⅜@½c lower at 92¾@92½c.

Corn opened firm on reports from Argentine that the rains had been insufficient for the crop, a condition which seemed to be reflected in an advance of 1⅛c at Buenos Ayres. May corn here began the day ⅛c higher at 51⅞@52c and sold to 52¼c. A reaction to 51¾c followed. Cash demand moderate and country offerings fair.

The close was steady, May a shade up at 51⅞c.

Oats were quiet, trailing corn. May opened a shade to ⅛c higher at 33⅞@34c to 33¾c and sold early between 34@34¼c and 33¾c.

Provisions advanced in sympathy with higher hogs. May pork opened 7½c to 12½c up at $19.10 to $19.15 and sold to $19.27½; May lard opened 5@7½c improved at $10.27½ and May ribs 5@7½c higher at $10.27½.

CONFIDENCE STILL LACKING

Hesitancy in Trading in Stocks But Undertone Is Firm.

Speculation of Restricted Character Usual in Saturday Market.

New York, Jan. 25.—There was no perceptible change in the tendency of the stock market at the opening today. Trading was light and first prices showed an even distribution of small fractional gains and losses.

Inactive stocks showed weakness at times but the recognized leaders were well sustained. Westinghouse Electric fell 1¾ and Woolworth 2 points.

The market closed firm. Speculation was of the circumscribed character usual in a Saturday market and fluctuations in most cases did not exceed fractional bounds. The steadier tone of the London market relieved the strain due to foreign influences yesterday, although confidence was still lacking as was shown by the hesitancy with which business was begun. The undertone was firm and the trend soon became definitely upwards. Some of the specialties moved more widely than the leaders. The traction stocks were strong on expectation that the subway negotiations will soon be completed. Bonds were firm.

Cotton Market.

New York, Jan. 25.—The cotton market opened barely steady at a decline of 10 points on January, but generally 2 to 3 points higher on heavy overnight buying orders and renewed support from leading spot brokers. Liverpool cables showed only about half the expected advance. Trade interests continued to buy on the decline; however, and the market later steadied on this support and further covering which may have been partly inspired by a less pessimistic view of the tariff agitation and reports that Southern hedge selling has been much less in evidence for the past two or three days. Futures closed steady; bids: January, 12.73; February, 12.32; March, 12.34; April, 12.18; May, 12.20; June, 12.05; July, 12.09; August, 11.98; September, 11.51; October, 11.44; December, 11.40.

Spot, steady; middling uplands, 13.05; middling gulf, 13.30. No sales.

London Stocks.

London, Jan. 25.—The stock market today showed little recovery from yesterday's depression as dealers were awaiting developments in the Near East before entering fresh commitments. Consols declined another eighth and home rails were irregular, while oil and rubber shares finished a shade harder.

American securities were quiet and steady. Prices opened about unchanged and later advanced on light covering. The closing was steady with prices value ranging from unchanged to ⅝ above parity.

There was a good demand for money and discount rates were steady.

New York Money.

New York, Jan. 25.—Money on call nominal; no loans. Time loans firm; 60 days, 3½ per cent, and 90 days, 3¾@4; six months, 4¼. Prime mercantile paper, 4½@5. Sterling exchange easier with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.83.60 for 60-day bills and at $4.87.80 for demand. Commercial bills, $4.83. Bar silver, 62¼c. Mexican dollars, 48c. ON THE IRON RANGES

VIRGINIA NOW IN GOOD SHAPE

Growing Range City Making Very Fine Financial Showing.

By January of Next Year City Will Be on Cash Basis.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Few cities in the Northwest can make a better showing as to growth and financial condition than Virginia. Figures furnished by City Clerk A. E. Bickford indicate that if the city collected every cent due up to the first of this month it would have a cash balance of over $200,000 after deducting the $100,000 raised by direct levy for water and light purposes.

City Clerk's Figures.

According to Mr. Bickford's figures the assets are: Cash in the hands of the clerk, $6,138.25; due from 1910, 1911 and 1912 improvements, $70,864.37; due from special assessments, sewer, interest and penalties since 1904,

MAYOR M. A. MURPHY.

$7,596.70; due from the county from the 1912 levy, $261,253.00; due from the county for past tax levies, $3,213.38; miscellaneous receipts, $1,296.05; grand total cash assets, $350,360.75.

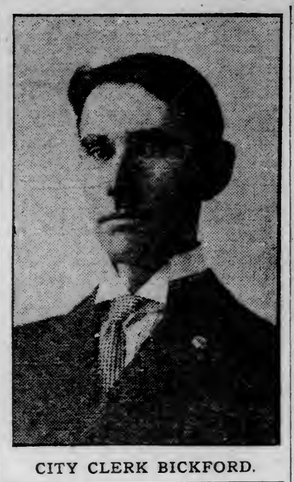

The indebtedness of the city is $21,074.72, leaving the net balance to the credit of the city, Jan. 1, 1913, $329,286.03.

The indebtedness includes improvement warrants outstanding, $15,624.93 due H. L. Bartlett & Co., and $5,449.79 due P. McConneil & Co., 2 per cent withheld on 1910 and 1911 paving contracts.

All the various city funds are in flourishing condition. The city is in a splendid condition of financial health and is looking forward to Jan. 1, 1914, when it is expected Virginia will be on an absolutely cash paying basis. The permanent improvement fund is nearing the $100,000 mark and it may be that this is the part of a greater fund that will be used to build a new city hall. It is just accumulating and it never has yet been designated what the accumulated cash is to be used for.

Boards Have Balances.

The police and fire board ended the year with $43,087 cash on hand. The park board would have ended the year with all entries in black but in the eleventh hour it made a purchase for an addition to South park at an expenditure of $2,500. The city has over $500,000 invested in paving and not a dollar still due on the paving done last season, when $98,000 was spent for paving and $25,000 for cement curb and gutter work. The tax rate is 37.1 which is 4.7 per thousand less than last year and 7.5 less than in 1911 notwithstanding the direct levy of $100,000 for the water and light plant acquirement. The tax rate in Virgina is going down gradually.

CITY CLERK BICKFORD.

The tax rate of 37.1 is divided approximately as follows: State, 3.58; county, 3.58; school, 10.3; city, 20.3. For taxation purposes the city has a valuation of in round figures $13,000,000, the realty valuation being $11,957,279 and the personal $949,015. The taxes collectable in Virginia which go to the county treasurer amount to $475, $23, and the city gets back a little over one-half the total or $261,252.

Hibbing has a lower tax rate than Virginia, the rate there being 12.9 but this owning to the high valuation. Hibbing being assessed on property worth $73,286,830.

The condition of the city financially, as shown by the elaborate statement of the city clerk, brought up in all detail to the first of the year, is regarded as illustrating a remarkable condition of affairs and the assertion is made that there probably is not another city in America that can show a more satisfactory condition of its finances and very few that can even approach such a condition.

AMBULANCE TEAM GOES ON RAMPAGE

Runaway on Rock Lake Near Hibbing, Throwing Out Occupants.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—A runaway team attached to an ambulance from one of the Chisholm hospitals yesterday wrecked the vehicle containing a trained nurse, a woman full of typhoid fever and a woman who was accompanying her to the hospital on the Rock lake road.

A short distance north of Hibbing the horses became unmanageable and started to run while the rig was being driven back to Chisholm, overturning the vehicle before they were controlled. Fortunately none of the occupants sustained serious injury.

The wreck of the ambulance is lying on the road out from the Pool location.

ASK LEGISLATURE TO PASS MEASURE

Hibbing People, Interested in Annexing Alice, Behind Proposed Bill.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Renewed interest in the proposition of annexing Alice to Hibbing will, no doubt, result when bills, which have been prepared here by those in Hibbing and Alice who favor annexation, are introduced simultaneously in both houses of the legislature next week, especially designed to cover the case.

The annexation of the village of Alice to Hibbing has been discussed for some time and many people in both towns regard it as desirable and ultimately certain. Mayor Weirick of Hibbing is among the number. At Alice the people desirous of seeing the annexation project carry are those who want to see the water works and electric lighting systems of Hibbing extended to their town. At present Alice is under an injunction prohibiting the levying of more than $10,000 in any one year for municipal improvements. There is no immediate prospect of the favorable settlement of the resulting litigation, and much needed improvement is being delayed.

Terms of Measure.

The proposed bill provides that the council of either village may agree with the other village to such consolidation, or may of its own motion, and upon the petition of twenty-five resident voters order a special election upon the question of consolidation. In case a majority of the votes cast at such election are favorable the same shall be effectual upon agreement thereto by the other village either by vote of the council or by a majority vote at a special election. The bill provides also that if the village council of either village without first holding a special election shall vote to consolidate, on petition of 25 per cent of the voters voting at the preceding annual election a special election may be called and if a majority of the votes cast are against the proposition, the vote of the council shall be of no effect.

Copies of the bill have been forwarded to Senator Boyle and to Representative Healy and Knapp. It is said that an effort will be made to get the matter before the people of both villages as soon as the bill is passed. It is designed to simplify the procedure in annexation matters as covered by the present state laws.

WILL SINK SHAFT ON SECTION 4 MINE

Nick Kent of Eveleth Given Contract to Put Down Shaft.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Nick Kent an old time mining captain of Eveleth, has been employed by the Section Four Mines company as their superintendent, to sink a mining shaft on the company's property. The location is about one mile southeast of Eveleth near the shore of Ely lake. It is known as the Wickey homestead and is a part of the property that was for years under litigation between the Murphy, Dorr & Flynn interests and the several homesteaders. The shaft will be sunk within 600 feet of the property of the Pearson Mining company, for the stripping of which the contract has been let to Butler Bros.

To Sink 157 Feet.

The Section four shaft will be 6 by 10 feet in the clear and the first order is to sink 157 feet, from which the company propose to drift into an ore body of 70,000 or more tons proven by drilling some time ago, also other drifts for the purpose of exploration. The ore shown up in this property is of a good grade and the owners feel confident that they will strike a large body. State Treasurer Walter J. Smith is president of the company, Odin Haldin, vice president, and C. H. Smith of Duluth, treasurer.

ELY IMPROVEMENTS.

Considerable New Work Planned for This Year.

Ely, Minn., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Although this city spent considerable in the way of improvement last year a large amount will be similarly expended this year. A cement walk, curbing, and storm sewer will be placed in all the district between Camp street on the north and Harvey street on the south, and from Third avenue east to Sixth avenue. On Harvey street the improvements will be extended from the high school to the Lincoln school. It is thought that this will require an expenditure of $35,000 or $40,000. In addition it is proposed to extend the "White Way" to cover the entire territory, although it is not decided yet what size lamp post will be used, and how many lamps to the post. The cement walks have been so planned that this addition will practically cover the town proper, although none of the additions have the cement walks.

TO ENLARGE HOTEL.

Eveleth Hostelry Will Be Remodeled and Much Improved.

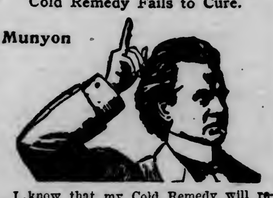

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Glode hotel will be remodeled and enlarged at a cost of several thousand dollars. At a meeting of the owners of the property held recently it was decided to incorporate and increase the capital stock sufficiently to pay the costs of the improvements.

The changes will include a complete remodeling of the first floor. The lobby will be enlarged to take in the present ladies' room and the entrance will be changed to the corner. A tile floor will be laid and the entire lobby made modern and attractive. The basement will be utilized for the toilet and sample rooms in the rear, while the front will be fitted up for the passenger waiting room for the electric line.

SEEK NASHWAUK MAN.

Officers Want Mike Chimento, Alleged to Have Beaten Wife.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald)—Local officers searched a Great Northern train here yesterday for Mike Chimento of Nashwauk, wanted in that place on the chage of beating his wife. They found his 15-year-old daughter, Mary, on the train and sent her back home. The pair left Nashwauk together so the local police were advised. It is believed Climento went to Duluth and by this time may have fled the state.

The production was staged under the direction of Miss May J. Palmer. A matinee will be given at the Auditorium Saturday afternoon especially for the school children. The play was a decided success.

HINCKLEY TEAM DEBATE WINNERS

Two Harbors, Minn., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The debate between the Two Harbors and Hinckley high schools last night in the high school assembly resulted in a unanimous victory for Hinckley.

The question of debate was "Resolved, That the National Government Should Own and Operate All Interstate Railroads." Hinckley argued the negative side of the question and Two Harbors the affirmative.

The debate was very interesting and the decision of the judges in favor of Hinckley came as a surprise to the large audience. Many of those present expressed themselves as dissatisfied with the decision. The Hinckley team used good arguments and the individual members of the team were good talkers, which was the result of the efforts of an able coach. The defeat of the local team last night leaves Hinckley and Coleraine to fight for the championship of this district. The local team is out of the race. The judges were: Mr. Bohannon, president of the Duluth normal; Mr. Butterworth, also of the Duluth normal; and Attorney Baldwin of Duluth.

The Two Harbors team consisted of William Dwan, Richard Erickson and Alblin Walstrom. Hinckley was represented by Ruth Warren, Charles Bloomfield and Ralph Pryor. Besides the debate a very pleasing musical program under the direction of the musical supervisor, Miss Trace, was enjoyed by the large audience.

READY FOR BATTLE.

Two Harbors, Minn., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The high school basket ball team is ready for the opening game of their regular schedule which is to be played tonight in the Y. M. C. A. here with the fast Aurora high school quint. The local team has played two practice games, one with the Alumni which was lost by the score of 32 to 23. The other team played was the fast Duluth Central high, which game was also lost by the score of 28 to 23. The following games have been arranged for the local team:

Jan. 25—Gilbert at Two Harbors.
Feb. 1—Nelson Dewey high school at Superior.
Feb. 7—Cathedral high school at Duluth.
Feb. 14—Cloquet at Cloquet.
Feb. 21 — Cathedral high school at Two Harbors.
Feb. 28—Aurora at Two Harbors.
March 7—Triple V of Duluth at Duluth.
March 21 — Nelson Dewey at Two Harbors.

Suit for $433.50.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The suit of Andrew Grande vs. Peder Grande and Z. Kessel, also known as Z. Kishel, has been started. The plaintiff claims damages for breach of contract covering the building of a house valued at $433.50.

BIWABIK NOTES.

Biwabik, Minn., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—H. M. Glass, who has been at Duluth for the past three weeks, as a jury man, has returned to his home here and has resumed his run on the Virginia passenger.

J. W. Woodfill of Two Harbors spent the week-end at Biwabik, visiting with friends.

Colvin & Robb have commenced loading logs at the old Canton property and they expect to get out about ten cars per day for their mill at Fairbanks.

John Shea, roadmaster for the Duluth & Iron Range, was in town Thursday looking after things in his department.

Two Harbors Concern Elects.

Two Harbors, Minn., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Scandinavian Co-operative Mercantile company's store was held was held last evening and the officers for the ensuing year were elected which are as follows: President, Hans O. Olson; secretary and Auditor, August Omtvedt; treasurer, K. E. Anderson; board of managers, Alex Carlson, Christ Carlson, Charles B. Stephenson, Gust Risberg, Louis Westerland, August Bloomberg, Charles F. Falk and John W. Anderson. Mr. Olson, the president, was elected for the eleventh time, which indicates that his faithful work is appreciated.

Eveleth Jury Disagrees.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The jury in Judge Moylan's court yesterday, which heard the charge Rev. Phillip Schwarz preferred against John Jance, a Grant avenue saloon keeper, whom he alleges struck him Wednesday evening, was unable to agree. The minister will interview the city attorney in the hope of securing another trial.

Gilbert Church Social.

Gilbert, Minn., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Catholic Ladies' Aid Society will give a social and card party tonight at Indihar's hall. A large crowd is expected as these affairs generally turn out a fine attendance.

Coming Chisholm Dances.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Chisholm Dancing club will entertain Jan. 31. The club has given several very pretty dances during the season. The Chisholm National band's dance for last evening was postponed until Saturday next. A special feature of their dance will be prizes. One prize will be given to the couple wearing the prettiest costume and the other to the one wearing the most comical costume.

Visited In Virginia.

Gilbert, Minn., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mr. and Mrs. A. Kent and family visited with Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Prowse at 610 Mesaba avenue, Virginia, for the week-end.

REAL ESTATE

QUIET WEEK REPORTED IN DULUTH REALTY MARKET

Cuyuna Range Transaction Is the Only Big Deal Reported.

Demand for Property in the Belt Line District in Wisconsin.

WEEKLY REALTY RESUME.

	Number of Transfers.	Known Considerations.
Monday	23	$2,330.00
Tuesday	9	5,570.00
Wednesday	8	8,025.00
Thursday	23	9,605.00
Friday	9	7,375.00
Saturday	14	8,470.00
Total	86	$41,465.00

Duluth real estate developed no surprises during the past week and on the surface everything was tranquil. Trading has been fairly brisk, both in city property and acreage, as indicated by a volume of real estate transfers which are perhaps better than the average for this time of the year, usually a dull season. Few, if any, big deals were swung this week, although it is known that several are in the air. Inquiry continues strong and prospects look good.

A $60,000 deal in Cuyuna range property came to the surface during the week. It is of local interest because it involves local men who have extensive holdings on the Cuyuna. The Locker-Donahue company of this city sold all of the lots remaining unsold in the townsite of Cuyuna to the Cuyuna Real Estate company, which organized this week and filed its articles of incorporation. The new company, in addition, took over fifty-six acres adjoining Cuyuna on the north, making the purchase from the Crow Wing Mining company. The two deals involved a total consideration of $60,000.

The Cuyuna Real Estate company is backed by C. C. Adams, F. S. Adams, and R. M. Adams of Deerwood, and E. J. W. Donahue and W. H. Locker of Duluth. It is capitalized at $50,000. The property adjoining the townsite of Cuyuna, taken over from the Crow Wing Mining company, will be platted and put on the market in the spring. The Locker-Donahue company will have the exclusive agency and will conduct an extensive advertising and selling campaign.

"Something is on foot in the belt line district in Douglas county, Wis." declared Mr. Locker of the Locker-Donahue company yesterday. "There is a quiet attempt now being made to buy up all of the property adjacent to the right-of-way. What it means, I am not aware, but there has been brisk trading at a good figure. Some property is being disposed of as high as $200 an acre." The Locker-Donahue company purchased a 20-acre tract in section 9, 48-14, near the belt line.

The Duluth-Missabe Land company, with principal offices at Hibbing, filed articles of incorporation this week with the register of deeds. The new company is organized to engage in a general land business with a capital stock of $25,000. The incorporators are Alex Hermanson, Nashwauk; Fred Erickson, Hibbing; Victor Sundquist, Duluth; Jacob Erickson, Hibbing, and Frank Frederickson, Hibbing.

A. W. Kuehnow this week closed up eight sales of lots at Gary. Prospects are good, he advises, for a splendid movement in real estate and business in the new community during the coming season. At the steel plant work is being pushed as fast as money and men can do it.

* * *

Martina F. Woods this week sold to M. L. Stott three lots in block 85, Portland division, for $6,000.

A frontage of twenty-five feet on the lower side of Second street, betweeen Twenty-second and Twenty-third avenues west, was sold this week from David Adams to Michael McGarry for $3,000.

* * *

For a consideration of $5,500, Louise M. Bronson this week purchased from Mary E. McComber a house and forty-foot frontage on the upper side of Fifth street, between Fifteenth and Sixteenth avenues east.

* * *

A house and fifty-foot lot on the lower side of Grand avenue, between Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth avenues east, was sold from A. H. Brown to Elizabeth Armstrong this week. The consideration was $2,700.

* * *

Warren E. Greene, county attorney, and Mason M. Forbes, first assistant county attorney, are now owners of lot 15, block 3, Greysolon division. It was purchased this week from I. Freimuth. The consideration was not given.

* * *

The Superior city commission has formally accepted a deed from the Land & River company turning over to the city of Superior the title of land giving a 70-foot right-of-way for Catlin avenue from Belknap street to Twenty-first street. In consideration of the deed, the city will open and improve the street.

* * *

A house and lot on the upper side of Fifth street, betweeen Eleventh and Twelfth avenues east, was sold this week from Morris Weddes to Sophie C. Larson. The consideration was $2,200.

CUYUNA!

RESIDENCE LOTS $250 to $400
BUSINESS LOTS $350 to $500

Do you realize that there are more opportunities presented to the investors on the Cuyuna Range than can be found anywhere else? A few years ago this range was unknown and unheard of, but notwithstanding this fact, within the past few years approximately 500,000,000 tons of merchantable iron ore has been proven up on the Cuyuna Range, which promises to be one of the greatest mining ranges yet discovered. There are millions of dollars to be spent in exploring, developing and operating the mines. This means that the Cuyuna Range will in a remarkably short time have some very large and prosperous cities. Considering all the conditions, advantages and disadvantages surroundng the various towns, it can be readily seen that Cuyuna must in the course of time be the metropolis of the Cuyuna Range. It is surrounded by large bodies of merchantable ore which will require centuries to exhaust. The mines are all underground mines, requiring the services of a large number of men to operate them. This of itself means a large town in a very short time. Experience on the other ranges has proven that small investments made in growing towns on the range have produced small fortunes to the investors. The same may be repeated in Cuyuna.

Cuyuna is a modern, up-to-date city, possessing a fine water system, complete electric light system, and a sewer system is now being installed; good streets and cement sidewalks, and all the advantages of modern life. Lots can be secured in Cuyuna for a very low price, in fact, much lower than in other towns which do not possess any of the improvements or advantages enjoyed by Cuyuna. Those who are wise will take advantage of the present low prices and secure some of these chocie lots at the present low price without delay. We would be glad to furnish maps, plats and full particulars of Cuyuna. Better still, we would like to have you go with us to Cuyuna and see for yourself the great possibilities in store for this growing city. You can buy residence lots for from $250 to $400, and business lots from $350 to $600.

Up to the present time there has been more ore shipped from the Kennedy mine (which adjoins Cuyuna on the north), than all of the other mines on the Cuyuna Range combined. There are a large number of men employed at the Kennedy mine the year around, and other mines will be opened up adjoining Cuyuna during this year, which means employment to a large number of men and many business opportunities. There are many first-class openings for businesses of different kinds in Cuyuna. We would be glad to show you and tell you all about Cuyuna.

DULUTH GAINS IN BUILDING PERMITS

Duluth and other cities of the country made some sharp gains in December building permits, according to figures which have been compiled in the January number of Construction News. Duluth's gain is 193 per cent over 1911.

Salt Lake City showed the greatest increase by far. A gain of 5,528 per cent is shown, the permits climbing from $35,000 in 1911 to more than $2,000,000 in 1912. Other cities with larger percentages of increase than Duluth were Minneapolis, Seattle, Tampa, Fort Wayne, Harrisburg, Nashville, Davenport, St. Joseph and Topeka.

The tabulation is as follows:

ARCHITECTS LOOKING FORWARD TO BUSY SPRING

Expect Brisk Season in Building Lines During Coming Year.

While local architects and builders anticipate a busy building season ahead for the spring, they are now in the midst of a comparatively quiet season. With the architects there is some sketching and some of the builders have been asked to figure on prospective work. A number of projects are said to be under the surface.

An interesting item of building news comes this week with the letting of a contract for an addition to the factory of the Diamond Calk Horseshoe company at Forty-seventh avenue west and Third street to Jacobson Bros. The addition to the building itself will not be large nor will it entail more than about $10,000 expense. However, it will provide room for the installation of new machinery costing $50,000 and will give the firm a much-needed opportunity to double its capacity.

The company, according to Otto Swanstrom, president and manager, has been behind its orders for many months and has found it imperative that an addition be made. The present factory has forty-five men on the pay roll and according to Mr. Swanstrom the force will be nearly doubled as soon as the addition is built and the new equipment is installed.

The Soo Line will add six stalls to its roundhouse at Twenty-first avenue west and Michigan street, according to an announcement made this week. The building now has accommodations for six engines and the addition will just double the capacity. The company's yard facilities will also be increased and additional tracks laid west of Twenty-fourth avenue.

• • •

Plans and specifications are being drawn for a fireproof hotel, 75 by 100 feet, three stories and basement, modern in every particular, to be erected at Ironton, a new town on the Cuyuna iron range, for Peter Spina.

• • •

The architectural firm of Frank L. Young & Co., was dissolved this week, Frank L. Young retiring. The other member, William P. Allred, will continue the business.

Bids have been asked for the erection of the new city workhouse, the plans for which have been prepared by J. O. Bach. The main building will be a two-story affair, 75 by 50, cell building to be a wing, 48 by 70. Workhouse labor will be used.

• • •

Architect Vernon J. Price has prepared plans for Firehall No. 10, to be built at New Duluth at a cost of $10,000. Bids will be received until 11 a. m., Feb. 3, by the city clerk.

An addition to St. Mary's hospital may be made at once, as a result of a $30,000 donation for that purpose received by the hospital association from Thomas F. Feigh, a local well known mine land operator.

• • •

Architect J. J. Wangenstein today put the plans of the Colonial theater, to be erected on Central avenue, West Duluth, this spring, at a cost of about $45,000, in the hands of the contractors.

• • •

The building permits of the week follow:

NEW ORE DOCK IS ADVERTISING CITY

Today's Improvement Bulletin, in summing up the building situation throughout the Northwest, makes special reference to Duluth and its ore dock improvements. Its comment is as follows:

"Construction throughout the Northwest during the present year seems likely to make new precedents in many branches. It has been expected that 1913 would be remarkable for railroad building in the states west of the Mississippi and north of Wyoming but the preparations for great activity in other fields have exceeded expectations. In ore dock construction the year will be a record breaker, chiefly as a result of the millions going into improvements of this kind at Duluth and Superior, where great companies seem to be rivaling each other in size and completeness of the steel and concrete and electric power piers. For the new ore dock of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad, West Duluth, announced to be the largest ever built, 22,000 tons of steel and 20,000 barrels of cement will be needed. Eleven trains of flat cars will be required to haul the steel to the site of the dock; and if brought by lake it would need three of the Steel corporations' biggest boats to convey the material. The estimated cost of this dock is $2,900,000."

DULUTHIANS IN BIG REALTY DEAL

Take 100-Year Lease on Choice Corner in Minneapolis.

Samuel and Louis Loeb of this city are associated with Rubin & Finkelstein of Des Moines, Iowa, owners of the New Grand theater at Minneapolis, in one of the largest real estate transactions closed in Minneapolis for a number of months. The deal involves the leasing by the Consolidated Land company to the Messrs. Loeb of the quarter block at Fifth street and Hennepin avenue, known as the Hale corner.

The lease is made out for 100 years. The Hennepin avenue frontage is regarded by the lesses to be worth $6,000 a foot. Shortly before the papers were signed it is understood that the owners were offered $1,000,000 for the property. It fronts 148 feet on Hennepin, 163 feet on Fifth and 192 feet on the alley. It is opposite the West hotel.

The lease deal means that a modern office building and a theater, or perhaps a department store will be erected on the site at the expiration of the one-year leases.

Exact plans for the improvement have not been worked out by the new combination of investors.

M. L. Finkelstein, who is associated with Mr. Rubin and the Duluth capitalists, is a St. Paul jeweler. He and Mr. Rubin are interested only in the theatrical end of the deal, while the Duluth men have the lease.

"We are not in the theatrical business," said L. S. Loeb this morning, "nor have we lost any of our confidence in Duluth. We merely saw a chance to pick up a rare bargain in Minneapolis and took it. We must spend from $225,000 to $250,000 in improvements there beginning not later than March 1, 1914."

LOCAL ARCHITECTS VISIT CEMENT SHOW.

P. M. Olsen and W. J. Sullivan, local architects, attended the national cement show at Chicago this week, returning yesterday from a four days' stay at the exposition, which they pronounced to be one of the best exhibits of its kind ever put on.

"The exposition was truly wonderful," said Mr. Olsen yesterday. "The United States government had a splendid exhibit at the show and needless to say all kinds of manufacturers and industrial concerns were will represented. The show lasts for one whole week ending Saturday night."

While in Chicago, Mr. Olsen and Mr. Sullivan made a tour of inspection to the works of the Universal Portland cement works, twenty-six miles out from the city. They also visited the big steel plant at Gary.

NOTICE OF ELECTION UPON THE QUESTION OF ISSUING BONDS OF THE INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF DULUTH—
At a special meeting of the Board of Education of the City of Duluth, duly held on the 9th day of January, 1913, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:
Resolved, That in the opinion of the Board of Education of the City of Duluth, it is expedient, and it is hereby so declared, that additional bonds of the Independent School District of the City of Duluth, in St. Louis County, Minnesota, in the sum of two hundred thousand dollars, be issued and sold to provide funds for the purpose of erecting and furnishing two school houses in said district as follows:
First. The Robert E. Denfeld Industrial High School Building, to be erected on Lots twelve (12) to eighteen (18), inclusive, in Block ninety-five (95), and Lots six (6) to eleven (11) inclusive, in Block ninety-four (94), all in West Duluth, Sixth Division, according to the recorded plat thereof.
Second. The first unit of the Roger S. Munger graded school building, to be erected on Lots nine (9) to sixteen (16) inclusive, in Block one hundred and fifty (150), Portland Division of Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof.
That said bonds draw interest at the rate of 4½ per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, and that they run thirty (30) years from their date with the option reserved to this Board to redeem the same, or any part thereof, at the end of twenty (20) years from their date, or on any interest day thereafter.
That the question of the issue of said bonds be submitted to the voters of said district at a special election to be held therefor upon the first day of February, 1913.
That the Clerk of this Board give notice of this special election in the manner provided by law; and that he cause the same to be published in the Duluth News Tribune and The Duluth Evening Herald, two daily newspapers published in said School District, in each issue of such papers during the ten (10) days immediately preceding the day of such election.
That a copy of this resolution be published in connection with the notice of the election at which the question is to be submitted.
NOW THEREFORE, Pursuant to said resolution and to authority duly given by the Common Council of the City of Duluth, as by law provided, NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that a special election of the Independent School District of the City of Duluth will be held upon Saturday, the first day of February, 1913, for the purpose of voting upon the question of the issuance of the bonds referred to in the foregoing resolution which is made a part of this notice. The polls will be open at six o'clock A. M. on the day of such election and will remain open for purposes of voting until seven o'clock P. M. on said day. Voters wishing to vote for the issuance of bonds in accordance with the said resolution, should indicate their wish by use of the following words upon their ballots, namely, "Shall bonds be issued—Yes." Voters wishing to vote against the issuance of bonds in accordance with the foregoing resolution, should indicate their wish by the following words upon their ballots, namely, "Shall Bonds be Issued—No."

THE HERALD "WANT" ADS WORK CONTINUALLY, THEY NEVER CEASE

Until Their Tasks Are Successfully Performed. Each Day These Little Wonder Workers Faithfully Deliver Their Messages to the People of Duluth and Nearby Towns Who Have Learned Their Value

REGAINING A TREASURE

Regaining a treasure that has been lost—restoring a keepsake, an heirloom, or an article of value to the rightful owner—such is often the result of Herald Want Advertising.

Telling the possible finder of a loss must be accomplished at once. What other means can do it so quickly and at such a minimum expense as a Herald Want Ad?

Losers and finders of lost articles both watch The Herald Wants, for they from time to time contain items of special significance.

Many a thrill of joy has resulted from a Herald Want Ad under the lost and found headings. Many a lost article of rare value or endeared association has been promptly restored through The Herald Want Columns.

In every case of emergency The Herald Wants are at your service.

SEVEN-SENATOR MOTION IS LIKELY TO BE BADLY BEATEN IN THE SENATE

Democratic Senators to Lead Vigorous Attack Upon Resolution.

New State Mining Lease Bill Introduced in the House.

Senate Considers Bill Making All County Offices Non-Partisan.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—When the seven-senator resolution comes up in the senate, which probably will be tomorrow, the attack upon it, which will be vigorous, will be led by Democratic senators like Julius Coller, Albert Schaller, J. D. Sullivan and S. D. Works, who will repudiate the principle involved in the proposal and take a square stand on the idea that a man's a man whether he lives in the city or the country, and that legislative representation should be based squarely on population.

Though the advocates of the measure—who are senators sworn to support the Constitution in the making of a reapportionment bill—will make a hard fight for their resolution, the indications now are that it will be rather badly beaten. As it has been taken as a move against reapportionment, the effect of such a drubbing will be highly favorable to the reapportionment measure.

State Mining Lease Bill.

Representative C. H. Warner of Aitkin will this afternoon introduce in the house a new state mining lease bill, as described before in these reports. Instead of the old rate of 25 cents a ton, under the law repealed six years ago, the new measure provides graduated royalties beginning at 30 cents a ton for ore under 49 per cent iron, with

WOULD INVESTIGATE GARMENT INDUSTRY

Representative Berger Introduces Resolution in the House.

Washington, Jan. 27.—Investigation of conditions in the garment working industry in New York was proposed in a resolution today by Representative Berger, the Socialist member from Wisconsin. The resolution would authorize the appointment of a special committee of seven members to inquire into the conditions surrounding the garment-making trade and the recent strike.

In the preamble of his resolution, Mr. Berger sets forth that the New York clothing industry supplies the trade of a large section of the country through interstate trade; that the wages in the industry are so low "that healthy surroundings and a decent standard of living have become almost impossible."

"It is further charged," continues the preamble, "that vice and crime are bred of the needless misery coincident to the manufactures of the nation's clothing, and further, that said manufacture is carried on in filthy and unsanitary places saturated with germs of consumption, smallpox and scarlet fever and other contagious diseases."

Mr. Berger's resolution sets forth that clothing made in such conditions is a "serious menace and danger to the welfare ard health of all."

In a statement accompanying his resolution, Mr. Berger said that he desired to show "the close connection which the intolerable economic condition of the garment workers bears to crime and vice on the one hand, and how these economic conditions revenge themselves upon all the people, because the people allow them to exist."

CONSIDERING WOOL TARIFF

Complicated Features of Schedule K. Before Committee.

Witnesses Represent Manufacturers, Growers and Clothiers.

Washington, Jan. 27. — Democratic plans for downward revision of Schedule K, the wool section of the tariff, one of the most complicated features to come before the extra session of congress, were under fire today before the house committee on ways and means.

General expectation among house Democrats is that the committee will report at the outset of the extra session virtually the same woolen schedule as was incorporated in the wool bill that passed the house at the first and second sessions of this congress, was amended in the senate last summer, compromised in conference and vetoed by President Taft. The average ad valorem duty of the schedule in the present law is almost 50 per cent. The Democratic bill that serves as a tentative basis of the present consideration provides very much lower duties. It

TO REGULATE STOCK SALES

"Blue Sky" Law That Is Proposed By Representative Child.

Like an "Honest Label" Measure, Applied to Corporate Stock.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Discussing the "blue sky" law, which he introduced in the house a few days ago, Representative S. R. Child of Minneapolis said:

"This proposed law is in no sense a corporation regulative measure. It applies only to the seller of the stock. My claim is that it is not practicable to classify private corporations, so as to differentiate the honest from the fictitious, and that any attempt to drag them all in to the state office, embarrasses the honest ones, and fails to catch dishonest ones.

"It is more in the nature of a 'pure food' or 'honest label' measure, applied to corporate stock. The seller must put on and exhibit the label when he sells the stock, by giving the purchaser a printed statement showing all such particulars of the corporation (including its assets and debts), as fix the value of the stock. It also applies the same rule to one who solicits purchasers for stock by advertisement, prospectuses or other printed matter.

"The law recognizes the difference between public or governmental functions, and private functions which become paternallstic when adopted by the government. By it the government as-

HAS NO IMMUNITY FROM PROSECUTION

Supreme Court Decides He Must Serve His Time.

Washington, Jan. 27.—Charles R. Heike, former secretary of the American Sugar Refining company, has no immunity from prosecution for his knowledge of the "sugar weighing frauds" against the government, because he testified before the grand jury regarding them. The supreme court so held today.

The court held that Heike must serve his eight months' imprisonment and pay his $5,000 fine.

Heike was convicted of conspiracy to defraud the government. He had testified at a grand jury investigation, under the Sherman anti-trust law, into the affairs of the American Sugar Refining company. Later he was prosecuted in connection with the weighing frauds at the customs docks in Brooklyn.

The conviction of Heike was the outcome of a series of proceedings growing out of the sugar weighing frauds, in which the company was required to pay to the government more than $2,000,000.

The government claimed that Heike, as secretary and treasurer, could not have possibly been ignorant of the frauds.

HOUSEWIVES' LEAGUE DETERRED BY THREATS

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 27.—Anonymous threats directed at proprietors of a music store where the Housewives' League of Kansas City has maintained headquarters, have caused officers of the league to decide to temporarily suspend operations until a new location is secured. The Housewives' league is trying to raise a fund of $2,000 with which to open a co-operative produce store.

"We expected some criticism," said Mrs. Willard Q. Church, president of the league, "but we did not think it would take so determined a form. Our plans will go right ahead as soon as we get a new location."

NO SUFFRAGE FOR WOMEN AT PRESENT

British Cabinet Decides to Drop the Franchise Bill.

House of Commons Looks Like Armed Camp at Opening of Session.

Thousands of Policemen Ready for Trouble From Suffragettes.

London, Jan. 27.—The British cabinet today decided to drop the franchise bill. This decision was in deference to the speaker's ruling that the form and substance of the measure would be so materially altered by the amendment granting the vote to women, that it ought to be presented in the shape of a new bill.

The precincts of the house of commons presented many of the features of a well defined encampment when the house met this afternoon to bring to a conclusion the current chapter of the work for the enfranchisement of women.

Mounted and foot police were everywhere in great strength. Two thousand patrolmen and 100 mounted men were on duty while reserves were hidden in convenient courtyards ready to pounce on suffragettes who attempted to break the peace. Leave of all the other policemen belonging to the Metropolitan force had been stopped.

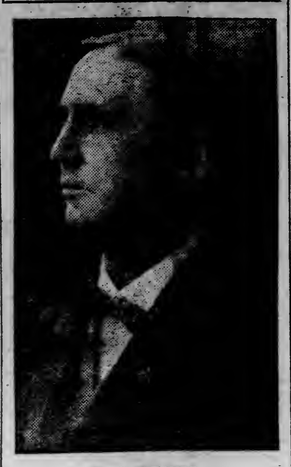

A declaration of guerrilla warfare by the suffragettes, including sorties and riots to begin at once, was made by Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the militant leader, at a meeting this evening.

NORTH DAKOTA'S NEW BOARD OF CONTROL

R. S. LEWIS.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—R. S. Lewis, former state senator, former lieutenant governor, and one of Fargo's successful business men and farmers, will be chairman of the new state board of control for the penal and charitable institutions. His associates are likely to be A. M. Christianson, an attorney of Towner, and Dr. Stickney, a physician of Dickinson. The selection of this board insures the election of State Senator Talcott of Buffalo for warden of the penitentiary. No changes in the heads of the other institutions are known to be contemplated at present.

BURKE'S MEN TURNED DOWN

North Dakota Senate Refuses to Confirm Board of Control.

Woman Suffrage Bill Fails of Passage By One Vote.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor L. B. Hanna probably will submit to the senate this week his appointments to the state board of control of penal and charitable institutions. The senate's refusal on Saturday to confirm the appointments of Governor Burke to that board, on the ground that it was the intention of the law creating the board to give each administration control of the board, will bring early action from Governor Hanna in the matter.

Woman Suffrage Setback.

There will be a host of women suffrage supporters in Bismarck this week as a result of the failure of the senate to pass the suffrage measure Saturday. The supporters of the suffrage movement have been so confident that they would be able to pass the measure that the setback received Saturday was entirely unexpected. Only one more vote is needed to pass the measure, and the suffrage workers are confident that they will be able to secure it. Senators Gilbert and Davidson were absent when the roll was called Saturday, and

HERO SPARED HUMILIATION OF ARREST

Sheriff Arranges for Bail for Old Friend Gen. Sickles.

Obviates the Necessity of Locking Veteran in Ludlow Street Jail.

Friends Working to Secure Subscriptions to Meet Debt.

New York, Jan. 27.—In order to spare his old friend, Daniel E. Sickles, the humiliation of arrest, Sheriff Harburger personally arranged with counsel for the general this morning to accept bail from a surety company. This will obviate the necessity of locking Gen. Sickles in the Ludlow street jail, pursuant to an order from the supreme court issued after the old soldier had failed to account for more than $20,000 received for the New York monuments commission.

Awaiting Climax of Affairs.

New York, Jan. 27.—Under a flag canopy in his lower Fifth avenue home, Maj. Gen. Daniel E. Sickles, the hero of Gettysburg, awaited today a climax in his affairs. On one hand there was said to be an ultimatum from his wife, from whom he has long been estranged, presenting the conditions under which she would return to his aid and on the other hand, a court order for his arrest in connection with

BALKAN ALLIES DRAFT NOTE TO TURKS ENDING PEACE NEGOTIATIONS

Will Be Several Days Before It Can Be Presented.

Porte Is to Be Given Three Days in Which to Answer.

Would Be at Least Fifteen Days Before Resuming War.

London, Jan. 27.—The drafting of the note rupturing peace negotiations was begun this morning by the allies.

The committee of delegates entrusted with this important work consisted of Michael Madjaroff, Bulgarian minister in London; Prof. Georgios Streit, Greek minister to Austria-Hungary; Dr. M. R. Vesnitch, Servian minister to France, and Count Voynovitch, chief of the cabinet of King Nicholas of Montenegro, with M. Politis of the Greek delegation as an adviser on questions of international law.

The committee expected to complete the note before nightfall and submit its work to a plenary sitting of the Bulgarian, Greek, Montenegrin and Servian delegations.

However, even if the Balkan allies were anxious to resume hostilities, which it is currently reported they are anxious to do, at least fifteen days must elapse before hostilities can be resumed.

If the draft of the note is completed tonight its revision by the delegations will take some time and the final draft cannot be presented to the Turkish delegation and to Sir Edward Grey,

OPPOSED TO DISSOLUTION

Corey Does Not Want Steel Corporation Dissolved.

Says He Has Quarter of Fortune Invested in Its Securities.

New York, Jan. 27.—William Ellis Corey, former president of the United States Steel corporation, began his fourth day of testimony today at the hearings in the government's suit to dissolve the company under the anti-trust law. Redirect examination was taken up by Judge Jacob M. Dickinson, attorney for the government, who questioned the witness concerning his differences before his retirement with E. H. Gary, chairman of the board of directors

"Are you pecuniarily interested in the United States Steel corporation?" he was asked.

"One-fourth of my fortune is in the securities of the Steel corporation," replied Mr. Corey.

"Are your personal feelings favorable or unfavorable to the success of this suit?"

"I am naturally favorable to the Steel corporation," Mr. Corey said. "I am opposed to the government in this case."

Mr. Corey reiterated that the object of the Gary dinners was to maintain prices. Questioned about the efforts of some manufacturers to raise the price of rails from $28 a ton, Mr. Corey would not say that the Steel corporation prevented the advance. "It may have," he said. "I was opposed to the raise myself because I thought $28 was a fair price." He added that the corporation could make rails cheaper than its competitors.

Cross-examined by C. A. Severance, attorney for the defendants, Mr. Corey testified that after the panic of 1907 the Steel corporation refused to reduce the wages of its employes, although requested to do so by other manufacturers who had made reductions.

"We have not gone into the question of labor," said Judge Dickinson, objecting on the ground that the question was irrelevant.

"No, you don't dare to," retorted the Steel corporation's attorney.

DEPUTY SHERIFF IS STABBED IN THE BACK.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 27.—In a fight at the Rankin plant of the American Steel & Wire company at Rankin, today, Deputy Sheriff J. Davis was stabbed in the back by an unidentified foreigner and it is feared he will die. Employes of the wire company are striking for a change in working conditions. Sheriff Judd Bruff this morning placed fifty deputies at the plant and ordered all the saloons closed.

ARGUMENTS FOR EKERN

Attorneys for Commissioner Warmly Arraign Governor McGovern.

Say Attack in Office on Par With Work of Burglar.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 27.—That the action for injunction now being heard in the Dane county circuit court to restrain Governor McGovern, W. L. Essman and L. A. Anderson from interfering with Insurance Commissioner Ekern's office, is brought merely to preserve the status quo in the office until the title thereto can be determined at law, was the opening statement by Attorney M. B. Olbrich today.

"An injunction protecting an incumbent in office has been sustained by the courts of Michigan, Minnesota, Iowa, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Louisiana, Washington, New York, Texas, Colorado, Kentucky, Alabama, South Carolina, Arkansas, Nebraska and Kansas—sixteen in all," said Mr. Olbrich. "The same legal principle has also been upheld in Wisconsin." Olbrich quoted decisions to the effect that the prime facie title to this office cannot be determined until it is settled whether there was a vacancy at the time the gover-

STEAMSHIP SAVED AFTER CREW LEAVES

Freighter Mackinaw Strikes Breakwater and Starts to Fill.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 27.—The steel freight steamer Mackinaw, en route from Balboa, Panama, to San Francisco, via Los Angeles, struck the breakwater at the entrance to San Pedro harbor while outward bound in a heavy fog and was towed into the harbor late last night after the crew had taken to the boats in the belief that the vessel was sinking.

All of the officers and crew and Capt. Robert Dollar of the Dollar Steamship company, who was the only passenger aboard the vessel, were brought safely to shore. The officers and several members of the crew remained aboard the Mackinaw, which came in under her own steam with the assistance of tugs.

When the freighter struck, water poured into the forward starboard compartments and Capt. McClement ordered the crew to take to the boats, four of which were launched. The men were picked up by launches. The Mackinaw was not seriously damaged.

TERRIFIC DYNAMITE EXPLOSION IN FRANCE.

Paris, Jan. 27.—A terrific explosion of dynamite early today shook houses for a mile or more around the church of St. Sulpice, in the southern part of Paris. A great fissure was opened in the Rue de Sevres and the electric surface lines there were destroyed, but nobody was seriously injured so far as has been reported.

The explosive is believed by the police to have been taken from the construction works of the new subway by some workmen who were recently discharged.

BIG BUDGET FOR YEAR 1912

Board of Public Works Handled Expenditures of $675,786.

Board Needs Central Storage Yard---Oil as Dust Layer.

The total expenditures of the board of public works for all purposes in 1912, including obligations incurred, amounted to $675,786.50, according to the annual report, which has been completed by R. Murchison, clerk of the board.

The report is voluminous and detailed, showing the various purposes for which the funds were used. The activities of the board include all paving contracts, sprinkling, maintenance, public markets, condemnations and easements, construction of walks and sewers and other miscellaneous duties.

Street improvements show a large increase over 1911. Last year grading and paving cost $234,708.99 as compared with $145,128.51 in 1911; sanitary sewers cost $119,011.54 as against $75,139.70 in 1911 and miscellaneous work cost $25,254.22 as against $9,978.43 in 1911. The last includes the new lock-up at New Duluth and the remodeling of the police station.

Need Storehouse.

The board again emphasizes the necessity of getting a central storage yard for taking care of the machinery and tools of the city. It is pointed out that opportunities in the past have been neglected when property was cheap and that it is a matter requiring immediate attention. Thousands of dollars worth of machinery are now exposed to the elements. Over $1,000 was spent to house machinery during the few weeks the public market was in operation last fall.

Mention is made of the three market houses which were operated last season. The board states that the reports from all of them have been encouraging and show an increased activity in market gardening in and about the city.

The department concluded that its experiments for laying dust with oil proved to be a success. The cost was 4¼ cents for the oil laid. The board says that the results appear to have met with general favor and that the cost was about half that of water sprinkling. It is stated that the economical use of oil for laying purposes would necessitate the purchase of equipment not now owned by the city. The oil was laid last year by the oil company.

Among the larger items of maintenance were the repairs of Superior street between Fifteenth and Twenty-fifth avenues west, the resurfacing of Grand avenue between the ore docks and Fifty-fourth avenue west and the resurfacing of Fifth street between Twelfth avenue east and Fourth avenue west. The cost of the three jobs was approximately $13,000.

The board concluded many condemnation proceedings for park property and easements of various kinds. The compensation payable by the city for all lands and easements mentioned was $29,745.69.

Maintenance was conducted under the same organization as previous years. The total expenditure was $124,581.03. This includes all cleaning, removal of snow and ice, etc.

The aerial bridge completed another year of excellent service at a cost of $6,750.94, or $986.72 less than the preceding year. The cost of producing the crushed rock last year was $1.84 a yard.

The report shows that Duluth has over 125 miles of graded streets, 61.46 miles of graveled streets, 32.63 miles of macadam streets, 114 miles of sanitary sewers, 23 miles of storm sewers, 60 miles of wooden walks, 109 miles of concrete walks, 15 watering troughs and 12 drinking fountains.

Reversed by Supreme Court.

Matthew J. Reid, who sued the Northwestern Fuel company for $15,000 damages for personal injuries, and who recovered a verdict in district court several months ago for $1,560, had his judgment reversed in a recent ruling of the Minnesota supreme court. The case went to the higher tribunal on an appeal by the defendant company from an order of the district court denying defendant's motion for judgment notwithstanding the verdict. The supreme court reversed the order of the lower court and directed judgment entered in favor of the fuel company. Reid had the bones of his leg broken and crushed in an accident at one of the company's docks in Superior June 7, 1910.

Veteran Captain Dies.

Capt. Thomas McGovern of St. Catherines, Ont., died a few days ago from complications resulting from old age. He was for many years one of the best known masters on the lower lakes, commanding in the fleet of Corrigan, McKinney & Co., but retired a few years ago. He was 76 years of age at the time of his death. A son, M. McGovern of Hibbing, Minn., has gone to his father's funeral.

Samaritans Will Meet.

Duluth Council No. 3, Modern Samaritans, will conduct ritualistic work at the meeting tonight at K. P. hall, 118 West Superior street. There will be a program and dancing.

GREAT LAKES EXEMPT FROM AMENDMENT.

Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 27.—The Canadian government was notified today that the Great Lakes are exempt from the operation of the proposed amendment to the Harter act now before the United States congress, by which vessel owners would be partially liable for loss of cargo en route from the United States to foreign ports. The amendment, however, would apply to coast waters.

STATE BOARDS TO HAVE A NEW SET OF RULES.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state boards of pardons and of parole will meet in joint session at the capitol Feb. 3 to formulate a new set of joint rules and application blanks. Since the board of parole was created two years ago, there has been endless confusion as to the two boards in the minds of prisoners, their relatives and attorneys. Many applications for parole have been made to the pardon board and for pardon to the parole board.

Six Farmers Accused.

New Liepzig, N. D., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.) — Alleging that they were endeavoring to defraud the county on seed grain purchased last spring, the officials have caused the arrest of six farmers of this locality. They had sold the crop and had made no effort to settle with the county.

TESTED WHISKY WITH FIRE.

Bonfort's Spirit and Wine Circular: When the Hudson Bay Trading company began its trading among the Indians it was found that by selling the Indians liquor they could more easily be induced to trade their peltries.

The first whisky or intoxicant of inferior quality was distilled in England and brought to America in large barrels, but in transporting it overland it was found more convenient to divide it into small kegs. The traders soon became aware of the fact that by diluting the whisky with water more furs could be obtained. This was practiced for some time, but the Indians learned that good whisky poured on a fire would cause it to flame up, but had the whisky been diluted the fire would be quenched.

It was by this simple experiment that the term "firewater" became a common word among Indians. A chief who had experienced the bad effects of whisky among his people said it was certainly distilled from the hearts of wildcats and the tongues of women from the effects it produced.

CLEANED ALONG THE POLICE RUN

The recent raid which cost them $200 and a promise to be good, did not cause a cessation of activities in the apartments at 226 East First street, upstairs, according to the police.

At 3 o'clock yesterday morning a squad of police from headquarters visited the resort and caught six persons, three men and three women, in the dragnet. The women are the same as arrested before.

The records at the station show that Pearl Burke was booked for keeping a house of ill fame, Elizabeth Collins and Maud Williams for residing in a house of ill fame; Ed England, a sailor, for visiting a house of ill fame; William George, a laborer, for visiting a house of ill fame, and Sid Clark, a chauffeur, for visiting a house of ill fame. With two exceptions all of them entered pleas of not guilty and their trials were set for tomorrow morning. England, alias Barney McCarty, forfeited $50 bail. George pleaded guilty to a disorderly charge and paid a fine of $10 and costs. Pearl Burke furnished $150 bail and that of the others was fixed at $100 each.

This morning Vincent and Rose Urean were arraigned on a charge of keeping a disorderly house at 101 East Superior street, upstairs. They pleaded not guilty and their trials set for tomorrow afternoon. Bail in the man's case was fixed at $150 and in that of the woman at $100. Frances Kavel and Maxine Muller were brought in at the same time on a charge of residing in a house of ill fame. They strenuously denied the allegation and will have their trials tomorrow afternoon. Bail in their cases was fixed at $50 each.

The police claim that the place at 228 East First street has been the scene of several merry parties since it was raided the last time. It is alleged that complaints have been made that the women and male companions have been so noisy that they have disturbed the neighbors far into the night. When the police made their call at 3 o'clock yesterday morning it is asserted that the members of the party were singing and dancing and having one regular "gay, old time."

HIS LIBERTY WILL BE BRIEF

Andrew Smith Released on Embezzlement Charge, Arrested for Perjury.

Andrew Smith, former manager of the Northland Mercantile company, now bankrupt, who has been a prisoner at the county jail since September, when he was indicted on four counts, charging embezzlement, will not be permitted to enjoy his liberty, although the state released him from custody this morning.

At the county jail, a Federal warrant is waiting for him and as soon as the sheriff discharges him he will be served with the process from the United States district court. The January Federal grand jury investigated Smith's case and it is believed returned an indictment against him.

The warrant charges Smith with perjury in connection with testimony given by him at the bankruptcy proceedings of the Northland Mercantile company of which he was manager. The court issued the warrant immediately after the Federal grand jury finished its sessions.

County Attorney Greene this morning made a motion in district court to release Smith without bonds in the one case on which he is now held, he being unable to furnish the required amount. The release will also apply to the other three cases according to the county attorney.

The state's prosecution of Smith has been halted by the refusal of the state's star witness to attend the trial. This witness is J. A. Cavanaugh, manager of the H. H. Hixon company of Chicago, and without his testimony the county attorney is unwilling to proceed. Mr. Greene contends that Smith's relatives and friends brought influences to bear upon Cavanaugh which resulted in his refusal to attend the trial.

Cavanaugh, being in Chicago, is not answerable to this court on a subpoena. The federal authorities who claim that Smith swore falsely in bankruptcy proceedings, subpoenaed Cavanaugh for attendance at the sessions of the federal grand jury this month and he came to Duluth for that purpose. While here, the state authorities subpoenaed him, but Judge Dibell of the district court threw out the subpoena, holding that it was not binding on Cavanaugh on the grounds that he came to Duluth on Federal court process and therefore was as immune from a subpoena issued by the state court as if he were at home in Chicago.

SUPERIOR DOCKS WILL BE IMPROVED

Northwestern Fuel Company Will Make Changes Involving $2,000,000.

It is understood that the Northwestern Fuel company, which has increased its capital stock from $3,000,000 to $5,000,000 will greatly improve its storage facilities at Superior.

The head offices of the company are at St. Paul and little information can be obtained here. Dispatches say that improvements costing $2,000,000 are contemplated. The company will enlarge its storage bins and add to its docking facilities. Bins for additional storage capacity of 385,000 tons are said to be contemplated.

Dance Hall Ordinance.

The city commissioners expect soon to report for passage, Mayor Konkel's pet dance hall measure. Among the features which he hopes to have adopted in the proposed ordinance is the abolition of pass-out checks. This will compell all who indulge in the dances to either stay in the hall or pay each time they come in. The idea is to prevent too frequent visits to thirst parlors, for it is claimed that under present conditions these visits result in drunkenness, brawls and immorality.

Letter Carriers' Ball.

The Superior branch of the National Letter Carriers' association will give its eighteenth annual ball next Monday at the Sons of Norway hall. This is an annual event which is looked forward to by scores and is liberally patronized because of its unfailing excellence.

Final Examinations.

The final examinations of both the Superior and Nelson Dewey high schools began today and will continue through to Friday, inclusive. The papers will be marked on Friday and that afternoon the credits will be given and the cards marked according to the findings of the examiners.

Joint Installation.

A joint installation of officers of Allouez court and Nemadji court, Catholic Order of Foresters, will be held at Sacred Heart auditorium tomorrow evening. P. H. Martin of Duluth will deliver the chief address. Following his address a musical program will be given.

WOULD RATHER BE THIN THAN BE AN OPERA SINGER

VINIE DALY AND MRS. JACK EVERHEART.

Vinie Daly, well known for many years as a dancer and more recently a singer in opera, has sailed for Europe to take the cure at Kissingen. Miss Daly wants to get thin. Her ambition to be thin is so great that it may take her from the opera stage. While singing in Hammerstein's opera house in London she found that she was taking on flesh at a rapid rate. Inquiry showed that this was the usual fate of singers and was due to the deep breathing and diaphram exercise. Miss Daly says she would rather be thin than be an opera singer and she declined a contract just before she left America. Miss Daly is only 26 years old. She has been on the stage more than twenty-two years, having made her debut as a child dancer at Mechanics' hall in Boston.

FIRE ADJUSTER UNDER ARREST

A. B. Frankel Charged With Extortion and Conspiracy.

Chicago, Jan. 27.—A. B. Frankel, head of a public fire insurance adjusting firm, was arrested today charged with extortion and conspiracy to defraud in connection with the investigation made by the state's attorney into the operations of the alleged "arson ring." Frankel's arrest followed an alleged confession said to have been made by Thomas H. Jones, proprietor of a hotel at Waukesha, Wis., in which he admitted a recent fire at his place was of incendiary origin and Frankel and an alleged "firebug" named F. G. Cowie were responsible.

Cowie was arrested at Waukesha and admitted to bail. He was arrested on complaint of State Fire Marshal Purtell of Wisconsin and is said to have admitted being employed by Frankel, but only so far as soliciting the adjustment of fire losses was concerned.

Jones in his confession to State's Attorney Hoyne admitted signing promissory notes for $3,000 in favor of Cowie and a "go-between" who was to represent their share of the proceeds of the incendiary fire. Jones told of a meeting with Cowie and Frankel in Chicago in which he said he was threatened with exposure unless he paid the men an additional $1,000 of the insurance obtained.

GOLICK RECEIVES ADDITIONAL SUM

Attorney Pays Over $210 Under Orders From the Court.

In compliance with Judge Dibell's order, Attorney J. De La Motte has paid over to Paul Golik, a former client, the sum of $210.31, marking the close of the last chapter in the rather famous Golik case.

Golik three years ago secured a $1,00 recovery in a personal injury suit in which De La Motte appeared as his attorney. The case dragged along until expenses ate up all of Golik's share or what De La Motte claimed was his share.

The Associated Charities, through its attorney, G. W. C. Ross, brought an action in court to compel De La Motte to make a restitution. The order of the court followed.

According to Mr. Ross, judgment debtors in some of the municipal court actions involved in the case, and the near-countryman who was mixed up in the case, have also paid over some money to Golik.

The court in its memorandum of the case, suggested that it would be "a cheap way out of a bad thing" for them to pay up.

"BRING BACK OUR HEROES"

A Writer Tells Why Women Dislike Modern Fiction.

London Chronicle: "Novels are so tiresome," complained the young woman. "They aren't what they used to be," regretfully continued the middle-aged woman.

These two were not intellectual, but ordinary women who read with the heart as well as with the head, and both as they inspected the latest hatch from the circulating library obviously wanted something they could not find.

Pondering why it is that the modern novel is so rarely dreamt of afterward by its readers, rarely produces those mysterious sensations known as thrills, and is rarely read twice, I came to the conclusion that this fall from its former high estate is due to the absence of the hero.

Girls and women like such men in books, as they like in real life—strong men, mentally and physically. One may go further and declare that a work of fiction is never satisfactory to the feminine reader unless it contains at least one masculine character in whom she can take an interest.

Three Failings of the Hero.

In old days the hero was generally a handsome young man, about 25, who might get into trouble, but could be relied on to do so in a heroic fashion. But in modern novels the principal masculine character has three failings. As a lover he is feeble, as a man he is not good looking enough and worst of all, he never possesses that magnetic dominating personality which is the essential element in producing fascination.

Love in him appears a kind of brain storm, over whoch he has no more control than over an attack of scarlet fever. He falls in love with some woman, not because he thinks her beautiful or good, but because she wishes him to. At this moment I cannot recall any recent book in which the woman does not make the first advances.

Good Looks Help.

Good looks do not influence women as they do men. Still, though they may not love with their eyes, the sight of a well-set-up young man is pleasing to them all. In books the handsome hero endears himself more speedily than the one with fewer physical gifts.

But if this want of an Adonis be accounted trivial, not so is the moral weakness of the modern hero. As a rule he is afraid of life, afraid to do anything, the victim of vacillation and circumstances. Rarely or never is he "master of his fate," "captain of his soul," or of anybody else's.

Usually, if the hero through his weakness or stupidity lands himself in a scrape, the quick wit of the heroine is required to help him out. He plays a poor second to her brilliant first, and is rarely worthy of her, though she puts up with him because she can find no one better.

Want the Real Hero Again.

One could understand it were women writers the main offenders. But it is the man writer who persistently refuses a hero and holds up his own sex to the scorn or compassion of the other. Authors may imagine these characters are more human, but women readers are not willing to agree to them. They are oppressed by a sense of want because they have faith in the manly nobility, the manly virtues that win their hearts.

So the women who used to enjoy adoring the hero of a novel live with their desire ungratified, and the stories they read lack the flavor they once had. We want the real conquering hero back again, who knew how to make a woman love him—who did not leave everything to her, even her own wooing.

ELDERLY PUPILS.

Indianapolis News: Night schools which have been established in the Kentucky mountains include pupils up to the age of 86. The supplementary studies are taken up. To save the embarrassment of using primers, current events and news items are correlated with reading, the reading text being a little newspaper prepared especially for beginners. Bible study is especially popular with the pupils, many of whom learned to read it in two weeks' time, which is conclusive evidence that grown-ups learn with astonishing rapidity. In one reading class of twenty-five pupils "not a single member is under 75 years old," and the oldest, "Aunt Dicie" Carter, who is 86, is described as "the oldest public school pupil in the United States."

CANDIDATE FOR D. A. R. PRESIDENCY

MRS. JOHN MILLER HORTON.

Mrs. John Miller Horton is the candidate of the "regulars" for President general of the Daughters of the American Revolution. The election will be held at Washington in April. Canvassing is going on and there promises to be a lively fight for the office as there has been for several years past. Many candidates from Illinois and other states have withdrawn in favor of Mrs. Horton and the outlook for her election is good. But Mrs. Cummings Story, who made a good fight for the office against Mrs. Scott last year, is again in the field. Mrs. Horton is a Buffalo woman, daughter of Pascal Pratt, a wealthy banker and philanthropist of that city. Mrs Horton's friends present as one argument in her favor the fact that she is one of the best dressed women in the organization. Mrs. Horton was a delegate to the Universal Peace Congress at Geneva last year.

Avoid dangers of cold floors!

The world's leading public-health official writes that most of the colds, coughs, neuralgia and rheumatism are due to rooms equipped with old-fashioned heating, where on windy days there is often found a difference of ten degrees between the air at the floor level as compared with the mid-center or breathing plane of the room. This temperature difference along the floor level chills the feet and legs, producing faulty circulation—the work of the heart is thus "short-circuited" and one's vitality is severely taxed.

AMERICAN RADIATORS & IDEAL BOILERS

It must make the druggist wonder at the persistence of the steady procession of customers who each winter drag in daily to be relieved of ills which could in general be avoided by putting in this modern heating outfit. It keeps every part of the home at uniform warmth—floors, halls, vestibules, bays, nooks and corners all genially alike in comfort and health-protecting temperature. With heating by IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators there are no cold floors, drafts and chill spots and the air is not robbed of its purity and vitality by escaping ash-dust and coal-gases.

Look at the official health maps of any big city, which will show you how free from deaths due to neuralgia, rheumatism, pneumonia, coughs and consumption are those districts where practically all the best homes are warmed and ventilated by IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators.

A No. C2118 IDEAL Boiler and 270 sq. ft. of 38 in. AMERICAN Radiators, costing the owner $140, were used to heat this cottage. At this price the goods can be bought of any reputable, competent Fitter. This did not include costs of labor, pipe, valves, freight, etc., which are extra and vary according to climatic and other conditions.

The Indian huddled over his campfire is one of the worst victims of pneumonia, rheumatism, consumption and other winter maladies. So, too, the farmers (according to Government Statistics), with their old-fashioned heating, show a far bigger death rate than do city people from the ravages of these winter diseases.

IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators are used to warm and ventilate the leading hotels, sanitariums and baths at Aix-les-Bains, Nice, Mentone, The Riviera, Carlsbad, Marienbad, Cairo, Simla, Japan, Florida, Southern California, etc. These facts should point the right heating way to you!

IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators are now put in old or new cottages, mansions, stores, schools, churches, etc. without disturbing occupants or tearing up floors or partitions. Need no repairs. Will outwear the building. Their big savings in fuel, labor and absence of repairs soon repay their cost. Write, 'phone or call to-day for free book, "Ideal Heating."

IDEAL Boilers are safer and easier to run than stoves, and their cleanliness reduces housework one-half. They will last as long as the building and need no repairs. Accept no substitute.

We also supply the ARCO WAND Vacuum Cleaner, which has iron suction pipes running to various floors of houses, flats, schools, churches, hotels, hospitals, banks, theaters, etc. A turn of an electric button in any room starts the machine in basement, and with the magical ARCO WAND and a light-weight dainty hose ALL the dirt, dust, cobwebs, lint, threads, moths, insect eggs, etc., are drawn with lightning rapidity down the iron piping into the big, sealed dust-bucket in cellar. Costs little monthly for electricity to run. No dragging around a clumsy, inefficient portable vacuum cleaner—instead, you have a correct, enduring outfit that is part of the building—like radiator heating. Ask for catalog.

KILLS HIMSELF DESPITE WIFE

North Dakotan Cuts Throat Defying Interference of Helpmeet.

Sanborn, N. D., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Cutting his throat with a knife while he braced himself against a door to prevent his wife interfering, Charles Thompson committed suicide at his home, nineteen miles southwest of here. He was in good financial condition and no cause can be assigned for his act. He arose early in the morning and a short time afterwads went to the bed occupied by his wife and carefully placed the covers around her. Going to the bed in which his son slept he repeated the performance, then picked up a knife and started to cut his throat. When his wife attempted to prevent him he threw himself against the door so she could not reach him.

Gets Six Months Sentence.

Kenmare, N. D., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. R. Casey, who was arrested here for alleged complicity in the Carl Hansen murder, then released for lack of evidence, pleaded guilty at Williston, before Judge Crawford, to a charge of attempted jail breaking, being given six months in jail. Previously Casey, alias Kerr, was tried for purse snatching, but was found not guilty.

BRIEF INTERVIEWS WITH ZENITH CITY VISITORS

Will Break Ski Record.

Nels Dueholm, a former resident of Duluth, but now making his home at Ironwood, Mich., at the Spalding yesterday stated that the ski tournament to be held at Ironwood will be one of the largest ever held in the United States.

"The hill at Ironwood is the greatest in the country," said Mr. Dueholm, "and we are sure of breaking the record. Some of the followers of the ski sport are sure that the mark will be set at 160 feet during the tournament."

Predicts Higher Prices.

John A. Percival of Minneapolis, the well known mining man, who is stopping at the Spalding today, expressed the opinion that copper conditions were basically sound at the present time and that with the progress of the year there would be a general advance in the price of reliable shares.

Booster for Coleraine.

Otto Hanson of Coleraine, registered at the Lenox today, says that Coleraine is becoming the livest town on the iron ranges, and that within the next few years it is destined to become not only the best town on the Mesaba range, but also the largest.

Cuyuna Range Booming.

More than 10,000,000 tons of iron ore will be mined from the Cuyuna range during 1913 and the output will greatly exceed that of the Mesaba range by 1914, if the guesses of Henry Dueber of Deerwood are correct. Mr. Dueber was a guest yesterday at the St. Louis. Nearly all of the mines, he declares, are preparing to do some shipping this year. The villages of Crosby, Cuyuna and Deerwood are all booming, he says.

Potatoes Will Be Cheap.

Potato growers who are holding back for higher prices in the spring will be disappointed, says W. A. Herreid of Deer River, who with Mrs. Herreid was a guest yesterday at the Lenox. The farmers in the vicinity of Deer River did but little shipping last fall and are probably holding on for good spring prices. "As a result," he declares, "the market will be flooded and the supply will be larger than the demand." Mr. Herreid has a large potato house at Deer River.

DEATH RATE GOES DOWN

Report of Health Department for 1912 Shows Some Improvement.

Tuberculosis Is Principal Cause of Death in Duluth.

The city of Duluth had 835 deaths during the year 1912, giving a death rate of 11.04 per 1,000 on an estimated population of 80,000, according to the annual report as completed by Deputy Clerks M. J. Segal and Alva Patenaude.

This is an improvement over the preceding year, when the total number of deaths was 959 and the rate was 11.74 per 1,000.

Of the total deaths in 1912, 728 were of residents and 157 of persons from outside the city, most of whom were brought here for treatment.

Tuberculosis was the largest single cause of death, 124 being numbered under that classification. Of these, 109 were tuberculosis of the lungs. The previous year 140 deaths were due to the white plague.

The records show that 242 deaths were due to general diseases, including typhoid fever, 19, and cancer, 50; 41 to diseases of the nervous system, 16 of which were apoplexy; 114 to diseases of the circulatory system, of which 71 were organic heart disease; 123 to diseases of the respiratory system, of which 98 were pneumonia; 110 to diseases of the digestive system and 73 to external causes.

The last classification shows that four persons committed suicide by asphyxiation, one by drowning, one by shooting, five by cutting or piercing instruments and one by crushing. Two persons lost their lives in conflagrations, five died from burns other than conflagrations, thirteen were accidentally drowned, eleven were killed by falling objects, eight by railroads and one by street cars. Three homicides were due to firearms and one to stabbing. In 1911 eighty-three deaths were due to external causes, or ten more than last year.

The birth report had not yet been completed, but it will show approximately twice as many births as deaths.

YOUTH PLEADS GUILTY TO THEFT

Patrick J. Conlon Admits Stealing From His Employers.

Patrick J. Conlon, aged 18, who was caught stealing from a cash drawer in the office of Stryker, Manley & Buck, Torrey building, an Jan. 14 last, pleaded guilty on information this morning before Judge Ensign in district court to a charge of grand larceny, second degree. The court deferred sentence.

Conlon was employed by the Manley-McLennan insurance agency, which occupies quarters with the firm of Stryker, Manley & Buck in the Torrey building. The police claim that the young man has been involved in several thefts in the two offices. A trap was laid for him and he fell into it.

Conlon will be brought before the court again for sentence.

INSANITY IS NOT INCURABLE

Wife Confined to Asylum Will Fight Divorce Suit.

Mrs. Martha Rambo Tappan, 40 years old, an inmate of a Pennsylvania institution for the insane, will fight the divorce case which her husband, William M. Tappan, of this city, has brought in district court here.

A divorce is asked for on the grounds that she is afflicted with incurable hereditary insanity and on the claim that she concealed this fact from him when they were married at Greensburg, Pa., fourteen years ago.

In her answer, filed by Wilson & Morgan, her attorneys, she admits that she is insane but denies that she ever had any hereditary weakness to conceal from him before their marriage.

Joseph Rambo, her father, the answer states, was an inmate of a Pennsylvania asylum during 1880 and 1881. She claims that he was discharged as cured.

In 1906, Mrs. Tappan was committed from the Ramsey county courts at St. Paul to Fergus Falls, but was later transferred to the Pennsylvania institution.

Tappan has been a resident of Duluth for the past eight years. Baldwin & Baldwin are his attorneys.

FINDS LIVESTOCK HELPS HIS FARM

Red River Valley Farmer Who Diversifies Farming With Success.

Crookston, Minn., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.—R. T. Buckler, one of the well-known farmers southwest of the city, who has been here eight years and owns 960 acres of land, has just returned from South St. Paul, where he disposed of his eighth car of livestock from his farm this winter, one car of hogs, one of cattle and six of sheep, for a little over $5,000. Mr. Buckler is a good example of the Red River valley farmer who is diversifying every year, and his success is well known.

He keeps a good-sized flock of sheep at all times. Thirteen months ago he purchased 700 for $1,625, has sold 1,050 for over $3,500, in addition to $850 worth of wool, and has his breeders left.

Eight years ago, when Mr. Buckler first took possession of his farm, his wheat yield averaged 10 bushels per acre, oats 25, barley 15. Last year his wheat averaged 19 bushels per acre, barley 50 and oats 90. This year his average was: wheat 27½ bushels per acre, barley 45 and oats 40 and 52, the wheat standing the dry weather this year better than the coarser grains.

Stock Fertilizes Land.

He figures that his stock is worth $500 per year, at a low estimate, from the value to the land of the fertilizer. Mr. Buckler says that Red River valley land is easily worth $100 per acre, as estimated by J. J. Hill, and that properly farmed it will produce more than any land in the United States at the price it is held.

He raises all his cattle, raises at least 75 acres of corn each year and a good acreage of potatoes, 3,500 bushels this year, and while the price is low this year, he sold all he had, $3,000 worth last year in the field at $1 per bushel, making a good profit on a potato crop for several years. He also figures that a potato crop, in the increased grain yields for the two succeeding years, is worth $10 per acre.

Every year more farmers are following the style of farming followed by Mr. Buckler, and other similar instances might be mentioned, he having been selected because he is well known throughout this section, being active in the fair association, pure seed association and other organizations which are cooperating with the Crookston School of Agriculture to raise the standard of farming in this section of Minnesota.

Socialist Is Declared Winner as Beltrami County Register of Deeds.

Bemidji, Minn., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—This morning Judge Stanton rendered a decision in the register of deeds contest, favoring Moon, the Socialist contestant, 1463 votes to C. O. Moon and 1460 to Harris. The case will probably go to the supreme court.

NOT PRACTICABLE.

President-Elect Does Not Approve of Reception at White House.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 27.—President-elect Wilson heard today of the suggestion to hold a reception in the White House instead of at the capitol on the night of his inauguration but he does not think the plan practicable. "I have had no formal intimation of it," he said, "but friends tell me it would be hardly possible to hold a reception at the White House that night, as there probably will be 100,000 people in the city of Washington at the time and of course I don't think a reception on that evening should be by invitation."

A delegation from the Farmers' Union of America today presented the name of C. S. Barrett of Georgia as secretary of agriculture. Mr. Barrett is president of the Farmers union.

SAYS MAN IS RESPONSIBLE

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Declares He Fosters Social Evil for Profit.

In Vast Majority of Cases Woman Is the Victim.

New York, Jan. 27.—Man, not woman, is responsible for the organized commercial social evil in this country, in the opinion of John D. Rockefeller, Jr. It is a man's business "run for profit and the profit is large."

These views are expressed in a statement made public by Mr. Rockefeller today, giving further details of the aims of the bureau of social hygiene through which Mr. Rockefeller and other philanthropists hope to attack and alleviate conditions which he considers the "greatest single menace to the perpetuation of the human race."

"The idea of establishing a permanent organization to cope with the social evil in this city," says the statement, "was the outgrowth of my service of six months as foreman of the white slave grand jury, appointed in New York city at the beginning of 1910.

Realized Horror of Evil.

"I came at that time to realize the extent and horror of the evil and to believe that it constituted one of the great and vital world problems of the day. In the judgment of eminent medical men, it forms from the point of view of disease, the greatest single menace to the perpetuation of the human race. Therefore, as a result of conference with many people, the bureau of social hygiene was established.

"Under the direction of the bureau, George J. Kneeland, who conducted the investigation carried on by the Chicago vice commission has made a comprehensive study of vice conditions in this city; and Abraham Flexner has spent nearly a year abroad, investigating the methods of dealing with this problem in the leading cities of Europe. He will make further studies in a number of the larger cities of this country. As each of these studies is completed, it will be published and until this is done the bureau deems it unwise and premature to express any conclusions as to a method of dealing with the social evil in this city."

As to whether the unfortunate woman is a victim or a contributor to her own vicious career, Mr. Rockefeller says:

Woman Is Victim.

"I say unhesitatingly that in the vast majority of causes she is a victim. Prostitution as now conducted in this country and in Europe is very largely a man's business; the women are merely tools in the hands of the stronger sex. It is a business run for profit and the profit is large.

"It is my belief that less than 25 per cent of the prostitutes in this country would have fallen if they had had an equally good chance to lead a pure life. That they have been dragged into the mire in such large numbers is due to a variety of circumstances, among which are poverty, low wages, improper home conditions and lack of training, the desire to gratify the natural craving for amusement, pretty things, etc., but while all of these and many others may be contributing causes, man is chiefly responsible for their fall.

Financed By Members.

"Thus far the work of the bureau has been financed by its members and a few interested friends and this will continue to be the case until a larger and more formal organization is considered advisable. To its future financial policy it is not now necessary to give attention. As its needs grow there are numbers of men and women in this city who, I am confident, stand ready to join in meeting them.

"While the bureau expects to publish all of its important studies, it is obvious that its preliminary work can best be done without publicity.

"The bureau holds itself ready to enter any field of investigation which seems likely to contribute to the main purpose for which it has been established."

COURT DECLINES TO INTERFERE IN CASE.

Washington, Jan. 27.—The supreme court declined today to interfere with the five-year sentence upon J. Thorburn Ross, former president of the Trust Guaranty & Title company of Portland, Or., convicted of larceny of state educational funds in his bank during the panic of 1907. The trial court in addition to the five-year punishment, imposed a fine of $576,853.74, or an alternate confinement in the county jail amounting to 790 years. The supreme court of Oregon set aside the fine and alternate confinement as excessive.

GRAND FORKS CAR STRUCK BY TRAIN.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Motorman Fred Scoble leaped from a street car just in time to avoid being killed when the eastbound Great Northern train crashed into it. Scobie had run upon the grade to the railroad track and had almost reached it when he discovered the train bearing down on him. Applying the brakes and turning off the current, he jumped to safety. Conductor Schisely and Mrs. J. Humphreys were the only other occupants of the car, being at the rear end, and both escaped injury. The front end of the street car was practically wrecked.

Think of Talking to 50,000,000 People

Nowadays a manufacturer can tell 50,000,000 people of the merits of his goods in a day. Compare this rapid spreading of merchandise news with the snail-like service of stagecoach days.

Today, manufacturers of worthy products advertise them to the nation through the columns of the daily newspaper.

It is through the advertisements which appear in THE HERALD every day that manufacturers and merchants take you into their confidence. They tell you of the newest household conveniences, the best things to buy, and how to identify the most reliable goods from inferior kinds, how to "winnow the wheat from the chaff."

Read the advertisements in THE HERALD closely and constantly every day and be guided in your purchases from your dealer by the messages from advertisers whose business is founded on the rock of integrity.

SURELY TAKE "SYRUP OF FIGS" IF HEADACHY, BILIOUS, CONSTIPATED

Sweetens Your Stomach, Clears Your Head and Thoroughly Cleanses Your Liver and 30 Feet of Bowels of Sour Bile, Foul Gases and Clogged-up Waste.

All those days when you feel miserable, headachy, bilious and dull are due to torpid liver and sluggish bowels. The days when your stomach is sour and full of gas, when you have indigestion; the nights when your nerves twitch and you are restless and can't sleep could be avoided with a teaspoonful of delicious Syrup of Figs. Isn't it foolish to be distressed when there is such a pleasant way to overcome it?

Give your inactive liver and ten yards of waste-clogged bowels a thorough cleansing this time. Put an end to constipation.

Take a teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs to-night, sure, and just see for yourself by morning, how gently but thoroughly all the sour bile, undigested fermenting food and clogged up waste matter is moved on and out of your system—no nausea—no griping—no weakness.

You simply can't have your liver inactive and your thirty feet of bowels constipated with sour, decaying waste matter and feel well. The need of a laxative is a natural need, but with delicious Syrup of Figs you are not drugging yourself. Being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics it can not injure.

Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna." Refuse, with scorn, any of the so-called Fig Syrup imitations. They are meant to deceive you. Look on the label. The genuine, old reliable, bears the name, California Fig Syrup Company.

WHAT OTHER CITIES ARE DOING

Activities of Other Municipalities, Which Might or Might Not Be Copied in Duluth.

AFTER making a thorough study of the heating problem, the Rapid Transit company of Philadelphia has adopted a new plan for maintaining a comfortable temperature in its trolley cars during the winter months, without using any more power than is necessary. There have been installed at street crossings and at other points, in every part of the city, signals which indicate the degree at which the cars should be heated. These signs display four figures, 0, 1, 2 and 3. When the zero is displayed, the car is to have no heat. No. 1 indicates that the heat should be turned on one-third; No. 2 that it should be turned on two-thirds, and No. 3 that the full amount of heat should be given. To carry out the instructions given by the signal, every conductor is supplied with a key, with which to turn on or off the heat in his car. The signals are controlled from the nearest car barns, where some one in authority decides what degree of heat should be used, and telephones to the roadmen who set the signals. Under the old system conductors had nothing at all to do with regulating the heat in the cars, this duty falling to the roadmen, who carried regulation keys and boarded the cars whenever it was necessary to turn the heat off or on. The new system provides that no more heat shall be used at any time than is necessary to maintain a comfortable temperature. Early in the morning it may be cold enough to warrant a No. 2 degree of heat, but if at noon the temperature has risen sufficiently, the conductors will see the No. 1 signal directing them to reduce the cars to that degree. On the other hand, if the weather should become much colder, the No. 3, or "full heat" signal will appear.

The regulation of the heat in Duluth street cars is left to the motormen. The cars are heated by means of stoves, or small furnaces, located in the front vestibule and connected with a system of pipes through the interior of the car. Perhaps the method used in Philadelphia may be adopted here some time in the future. The present system of heating could be much worse, but it also has room for improvement.

REMAINS OF JOHN PAUL JONES PLACED IN CRYPT

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 27.—With simple but impressive ceremonies, the body of John Paul Jones, the first admiral of the American navy, was placed in its final resting place in the new crypt under the naval academy chapel. Secretary of the Navy Meyer, French Ambassador Jusserand and Governor Goldsborough were among those present.

Escorted by a brigade of 700 midshipmen, at whose head was the naval academy band, the casket was transported from Bancroft hall to the chapel on a car drawn by a squad of bluejackets. It was then carried on the shoulders of the "jackies" into the crypt, lowered into a receptacle chiseled out of solid marble, and a heavy marble lid placed over it.

LARGER LIFE OPEN TO ALL

Rev. Gebauer Says Utilitarian Sphere Does Not Satisfy.

Every Man May Rise to Greater Heights in This Life.

"Living in the Upper Story" was the subject of a sermon by Rev. George R. Gebauer at the First Unitarian church yesterday. He said in part:

"It is a very good and prudent and timely thing to prepare the young for the arena and the workshop of life; but we must not think that the utilitarian sphere of living exhausts all man's possibilities of satisfaction.

"A man may indeed get a great deal of pleasure by simply filling his little niche in society, but if this be all, he fails to get the share of satisfaction due to him as a son of man, as a living soul. Only when a man lives in the larger life of love and truth will he receive the greater reward.

"Have you ever loved someone else? If you have, you know what the greater satisfaction is. It is a satisfaction not to be compared with what we call generally happiness. To the true lover a new world opens, and to him the old world is blotted out. He loses his own life to find himself in a higher life. Through the one life to which he has given himself, he has touched the universal life; it now fills him and he knows what eternal joy ought to be like. He will then even prefer the sorrows of love to all the joys of a self-centered existence. And this love may take a larger expression.

"We really are poor only in so far as we do not feel the richness of the All-life that comes to us through love. And it is just for this reason that we call certain literature and art sacred. They become the avenues through which pours into us the higher, diviner life. Yes, in the end a truly good day has been to us only a day on which we felt the divine thrill in some measure. It may have come through a kind act we did, all out of pure love; it may have been duty well done; it may have been by the lift we gave to a brother-soul. And when once a man has found these deeper satisfactions, he soon realizes that they may be found everywhere and that no condition of living completely shuts out the greater life. If we do not find that satisfaction, it is not because it is not there, but simply because we are not open to it.

The Art of Life.

"The art of life is to learn to draw from all conditions of life the best, to become stronger than material circumstances, that would bind the soul. We may not be able to rise to the heights of the great sons of men, but be sure that you do not forget to rise as high as you may, and in everything good or ill endeavor to find the deeper satisfaction. Much of our education today falls just short in this, that it does not lead up to the deeper satisfactions. We teach history but it creates no love for man; we each literature, but it does not feed the sense of the beautiful; we study astronomy and merely numbers and cycles and eclipses and distances and light years fill our brain. The deeper satisfaction is lacking. We teach children natural history in a way, that the leaves on the golden tree of life become as dry as the plant-mummies in the herbarium. All that has its place, yet what is all that so-called knowledge compared with that deeper thing that fills us, when Tennyson sings to us of the 'Flower in the crannied wall' or Burns sings of the 'Mountain daisy.' What means all the lore of the heavens to the satisfaction of the soul, that looks upward on one of those beautiful starry nights and sees the host of heaven in all its glory, sees glorious Sirius and Orion and fine old Aldebaron, and lets them sing to them the song of the Eternal. Thus all about us is the kingdom of heaven, it requires no gold to get admittance, all is needed is the golden key of love and truth.

JEWISH WOMEN FORM ORGANIZATION

Preliminary steps in the organization of a Duluth Young Women's Hebrew association were taken at a meeting of twenty-five young Jewish women last night at the home of Dr. F. Horwitz, 223 East Third street. The association is being formed for two purposes, namely, to study the Hebrew language and to help raise funds for the erection of the Hebrew school, to be known as the Moses Montefiore seminary. A committee was appointed to help this work, consisting of Misses Eva Zalk, Esther Sanders, Dolly Polinsky, Mamie Rachlin, Fannie Karon, Matilda Bergson, Rae Zurovsky and Rose Coran.

It is planned to erect a building for the school at a cost of about $20,000. A committee, with Joseph Oreckovsky at the head, has been formed for the collection of the necessary funds. Plans have already been drawn. All the prominent orthodox Hebrews of the city have agreed to support the move.

FOR THE MEDICAL PROFESSION

Place—St. Winifred Hospital, San Francisco.

Case—Chronic Parenchymatous Nephritis involving broken compensation, complete Anasarca and Uraemic Convulsions.

Patient—Frank H. Winter, United States Deputy Marshal of Honolulu.

Prognosis—According to the text books, hopeless. The best Honolulu physicians had failed and the condition of the patient at the end of a two years' fight for life was so extreme that it was predicted he would not live to get to this city.

The physician who was called in was Dr. L. C. Mendel, who put the patient on Fulton's Renal Compound and aided it with active measures to sustain the heart and promote the eliminations with tonic treatment that skilled physicians understand.

To the intense surprise of the Honolulu physicians the patient was returned the fifth month in good health.

A late letter reports continued health.

The fact that a slight addition to the orthodox treatment with which it in nowise conflicts, now permits recoveries in cases that the text books declare hopeless ought to interest every physician in this country.

We serve notice on the whole world that chronic Bright's Disease and Nephritis are now curable in a great majority of cases.

And we have the proofs.

Is there any higher duty than saving human lives?

DESTROYING THE SABBATH

Pastor Condemns Sunday Paper as Encouraging Child Labor on Sunday.

Temptations of Moving Picture Shows and the Liquor Traffic.

The Sunday newspaper was heartily condemned by Rev. J. A. McGaughey, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, in his address on "Child Labor" at the Y. M. C. A. men's meeting yesterday afternoon.

Mr. McGaughey estimated that in Duluth 200 boys, many of them quite small, were obliged to arise from bed at 4:30 Sunday morning to deliver papers because "some greedy fellow" would be angry if he did not have his paper at breakfast time. Rev. Mr. McGaughey declared that in his opinion the Sunday newspaper was doing more than any other one agency to destroy the Sabbath. He praised the attitude taken by those who refused to purchase the Sunday newspaper at all.

Rev. Mr. McGaughey spoke of the various temptations that child labor brought the boy into conflict with, and called especial attention to the moving picture shows. He said that he recently went to one of these shows to see what was being placed before the young people who frequented them. First, he saw flashed upon the canvas the announcement that there would be a matinee on Sunday. That was left there for some minutes, that it might sink into the minds of all. Later there was a moving picture of some great military officers drinking and smoking cigarettes. "That picture," said the minister, "was branding a lie upon the minds of the young people in getting them to think that able, efficient officers could be engaged in drinking and idling. There was a girl in the picture, whose name was Cigarette, snatching the cigarettes from the officers and smoking them herself. I kept looking at the picture in the hope that those people would come to some bad end and the picture would leave the right impression after all, but no. Those officers turned out to be heroes and the girl named Cigarette was the heroine of the story. Now, there was not a thing in that show that you could put your finger upon and say that it was immoral, and yet such a picture could not fail to have a bad influence on the young people who saw it."

Liquor Traffic.

The pastor also condemned the liquor traffic as a potent agency in necessitating child labor and thus dragging down the children and injuring the race. He declared that parents who drank and failed to support their families and therefore made the labor of the children necessary were numerous. He said that children who were too young and inexperienced to resent the treatment of the sweat-shop bosses were forced to suffer on in silence. He declared that on the day when the liquor evil was abolished, the solution of the child labor problem would be one of comparative ease.

Rev. McGaughey made reference to a recent address by Theodore Roosevelt, wherein the Colonel told how, during the Crimean war, the British government in enlisting soldiers was obliged to lower its standard of physical requirements, and to accept men of smaller chest measurements than it wanted, because the factory labor of children had lowered the general physique of the nation. The Colonel, observed the pastor, pointed the finger of warning at America, and said this country would come to the same conditions if care were not taken in time to prevent them.

Minimum Wage Law.

Miss Jean A. Poirier, state factory inspector declared in favor of a minimum wage law, which would make the employment of very young children a plan that would not pay the employer. She said that under such a law it would be easier to keep children in school.

Miss Poirier said the schools should do all they could to give the boys and girls industrial training. Those who spent a considerable part of their childhood at child labor really received no training at all that would be of any use to them after they were grown. She told of instances of people who had grown up not only under the handicap of impaired physical health by reason of their having had to labor as children, but also confronted by the fact that they had had no training that would help them get a living after becoming adults.

The speaker said that here in Duluth there was a considerable amount of child labor under conditions that should not be tolerated. She spoke particularly of parents setting their children to mend the holes in old sacks, which subjected the children to danger of infection of many kinds of diseases.

Miss Poirier spoke of child labor in other parts of the country, especially in the South, where, she said, the practices were well-nigh incredible. She said that in fruit canneries children only 4 years old were compelled to work at sorting bad fruits from good. In some factories children labored from early in the morning until evening, some of them being not over 7 years of age.

The Pine City divisin of the Minnesota Naval militia will be mustered into service Thursday evening of this week, Commander Guy A. Eaton, Lieut. Com. Clyde W. Kelly and other officers of the naval militia will go to Pine City to conduct the ceremonies.

The Pine City division will number about 75 men, which will bring the total membership of the Minnesota militia 320.

The members of the Duluth divisions are looking forward with pleasure to the cruise on the regular ships of the navy through the Panama canal and around to San Francisco next fall. The boys will be given their regular stations on the ships of the navy and for a short period will perform the duties of Uncle Sam's regular forces on the sea.

WIRELESS TREATIES NEARLY ALL APPROVED

Washington, Jan. 27.—Ratifications of the wireless telegraph treaty signed at London July 5, 1912, will, it is expected, be changed at the British capital within a few weeks by the thirty-one signatory powers. The senate's ratification of the treaty a few days ago, paves the way for this formality as practically all the other governments are understood to have approved the treaty, which will become effective July 11, 1913.

By this convention the important maritime nations of the world have linked themselves together to obtain the widest range of international usefulness of the wireless without restriction as to its further development.

One of the mot important provisions of the treaty is that compelling the free interchange of communication between ships and coast stations employing different systems of radia appliances. With the Titanic disaster fresh in the minds of the delegates, all opposition to this doctrine faded.

It is provided that the transmission of long distance wireless messages shall be interrupted for three minutes at the end of every quarter hour to permit all stations to listen for distress calls which are given precedence over everything else.

MORE ROOM NEEDED FOR THE PARCEL POST.

Washington, Jan. 27.—To provide adequate space for handling parcel post business it will be necessary to revise plans of many public buildings in which postoffices are located, and negotiations to this end already have been instituted by Postmaster General Hitchcock. The postmaster general has invited the supervising architect of the treasury and his assistants to co-operate in the matter with the buildings committee of the postoffice department and the special parcel post committee.

At present 174 public buildings are under contract and 273 more have been appropriated for by congress. They approximate in cost $50,000,000. The plans for these buildings have been prepared without regard for the needs now essential that changes be made in their construction in order that the increased volume of mail may be handled advantageously.

In 759 postoffices located in government buildings it will be necessary to make alterations to meet requirements of the system. In some instances the purchase of additional ground on which to construct annexes will have to be made.

IRON AND STEEL REVIEW

New York, Jan. 27.—Three railroads—the St. Paul, Great Northern and the Chicago & Northwestern—came in the market last week for supplementary orders for rails aggregating 105,000 tons and additional orders from Canadian roads aggregating 30,000 tons, have been placed with American mills. The Santon & Hankow railroad of China has ordered 5,000 tons of rails and Brazilian railroads 3,000 of standard sections and traction lines of girders from the United States Steel corporation.

The railroads have placed orders for passenger and freight cars aggregating 7,500 and plans are under way for 18,000 additional cars, calling for 260,000 tons of steel products. The Rock Island ordered fifty-five railroad locomotives and the Erie ten In the last week, making January bookings the largest monthly orders for such equipment since 1906.

There is more interest in fabricated structural steel in all sections and larger contracts for commercial buildings and apartment houses for the New York Metropolitan district architects' board. Last week the fabricating shops took orders for a little over 18,000 tons of structural shapes, about half total being for railroad work.

PEDESTRIANS ENDANGERED

Protection Will Be Asked in Street Railway Cut Near Ore Docks.

Commercial Club Also Wants Flagmen at Ramsey Street Crossing.

There are several things which the West Duluth Commercial club is expected to take up at its meeting next Friday night which it is believed will prove of great benefit to the city were they brought about. These matters will be urged upon the incoming commission after it has taken its seat April 14.

One concerns the matter of accommodations for pedestrians at the street railway cut west of the ore docks and past the ball grounds. At this cut there is a very distinct curve, and the approach either way is hidden by banks of earth twenty to thirty feet high. It is impossible to see a car sooner than when it is a few feet ahead and as the only passage for pedestrians at this point is along the tracks, a person might be run down, while stepping out of the way of a car that the pedestrian could see. At this point also, because of the grade in favor of speed, the cars "hit it up" to a pretty lively gait. The club would like to see the city make some provision for pedestrians so that they will not have to walk along the tracks at this point when their business takes them that way. It is believed that the city could, with very little expense, make a sort of ledge in the embankments on either side, about four feet above the level of the tracks at their deepest point, and build sidewalks along to these ledges, giving safe passage to those who walk.

Another thing which the club will demand is that at Ramsey street and the Northern Pacific crossing, used for the first time only a few months ago, and for which no protection has been provided, that there be either gates established or at least a flagman. It is believed gates could be established and operated from the Central avenue tower right close by.

BANQUET FOR RAILROADERS

Annual Reunion of Employes of Missabe Road at Proctor.

The fourth of the annual banquets given to the employes of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern road by General Supt. J. W. Kreitter, was given last Saturday evening at Proctor, and those attending claim that it was the most enjoyable of the series. The affair took place in the Odd Fellows hall and the meal was served by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist church. The hall was tastefully decorated and red and pink carnations lent color to the tables. There were 285 present.

Those attending were from all parts of the road, some were from Duluth and some were from the Twin Cities, for these annual banquets are events which the road's employes seek to attend.

Mr. Kreitter presided and made the opening address, following the banquet, and then introduced E. S. Davis, formerly general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at Proctor and now in a similar position at Cloquet, to deliver what Mr. Kreitter terms an "exception." Mr. Davis spoke in humorous vein. A musical program followed. Charles O. Applehagen gave several vocal solos, Messrs. Thompson and Sandstrom sang a duet and the shop glee club gave several numbers. Blewett's orchestra played.

WILL MANUFACTURE CHEMICALS HERE

New Industry Brought to Duluth By Industrial Bureau.

Dr. B. M. Rastall, secretary of the industrial bureau of the Duluth Commercial club, announced today the nature of the industry to which he referred in a talk at the Commercial club last Friday night.

It is a chemical manufacturing company, which has leased a building on Lake avenue and will manufacture and distribute soaps, disinfectants and cleansing preparations, material for which there is a growing demand in this day of reform in sanitation.

A. Rutherford and J. H. Boenning, the men behind the concern, recently purchased the business of a similar company in another city, and they will remove their plant to Duluth. They have an established business that is growing rapidly and Dr. Rastall believes that the industry will show further growth in Duluth.

The industry is the fourth brought to Duluth by the industrial committee of the Commercial club. A cap factory, a glove factory and one section of the Mankato Woolen mills have been located here through the agency of the industrial bureau.

PLAN STEEL SETS IN ASHLAND MINE

Hayes Mining Company Is Making Costly Improvements in Property.

Ironwood, Mich., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Hayes Mining company has decided to repair No. 9 shaft of the Ashland mine with steel sets instead of wooden ones. Some of the steel for the work has already been received and the balance is promised soon and in such quantities as to permit of no delays in framing and setting up. The old timbers must be taken out of the shaft for a distance of 1,500 feet and steel sets put in their place. The draft of No. 9 shaft being downward, the work of replacement of necessity must be started on the fifth or sixth level. Ice and cold would interfere with the work nearer surface and this can be done when the weather is warmer.

This is a big undertaking and it will require several months' time to complete the work in the shaft. The fact that the large outlay of money has been decided upon by the Hayes Mining company is the best indication of the opinion held by Messrs. J. O. and E. A. Hayes as to the future of the Ashland mine.

Takes Mine Position.

George Rupp of Bessemer has taken a position on the engineering staff of the Newport Mining company's new efficiency and safety department. Mr. Rupp is a graduate of the Houghton College of Mines. Clarence Pittman, a graduate of the same school, who has been with the Castile Mining company at Ramsey for some time, has accepted a position in the mining engineering department at the Newport, succeeding Fred G. Richards, who has entered the operating department as assistant to Capt. Grigg. Capt. Bond has taken the position of captain at the Bonnie mine, which is owned and operated by the Newport Mining company.

WITHOUT HONOR IN ITS HOME TOWN

Cleveland Reform Society Fails to Get Police Approval.

Duluthians who are receiving solicitations through the mail from an alleged reform society located at Cleveland, Ohio, should not contribute, according to Courtenay Dinwiddie, secretary of the Duluth Associated Charities.

Mr. Dinwiddie says that he has been in communication with the chief of police of Cleveland and has learned through him that the society instead of having reform as its main object is apparently organized for the promotion of immorality.

Banquet Ironwood Band Men.

Ironwood, Mich., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—A banquet was given by the Norrie band in honor of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the membership of John Luxmore, Jr., and George Beauchamp, who are the real veterans. After the spread William H. O'Brien, Jr., made an address in behalf of the band, and after congratulating their honored guests for what they had done for the organization, presented each with a handsome leather pillow cover, suitably inscribed, as a memento of the occasion. A smoker followed at the Mercury club, which was thoroughly enjoyed.

Woman's Realm

Miss Mary McFadden, in this month's issue of the Courant, uses the following "Alphabet of a Suffragette," by Lillian Byrnes, secretary of the University of Minnesota Suffrage club:

A is for anti, who says, "I don't need,"
And others, I still am too selfish to heed.

B is for babies who need all the care
That mothers with ballots can get for them here.

C is for chivalry, highest type yet
Of the men who are true to the true suffragette.

D is for duty of wife, maid and man,
To vote for their country as soon as they can.

E is for Englishman, stolid and stole—
To rouse him, the ladies use methods heroic.

F is for factory, where workers must stay—
Let's lighten their toil and make shorter their day.

G is for governed, who consent to the same—
Is silence consent in the government game?

H is for homes we shall make more secure
By helping our men to a government pure.

I is for ignorant idlers who vote
While Mother and Auntie are still too remote.

J is for justice, the primary cause
For asking the women to help make the laws.

K is for Kinder and Kuche and Kirk
To care for them, woman, her vote must not shirk.

L is for liberty, laughter and love,
We want in all homes that our flag floats above.

M is for mother, so loyal and true,
She now wants the ballot for me and for you.

N is for notions antique and supernal
That antis absorb from the Ladies' Home Journal.

O is for obstacles we must o'ercome
Ere victory for suffrage is finally won.

P is for polls, sh! a naughty, bad place;
For women to enter them would be disgrace.

Q is for questions that suffragists ask;
To answer them, statesmen consider a task.

R is for Reason, who reigns o'er our cause,
Who is ours for success and for wise and just laws.

S is for suggragist, and suffragette,
We don't care what you call us, if suffrage we get.

T is for taxes: yes, ladies can pay 'em;
But why, and for what, is no part of their sayin'.

U's for usefulness, heritage old
We wish to preserve both in field and in fold.

V's for the valiant, that small early band
That opened the way for the victory at hand.

W's for women who toil hard and long
The ballot will help them to right what is wrong.

X is for Xantippe, anti-suffragists quote,
Who believed in the slipper instead of the vote.

Y is for you, all ye youths of the land
Who, for justices and progress, are taking a stand.

Z is for zeal in the cause of the weak,
That makes us to rise up in meeting to speak.

CLUB NOTES.

Plan Students' Frolic and Entertainment of St. Paul Artists.

Arrangements for the annual students' frolic for the student members of the Matinee Musicale were made this afternoon at a special meeting of the committee held at the close of the regular program. Mrs. Ernest Lachmund is chairman of the committee and a special program will be arranged for this affair to which the younger members of the club are pleasantly looking forward.

Plans for entertainment of the artists from the Schubert club at St. Paul, who will give a reciprocity program here at the next regular meeting, Feb. 10, were also discussed.

Anniversary Surprise.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Beatty were pleasantly surprised Saturday evening at their home by a number of friends in celebration of their thirteenth wedding anniversary. The evening was spent in dancing and cards, after which refreshments were served.

WOULD REVIVE THE SPELLING BEE

MRS. JOSEPHINE C. PRESTON.

The state of Washington has elected a woman superintendent of public schools. She is Josephine Curtis Preston. She believes among other things in reviving the old "spelling bee" as a means of amusement as well as instruction. Mrs. Preston is a Republican.

"NONSENSE CYCLE."

Composition by A. F. M. Custance at High School Concert.

One of the interesting numbers on the program of the High School Musical society's concert next Friday is a composition by A. F. M. Custance, entitled "Nonsense Cycle." The words were written and arranged some years ago by William M. Lawrence, a well known educator in Chicago, who sent them to Mr. Custance to be set to music.

The composition consists of four numbers, in which the humorous words are set to original music burlesquing the style of such works as the "Persian Garden," etc. The first number is a choral recitative for male voices, the second a soft chorus, the third a recitative and chorus, and the final "Nantucket," is based on the air of the "Old Oaken Bucket," introducing a monotone passage for sopranos and altos, and ending with a grand concerted finale. This will be its first public performance in Duluth.

TURRISH-HAZEN.

Quiet Wedding Takes Place at Bishop's Residence.

The wedding of Miss Marie Turrish, daughter of Henry Turrish, to Chauncey Edward Hazen took place this morning at 11 o'clock at the residence of Bishop McGolrick, Rev. Father Lydon officiating. There were only members of the two families present during the ceremony and there were no attendants. Mr. Turrish and Miss Nannie Turrish, a sister of the bride, were the official witnesses.

A wedding breakfast followed at the Turrish residence, 1421 East Superior street, after which Mr. and Mrs. Hazen left for their wedding trip.

LADIES' NIGHT.

AGED MAN INJURED.

Thrown From Sleigh Near Aitkin, Both Hands Being Frozen.

Aitkin, Minn., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—While driving home from Crosby Thursday afternoon, Stephen Stearns was thrown from his sleigh and rendered unconscious. About 5 o'clock in the afternoon a young woman at the Bierman farm saw a team going by without a driver, and securing the assistance of a neighbor, drove back on the road until they found Mr. Stearns lying unconscious in the road. A sleigh robe lay beside him and his mittens were not on his hands, both of which were frozen. He was taken at once to the Bierman home, where the frozen members were rubbed with snow until the frost had been withdrawn. Dr. Graves, who was summoned from Aitkin, made the old gentleman as comfortable as possible. Besides being frozen, Mr. Stearns sustained bruises and lacerations on his face, hands and shoulders. He was kept at the Bierman place over night, but Friday his son, S. B. Stearns, brought him home and he is being attended by a trained nurse. While his condition is serious for one 83 years of age, he is expected to recover.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Little Happiness in Union of May and December.

"Please give your opinions in regard to a girl of 25 marrying a man of 55," requests a reader of this column, who adds that my ideas will be of great assistance to her personally. I make reply that if a woman of 25 is quite convinced that love will pass her by or that she herself is incapable of loving in the big and only worth while way, she could do worse than marry a man thirty years her senior. Marrying a man of 70 would be worse from my viewpoint, though it is hardly worth mentioning.

But take my advice and satisfy yourself without a doubt that your 55-year-old suitor has all the money he claims to have and all that others claim for him—that he has it in abundance, enough and to spare, to buy a certain kind of happiness for a certain type of woman. If I was 25, with prospects of making a love match, however remote, not all the gold of Midas could tempt me to marry a man of 55. Fifty-five isn't old. Don't mistake me and think I look on a man of 55 as being so aged that marriage should be prohibitive. Marriage is all right at any age, provided the parties select mates of an age that corresponds with their own or in the near neighborhood.

But it isn't natural for a young woman to fall in love with a man of her father's age, though I would not say it could not be. Usually, however, it is not love. It may be respect, veneration, admiration, compatibility, but the love that should exist between two persons who marry has very little share in the unions showing such a discrepancy in ages.

Many young women have been and others will continue to be happier as old men's darlings than they could ever be as young men's slaves. They have been successes as wives of men twice their years and older. But why? Because ninety-nine out of every hundred of them have been ambitious for some one thing that money buys, if it only be their own comfort.

Others are seeking social distinction, power and all that money and position attained by someone else can dower them with. And undoubtedly many women are well content with just these things, and scarcely, if ever, realize that there is anything else in married life worth exchanging for a doting, middle-aged husband weighted down with money.

As to my correspondent's query, if there is love, why ask for an opinion? Doubt does not exist where there is love even with thirty years separating the ages of lovers.

If she contemplates such a marriage, I wish her well enough, but as I fathom it, there is neither joy nor happiness in it.

Corporation Has Already Spent or Contracted to Spend More Than $10,000,000.

Expectations of $10,000,000 Steel Plant in Duluth Already Realized.

Duluth and State of Minnesota Will Have Most Modern of Plants.

Pictures and Statistics That Tell What Has Been Already Done.

UP ON ST. LOUIS river the United States Steel corporation, through its subsidiary company, the Minnesota Steel company, has buried $2,000,000 beneath the ground.

It has scattered $2,500,000 more above the ground where it can be seen.

It spent $600,000 more to build a bridge across the St. Louis river, a double track and double-deck bridge.

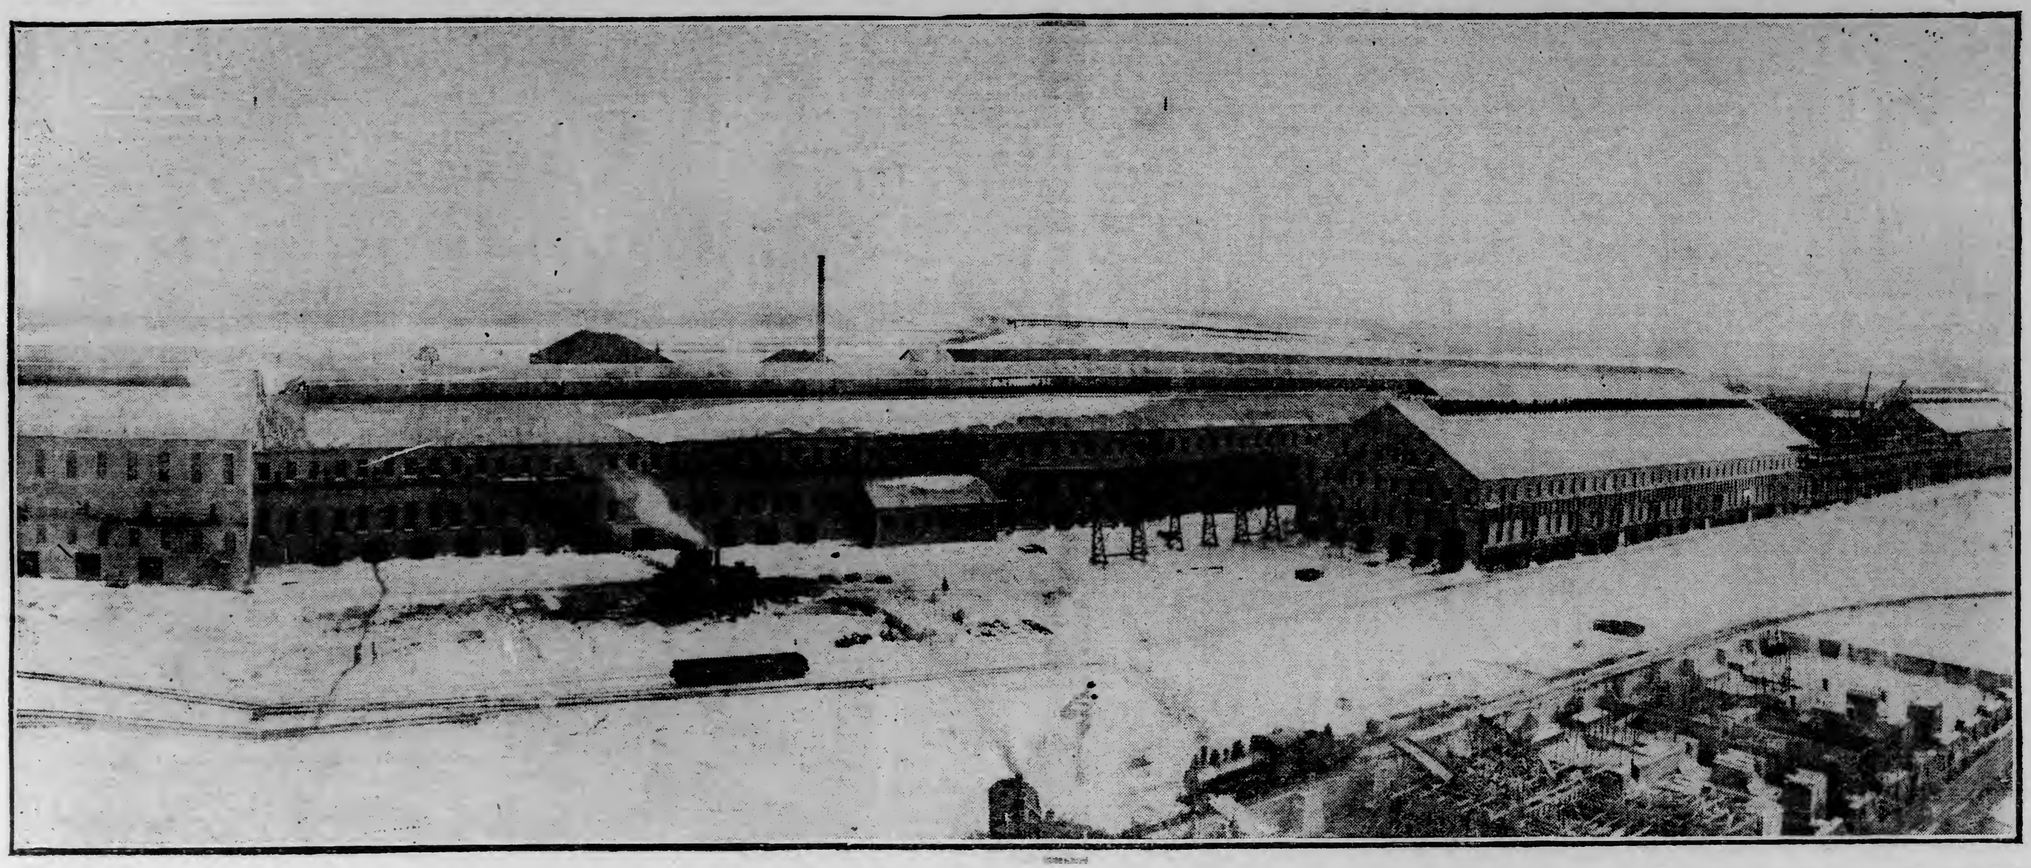

And it is now busily engaged in spending $4,500,000 more at the rate of about $400,000 a month on additional buildings and machinery.

All this took place after it spent more than $1,000,000 in buying the land itself.

That tells as briefly as possible what the new steel plant means to Duluth, to St. Louis county, and to the entire state of Minnesota.

Burying $2,000,000 beneath the ground would not be much of a trick if the gold or bills were buried, but when the gold is turned into concrete and steel and iron it is not a task that can be done in a day, or a month, or a year.

Scattering $2,500,000 in gold above the ground would not be a great task, but to turn the $2,500,000 into steel girders and concrete blocks and put these girders and blocks in place is a different task.

And building $600,000 bridges is not child's play.

The layman looking at the steel and concrete buildings that loom up against the skyline almost as soon as one leaves West Duluth, sees only the buildings. He sees but half of the work that has been accomplished. The steel plant builder sees the concrete foundations that have gone in beneath the ground, and he knows what they have cost in time and money.

Most Modern of Plants.

The people of Minnesota are awakening to the fact that the plant on St. Louis river will be surpassed by but few as to size and by none as to completeness and modern equipment. One example of the care and thought being given the new plant will be sufficient proof of this. Picture No. 10 shows a partial view of the machine shop. In this huge building which covers about half of a city block—and it is one of the smaller buildings at the plant—there is not a single piece of belting or a single foot of wiring exposed. People familiar with an ordinary machine shop can appreciate what a maze of belting a shop of this size would contain if it were built like the ordinary shop. But in this shop every piece of machinery will be motor driven, and the wires are all safely tucked away beneath the concrete floors where they could not be reached without a pickaxe or a piece of dynamite.

Largest Building in State.

One of the buildings—the merchant mill—will be the largest building in Minnesota. It is 1,040 feet long and 112 feet wide. The ordinary city block is 400 feet by 300 feet. This building, therefore, is nearly as long as three city blocks, and nearly half a block in width. It would stretch from Third avenue west to the middle of the block between Fifth and Sixth avenue west, and would reach back almost to the alley.

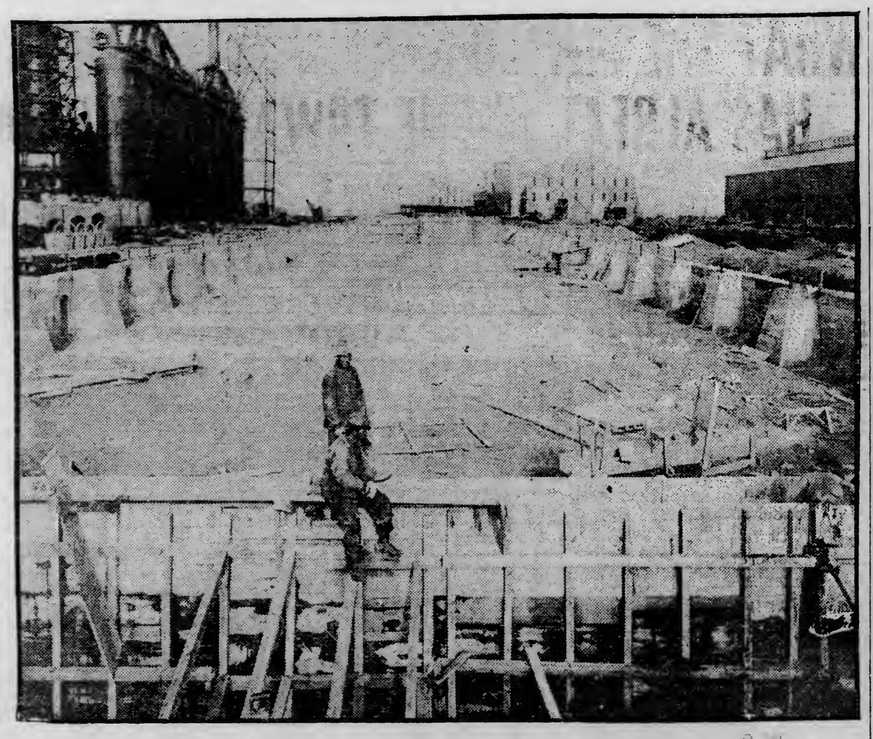

The state capitol would be dwarfed by comparison. The new capitol building is only 433 feet long over all, with an average width of 120 feet and an extreme width of 228 feet.

Five other buildings, the pit furnace, the blooming mill, the rail mill, the hot beds, and the bar and finishing buildings, form a continuous building 1,940 feet long. They are separate buildings, but are connected so that a person may walk that entire distance without being in the open air. Those buildings would reach almost from Lake avenue to Fifth avenue west. Then there are the shop buildings, including the machine shop, forge shop and plate and structural shop. There is the infirmary and the garage to give first aid to the injured. There are blast furnaces, and the small power house, and the concrete mixing plant, and a dozen smaller buildings. If Superior street were being built up solidly from Lake avenue to the Point of Rocks on both sides of the street, it would create a furore in Duluth, but the steel plant is a job equal to that, if not more.

The Hidden Work.

And the work is not all on the surface. Down beneath, in addition to the concrete foundations of the buildings themselves, is a sewer system that would more than equal the demands of Superior street if it were lined with tenement and apartment houses. There is a main outlet sewer of concrete, 80 inches in diameter and 700 feet long. The tallest man in Duluth could walk through it wearing a high hat and never dent it. He could stroll nearly two blocks in this subway. In addition to the main sewer, there are branch sewers 2,400 feet in length and 48 inches in diameter, and smaller ones 2,400 feet in length and 24 inches in diameter. The sewer system complete includes more than a mile of concrete mains.

The Pumping Plant.

And this city by the river has its own pumping plant. Four centrifugal pumps are being installed, each with a capacity of 10,000,000 gallons every twenty-four hours. The pumps could fill the city's reservoirs in six hours' time. The intake pipe is thirteen feet in diameter, and a farmer could drive a load of hay into it for 300 feet or more without disturbing the load.

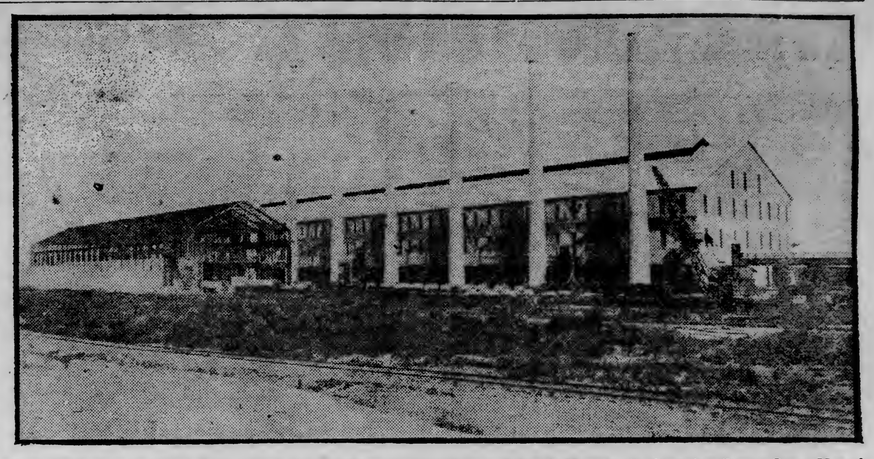

All this work has been completed already, or is now in process of completion. The construction work alone on the plant is worth more to the city than two or three large factories. The company is now paying out more than $400,000 a year for common labor alone. In addition to this are the men employed by the contractors, and these are paid nearly as much more. For construction purposes alone the company has a power house with a 500-kilowatt generator, an 800-horse power cross compound engine, a 1,000 cubic foot Nordberg air compressor and a pump with a capacity of 1,000,000 gallons every twenty-four hours.

Such is the plant that is being erected at Duluth. The pictures tell in a general way what has been done, but they give no hint of the amount of tedious labor involved in the construction of the immense concrete foundations for the furnaces and other buildings, or of the long and careful planning that was necessary before the actual construction work was even commenced. New inventions and new discoveries add to the complications. Often the plans have to be changed at short notice to keep the plant up to the high standard that has been set, but any one who visits the plant now can see how near completion it is, and can form a mental picture of what a hive of industry it will be when completed.

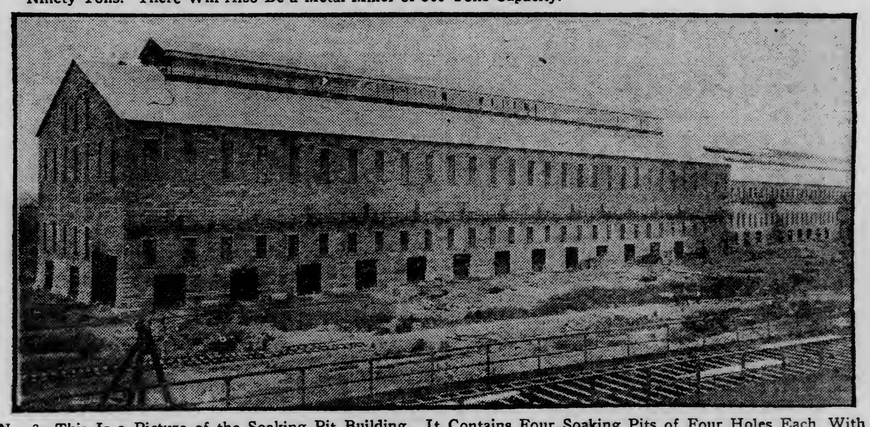

The Plant Is Here.

Duluth's steel plant is no longer in the future. It is here, and the expectations of Duluth that the company would give this city and the state of Minnesota a $10,000,000 plant have been more than realized. Already that sum has been spent or pledged, and the end is not yet.

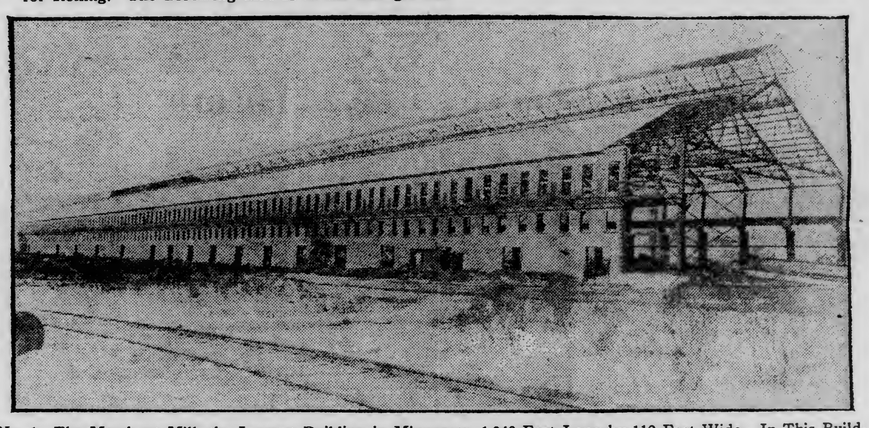

The benefits from such a plant cannot be estimated. Nobody questions what it will do for Duluth and the surrounding territory, but its influence will be felt in every corner of the state. It will make a great and growing market at the Head of the Lakes for every farmer in Minnesota; for every manufacturer, and for every jobber. The farmer down in Rock county will be benefited just a ssurely, although perhaps not as directly, as the owner of Duluth real estate; and the manufacturer in the Twin Cities will be benefited just as surely, although perhaps not as directly, as the little general storekeeper in the western suburbs of the city.

No. 2—This Is a Picture of the Open Hearth Furnace Building and Stock House. It Contains Seven Open Hearth Furnaces of Ninety Tons Capacity per "Heat." The Length of Time Required for a "Heat" Varies, but the Total Capacity of This Building Will Be About 1,000 Tons of Steel Ingots per Day. The Open Hearth Furnaces Take the Pig Iron Turned Out by the Blast Furnaces, and Reduce It to Steel Ingots. In This Building There Are Two Electrical Overhead Cranes of 150 Tons Capacity Each and Two of 100 Tons Each, and One of Ninety Tons. There Will Also Be a Metal Mixer of 600 Tons Capacity.

No. 3—This Is a Picture of the Soaking Pit Building. It Contains Four Soaking Pits of Four Holes Each, With a Total Capacity of Eighty 2½-Ton Ingots. These Pits Are Used to Heat the Huge Steel Ingots for Rolling. The Blooming Mill Is in the Background.

No. 1—The Merchant Mill, the Largest Building in Minnesota, 1,040 Feet Long by 112 Feet Wide. In This Building All Shapes and Sizes of Steel Bars Will Be Made. There Will Be One Mile of Protected Walk in This Building for the Use of Workingmen. Part of This Walk Will Be Outside of the Building and Part Inside, and It Is Designed to Enable the Men to Get From Any One Part of the Building to Any Other Part, Without Danger of Coming in Contact With the Machinery.

when the matter comes up for re-consideration, the women are hopeful both will be present and that at least one will vote for their side.

The Mayville normal school is asking for the smallest appropriation sought by any school in the state this year, Senator Elken's bill for that institution carrying only $15,000. The state school of forestry at Bottineau is the second in the point of low appropriations, asking only $16,600.

The Employment Bureau.

Senator Trageton has proposed a bill creating a free employment agency to be maintained four months each year by the state. This agency would be maintained during the late summer and fall months, and the author contends that would give assistance to the farmers seeking help during the harvest season.

Representative Thompson has introduced a bill making an appropriation for the expenses of two members of the commission proposed by the Tri-state Grain Growers' convention to study European farm credits.

Senator Talcott has introduced a bill which would relieve the superintendent of public instruction from duties as secretary of the board of control of normal schools.

Garrison, in McLean county, wants the proposed asylum for the insane. Representative Hoge introducing a bill for that city. All asylum bills have been placed in the hands of one committee.

Representative Anderson has introduced a bill proposing an annual appriation of $5,000 for the state library commission for the purchase of books for the circulating libraries.

Representative Curry would do away with the commissioners' districts, now maintained in counties, and would have the boards of commissioners elected at large.

Recall Bill Offered.

H. A. Bronson has introduced in the senate a bill providing for the recall of public officers, but exempting judicial officials from its operation.

The more important house bills that have been passed by that body include those permitting the summoning of jurors by registered mail; ratifying constitutional amendment for direct election of United States senators; granting Indians who have severed tribal ties the right to vote; abolishing publication of amendments to the Constitution in one newspaper in each county.

The bill for an increase from $10,000 to $25,000 in appropriations for the state fair has been reported back to the house with a majority in favor and a minority against adoption. It now is in the committee of the whole.

The bill to repeal the law providing for the registration of voters according to party preference was considered by the committee of the whole in the house Saturday, but no action was taken.

ELECTRO MEDICINE CURES WHERE OLD METHODS FAIL

The Electro Medical Doctors have established themselves in Duluth through their honest and thorough cures. Ever since they started their office at 26 West Superior street, they invited chronic sufferers of all types to consult them free of charge. Especially those who had tried everything else and had lost all hopes in doctors were invited. This resulted in the fact that over 60 per cent of the patients they treated during the last year were such that had exhausted every means possible to obtain a cure.

For that reason they have treated and cured some of the worst diseases possible to exist. Testimonials have appeared in the daily papers from time to time given by the grateful patients themselves, with their names and addresses signed. Any sufferer from stomach trouble and agonizing pains and vomiting after any attempt at eating should know what Mr. P. H. Hopkins of 127 East First street, suffered when he came to see the doctors. He was cured in a short time after he had been taking treatment for years. Rheumatism with all its harrassing pains was familiar to Mr. Chas. Fullwood of Deer River, Minn. He traveled all over the United States in search of help. He stopped at every spring and for three years he tried in vain and constantly kept getting worse. One treatment by the Electro Medical Doctors gave him the first painless night for sleep, and one month's time cured him. We can cure you. Costs you nothing to consult us.

HERO SPARED HUMILIATION OF ARREST

his appropriation to his own uses of $23,476 from the funds of the State Monuments commission of which he was chairman.

The warrant was in the hands of Sheriff Julius Harburger, a personal friend of the aged general, who expressed his chagrin that duty called upon him to act. "But he won't know that he is in jail," said the sheriff, "for I shall see that he has all the comforts of home."

In the meanwhile other friends of the general were heading a subscription list to meet his debt, or to provide the $20,000 bond which would save him from the humiliation of imprisonment.

At the age of 87 Gen. Sickles is a picturesque character and was especially so as seen by many passers-by sitting by the windows of his big brick house at the corner of Fifth avenue and Ninth street. The room was crowded with many relics of the Civil war. Against the general's chair there was leaning the crutch which he uses. He lost one leg at Gettysburg. On a little table near him was a large vase containing flowers.

would tax raw wool 20 per cent ad valorem, instead of the higher varying rates on three classifications in the present law.

It would put an ad valorem duty of 20 per cent also on wool wastes and rags, 25 per cent on combed wool or tops, 30 per cent on yarns as well as blankets and the cheaper flannels, for underwear, rates ranging from 35 to 50 per cent on cloths, ready made clothing, knit fabrics, flannels not for underwear, women's dress goods, webbings, gorings and articles not otherwise provided.

Duty on Raw Wool Shifted.

As compromised in conference between the two houses last August, the duty on raw wool was shifted from the proposed 20 per cent to 29 per cent ad valorem, which President Taft in his second veto declared was insufficient to meet the difference in the cost of production of the low priced wools here and abroad in the case of four-fifths of the total wool clip in this country. His contention was that the minimum ad valorem should be 35 per cent and that the proposed lower rates would throw thousands of workmen out of employment. The Democrats, still contending that the proposed rates approach the best revenue producing points and would encourage production and consumption, overrode the president's veto in the house but failed of the necessary two-thirds in the senate.

The witnesses today represented the national associations of wool manufacturers, growers, importers, clothiers and independent manufacturers.

Wants Wilson Law.

Frank P. Bennett of Boston, editor of the American Wool and Cotton Reporter, argued for the re-enactment of the Wilson law of 1894 at the outset of today's hearing. This was a plea for entire removal of duties upon wool and a reduction of the tariff upon woolen goods to 50 per cent. He said that would be in the interest of both the manufacturers and of the sheep husbandry in the United States and declared that the wool tariff distorted sheep husbandry by encouraging growers to keep unprofitable animals. The duty of 33 cents a pound, now assessed upon scoured wool, had imposed a tax of nearly $100,000,000 upon the American people, beside hampering manufacturers, the witness said.

Woolen Expert Testifies.

Joseph D. Holmes of New York, woolen expert, recommending ad valorem and specific duties on clothing, an ad valorem duty on wool, with an additional duty on clothing to compensate for labor and mill cost, contended that clothing would be not cheaper if the duty on cloth were removed. He said that a suit or overcoat containing $3 worth of cloth wholesaled at from $8 to $9 and retailed at from $12 to $18.

Eben S. Stephens of Worcester, Mass., a wool manufacturer, advocated putting wool wastes on the free list.

John L. Wood of Philadelphia, president of the National Association of Wool Manufacturers, told the committee he had accepted in good faith the assurance the contemplated tariff revision would injure no legitimate business. He said while rates on some articles exceed protection requirements, the tariff board had showed the manufacturers realized no advantage of it, as domestic competition regulated prices within narrow limits of profit. The association stood generally for the present tariff.

Mr. Wood criticized the Democratic and compromise bills of the previous sessions of this congress as destructive.

To Encourage Immigration.

Williston, N. D., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—To conduct a campaign to bring new settlers to the two counties, business men of Williams and McKenzie county have organized the Williams and McKenzie County Immigration league. Features of Neal Institute Which Appeal to Busy Men

If desired, a man may go to the Neal Institute, stay three days, during which time he may conquer the drink habit completely and perfectly and return to his business or home and no one except the physician in charge will know that he was there.

During his stay all his meals will be served in his room and he need not venture outside of it unless he so desires. He may come by night and go by night, in fact every possible effort has and will be made to protect patients from publicity.

Busy, prominent men in the public eye, who find that drinking interferes or is likely to interfere with their business or social connections, should take advantage of the Neal Treatment. It takes such a short time—just 72 hours—that your absence will not be noted.

Write for free booklet giving full information and it will be mailed to you under a plain sealed envelope and everything will be strictly confidential. Both 'phones. GIVEN CHANCE TO MAKE GOOD

Richard O'Donnell Goes to Lumber Camp Instead of State Prison.

County Attorney Gets Him a Job and Court Advances Fare.

A penitentiary sentence, which is now hanging over the head of Richard G. O'Donnell, will not be enforced if O'Donnell keeps the promise made to Judge Ensign in district court this morning that he would never touch another drop of liquor, shun bad associates and stick to the straight and narrow path.

O'Donnell, aged 52, on Jan. 14 before Judge Ensign pleaded guilty to his first offense—that of attempted forgery. The prisoner's story was that the crime was committed while he was drunk and that it followed the first drink he had taken in fifteen years. At that time the court sentenced him to Stillwater.

Out in Oregon, O'Donnell has a wife and three children, whom he says have not learned of his trouble. He told the court when up before for sentence that he would rather die than have his family know him as a convict. The court was very much interested in his story and this morning on O'Donnell's promise to live right and do right, ordered the execution of sentence stayed until July 1.

Tomorrow morning, O'Donnell will leave for a camp on the Gooseberry river, where County Attorney Warren E. Greene has found work for him in the woods. His employer, it is understood, has consented to act as a parole officer and to report any infractions, if any should occur, to the authorities. On July 1, O'Donnell will again report to the court.

"The court is willing and the county attorney is willing that you should be given another chance," Judge Ensign told O'Donnell this morning. "If you are not a law abiding citizen while on parole, it will be a reproach both on the county attorney and upon the court.

"I will be very glad if you can save yourself. You have promised me never to touch liquor again. See to it that you do not. Tomorrow morning, you will go to the camps. There I want you to work for yourself, work for your wife and work for your three daughters."

O'Donnell said he was grateful for the opportunity and assured the court that the trust reposed in him would not be abused.

O'Donnell has been a man of the woods for several years. In his earlier days he lived in the Pennsylvania oil districts. Later he moved with his family to Chicago and then to British Columbia. This winter, O'Donnell left his family to work in the Minnesota woods. His wife and children are spending the winter visiting relatives in Oregon. He has been married for twenty-three years.

Early in December, O'Donnell drifted into Duluth. He got drunk one night and while under the influence of the liquor attempted to pass a forged check for $28 on Arthur La Vant, a clerk at 501 West Michigan street. The attempt was a crude one and led to his immediate arrest.

Judge Ensign asked O'Donnell if he had any money with which to pay his railroad fare to the lumber camps tomorrow. O'Donnell said that he had not.

"The court will see that your fare is paid," was the court's last words to O'Donnell.

BALKAN ALLIES DRAFT NOTE TO TURKS

as honorary president of the peace conference, before Wednesday.

It is understood the note will give the Turkish delegation three days in which to answer.

Would Notify Governments.

Then the allied delegations will have to notify their respective governments and ask Sir Edward Grey to convoke a final sitting of the conference for the official rupture of the negotiations.

This will take at least three days, making it Feb. 6. Then the governments at Sofia, Belgrade and Cettinje must denounce the armistice. Working with exceptional celerity, this could be done the next day and hostilities could then be resumed on Feb. 11, following the expiration of the four days' notice required.

In the meantime the fortress of Adrianople may fall and this is expected to become the automatic solution of the problem.

Turkish delegates remarked this morning the Balkan allies had greatly tempered their original ardor. They now seem, according to the Turks, to trust to the outbreak of a counter-revolution in Constantinople, forgetting that even should it occur, it will be a movement led by the military element and therefore strongly against the cession of Adrianople.

Osman Nizami Pasha, the leader of the Turkish delegation, remarked today with a peculiar smile "he laughs best who laughs last."

nor issued his appointment order to Mr. Anderson.

Outlines Arguments.

At this point Oldbrich outlined the four branches upon which he said he was making his legal arguments.

1—The order of removal is void on its face, because it does not comply with the prerequisite of law.

2—Legislature was in session and the power to remove by the governor had expired.

3—By applying the rules of law as laid down in the case of the state ex rel. Wegner, vs. Dahl and in the Starkweather case of Superior, the entire proceedings and hearings before the governor were arbitrarily and utterly without good faith.

4—The complaint alleges no violations for official misconduct necessary to effect his removal under the statute creating the office of insurance commissioner.

Strange Mixture.

In a dramatic manner, Olbrich then described the "riot to break down the door of the office of the commissioner of insurance." "There was no occasion to use this strange mixture of Oyster Bay and Cameron Dam," he emphatically declared, "when the state has enacted statutes by which the title to this office can be determined."

Beginning his argument, John A. Aylward, following Olbrich, referred to the attack on Ekern's office by declaring that the Jimmy was a tool of the burglar, and had no right in the hands of a governor.

Referring to the charge that Ekern was interested in politics, Aylward declared that every citizen of any account also was. He said he had more respect for the drunken man in the street than the citizen who had not enough interest in his government to go out and vote. Aylward then took up the governor's plea that the removal of Ekern was because of wilful misconduct. He read from the evidence taken from the hearing before the governor and comparing it with the wording of the statute, concluded that no misconduct had been committed by Ekern. He maintained that there is a line of cases to the effect that where the senate confirms an appointment removal was not to be made at the pleasure of the governor.

SPEAKERS AVAILABLE

Committee Has Men Ready to Explain the Preferential Ballot.

Active Campaign of Education Planned for Month of February.

The committee in charge of the campaign of education on the preferential ballot is ready to furnish speakers for any gathering at which an explanation of the preferential system of voting is desired.

The campaign will be conducted during February. In March it is expected the candidates' campaign will occupy the center of the stage and the committee does not want to confuse matters. The officers of all civic organizations, improvement clubs and fraternal organizations will be urged to have the preferential ballot explained during the month of February.

At a meeting of the executive committee Saturday evening, T. T. Hudson, the chairman, was empowered to appoint a committee to obtain a list of speakers to be furnished on request. Secretary Walter F. Dacey was notified to communicate with all organizations in the city to notify them of the readiness of the committee to furnish speakers.

No man who is a candadete for office at the coming election will be sent out to speak on the preferential ballot, as the committee is anxious to keep clear of the campaign proper. All speakers will be men who are interested only in the voters making the best possible use of the new system of voting.

The executive committee consists of one member from each ward. Each ward member is authorized to appoint a sub-committee to have charge of publicity of the meetings in each ward. C. J. Hector has been appointed the representative of the Third ward on the committee.

Senator Nelson this morning introduced in the senate a bill amending the Alderman law of four years ago, which purported to limit the number of saloons in a community to one for each 500 people. It would cut about twenty out of the Duluth number. That law, however, did not affect the number of saloons already existing in any community, but the Nelson amendment would have the effect of restricting the number of saloons everywhere to one for each 500 people.

To Amend Elwell Law.

Senator Elwell introduced a bill amending the Elwell road law so as to let villages under it, and so as to let counties issue certificates of indebtedness to take up the one-fourth expense chargeable to benefited property if they so desire.

Senator Denegre offered a bill amending the police pension law so as to allow cities to levy a tax of one-tenth of a mill, and also so as to admit policemen to the pension list when incapacitated after twenty years' service, regardless of age.

Senator V. L. Johnson at the request of the county auditors introduced a bill which has been approved by the tax commission, providing that one-sixth of the receipts from the mortgage registry tax shall go to the state, one-sixth to the county, one-third to the school district and one-third to the municipality. At present this tax is apportioned as other taxes which makes a complicated calculation which this bill simplifies.

Non-Partisan Court Offices.

The senate in committee of the whole considered the Haycraft bill making all county offices non-partisan, and though the discussion was highly favorable, no action was taken. The bill also provides that where there are but two candidates for a non-partisan office, they shall not have to compete at the primary.

The discussion principally related to whether or not candidates shall be allowed to go by petition on the general election ballot, as the case is at present, and a test vote on Senator Coller's motion not to allow that showed thirty against candidates by petition and sixteen for.

Those who favored putting candidates on by petition said the people's right to offer candidates this way should not be abridged. Those who opposed it said that it was wrong to let candidates in this way, with practically equal standing, when the other candidates had to go through a primary fight. The case of Minneapolis, where a Socialist ran by petition after two candidates had been nominated under the non-partisan primary, was offered to prove that this shows a way whereby parties can evade the non-partisan principle of the law.

The house meets this afternoon.

Tomorrow woman suffrage will be voted on in the senate. The issue is very close, with both sides claiming it.

sumes no new function; it simply applies the principle of long standing of regulating peddlers, and of guarding against fraud by labeling the goods sold. All other proposed 'blue sky' laws act upon the corporations by taking them into a state bureau.

"The title of the act shows its object, to-wit: 'For the protection of subscribers for, and purchasers of, corporate stock, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof.'

"Sections 1, 2 and 3 provide that the stock solicitor must procure a license from the bank examiner and give a $1,000 bond for the benefit of any person defrauded.

"Section 4 says the solicitor must deliver to the person solicited, a printed statement giving full information about the corporation whose stock is being offered, including a detailed statement of its assets and liabilities, and such other information as the purchaser of stock would need to know in order to judge of its value.

"Section 5 provides that any one who advertises stock must furnish in the advertisement the same information as the personal solicitor must give when soliciting, and section 6 says a copy of the contract of subscription must be furnished the subscriber in addition to the printed information.

"Section 7 states that the law, except as to section 5, does not apply to a broker having 'an established office or place of business while engaged in the prosecution of his business as such therein,' or to any person while selling his own stock if he is not engaged in the business of selling stock, or to stock in local co-operative corporations, or to the stock in banks or other corporations as are subject to the visitation and supervision of the public examiner.

GRIPS OF CLERKS BEAT LABORERS'

Washington, Jan. 27.—Government clerks whose physical exercise consist mainly in driving a pen or pounding a typewriter have more powerful grips than brawny workers in stone quarries, according to a series of tests made by Gordon Law, physical director of the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Law found that the average laboring man's grip was 99.9 pounds, while the average clerk's white and well kept hand gripped 111.3 pounds. "Maybe I can explain it," said one of the clerks. "Most of us have been hanging tight to our jobs since last November."

Larimore, N. D., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Claiming she had beaten her way on railroads over the Southern states, and that she expected to cover the Northern states and the Pacific coast, Jessie Davis, was arrested here while endeavoring to make her way out of the city on the blind baggage of a Great Northern train. A ticket was provided her by the authorities and she rode a coach to Devils Lake, declaring she would steal her way from there to the coast.

Miss Davis, the first specimen of the female tramp ever arrested in this section, says her home is about forty-five miles from Louisville. She admits having been arrested many times, and prides herself on her ability to steal free transportation.

Most Nutritious Food Sold in Duluth.

To some Duluth women it will be news that "Minnesota" Macaroni, besides being so delicious, is also four times as nutritious as beefsteak and six times as nutritious as potatoes.

"Minnesota" Macaroni contains more proteids than most foods and is therefore more strength giving, and it gives the body great power of endurance without overloading the stomach.

If it is served often in place of meat the whole family will be much healthier. And, besides, it will reduce the cost of living, as "Minnesota" Macaroni costs only about one cent a dish.

Try the handy "Minnesota" Cut Macaroni, which is cut into uniform pieces—it cooks more evenly and is quicker to prepare. Adv.

"You Are Looking Older Than When I Saw You Last"

Have You Ever Had THIS Said of You Because of Gray Hairs?

It is most embarrassing to have a friend remark that you are "Looking Older."

Grey hairs are NOT becoming, people may tell you so, but they are saying to themselves:—"What a pity. She is not old. And she used to have such BEAUTIFUL hair."

There is one quick, absolutely sure, easy way of getting rid of gray or faded hair—simply use HAY'S HAIR HEALTH.

Benefit by the experience of thousands of others, who are using HAY'S HAIR HEALTH. It brings back the fine, glossy, brilliant color of your hair—restores the gray hairs to their natural color immediately, and keeps the scalp free from dandruff.

Druggists the world over have been interested in the number of women who voluntarily recommend HAY'S HAIR HEALTH. It is not unusual for them to say:—"I want to tell others about it. It's perfectly splendid." Try it yourself, today. You'll be surprised how quickly the gray hairs disappear.

Free: Sign this adv. and take it to any of the following druggists, and get a 50c size bottle of HAY'S HAIR HEALTH and 1 cake of HARFINA SOAP FREE, for 50c; or a $1.00 size bottle of HAY'S HAIR HEALTH and 2 cakes of HARFINA SOAP FREE, for $1.00.

THE SUFFRAGE ISSUE.

On Tuesday the state senate will vote whether to let the men of the state express themselves for or against woman suffrage. That is all there is to the question now up at St. Paul, and that is all that can be made of it. The right or wrong, merits or demerits of woman suffrage have nothing to do with the case. That is for the voters of the state to decide, and the only thing before the legislature is whether the voters are to have the opportunity to express that decision, whichever way it may fall.

Opposition to the proposed action simmers down to a rather peculiar position, for it is not opposition to woman suffrage, but opposition to letting the men decide whether suffrage shall be extended to women in Minnesota. The only sound basis for opposition to this on the part of opponents of woman suffrage, is that they believe the men of the state would vote in favor of that extension. But if the men feel that way about it, then the voters themselves are the ones being opposed, not the suffrage advocates. And if the men of the state are opposed to woman suffrage, then the best thing its opponents before the legislature could do would be to have the question submitted to the people and beaten.

The legislature has nothing to do with the merits of the suffrage question. That will be up to the voters. All the legislature can do is to give the voters a chance to express their will. This is mighty little, and the only fair thing to the voters is to give them that chance.

The New York waiters have been getting a new kind of tip—to keep the peace.

CANADA'S MISTAKE.

According to a writer in the British Fortnightly Review several great tracts of land in the Canadian Northwest have been bought by British peers, with a view to the establishment of personal estates, the work on which is to be done by tenants who shall be responsible to the holder of the land just as tenants on English estates are responsible. Basing his prediction on this premise, this writer forecasts a sudden and complete collapse of the boom which Western Canada is enjoying, with consequent panic and personal suffering.

If it is true that this kind of purchasing of Canadian land has been practiced to any great extent, the writer's pessimism seems justified. One thing that will operate strongly against the success of any such project is the difference in the class of tenantry available in the new world and the old. Those who come across the Atlantic to work the soil do so with the idea of having farms of their own, not of working the land for somebody else, as they might have done at home. And those who are native-born or who may emigrate from this country to Canada have the same notion as to what they want. So these "estates" will be sure to suffer in the beginning from lack of tenants, and ultimately the whole country will suffer because of the failure of great areas, between homesteaded portions, that will be left unimproved, both as to land development and as to means of transportation.

It has been the experience of the United States that men who own their own homes, whether those homes are in the city or in the country, are the ones to be depended on to give the nation substantial prosperity. It is for that reason that Minnesota, in common with other states, is seeking to attract the settler, the home builder. If Canada is leaving the way open to any other form of settlement she is making a great mistake, one that will cost her dearly in later years.

But you know you can pull for Duluth, even if you aren't a formally organized club or society.

GET TOGETHER.

If there has been any tendency to hold back, to work at cross purposes and to lose energy in the general work for the good of the city, it ought to have vanished in the fellowship meeting held Friday night when the members of ten organizations, each of which was formed for the advancement of Duluth, met in a fellowship gathering.

Every organization represented at that meeting has its peculiar purpose. It is in the single interest of helping Duluth that their purposes unite, and accomplishment of this end should be the desire of each of them.

In the "get together" spirit shown at that meeting there is basis for the highest hope and confidence for the future of our city. Those present realized that fact and did wisely in making plans for other gatherings of similar character. The "get together" spirit is imperative for city work. It is the only way in which the greatest good can be accomplished, and it will prove to be the means of making each organization appreciate the rest. It will make co-operation possible, and in co-operation lies the assurance of good things to come.

This movement on the part of organizations for civic betterment and advancement is all to the good. It must be kept alive, and the character of the men back of it assures that it will be kept alive. It means the kind of work that counts. It means that Duluth is going to grow to the full measure of her possibilities.

Assemblyman Carl Hansen wants Wisconsin to make it legal for a wife to testify against her husband. Is Carl perfectly conscience free? Or is he a bachelor?

HELPING THE ENEMY.

If the opponents of tariff revision want to make a big stroke in favor of their side of the question, they might call off the defenders of Schedule K—the wool schedule—in the present law. Nothing is so calculated to add to existing prejudice in favor of revision, nothing is so certain to crystallize popular demand for lower tariffs, as the defense of that schedule and the demand that it be left unchanged.

It is not alone that the tarriff on wool strikes directly at the comfort and health of the humblest and poorest as well as the most influential and richest citizen. It is not alone that this particular schedule has drawn more attention than any other. It is not that the people or their representatives in congress are more hostile to the wool interests than to other minions of the tariff system and the Republican party, for they are not.

The thing that has centralized attention on the wool schedule, the thing that has made Schedule K typical in the public mind of all the evils of the high tariff system, is the fact that although the whole bill had received his warm praise in his Winona speech, even President Taft admitted that whatever might be said of the rest of the Payne law, the wool schedule was so outrageous as to be indefensible.

Yet here are representatives of the interests protected and nurtured by that schedule, appearing at the national capital and crying out in its defense; urging that it be left untouched in the general scheme of revision, and putting forth the same kind of pleas that have been advanced for the other schedules.

What are the people to think? Is all the talk in favor of the high tariff system pure "bunk?" If not, why this frenzied rush to perpetuate a wrong that has been officially branded as indefensible? If the same arguments apply to this that apply to other schedules, it is only natural to suppose that the same conditions apply to all. Then, since Schedule K is indefensible, what about the rest of the tariff alphabet?

It is not at all likely that the wool men's protests will bear much weight in the coming revision. More than this, it is almost certain that the entry into the discussions at Washington of this kind of defense of the indefensible is going to exercise a marked influence on the minds of the people and of the congressmen. And it will not be an influence in favor of high tariff.

Maybe the wool men mean well, but they are "helping the enemy" in most magnanimous fashion.

The way some folks would have Uncle Sam change his mind about that canal treaty indicates that they think he's a regular Young Turk.

AN OLD DREAM REALIZED.

Duluth is so accustomed to "The Biggest" things that it receives them phlegmatically.

We have grown accustomed to gazing at a tangle of steel trestlework and hearing it is "the biggest ore dock in the world."

We look at a huge pile of masonry and hear without a thrill that it is "the biggest elevator" or "the second biggest elevator."

"The biggest coal dock in the world" no longer moves us.

We can even survey from the hilltop "the greatest inland port of the globe" with all its commerce, and it does not stir the imagination. That is the penalty of living in "the biggest little city in the world."

That is also why we phlegmatically hear of "the biggest single enterprise in the state of Minnesota," and nine out of every ten of us have not even had the curiosity to take a trip up St. Louis river to see it in its nearly completed state. In another part of The Herald tonight is a review of the work done to date on the plant of the Minnesota Steel company, a subsidiary of the United States Steel corporation. It tells without exaggeration or unnecessary verbiage what the corporation has done to date. The camera does not lie, and the pictures accompanying the article tell better than figures do what has been accomplished toward manufacturing Minnesota's raw wealth within the state.

In a nutshell, the corporation has already expended or contracted to spend approximately $10,500,000. How much more will be needed is not known at this time, but that amount of money has been either actually paid out, or is pledged to contractors for work now in progress. That is $500,000 more than Duluthians hoped for when the plans for the plant were first announced.

As far as Duluth and the entire state are concerned, they are "on velvet." Whatever is spent from now on, is so much additional above our expectations, and it will be a generous sum, running probably into the millions.

Duluth will not have a monopoly on the benefits accruing from the construction of such a plant in the state, and does not want any such monopoly. The presence and operation of this plant should be a tonic to the business blood of the entire state, quickening the pulse not only of the growing towns and villages in Northern Minnesota, but that of the rich farming communities in the extreme southern part of the state. It means a great and growing market at the Head of the Lakes for everything that is grown or made. Steel plants need workmen, thousands of them. Workmen and their families need food and clothing, and if the farms of the southern part of the state and the factories of the Twin Cities can supply the food and the clothing, the steel plant will benefit them just to that extent.

So an old dream of Duluth is coming true. The steel plant is no longer "coming." It is here. All the preliminary work and planning have been done. The heaviest part of the construction work is completed. The finishing touches alone are needed before Duluth achieves its long cherished ambition of becoming a steel manufacturing center.

Doctors and Lawyers.

G. M. Stratton, in the Atlantic Monthly: Every lawyer when young should be apprenticed to some good physician, and should return to him regularly through life. Then we might hope that from the neighboring profession of healing there might enter into him a spirit never to be wholly quenched by all the deadening influences of his work.

No fact could well be more surprising or offer a more delicate psychological problem than this, that, within two professions touching life upon matters of equal importance, professions of ancient dignity and learning, and inviting to their service men of equal and rare ability, there should in the same community be so different a spirit.

Medicine stands in this strange contrast to law, that while the public is clamoring for the lawyers to advance, the lawyers themselves as a class offer the chief resistance; the medical profession constantly outstrips and leads the public imagination in devices to check disease. Although much at the start was due to laymen, the campaign against tuberculosis, against infant mortality, against malarial and typhoid fevers, is largely captained and manned by doctors, who have the hearty support of the profession as a whole.

Of two Rip Van Winkles awakening today, the physician would find his old methods as rust eaten and useless as his instruments; the lawyer, after a few hours with new statutes, would feel at home in any of our courts.

The Saving Sense of Humor.

Popular Magazine: When the rehearsals for "As a Man Thinks" were in progress, Jake Shubert, who was laboring with the author, Augustus Thomas, in whipping the play into shape, was rather free with his suggestions about changes in the lines and scenes. At last, during a dramatic and very serious situation, Shubert said:

"Right here, now, I think we ought to have a little humor to lighten up the general effect."

"Very well," replied Thomas, after a long and heavy pause. "For instance?"

Then the play proceeded as the author had written it.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussion of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

MEERSCHAUM.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Will you please tell me what meerschaum is and where it is found or made? A READER.

Duluth, Jan. 26.

Meerschaum is a name given to one of the silicates of magnesium. It is a mineral of a whitish or creamy color, and received its name from its appearance and the position in which it is sometimes found, suggesting that it was petrified foam of the sea. It is obtained from various places, but the best quality comes from Asia Minor, rich deposits of it existing about twenty miles southeast of Eskichehir, at a place called Sepetdje. It is soft when dug, but becomes hard when dry. Most of it is sent to Vienna, where it is chiefly made into tobacco pipes, many of them highly artistic. Similar pipes are also made in Paris, London and elsewhere. In coloring a meerschaum pipe, wrap the bowl of the pipe with a buckskin cover and do not smoke it too fast. It will then color evenly. Care should be exercised to prevent its getting too hot.—The Editor.

UNSIGHTLY SIGNS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Not long ago a cry went up that the city was being imposed upon by advertisers using the rocks for signs and the posting of bills.

The cry came from women's clubs of the city. Now, do they need a hunch, or have they given up in despair as to having a city beautiful? If they haven't we would call their attention to Superior street, from Second avenue east to Eighth avenue west. See the way our main business street is being decorated with red streaming banners, such as "Going out of business," "Forced to sell," "Removal sale" and many others. Shame! It would make old Superior blush. In one of our range towns such signs came down between suns, and while we do not believe in that way of doing things, there must be enough public sentiment to bring something to bear to hasten their removal.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor,
DANIEL GREYSOLON DULUTH, JR.
Duluth, Jan. 27.

Why Milk Is Impure

The fundamental reason that impure milk is sold in American cities is an economic reason and not a sanitary reason. Under the present conditions of production and marketing, most dairy farmers and milk dealers simply cannot afford to make and sell milk that is safe to drink.

"I make these statements upon the authority of a searching investigation of the milk industry in and about the typical American city of Rochester, N. Y.," says Dr. John R. Williams in the World's Work for February.

"The information that was gathered in my investigations was tabulated and was interpreted in the light of personal observations. Two inevitable conclusions arose clearly from the mass of detail:

"1. That the fundamental cause of impure milk on the farms is the uneconomic method of production.

"This cause is apparent typically in two classes of producers:

"(a) Those who conduct a dairy farm on suburban lands which are held on speculation for the rise in price that will come from the certain growth of the city toward them, and which are already so valuable that the dairymen cannot earn interest on their value by legitimate methods of producing milk; and

"(b) Those who through ignorance do not manage their farms skilfully enough in the feeding and care of their cows to make the business profitable enough to be able to afford the proper care in the handling of the milk.

"2. That the fundamental cause of impure milk in the city is the uneconomic method of distribution.

"The most striking evidence of this cause is that altogether too many dealers are engaged in distributing milk, with the results that twice as much money and twice as many men and horses and wagons as are necessary are employed to perform this service. Of course, these facts mean that the dealers get less than a fair profit and cannot, therefore, be overly nice in the care of the quality of their product. And they mean, too, that the customers pay more than a fair price for milk—of an inferior grade."

A Business "Survey."

World's Work: Delavan, Wis., was a "dead" town. A visiting minister suggested a community "survey," so a map was prepared that showed every farm house within five miles of Delavan. Every house was then checked off on the map in accordance with its relations to Delavan in one or another of these eight connections. A line drawn on the map so as to enclose the most distant farms having a particular community interest with the village thus disclosed not only the extent of that interest's influence, but the gaps and weak spots in it.

The grocery and dry-goods store influences were found to extend the farthest in every direction, and to be nearly co-extensive. Just inside these lines came that of the bank, with the milk factory line following it closely, except for occasional breaks. The line of influence of the Delavan churches was broken, as was expected, by the presence of several churches in smaller villages within the general sphere of influence. A striking diagram was formed by the line marking the boundaries of the public library's activity. It radiated in long starpoints with wide blank spaces between them. Investigation disclosed whole communities of Norwegians and other non-English-speaking people in the blank spaces, and steps were immediately taken to provide books in their mother tongues for these families and to establish branch library centers in other "weak spots."

The Deadly Weapon.

Popular Magazine: Dr. Eliot, formerly president of Harvard university, tells the story of a duel between an author and a publisher. The publisher, in declining to print the writer's book, criticized it in language so harsh that the proud author became greatly incensed and challenged the printer to a duel.

To this the publisher replied:

"Your challenge is as badly written as your book. As you have called me out, I name the weapons. They shall be grammars. You are a dead man!"

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Congressional life is going to be much more pleasant after the arrival of Congressman-elect James Willard Ragsdale of Florence, S. C. Mr. Ragsdale is a young man who has made "right smart of money" as a lawyer and banker and is going through life actuated by a noble impulse to try to make things brighter and gayer for those with whom he is thrown. Having amassed a reasonable amount of stocks, bonds, chattels, and negotiable securities, he now desires to put part of it in circulation, and what could be more fair than that?

Ragsdale is likely to forge to the front right from the start as the champion entertainer of the next congress, taking the place so long held by Representative McKinley of Illinois.

In view of that approaching special session of the new congress, Ragsdale came to Washington a week or so ago to sort of look things over and find what the duties of a congressman are. While standing in the hotel lobby the day after his arrival, he was introduced to several agreeable strangers. As soon as the introductions were made, Ragsdale leaned over to the one nearest him and said, casually:

"Mr.—er, I didn't just catch your name, but the fact is I am giving a little theater party this evening, and I am wondering if you wouldn't care to join us."

The other man said that he would be delighted, and where should he meet his host?

"Oh, why not come here and have dinner with me?" suggested Ragsdale. "Bring your wife, of course."

Then he turned to another pleasant looking new acquaintance. This one couldn't come, he said, because he had some guests to look after.

"But why not bring them along?" promptly suggested Ragsdale. "We'll all have dinner here together, and it will be much more jolly."

So it was all arranged.

• • •

The dinner and theater and nice little supper afterward all fitted right in with Cousin Ragsdale's scheme of increasing the circulation of our national currency, and he was entirely free from gloom. In fact, he wasn't more than through his breakfast next morning till he was busy trying to bring a little sunshine into the lives of another squad of new friends. He was here a little over a week, and it is said that he dispensed more good cheer in that time than anybody who has struck town in a long while, with the possible exception of Santa Claus. It cost him mebby several hundred dollars, but why should a man fret about "getting shet" of a few sordid dollars when that is the very thing he has started out to accomplish. As a banker he has found that the flow of our currency is altogether too sluggish, and he pants to remedy the difficulty. His theory is that if the stuff can just be spent rapidly enough, everything will be all right.

We have looked into the proposition from every angle ourself, and have about determined that Ragsdale has hit the nail on the head.

Ragsdale has his clothes made without padlocks on the pockets and is said to work his fountain pens and checkbooks in eight-hour shifts.

He bids fair to be the least of a tightwad in the whole Sixty-third congress.

Considering still further the subject of superlatives, Jefferson M. Levy of New York, owner of Monticello, is the most easily kidded member of congress.

Levy is the owner of a lovely fur overcoat, said to have cost $30,000, and he is as vain about the garment as a bride is about the fluffy lace things in her trousseau. During the discussion of the measure relating to the taking over of Monticello by the government, on account of it being Thomas Jefferson's old home, a number of congressmen gave Levy a funny reason for lining up in behalf of Mrs. Littleton and voting against him. They told him that if they voted with a man who owned a $30,000 overcoat, they wouldn't dare return to their districts for fear of being mobbed.

Last year Levy said at a dinner one night that he was going to take a number of congressmen and newspapermen down to Monticello to show them how nicely he was keeping up the old place, and how much money he had spent on it from patriotic impulse. It was noted that Levy didn't specify any particular date for the trip—he simply made it one of those "some time" invitations.

For nearly a month after that one or more persons went to him each day and asked seriously when the trip was going to be. As the proposed jaunt would have involved considerable expense, close observers imagined that Levy actually lost weight during the time the talk of the thing was kept up.

• • •

Senator Watson of West Virginia will not be a senator after March 4 on account of the legislature in his state falling into the hands of the wicked Republicans last November. As Watson walked into the senate chamber the other day, a visitor in the gallery remarked:

"Well, how gloomy that Mr. Watson looks since his defeat."

Which was an unconscious joke, for Watson always wears the same Gloomy Gus expression, though as a matter of fact he is of a cheerful disposition and has a fair sense of humor. Even in his most giddy moments he looks as if he were about to go and perform an autopsy on three or four of his best friends.

A Nursery Pet.

If I were you, dear little child,
I'd beg Papa to get
A young giraffe, with temper mild,
To be a nursery pet.

I'm sure't would make you laugh, my dear,
When he'd cut such a caper
As nibbling at the chandelier,
Or nosing ceiling paper.

And you could train him, if you tried,
To carry and to fetch;
And you could ope the window wide,
If he desired to stretch.
Then you could purchase for his neck
Six collars of large size;
And, further still your pet to deck,
Six bright, gay-colored ties.

Ah, yes, he'd be a daily joy;
I trust I've clearly shown
How nice't would be for girl or boy
A pet giraffe to own!
—Carolyn Wells in February St. Nicholas.

His Finish.

Lippincott's: Girl's Father—"Before consenting to your marriage with my daughter, I should like to know what you are worth."

Young Man—"Well, I get ten dollars a week, but I am worth fifty."

The State Legislature

Newspaper Views on the Session.

Party Doesn't Count.

Roseau Times: Members of the legislature should keep in mind that they were elected to enact laws beneficial to the people and the business interests of the state and not to play politics. The day of partisan politics is about played out in Minnesota, and the man who seeks official distinction will be weighed by his record and not by any particular brand of party.

Public Opinion Rules.

Roseau Region: The reactionaries in the state senate and house died hard, but they were forced to yield to a public opinion that is determined that legislation shall be on the square and in the open. They will try to unite again during the session for the purpose of defeating progressive legislation, but they have been so thoroughly routed that it is doubtful if they will be able to offer any formidable opposition to measures approved by the public.

The Tonnage Tax Again.

Brainerd Dispatch: The tonnage tax has loomed up in the state legislature again, and it is wondered if the object is to hold the whip hand over members from the northern part of the state or not. Time was when measures were introduced in legislative halls for the sole purpose of compelling members to "be good" on pain of passing a measure that would be objectionable to the particular part of the state from which the votes were needed. We trust that no such motive is behind the tonnage tax.

Minnesota Needs It.

Luverne Journal: One of the first bills introduced in the present legislature was one by Senator Moonan providing that the people vote at the general election in 1914 on the proposition of calling a constitutional convention. This is right in line with what this newspaper has been advocating. A new and up to the times Constitution is one of the things Minnesota needs badly.

Mothers' Pensions.

St. Cloud Journal-Press: The purpose of the mothers' pension bill is to help the mother left destitute, to keep her children at home, where they can have a mother's love and care. This is certainly better, in most cases, than sending the children to some institution to be supported by the state. Properly safeguarded, such a law in Minnesota would be helpful in the right direction. We sometimes forget that the most important products of the state are the girls and boys, and each one of them is entitled to the best possible chance of becoming a good man or a good woman.

Reapportionment.

Albert Lea Tribune: While it may be somewhat easier for the members of the committee to get reapportionment worked out, why should it be made upon a basis of congressional districts? In this case the congressional districts will be reapportioned during this session, so that the basis upon which this assignment is made is hardly just.

Why would it not be much better and fairer for the committee members to take off their coats and tackle the reapportionment problem according to the population as the Constitution requires, irrespective of congressional lines. There is far too much red tape and politics mixed up in the matter. A little practical business sense would be better.

Trivialities.

Cambridge North Star: Our legislator has secured the passage of a law allowing Minneapolis sports to hunt rabbits with ferrets and another asks that the catching of frogs be prohibited. Let someone now introduce a bill legalizing prize fights and someone else counter with a law forbidding Sunday evening calls. Be careful at all times to preserve the carefully adjusted and well-balanced laws which now exist.

Against Normal Schools.

Elk River Star-News: Several northern towns are after a normal school, but are expected to pool issues before the crux comes. We have about as much need of another normal school as a rabbit has for two tails.

Poor Sport in Georgia.

Popular Magazine: John D. Rockefeller and a party of friends were taking a trip across country in Georgia last fall when they came to a stream which they had to cross by ferry. The ferryboat was operated by a white-haired old negro, and, while they were floating across, Mr. Rockefeller tried to make conversation.

"Jack," he asked the old man, "have you caught any fish today?"

"Naw, suh," replied Jack dejectedly.

"The fishing," observed Rockefeller, "must be pretty poor."

"I spec' it is," agreed Jack sadly.

"You haven't caught any fish at all?"

"Not a one."

"That seems strange," continued Rockefeller.

"It do," said Jack, and still his bearing was that of a man weighed down by woe.

"Well," asked Rockefeller, "why is it, do you think, you haven't caught any fish?"

"Humph," said Jack, still mournful, "I ain't been fishing today."

Not Sufficient Evidence.

Popular Magazine: John E. Wilkie, famous for the way he has handled mystery cases, has learned the value of real clews and the discouragement attendant upon following bad ones. When you follow false evidence, he explains, you are like the little boy who came down to breakfast one morning and said:

"Mother, I think I've got the chicken pox. I found a feather in my bed this morning."

Twenty Years Ago

From The Herald of this date, 1893.

•••The steamer Ossifrage has her world's fair schedule arranged and it embraces nine trips, commencing as soon as possible in May. Fine landing privileges have been secured at the fair grounds in Chicago, and the new organization to have charge of the steamer during the year will be known as the World's Fair Transit Company of Duluth. C. H. Eldridge will be general manager of the company, and Capt. F. W. Green will command the vessel.

•••The bishops and clergy who attended the consecration of Bishop Barker were entertained at a dinner at the Kitchi Gammi club by the vestry of St. Paul's church. Among the Duluth gentlemen present were F. W. Paine, A. H. Viele, W. C. Sargent, Page Morris, H. M. Peyton, D. B. Smith, W. M. Prindle, S. F. Snively, C. H. Graves and Thomas Cullyford. Bishop Gilbert responded to the address of welcome, which was delivered by A. H. Viele on behalf of the vestry.

•••George Dinwoodie has filed a certificate of nomination for alderman from the Third ward. William Getty and Alderman N. F. Hugo will also be candidates. The Democrats of the Fifth ward have nominated G. A. Gunderson, the Republicans have named Frank Peterson, and A. M. Cox will run Independent. In the Fifth ward Republican caucus, Philip Westaway got the nomination, but F. H. Quimby says he will be an independent candidate, and it is expected E. R. Jefferson will also take the field. N. N. Ole had no opposition at the Republican caucus in the Sixth ward. Alderman Robert Kennedy has already stated he will run as an independent candidate, and the Democrats will probably nominate John Dunphy.

•••S. de la Veigne, F. H. Segrist and A. L. Belliveau have called a meeting to organize a council of the United Commercial Travelers in Duluth. Mr. de la Veigne claims to be the oldest traveling man in America, having been on the road for the past fifty-two years.

•••Mesaba range iron men are jubilant. The Minnesota blast furnace at West Duluth was "blown in" yesterday, and the first cast was made on clear, unmixed Mesaba ore from the Cincinnati mine, furnished by the Standard Ore company. The slag runs freely and is very clear. The result establishes the fact that Mesaba ores can be used in furnaces without mixing.

Babies Are Boarded Out.

New York Times: The institutional baby is one of New York's baby problems—the waifs who go to the foundling asylums. Thousands are abandoned every year, who must be cared for thus. It has been found that institutionalism is fatal to babies. Beyond doubt babies may have every care in institutions and yet pine and die there, who would thrive if given less care in a private home. In one of the best institutions the death rate is 50 per cent.

The board of health is finding that babies can be boarded out in private homes at less cost than their support in institutions means. At present 2,844 are boarded out in New York City as the result of this discovery by the board, and their care and quarters are so supervised that there is very little danger of neglect. The women who have them in charge are under the supervision of nurses and inspectors and this has helped to keep mortality down.

HEALTH & HAPPINESS

By Dr. R. D. Scott.

DR. R. D. SCOTT.

Believing that there ... in this city for reliable information regarding the most approved methods of keeping well, The Herald, always striving to be in advance, has secured the services of Dr. Scott, lately of Chicago, to conduct a department in which will appear from time to time short articles dealing with the various branches of "Preventive Medicine" which includes the subjects of hygiene, sanitation, prevention of disease, and methods for the correction of vicious habits of thought or life.

Sweeping Out Bad Air.

Principally on account of experiments conducted by an Englishman, Leonard Hill, we have begun to look for the cause of the injurious effects produced by close atmosphere in other quarters than in the accumulation of carbonic acid. Hill experimented, first on small animals in sealed glass cases, and later on man in air tight rooms, and he found that a man could remain quite comfortable in a room long after carbonic acid has arisen above what was considered the danger point, provided that the air was kept in constant motion by electric fans.

Animals in air tight boxes, when the air was kept in motion by small fans, did not become drowsy and die as they would under similar circumstances without the fans. It has been known for a long time that the body gives off, both by the breath and evaporation from the skin, a considerable quantity of organic waste in the form of gases. These substances are very varied as to composition, and occur in such small quantities that the difficulty of really proving their injurious effect would seem to be unsurmountable. Many scientific men, however, believe that in these organic waste products will be found the cause of bad air sickness.

If this belief should prove to be correct it may be that we will come back to the estimation of carbonic acid in foul air as an index to the amount of these organic compounds which are so difficult of recognition, and the present movement will only have been of value in that it kept the question of pure air to the fore.

There is little doubt that, besides these organic waste products exhaled by the body, the heat and humidity of the layer of air in immediate contact with the skin has much to do with the production of the symptoms we are discussing. Moving air would change this layer frequently, carrying away the organic waste products, excessive humidity, and heat, at the one time; this making it impossible to say which was the important factor.

For practical purposes, however, it matters little whether we are poisoned by carbonic acid or organic impurities, and we have learned that movement of the air is the essential thing so far as proper ventilation is concerned. So, if it is uncomfortable to sit in a draughty room, you should blow it out by opening wide all doors and windows every half hour or so. This will put the air thoroughly in motion and leave the room full of live, fresh air.

Some people will complain that this is a great waste of fuel in the winter time, but it is false economy to save coal at the expense of health.

The winter evenings at home will be much more enjoyable when, with plenty of fresh, live air, the members of the family will be wide awake and bright, instead of stupid, drowsy and irritable. Remember that three persons will befoul an ordinary roomful of air within an hour, and that every two gas jets alight, or one large lamp, will use up as much air as an adult person.

Cause of Tickling in Throat and Little Dry Cough.

Miss W. writes: Every winter I am subject to a little dry cough which seems to be entirely from the throat. What is the reason that this comes back every fall and is better in the summer? What can be done for it aside from taking sickening cough medicines?

REPLY.

I would guess that your cough is entirely dependent on the air you breathe during the winter, and would suggest that it may be too dry.

Get a hygrometer and find out just what the relative humidity of the air in your house will average. If it is below 50, the chances are that you have discovered the cause of the cough. Evaporate sufficient water, every day, to keep the humidity up to 60 or 65; use a little of the old fashioned Spanish licorice, which you can buy in large quarter-pound sticks at the drug store, to allay tickling until the change in the air has its effect.

Sal Hepatica and Torpid Liver.

M. J. G. writes: 1. Is sal hepatica a good liver medicine? 2. Would you advise its constant use by one with torpid liver?

REPLY.

Sal hepatica is nothing but a saline cathartic made up in a pleasant form. You will get about the same results from taking small doses of epsom or glauber salts. 2. No. You should correct your constipation without the use of drugs, by proper diet and exercise. Eat more fruit and coarse vegetables; bran bread or Marion Harland's health bread will help. Get the bowels acting regularly, and you will not be troubled with torpid liver.

Neurasthenia.

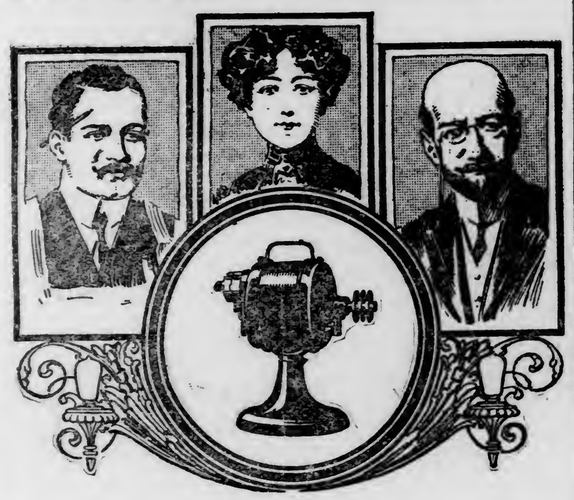

J. A. H. writes: During the last nine months I have not been feeling like myself. I have occasional night sweats, become fatigued easily, lack energy and ambition, and at times have a soreness in my chest. As nearly as I can judge this soreness is in the bronchial tubes, but I have no cough and do not expectorate. I sometimes feel feverish, and my heart beats irregularly; sometimes so hard that it feels as if it would turn inside out, and I then have great mental anguish. My sleep is disturbed by the irregular beating of my heart, and I think I must have some serious heart disease and perhaps something the matter with my lungs. Are these symptoms of tuberculosis? I have consulted our family physician and he only laughs at me; saying my heart and lungs are all right. Please give me your opinion and tell me if I should consult another physician.

REPLY.

Your symptoms are typical of neurasthenia. Ask your family physician to put you in the very best possible physical condition and take hold of the mental condition yourself. You must master your nerves. Get busy with some outdoor sport that you can take an interest in. Keep your mind occupied with healthy subjects, and don't allow yourself time to think about your own troubles. Try exerting yourself in finding and helping some one who is worse off than you are. There are many such, and you can easily find them. Your physician will likely prescribe some simple nerve tonic that will be about all the medicine needed.

My guess is that your physician is entirely right when he says your heart and lungs are all right; so don't fret or worry about your condition.

Read Sadler's "Physiology of Faith and Fear" and Du Bois' "Psychic Treatment of Nervous Disorders," also "Nervous States" by the same author. These books will help you understand your condition, and then you should have no trouble in getting a grip on yourself.

Invaluable to Merchants, Housewives and Dentists

The small Electric Motor—⅛, ¼ or ½ horsepower—has become an indispensable accessory in the modern store and home. In the office of a dentist or a physician it is a practical necessity. The innumerable "little jobs", where hand labor is unduly laborious, that daily confront the merchant and housewife are easily and speedily accomplished with the aid of an Electric Motor.

Small Electric Motors

The small Electric Motor is especially speedy and convenient. Then, too, it can be employed for a wide variety of purposes, thus conserving your strength as well as saving time and money. The initial cost of these durable little helpers is moderate and the cost of operation little. Why not investigate the small Electric Motor NOW?

HUGHES WILL NOT HEAD COMMITTEE

Declines to Conduct Rail-Road Probe for Greater Duluth Club.

Ray M. Hughes has declined to act as chairman of the committee named by P. E. Dowling, president of the Greater Duluth club, to investigate passenger traffic on the railroads entering Duluth.

Mr. Hughes, in announcing that he would not act, said that the traffic commission of the Commercial club is doing all in its power to right conditions and that he sees no necessity for another committee. He said he is not a member of the Greater Duluth club or the Commercial club, but spoke at the Greater Duluth club banquet as a citizen on behalf of the citizens of Duluth.

"I think, however, that every commercial and civic organization in the city should get together in order to obtain for Duluth what is the city's by natural right," said Mr. Hughes. "This can only be brought about through co-operation and until we have this, no lasting results will be obtained."

SENDS WIVES TO CLIENTS IN WEST

Lawyer of Massachusetts Seeks Housekeepers With Matrimonial Intentions.

Brockton, Mass., Jan. 27.—"Wanted—Housekeeper, age 40 to 50, with matrimonial intentions; also man on farm with same."

This advertisement appeared a few days ago. Already three applicants for the two positions have been received by John B. Rafferty, attorney, and agent for Cupid.

"No, I'm not after a wife myself," he explained when asked if he was looking for a helpmate. "I am doing this for two clients in the West. The man is particular that I should get a woman for his wife who is not under 40 years of age.

"In the last year I have found eleven mates for Western clients. Just why they like Brockton men and women I don't know."

When it comes to matchmaking Rafferty believes that not even the mothers of numerous daughters of marriageable age have anything on him, for he says he has been successful in all cases that have come to him thus far, and expects to have the required woman between the age of 40 and 50 with matrimonial inclinations and the man with the like inclination to ship West within a few days.

WILL GIVE FARMS TO "NEWLY WEDS."

Hartford, Conn., Jan. 27.—Austin C. Dunham, a wealthy retired business man, has purchased eighty-seven acres of land in Newington, and will divide it into five-acre farms which will be given to young married couples. With each farm will go a cow, a pig and 40 hens. The husband will have to be employed in one of the nearby cities, and the greater care of the farm will fall on the wife. In selecting the young couples especial care will be taken in selecting ones where the wife has the proper farming instinct.

YEAR'S WORK AMONG POOR

Record of Pauper Cases Cared for in County's Three Institutions.

Less Poverty Than During Preceding Year—Tuberculosis Patients Cured.

Fewer admissions and fewer deaths at the three county institutions at the poor farm—the almshouse, hospital and tuberculosis sanitarium—are shown in the annual report which has been prepared by Dr. C. J. Woolway, medical superintendent at the poor farm. The report contains some interesting statistics which the superintendent has compiled for the state board of control.

During the year 448 people were admitted at the county institutions as compared with 529 in 1911, a decrease of 81. In 1912 there were 381 persons discharged as compared with 443 for the year previous, a decrease of 62. The number of deaths at the poor farm during the year 1912 was 85 against 96 for the year 1911, a decrease of 11. Jan. 1, 1913, started out with 128 cases at the three institutions. This is 18 less than the number of cases on Jan. 1, 1912.

On Jan. 1, 1912, there were 73 inmates receiving treatment and care at the almshouse. During the year 61 new cases were taken in and 20 transferred from the hospital and classed as inmate cases. At the same time there were 67 discharges, two inmates transferred to the hospital and two deaths. This left 83 inmates in the almshouse on Jan. 1, 1913.

In the county hospital, 1912 started off with 48 cases. During the year there were 300 new admissions, 2 transferred from the almshouse, 269 discharges, 20 transferred to the almshouse and 36 deaths, leaving 25 hospital cases on hand at the end of the year.

The Sanitarium.

The tuberculosis sanitarium started off the year with 25 cases. During the year there were 87 admissions, 45 discharges and 47 deaths, leaving 20 patients on hand at the beginning of the year 1913.

Of a total of 448 admissions during the year 1912, 361 were admitted to the almshouse and hospital and 87 to the tuberculosis sanitarium. The causes of pauperism are given as follows:

	No.	Male.	Female.

There were 38 deaths in the county hospital, which Dr. Woolway has classified as causes and ages as follows:

Causes of Death.
Typhoid fever	2
Cancer	3
Senility	1
Organic heart disease	5
Sarcoma	1
Cerebro spinal fever	1
Chronic Bright's disease	15
Lobar pneumonia	2

Under 20	2
Total	38

The report shows 47 deaths at the tuberculosis hospital during the year. The number is large, the report says, owing to the fact that a great majority of cases are in an advanced stage when they are admitted and hopeless. Of the 45 discharged from the sanitarium, 4 were deported, 2 paid their own way home to Bulgaria and Finland, and 5 are completely restored to health and are self-supporting.

Of the 47 deaths the ages ranged as follows:

Between 60 and 70	3
Between 50 and 60	4
Between 40 and 60	13
Between 30 and 40	9
Between 20 and 30	16

CASE MEANS MUCH TO THE SETTLERS

Supreme Court's Decision of Great Importance to Itasca County.

Itasca county has much at stake in a case now hanging fire before the supreme court involving an order made by the state railroad and warehouse commission reducing the rates on timber products and commodities on the Minneapolis & Rainy River road, according to F. F. Seaman of Deer River. Mr. Seaman was in the city yesterday, a guest at the Holland.

The case, says Mr. Seaman, may be decided in the near future. The order of the railroad commission was made last March. The railroad company appealed and the case went up to the supreme court on a demurrer. The Minneapolis & Rainy River road, which is fighting the rate reduction, is better known as the Itasca logging road.

In the opinion of Mr. Seaman, the development of the western half of Itasca county will be set back ten years if the order is reversed and a decision is handed down in favor of the railroad company. Settlers claim, he says, that the rates on the Itasca road are so high that they are unable to get out any of their timber products except at a loss. The rate on grains and other farm products, he says, is prohibitory.

The case is known as an action brought by George H. Herreid against the Minneapolis & Rainy River railroad. It was brought at the instance of a number of settlers and independent loggers. Mr. Seaman is doing most of the logging in the vicinity of Deer River this year.

WEST END

CHORUS WILL BE SENT TO NORWAY

At the celebration of the nineteenth anniversary of its organization on Friday night, the Normanna Male chorus launched plans for a campaign to raise money with which to send twenty-five of its members to Norway next year with the National Association of Norwegian Singers. This organization will go to Norway to take part in the celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the declaration of the independence of their native land.

The chorus has in its treasury at this time about $1,000 and it is desired that about $2,000 be added to this in order that adequate means for transportation and other necessary expenses may be afforded each member who will go. About twenty-five have declared their intention of going and hope to properly represent Duluth on the trip. The national society will charter a special steamer for the trip.

WEST END RESIDENTS ARE SUMMONED.

The West end lost two more residents through death yesterday, one of whom had passed the allotted number of years of the human span and one who had not yet reached his majority.

The former was Mrs. M. Delina Morin, aged 74 years. She died yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of her son, Theodore Morin, 2723 West Second street. Surviving her are three sons and three daughters. The body was taken this afternoon to Dayton, Minn., her former home, for burial.

The youth who passed was Edward Anderson, aged 20 years. He died yesterday morning at St. Mary's hospital of pneumonia with which he had been ill five days. The young man had been in the United States only two years and has been working at different points, at Tower the last. Parents survive him in Sweden. The funeral, which is being arranged by friends, will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from Olson & Crawford's undertaking rooms in West First street, and interment will be in Park Hill cemetery. The services will be conducted by Rev. Carl G. Olson, pastor of Bethany Swedish Lutheran church.

Cantata in Preparation.

A cantata will be given on Easter Sunday at the First Norwegian-Danish Methodist Episcopal church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street Its title is "Light Out of Darkness" and it is a work of Adam Geibel. Seventy voices will take part, and rehearsals will begin this week. A number of prominent soloists will also be on the program.

West End in Brief.

Rebecca Guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church will, next Thursday evening, give a family social at the church.

Rev. J. J. Daniels of the Swedish Mission church is in Adolph today.

Rev. Paul W. Rood of Chicago, the evangelist who has been holding services at the Swedish Mission church for some weeks, will give his last sermon tomorrow evening.

Mrs. John Holmes of 2823 West Second street will entertain the Ladies' Aid Society of Grace M. E. church at her home on Wednesday afternoon.

Major Hansen has returned from Western Canada, where he has been looking over the country for several months.

Miss Olive Metcalfe returned to her home in St. Paul today after visiting for some time at the home of her sister, Mrs. George Klasky, 1030 West First street.

Mr. and Mrs. William Harvey, who were married some weeks ago at the home of the bride in Toronto, Ont., arrived yesterday and will shortly take up housekeeping here. Mr. Harvey is manager of the Acme laundry.

Instead of meeting next Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Chandler, as was planned, the Ladies' Aid Society of the Second Presbyterian church will meet Feb. 5, one week later, at the home of Mrs. Chandler, 2310 West Fourth street.

The funeral of Mrs. Clara Hill, who died on Friday, was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family home, 922 West First street, and interment was in Park Hill cemetery. Rev. J. A. McGaughey, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, read the service.

Mrs. James W. Preston of 2509 West Second street received word yesterday of the sudden death of her mother at Fillmore, Wis., and in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Preston left for that place.

LIFE SAVERS HAVE WILD GOOSE CHASE

Row Five Miles in Lake to Rescue Pine Saplings.

Some East Enders, living not far from the lake shore, yesterday happened to be looking out over the ice and water with field glasses, when they spied, floating upon a piece of ice out on the still unfrozen portion of the lake, two dark objects. They immediately notified the life-saving station that two men were adrift and helpless on a cake of ice.

Several members of the life-saving crew soon had a boat launched and then followed a five-mile row at record speed. As the dark objects in question were approached, they gradually resolved themselves into saplings, and the crew returned home. How the saplings came to be on the ice is a mystery. It is believed that some person with a perverted idea of humor annually sets a small pine tree afloat in the hope of giving the life savers just such a wild goose chase.

MARLOWE IS ILL FROM PTOMAINE POISONING.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 27.—Miss Julia Marlowe, who is playing with E. H. Sothern in Shakespearean repertoire, was stricken with ptomaine poisoning Friday night, but although ill, fulfilled her engagements here. Yesterday she was so weak that a rest was absolutely insisted upon by physicians and she left for Chicago where she will recuperate in the home of a friend.

Mr. Sothern, according to Claxton Wiltstack, manager of the company, left last night for Springfield, Ill., where the next engagement is to be played. Miss Chippendale will take Miss Marlowe's place until the star has recovered.

Peoria, Ill., Jan. 27.—A message was received here last night from E. H. Sothern, canceling the engagements of Julia Marlowe for the next two weeks. Miss Marlowe is reported ill at a St. Louis hotel from ptomaine poisoning. Sothern and Miss Marlowe were billed to appear here Thursday night.

STOMACH MISERY JUST VANISHES

No Indigestion, Gas or Sourness After Taking "Pape's Diapepsin."

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach headache—this is indigestion.

A full case of Pape's Diapepsin costs only fifty cents and will thoroughly cure your out-of-order stomach, and leave sufficient about the house in case some one else in the family may suffer from stomach trouble or indigestion.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula plainly printed on these fifty-cent cases, then you will understand why dyspeptic troubles of all kinds must go, and why they usually relieve sour, out-of-order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. Diapepsin is harmless and tastes like candy, though each dose contains power sufficient to digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but, what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many Diapepsin cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be cranky about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever try a little for indigestion or gastritis or any other stomach misery.

Get some now, this minute, and forever rid yourself of stomach trouble and indigestion.

WILDE EXPECTS BILL WILL PASS

Mining Inspector Looks for Enactment of Hibbing Mines Building Act.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—State Mine Inspector F. A. Wilde has returned from St. Paul where he went as a delegate to the Masonic grand lodge and also spent some time at the state capitol.

Mr. Wilde was before the mines and minerals committee of the legislature Thursday for the purpose of giving the members information regarding the proposed state mines building in Hibbing.

"I believe the legislature will pass a bill authorizing a state building for Hibbing," said Mr. Wilde. "The bill has been reported to pass by the mines and minerals committee and when it goes before the appropriations committee there will be available much more data than has heretofore been brought to bear on it. It is not improbable that the appropriation of $50,000 will be to some extent curtailed, but I believe such a bill will pass in some acceptable form.

"I am convinced that the state this year has one of the best legislatures we have ever had and the forty-ninth district delegation is one of the best representing any district in the state."

FIND FOUNDATION NOT VERY STABLE

Canadian Northern Has Difficulty in Putting Line Over Silver Lake.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Canadian Northern has difficulty in getting a firm foundation for its depot here and also for the trestle over Silver lake in the vicinity of the depot. The lake bottom is of such a nature that it shifts with the weight of the fill and this had to be abandoned and bridging resorted to for a distance of about two hundred blocks. The road now has its work well along for its lines into this city. The shops in West Virginia are finished and in commission.

The freight depot at the north end of Silver lake, which is 40 by 200 feet, is about ready to be occupied. The passenger line, making a detour from the main line to get into the city, is well graded and will be ready for use as soon as the passenger depot will be completed, which will be in about three months. The removal of offices and shops to West Duluth has taken many families away from Virginia, but a greater number than the Canadian Northern employes who went to Duluth have come to take positions as conductors and motormen on the Mesaba railway, the electric line, and these have come chiefly from Duluth.

HIBBING CHILD TRIES NEW ROAD

Boy of 6 Boards Electric Car, Riding to Virginia All Alone.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Aged 6 years, and with the police of two cities looking for him, little Emil Hill calmly sat on the big chair at the police station eating bananas that had been bought for him, and talking cheerily to Sergeant John Dean. The little boy lives in Hibbing and got on a Mesaba electric car about noon Saturday and stayed on all the way to Virginia, where he got off. When officer Adolph Nelson picked him up in the afternoon he didn't know where he lived, and merely pointed up the track in the general direction of Hibbing and said "over there." Finally, just before the last car left here, the Hibbing police telephoned the Virginia officers who the youngster was and where he lived, and he was sent home.

GOES TO PENITENTIARY.

Former Grand Rapids School Board Head Is Sentenced.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—An indeterminate sentence of from one to five years in the state penitentiary was given to F. C. Ruesswig, former chairman of the local school board, who pleaded guilty before Judge McClenahan in district court to an indictment charging him with allowing, appropriating and collecting an order for school money on the district. Ruesswig is a respected citizen and his downfall is cause for general regret.

The case grew out of the issuance of five pay warrants to Miss Frances Bluntach, who some time ago taught school for two months at Sand Lake at a salary of $45 a month. Seven warrants were chased, and five of them bore indorsements not in the handwriting of the teacher.

An investibation was started following a report by experts who went over the books, and the indictment of Ruesswig took place on Oct. 5 last.

Brought to trial here on the opening of the special term of the district court he pleaded guilty Jan. 14.

CHISHOLM ORDERS MANY SHADE TREES

Range Village Is Preparing to Beautify Many of Its Streets.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Many of the thoroughfares of Chisholm will be beautified by shades trees as a result of the action of the village council at its last meeting when a large order was given to the Jewel Nursery company of Lake city.

About five hundred will be American white elm not less than ten feet in height and not less than one and a half inches in diameter eight inches above the ground. The balance will be Carolina or Norway poplars not less than twelve feet high and not less than one and three-quarter inches, eight inches above the ground.

The trees will be planted under the direction of the village engineer and wherever used will be alternated elm with poplar beginning on each corner with an Elm. Later, and when the poplars begin to crowd the elms, the poplars will be cut out and the elm will predominate. Curbs will be laid and boulevarded streets made wherever the trees are to be set.

Appoint Cemetery Sexton.

Four applications were received for the position of sexton at the cemetery, Jack Rice, Jacob Nystrom, John Sturman and George Teroux. The position was awarded to Jack Rice at a salary of $75 per month. A house is to be built at the cemetery and the sexton will be expected to reside there.

Transfer of liquor licenses were granted to Henry Demarias from Peter Radakovich, and from Nick Miettunen to Albin Manninen.

The village engineer advised the council that the county register of deeds had informed him that a record of the new cemetery would entail an expense of a couple of hundred dollars but due to the importance of having it properly recorded the council ordered it done.

The oath of office of John Passenda as an additional police officer was approved and Passenda will be detailed at the skating rink and in the south end of town.

The village attorney will draw up an ordinance governing the allowing of barber shops in saloons and same will be passed at a future meeting.

SUNDAY TRAVEL IS QUITE HEAVY

Range People Do Much Visiting By Means of New Railway.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Every car on the Mesaba railway yesterday both outgoing and incoming was crowded with people from the range towns on trips to try out the new line and to avail themselves of its service for visits to friends in the neighboring towns and cities. Many Hibbing people went to Chisholm and Virginia and many Virginia people came to Hibbing. The people are all well pleased with the service, which is excellent.

That the new interurban will give a big impetus to local business was demonstrated Saturday when most of the stores of the city were crowded with out-of-town buyers coming from all points on the range. Hibbing business men will gather at a banquet in a short time to discuss the matter of making systematic effort to bring trade to the city through the new field which has been opened by the cars.

IS SEEKING DIVORCE.

Woman Married in Hibbing, Asks Asks Court for Separation.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The suit for divorce of Helen M. Patton of Hibbing against her husband, Neil Patton, was taken under advisement in the district court. The couple was married in Hibbing in August, 1909, and the husband was sentenced to ninety days in the county jail at Duluth some time ago.

Zofija Gudewicz was granted a divorce from Tony Gudewicz Saturday on the grounds of cruelty and desertion. It was claimed the husband used to come home drunk and beat up his better half and that he finally deserted her.

CHISHOLM PUPILS WILL BE EXAMINED.

The various classes of the high school are busily engaged in reviews in preparation for the coming examination. The honor roll for the week ending last Friday is as follows: Winnifred Lewis, 95 1-3; Anna Schweiger, 95¼; Ida Holland, 93 2-3; Andrew Hudy, 93½; Lillian Milaney, 92½; Winnifred Beek, 91 2-3; John Lipovitz, 91; Vernice Govette, 90 2-3, and Elizabeth Leary, 90 1-3.

VIRGINIANS ARE AFTER TOURNAMENT.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Members of the Ski club are working hard to get the best organization to obtain the tournament of the National Ski association for 1914 and the club will have a big representation at the Ironwood meeting in February.

Edw. C. A. Johnson, former alderman, will go as the delegate of the club. Harry Solberg, the president of the club attended the tournament at Chippewa Falls Sunday and while away was obtaining support for Virginia in the effort to bring the national event here.

Barney Riley and Ole Feirling of the local club were entered at the Chippewa Falls meet and will also be at the Stoughton, Wis., meet this week. There will also be a local tournament at the Virginia hill next Sunday and another tournament which will have the recognition of the national association will be held within a few weeks.

MANY INSTALLED BY VIRGINIA K. C.

Following Exercises, Banquet Is Held at Which Many Speak.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Knights of Columbus initiated about fifty members at a big initiation meeting yesterday afternoon at the hall in the Lyric building. Many were of Virginia, some from Hibbing and others of the nearby cities, three being from Grand Rapids.

The degree team from Brainerd did the greater part of the initiatory work.

In the evening there was a banquet at the parish hall of Our Lady of Lourdes' church, at which Edward L. Boyle was the toastmaster, and speeches were made by Judge Martin Hughes, Father W. J. Powers, Edward J. Kenny of Duluth, and others.

DULUTH MINISTER

Is Placed in Charge of Range Finnish Methodist Churches.

Chishlom, Minn., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. Mr. Kittonen, who has been in charge of the Finnish Methodist church here for nearly two years, has been transferred to the New York Finnish diocese. He is succeeded by Rev. Matti Lehtonen of Duluth, who will have charge of the Chisholm Finnish church, the Aurora church, and that of Nashwauk. Mr. Lehtonen was formerly in charge of Duluth and Aurora Finnish churches.

THIRD ANNIVERSARY

Of Virginia B'Nai B'Rith Is Observed at Virginia.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The members of the B'Nai B'Rith held a celebration yesterday evening at North Pole hall in commemoration of the third anniversary of the local branch. Harry S. Glickman of Milwaukee, a prominent member of the organization, delivered an address. After Mr. Glickman's speech and other short addresses and a few musical numbers there was a lunch served by the ladies of B'nai Abraham congregation and dancing followed. Jewish people from several of the range towns attended, coming by way of the electric road.

MAN FROM DULUTH HAS HALLUCINATION.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—A. W. Goldman, who claims Duluth as his home, and who is apparently suffering from mental aberration was arrested yesterday. Goldman told an officer that a vast army of detectives was following him that he had never committed a crime and that he desired the police to send the sleuths away. He says he has been in Duluth for some time and is a shingle weaver by occupation, being formerly employed at shingle mills in the Puget Sound country. So far as the police have been able to learn he has no relatives at the Head of the Lakes. He will be kept under observation at the jail for several days and if he does not then show improvement, he will be taken to Duluth for examination by the insanity examining board.

FORMER DULUTH MAN IS APPOINTED.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—G. R. Farrell has been appointed general yardmaster of the Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific railway here. Mr. Farrell was formerly a resident of Duluth, having been a conductor on the Northern Pacific railway for several years. His many friends are congratulating him on his promotion.

ST. CLOUD'S MAYOR TO VISIT HIBBING.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mayor Seeberger of St. Cloud will be the guest of the local lodge of Redmen tomorrow evening and will preside over the lodge during the ceremony of the raising up of the chiefs. Mayor Seeberger will be the guest of local Redmen while in the city. There will be a banquet in his honor and Redmen from all the range towns in which there is a lodge of the order are expected to attend.

VIRGINIA CLUB TO GIVE DINNER.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Virginia Study club will give a dinner at the clubrooms in the basement of the new library building tonight, the guests being the members of the library board and their wives and the husbands of the ladies of the club. It is expected there will be a party of about fifty in attendance.

Duluthians at Hibbing Ball.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The ball given at Close's hall Friday evening by Mayor Weirick, Dr. S. S. Blacklock, F. H. Holliday, J. Paul Jones and Dr. W. G. Elsenman of Chisholm was a brilliant affair, the decorations being especially fine.

Among the out-of-town guests were Fred Young and James McLennan of Duluth; Miss Bradshaw of Superior; Dr. Fred Barrett, Miss Stone, Mr. Rademacher, Mrs. C. H. Stillman and Miss Wiggins of Gilbert; George Barrett, A. R. Folsom, George H. Ahee1 and Dr. Webber of Buhl; Miss Erickson of Eveleth; Mr. and Mrs. De Lorimer, Dr. and Mrs. Kirk, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Vaughan of Chisholm; Miss Agnes Pinkerton of Prairie du Chien; and Miss Elizabeth Sumner of Minneapolis.

SNOW

The weather man is on his good behavior. He gave Duluth a beautiful Sunday and today is a beautiful Monday. Duluth people will not complain if he holds the mood for a few days. Snow and warmer weather are predicted for tonight and tomorrow.

Cold weather prevailed a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 7:39 and it will set at 5:03 this evening, giving nine hours and twenty-four minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"During the last twenty-four to forty-eight hours light snow fell over extreme Northern states and Eastern Canada and light to heavy rains in Atlantic and Gulf states. Much colder weather prevails this morning in the Lake region. Ohio, Mississippi and lower Missouri valleys. In Western Canada and the Dakotas the temperature has risen somewhat. This turn to warmer should reach the Head of the Lakes during this afternoon and tonight."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Jan. 27.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Tuesday:

Upper Michigan—Local snows tonight or Tuesday; warmer Tuesday.

Wisconsin—Unsettled weather with probably light snow flurries tonight or Tuesday; not much change in temperature.

Minnesota—Light snow flurries tonight or Tuesday; warmer in northeast portion tonight.

Iowa—Generally fair tonight and Tuesday, except cloudy in north portion; warmer in east portion tonight.

North Dakota—Cloudy tonight with colder in west portion; Tuesday fair.

South Dakota—Generally fair tonight and Tuesday; colder tonight and in east portion Tuesday.

Montana—Fair tonight and Tuesday; colder in east and south portions tonight.

FOUR BOARDING CARS TAKE FIRE

Forty Italian Laborers, Sleeping Therein, Have Very Close Call.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—There was a near tragedy at Emmet Siding on the Great Northern, about three miles from here last night when four boarding cars occupied by an extra gang of forty Italians were burned. The fire is supposed to have started from an overturned stove. All of the inmates of the cars managed to escape but several had close calls. None saved any personal effects.

BASKET BALL VICTIM.

Calumet, Mich., Youth Dies Following Injuries Sustained in Game.

Gilbert, Minn., Jan. 27. — (Special to The Herald.) — Death following an operation for an injury sustained while playing basket ball claimed Walter Gipp at Calumet, Mich., brother of Louis Gipp of this place, who was called to the Copper country by a message telling of his brother's death. The boy was only 20.

HAD TOO MUCH WINE.

Hibbing Italian Dispute as to Prowess, Blows Being Exchanged.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Four Italian miners drank too freely of Italian wine at 322 Railroad street, last night, and got into a dispute as to their respective prowess at mining with the result that blows were exchanged and some of them cut. Dominic Jelfell, Dominic Melletta, Joe Pascol and Tusic Natoni are the names they gave when brought to jail bleeding from their wounds, Melletta being the worst cut. They will have a hearing before Judge Brady at 4 this afternoon.

Aurora Beats Chisholm.

Aurora, Minn., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The basket ball game played here Saturday night between the local high five and the Chisholm team was won by the locals, 21 to 13. It was a lively game from the first blast of the whistle to the end. The lineup follows:

Aurora — Gillach, rf; Moriarity, lf; Filonowicz, c; Kovach, rg; Anderson, lg.

Chisholm — Sweiger, rf; Mahan, lf; Soderquist, c; Lipovitz, rg; Gansey, lg.

Officials—Schammel and Jackson.

After the game the domestic science girls served refreshments to the teams and their coaches.

science, and Miss Melville is short, rather stout and funny. She has a laugh, and a Dutch wig, and a pannier dress, and three or four good songs that sound as if they were new, and a few jokes that coming from her send the audience into paroxysms. Higgins has a suit that is tighter than a lumberjack in April, a few comic dance steps, and a hat that drops from time to time to permit his partner to deliver the command to "let it lay." It doesn't sound like a very formidable equipment for a "team," but it is amply sufficient to make them a genuine comedy hit, and last night's audience squeezed in a good many laughs during the twenty minutes they were on.

La Tosca and two young men assistants ought to get a good deal more applause for their act than they do. It is a very pleasing little musical turn, and the three performers show musical ability of a standard much above that usually seen in vaudeville. La Tosca, who looks as Spanish as her name, sings and plays the piano, while her assistants introduce the cello, accordion, flute and banjo. Gounod's "Ave Maria" and "Faust" are not the kind of music vaudeville audiences grow very enthusiastic about, however.

The Gasch sisters submit more evidence of the "invasion of women" by putting on an acrobatic turn that is the equal of any act of its kind presented by their male competitors this season.

The Tuscano brothers throw murderous looking battle axes at each other, and juggle them as if they were billiard balls or Indian clubs. The audience cannot help wondering what would happen to the performers of they missed.

The motion pictures show, among other things, an exciting skirmish in the Balkans, and close an excellent bill.

BYSTANDER FINED

For Taking a Hand in Difference at Ely.

Ely, Minn., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Tony Sandberg was brought before Judge Jury Saturday to answer the charge of assault on John Mattson. Very little evidence was introduced but it was shown that Mattson was intoxicated and entered the St. Mary restaurant, and became engaged in trouble over a charge of $4.15 for his supper, when Sandberg, who was a bystander, took a hand. As a result Sandberg was arrested and found guilty of an assault charge and fined $5 and costs, amounting in all to about $10 or ten days in jail.

The auditors for the South Slavonic Union, an insurance order with headquarters at Ely, are making their semi-annual examination of the books here. Ely has two of the national officers, John Gouze being national treasurer and George Brozich, national secretary. The union has about 10,000 policies in force.

Mrs. J. H. Feeney, a long time resident of Ely is critically ill at the Shipman hospital with paralysis. Mr. Feeney is bookkeeper for the St. Croix Lumber company here.

Tower People Differ.

Tower, Minn., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—A difference having arisen between the Young People's and the Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian church as to the ownership of certain furniture at the Presbyterian manse and considerable ill feeling has resulted but it is expected to adjust matters amicably.

Ely Beats Chisholm.

Ely, Minn., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Ely high school basket ball team annexed its second victory for the season last Saturday evening, when it scored a decided victory over the fast Chisholm high school team. The score resulted in Ely's getting 27 points, while the visitors were securing 7. A preliminary game between the seventh grades of the Lincoln and high school buildings was played before the Ely-Chisholm game, and resulted in a victory for the Lincoln school of 16 to 8.

AMUSEMENTS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS

ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.

"OPENING NIGHT" AT THE ORPHEUM

Ambitious Playlet Headlines Good Vaudeville Bill in Duluth Playhouse.

"An Opening Night," a rather ambitious playlet as vaudeville playlets go, headlines the new vaudeville bill at the Orpheum this week.

The sketch lacks only what is known as "the punch" to make it a first-class little drama. It is the work of George V. Hobart, one of vaudeville's most prolific writers, and is produced by Joseph Hart, who has not spared expense in either the production or the company. The cast is good throughout, and the little drama holds the interest of the audience almost from the start. There are some good novelties introduced in the last of the three scenes, but the finish is too prosaic to permit the act to ever become a great vaudeville playlet. The whole sketch seems to lack the "kick", in spite of the hard working cast. Yesterday's audience liked it, however, and it drew more applause than the average act of this type. Among those in the cast who deserve at least passing mention are: May McManus as Virginia, Edward Ewald as Paul Gordon; and Charles Warren as the theater manager.

Doc O'Neil is a second edition of Frank Tinney minus the blackface makeup and the "kidding" of the orchestra. O'Neil's methods are very like those of Frank Tinney. He talks with the same amusing drawl, and his stuff is of the same silly type. He gets it across nearly as well as Tinney does, and he was probably the biggest comedy hit on the bill last evening.

Melville and Higgins have been traveling around the first-class vaudeville circuits for years, but this is the first time they have been seen in Duluth with their "Let it Lay." Higgins is thinner than a trust magnate's conscience, and Miss Melville is short, rather stout and funny. She has a laugh, and a Dutch wig, and a pannier dress, and three or four good songs that sound as if they were new, and a few jokes that coming from her send the audience into paroxysms. Higgins has a suit that is tighter than a lumberjack in April, a few comic dance steps, and a hat that drops from time to time to permit his partner to deliver the command to "let it lay." It doesn't sound like a very formidable equipment for a "team," but it is amply sufficient to make them a genuine comedy hit, and last night's audience squeezed in a good many laughs during the twenty minutes they were on.

La Tosca and two young men assistants ought to get a good deal more applause for their act than they do. It is a very pleasing little musical turn, and the three performers show musical ability of a standard much above that usually seen in vaudeville. La Tosca, who looks as Spanish as her name, sings and plays the piano, while her assistants introduce the cello, accordion, flute and banjo. Gounod's "Ave Maria" and "Faust" are not the kind of music vaudeville audiences grow very enthusiastic about, however.

The motion pictures show, among other things, an exciting skirmish in the Balkans, and close an excellent bill.

"Madame Sherry."

Ernest Albert, the famous painter of beautiful stage effects, has won for himself still more fame from the theater critics as it was said he surpassed himself in the three elaborate scenes that distinguished "Madame Sherry," the same production which comes to the Lyceum Friday and Saturday.

A company of noted celebrities will be seen here in the sensational French vaudeville, as it is termed.

Because everyone all over the country is humming, singing or whistling some numbers of the score of "Madame Sherry," the impression is current in some quarters that the production's charm is in greater part musical. Report says that the mirth qualities of the play are no less engaging than its score. The love of a man for a maid under odd circumstances, love of the soulful, romantic sort, love that blossoms in the heart of youth and flourishes as true love ever does when things do not go smoothly, is the theme of the spell of the production, according to report, but this love, this courtship, is so beset on every side and attended by so many misadventures, that while itself remaining an appealing interest, all its accessory situations arouse amusement. Some idea of the fun developed may perhaps be gleaned by a summary of the characters of the play which, besides the lovers, include an Italian house janitor, his Irish wife, a lively, fun-loving actress, a New York man-about-town, an amusingly whimsical uncle of the maid in love, and others including the pupils of a dancing school and the guests of a yachting party.

New North Dakota Medics.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Of thirteen applicants for certificates to practice medicine in this state, who were examined recently, nine were successful as follows: H. D. Lees, Esmond; James Zimmerman, Neche; Samuel Chernausek, Dickinson; R. D. Benson, Minneapolis; Alfred Dean, Grand Forks; A. E. Phillips, Dickey; J. B. James, Pare; A. M. Treat, Rolla, and W. E. Clark, Harvey. Reciprocity licenses were granted to T. A. Quigley, Anamoose; S. E. Ewing, Kenmare; W. E. Mertz, Lidgerwood; E. M. Watson, New Rockford; H. M. Blegen, Wahpeton, and Ivan M. Linsen, Forbes.

No More Constipation

It's Me for Olive Tablets!

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years, and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated tablets.

They cause the bowels and liver to act normal. They never force them to unnatural action.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are so easy to take that children do not regard them as "medicine" at all.

If you have a "dark brown mouth" now and then—a bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver and constipated, you'll find quick, sure and only pleasant results from one or two little Olive Tablets at bedtime. They're perfectly harmless.

Thousands take one every night just to keep right. Try them.

"Every little Olive Tablet movement all its own." 10c and 25c per box.

MAY SELL AND MOVE EAST

Pilgrim Congregation Considering Site in the Normal School District.

Downtown District Well Provided for—Opportunity in New Territory.

Pilgrim Congregational congregation may secure a site in the East end and erect a new church.

A committee has been appointed to obtain an option on an available lot, to secure a purchaser for the church property at Lake avenue and Second street, to obtain the facts as to the cost of a new edifice and report back to the congregation. The committee consists of C. A. Duncan, E. D. Field, T. H. Hawkes, Oscar Mitchell and J. W. Norton. It is understood that the committee has a possible purchaser in view.

The removal of the church was recommended by Rev. C. N. Thorpe, the pastor, who reports that he has determined that the opportunity for the church in its present location is not so great as it would be at a location between Sixteenth and Twenty-fourth avenues east.

In summing up the reasons for his conclusion, Rev. Thorpe said in his report:

"It is my duty as a faithful watchman on the walls of our Zion, to present to you certain aspects of the situation in which we find ourselves today, together with sundry recommendations looking toward _____ what I am constrained to believe is to be the greatest chapter in the history of Pilgrim church. Our present edifice was erected in the year 1887. At that time your beloved and optimistic pastor, Mr. Noyes, predicted that eventually the church would remove to the East end, maintaining the work at Lake avenue, if needed, as a mission. Not long after the First Presbyterian church to the east of us, and the First M. E. church to the west, erected commodious buildings, and have since attained large membership. They are doing thorough downtown work, searching this region for material; they stand about a half mile apart, guarding the present approaches to the downtown district. The area between these two churches is steadily becoming a section of business houses and public buildings. As Duluth grows, the business section is bound to push uphill and crowd out the homes of the people, as our church stands closest to this business invasion.

The Two Questions.

"Two questions of a general nature confront us. First, are we needed downtown? I have rarely seen a similar area in the heart of a city with so many church buildings. The Catholic cathedral, the multitude of Scandinavian churches, the Jewish synagogue, the M. E. Presbyterian, and a host of other churches; with our own, are offering religious opportunity to this downtown section. The Bethel with its various activities and rescue work, the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. present institutional features to those in need.

"May it not be that Pilgrim church is more needed in some other section of our city?

"The other general question involves a survey of Duluth to see if a church like ours is needed in any particular section. Within a few years the normal school neighborhood has been opened up; it is destined to become a center of large population in the next ten years. The grades out there are easier; section far up the slope are available for building. From Tenth avenue as you go eastward, you will find the unfinished Christian church on Twelfth avenue, the unfinished St. Paul's at Seventeenth avenue and Superior, the little Unitarian church at Eighteenth and First, the Endion Methodist (once our own property) at Nineteenth avenue and First street and the pro-cathedral just below it. If I were a young business man, with little children in my home, having just built a house at Twenty-fourth avenue east, I should quietly call a meeting of some of my neighbors and promote the organization of a Congregational church not far from the normal school, as a section that needs a church of the Presbyterian or Congregational type, and needs it now. The normal school is steadily growing; the church that is located within easy reach of that school is bound to make its impress upon the coming teachers in all of this northern section of the state."

Mr. Thorpe points out that Plymouth church of Minneapolis recently disposed of its downtown property and built a $75,000 edifice within reach of its people in a suburb.

Changed Conditions.

The report also shows that in 1905 Pilgrim church had forty families west of Lake avenue, where it now has only ten, and between Lake avenue and Tenth avenue east it had seventy-five families in 1905 and it now has thirty-five. East of Tenth avenue east it had seventy-five families in 1905 and now it has 115, a total of 190 families now compared with 190 in 1905. Sixty-two families of the church congregation now live east of Twentieth avenue east, and the center of the church population is Sixteenth avenue east.

Mr. Thorpe points out that many children of members of the church are attending Sunday school in other churches farther to the east, and that they will be brought into the church Sunday school if the removal is made. The report says:

"What may be the future of this church if within a reasonable time we sell the Lake avenue property, and erect a new church home somewhere east of Sixteenth avenue east?

"We shall hold our own people. The people in the western portion of the parish are just as loyal as are the people in Woodland, or in the Twentieth avenue section; they will take the car and go towards the morning sun at the hour of worship. By providing nearby Sunday school facilities for our boys and girls we shall stop the steady loss of our own young people and their families.

"We shall stand as a strong church, with a new and handsome building, in a section where hundreds of young people are now living and more are soon to build homes. With our remarkable constituency of leading men and women, we are destined to attract and win many families, and to furnish them the inspirations of the religious life.

"The resources of Pilgrim church, personal and financial, will increase, and not diminish; and we shall be able to do larger things for the downtown section through the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A., the Bethel, or in union mission work, as the opportunity may arise.

"Pilgrim church has always been known as a church which trains and furnishes leaders for the higher life of Duluth. In the new location we could even more abundantly fulfill that peculiarly important function in years to come.

"In the whole progress of building a new church we shall find a wonderful harmony and joy. The old sinking at the heart, which you have all at times felt as you have contemplated the gradual waning of the power of this old church will give way to a feeling of hope and exultation, as together we sacrifice, as the fathers of 1887 sacrificed, that this church may have a beautiful and substantial home, in the right location for the best service.

"The influence of such a church upon the students of the normal school is not to be forgotten; to set this church over against those hundreds of young people, each a future leader in our state, will be fraught with untold blessing to multitudes."

ARM AMPUTATED NEAR SHOULDER

Details of Accident to Roger Woodbridge Are Received.

Details of the accident which cost Roger Woodbridge his arm are contained in a copy of the Marquette Journal, received today.

The clipping follows:

"Roger Woodbridge of Duluth has suffered the loss of his left arm, which had to be amputated at the Ishpeming hospital, as the result of an injury he sustained Wednesday night, while he was working at the concentrating plant of the American mine. Young Woodbridge, who was night foreman at the plant, in some manner became caught in the belting and was carried several feet through a small space. His arm was so badly lacerated and broken that amputation was necessary at a point a few inches below the shoulder. His legs and body were also bruised and cut. The patient was doing well yesterday.

"Young Woodbridge's father is a prominent Minnesota mining man and is well known in the Lake Superior district. The young man had been working in and around the American mine to get practical experience before completing a course in engineering. Prior to the completion of the concentrating plant, he worked as an underground miner at the American property. As soon as the concentrating plant was put in operation he was placed in charge of the night work. During the year or so he has lived at Diorite he has made many friends there and in Ishpeming.

"Mr. Woodbridge's mother arrived yesterday from Duluth, and his father is expected down tomorrow morning."

BIG AUDIENCE AT FREE CONCERT

Excellent Musical Program Is Enjoyed at Masonic Temple.

A capacity audience of more than 600 people enjoyed an excellent program at the free concert at the Masonic temple yesterday afternoon.

One of the pleasing features was the series of short instructive talks by Mr. Custance explaining the music on the program, particularly the two organ numbers from the "Flying Dutchman," the overture and the spinning chorus. Mr. Custance also explained and illustrated Wagner's use of the 'leit motif,' first employed by him in this opera. Both numbers were well executed, and greatly enjoyed. A group of three transcriptions of melodies by various composers was attractive, especially Schumann's "Abendlied." The "Festival Entrance March," by Goldmark is a characteristic composition, combining with Oriental suggestion and imagery. It is a part of the opera "Queen of Sheba," and represents the entrance into King Solomon's court of the barbaric queen, accompanied by guard, musicians, slaves and admirers. The vocal numbers were supplied by George E. Suffel, baritone. Mr. Suffel who is especially successful in dramatic music was happy in his selections. The first number was the dignified recitative and aria from Hayden's Creation, "Rolling in Foaming Billows," depicting the creation of oceans and seas, of which the singer proved himself a capable interpreter. The second number was a spirited song by Phillips entitled "A Son of the Desert Am I," full of fire and vim, affording fine opportunities to the vocalist. As an encore Mr. Suffel gave "For Ever and a Day," by Mack. At next Sunday's concert, George H. Madison will be soloist, and vocal selections will be given by the Apollo club.

LAKE AND RAIL RATES SUSPENDED

Trunk Line May Not Put New Tariffs in Until July 25.

The traffic commission of the Commercial club has been notified of the further suspension by the Interstate Commerce commission of the proposed advances in lake and rail rates from trunk line territory to Duluth and other points in the Northwest.

The latest suspension is until July 25. The rates were first published some time ago and the traffic commission of the Commercial club filed a protest which resulted in the first suspension. Several hearings have been held and briefs have been filed. It is believed that the latest suspension is made in order that no final decision may be given until after the decision in the lake and rail case of the Duluth Commercial club as that decision will have a bearing on the rates involved in the proposed advance.

SHORTAGE OF BOATS FOR SEASON'S START

More Ore Refused and Coal Shippers Must Use Small Boats at a Loss.

It is claimed at the lower lake ports, where most of the chartering is made, that there has been so much ore chartered already that vessel owners have had to refuse more ore and coal shippers have found that they cannot count on as much capacity for the opening of the season, at least as they had expected. This will bring into use for the carrying of coal a great many small boats, and this is considered unfortunate for the coal shippers for the reason that a great deal of time will be lost in loading and unloading.

It is believed that each month of the coming season will see a movement of ore far beyond anything ever seen on the Great Lakes before, for it is determined to reach the 50,000,000-ton mark during 1913 at all costs, for the demand for ore warrants it.

Lumber shippers are being asked $8 for first cargoes, but it is not reported that many are taking vessels at that price as yet.

WILL ARGUE THE INCINERATOR CASE

Supreme Court Will Hear Attack on Title to City Property.

The case involving the city's title to the incinerator property on the bay front will be argued before the supreme court Thursday.

The incinerator property was bought in by W. C. Foster of Chicago for delinquent taxes, according prior to the property being purchased by the city. Mr. Foster claimed the property under his tax title and the city contested his claim. Judge Dibell, in district court, held for the city and Mr. Foster has appealed to the supreme court.

LODGE OF REBEKAHS TO BE ORGANIZED.

A preliminary meeting was held at the I. O. O. F. temple, Fourth street and Mesaba avenue, Saturday evening, for the purpose of organizing a lodge of Rebekahs. A temporary organization was formed, committees were appointed to procure the necessary cards and make a list of new members.

The petition that is being prepared to be submitted to the grand lodge of the state contains 143 names, and the committee expects to double that number by the time the charter is closed. A great deal of enthusiasm was shown at the meeting and there is no doubt but they will accomplish the results desired.

ORDER FOR HEARING ON PETITION FOR ADMINISTRATION—

State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis.—ss.

In Probate Court.

In the Matter of the Estate of Daniel C. Ryan, Decedent.

THE PETITION OF Mary Ryan, having been filed in this Court, representing, among other things, that Daniel C. Ryan, then being a resident of the County of St. Louis, State of Minnesota, died intestate, in the County of St. Louis, State of Minnesota, on the first day of January, 1913; leaving estate in the County of St. Louis, State of Minnesota, and that said petitioner is the surviving spouse of said decedent and praying that Letters of Administration of the estate of said decedent be granted to R. J. Ryan of Duluth, Minnesota.

IT IS ORDERED, That said petition be heard before this Court, at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House in Duluth, in said County, on Monday, the 10th day of February, 1913, at ten o'clock A. MERIT PLAN'S INFLUENCE

Civil Service Commission Shows Effect Upon Governing Bodies.

Philippine Service and the Growth of Native Employe List.

A copy of the annual report of the civil service commission submitted to congress by the president recently, has just arrived in Duluth. It contains some interesting detail as to the workings of the merit system and its influence. As to the influence it has wielded throughout the country in general the report has this to say:

"The commission cites as an indication of the popular approval of the merit system that if the whole of public employes in the United States—Federal, state county, municipal, and village—not far from 600,000, or nearly two-thirds of the entire number, are withdrawn from the spoils system and appointed upon a merit basis under laws intended to regulate and improve the public service. The experience obtained in the administration of the merit system by more than 200 civil service commissions under varying conditions has demonstrated the value and the success of the system in obtaining well qualified persons for all classes of positions, especially for the higher expert positions."

The report, referring to the system and its needs, says in part:

"The twenty-ninth annual report of the civil service commission submitted by the president to congress shows 295,460 persons in the executive civil service on June 30, 1912. Of this number, 236,061 held positions subject to competitive examination under the civil service rules, an increase of 4,648 during the year. There were 24 positions added to the classified service, apart from merc growth, during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1912, and 94 withdrawn from the competitive classified service. From July 1, 1912, to Oct. 16, 1912, however, there were 36,420 positions added to the competitive classified service, of which 36,420 were fourth-class postmasterships.

"During the year 20,969 persons were appointed, transferred or promoted upon examination in the competitive classified service. This number represents the net result of the examination of 106,078 people, 52,251 of whom passed. Including examinations for the Philippine service and for the unskilled labor service 113,670 persons were examined, 65,385 passed, and 21,-973 were appointed. The commission also issued certificates for 2,183 transfers, promotions, and reinstatements without examination."

Rural Delivery.

The report goes on to say that the rural delivery system, classified in 1902, now employs 42,081 carriers, and that the system is a very distinct success, especially since the standard of examinations has been raised. Continuing the report says:

"The commission points out that of the 236,061 positions in the classified service, 208,000 are in the field service away from Washington, and that of 105,000 persons examined for the classified service for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1911, but 19,000 were examined for the service in Washington. A very large part of the commission's work therefore, needs to be done away from its main office through its twelve district secretaries and its 2,290 local boards of examiners."

In the Islands.

Concerning the service in the island possessions, the report says:

"With regard to the Philippine service the commission states that every effort is being made to eliminate Spanish examinations as far as practicable, and to appoint Filipinos wherever possible, no persons being appointed in the United States except to positions which cannot be adequately filled by Filipinos or Americans resident in the islands, the more important positions of this class, as far as the number is concerned, being those of teacher, civil engineer, surveyor, and certain scientific positions. The proportion of Filipinos in the entire service is steadily increasing, having increased from 64 to 65 per cent during 1910, and from 65 to 69 per cent during 1911. The percentage of permanently appointed Americans separated during the fiscal year 1911 was 21 per cent of the total American force, and in 1912, 17 per cent. The large percentage of separations of competent and experienced Americans is a matter of concern to the American government."

As to cost it says:

"In comparing the results of the United States civil service commission with those under the British system, the commission states that it cost $5.41 during the year 1910 to examine each candidate for the British service, and that the cost to the government of the United States is about $2.16 each. The total annual appropriation for the commission for all purposes is about one-tenth of 1 per cent of the annual appropriation for salaries of employes in the competitive classified service. It is thus seen that the cost for each individual employe withdrawn from the spoils system and put in the classified service is very small. The cost of service administration, in this country, although covering a wider field of operations, is much less than in any other country."

THE LAST POLISH UPRISING

By JOSEPH KARASIEWICZ.

Half a century ago Poland was engulfed in her last bloody uprising to throw off the hated yoke of Russian oppression.

After the unsuccessful insurrection of 1831, when Poland's best and noblest element was either exterminated on the battlefield, or sent to rot in "the grave of the living"—Siberia—the conditions were growing worse every day. Openly, Russia did not dare to trample upon the treaty of Vienna of 1815, and her own organic act of 1832. But these obligations, apparently binding and respected, were a dead letter in the practical administration of Poland's affairs. Poland had to contribute $22,000,000 yearly to the coffers of her inexorable mistress. Besides this Poland had to support 100,000 Russian troops stationed within her territory. Her commerce and industries were paralyzed and exports to Russia practically rehibited. The high schools and educational institutions closed, the remaining limited number of lower ones were administered by hostile Russian teachers. Such is the word picture of Poland—exhausted by her heroic struggle of 1831, prostrated under the foot of her mistress: her property and citizens exposed to the rapine of grafting Russian officialdom, and her women to the bestiality of 100,000 half-Mongolian barbarians.

The people, awed by the enormity of their own sacrifices, by the sky-high grave of country's defenders, and by the red bloody trail left on the snow-covered wilds of Siberia by countless thousands of ardent patriots, driven in irons with rawhide knouts by Cossacks, fell into an apathic slumber, into a dogged martyr's resignation.

Russia, meanwhile, kept on going farther in her determined effort to denationalize the unfortunate Poles. She went too far, however, in this nefarious work of suppression of every spark of national life and love of liberty. The cowardly butchery of innocent children, women and unarmed curious bystanders on the streets of Warsaw on Feb. 25, 1861, repeated again on Feb. 27, stirred the agonizing Poles with lightning-like rapidity; rekindled the dying out hopes, and erected a thirst for revenge. These dastardly deeds that can be well compared with Herod's carnage of innocents, caused the Poles to wake up and to protest.

Then came the ill-fated statesman—Marquis Alexander Wielepolski. He did not believe in insurrection. His aim was to consolidate the interests of Poland with those of Russia. He believed in the racial affinity of the two nations. A very fatal delusion. He overlooked the basic difference between Poland's Western civilization and Russian's Eastern barbarism; the diversity of religion; the infusion of Mongolian blood in Russians, and worst of all, he failed to see the rivers of blood and hatred parting the two nations for centuries.

The indignation that swept Poland was far-reaching. Great demonstrations were held all over, culminating in the meeting of two monster processions, one of Poles and the other of Lithuanians, on the river Niemen, near Kowne, on Aug. 12, 1861. The younger generation started to conspire, to organize and to drill. Arms and ammunition were procured and smuggled in, preparatory for a general outbreak. Over 2,400 schools were opened secretly and supported by the patriots to educate the masses.

Momentarily the Russian government was awed by these symptoms of unrest and indignation, and granted some concessions. This, however, came too late to soothe the outraged feelings of the Poles, and the preparations, with the avowed purpose of fighting sword in hand for freedom, kept going on.

To cap the climax, while these underground preparations were going on, planning a general outbreak at about 1865, Marquis Wielopolski, appointed by the czar as the administrator of Polish affairs, educational and religious affairs, precipitated the catastrophe by advising a forced and illegal conscription of the more ardent patriotic elements. He knew that such procedure would result in a premature outbreak, but being opposed to insurrection he aimed at it, as is plainly shown by his own words, "that the boil was ripe and needed lancetting; and in case of the expected premature bursting in midwinter, the rebellion would be quashed within two weeks." This decided the course of the conspiring patriots; they decided on the premature outbreak to save 20,000 of the best Polish youths who were to be sent forcibly into the ranks of Russian soldiery.

On the night of Jan. 22, 1863, about 8,000 men, chiefly youths and students, armed with old-fashioned muzzle-loading shotguns, scythes, poles and sabers (old family heirlooms), attacked simultaneously the Russian garrisons in seventeen different places. It was a strange beginning of a strange revolution. Seventeen bands of unarmed men, totaling in all 8,000 men, attacked 100,000 regular troops in well-armed and equipped garrisons and routed them in many instances, taking arsenals with ammunition and even some cannons.

The revolution so started, instead of the two weeks predicted by Marquis Wielopolski, lasted over fifteen months, accompanied in some instances by signal victories of the Poles. It was not a regular conflict, but an endless chain of small engagements. There are recorded over 600 such encounters, and each of them claimed its quota of martyrs and victims. The Russian soldiery, after every victory over a handful of bare-footed, poorly-clad, unarmed, starving and freezing patriots, pillaged and burned down the neighboring villages, murdered women and children and indulged in all kinds of excesses.

It is estimated that during the campaign over 50,000 Poles were under arms and over 100,000 were either killed, sent to Siberia or executed for either directly or indirectly abetting the revolution. The Russian losses, according to Russian official statistics, amounted to 40,000.

At the beginning the peasants looked upon the revolution with diffidence. But after the first civil act of the Central Polish committee proclaiming the equality of classes and the emancipation of peasants from the so-called 'panszczyzna,' firmly enforced by the insurgents punishing severely the disobedient and cruel landlords, the peasants started to join the ranks of the rebels and help them in other ways. But here again the evil genius of Wielopolski served as the unwitting tool of the Russian government in inciting the peasants against the revolutionists by granting them similar concessions and amnesty. This nefarious work was capped by the three greatest tyrants of the epoch: Murawiew in Lithuania, Krencke in Little Russia and Milutin—the Russian Metternich—in Poland. They cunningly lauded the peasants' "loyalty" and incited them against the insurgents, blaming the latter for the peasants' hard lot. Their efforts had the desired effect: the peasants ceased to support the revolution and in many instances became hostile to it. Their dulled brains were unable to grasp the fact that their emancipation was a deed of the revolutionists and not of the despotic government trying to play the role of their benefactor.

Under such trying circumstances the revolution could not last very much longer. To make matters worse, the Russian army, numbering now about 300,000, continued her orgy and excesses. The conquerors obtained forcibly many servile addresses of loyalty from various cities and provinces. The higher officialdom started a series of balls and fetes, forcing the poor, weeping and martyrized Polish matrons to attend. Could there be any worse torture for a Polish woman than to dance and be merry, when her father, husband and son were rotting in the dungeons of citadels or starving in the woods. She had no choice in the matter; there were Russian bayonets and the fear that her refusal would be the death warrant of her dear ones, that forced her to dance and be merry on the grave of her fatherland.

The revolution was doomed and fell, but it gained at least one moral victory, that of the emancipation of the peasant class, although distorted and misconstrued by the cunning Russian government. The last tragic event of the movement was the execution of the five members, forming the secret Polish government with Romuald Traugut at the head as dictator. It was an awe inspiring scene touching the coldest hearts.

After duly advertising the execution for Aug. 5, 1864, there was erected an immense scaffold with five hangman's nooses dangling in the air of the ancient city of Warsaw. From early morning masses of people thronged around the place of execution, guarded by a strong body of the army. At 9 a. m. appeared the executioner with the death procession, composed of the five condemned men, on five small black painted wagonnettes, accompanied by as many praying friars. Upon being taken from the wagonettes and put in line, the officer in charge read the sentence in a trembling voice. It was an imposing moment in its horror. Silence was supreme and a death pallor spread over the faces of the ten thousand assembled spectators: the sabers trembled in the hands of the guards. In the midst of this silence the steps of the victims resounded on the platform of the gallows, resembling hammer blows on the cover of a coffin. Calmly, the victims started to pull the nooses over their own heads. The pent-up suppressed emotion of the assembled throngs was at its breaking point. Suddenly, a heart rending cry of the thousands of spectators pierced the air and all of them fell on their knees. It was the executioner that knocked out the stool from Traugut's feet, and the white figure of the dictator remained stretched in midair, swinging lightly from side to side. The procedure was repeated methodically with the remaining four heroes. When Zulinski's turn came, his sister, present among the throng of spectators, exclaimed: "Courage, brother." Poor, brave, spartan woman. In a few moments more five white-clad figures were swinging in the light breeze. The throng remained kneeling and praying for the agonizing martyrs.

The revolution failed and apathy settled once more upon the hapless Poles. Russia did not relent in her inhuman prosecution of the conquered. The last fifty years is nothing more, but a continuous martyrologium of the unfortunate nation. But it thrives in spite of it all. There is a proverb which says: "Mighty nations may fall, but only the vile ones will perish." The truth of this is personified in Poland. It grows, it extends and is pulsating, throbbing with life. The last Balkan happenings injected into Poland a new stimulant. They hear now more than ever the agonizing cries of unavenged victims and they realize that they are 25,000,000 strong. The activity and organization spreads in spite of the most atrocious efforts of the ruling powers to preserve the Polish masses in ignorance and moral serfdom. Seeing all this one thing seems to be inevitable and certain, a thing that practically no other nation believes in or admits, and that is that there will be a free Poland as sure as there is a God above us.

GOSSIP IS HIS THEME

Duluth Pastor Says No Law Can Reach the "Backbiter."

"Our Conversation Is the Barometer of Our Soul."

Rev. Bruce Black in his sermon yesterday at the Union church decried the act of gossip. He said in part:

"There is a secret presence of God, which we call mystery, from which comes our wisdom and peace. Into this hidden hill only the few ever enter to be the guests of God. It is truly the secret place of the Most High. Man has from the earliest times sought entrance to the hill, but few have found it, not that God is unwilling to receive us, but we are unwilling to enter as He wills. Occultism of ancient days was more prevalent than today, but it never did and never will lead to the secret hill.

"The fact, however, that such efforts have from time to time been made suggest three great truths. First, that in every heart there is an inward longing for this citadel of God. When sorrows sweep upon us, then we long for that rock, that is higher than us.

"Second, That there must be, a secret place of the Most High.'

"Thirdly, There must be a right way, and happily David states the way so plainly, that only the blind can miss it, but because the way is so simple, many will overlook it as unimportant.

"One tremendously important thing to be abandoned in the search for the secret hill, is criticism, or that species of criticism which David calls backbiting. Our twentieth century term for this fault is gossip, the most common pastime in society of today having participants among all walks of life. Gossip fosters untruths, exaggerates faults, and impugns honest motives. No law can reach it, no punishment can check it, for it is the work of a cowardice, that avoids the open, and strikes in secret. Our conversation is the barometer of our soul. It records the pressure of either sin or righteousness. In the sanctuary of God, shall be the privilege to see our Father, but only the pure in heart shall see God. No gossiper shall ever enter the sacred portal, for he is without the new heart and the right spirit which David prayed for.

Ferry Boats Collide.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 27.—Plowing along at half speed through a dense fog that veiled San Francisco bay today, two Southern Pacific ferry steamers, the Bay City and the Melrose, collided and narrowly escaped sinking. More than 100 passengers and members of the crew were aboard the vessels. The force of the impact carried away large sections of the upper framework of both ferries.

PROGRAM FOR Y. M. C. A. "POP"

The "Pop" program this week at the Y. M. C. A. is to be a top notcher. An effort has been made by the committee to secure a very attractive program and make this week's program an all-star bill. One of the chief attractions will be the Normanna Male chorus of thirty voices, who will appear in several numbers. The chorus is so well known in the city that no comment is necessary as to its efficiency.

A new feature for the program will be the appearance of W. A. Coughlin who is a ventriloquist of established reputation. Mr. Coughlin has returned to Duluth having been on the Pacific coast for some time.

Mrs. A. E. Kelley will give a humorous reading entitled "The Cooking Lesson."

In addition to this A. R. Burquist, tenor, will appear in a vocal number and the Y. M. C. A. orchestra will provide music for the occasion.

Free tickets are available at the Y. M. C. A. office. The program is as follows:

(a) March .....
(b) Overture .....
Orchestra.
"Sanger Helsen" .....Edw. Grieg
Normanna Male Chorus.
Vocal solo—(Selected) .....
A. R. Burquist.
"Ossian" .....Beschuitt

PHILIPPINE SCOUTS KILLED BY MOROS.

Manila, Jan. 27.—The local wireless station has picked up an unsigned message, presumably from Zamboanga, which gives the news of the death of Capt. McNally of the Philippine scouts and seven of his men in a fight with Moros. Three of those who lost their lives were lieutenants. The scouts also had fourteen wounded. The loss of the Moros is not given.

It is believed the fight was in the neighborhood of Jolo. Wires are down in that direction and no direct news has been received.

Rheumatic Blood is Whole Story

Wonderful Specific for Sciatica, Lumbago, and a Cure for Dreaded Articular Rheumatism.

There is a host of pills, powders, tablets and what not for rheumatism, but they all lack the first essential to being a favored medicine. To begin with, rheumatism is simply a name given to designate a variety of pains, and can only be reached by irrigating the entire blood supply with a naturally assimilative antidote. Time, the pains may be eased with opiates or the acids may be neutralized for the time being with other acids. But these merely temporize and do not even tend to a cure. There is but one standard rheumatism remedy, and it reflects the best thought of the day. It is prepared in the great Swift Laboratory in Atlanta, Ga., and sold in all drug stores under the name of S. S. S. at $1.00 a bottle.

Starvation has been advocated by many as a cure for rheumatism, and yet S. S. S. accomplishes in fact what fadidists promise in theory and without the punishment of starvation. Hot springs and sweating are often recommended, but S. S. S. does all that is expected of these excessive and weakening methods.

It is conceded by the closest students of the subject that rheumatism is caused in most cases by an acid condition of the blood and aggravated by the remedies commonly used for relief. In other cases rheumatism is the result of nerve depression, in still others it is the effect of some scrofulous blood condition, having been treated with mercury, iodides, arsenic and other poisonous mineral drugs.

The recoveries of all these types of rheumatism by the use of S. S. S. is a wonderful tribute to the natural efficacy of this remarkable medicine, for it is assimilated just as naturally, just as specifically, and just as well ordained as the most acceptable, most palatable and most readily digested food. Do not fail to get a bottle of S. S. S. to-day. You will be astonished at the results. If your rheumatism is of such a nature that you would like to consult a great specialist confidentially, write to The Swift Specific Co., 127 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

KEEP OF POOR VERY COSTLY

Increase in Charge in North Dakota Declared Out of Proportion.

Says North Dakota University Professor Who Has Looked Up Question.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The cost of relief for the paupers of North Dakota has increased out of proportion with the increase in population, investigation by Prof. J. M. Gilette of the University of North Dakota showing that while the population was increasing 32 per cent, that the cost of giving relief to the poor advanced 86.5 per cent, or 2.7 per cent more rapidly.

Five years ago the state expended $123,917.15, while now it expends $240,468.80. These figures were obtained by Prof. Gilette from each of the fifty counties in the state, by inquiry of the county auditors, the only source through which the information can be gleaned.

Failure upon the part of the state to more strictly supervise the expenditure of public moneys for the relief of paupers is held responsible by Prof. Gilette for the condition that he portrays. North Dakota, he says, has accepted from older states their methods without study, matters being allowed to drift, and the result has been increased expenditures for paupers without just cause.

Says Laws Are Deficient.

North Dakota statutes, according to Prof. Gilette, are deficient in several important particulars in their provision for the care of the poor in poor houses. Provisions are absent relating to the segregation of the sexes, the segregation of inmates with contagious and infectious diseases, the exclusion from such inst'tutions of the insane, feeble minded and epileptic, the exclusion of children, or the satisfactory disposal of dependent children, strict laws regarding admission and dismissal, the proper training of overseers, state inspection, better systems of accounting, compulsory labor from inmates who are able to work, and visitation of all such institutions by commissioners or boards of health.

Able bodied applicants for poor relief should be compelled to give service for aid received, according to Prof. Gilette, who proposes more complete supervision over cases of outside relief—that is relief outside of the poor houses. Men able to work and still seeking county or state aid, should be declared vagrants for refusal to work, he says.

CIVIC PROBLEMS TO BE DISCUSSED

Citizens' Institute, New Wrinkle, to Be Held at Lisbon, N. D.

Lisbon, N. D., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Lisbon will devote two days this week to studying civic problems. The first Citizens Institute ever held in the state is scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday, under the direction of the extension department of the University of North Dakota. It will take on the same form as the old time and well known farmers' institute except that in the place of studying agricultural topics, the people will study municipal improvement questions.

A clearer understanding of city problems and municipal development is the object of the citizens' institute. Public health protection, medical inspection of school children, possibility of closer co-operation between city and country, organization for furthering civic growth, social center work, etc., will be taken up. The moving picture machines will be used in portraying some of the features.

The Commercial club is in charge of the local arrangements and one of the features that has been arranged is a banquet that will be held on Wednesday evening. The staff of lecturers for this unique institute include President F. L. McVey, Prof. John M. Gillette, Dr. G. F. Reudiger, Miss Bertha Erdmann, N. C. Abbott, all of the University of North Dakota, and Miss Minnie Neilson of Valley City, superintendent of Barnes county schools and president of the North Dakota Federation of Women's Clubs

CASS LAKE PLANT IS AGAIN BURNED

Another Fire Visits Finishing Room of Northern Pine Crating Co.

Washburn, Wis., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—O. A. Kenfield, vice president of the Northern Pine Crating company, whose factory at Cass Lake, Minn., was burned Sunday, announced today that the building would be rebuilt and that it was insured. The sawmill was not burned.

Cass Lake, Minn., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire Saturday night destroyed the finishing room of the Northern Pine Crating company here, causing a loss of about $15,000. It is not believed there is any insurance. There have been five or six fires at this plant since it was built a few years ago, and insurance companies have been chary about writing a line on the building. The Chicago representative of the company was negotiating for insurance about ten days ago, but it is not certain whether he had secured the policies yet or not. The Federal court at Duluth recently held H. N. Harding, a local insurance agent, responsible to the Liverpool & London & Globe Insurance company for over $2,000 for a policy which the company had ordered canceled, but which the agent did not promptly do, and caught a fire at this same plant for the amount of the policy.

The crating company sued the insurance company and recovered, and then the insurance company, after several years in court, has recovered judgment against the agent. The frequency with which fires have occurred at this plant have forced the citizens of Cass Lake and the company to the reluctant conclusion that there is a firebug working to destroy their plant. The company has always suffered financially to quite an extent at each fire, but has always rebuilt the burnt part.

Rebuilt of Fireproof.

After the fire immediately preceding this one, which was in the boiler room, the company began the policy of rebuilding of fireproof. There are so many orders ahead that John Oman, the local manager of the crating company thinks it very probable that the entire crew of this plant will be taken over to the company's plant at Betty to run that plant to full capacity, to in a measure keep up with orders while the plant here will be rebuilt. Mr. Oman states that in line with the policy of the company, the destroyed portion of the plant will probably be rebuilt of either steel or concrete at once. The engine rom, boiler room, sawmill, office and dry kiln were not injured by the fire. There was no fire of any kind in the destroyed building prior to the discovery of this fire, and Mr. Oman says that he had two men at work all day Saturday thoroughly cleaning up the entire building of all kinds of litter, and there seems no possible chance for the fire to have started except by the act of an incendiary. It is possible that an overheated bearing or defective wiring might have been the cause, but this seems remote.

FIX IRONWOOD SLIDE.

Getting Ready for Coming of Ski Jumpers Next Month.

Ironwood, Mich., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—To the ski tournament at Chippewa Falls yesterday Ironwood club sent Eskel Gustafson and Arthur Bratlund, who entered in Class A, and Walter Bratlund in the boys' class. On next Sunday there will be a tournament held at Stoughton, Wis. The local ski hill will be completed this week and a tryout will be held here on Sunday, Feb. 2.

August Slivenski, a former Ironwood boy, who is now connected with a camera company at Milwaukee, has made a contract with the local club to come here when the national tournament is held here, Feb. 15, 16 and 17, and take pictures of the riders and everything in confection with the tourney. These will be made into moving pictures. There will be plenty of snow in Ironwood for the riders and the national tournament of 1913 should be a success in every way.

JUMPS INTO WHEAT PUTTING OUT BLAZE.

Lisbon, N. D., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—While Walter Woodrich, engineer at the Chisman farm, was in the granary filling a bucket with gasoline some of the liquid fell into a lighted lantern and the flames communicated with the pail of oil. Woodrich's clothing was set on fire, but he saved his life by jumping into a bin of wheat. The building caught on fire but flax smothered the flames.

STATE'S OLDEST WOMAN

Mrs. Frances La Bore of St. Paul Is Called at 104.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 27.—Mrs. Frances La Bore, said to have been the oldest woman in the state, is dead at her home here, aged 104 years. Mrs. La Bore, who had been a resident of Ramsey county since 1849, is survived by three sons, three daughters, many grandchildren and fifteen great grandchildren. She was born in Sarell, Quebec.

IS ACQUITTED BY FEDERAL COURT JURY.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The verdict of not guilty was returned by a jury in Federal court freeing Neil Campbell of Wyndmere from the charge of making a false entry in his bankruptcy schedules.

The case was a hard fought one and the jury deliberated for five hours before arriving at a verdict.

Campbell was charged with making a false entry in regard to a $2,000 note held by the Citizens' Bank of Lisbon, N. D. The note was involved in an intricate transaction between Campbell and the bank previous to the bankruptcy in which Campbell lost his property.

FORMER ASYLUM INMATE RETURNS.

Minot, N. D., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Conrad Larson is the first woman to apply for admission to the state hospital for the insane at Jamestown. She boarded a train here after leaving her home quietly in the night without rousing other members of the family, and was not heard from until the next day when insane asylum officials notified local authorities. Mrs. Larson explained to asylum officials that she believed herself becoming insane again. She had been discharged from there a year ago.

Miner's Injuries Fatal.

Negaunee, Mich., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank Reusing, aged 63, a resident of the Rolling Mill location, died Saturday. Mr. Reusing was injured at the Blue mine about six months ago, and after having been confined to his home, he returned to work, but was not able to continue, and he had been confined to his bed for five weeks or more.

Mr. Reusing has lived in Negaunee a number of years. A wife and five children, three boys and two girls, survive him.

North Dakota Father and Two Sons Lose Lives; Others Injured.

Martin, N. D., Jan. 27.—As Jacob Helm, a wealthy farmer living near here, was driving with his family across the Soo railroad tracks, at a crossing near here Sunday the Spokane Flyer struck their rig, killing three and seriously injuring two.

The dead:
JACOB HELM.
HIS TWO SONS.

Mrs Helm and one daughter received injuries that probably will result in death.

It is reported that the driver saw the approaching train and attempted to clear the track before its arrival. The wagon was demolished.

FINDS HIM BLEEDING.

Visitor in Search of Violin String Saves Neighbor's Life.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Going to the home of Victor Slama, a neighbor living near Milton, to borrow a violin string, James Svaboda found Slama bleeding to death from a hemorrhage of the lungs. He gave him aid and the man will live. Anton Slama, a brother, was similarly afflicted, but is recovering.

CRUSHED IN MINE.

South Dakotan Is Killed at Avoca Lignite Mine.

Williston, N. D., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—William F. Hall, a miner, was killed in the Bruegger lignite mine at Avoca, several miles east of here. He was alone and was pushing a coal car and was caught in between it and the wall of the tunnel. He was still alive when other miners discovered him, but died in a few minutes. He came here recently from Ashton, S. D., and had a wife and two children living there.

SAVES HIS TRUNK.

Otherwise Kittson County Farmer Is Completely Burned Out.

Karlstad, Minn., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Albert Johnson, a farmer living alone on a farm west of town barely escaped burning to death Friday night. He went to bed early and when he awoke about 9 o'clock he was surrounded by flames. Everything in the house was destroyed except a trunk that he succeeded in dragging out.

Farmers to Buy Autos.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Auto dealers are anticipating the largest business this year in the history of the state. The growing popularity of the machines with the farmers, the good times and the ability of those with an ambition for an auto to gratify their desires, have all had a tendency to make the situation look especially bright for the sellers.

Kenmare Wants Fair.

Kenmare, N. D., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Kenmare will make a bid for the establishment by the legislature of a northwestern fair. An annual appropriation of $2,500 for this fair will be asked. A bill covering the proposed exposition will be introduced by Senator Englund.

As an inducement to the proposed fair, Tollef Paulson has offered a 40-acre site, adjoining the city limits, free to the state.

Freezing Man Thawed Out.

Williston, N. D., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—With arms and legs frozen and with only a faint spark of life left, Knut Bakked, aged 28, was found lying in a strawstack near this city by a chance passerby. Brought to town, he was packed in ice to prevent too rapid thawing, and is now in a local hospital with a fighting chance for life.

Cured her boy's eczema "We cured our little son of eczema with Resinol. His legs were as raw as could be. It began with just little pimples. He could not rest or sleep, the itching was so bad. We tried every remedy we could think of but they did not seem to do him any good. After he suffered like that for about three months, we then began to wash him with Resinol Soap, and then used Resinol Ointment. They cured him in about two weeks, and he has never had any symptoms of eczema again." (Signed) Mrs. M. J. McCollum, Shoals, N. C.

Resinol heals skin humors

THERE is no need of suffering from eczema, ringworm, tetter or other itching, burning, unsightly eruption. With the first use of Resinol Ointment and Soap, the itching and burning stop, and healing begins. After Resinol has quickly removed the last trace of the trouble, Resinol Soap for toilet and bath will usually keep the skin clear and healthy.

Resinol is not an experiment. For 18 years it has been a doctor's prescription and household remedy for skin eruptions, pimples, dandruff, burns, sores, piles, etc. Resinol Ointment, (50c and $1) and Resinol Soap (25c) sold by all druggists. For sample of each, write to Dept. 17-B, Resinol Chem. Co., Baltimore, Md.

Resinol soothes and heals chapped faces and hands.

LATEST SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

Gossip, Comment and Sporting Editorial Review as Written By Bruce.

THE five well manicured fingers of teacher's ringless right doubled into a semi-sort of a fist, and she tapped gently but firmly on the imitation oak finished desk for order. The little scholars ceased whispering, several stuck wads of Beeham's product under the desks, and by slow, but plainly perceptible, degrees the class assumed order.

"Turning to lesson xi you will find the subject of the volley ball player," said teacher, and walking to her accustomed place in front of the line of front desks, she opened the little red book and placed one arm behind her back in the thoroughly orthodox manner.

The preliminaries being thus tersely disposed of, the lesson proceeded along the following well regulated lines:

See the volley ball player. Does he run and gambol merrily, like the baseball player and the football player? Does the volley ball player enjoy his little play.

Oh, yes, the volley ball player enjoys his play. He runs; so does the hippopotamus. No the volley ball player does not run like the baseball player. See how stiff-legged he runs. The volley ball player drags his feet on the floor.

What is the volley ball player?

A business man who is coming down the further side of the athletic hill.

Why does the volley ball player thus disport merrily?

In some cases to prove that the family physician is a liar.

See the volley ball player. How hard he works, and how serious is his face. Why does he run about so much?

Because his wife has told him that he is beginning to look ridiculous in a dress suit.

What is volley ball?

A meeting of prominent business men for the dual purpose of marshaling appetite, profusely perspiring and talking over business matters.

Do young men play volley ball?

Yes; young doctors, lawyers and undertakers thus often open the way for future business engagements.

Is volley ball a sport?

No; it is more of a habit.

What muscles are taxed the most in the playing of the game?

Those of the larynx.

Do volley ball players talk about their playing?

Other people generally.

Why does volley ball remind one of football?

Because it is so different.

WHEN Walter Miller and Mike Yokel meet in this city on the night of Feb. 10 to decide the world's middleweight wrestling championship, the match will be strictly speaking, the first world's championship match of the present season.

This contest will also be the deciding factor in the settlement of the long dispute as to the rightful holder of the middleweight title.

No draw will be considered in this contest. Under the rules of agreement of the match the men will be compelled to wrestle to a finish. One of the men must emerge from the contest with a clear claim to the title.

Almost a head shorter than Miller, Yokel comes from out of the Rocky mountain country with the reputation of being a demon for strength, with physical proportions that are amazing in a man of so short a stature.

The famous wrestler of Salt Lake City has a neck larger than that of Frank Gotch, and his body resembles the trunk of a sturdy oak tree.

It is admitted that Yokel is stronger than Miller; the great question in the coming match, is whether the Salt Lake City bear can overcome the speed, science and staying powers of the little Pole.

Of all matches wrestled in Duluth during recent years, this one promises to be one where bad blood will lend incentive to the two men, urging each on to Herculean efforts to win the disputed crown of the world's highest honors in the middleweight class.

In the lightweight class today there are five men holding with tenacity and with the help of press agents the topmost rung in the publicity ladder, at least. These men are Willie Ritchie, Jose Rivers, Adolph Wolgast, Joe Mandot and Knockout Brown.

Rivers and Knockout Brown are matched to battle. It is generally believed that Wolgast and Ritchie are to fight again. Mandot will ride in somewhere on the popular wave of public demand for another match, and by that time the fight public should have a rather lucid idea of the real champion of the 133-pound class.

When the Cleveland Hockey team comes here for the two games with the Duluth seven there is not the least doubt in the world but that the contests will attract two of the largest crowds that have ever witnessed hockey games in the Middle West.

This season Duluth is getting its first touch of hockey conducted as the game is played in the large cities of the East and near East, and the fans of this town frankly like the sport.

With a team that is showing real class and will show even greater proficiency before the season is over, and with the finest rink in the Northwest for the holding of the games, there is little wonder that the game has taken hold here with an unyielding hold. When Cleveland comes the big skating rink will be packed to the uttermost capacity, and Duluth will come into its belated own as one of the real homes of winter sport.

Carl Hanson, the "Terrible Swede" of Duluth, has taken up the defi of Loren Curtis of Thief River Falls, and says he is willing, aye anxious, to mat mix with the pride of the northern part of the state. The stocky Scandinavian is anxious to get to the top of the middleweight class and he is willing to take all of them on.

Starting with the play of this evening curling will come into its own. With play on in the Manley-McLennan and competition also scheduled to start in four of the trophy events, there will not be an idle evening, with the exceptions of Sunday, until the close of the season. The great old Scotch game is going to have the greatest season in its local history.

MILLER AND YOKEL TO WRESTLE BEFORE CAMERA.

The International Film company has made an offer to take a moving picture of the Miller-Yokel world's middleweight championship wrestling match, which will be contested in this city on the evening of Monday, Feb. 10.

These pictures will be the third set of films ever taken of a wrestling match in the history of the game, and the first ever taken in this city. Pictures were made of the first Gotch-Hackenschmidt match, also the contest between Gotch and Zbyszko.

A new machine has just been received from Germany, said to be one of the finest in the moving picture game. This machine will be given its first real tryout in Duluth.

Yokel and Miller will be taken as they arrive at the depot, as they appear on the street and as they are finishing their training for the world's title. These pictures will go over the country and will be the means of advertising Duluth as one of the leading athletic centers of the United States.

MURPHY DENIES CHANCE REPORT

Former Cub Manager Did Not Telegraph Call Down to Owner of Team.

Chicago, Jan. 27.—President Murphy of the Chicago National League Baseball team has returned from Cincinnati, where he was the guest of Charles P. Taft for several days. After opening his mail he expressed his indignation at a story of an alleged telegram Frank Chance is said to have sent him from Glendora, Cal., which contained the following:

"I consider it beneath my dignity to answer any of your insinuations regarding myself. However, if I hear of any more interviews with you derogatory to me I will shut you up as quickly as I did last fall. This goes."

"There was no such wire on my desk when I returned today," said Murphy. "I called the manager of the Western Union Telegraph company to ascertain whether any telegram came for me from California. I was told there was none. It seems to me as if the telegram was faked and given out by someone in Chicago."

Murphy admitted he had bought one-half of the Philadelphia National League Baseball park from Charles P. Taft. He denied that he owns stock in the Quaker City organization or that he is William Locke's backer. He merely purchased the property as an investment.

Manager Evers has announced that in all exhibition games played this summer every regular member would have to take part. Heretofore Chance always allowed one or more of the regulars to rest and as a consequence the fans were disgruntled because the entire staff was not on hand.

Murphy was indignant at the report that he was endeavoring to secure Pitcher Rixey from the Phillies. The report reached President Locke and Manager Doolin, who declared the Cub president should be severely reprimanded for making announcements of that kind. Murphy said he never gave out such information and that it would be absurd, as Doolin would not consider Rixey in a trade of any nature.

Charges Against Great Athlete to Be Aired on Tuesday.

New York, Jan. 27.—The National Registration committee of the Amateur Athletic union will take up on Tuesday the charges affecting the amateur standing of James Thorpe, the Carlisle Indian, according to James E. Sullivan, secretary of the A. A. U. Thorpe and Glenn Warner, athletic coach at the Carlisle Indian school, it is understood will be given a hearing.

Should Thorpe ultimately be found guilty of professionalism and of having received money to play baseball, America will have to return to Sweden the trophies the Indian won at the Olympic games. While the deduction of his points would affect America's totals to some extent, it would not change the result.

DULUTH RINKS NEARLY OUT

Zenith City Men Remain in But Two Events in Big Bonspiel.

Olson of West Duluth in Eights in Northwestern Event.

Up to Saturday evening Duluth rinks were left in but two events in the bonspiel at St. Paul.

In the Northwestern event Olson of West Duluth was in the eights and Oldham, McLeod and Wade were in the sixteens. In the International, Olson, Wade and Holland were in the sixteens and McLeod in the thirty-twos. Olson is scheduled to play Russell of Superior this afternoon in the Northwestern, the winner of which gets in the jewelry.

"Bob" Dunbar of St. Paul, wizard of the stanes, lost his first game Saturday to Blackburn of Winnipeg in the St. Paul Jobbers' event. Dunbar was downed by a score of 14 to 5. Dr. Williams of Winnipeg reached the finals in the Duluth event by defeating McIver of Port Arthur, Wade of Duluth, Bridgett of Pipestone and Rochon of Winnipeg.

Soft Ice Causes Delay.

Because of soft ice it is not thought that the spiel can be concluded before fore tomorrow or Wednesday.

The Canadians having been eliminated in the International, the playdown in the event Saturday resulted as follows:

Dunbar, 12; Kelm, Portage, 0; default.

McNeil, Virginia, 9; Ordway, St. Paul, 14.

Thomas, Cambria, 12; Hartman, Eveleth, 8.

Kelly, St. Paul, 10; Russell, Superior, 13.

McGregor, Butte, 7; Wade, Duluth, 11.

Elliott, St. Paul, 4; McLeod, Minneapolis, 10.

Duluth event—Lowe, Winnipeg, 6; McIver, Port Arthur, 11.

Williams, Winnipeg, 11; Rochon, Winnipeg, 9.

Patrick-Duluth event—Lightner, St. Paul, 6; Holland, Duluth, 19.

Northwesten event—Lemont, Virginia, 2; Hastings, Minneapolis, 11.

Other scores were: International trophy—Stewart, St. Paul, 7; McNabb, Grand Rapids, Mich., 17. Murphy, St. Paul, 6; Russell, Superior, 11.

Northwestern trophy — Murphy, St. Paul, 12; McNabb, Grand Rapids, 10. Olson, Duluth, 13; McLeod, Minneapolis, 9.

AMATEURS ARE READY TO BOX

All Details Completed for Big Tournament of the Simon Pures.

All details have been completed for the amateur boxing tournament of Wednesday evening. The big tournament, with its large number of entrants, will be staged in the arena of the huge Auditorium. All of the seven bouts of the program will be competed under the rules adopted by the Amateur Athletic Union of America, and these rules will be rigidly observed throughout.

Abe O'Neil is one of the cleverest of the boys who will take part in the exhibition, and he is in the very best of condition. The majority of the boys have already brought physician's certificates to Mr. Ryberg, testifying to their good condition.

While the star bout of the evening is expected to be that between Eddie Barry, the crack little gloveman of the Y. M. C. A., and Martin Bugi, all of the contests have been arranged with the intention of matching contestants even in skill, and the result is expected to bring out some pretty boxing.

If the two budding amateur white hopes box there is expected to be some high hilarity on the program. The two heavyweights are huge specimens of the human family, and have been practicing some time for the bout.

Following are the contestants paired off for the various bouts:

Charles Rust, 125, vs. J. W. Ross, St. Paul, 125; Abe O'Neill, 116, vs. Len Henneberry, 118; Martin Bugi, 134, vs. Ed Barry, 135; Jim Nelson, 141, vs. Louie Hiebler, 140; Clarence Wallace, Milwaukee, 122, vs. Young Burns, 122; Al Lord, 218, vs. Charles Peterson, 220; Bill Slavin, 112, vs. Charles Wallace, 115.

STILLWATER QUINT TO PLAY IN DULUTH.

Stillwater, Minn., Jan. 27.—The Hibernian basket ball team of this city is out for the independent state championship. The team is composed of former high school and Company K stars, and it has already defeated several of the fast teams of the Twin Cities. Arrangements are being made for a tour of the northern part of the state. Games will be played with Duluth teams and with the Shamrocks of Superior.

DICKINSON GETS GUN TOURNAMENT.

Dickinson, N. D., Jan. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dickinson will entertain the annual tournament this year of the Interstate Gun club Aug. 15 and 16. CANADIANS LOSE AGAIN

Fort Frances Goes Down to Second Defeat By Score of 9 to 2.

Visitors Are Excelled at All Angles of Game and Completely Outplayed.

The Duluth Curling club hockey team had little trouble in registering the second defeat against the Fort Frances seven Saturday evening, the score in the closing game of the series being 9 to 2.

As in the contest of Friday evening the locals outplayed the visitors at every angle of the game. The team play of Duluth was too much for the straggling individual efforts of the visitors, while in speed, general aggressiveness and knowledge of the game the Canadians were also excelled.

A little more than five minutes of the game had passed when Johnny Mahon shot a goal from a difficult angle. With Olson as a team mate Helmer Grenner went up the ice a few minutes later and shot the second goal. Johnny Mahon came back and assisted by Jimmy Owens they went up the ice and the latter shot a pretty goal.

This ended the scoring for the first half. uring this period of the game there was an absence of the rough work that marked the play of the previous evening, through several of the players were sent to the fence for minor infractions of the rules.

Shortly after the opening of the second half Jamieson shot the first goal for the visitors. The point was scored on a fast rush up the ice, Olson being drawn to an opening by a feint. Right after this Duluth rushed the puck down the ice and Grenner came through with a score from in front of the net.

The game slowed up and there was some loafing upon the part of the players of both teams. Grenner made a goal on a pass from Captain Joe, the pair doing some pretty combination passing in taking the puck up the ice. Grenner shot another goal. Mahon, Grenner and Owens completed the score for the home team and Halward intercepted one of the Duluth passes and shot the second goal for his team.

The lineup:

NATIONALS WIN FROM LESTERS

The Nationals defeated the Lesters Saturday in one of the best played games that has been seen at the French rink. The score was 3 to 2.

At the end of the second half the score stood, 1 to 1. It was then decided that an extra ten minutes be played. The Lesters scored the first goal in about one minute of play and the Nationals netted 2 in the last few minutes of play.

Woods, Gunderson and Clarke played a star game for the Lesters, while Blais showed up well for the winners.

The Lesters will meet the Crescents next Wednesday night at Twenty-fifth avenue east and Fourth street at 8 o'clock. This promises to be one of the best contests of the Junior league.

DULUTH CREW IS AFTER A RACE WITH WISCONSIN

Senior Eight Would Race Varsity and New Junior Eight Would Pull Against Madison Freshmen.

Members of the rowing squad of the Duluth Boat club are going after an eight-oared race with the 'varsity and freshmen crew of the University of Wisconsin.

This announcement was made today.

The senior eight of the Duluth club wants to row the 'varsity eight and the green junior eight of the local organization desires to try out its speed against the first year men of the Madison institution.

This idea is being worked out by the members of the squad. Coach Ten Eyck stated today that it would receive his approval, if—and the if clamors to make itself clearly understood—the crew can show him it has the speed.

"The boys can get races with any crew, if they show me that they have the speed," was the statement of Jimmy.

If the race is held Madison will most likely be the place where it will be rowed. The chances are that the contest would have to be held in May, and as the weather here is pretty chilly at that time, the warmer clime of classic Madison would be the most favorable.

The old men start work tonight. They are going to play, not work, according to the statement of Coach Ten Eyck.

He is going to have the fellows skate and do a lot of outdoor work. The idea is to build them up. They will also wrestle, toss the medicine ball and get in trim so that hard work can start on the machines by the first of March.

Each member of the squad has agreed to get four men out. If this resolution is carried through the largest squad in the history of rowing here will start the real work of the 1913 season.

It is expected that every old man in the present senior eight will be back with the possible exception of Joe Lathrop. The Moose is going on the road, according to his present plans, and in that event he will have to pass up the rowing game.

Judging from the present conditions, the finger of prospect points strongly to the best crew in the history of the club.

LEGAL NOTICES.

NOTICE OF ELECTION UPON THE QUESTION OF ISSUING BONDS OF THE INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF DULUTH—

At a special meeting of the Board of Education of the City of Duluth, duly held on the 9th day of January, 1913, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That in the opinion of the Board of Education of the City of Duluth, it is expedient, and it is hereby so declared, that additional bonds of the Independent School District of the City of Duluth, in St. Louis County, Minnesota, in the sum of two hundred thousand dollars, be issued and sold to provide funds for the purpose of erecting and furnishing two school houses in said district as follows:

First. The Robert E. Denfeld Industrial High School Building, to be erected on Lots twelve (12) to eighteen (18), inclusive, in Block ninety-five (95), and Lots six (6) to eleven (11) inclusive, in Block ninety-four (94), all in West Duluth, Sixth Division, according to the recorded plat thereof.

Second. The first unit of the Roger S. Munger graded school building, to be erected on Lots nine (9) to sixteen (16) inclusive, in Block one hundred and fifty (150), Portland Division of Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof.

That said bonds draw interest at the rate of 4½ per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, and that they run thirty (30) years from their date with the option reserved to this Board to redeem the same, or any part thereof, at the end of twenty (20) years from their date, or on any interest day thereafter.

That the question of the issue of said bonds be submitted to the voters of said district at a special election to be held therefor upon the first day of February, 1913.

That the Clerk of this Board give notice of this special election in the manner provided by law; and that he cause the same to be published in the Duluth News Tribune and the Duluth Herald, two daily newspapers published in said School District, in each issue of such papers during the ten (10) days immediately preceding the day of such election.

That a copy of this resolution be published in connection with the notice of the election at which the question is to be submitted.

NOW THEREFORE, Pursuant to said resolution and to authority duly given by the Common Council of the City of Duluth, as by law provided, NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that a special election of the Independent School District of the City of Duluth will be held upon Saturday, the first day of February, 1913, for the purpose of voting upon the question of the issuance of the bonds referred to in the foregoing resolution which is made a part of this notice. The polls will be open at six o'clock A. M. on the day of such election and will remain open for purposes of voting until seven o'clock P. M. on said day. Voters wishing to vote for the issuance of bonds in accordance with the said resolution, should indicate their wish by use of the following words upon their ballots, namely, "Shall bonds be issued—Yes." Voters wishing to vote against the issuance of bonds in accordance with the foregoing resolution, should indicate their wish by the following words upon their ballots, namely, "Shall Bonds be issued—No."

WHEAT IS OFF EXPORT POOR

Big Decrease in American Visible Supply Fails to Bull Values.

Flaxseed Prices Work Lower, Due to Big Minneapolis Receipts.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 27.—The big decrease of more than 1,800,000 bu in the American visible wheat supply since a week ago, failed to bull the wheat markets of North America today. On the contrary what changes there were rather favored the bears. The great bearish factor was the slowness of the export demand. Duluth May wheat closed ¼c lower. Cash wheat closed 2c under May. Durum closed ½c off, oats ⅛c off, rye unchanged and barley 1c to 2c off. Duluth January and July flaxseed closed ⅝c lower and May ⅛c off.

Wheat was generally weak on the markets of North America this morning, although the foreign cables could not be said to be generally bearish. The receipts on the American markets were still large in comparison with those of a year ago. The export demand was very poor. This seemed to be due to the movement of the big Argentine crop, though there were dealers on the Duluth board who said the Liverpool buyers were not nearly so indifferent to the American wheat supply as they pretended to be and Europeans really needed all they could get from both North and South America.

Duluth May wheat, which closed Saturday at 87½@87⅝c bid, opened today at 87¼c bid and at noon was selling at 87⅜c. Other prices were off a little also at Chicago, Minneapolis and Winnipeg.

Liverpool wheat today closed unchanged to ¼d higher. The lower American cables of Saturday, increasing Platte offers and the increase in the amount of wheat on passage were the antidote of wheat on passage were all bearish factors, but they were offset by the reports of smaller American shipments than had been expected, predictions of smaller American shipments in the future and unfavorable political news.

Flax Works Lower.

Large receipts on the Minneapolis market today had the effect of causing a bearish movement on the market of Duluth and at noon the January, May and July futures were all selling ⅝c off. Minneapolis cash wheat was 1c over Duluth January. The Winnipeg market was bearish. The January and May at noon being ⅜c off. The January option at $1.07⅝ was under that of Duluth. Buenos Ayres February seed last Saturday closed ⅜c up at $1.20⅞. London Calcutta January today closed ⅝c up at $1.64⅜.

FLAXSEED.

The flaxseed markets of the world have been quite steady during the past week. The general trend has been upward, but the gains have been very small, except at London where Calcutta seed last week rose 6⅜c for the January option, which closed last Saturday at $1.64⅜. The Duluth cash seed Saturday closed 1½c over the close of the Saturday before and the January option showed a gain of ⅝c. These were very small changes for an entire week. Winnipeg January last week gained just 1c. Buenos Ayres February went up 1⅝c.

The upward trend has been due largely to a falling off in the receipts from the country elevators of North America. This falling off would have a much greater effect on the prices if the crushers were willing to keep up their usual amount of buying at the higher prices, but they have been bearish, and have been buying up quite conservatively in the hope of keeping the prices down. The Minneapolis crushers, who have for many days been bidding considerably over the Duluth price for cash seed, are no longer so aggressive in their bidding, and seem less anxious to divert the flow of Northwestern flaxseed from the Duluthward route to Minneapolis.

That there has been a steady falling off in the receipts on the North American markets is apparent from the following table, showing cars received:

Dennis wired from Chicago: "Unless the Argentine crop is severely damaged, we look for lower prices."

The Minneapolis cash demand was about fair. The market was steady. No. 1 northern bluestem was ½c to 1c under May. Velvet chaff was 1½c to 2c under May. Flour sales are light.

Broomhall's Argentine agent cabled late on Saturday that the weather was sultry and indicateds were of continued dry and hot weather. This was unfavorable for corn.

On passage—Wheat, increase, 3,536,-000 bu; corn, increase, 476,600 bu.

Gustav R. Jacobi, cashier of the First National bank of East Grand Forks, who was on the Duluth Board of Trade today, stated that while the farmers in the immediate vicinity of that place on both sides of the state line had successfully garnered their fall's crop, there was a large strip of territory alongside the Red river valley and parallel with it on the North Dakota side, extending about 65 by 25 miles, where the 1912 crop was almost, if not an absolute, failure.

"In September," said Mr. Jacobi, "there was a heavy snowfall of about two feet over that region and the snow is there yet. Wheat, flax, oats and other grains were buried under it, while still standing in the fields. Some of the farmers say they will not get a dollar out of that crop. Others say they may cut and thrash some of the flax after the snow melts off in the spring and thus reduce their loss a little."

Speaking of the liquor question, Mr. Jacobi said the saloon men of East Grand Forks were not so much afraid of being interfered with by the Federal government under the Indian treaties, as they were of county option. He said East Grand Forks would never go dry under the local option law, but if county option should be established the farmers of Polk county would soon wipe out the East Grand Forks saloons.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Declines Early, Due to Easy Cables From London.

Chicago, Jan. 27.—Easy cables were largely responsible for an early decline in wheat. May opened a shade higher to ⅛@¼c under Saturday at 92⅛c to 92¼c and sold to 92⅜c.

Market ruled dull all day. May dropped later to 91¾@92c, but recovered on covering and closed unchanged at 92⅜@92¼c.

Corn was easier early on lower cables and favorable weather in this country, although it was reported that sultry conditions still obtain in Argentina. May opened ⅛c to ⅜c down at 51⅜c to 51⅝c, touched 51⅜@51⅝c and sold off to 51½@51⅝c.

The close was easy, May ¼c down, at 51⅜c.

Oats were dull and easy with other grains. May opened unchanged to a shade lower at 33⅝c to 33¾@33⅞c and declined to 33⅝c.

Lard and ribs opened unchanged and provisions 2½c to 7½c up but turned dull and easy on lower hogs. May pork opened at $19.25 to $19.30; May lard at $10.27½ and May ribs at $10.27½.

SPECULATION IS RESTRICTED

Trading in Stocks Quiet and No Decided Movement.

Tone Better Late in Session and Close Is Steady.

New York, Jan. 27.—The hesitating tone of the American securities in the London market helped to restrict speculation here, and at the opening lower prices of Americans abroad were reflected in some heaviness among the international stocks. The market later overcame this influence and advanced, but the movement was so slight that traders found it rather more profitable to sell on rallies. Business was further held in check by uncertainty whether the supreme court would hand down today its decision in the Minnesota rate case.

Bonds were easy.

Trading was unusually dull at the opening today. Initial prices were either unchanged from Saturday's close or slightly lower. Amalgamated and Steel were under some pressure. Canadian Pacific lost 1½.

Selling stopped soon afaer business opened and the market rallied to Saturday's closing level. Rubber was strong on increased earnings resulting from the prolonged spell of wet weather.

The street waited longer than usual for news from Washington that no important decisions would be made today and sold stocks in the interim. Prices, however, were not affected greatly, speculation being too quiet to cause any decided movement.

The undertone grew heavier and there was concentrated pressure against Union Pacific, which lost a point. Recessions in other leaders averaged about ½ point.

The market closed steady. Tobacco stocks advanced in striking fashion and there was increased activity and strength in Can which rose 2 points. Railroad shares scarcely moved but their tone was better.

Cotton Market.

New York, Jan. 27.—The cotton market opened steady at a decline of 5 points on January, but generally 4 to 6 points higher on covering and renewed support from trade brokers. Prices eased off right after the call, but later firmed again on continued bull support with the active months about 3 to 5 points net higher during the middle of the morning. Optimistic reports as to the tariff revision outlook and encouraging reviews of the drygoods situation helped the advance here.

Spot closed steady; middling uplands, 13.05; middling gulf, 13.30. Sales, 2,800 bales. Futures closed easy. Closing bids: January, 12.70; February, 12.28; March, 12.30; April, 12.13; May, 12.15; June, 12.00; July, 12.06; August, 11.94; September, 11.47; October, 11.40; December, 11.42.

South St. Paul Livestock.

South St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 27.—Cattle—Receipts, 1,700; killers, steady; steers, $5.75 to $8.75; cows-heifers, $7.00 to $7.20; calves, steady, $4.25 to $9.50; feeders, steady, $4.00 to $7.10.

Hogs—Receipts, 4,300; steady; range, $7.10 to $7.30; bulk, $7.25.

Sheep—Receipts, 1,200; slow to 25c lower; lambs, $4.50 to $8.25; wethers, $4.00 to $4.50; ewes, $2.25 to $5.00.

New York Money.

New York, Jan. 27.—Money on call, steady, 2¼@3 per cent; ruling rate, 2¾; closing bid, 2⅜; offered at 3. Time loans steady; 60 days, 3½ and 90 days 3⅝@4; six months, 4@4½ per cent. Prime mercantile paper 4¼@5 per cent. Sterling exchange heavy with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.83.40 for 60-day bills, and at $4.87.50 for demand. Commercial bills, $4.83. Bar silver, 62½c. Mexican dollars, 49c. Government bonds, steady. Railroad bonds, easy.

London Stocks.

London, Jan. 27.—American securities were quiet and featureless during the forenoon. Later Canadian Pacific fell a point on Berlin selling, but the rest of the list barely moved. The close was dull.

Money was dearer and discount rates were firm.

The Bank of England will probably buy the bulk of $5,000,000 new gold offered in the open market.

Midway Horse Market.

Minnesota Transfer, St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 27.—Barrett & Zimmerman report: The usual dullness which precedes the opening of the spring demand continues, clearance being limited to retail orders for draft and farm horses. Small shipments were made to Southern Minnesota and Wood Lake, Minn.; Glenwood City, Wis., and Houghton, Mich. Receipts comparatively light. Values as follows:

Drafters, extra	$175@235
Drafters, choice	125@175
Drafters, common to good	90@125
Farm mares and horses, extra	125@175
Farm mares and horses, choice	100@125
Farm horses, common to good	75@100
Delivery horses	110@220
Drivers and saddlers	105@200
Mules, according to size	135@250

Chicago Livestock.

Chicago, Jan. 27.—Cattle—Receipts, 10,000; market steady to shade lower; beeves, $6.00@9.00; Texas steers, $4.65@6.05; western steers, $4.80@7.45; stockers and feeders, $5.30@7.50; cows and heifers, $2.70@7.20; calves, $7.60@10.75. Hogs—Receipts, 52,000; market quiet, 5c lower; light, $7.30@7.57½; mixed, $7.30@7.67½; heavy, $7.15@7.60; rough, $7.15@7.30; pigs, $5.75@7.35; bulk, $7.45@7.55. Sheep—Receipts, 15,000; market slow, steady to shade down; natives, $4.75@6.20; western, $4.75@6.20; yearlings, $6.00@8.00; lambs, native, $6.75@9.00; western, $6.75@9.00.

DEFEAT FOR SUFFRAGE IN STATE SENATE

Sageng's Woman's Suffrage Bill Comes Up as Special Order.

Women From All Over the State Listen to Speeches.

Anti-Monopoly Bills Introduced in the House and Senate.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—By a vote of 33 to 30, the Minnesota state senate late today rejected the bill of Senator O. O. Sageng, proposing a constitutional amendment giving the women of the state the right to vote.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Woman suffrage had its day in court in the state senate today, when the bill by Senator Ole C. Sageng of Dalton, proposing a constitutional amendment allowing women to vote on equal terms with men, came up as a special order. It was nearly noon when the bill was reached, and the debate continued into the afternoon.

Women from all over the state were present, filling the galleries, crowding the aisles and side passages, and a liberal sprinkling of them, relatives and friends of senators, were scattered through the chamber. There was no demonstration except rather timid applause for the points made by advocates of the measures. The women sat in patient quiet through the dull routine preliminary to the special order. The only decoration in honor of the occasion was a handsome vase of flowers on the desk of the author of the bill.

All Senators Present.

The first proceeding was a call of the senate, which showed every one of the sixty-three senators in attendance. Senator Sageng then offered some slight amendments to his bill, the purpose of which is to make the meaning of the proposed amendment unmistakably clear to the voters. The title was amended so that instead of describing a bill relating to the elective franchise, it describes a bill giving women the right to vote.

Senator Moonan asked Mr. Sageng if this might not result in barring men from the ballot, but Senator Sageng was inclined to look upon this as a frivolous criticism, and his amendments were adopted.

Because he was suffering from a bad cold, Senator Sageng gave the opening of the debate to Senator I. E. Haycraft of Madelia, who was followed by Senator James P. Boyle of Duluth and others.

Let The People Decide.

Senator Haycraft said: "The question before the senate is not woman suffrage, but whether the legislature

WILL ASSIST THE STRIKERS

Over 50,000 Garment Makers in Chicago Ready to Walk Out.

Will Do So in Event Trouble in New York Is Not Settled.

Chicago, Jan. 28.—More than 50,000 organized garment workers in Chicago will walk out in the event of an unsatisfactory culmination of the negotiations for peace now pending between manufacturers and strikers in New York, it was said in labor circles here today.

A special meeting is scheduled to be held this evening at which time arrangements for raising funds to finance the proposed strike will be made. It has been stated that the strike may be called at this meeting.

George H. Alexander, chairman of the strike committee of the locals affiliated with the Union Garment Workers of America, who is directing the affairs of the organization in the present crisis, stated today that the workers may leave the shops some time tomorrow.

"All our artillery is in place," he said. "All we need now is the ammunition—and we know where to get that."

Joseph J. Ettor, who was prominent in the strike of Lawrence, Mass., mill workers, recently, is reported to be in consultation with various leaders of the garment workers here.

The situation with reference to the hotel employes today remained unchanged. There appeared little likelihood that a strike would be called. It was said Ettor's real mission in Chicago was to organize the cooks and waiters.

PAUL MARSCHALK,
Representative From Warroad, Joint Author With Representative D. P. O'Neill of Bill to Aid State Land Settlers.

Would Accomplish Wonders in Settlement of Cut-over Lands.

County Division Bill Put Over By Committee for Week.

Expected County Option Bill Is Introduced in House.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—So far as Northern Minnesota is concerned one of the most interesting measures, proposed at this session is that introduced in the house yesterday afternoon by Representatives Paul Marschalk of Warroad and D. P. O'Neill of Thief River Falls, providing machinery by which the state can clear part of the holdings of settlers on state lands and give the settler time in which to pay for the work.

A revolving fund of $100,000 is provided by the bill, and though this sum would not go far to solve the problem, in the manner provided by the Marschalk-O'Neill bill, it could be used to vast advantage.

The present policy of the state is all but prohibitive of development. It invites settlers, and it sells them land. It is good land—the best on earth—but it is largely covered with stumps and brush. It takes time to clear this land and get it ready for cultivation,

MORE TIME IS ASKED FOR

Attorneys in McGovern-Ekern Case Would File Briefs.

Decision Will Not Be Rendered for Several Days.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—A decision in the injunction proceedings brought by Commissioner of Insurance Herman L. Ekern against Governor F. E. McGovern and others in the circuit court of Dane county will not be decided for several days. At the conclusion of the argument this forenoon, Mr. Butler asked for four days in which to prepare a brief and file it.

Attorneys Aylward and Olbrich, for Mr. Ekern, asked for time to present their other evidence.

The argument of Butler was centered about the point that the governor had not acted arbitrarily in removing the insurance commissioner. He maintained throughout that to issue an injunction against Anderson, who held a prima facie title to the office, would be to reverse at least three decisions of the Wisconsin supreme court.

"We have wandered far from the real point involved in this case," said Attorney H. L. Butler today, in opening his rebuttal argument. He said counsel for the plaintiff had shown great diligence in searching for cases to substantiate their view but that it was singularly significant that the main point involved had been repeatedly settled by the supreme court of Wisconsin against them. The question at issue, he said, had been settled by the opinion in Ward vs. Sweeney, written by Justice Dodge, and the arguments of Ekern's attorneys would reverse the doctrine laid down in that case.

His whole argument was directed to the point that L. A. Anderson should be given immediate possession of the office. He maintained that "the color of right to the office would rest with the latest appointee."

He said it was not a requisite of the validity of the removal order that it be countersigned by the secretary of state. He said the state seal was for the purpose of authentication only. A Florida case was quoted to sustain this view.

FINDS DAUGHTER AND A FORTUNE

Mother of Mrs. Pansy Ellen Lesh Makes Discoveries.

Evansville, Ind., Jan. 28.—After a search lasting for more than twenty years, Mrs. T. P. Fisher of Joplin, Mo., discovered, through reading a newspaper story, not only that Mrs. Pansy Ellen Lesh, recently acquitted at Sedalia, Mo., of poisoning two women, was her long lost daughter, but that she (Mrs. Fisher) was heir to part of the estate left by an uncle, W. T. Luttrell of this (Morgan) county.

The story detailing the death of Mr. Luttrell and the estate left by him made mention of the fact that his niece, Mrs. Fisher, whose whereabouts were then unknown, was an heir and also made known the relationship between Mrs. Fisher and Mrs. Lesh.

Mrs. Fisher will come here to claim her share of the inheritance. Mrs. Lesh had not been heard from by any of her relatives since she was a child of 6 years until she appeared as the central figure in the trial at Joplin. Though Mrs. Fisher read the accounts of the trial, she did not know that the defendant was her long lost daughter until she read of her identity in connection with mention of the trial in the newspaper article telling of the Luttrell estate.

CHOSEN UNITED STATES SENATOR FROM KANSAS

WILLIAM H. THOMPSON.

Topeka, Kan., Jan. 28.—Judge William H. Thompson of Garden City, a Democrat, was chosen United States senator to succeed Charles Curtis, Republican, by the Kansas legislature in separate session today. Judge Thompson will be formally elected at a joint session tomorrow.

BELIEVED FIRE WAS INCENDIARY

Dozen Families Are Driven From Homes in Their Night Clothes.

Chicago, Jan. 28.—One building was destroyed, several others threatened, and more than a dozen families were forced to flee into the streets clad only in their nightclothes, by a fire today, believed to have been of incendiary origin.

Shortly after the blaze was discovered, and just as the firemen arrived, an explosion occurred in the building at 8224 Commercial avenue in South Chicago, demolishing the front of the structure and breaking windows in adjacent buildings. It was this explosion which led the fire department officials to believe the fire was started by "firebugs," an organized gang of whom have been operating in Chicago for several months, causing fires which resulted in property losses aggregating several hundred thousand dollars.

The loss on the building and contents was estimated at $3,500. According to Fire Chief Driscoll, the insurance on the place approximated $11,000.

YOUTHFUL BANDIT DIES FROM WOUNDS

Confessed to Participating in More Than Twenty Hold-ups.

Chicago, Jan. 28.—Peter Boore, a young bandit who was shot three times and possibly fatally wounded by Clarence McSweeney, a police telephone operator, last night, today admitted having participated with his brother, Albert, in more than twenty holdups on the South side in six weeks.

The brothers accosted McSweeney, who is a cripple, as he was returning home, and ordered him to throw up his hands. McSweeney drew his revolver and began shooting. Three bullets struck Peter Boore, who returned the fire, one of the bullets striking the operator in the left hip.

Albert Boore later was captured. He refuses to talk.

The bandit died from the effects of his wounds a few hours after making his confession.

Albert Boore, who is only 17 years old, was taken in a flat on South Peoria street, with Eli Ackerman, also believed to belong to a gang of which Peter Boore was the chief.

Miss Ruth Ackerman, 18 years old, sister of Ackerman, called at the police station today and asked to see her brother and young Boore, whose sweetheart she is said to be.

The police believe they have broken up one of the most desperate gangs of years.

COMMITTEE REPORTS ON REVISION OF LAWS.

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 28.—A legislative committee which has spent two years considering the revision of the corporation and revenue laws presented its report today, together with twenty bills which the committee recommends be enacted into laws. The most important of the measures is a bill providing for the incorporation, regulation and dissolution of business corporations, to take the place of the present law founded upon the act of 1874, with its many amendments and supplements.

The committee recommends that the proposed Federal income tax amendment be not approved by Pennsylvania because as one of the wealthy states, she would bear far more than her proper share of the burden. A "blue sky" law and a 2½ per cent tax on anthracite coal are recommended.

ENGLISH SUFFRAGETTES ATTACK DUBLIN CASTLE IN OPENING HOSTILITIES

Windows Smashed Three of Invaders Arrested.

Sentenced By Police Magistrate to Month at Hard Labor.

"Gen." Drummond Notifies Lloyd George of Prospective Call.

London, Jan. 28.—The suffragettes lost no time today opening their militant campaign. In Dublin they made a concerted attack at noon on the windows of Dublin castle, a number of which were smashed. Three suffragettes were arrested.

In London the suffragettes displayed great vigor. "General" Mrs. Drummond sent an ultimatum today to David Lloyd George, chancellor of the exchequer, after he had refused, at her request, to receive a deputation of women on the ground that he had another engagement. She wrote:

"I and other members of the deputation intend to wait upon you in the house of commons at 8 o'clock this evening. We trust you will make the necessary arrangements to receive us."

Three Sentenced.

Dublin, Ireland, Jan. 28.—Three suffragettes, Mrs. Hopkins, Mrs. Cousins and Mrs. Connery, who were arrested this morning on the charge of breaking fifteen panes of glass in the windows of Dublin castle, were sentenced

HEARD CALL OF THE "OPEN ROAD"

Boy Who Had No Bad Habits Whatever, Runs Away.

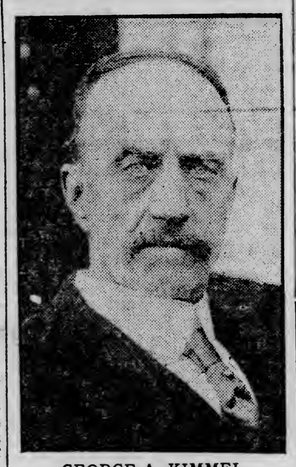

Chicago, Jan. 28.—To the lure of the unknown and not the influence of moving picture shows and dime novels is attributed the disappearance of Fred Hixson, whose 13 summers and winters have been spent on his father's farm near Tolono, Ill.

Fred never had seen a moving picture show, he never had read any kind of a novel, and never had seen even a football game. His knowledge of the world consisted only of a familiarity with the family woodpile, the milking of cows and the hoeing of corn and potatoes. He attended school in a little country school house near his home.

But one day about a fortnight since the lad heard the call of the open road. To him it was irresistible. He pocketed his savings, climbed out of his bedroom window and started for Chicago, a city of wonders of which he had heard his elders talk enthusiastically.

Today the police are looking for Fred and his mother is reported to be at death's door as a result of worrying about her wandering boy.

ARRESTED IN MISSOURI CHARGED WITH FORGERY

GEORGE A. KIMMEL.

"KIMMEL" ILL AND IN JAIL

Claimant in Famous Identity Case Charged With Forgery.

Held at Bowling Green, Mo., With Mind Wandering.

Bowling Green, Mo., Jan. 28.—The man in the county jail here on a forgery charge who asserted in a lucid interval that he was "George Kimmel," the "man of mystery" was identified today as the one who recently figured in the famous identity case in St. Louis.

Sheriff W. B. Hawkins of Pike county, today received a photograph of the supposed Kimmel from Dr. Wood of St. Joseph, who once attended him.

Dr. E. G. Wood of St. Joseph, Mich., attended Kimmel at Niles, Mich.

A letter also was received from Mrs. Frances Fox of Niles in which she said from descriptions sent her she was sure the prisoner was Kimmel, her cousin.

The man was arrested Jan. 9 on a charge of passing a forged check on a Louisiana, Mo., merchant.

The prisoner is seriously ill and most of the time his memory wanders. Only by repeatedly asking, "What is your name," was Sheriff Hawkins able to draw from the prisoner a reply.

MESSENGER WIRES HE IS ON HIS WAY

Elector With Arizona Votes Is Approaching Capital.

Washington, Jan. 28.—W. T. Webb, the missing Arizona messenger, appointed to bring the electoral returns of Arizona to Washington, today telegraphed from New York, saying he was on his way to Washington. Under the law yesterday was the last day in which the returns could be filed. The statute is, however, elastic. Mr. Webb has made no explanation.

Chicago Guest.

Chicago, Jan. 28.—Wilfred T. Webb, official messenger bearing the electoral college vote for president from Arizona who was reported from Washington last night as missing, was said today to be a guest in a downtown hotel in this city where he expected to spend several days attending to private business.

According to the dispatch from the national capital all the other states had delivered their votes yesterday and for a time some uneasiness was felt concerning the Arizona messenger. The senate adjourned without passing on Mr. Webb's bill for mileage which amounts to approximately $600. If the rule with reference to mileage bills strictly is adhered to, Mr. Webb's visit in Chicago probably will cost him that amount, it is said, as the law required the votes to be delivered at Washington before this date in order to permit the messengers to receive compensation.

LIEUTENANT CHARGED WITH THEFT OF GOWNS

Cheyenne, Wyo., Jan. 28.—Lieut. J. L. Weir of the Eighteenth infantry is under arrest at Fort McKenzie, charged with his wife with the theft of gowns valued at $1,000 from the home of J. S. Cecil, a brother officer. Weir was captain of the 1910 football team at West Point.

Although Weir's arrest occurred two days ago it was not made known until he was released on $500 bail.

It is charged that the theft occurred while Lieut. Weir and his wife were occupying the Cecil apartments during the latter's temporary absence. Capt. Cecil is in Washington, where he was summoned to be presented with a medal of honor for gallantry in the Philippines.

EXCHANGES IN NEED OF REGULATION

State Must Put End to Evil Practices, Says Governor Sulzer.

Calls on New York Legislature to Pass Corrective Laws.

Should Safeguard Rights of the People and Restore Confidence.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 28.—State supervision and regulation of the New York stock exchange and other stock exchanges are advocated by Governor Sulzer in a message sent by him to the legislature last night.

The time is ripe, in the governor's opinion, for the state to step in and end "flagrant abuses, shifty schemes and clever combinations to catch the unwary and to mislead the public." To effect this, he recommends the enactment of a group of laws, at least one of which shall provide imprisonment as a penalty for its violation. These laws, the governor says, should apply to certain practices which have been shown to exist by the Pujo committee and other investigators.

"The testimony of some of the governors of the exchange," Governor Sulzer says, "leaves no doubt in the minds of men of judgment that the exchanges either have been incapable or unwilling to devise measures that will effectively eradicate the evils. It is now the obvious duty of the state, it seems to me, to devise the remedies. If the state neglects to do its plain duty, the state should find no fault if the Federal government acts in the premises."

Measures Recommended.

Among the measures which Governor Sulzer would have enacted into law are:

A law to distinguish clearly proper transactions of purchase and sale from those that are the result of combinations to raise or depress artificially the price of securities without regard to their true value or legitimate supply and demand.

A law to prohibit brokers from selling backward and forward among themselves blocks of a particular stock with intent to deceive or mislead outsiders.

A law to prohibit brokers from selling for their own account the same stocks they have been ordered to buy for their customers at the time the

WOMEN MAY ERECT A SPECIAL STAND

Congress Authorizes One South of Treasury Department.

Washington, Jan. 28.—Only the signature of President Taft is now needed to the resolution of congress authorizing the inaugural committee to erect stands on public space, string overhead wires and conduits for special illumination, and borrow flags and ensigns from the war and navy departments to carry out its plan for the ceremonies incident to the inauguration of President-elect Wilson. The resolution passed the senate today and already has been approved by the house.

As passed the resolution contains an amendment as requested by a delegation of women suffrage advocates for the erection of a special stand, south of the treasury department to be used in connection with the suffrage parade March 3. Senator Sutherland said he had been instructed to report the resolution with such an amendment unless sufficient arrangements were made between the suffragettes, the war department and the inaugural committee. He announced that, according to letters he had received, no objection would be raised by the war department, and Chairman Bustis of the inaugural committee to the proposed stand. Suffragist leaders expressed themselves as well pleased with the result of their fight.

ORE EXPERT IS WITNESS

P. H. Nelson Testifies in Suit to Dissolve Steel Corporation.

Tells of Value and Extent of Mineral in Hill Ore Lands.

New York, Jan. 28.—Testimony adduced to support the contention of the government that the Hill ore lands were leased by the United States Steel corporation to keep them from competition was given at today's hearing of the suit to dissolve the corporation.

P. H. Nelson of Hibbing, Minn., an ore export, told of the value and extent of the various ore bodies in the lease, which was canceled by the corporation shortly before the filing of the present suit. The witness said that in 1902 he acquired a lease in the Mesaba range on which royalties were 29 cents a ton. The royalties paid by the Steel corporation in 1907 were 85 cents a ton.

Nelson said the high freight rates charged by the corporation hindered the development of independent mines.

The Steel corporation rate is now 60 cents a ton. It formerly was 80 cents.

"Has the Steel corporation, enjoying transportation profit of 35 cents a ton,

FARMERS OPPOSED TO MONETARY PLAN.

Washington, Jan. 28.—Farmers' opposition to the National Monetary commission's plan was voiced today by W. T. Creasy, master of the Pennsylvania state grange, before the house currency reform committee. Mr. Creasy believed farmers generally were bitterly opposed to the Aldrich scheme.

"We believe," he said, "the big financiers are much more interested in gaining control of the currency for themselves than they are in any effort to secure its elasticity."

Peculiar After Effects of Grip This Year.

Leaves Kidneys in Weakened Condition.

Doctors in all parts of the country have been kept busy with the epidemic of grip which has visited so many homes. The symptoms of grip this year are very distressing and leave the system in a run down condition, particularly the kidneys which seem to suffer most, as every victim complains of lame back and urinary troubles which should not be neglected, as these danger signals often lead to more serious sickness, such as dreaded Bright's Disease. Local druggists report a large sale of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root which so many people say soon heals and strengthens the kidneys after an attack of grip. Swamp-Root is a great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, and, being an herbal compound, has a gentle healing effect on the kidneys, which is almost immediately noticed by those who try it. Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., offer to send a sample bottle of Swamp-Root, free by mail, to every sufferer who requests it. A trial will convince any one who may be in need of it. Regular size bottles 50cts and $1.00. For sale at all druggists. Be sure to mention this paper.

GLEANED ALONG THE POLICE RUN

Mrs. Belle Lundquist's dream of marital bliss lasted but two weeks.

Last summer she was married to Oscar Lundquist. After they had lived together a fortnight she asserts that he deserted her, and has not contributed either time or attention or cash to her well-being since that time. Yesterday she caused Lundquist's arrest on a charge of non-support. He entered a plea of not guilty and his trial set for tomorrow morning.

Mrs. Lundquist rather rues the day that she and Lundquist became one. As nearly as can be learned she was as much to blame as he. According to her own statement she went to the courthouse and procured the certificato which enabled the minister to tie the knot which made them one.

Mrs. Lundquist, asked why she had gone for the license instead of Lundquist, said:

"Well, he told me that it was Leap Year and that it would look a lot better then if I would get the license."

Even the two weeks she and her other half were together she says they did not enjoy any delirious round of joy or pleasure. She explains that they did not have any honeymoon and that he did not take her out much evenings, neither to shows or parties or for outings. When he left she asserted that he was gone for three months, part of which time she lived with his folks. Most of the time she has been working downtown for comparatively small wages, out of which she has managed to buy all her clothes, pay her share of the room rent and board herself. Lately she has been out of a position but refuses to go to the municipal lodging house.

Charles Shubat, proprietor of the thirst parlor at 713 West Superior street, practically convicted himself of having kept his place open before hours one morning last week when he was tried in police court yesterday afternoon.

Shubat admitted that he was inside the place when the officers gained an entrance. The testimony was to the effect that after Patrolman Andree and Wanvick were inside he asked them if he couldn't serve a round of drinks and that he proffered one to the cops, "on the house."

The officers went inside when the door was opened to let the party out. The police state that one, and perhaps, two of the women arrested at 226 East First street, upstairs, early Sunday morning, were among those being entertained at Shubat's saloon.

Shubat was adjudged guilty and paid a fine of $100.

The police hope that they have heard the last of Elsie Johnson, the "college girl"—she started to go to business college—who was arrested about 1:30 o'clock last Thursday morning on a charge of being drunk.

Elsie was taken from an automobile in a maudlin condition, the result of too many Manhattan cocktails, yelling and screaming at the top of her voice. She was convicted in police court and sent to the county jail for five days. She was released yesterday.

The police received some caustic criticisms because of the treatment accorded the "college girl."

Elsie is not an unsophisticated country maiden. Between three and four years ago she was arrested and turned over to her folks in Michigan. She returned about a year ago and has been having more or less of an uncertain career since.

James Powers, the colored porter who was arrested last week on a charged of disorderly conduct, after it had been reported that he had drawn a knife on "Butch" Kennelly and Frank Belanger, was convicted in police court yesterday afternoon. He paid a fine of $25 and costs, amounting to $38.48. Powers escaped to a colored club on Michigan street before being arrested. The police searched the place from attic to basement for him while he was nonchalantly playing a single-handed game of pool in the clubrooms. The ruse saved him for a short time but did not prevent his arrest.

Men of a single eye were prominent in the grist this morning. They were also alike in that all of them have been arrested several times before. William Linn admitted that he was a member of the leisure class who abhor labor and got thirty days for vagrancy.

Jimmie McKenzie was another. He was doing something at the top of his voice which he probably considered singing when Patrolman Montgomery requested him not to give any more pedestrians further pain. Jimmie couldn't appreciate the comment of the bluecoat and lunged at him with his fist. This morning he pleaded guilty to having been drunk and disorderly and got $20 and costs or twenty days. Jimmie went over the hill.

The third one-eye prisoner was James Ryan. He was sent in for bracing everyone who came along for carfare to Superior. He didn't deny that he had been begging but was allowed his liberty on his promise to get to work without delay.

Harry Morris was convicted in police court this morning of having stolen an overcoat from Douglas Gillespie in the bar-room of the Saratoga hotel. He got $50 and costs or thirty days in the county jail.

John Morris says that he is a cook by trade but recently he has been hanging about downtown, existing by the hand-to-mouth route and lodging nights at the police station. He is but 22 years old and when he did not follow the advice of the police to get a job he was jugged for vagrancy. This morning he pleaded guilty but his case was continued until this afternoon for disposition.

Frank Coluccion boards at the home of Joseph Luciano. Sunday night Frank was arrested on a disorderly charge. He pleaded not guilty and his bail was fixed at $50. Yesterday he went with Patrolman Noren to his boarding house to get the money. Joseph met them at the door. Although Noren was in uniform he refused to let him enter with Frank. Not only did he refuse but he tried to eject the officer by force. Whereupon the cop changed his tactics and bundled Joseph to the lockup, where he was billed on a charge of assault. He pleaded not guilty and will be tried tomorrow. Frank's trial is set for Thursday.

An oil stove set fire to the chicken coop of Munroe Brown at 922 Sixth avenue east yesterday, causing the fire department a run. The loss was slight.

The mounted policemen have not been bothered only by the high cost of living for themselves but by the high cost of living for their horses. Recognizing the merits of their claims the council last night gave them a raise of $5 each a month to help them solve the problem.

Jury Is Drawn.

A jury was drawn in Judge Ensign's room in district court yesterday to try a personal injury action which Tony Grbich has brought against the Pittsburg Iron company, operators at the Brunt mine. The plaintiff asks $25,000 damages for the loss of the sight of one of his eyes and the impairing of his sense of hearing. He claims that on Oct. 2, 1911, he was injured in a dynamite explosion at the mine. Negligence is charged.

WARREN RE-ELECTED ON FIRST BALLOT

—Copyrighted by Harris & Ewing.
FRANCIS E. WARREN.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Jan. 28.—Senator Francis E. Warren was re-elected on the first ballot taken at the joint session of the two houses of the legislature shortly after 1 o'clock. He received 45 votes. John B. Kendrick received 38 votes.

THE BREAD OF PARIS.

Bakers' Weekly: There is no city in the world where so much bread is consumed as in Paris. It is estimated that every inhabitant eats one pound a day on the average. Even in past centuries the French, especially Parisians, had a horror of stale bread. And as in those days people manufactured their own bread they had a curious way of making it palatable. Strange as it may seem, the bread prepared, huge round or square slabs, was used as a dish on which the meat was carved and bore the name of "tranchoirs," or "tailloirs." The juice of the meat having penetrated into the bread imparted a pleasant taste and prevented it from becoming dry.

SYNTHETIC MILK.

Philadelphia Record: A recent press dispatch states that three German chemists at Frankfort-on-the-Main have discovered a method of making milk synthetically in the chemical laboratory. According to the dispatch, several scientists, including Sir William Crookes, tasted and tested this milk and pronounced it palatable. It is proposed to manufacture the milk in London and sell it at 6 cents a quart. The milk is made entirely from vegetable ingredients digested in a "mechanical stomach." Be that as it may, we hope that there is some truth in the report, for there could be no danger of tuberculosis or any other disease germs in the synthetic product.

ECONOMY OF LABOR IS IN SAVING IT

McCall's Magazine: Economy in labor is not merely a matter of wages; it is in the amount of labor used to do a given thing. If a hundred men have a hundred women to cook for them, for nothing apiece, it is not economy, it is waste. It is waste of labor, of all the labor over and above what would be necessary to do that cooking. Six women, in an eight-hour day, with proper conveniences, could do the cooking for those 200 persons. So with the laundry work, the sweeping, dusting, scrubbing, sewing—all the manifold labors known as housework.

Our method of each woman's doing it alone for her family represents a waste of about 40 per cent of the labor of the world. Women are half the world and at present almost all of them are working in this way. It is uesful, necessary, honorable work, but very expensively done.

Try to think of it in the mass and you will see. Just one poor farmer's wife, beinding over the cook stove, the washtub, the dishpan, suggests poverty and economy instead of wasteful expense, does she not? Now, think of 100 farmers, with their 100 wives, bending over their 100 cook stoves, washtubs, etc. Then consider the work of those farmers' wives as worth mere charwomen's wages—the wages of the unskilled day laborer at $1.50 a day. For a ten-hour day (and farmers' wives work more than ten hours!) this would mean 15 cents an hour. The work of the 100 women, at this rate, would cost the 100 farmers, every day, $150. Would they think they could afford it—if they paid their wives?

As a mere question of labor all that the 100 women do could be done by twenty, with organization; which at the same rate would cost $30. The difference between $30 and $150 is $120; and that is the proportion of waste in housework.

Of course, if these women could earn more than bottom price, the waste is that much greater; and some of them undoubtedly could. Moreover, much as we love our homes, and even our work, few women love all of it alike; and each one prefers some kind of labor to others, and does it better. With organization, each could do the work she liked best, and all would get the benefit of the best work—another large advantage.

If the women could work less time, at the work they liked best, and their families be even better cared for than now, would not that be quite within the lines of duty?

Suppose a very small number of women grasped something of this big economic truth and set themselves to consider what they could really do to make a beginning?

Here is one absolutely practical suggestion. Six women could organize a "Take Turn Mothers' club," and arrange to have all the children come to each woman's house, in turn, one afternoon in the week. That would mean for the children a sort of quiet party, a pleasant, friendly time, far more "fun," more opportunity for games, than they could have alone. It would mean for the mother who had them one afternoon of real child care and child study, a chance to observe, compare, take notes, find out something for her own help and that of other women. Many of the troubles of lonely mothers would be lightened merely by this comparative study of other children.

But, besides this, there remains the fact that all six of them would have five free afternoons in the week for rest or other work!

That is a thing that any six neighbors could achieve, in country or city, to their very great advantage. The free five could do a little reading and study together, if they liked; or do it separately, or merely sleep and refresh themselves. Best of all, they would learn the A B C of human progress—specialization, organization, interchange. It is by these steps that men have risen from the naked helplessness of savages to our present state of civilization, and women also must learn to follow. This whole, big, stirring life of the world that we call "progress" should be for women as much as for men.

Every woman of us might have shorter hours, larger pay and better work to show for it if we would try to learn those A B Cs—specialization, organization, interchange.

NEXT SUNDAY WILL BE GROUNDHOG DAY

Next Sunday, Feb. 2, will be Ground hog day. On that day the little subterranean dweller will venture forth from his hole. If the sun is shining so brightly that he can see his shadow, he will retreat to his domicile, and there will be six weeks more winter. At least such is the time-honored tradition. Whether anybody sees the little creature coming forth from his hole or not, anyone can tell whether the day is bright or cloudy and may readily surmise just what Mr. Groundhog is deciding. Those who believe in the groundhog tradition may thus draw their own conclusions whether the winter will be over on Feb. 2 or will continue for six weeks more. Many Duluthians, pleased at the mildness of the present winter, would like to see it followed by an early spring, and are earnestly expressing the hope that next Sunday the sky will be well clouded.

A dark, cloudy Groundhog day would not be displeasing to the grain dealers and farmers of the Northwest, nor should business men of the Northwest in general fail to appreciate that an early spring this year means much to this part of the country. Farmers are away behind in the fall plowing, and they need an early spring to catch up with their work, and get their seed in the ground in due time for good crops in the fall.

WEST END

BANQUET PROGRAM IS ARRANGED

Prominent Duluth Men Will Speak at West End Club Dinner.

The general committee of the West End Commercial club, at a meeting held yesterday afternoon at the Duluth State bank, arranged most of the details for the annual banquet of the club. This will be held in Woodmen hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street, beginning at 8 o'clock. Supper will be served by the Ladies' Guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church.

Julius H. Barnes will address the gathering on "The Work of the Traffic Commission of the Duluth Commercial Club." Charles P. Craig will speak on "Gardening." "The High Cost of Living" will be the subject of a paper by Dr. O. A. Oredson. Charles S. Mitchell is also scheduled to speak but has not yet announced his topic. L. A. Simonson, chairman of the general committee, will be toastmaster. The invocation will be given by Rev. J. A. McGaughey, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church.

The musical part of the program has not yet been completed. This will be under the management of James Maghan, a member of the committee. It will include both vocal and instrumental numbers.

The committee consists of L. A. Simonson, Carl E. Lonegren, Dr. O. A. Oredson, James Maghan and A. B. Width.

Five Hundred Party.

Five hundred was the chief source of amusement at a delightful party given by Mrs. W. F. Weston of 2201 West First street. Mrs. A. Young and Mrs. A. Olson were the winners. Mrs. Weston's rooms were decorated tastefully with red roses. Luncheon was served. The guests were: Mrs. M. Olsen, Mrs. A. Armstrong, Mrs. A. Young, Mrs. A. Olson, Mrs. T. Boyle, Mrs. R. Homer, Miss Florence Lundberg and Miss Linda Olson.

ORE EXPERT IS WITNESS

an advantage in the acquisition of ore properties over a company that has no railroad of its own?" asked H. E. Colton of counsel for the government.

"Naturally," replied the witness. "The rates eliminate all competition."

Carnegie a Trouble-Maker.

Testimony in support of the contention of the government that Andrew Carnegie was a trouble-maker in the steel trade and that the Carnegie Steel company was taken over by the United States Steel corporation because of his refusal to abide by agreement, was given by Walter Scranton, former president of the Lackawanna Steel company, and other important concerns.

Mr. Scranton told of the steel rail pools which existed in the steel trade before the corporation was organized, in which the Carnegie Steel company was invariably a member. It appeared from his testimony that Andrew Carnegie was responsible for the dissolution of most of the pools.

In one instance, dated back to 1897, the Carnegie Steel company, according to the witness had an "inside" agreement with the Illinois Steel company which did not come to the knowledge of the other members of the pool until the two companies quarreled. Then the pool, he said, led to a plan to organize the Empire Rail company which was to be a selling company for all the manufacturers, but the plan fell through.

"What individual was responsible for that?" asked Mr. Colton.

Could Not Agree.

"Andrew Carnegie. He could not agree with the other members," replied the witness.

Subsequently another rail pool was organized in which Charles M. Schwab represented the Carnegie company, and Judge Elbert H. Gary, now chairman of the Steel corporation, represented the Federal Steel company.

"We would meet and suggest a price as among gentlemen, but as often we did not sell at the price agreed upon," explained the witness. This was in 1900. The Steel corporation was organized in 1901 and Mr. Colton wanted to know if by the acquirement of the Carnegie, the National and Federal Steel companies, all consolidations in themselves, the Steel corporation did not acquire a percentage of the rail capacity of the country sufficient to control the price of standard rails.

"I don't think they could control the price, but their suggestions would be favorably considered," said the witness.

Mr Colton pointed to the fact that since the organization, the price of rails had not varied from $28 a ton.

"I should think that indicated that some understanding existed," said Mr. Scranton.

EXCHANGES IN NEED OF REGULATION

customers' orders are executed.

A law clearly prohibiting insolvent brokers from continuing to buy and sell after they become insolvent.

A law making it a criminal offense "to issue any statement or publish any advertisement as to the value of any stock or other security, or as to the financial condition of any corporation or company issuing or about to issue stock or securities, where any promise or prediction contained in such statement or advertisement is known to be false or to be not fairly justified by existing conditions."

Short Sales and Usury.

Governor Sulzer also recommends, but leaves to the legislature for decision, changes in existing laws and the enactment of new laws governing short sales, the hypothecation of securities, bucket shops, usury (under which head he classes the raising of call money rates to more than 6 per cent), the relations between exchanges and the consolidation of exchanges.

In his message he says in part:

"That evils requiring immediate remedy exist is beyond dispute. These evils are easily discovered and readily stated, but the remedies to be applied require deliberate consideration and the most delicate adjustment to meet the situation, so as to benefit the public at large, and at the same time not disturb economic and industrial conditions.

"It is demonstrated that the members of the exchange are aware of these occurrences, but ignore them; manifesting a surprising indifference to the public interest, and to the reputation of the exchanges which is often besmirched by these vicious operations.

"It is now conceded by some of the officials that a gambling taint is present in some of the transactions—a concession that confirms the general opinion.

"It has been established that transactions in their nature fictitious, which make manipulations possible, are carried on without attempts at restraint, on the pretense that they are in form in compliance with the regulations.

"Abuses of the mechanicisms and violation of just and equitable principles of trading, are treated leniently instead of being vigorously condemned and followed by condign punishment.

"The testimony before a committee of the house of representatives further shows that in cases where members have been punished for extreme violations of the rules, it also indicates quite clearly that there are habitual evasions, undisclosed because not investigated.

"Many of the evil practices are not disclosed until the books of members who fail are examined; but this has not led the governors to exercise their power of examination prior to failures.

Inexcusable Laxity Shown.

"The men who have been entrusted with the power to regulate the operations of these exchanges have sometimes displayed inexcusable laxity in their duties to the public, frequently surprising incapacity to conduct the institutions properly, and again an unwillingness to enforce the just and equitable principles of trade which they profess. Since they have failed or refused to exercise the power to prevent such clearly vicious abuses, the authority of the state must be invoked to exercise that power.

"Certain of the methods of business and of the operations conducted upon these exchanges have been the subject of many complaints and grave criticisms. Some of those methods and practices merit the severest condemnation and others do not appear, upon careful examination of the facts, to be well founded.

"As a matter of fact it seems to me the necessary machinery of these exchanges is often employed with impunity by or through members to commit depredations upon the public.

"These things must be stopped. An enlightened public opinion demands it. An exchange in which they occur ceases to be a legitimate market, and becomes a powerful mulcting instrument.

Customs Are Antiquated.

"The members of these exchanges must realize that many of the customs and rules now controlling them are antiquated and unfitted for present-day purposes, and they should be desirous, in their own interest, of expeditiously adopting corrective measures that, when put into operation, will place the exchanges in harmony with the progressive spirit of the times. Every stock transaction should be above board. Corporations whose securities are bought and sold on these exchanges should be compelled to make regular audited reports. Publicity should be the watchword. The trouble with the exchanges so far as the investing public is concerned, is lack of confidence. It can only be restored by doing business straight and on the square and in the open.

"Let us go slow and not act hastily. Ill-considered legislation in regard to the purchase and sale of stocks and bonds might result in serious harm to the financial supremacy of the state, have a tendency to drive capital away from New York, and might disorganise the large operations of legitimate business now centered in this state, to the detriment of its citizens and the commonwealth generally.

"Great care should be taken, therefore, in the consideration and enactment of just laws which, if wisely drawn, will protect the investing public, promote publicity, safeguard the rights of the people, restore confidence, and facilitate our business prosperity, but which, if inconsiderately enacted, may result in a serious disorganization of general business.

by the police magistrate each to a month's hard labor.

Two More Sentenced.

London, Jan. 28.—Mrs. Despard, a prominent leader of the militant suffragettes, and two of her companions were sentenced to fourteen days' imprisonment today on the charge of resisting the police in the execution of their duty when they dispersed a meeting in Trafalgar square last evening.

Mrs. Despard, who is a sister of the famous cavalry general Sir John French, was offered the option of paying a fine of $10, but she refused to accept this and was sent to jail.

A fourth suffragette, who was among those arrested last night, was sent to prison for seven days.

Mrs. Despard, addressing the magistrate after being sentenced, said that she would probably repeat her offense when she was released.

Some sympathizers in court, who made a demonstration when sentence was pronounced, were ejected by the attendants.

Item Welcomed By Many Men

This recipe can be filled at home, so that no one need know of another's troubles, as the ingredients can be obtained separately at any well stocked drug store. They are in regular use and many different prescriptions are constantly being filled with them.

This will prove a welcome bit of information for all those who are overworked, gloomy, despondent, nervous and have trembling limbs, heart palpitation, dizziness, cold extremities, insomnia, fear without cause, timidity in venturing, and general inability to act naturally and rationally as others do, because the treatment can be prepared secretly at home and taken without any one's knowledge.

Overworked office men and the many victims of society's late hours and dissipation will, it is said, find the restorative they are in need of.

If the reader decides to try it, get three ounces of ordinary syrup sarsaparilla compound and one ounce compound fluid balmwort; mix and let stand two hours; then get one ounce compound essence cardiol and one ounce tincture cadomene compound (not cardamom), mix all together, shake well and take a teaspoonful after each meal and one when retiring.

A certain well-known medical expert asserts that thousands of men and many women are sufferers all because of dormant circulation of the blood and a consequential impairment of the nervous force, which begets the most dreadful symptoms and untold misery.

STORK DID ITS SHARE

Increased Population of City By 1,096 During Year 1912.

Births for Year Exceeded the Deaths By That Number.

Duluth had a substantial gain in population within her own borders during the year 1912.

During the twelve months ending Dec. 31, the stork brought 1,879 new babies to homes in the corporate limits, according to the vital statistics at the health department.

In the same length of time 883 deaths were reported to the health department.

The difference represents 1,096 more persons in Duluth this year than a year ago.

More boys than girls were born, although the difference is not great. The records show that 957 of the new arrivals were boys while 922 were girls. June was the smallest month with 139 births reported while July, the succeeding month, was the largest with 170 births.

SHARP FIGHTING WITH THE MOROS

One Soldier Is Killed in Rush By Bolo Men.

Manila, Philippines, Jan. 28.—Further sharp fighting between the American troops and the Moros was reported today when, as the result of an engagement near the city of Jolo, the American troops lost one man killed and six wounded.

A large force of Bolo men made a sudden onslaught and succeeded in rushing two troops of United States cavalry and a detachment of Philippine constabulary. After a severe fight the Moros were beaten off, it is believed, with heavy loss, but the number of their casualties has not yet been ascertained.

will let the voters pass on woman suffrage. We are committing a grievous wrong if we refuse this, no matter whether personally we are for woman suffrage or against it. I hear some senators say they would vote for the bill if their constituents were not against it. They don't know, and the only way to find out how their constituents stand is to pass this bill and let them vote on it. I question no man's motives in his vote on this bill, even though it is well known that certain special interests are working against it."

Other new bills were as follows:

Senator Froshaug—Requiring the state board of health to supervise sewers and water works except in first-class cities.

Senator Coller—Forbidding sales of merchandise stocks in bulk without giving one day's notice to all creditors.

Senator Swanson — Appropriating $18,402 to pay R. A. Fizy & Son for extra work done on Koochiching contract for drainage.

Senator Wilson — Giving railroad commission power to compel railroads to furnish side tracks for lumber yards.

Representative Fuchs—Authorizing water boards to read meters every three months instead of monthly.

Representatives Olien and Holmberg —Appropriating $10,000 for a new fish hatchery at Granite Falls.

Representative Fuchs—Authorizing street railways to make contracts with cities to carry policemen and firemen for less than the regular rates.

Representative Ribenack — Leasing the old state elevator site to Duluth for public dock purposes.

Representative Frye — Prohibiting discrimination between sections in the buying of grain.

RULING HITS SALOONS.

Hurley Judge Makes Decision Said to Be Inimical.

Hurley, Wis., Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—In the case in which H. J. Stone of Manitowish made complaint against the Doriot Bros. also of Manitowish that the latter were selling liquor without a license, Judge Thomas in municipal court held that the town of Mercer erred when it granted a license to the place conducted by the Doriots for the reason that the place in question did not have a license permitting the selling of intoxicating liquors granted, issued and in force on the 30th day of June, 1907, and consequently under the Baker law the license was illegal. The two defendants were held technically guilty of selling liquor without a license, but the passing of sentence was delayed pending their behavior during the next month.

It is understood that this decision affects from five to ten saloon buildings in Hurley and that these buildings were not licensed during the license year 1906-1907 and hence are not legally entitled to a license.

Know What You Want See That You Get It.

That is the secret of efficiency in modern day shopping. Unless you do know what you want and insist upon getting it, you are apt to be disappointed in the things you buy.

THE HERALD is a purchasing directory for every kind of good clothing, food and articles for the home. It is your most economical shopping bureau because it enables you to purchase the best of everything and live better for less money.

It enables you to know just what is best and tells you just where it is best for you to purchase, through its advertisements.

Read THE HERALD'S advertisements closely and constantly every day. This habit will protect you from purchasing questionable products and being imposed upon by unscrupulous manufacturers.

The manufacturers who ask you to test their sincerity through advertisements in THE HERALD are among the most reliable makers of goods in the world. Patronize them. It will pay you to do so.

Belongs in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Jan. 28.—Alexander Chambers, who told a remarkable story regarding his whereabouts to the San Diego authorities, was reported missing to the Philadelphia police on Jan. 18, and a country-wide search was made for him at the request of his relatives. He is a wealthy resident of Newton, Pa., a few miles from this city.

Diamond in Cookie.

St. Louis, Jan. 28.—Upon biting a cookie today, Mrs. Trila Kirby of St. Charles, Mo., found a diamond ring which her daughter lost on Wednesday, probably while mixing the dough. She sent some cookies to her mother who recovered the ring.

Health and Beauty Helps

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN.

Miss E. R.: A lotion that will help your red hands, dark face and neck permanently can be made by dissolving four ounces of spurmax in one-half pint of hot water (or witch hazel) and pint of cupful sugar and hot water to make a full quart. Take a tablespoonful before each meal and in a short time you will feel like a new person. It will give you rich, red blood, fill you with energy and put the color and look of health into your face.

Sylvia: Never wash your hair with soap. The "free" alkali in soap is injurious to the hair, and in time will eat the very life out of it, causing your hair to become streaky and split at the ends. For a really good shampoo, simply dissolve a teaspoonful of canthrox in a cup of hot water. Shampoo and rinse with clear water. This shampoo lathers abundantly, removes all dirt, dandruff and excess oil, and will leave your hair soft, glossy and fluffy. This shampoo dries so quickly that it makes shampooing a real pleasure. After using it once you will imagine you have twice as much hair as you ever had before. This is the shampoo now used by many of the best hairdressers. After shampooing an application of a quinzoin hair-tonic (see answer to "Alma") will prove very invigorating and refreshing to your scalp.

Kate: (a) Reducing your weight without plenty of exercising and dieting may appear quite difficult, but I have a formula that has worked wonders where other remedies have failed. Put four ounces of parnotis in 1½ pints hot water. When cold, strain out the sediment and take a tablespoonful of the liquid before each meal. It is a harmless remedy and leaves the skin free from flabbiness. (b) To make your eyes bright and healthy, use crystos eye tonic regularly. It is sold by all druggists.

Daisy: I can recommend delatone for banishing hair or fuzz because I know it really does the work. To remove those hairs apply a paste made with delatone and water and after two or three minutes rub off, wash the skin and you will find it smooth and hairless. No possible harm results from using delatone.

T. L.: Rubbing a little pyroxin on your eyebrows with finger-ends makes them grow thick and glossy. Short, straight lashes will come in long and curly if pyroxin be applied at lash-roots with thumb and fore-finger. This treatment will add greatly to your beauty, but you must be careful and not get any pyroxin where no hair is wanted.

YOUNGWIFE: Artificial aids for under-development fool no one but the wearer. Feed the starved, shrunken tissues and your bust will soon assume its correct proportions. The vaucaire treatment is reliable and can be prepared at little cost by dissolving 1½ cupfuls sugar in 1 pint water and then adding 1 ounce gallol. Take 2 teaspoonfuls before each meal until development is where you want it, then discontinue or over-development may follow.

Mrs. T. C.: No one can afford to neglect his or her eyes, although most people do. If you want bright, clear, beautiful eyes that will be much admired, you can have them with very little care. Get an ounce of crystos at any drug store and dissolve it in a pint of water. Put two or three drops of this tonic in each eye daily and you will be surprised how it will strengthen your weak, tired eyes and make them strong, healthy and sparkling. Many oculists who use this simple tonic get excellent results in treating eye-troubles generally. It is very soothing and has enabled many to dispense with wearing glasses.

Alma: Your scalp needs a good, stimulating quinine hair-tonic to remove the dandruff, stop irritation and falling hair. Get from any drug store one-half pint alcohol (not whisky) and one ounce quinzoin and mix it with one-half pint water and you will have a much better tonic than any of those ready-prepared tonics you have been buying. Brush your hair daily, and twice a week apply this tonic to the scalp, rubbing it in gently. This will do wonders for your dull, lifeless falling hair, and put your scalp in a healthy condition. This tonic will make your hair soft, silky and lustrous. Keep the scalp clean by frequent shampoos with canthrox and you will not have further trouble with your hair.

Might Be Dead Today

Garden City, Kas.—In a letter from Mrs. James Hamner, of this city, she says, "I firmly believe that I would not be alive today, if it were not for Cardui. I had been a sufferer from womanly troubles all my life, until I found that great remedy. I feel that I can't praise it too highly." Are you a woman, suffering from some of the troubles, to which a woman is peculiarly liable? If so, why not try Cardui, the woman's tonic? You can rely on Cardui. It is purely vegetable, perfectly harmless, and acts gently but surely, without bad after-effects. 'Twill help you. Ask your druggist.

FRIEND OF BIRDS COMING TO DULUTH

President of League of American Sportsmen Will Lecture Here.

Duluth will be visited this evening by one of the most faithful, and undoubtedly the most famous, friend of birds, animals and fish in America.

G. O. Shields, president of the League of American Sportsmen, is an interesting character. He has devoted his whole life to the protection of birds, animals and fish, and personally and through his organization has accomplished wonders in the way of protective legislation and the arousing of public conscience.

Col. Shields is coming to Duluth as the guest of the Men's League of the First M. E. church and he will lecture at the church this evening under the auspices of that organization. His lecture will be illustrated and will be the general subject of protection for birds and animals and especially for birds. The League of American Sportsmen was responsible for the legislation now before congress for the better protection of birds and Col. Shields is greatly interested in arousing the interest of people all over the country.

Col. Shields has been writing and lecturing on his pet subject since 1866. He was editor of Recreation from 1894 to 1905 and since his retirement from that position, he has conducted a magazine of his own. He was largely instrumental in the organization of the League of American Sportsmen and has been president since its organization. He has written many books on nature subjects and has made many excursions into the wilds in search of material and photographs. Some of his photographs are said to be wonderful reproductions of nature subjects.

Quick Relief From Pneumonia

GAVE RESTFUL SLEEP

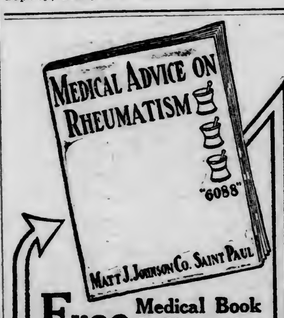

"I have used Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and find that it is all that it is represented and will always use it because it has helped me and there is nothing better in sickness. I used your product for malaria and ague and I can truthfully say that it cured me. Again I used it when I had a very severe attack of pneumonia and with the same good results. I began to improve at once, my nerves became settled and I could sleep, something I had not done for weeks. Your product certainly brought me rest; it quieted my nerves, and now I am entirely well."—Mrs. Anna M'Callister, 157 Gelsendorf St., Indianapolis, Ind.

TEACHERS TO ASK INCREASE

Board of Education Will Be Asked to Raise Salaries Again.

More Money Now Available Through Increase in Valuation of City.

Duluth teachers are planning another attack on the high cost of living through the medium of an increase in salaries.

At a meeting to be held at the Central high school this evening, the teachers will discuss plans for laying before the board of education an application for another increase in the salary scale. Their last campaign was successful in a measure, but they claim that there is still much room for improvement.

The present maximum salary for teachers in the eighth grade is $85 per month, and the maximum for the grades below is $80 a month. Teachers just out of normal draw $50 a month for the first year, while teachers coming with experience are graded according to the length of their experience. Salaries increase $50 a year on recommendation.

Prior to the last campaign for salary increases the maximum in the eighth grade was $75 a month, with $70 a month as a maximum in the grades below. The increases were made only at the rate of $25 a year also.

More Money Available.

When the last agitation was on, the school board declared that no further advance could be made on account of the financial condition of the school district. The board is limited, at least by public opinion, to a tax levy of 12 mills on the assessed valuation. Greater increases in salaries would have demanded a tax levy in excess of that figure.

Since that time the assessed valuation of the city has increased about $10,000,000 and the teachers claim that the salaries can be put upon what they believe to be an adequate basis without placing a strain on the taxpayers. Just what the basis of salaries to be requested will be will not be disclosed until after the meeting this evening.

In their last campaign for higher salaries, the teachers had general support in the city. They will undoubtedly make a plea for the same support. Teachers' salaries run for only ten months in the year, and they claim that they are entitled to a salary during those ten months that will not leave them penniless during the summer vacation.

The old question of salary discrimination between men and women teachers is likely to be revived also, but members of the school board say that no such discrimination is practiced in Duluth. Members of the board say that the salary of principals is governed by the size and importance of the schools, and that high school salaries are graded by ability and not by the sex of the teachers.

IRONWOOD NOTES.

Foresters Elect and Telephone Officials Visit Town.

Ironwood, Mich., Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Court Garfield, Foresters of America, have elected the following officers for the ensuing term: Chief ranger, John T. Nicholas; sub chief ranger, S. J. Mitchell; treasurer, Charles Drew; financial secretary, William T. Paull; recording secretary, William H. Burn; woodwards, James Andrews, and Joseph Apps; beadles, A. H. Geach and J. Johnston; trustees, Harry Smith, John Lory and Thomas Burch.

A number of official of the Michigan State Telephone company were in Ironwood making an examination of the local outfit. In the party were C. Kittredge, chief engineer, C. R. Gardner, superintendent of exchanges; F. R. Temple, engineer, all of Detroit, Mich., and F. Sullivan, district plant chief of Marquette. It is understood that part of the equipment for the outside work for the plant here has been ordered, and instructions given to have it delivered by May 1, when the rebuilding is to be commenced.

CHICAGO MAN IS ACQUITTED AT FARGO.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Federal jury today acquitted M. A. Solberg, or Oscar Anderson, who was brought here from Chicago and tried on mail fraud charges. He was a clerk and sold a consumption cure as a side line. The government contended it was only barley meal. The acquittal was a surprise, as the prosecution claimed to have a strong case.

GROWS BEAUTIFUL, HEAVY HAIR, WE PROVE IT--25 CENT "DANDERINE"

Destroys Dandruff—Stops Falling Hair—Cleans and Invigorates Your Scalp—Delightful Dressing.

To be possessed of a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and free from dandruff is merely a matter of using a little Danderine.

It is easy and inexpensive to have nice, soft hair and lots of it. Just get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance; freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and lustre and try as you will you cannot find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower; destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.

NEW WHOLESALE HOUSE

Third Firm of Hardware Jobbers in the Field---Branching Out Into New Lines.

A third wholesale hardware house is in the field in Duluth now and gives promise of growing to much greater proportions.

The new house is paradoxically not new, for it has been in the Duluth field for years, but has been gradually entering the wholesale hardware field.

The concern is now known as the National Hardware & Supply company and is an outgrowth of the old Duluth Iron & Metal company, which, however, still exists. The partners in the concern are Louis Zalk, Max Zalk and H. Y. Josephs.

For years these partners have been in business in Duluth and have now developed the wholesale hardware business up to a certain point and propose to develop it still more. This development began some months ago and today Mr. Josephs told The Herald that the firm is sending heavy hardware from the Pacific to the Atlantic, and that its territory throughout the Northwest especially is growing to such an extent that it will be impossible soon to confine its trade to the lines it still holds to, namely, mining, milling, railroad and contractors' supplies in heavy hardware. He said that during the coming spring the company will have to add builders' and plumbers' supplies for the demand for such stuff is becoming too insistent to be longer ignored.

So far shelf hardware has not been carried except in a minor way, but, as Mr. Josephs says, this is bound to come. Mr. Josephs expects to add shelf hardware to the business within the current year. When that time comes the real campaign for business will be begun by the firm. So far, for the most part, business has developed itself, although some effort has been made to get it.

The company is installed in the old curling rink. The building is 322 feet long and about 100 feet wide. When more business lines are added it is expected extensions to this building will have to be made or larger quarters obtained.

NEW DISCOVERY QUICKLY CURES KIDNEY AND BLADDER TROUBLES

Chronic Sufferers Find Relief After Few Doses Are Taken.

If you are bothered with backache—or rheumatism, have disagreeable, annoying bladder or urinary disorders to contend with—or suffer with any other of the many miseries that come from weak kidneys, here is a guaranteed remedy you can depend upon, no matter what else may have failed to cure you.

It is a positive fact that the new discovery, Croxone, promptly overcomes such diseases. It is the most wonderful remedy ever made for ridding the system of uric acid, removing the cause and curing the troubles.

It soaks right in and cleans out the stopped up kidneys and makes them filter and sift out all the poisonous waste matter from the blood. It neutralizes and dissolves the uric acid that lodges in the joints and muscles, causing rheumatism; soothes and heals the delicate linings of the bladder; and puts the kidneys and urinary organs in a clean, strong, healthy condition.

More than a few doses of Croxone are seldom required to relieve even the obstinate long standing cases, while it cures the most severe forms of kidney, bladder trouble, and rheumatism in a surprisingly short time.

You will find Croxone entirely different from all other remedies. There is nothing else on earth like it. It is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. An original package costs but a trifle at any first class drug store. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if Croxone fails to give the desired results the very first time you use it.

ROTARIANS ENTERTAIN

First Ladies' Night Entertainment of the Year at Commercial Club.

Steamer May Be Secured to Take Delegates to Buffalo Convention.

The Rotary club held its regular weekly meeting last night but added to it by holding in connection the first "ladies' night" of the new year. Forty-four members were present, most of them bringing companions, and the Commercial club dining room where the dinner was served, took on a festive appearance. The evening was passed most enjoyably.

Following the dinner business was attended to. A letter was received from the general secretary asking that the club celebrate fittingly the founding of the Rotary movement, as near Feb. 25, the anniversary, as possible. This matter will be taken up by the board of directors and arrangements will be made.

Secretary G. H. Bate said that it is believed that there will be attendance enough at the annual convention at Buffalo from the Northwest to warrant hiring a large steamer to take the party down the lakes. Vern R. Culbertson's paper on "The Wholesale Fruit Business," which will be found in another column, was read by T. J. St. Germain and was much appreciated.

Secretary Bate urged that some action be taken to cause greater attendance at the weekly meetings of the club, and various suggestions were offered, such as contests. President Filiatrault said that this matter will also be taken up at the next meeting of the directors.

Burgess for Woman Suffrage.

William Burgess was called upon for an address, and after talking in a jocular way about the effect the women had on the appearance of the men present and how they would, had they votes, be instrumental in improving the appearance of the city, he grew serious and declared himself flat-footedly in favor of women's suffrage. He was liberally applauded by men and women alike, so that it seemed apparent, it was remarked, that there were other men present who are of the same mind.

W. T. Russell, past president of the club spoke of the progress of the club during the past year. He says it has grown 25 per cent in the past year and that the ensuing year bids fair to eclipse that record. H. A. Armstrong was called upon for an address but very adroitly shouldered the burden off onto G. A. Sherwood. The latter spoke of the kindly feeling which the Commercial club has for the Rotary club, and he expressed the hope that the latter club would assist the Commercial club in its work for the city, especially in helping the industrial secretary along in his work.

The Rotarians gave a vote of thanks to the Commercial club for the use of the rooms for the evening.

ELEVATORS ARE IN GOOD CONDITION

State Inspector Has Made Close Examination of Duluth "Lifts."

That freight and passenger elevators in Duluth are arranged, managed and operated more strictly in compliance with the letter of the law than those of any other city in the state was the statement made today by Thomas E. Nicholson of St. Paul, state factory and elevator inspector, who has been in Duluth for six weeks, looking over the elevators here. In this inspection he has been assisted by Andrew Horngren, deputy state labor inspector. Together they have examined 270 Duluth elevators.

Mr. Nicholson said today that Duluth was very fortunate in having so few elevator accidents. He said the owners and managers of buildings had been ready to co-operate with his department in every way, and were eager to adopt all the suggestions that he made in respect to making the use of the elevators perfectly safe for the public. Some of the elevators that he examined were not in perfectly good condition, but they were not unsafe. He ordered new cables and other necessary repairs for them, and these would be made at once.

RANGE MINERS TO MEET IN DULUTH

Proposed Workingmen's Compensation Act Will Be Discussed at Meeting.

For the purpose of discussing the proposed workingmen's compensation act, range miners will meet in Duluth Sunday, Feb. 2, at Kalamazoo hall, 18 West Superior street. Invitations have been sent out to local attorneys and prominent citizens to make addresses. Among the speakers will be W. E. McEwen, secretary and treasurer of the State Federation of Labor.

It is believed that the miners will oppose that clause of the proposed act which discriminates against workingmen who are not residents of the United States and also against the provision for a financial contribution from laborers. It is probable that the miners will suggest that the compensation provided for in the bill, be increased.

UNIFICATION CONSIDERED.

Duluth and Superior Pastors Discuss Merging of Lutheran Churches.

The Duluth-Superior Ministerial association held a meeting yesterday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. and discussed the topic, "The Unification of the Lutheran Church." The gathering included pastors of Swedish, Norwegian, English, Danish and Norwegian Lutheran churches. Those present were Revs. C. J. Olson, J. H. Stenberg, Carl Swan, E. Lehne, J. N. Nervig and J. Hanson of Duluth and Revs. N. J. Lockrem, R. C. Ackerman, N. C. Carlson, W. Gable and O. K. Anderson of Superior. The principal address was made by Rev. E. Lehne, pastor of St. Matthew's German Lutheran church of Duluth.

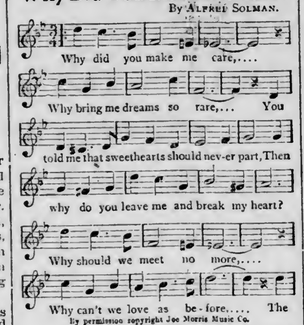

Dodge Elected President.

New York, Jan. 28.—Directors of the International Paper company elected Philip T. Dodge president to succeed Alonzo N. Burbank, who was elected chairman of the board. Mr. Dodge is president of the Mergenthaler Linotype company and has for some time past been a director of the International Paper company.

LATEST POPULAR SONG.

Odd Love Ballad Aimed to Educate the Voice.

Alfred Solman, the man who wrote the song "Mine!" which had such a run in Duluth some time ago, has just gotten out a new ballad which is at present all the rage in New York. It is a simple love song, called "Why Do You Make Me Care?" Here are a few bars cut from a copy of the music just received:

The song is somewhat better than the ordinary popular song because it contains and odd range of melody which leads the singer up to a very effective climax, aimed evidently to develop the voice, although containing not a high note. The composition is also out for male and female quartets.

ROADS MUST COME TO DOOR

"One Mile From County Road" Spells Hardship to Settler.

Packing Stoves Through Woods Is Not Game for Children.

"Being within a mile or two miles of a 'good county road' is about the same as being 100 miles from a railroad in a prairie country," said John Owens of the village of Cook yesterday, in discussing the road problem of Northern Minnesota.

Mr. Owens is a former resident of Duluth, having been clerk of the district court here from 1895 to 1899. He has also been a resident of Northern Minnesota since 1882, and knows St. Louis county and its need thoroughly.

"Do you know what being 'within a mile or two of a good country road means?" he continued. "It means that you have to leave your team a mile from home, and pack everything through the woods and through swamps for a mile. Cookstoves, food, furniture and all kinds of supplies have to be packed into your home. If anybody is taken sick they have to be carried a mile through the woods to get to the road. If you have produce to market, it has to be packed out to the road, and a mile through the woods with a heavy pack is not child's play. Being within a mile of a good county road doesn't do the farmer much good, or make his farm profitable. He must be on the road, so he can get supplies in and his produce out. Talk and advertising, and boosting, and everything else are useless until we get roads. It is a crime to put a man on these Northern Minnesota lands, three or four miles away from a road.

"The state lands are one of the great handicaps to the settlers. Five years ago the valuation on lands in 62-18, which is the township my farm is in, was $5 per acre; and the lands were sold at that price. The last sale made in the township was on the basis of $10 per acre. Now who is responsible for that increase in value? The settlers who have gone in there and done their best to open up the country have doubled the value of the state's land in five years, yet the state has done nothing for them.

"You ask us what we want? We want roads and schools first. Things are better now than they have been. My farm is right on a very fair road, so I have nothing to complain of personally, but I can't help seeing how the country is held back for the lack of good roads.

"The automobile has been a wonderful missionary agent. A few years ago the farmer looked upon the automobilist as his enemy, being perhaps a little envious and thinking of his frightened horses. But the farmer is now finding the automobile owner to be his best friend. He is an invaluable ally in the fight for good roads. You can't spend too much money for roads. I would like to see a full mill added to the state tax and the money spent exclusively for roads."

GOV. WILSON RECEIVES GREETINGS FROM KING.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 28.—President-elect Wilson has received personal greetings from the king of Spain through the Marquis De La Vega Inclan, the royal commissioner delegate to select a site for the Spanish exhibit at the Panama exposition at San Francisco. It was the first message Mr. Wilson has received from an European ruler.

The envoy also expressed, in behalf of the king, a deep interest in the exposition at San Francisco.

The president-elect inquired if it were true that King Alfonso would visit the United States soon, and learned that the laws and customs of Spain made it practically impossible for its monarch to leave the country for any length of time.

To Extend Investigation.

Washington, Jan. 28.—The proposal by Senator Clapp to extend the investigation into campaign expenditures to cover the general election expenses of 1912, was approved today by the senate committee on contingent expenses.

Scrofula

The following testimonial clearly shows the wonderful efficacy of Hood's Sarsaparilla:

"When my daughter, now grown up, was only three months old, she had a swelling in her neck, which the doctors pronounced scrofula. She was failing in health. I read of a cure by Hood's Sarsaparilla, and thought that if this medicine would cure one it would cure another, and gave it a trial. When our little girl had taken two bottles she was entirely cured." Mrs. C. E. Steward, Marengo, O.

HANNA CALLS DOWN SOLONS

Printing Bills of North Dakota Legislature Are Too Large.

Former Members Holding Secret Caucuses on Proposed Legislation.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—North Dakota legislators were somewhat surprised yesterday when Governor L. B. Hanna submitted a special message containing the statement that printing bills created by the session were averaging about $500 daily. While the solons had a hazy notion that it was costing the state quite a bit of money to print journals and bills each day, the statement was a revelation to most of them.

It is very probable that steps will be taken by a joint committee of the legislature to make an investigation and determine what steps can be taken to bring about a reduction of the printing cost which, for the whole session, will total about $30,000 to $35,000.

Mid-Session Recess Probable.

There is some talk of a recess, but it is not as pronounced as it has been in previous years, the absence of the free pass doubtless being responsible for the changed sentiment of some members on the question.

The mid-session recess, however, seems certain, and it will begin either the latter end of this week or the latter part of next week.

The Hendrickson bill, providing that a unanimous decision by the supreme court is necessary to declare a law unconstitutional, failed to pass yesterday, but its author gave notice that he would make a motion today for reconsideration, as it lost out by a very close vote, 55 to 53.

Commission Government.

It appears probable that the amendments proposed to the city commission government bill will be passed. Under the present law it would be impossible to vote on the question of adopting the commission plan in the city of Fargo this spring, and there is an element in that city which favors the adoption of the plan. The amendment would make it possible for Fargo, and cities in the same situation, to vote on the commission question at the same time the general city election is held in April, each year.

The Hughes road bill, providing for the creation of a highway commission, using convict labor and establishing state highways, has taken the count. On an opinion by the attorney general that the bill was unconstitutional, the author asked the privilege of withdrawing it. Constitutional amendments will have to be provided for before the movement can be successful.

Farmer Members Caucusing.

The farmers in the house of representatives are at it again, and several secret caucuses that have been held recently may have an important bearing upon the work of the lower branch of the assembly from now on. When the legislature was organized, only this month, there was considerable interest taken in the farmers' caucus, but it failed to have the desired effect, which was the control of the organization. The farmers were unable to come to any agreement as to the speakership, and abandoned plans for the time being. Now they have taken up the movement again, and it is understood that several important matters are being considered by them, including insurance legislation, they proposing further safeguards to the North Dakota policy holder.

Senator Cashel's bill providing for women suffrage, which has been taken up by the senate committee on woman suffrage, proposes that there be an election held in 1916 at which time the women themselves shall vote on the question of whether or not suffrage shall be extended to them. The suffragettes are opposed to this plan, contending that it is unfair and are urging the passage of the Bronson bill, which was turned down by the senate by the narrow margin of one vote.

MIDWAY FARMER GIVEN DAMAGES

Hendrick Dorffi Awarded $4,432 for D. W. & P. Right-of-Way.

Hendrick Dorffi, Midway farmer, will recover $4,432 from the Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific railroad as damages to his farm for land taken in condemnation proceedings for a right-of-way.

The commission three years ago awarded Dorffi $2,200. He appealed from the award and in January, 1911 was given a verdict for $4,900. Judge Ensign set this verdict aside and the case was taken up to the supreme court. The supreme court sent it back to the district court for a new trial. On the second trial which was brought to a close yesterday, the jury awarded Dorffi $3,800 damages and $632 interest.

The right-of-way crosses the Dorffi farm at Midway at a point near where the railroad tracks cross the Thompson road. The railroad took an acre and one-quarter of the land. It was necessary to raze some of the buildings on the farm. In the lawsuit, John Jenswold, Jr., appeared for Dorffi and Washburn, Bailey & Mitchell represented the defendant.

FREEZES TO DEATH.

Mine Center, Ont., Man Perishes During Heavy Storm.

Fort Frances, Ont., Jan. 28.—The funeral of Mathew Fallen of Mine Center, who froze to death several days ago was held here. He had been employed at the hotel at Mine Center and quitting his job started to go across Redgut bay to the Rainy Lake Pulp company's camp. Losing his way he wandered around and was found by an Indian trapper lying in the snow frozen to death. The Indian at once notified the nearest woodsman, Andrew Arsenault, who reported to the coroner, Dr. Moore, and Provincial Constable Campbell, who went out and brought in the body. No inquest is considered necessary. The deceased was about 40 years of age and was born in Ireland. He is said to be a widower but nothing is known as to his relatives as he left no effects.

MAKE GOOD IN CUBA.

Former Minnesotans Reported Prospering in Pearl of Antilles.

Willmar, Minn., Jan. 28.—C. A. Rice, former University of Minnesota student and captain of the Thirty-fourth United States infantry in the Philippines, is home here visiting his father, A. E. Rice, former lieutenant governor of Minnesota. Mr. Rice has been in Cuba for ten years and has acquired about 20,000 acres of land in that time. He is in the United States to finance a $1,500,000 sugar plant, which will be located on the south shore of Cuba.

Mr. Rice said that if congress reduced the tariff on sugar coming into the United States from Cuba the sugar industry, now the principal one of the island, would be doubled. The plant which Mr. Rice will organize will open operations with 56,000 acres of cane land, on which the former Minnesotan now holds an option. This immense tract will be purchased outright at a cost of about $10 per acre. It now is owned by the members of one Cuban family.

"Many Norwegians and Swedes from Minnesota who have gone to Cuba and gone into the sugar cane raising business are making good," said Mr. Rice. "The industry is a paying one and the field is open in Cuba. The island is a poor place for an American without money, position or political prestige, however. Things in this line are due for a change, though. Some of the best men in Cuba have just been chosen to head its government."

Attorney Killed.

Cynthia, N. Y., Jan. 28.—Attorney Harry R. Bailey, Republican nominee for congress from the northern district of Kentucky during the last election, was shot and killed here by Newton Arnold. Bailey was well known as a newspaper man. He was killed during an argument said to have started over a business deal.

Another Aviator Killed.

Aix-La-Chapelle, Rhenish Prussia, Jan. 28.—The German aviator, Huell, was instantly killed yesterday while making a flight. He elevated his planes suddenly to avoid telegraph wires and fell out of his seat, from a height of about thirty feet.

ROYAL

The most economical of all

Baking Powder

Absolutely Pure

Royal Baking Powder is made from pure grape cream of tartar, and is the embodiment of all the excellence possible to be attained in the highest class baking powder.

Royal Baking Powder is more economical than any other leavening agent, because of the superlative quality and absolute wholesomeness of the food it makes.

Mixtures made in imitation of genuine baking powders, but containing alum, are frequently distributed from door to door, or advertised and offered at a low price. Such are mixtures of unhealthful ingredients. In England, France, Germany and some sections of the United States the sale of alum baking powder is prohibited by law. Alum is a corrosive mineral acid, and physicians condemn baking powders containing it.

The label upon baking powders must show the ingredients.

CARMICHAEL GIVES OPINION ON CONFLICTS IN CHARTER

Every voter at the city election April 1 must express his first choice for all four commissioners, or his vote on commissioners will not be counted. The invalidating of a ballot on commissioners, does not invalidate the vote on mayor and municipal judges.

That is the opinion of City Attorney H. A. Carmichael, given to City Clerk C. S. Palmer in construction of conflicting sections of the new charter.

Section 41 of the new charter says: "No votes shall be counted on the election of commissioners unless the voter's mark as many first choices as there are commissioners to be elected, and instructions to that effect shall be printed in an appropriate place upon the ballot."

The second sentence of paragraph b of section 44 says: "All ballots shall be void which do not contain first choice votes for as many candidates for commissioners as there are commissioners to be elected."

The two sections are in direct conflict, according to Mr. Carmichael, and cannot be reconciled. However, he holds that the intent of the charter commission was clear and that it was not intended that the vote on mayor and municipal judges should be affected by the invalidating of the vote on commissioners. He holds that a ballot on which an insufficient number of first choices for commissioner are marked is void only insofar as the commissioners are concerned.

Pe-ru-na for Rheumatism

S. B. HARTMAN, M. D. Columbus, Ohio.

A great many cases of rheumastim take no other remedy than Pe-ru-na. I am in receipt of testimonials frequently from rheumatic subjects who have been benefited by the use of Pe-ru-na. A great many recoveries have been made, although I have never recommended Pe-ru-na for rheumatism especially. It is easy for me to see, however, how Pe-ru-na could be used as a remedy for rheumatism with very excellent results.

Acid Stomach Makes Rheumatism.

The trouble is, first, with digestion. The digestive organs have not done their work properly. Or if they have the appropriative organs are sluggish. Or the excretory organs. Now, what I should do is to give Pe-ru-na in these cases.

First, because Pe-ru-na will certainly stimulate digestion, sharpen the appetite, increase the relish of food.

Second, Pe-ru-na will quicken the circulation of blood, thereby making appropriation better. The food after it is digested must be taken up by the glands and carried to the tissues where it is needed.

Third, Pe-ru-na will stimulate the excretory functions, the kidneys, the solitary glands, and the liver, as well as the bowels.

Fourth, should there be a catarrhal condition of the stomach or bowels rheumatism is almost inevitable. A mucous membrane affected by catarrh cannot perform its function properly, either in furnishing the appropriate digestive juices or in absorbing the product of digestion. Pe-ru-na, therefore, is an excellent remedy, as it tends to remove the catarrh and to produce a normal condition of the mucous membrane.

Pe-ru-na Protects Against Rheumatism.

A remedy that will do these things does protect the system against rheumatism. Even after the rheumatism has begun it is helpful if not absolutely necessary that such a remedy be taken, in order to prevent the further accumulation of the morbid materials in the blood.

This is the way I should treat rheumatism. I do not regard Pe-ru-na as a specific for rheumatism. Not by any means. I would not call it a rheumatic remedy. But it is a remedy for digestion, assimilation and excretion. When these functions are properly stimulated and regulated the cause of rheumatism is removed, and in this way much benefit is derived.

Should any one afflicted with chronic rheumatism or acute rheumatism begin the use of Pe-ru-na, after they have taken a bottle or so, if they wish they can consult me.

COUNTY IS IN ODD DILEMMA

Sheridan County, N. D. Now Boasts of County Boards.

Both Qualified and Transacting Business as Result of Legal Mixup.

McClusky, N. D., Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—With two sets of county commissioners, neither of which is recognized by the county auditor as official, Sheridan county is in another dilemma.

At the recent election a complete set of commissioners was chosen. The existing board secured a ruling from the attorney general that its tenure of office was for four instead of two years, no short terms having been designated at the election two years ago. Both boards presented bonds and transacted business. The citizens are waiting for the courts to decide which is legal.

BIG BANQUET FOR SENATOR NELSON

To Be Given in St. Paul Feb. 3 in Honor of His Birthday.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Plans for a monster testimonial banquet to be given United States Senator Knute Nelson here on his 76th birthday Feb. 3, are being made by the senator's friends.

Eight hundred guests probably will be present including members of the legislature, to whom the senator is to speak earlier in the day.

IMPLEMENT MEN MEET NEXT MONTH

North Dakota and Northwestern Minnesota Organization to Meet.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 28.—The annual gathering of the North Dakota and Northwestern Minnesota Implement Dealers' association will be held here Feb. 5, 6 and 7. President Worst of the North Dakota Agricultural college will speak on "Relation of Improved Farm Tools to Profitable Crops;" Dr. Walters of Fargo on "Our Moral Obligations," and J. A. Craig of Janesville, Wis., on "Cost" and "Local Clubs." Mr. Craig is chairman of the executive committee of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Secretary Cooper of the Better Farming association will address the meeting on "The Implement Man's Part in Better Farming."

A reception will be given by the Commercial club and a "stunt" pulled off by the travelers, contrasting the up-to-date dealer with the "backwoods" dealer.

HAS 120 ACRES CLEAR.

Western Itasca Farmer Wants Better Roads and a School.

Deer River, Minn., Jan. 28. — John Jackson, the Winnibigoshish farmer who has the largest farm in the western Itasca county, has now about 120 acres under cultivation without a stump to hinder him, and he has a nice herd of stock, pigs and sheep and a threshing machine. He says the only things he lacks now are roads and markets. Mr. Jackson complains that he has no school near his place, the school board failing to replace the teacher at his school since the resignation of the teacher who was there for a time this term.

SOME REMARKABLE SHOOTING DONE.

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 28.—A. C. Richards shot 200 points, the highest possible score, in a rifle event Sunday at the range of the Presque Isle shooting club, near Dead River. He was closely followed by Dr. A. W. Deadman, who scored 199 points. Both men shot with .22 caliber rifles. The exhibition was one of the most remarkable that has ever been witnessed in this city.

THEY WANT AN ORGAN.

Upper Michigan Democrats Figure on Starting Newspaper.

Ishpeming, Mich., Jan. 28.—Twenty-four prominent Democrats from seven counties in the Upper peninsula met here Sunday to discuss the prospects for and advisibility of establishing a Democratic daily newspaper in the Upper peninsula. The counties represented were Marquette, Houghton, Menominee, Iron, Baraga, Delta, Dickinson and Chippewa.

The men assembled said the plan had been pretty thoroughly canssessed among the prominent Democrats of the Upper peninsula, and that every one of the counties not represented at the meeting had sent letters of approval.

A committee was appointed to investigate the matter and submit its findings at another meeting, to be held in the near future. The fact that there is now but one Democratic newspaper published in the Upper peninsula, the St. Ignace Enterprise, was commented on.

No particular town was suggested as the best location for the proposed daily, but it is likely, if the committee makes a favorable report, that one of the larger counties will be selected.

EDITOR WANTS $125 FOR KEEPING WELL.

Carrington, N. D., Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Because he staid well ten years, James Johnson of Sykeston, editor of the Sykeston Tribune, thinks he has a case against a sickness indemnity insuring company. Several years ago the company is alleged by Johnson to have promised $125 to him should he go through the 10-year period without making a claim for benefits. Since then the company has changed hands, and the new concern has refused to settle. Accordingly Editor Johnson will sue to recover the amount claimed to be due because he has kept in good health for a decade.

MIDWINTER FAIR.

BULLET IS FLATTENED

Against Bonehead of Would-Be Milwaukee Suicide Who is Unhurt.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 28. — John Michelson, 26, is a bonehead. To this fact John owes his life.

He had a quarrel with his sweetheart. Bidding her good bye forever, he went to his room, took his .38 revolver from the bureau drawer, pointed it at the middle of his forehead, which he supposed to be his temple, and fired. His relatives, alarmed by the shot, investigated and called the coroner.

The coroner's physician took John away to the morgue, and started to probe for the bullet. The probe refused to sink into the wound. The bullet was found under the scalp just behind the ear. At this moment John came to, perfectly well except for a slight scalp wound.

The bullet was ruined.

This Will Stop Your Cough in a Hurry

Save $2 by Making This Cough Syrup at Home.

This recipe makes a pint of better cough syrup than you could buy ready made for $2.50. A few doses usually conquer the most obstinate cough—stops even whooping cough quickly. Simple as it is, no better remedy can be had at any price.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle; then add the Sugar Syrup. It has a pleasant taste and lasts a family a long time. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. Has a good tonic effect, braces up the appetite, and is slightly laxative, too, which is helpful. A handy remedy for hoarseness, croup, bronchitis, asthma and all throat and lung troubles.

The effect of pine on the membranes is well known. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norwegian white pine extract, and is rich in guaiacol and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

This Pinex and Sugar Syrup recipe has attained great popularity throughout the United States and Canada. It has often been imitated, though never successfully.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Bowels Get Weak As Age Advances

The First Necessity is to Keep the Bowels Gently Open With a Mild Laxative Tonic.

Healthy old age is so absolutely dependent upon the condition of the bowels that great care should be taken to see that they act regularly. The fact is that as age advances the stomach muscles become weak and inactive and the liver does not store up the juices that are necessary to prompt digestion.

Some help can be obtained by eating easily digested foods and by plenty of exercise, but this latter is irksome to most elderly people. One thing is certain, that a state of constipation should always be avoided as it is dangerous to life and health. The best plan is to take a mild laxative as often as is deemed necessary. But with equal certainty it is suggested that cathartics, purgatives, physics, salts and pills be avoided, as they do but temporary good and are so harsh as to be a shock to a delicate system.

A much better plan, and one that thousands of elderly people are following, is to take a gentle laxative-tonic like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which acts as nearly like nature as is possible. In fact, the tendency of this remedy is to strengthen the stomach and bowel muscles and so train them to act naturally again, when medicines of all kinds can usually be dispensed with. This is the opinion of many people of different ages, among them Mr. O. P. Miller, Baroda, Mich., who writes: "I am 80 years old and have been constipated for many years. Since receiving your sample bottle I have procured two 50c bottles and find that it is the best remedy I ever used and does just what you claim for it to the very letter. I can not recommend it too highly."

MR. O. P. MILLER

A bottle can be bought of any druggist at fifty cents or one dollar. People usually buy the fifty cent size first, and then, having convinced themselves of its merits they buy the dollar size, which is more economical. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded. Any elderly person can follow these suggestions with safety and the assurance of good results.

If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin and you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way of a druggist, send your address—a postal will do—to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 417 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed you.

Biliousness is Caused by Drinking IMPURE Beer!

When beer is pure there is nothing more healthful. Pure beer brings no after-effect, no biliousnesss.

Schlitz is not only made pure but is kept pure.

BOWELS SLUGGISH, STOMACH SOUR, GASSY, UPSET? CASCARETS GREAT!

That awful sourness, belching of acid and foul gases; that pain the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, feeling of fullness, dizziness and sick headache, means your stomach is full of sour bile—your liver is torpid—your bowels constipated. It isn't your stomach's fault—it isn't indigestion—it's biliousness and constipation.

Try Cascarets; they immediately sweeten the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter from the bowels. Then your stomach trouble is ended. A Cascaret tonight straightens you out by morning.

10 Cents. Never gripe or sicken.

ELECTRIC GIFT ARTICLES.

Indianapolis News: Electricity contributes a surprising number of gift articles for serious use, for convenience and for amusement—a considerable increase for the holiday season of 1912. A recently published list comprises over 125 of such special articles in which small amounts of electric current are transformed into light, heat or power, the varying applications showing the extent to which electricity has entered home life. Electric heating and cooking devices and appliances for saving labor in the household head a list of "gifts for women." Then there are about thirty electrical toys for children, appealing mainly to boys, of course. Over twenty other articles suitable for men are made, and almost as many again for bedroom and nursery comfort.

THE REASON.

Meggendorfer Blatter: "Did you see my painting at the exhibition?"

"I did. It was the only picture I examined with care."

"Splendid! Why was that?"

"Because nobody else was looking at it."

Mustard's Quick Relief Without the Blister!

You remember the good old-fashioned mustard plaster.

Your mother and your grandmother used to apply it whenever you had a cold, an ache or a pain.

It burned like sixty but it surely did the work.

Here is the old family remedy, greatly improved by science and put up in Twentieth Century form—

The quick and blessed relief without the blister of the mustard, or the bother and messiness of the plaster.

MUSTEROLE is a clean, white ointment, made with the oil of mustard. For MUSTEROLE, the oil of the highest grade of mustard is refined until it is as pure as human skill can make it.

You simply rub it on the spot where the pain is—rub it on briskly—and the pain is gone.

Not a blister is left even on tender skin! Instead it has a delicious, comforting effect.

You don't have to spread MUSTEROLE on a cloth. Just apply it with the finger tips.

You don't have to bind on a cloth. MUSTEROLE is so penetrating that it goes right through the pores at once.

And there is nothing like MUSTEROLE for Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Tonsilitis. Croup, Stiff Neck, Asthma, Neuralgia, Headache, Congestion, Pleurisy, Rheumatism. Lumbago, Pains and Aches of the Back or Joints, Sprains, Sore Muscles, Bruises, Chilblains, Frosted Feet, Colds of the Chest (it prevents Pneumonia).

MUSTEROLE WILL NOT BLISTER

At your druggist's—in 25c and 50c jars, and a special large hospital size for $2.50.

Accept no substitute. If your druggist cannot supply you, send 25c or 50c to the Musterole Company, Cleveland, Ohio, and we will mail you a jar, postage prepaid.

MRS. JAMES HORLICK, West Philadelphia, Pa.—"My four-year-old son had severe bronchitis. I found Musterole the best thing I ever used." (31)

WEST DULUTH GURLERS HOME

Wade's Kids Made a Good Showing at the Bonspiel.

Wade's "kid rink" returned this morning from the big bonspiel at St. Paul. While this rink did not win any trophies, it made a showing which caused the old heads at the game to take notice, and in some close contests beat some of the best rinks that visited the bonspiel. The rink won eleven games and lost five, which is considered a mighty good showing. The quartet forms truly a "kid rink." Joe McDonald, aged 16, plays lead; Russel Killon, aged 15, plays second; Richard F. Wade, aged 15, plays third, and Frank H. Wade, over 21, plays skip.

Mr. Wade said this morning that the ice all through the spiel was sticky and heavy, otherwise the boys would have won more, but with sticky ice and their youth they were not strong enough to send the stones over the route as they otherwise would. At that they got into the eights in the International, in the St. Paul Jobbers and in the Northwestern events, and forfeited in the International. They were in six events all told. They won too many games to get into the consolation contest, so they came home. The Canadian rinks they defeated were so pleased with the showing of the youngsters that they gave them the brooms used, as souvenirs.

IS VICTIM OF THE CURIOSITY SQUAD

Some days ago The Herald published a story to the effect that a woman living at West Duluth with her three little sons was in need of a heating stove and some soft coal. An address of a Salvation Army man was given as the one to report to. It would seem now, judging from what the woman involved says, that she has been the victim of amateur "slummers."

The woman was not asking charity and had not asked for the stove herself. She has been bothered ever since by well-meaning but misled people.

"People have been bringing me clothing, clothing, clothing, and I do not need it," she said today. "The clothing that they are forcing upon me could well be used for somebody who does need it. When I have suggested that to one or two of them they get huffy and tell me that if I am poor I should be glad to accept what is offered me.

"Another thing which is very annoying is that some come here purely out of curiosity. One woman came yesterday and all she did was to claw around and see what I had. I asked her if she wanted to buy any of the crochet work I do, but she said she did not, she just wanted to see what I had. Last night a young girl came here and upset the work I had laid out, never suggesting any help, but just satisfying her curiosity. Even if I am poor, I think that is a little more than I am required to stand. If that is the kind of help poor people get, they will be much better off without it."

This morning a contribution of $1 arrived anonymously with the following note attached:

"Here is a starter on that stove needed by that West Duluth family, as stated in your paper. Will you kindly see that it reaches the lady; and get busy on some of our East end friends."

A check for $5 arrived from Two Harbors later. This money will be used for the stove.

TWO WEDDINGS IN WEST DULUTH.

West Duluth was the scene of two weddings during the last twenty-four hours.

This morning Miss Margaret Chisholm of the West end, who recently arrived from Canada, was married to Malcolm McNeil of Proctor. Mr. McNeil works in the Missabe shops. The wedding took place at St. James' Catholic church, Rev. D. W. Lynch performing the ceremony. The young people were attended by Miss Gormley and John A. Gillis. A wedding breakfast was served to the wedding party and friends at the Cody hotel. Mr. and Mrs. McNeil will reside at 3811 West Third street.

Last evening Miss Agnes Albertson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albertson, 421 North Fifty-second avenue west, was wedded to Deputy Sheriff Oscar E. Lund, the ceremony taking place at the parsonage of the Asbury M. E. church, the pastor, Rev. W. H. Farrell, officiating. Miss Ellen Haskins of Camp Douglas, Wis., and Miss Ludelia Lund, a sister of the groom, attended the bride, while Mr. Lund was supported by Roy Paradise and Olaf Severson.

Following the ceremony, dinner was served at the home of Mr. Lund's mother, 528 North Fifty-ninth avenue west, and a reception then took place. Mr. and Mrs. Lund left last night for a short honeymoon trip. After Feb. 1 they will be at home at 4813 West Fifth street.

DID NOT SELL LEASE TO SALOON KEEPER.

A rumor to the effect that a saloon will be established in the vacant building at 327 North Central avenue, next to Wieland & Wade's store, caused quite a flurry in West Duluth last evening and today. A petition is said to be out protesting against the issuance of a license for this place and will be presented to the city council.

What is claimed to be a misstatement was published this morning in connection with it. The building had been leased by Terry & Gilluson, piano dealers, and the statement this morning was to the effect that they had sold the lease at a good profit to the prospective saloon men. This, it is declared is untrue. The firm had a lease on the building, but it is claimed sold it back to the owner of the building, Ed Dormedy. They have no connection whatever with the saloon lease.

Will Give Reception.

A reception will be given this evening at the Swedish Mission church, corner of Fifty-ninth avenue west and Green street, in honor of the members of the church choir, the hostesses to be the members of the Ladies' Aid society. A program will be given, to be followed by refreshments.

Killed in West.

Word has been received that Robert Robertson, the 22-year-old son of Mrs. John Christianson of 820 North Fifty-seventh avenue west, was killed yesterday morning in a railroad accident at Missoula, Mont. No details have been received.

West Duluth in Brief.

Mr. and Mrs. John Feely have returned to their home at Eau Claire, Wis., after a few days' visit at the home of their son, James Feely, 606 North Fifty-seventh avenue west.

Louis Ramsted and family will soon leave for a trip to California.

Miss Maud Arteau, who has been ill for three weeks, is back at her regular employment.

W. J. Barcalay is at Lake Nebagamon on a visit to friends.

Edward Mason of Edmonton, Alberta, who has been in the city visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Mason, 305 North Fifty-sixth avenue west, has gone to Ottawa, Ont., for a brief visit, after which he will return to Edmonton. This is the first time in fourteen years that he had been home, and he has never been in Duluth before.

A daughter was born at the Duluth hospital this morning to Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Blanchard, 422 East Second street.

"Shipping trust" investigating committee heard testimony on the Baltic pool.

CRIMINAL CASES ARE CONTINUED

No More Prisoners to Be Tried at January Term.

County Attorney Warren E. Greene has no more criminal cases for trial at the January term of court. All of the actions pending have either been continued to the March term or dismissed.

Yesterday afternoon Judge Ensign granted the motion of the county attorney for continuances in the cases of Hugo Pyykko, to be tried for murder; Alex D. Kerr, charged with perjury, and William Osborne, held for indecent assault.

Three criminal cases which have been pending since the September grand jury were dismissed on the motion of the county attorney.

The case against Frank McDonald, charged with throwing stones at a street car, was dropped because of the inability of the prosecution to locate its chief witness.

A dismissal in the case of the state against Axel Stenberg, indicted for malicious mischief in connection with the street car strike in September, was ordered when the county attorney advised the court that the evidence he had at hand was insufficient to warrant a conviction.

Adultery charges against Amelia Tarvinen were dropped because the husband of the woman, who made the complaint against her, refused to continue the prosecution.

The January grist of cases was an exceptionally light one for the county attorney's office.

DUTY ON MOHAIR BIDS FAIR TO BE REDUCED.

Washington, Jan. 28.—With only a few witnesses left, the house ways and means committee today went on to clean up hearings on Schedule K, admittedly the storm center of the tariff question of the coming extra session of congress. In the hearings so far, it has been indicated that the Democrats intend to revise the wool tariff along the lines of the wool bills of 1911 and 1912, vetoed by President Taft.

Mohair, used in the manufacture of clothing, for felt, plushes and other purposes, bids fair to be reduced from 40 per cent to 20 per cent ad valorem. Johnston Robertson of Del Rio, Tex., an angora goat producer, pleaded today for a specific rate of 12 cents a pound, equivalent to the present 40 per cent duty.

Chairman Underwood pointed out it was the raw material for great industries, although now a luxury it was every day becoming more of a necessity.

LABOR UNIONS ACTIVE IN MEXICO

Organizations Must Now Be Reckoned With in All Skilled Trades---Rebellion Over Proposed Demolition of a Church.

Mexico City, Jan. 28.—Employers of labor in Mexico are just beginning to realize that consideration must be given to demands of organized forces, and that the various trades are beginning to exhibit the same coherency of purpose that has been manifested for many years in the United States.

Attempts to form unions were unheard of in Mexico a dozen years ago, but employers have suddenly awakened to the fact that organizations must be reckoned with in all of the skilled trades, especially in connection with the operation of the national system of railways.

The walking delegate was not taken seriously until the recent strike of railway machinists, but it now appears that perhaps three-fourths of the skilled labor of the country is organized. Unions must be considered in the adjustment of grievances, since the organized element seems to dominate the non-union forces. Labor disputes are becoming less and less to be regarded as purely local questions.

The National Railways find difficulty in securing competent engineers since American trainmen have been withdrawn. Recently a native engineer deserted his engine, calling to his fireman to follow, when he saw the glow of a red signal light upon the boiler. The engineer, conductor and fireman from a safe distance waited for an expected explosion, until the steam died down and the engine became stalled. The boiler was still red, but not hot, when the trainmen learned that they had been frightened by their own ignorance.

A rebellion based upon sentimental, rather than political grounds, was caused in a suburb of the capital recently when government authorities started to demolish the church of the Virgin of Piedad to make room for barracks. Residents who had worshiped at the little church all their lives protested en masse. The authorities found another site for the barracks.

The indignation of the villagers was not entirely dissipated by the change of plans, however, for they learned that a revered painting of the Virgin already had been removed to a smaller chapel. The story of the origin of the painting is one that most Mexicans have forgotten.

Early in the seventeenth century a devout member of the Order of San Domingo, living in Rome, contracted with an artist to paint a picture of the Virgin with the Saviour in her arms. Before the picture was finished he and another of the same order were instructed to go to Mexico. They sailed, taking the half-finished work of the artist with them. The ship was caught in a storm and hope was abandoned by the crew.

The two religious men prayed to the Virgin for aid, promising if delivered to beg in the streets of Mexico for funds with which to erect near that city a church which should be known as the Church of the Virgen de la Piedad (Compassion). The storm passed and the ship rode safely into port. The grateful monks began soliciting alms to fulfill their vow.

Upon unwrapping the work of the artist, they were astounded to find that instead of the crude sketch there was a painting possessing a beauty and technique such as no mortal artist could have produced. The discovery made easier the gathering of the funds, and on Feb. 2, 1642, the church was dedicated. It was one of the most beautiful in Mexico at that time. In recent years the walls of the church have been seriously damaged by earthquakes and the foundations have been inundated.

Wearers of algrettes may have to pay a still higher price for them as the result of a governmental decision which forbids the hunting of the white heron in Quintano Roo. Slaughter at the time of breeding has made the heron almost extinct in Mexico. Quintano Roo, far in the south, is now the only place where the bird is found in large numbers.

WILL INSIST ON CONFIRMATIONS

Republicans in Caucus Decide to Stand By Taft's Nominations.

Washington, Jan. 28.—After a caucus of Republican senators today in which a plan to fight for confirmation of President Taft's held-up nominations was agreed upon, Senator Smoot moved an executive session of the senate, with the idea of holding the session as long as a quorum could be kept. The Republicans had promised to remain in their seats to keep the quorum and to repeat the motion every day, in the hope of forcing confirmations. The Democrats were equally determined to permit no confirmations other than army, navy and diplomatic.

The Republicans declined to consider the proposal made by the Democratic caucus for a joint committee of ten to go over the nominations and select some for confirmation.

When the senate went into executive session, Senator Martin, the Democratic floor leader, stated the Democrats would adhere to their course of opposing action on the majority of the Taft appointments. He declared that the Democrats did not fear the effect a filibuster might have on legislation.

Some Republican senators have declared themselves determined to fight Mr. Wilson's nominations after March 4 if the Democrats persist in the present opposition to the Taft appointments.

The caucus presented a solid front to insist upon confirmations. Senators Dixon and Poindexter, who have made definite announcement of their alignment with the Progressive party, were not there, but other Republican senators classed as Progressives were present and apparently in accord with the plan, which held that each case must stand on its merits and be taken up as such.

START THE CIVIC CENTERS.

Everything is ready for instruction of voters in the use of the preferential ballot. The committee in charge of the work has its plans outlined, and is ready to send men to address gatherings in any part of the city, at the invitation either of communities or organizations. There should be no voter in the city, when election day comes, who does not understand and appreciate the new form of ballot and its advantages.

Meanwhile the campaign of education in the use of the ballots is giving an excellent basis for the organization of civic centers in the different parts of the city. The public welfare board is negotiating with several men, any one of whom would be qualified to guide the civic center work in Duluth. The voters, at the last general municipal election, authorized the use of the city schools for civic center purposes. Within a few weeks the organizer will have been secured and will be on the field, ready to work with the citizens in bringing the matter to a definite head.

But Duluth has need of civic center work now, in the conduct of the ballot instruction work, and the people of the various communities should begin their organization without waiting for the hiring of an organizer. Every community should have a meeting at whatever place is most readily available for such gatherings, and should organize at least for this campaign of ballot instruction. The general committee, of which T. T. Hudson is chairman, will supply speakers, and questions that have arisen or may arise in the minds of the people will be answered.

This ballot instruction campaign gives a solid ground for such organizations. It gives them work to take up at once, work that can be carried on more effectively if these organizations are begun. Later, when the general organizer of civic centers has been engaged, these centers formed for the present work will have broken the ground for permanent bodies, at which the people of a community can meet and discuss matters of common and general interest, and the delay incident to initiating any civic movement will be done away with.

Start the civic centers now. There is work for them, ready to hand, and beginnings made now will save valuable time later on.

More floods on the Southern Mississippi. There's another part of the country that sees no wisdom in Chicago's scheme.

ONE HUNDRED MILLIONS FOR—WHAT?

By a majority of two-thirds, the house at Washington has passed the amended bill giving the right of incorporation to the Rockefeller $100,000,000 foundation for the advancement of humanity. The bill has been changed materially from its original form, but there are yet to be specified the definite objects for which the money is to be expended.

As passed by the house, the bill has had stricken out of its terms the perpetuity of the foundation. Instead it provides that the trustees may, by a two-thirds vote, disband and distribute the principal at the end of fifty years, or at the end of one hundred years congress may order such dissolution and distribution.

Also, it is provided that the income from the foundation must all be spent instead of any part of it being added to the original capital; the trustees, instead of having power to appoint their own successors, are to select new members subject to the veto power of a board to consist of the president of the United States, the chief justice of the Federal supreme court, the president of the United States senate, the speaker of the national house and the presidents of Harvard, Yale, Columbia, Johns Hopkins and Chicago universities.

Further, the charter of the foundation is to be subject to "alteration, amendment or repeal at the pleasure of the congress of the United States" at any time.

Some other amendments to the bill prescribe that the money is to be used for purposes to be accomplished "by eleemosynary and philanthropic means" instead of "in the promotion of any and all of the elements of human progress," as at first provided.

The Springfield, Mass., Republican suggests two other amendments to the bill, thus: To provide for the dissolution of the trust and the distribution of the funds at the end of one hundred years, independently of action by either congress or the trustees; and for the substitution, on the board that is to determine the personnel of the directors of the fund, of the presidents of the universities of Wisconsin, Kansas and California in place of those of Yale, Columbia and Chicago. Thus, says the Republican, it would "be possible to prevent the foundation and its $100,000,000 from developing into a perversely reactionary force, as it might in the social crises of the next century."

Both these suggestions are good. The Rockefeller foundation gives $100,000,000 that will be used for some purposes at present unknown and not ascertainable. Certainly a full century will give sufficient time to accomplish whatever plans the giver of the fund may have in mind, and it would seem to be only a pandering to personal vanity to perpetuate such a foundation beyond that period, even were there no objection to the tying up indefinitely of so much wealth beyond the power of taxation or distribution.

The placing of supervisory power in the hands of the heads of popular rather than private institutions also would be advisable, therefore the value of the suggestion that the presidents of state universities be given seats on the board that is to determine who shall be trustees of the fund.

At the best, the Rockefeller foundation is an experiment. It will be well to go slowly in tying up such a sum as this to be used at the discretion of a few men. The changes suggested by the Republican should be made.

Now that Helen Gould has become Mrs. Shepard, that Colorado preacher will have to hunt around for somebody else to advise.

MORE POSTOFFICE SPACE.

One of the first—and naturally expected—results of the introduction of the parcel post system is the demand for more space in the postoffice buildings in different parts of the country. It is reported from Washington that 759 such buildings in various cities have been found to be inadequate for the increased work of the department, and that arrangements are being sought for increasing the space available for that work.

The dispatches fail to say whether Duluth's postoffice is included in the 759, but if it is not, then the list should be increased to an even 760 by the addition of Duluth. The crowded condition of the local postoffice was noted before the introduction of the parcel post. Even the comparatively small demand upon space made by the introduction of the postal savings bank made some changes necessary in the Duluth Federal building, and now the addition of the parcel carrying service has increased the congestion felt before.

What Duluth really needs, and needs badly, is a new Federal building, with facilities adequate to the steadily growing service. The Duluth office is a distributing center for a considerable territory, and its character as a distributing office adds to the necessity for better facilities. The present quarters, though ample at the time the building was erected and for some time subsequent to that, are altogether too small for the best service, either to the public or the subsidiary postoffices.

Perhaps the department at Washington can be brought to realize this need now that the work of the office has been materially increased. At least, no opportunity should be overlooked by Congressman Miller and the local organizations to impress Duluth's need on those in authority at the national capital.

The more one learns about canals, the more that Lake Superior-Mississippi project looks foolish. Jim Hill says no canal is any good that isn't twenty feet deep, yet the $8,000,000 estimate for the proposed one is based on seven feet.

THE CITY'S HEALTH.

That is a gratifying report made by the city's health department, that the death rate for 1912 was lower than that for 1911. That is as it should be. Each year we are learning new lessons in sanitation and hygiene, and new ways of applying the lessons learned in other years. The city that fails to show gains in its health conditions is in need of an awakening.

But we have not yet accomplished all we can accomplish in this work. Certain forms of death are inevitable in any community, and that would be a strange place indeed where the death rate dropped to zero. But there is much that can be done to better even the record of 11.04 per thousand population made by Duluth in 1912, and one of the most effective and necessary steps to that end is the installation of a thorough and effective means for the collection and disposal of garbage.

This is no new problem for Duluth, but it is yet to be solved. And the solution must come soon. The summer of 1912 was exceptionally favorable for the health of the city under present conditions. The continued cool weather prevented much of the danger inherent in the accumulation of refuse. But given a hot, dry stretch of weather, such as normally comes with the summer months, and the failure to take adequate care of the city's table refuse will develop into a menace that may easily result in the outbreak of a serious epidemic, to say nothing of the individual cases of sickness sure to result.

The garbage problem is one that Duluth must meet soon and effectively. It should be arranged for before the next summer is upon us. If the health department has any plans capable of being put into operation, it is time to prepare for their development so that the health of the people may be safeguarded still further than it is.

The following is commended as a news item to the supporters of the seven-senators bill: "The representation in both houses shall be apportioned equally throughout the different sections of the state, in proportion to the population thereof, exclusive of Indians not taxable under the provisions of law"—Minnesota Constitution.

"LOOK BEFORE YOU LEAP."

To the Editor of The Herald:

We have within our gates one of the most clever get rich schemes, which in Sunday's News Tribune wanted the services of several salesmen, both ladies and gentlemen, viz., the Domestic Utility Manufacturing company, located at 20 West Superior street. Having bitten on this game in another city I wish to warn the pubblic of their methods. They draw your attention to the fact of a certain woman who made $96,000 in a very short time by investing sums all the way from $150 to $5,000. To say the least, this woman must have found easy picking to have made this sum in the time mentioned. This scheme was worked in Minneapolis a few months ago, and I do not know of any one who got rich. I do know several who paid in their $150 to $5,000 for a contract and were given vacuum washing machines which they were to sell to the public at $3.50 each. After paying over your money you were at liberty to appoint agents who were to sell your washing machines, and I have known more than twenty persons who have made a great success in selling books and magazines to fall down on this proposition. Very few people will pay $3.50 for something which 50 cents would be a good price for, and in one case in Minneapolis where a sale was made in the family of a wealthy man the hired girl quit her position rather than be forced to use the washer. All I can say to those who are thinking of investing, is to hold on to your money until you know that you are a salesman. Do not invest and then find yourself stocked up with something unsalable at a prohibitive price.

ONE WHO WAS BITTEN.

"AS POOR AS JOB'S TURKEY."

To the Editor of The Herald:

What was the origin of the expression, "As poor as Job's turkey?"

MRS. T. W. H.

Duluth, Jan. 27.

This simile—suggestive of extreme poverty—has reference to the deplorable state to which Job was reduced, when delivered by God into the hands of Satan. According to the popular notion, "Job's turkey" had but one feather in its tail, and was obliged to lean against the fence to gobble. The fact that Job possessed no turkey (since the bird is a native of America) does not seem to have been realized by the originator of the saying. Judge Haliburton of Nova Scotia—popularly known as "Sam Slick"—refers to "Job's turkey" in some of his writings.—The Editor.

STONE HER.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Yes, stone the woman, let the man go free. Draw back your skirts, lest they perchance may touch her garment as she passes. But to him put forth a willing hand to clasp with his that led her to destruction and disgrace. Shut up from her the sacred ways of toil, but ope to him all the honorable paths where he may win distinction. Give to him fair, pressed down measure of life's sweetest cup. Pass her, O maiden, with a pure, proud face, if she put forth a poor, polluted palm; but lay they hand in his on bridal day and swear to cling to him with wifely love and tender reverence. Trust him who led a sister woman to a fearful fate.

Yes, stone the woman, let the man go free. Let one soul suffer for the guilt of two. It is the doctrine of a hurried world—too out of breath for holding balances, where nice distinctions and injustices are calmly weighed. But, ah! how will it be when all shall stand before the one true judge?

Shall sex there make a difference in sin? Shall He, the searcher of the hidden heart, in His eternal and divine decree, condemn the woman and forgive the man? W. A. S.

Telephone System in Jerusalem.

Consular Reports: The Ottoman government has recently installed a telephone system in Jerusalem for its own use. There are ten stations, including government house, the courthouse, military headquarters, and several municipal police stations. The instruments used are the Bell system and were supplied by that company's Belgian house. The matter of a concession for a public telephone service in Jerusalem, Jaffa, and Bethlehem is still in abeyance.

Seeing New York.

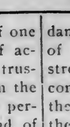

New York Press: Farmer John—This is the New York Stock exchange, my dear. All those men running about on the floor are brokers.

Mrs. John—My! I should think they would get tired. Don't they ever sit down?

Farmer John—I guess not. Seats here cost about $70,000 apiece.

Making Cabinets—No. 3

By Savoyard.

Washington, Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The cabinet of Franklin Pierce, fourteenth president of the United States, 1851-57, was the only one that remained intact throughout the entire term. William L. Marcy of New York was secretary of state; James Guthrie of Kentucky, secretary of treasury; Jefferson Davis of Mississippi, secretary of war; James C. Dobbin of North Carolina, secretary of navy; Caleb Cushing of Massachusetts, attorney general; Robert McClelland of Michigan, secretary of interior, and James Campbell of Pennsylvania, postmaster general.

Marcy was the head of the "Hunker" Democrats of the Empire state that were opposed to the "Barn Burners," who included Van Buren, Wright and Tilden. He ought to have been president, in which station he would have been the greatest man between Jackson and Lincoln. Like Tilden, Cleveland and Hill, he was a bachelor while governor and remained a bachelor all his life. He was secretary of war in the cabinet of President Polk during the Mexican war.

As secretary of state Marcy issued the order that our representatives abroad in the diplomatic service should abstain from wearing court costume at swell receptions, and the story is that James Buchanan, as minister to England, clothed in the conventional evening dress of an American citizen, at one of the queen's drawing rooms, was mistaken for a waiter by the Austrian ambassador and ordered to fetch a glass of wine. If you would laugh till the tears flow, get one of the old numbers of Harper's Monthly and read "My Presentation at Court," in which Donn Piatt, the secretary of the legation, and his chief, John Y. Mason of Virginia, minister of finance, "wrastled" with Marcy's order when they were first received by the Emperor Napoleon III and the empress. Of Mason, old Tom Benton said: "He is never happy except when his belly is full of oysters, his mouth full of tobacco and his hands fulls of cards." It was Marcy who first proclaimed in our politics the cry, "To the victors belong the spoils."

Guthrie, the secretary of treasury, was one of the greatest finance ministers our country ever produced. He built the Louisville & Nashville railroad. He accumulated a private fortune in Kentucky of $2,000,000 before 1860. What would that man have done in Wall street the past thirty years had his lines been cast there and then! He was a very great lawyer, though he never consumed more than thirty minutes in the argument of any legal question during his entire practice at the bar. His report on the tariff is one of the ablest papers that ever came from an American cabinet.

If the two wings of the Democratic party in 1860 had agreed on Guthrie as the candidate for president, as the conservatives besought them to do, he would have been elected and the war postponed, if not avoided. He was a Union man in 1861, and perhaps did as much as any other individual, except Abraham Lincoln, to prevent the secession of Kentucky. He succeeded John C. Breckinridge in the senate and, I believe, resigned ere the term expired. He was a great man, a powerful man, and one of the best haters you can imagine.

Jefferson Davis was the dominating factor of the administration, as much so as John Sherman was when Hayes was in the White House. The time is not yet come when one can speak the truth about Mr. Davis without being charged with treason, but even his enemies admit that his was one of the most efficient administrations of the war department in all history. Perhaps it was due to his graduation from West Point and long service in the army. I have been in the city of Monterey, Mex., and surveyed the ground over which he led the charge against the bishop's palace in 1846, a few days before his more famous charge of Buena Vista. No American can go to Monterey and view the scene of the battle without having some respect for Jeff Davis.

Amnesty, full and cordial, has been accorded to every man of all who participated in our great war save Davis alone, and that recalls that when Mr. Hoar poured out invective against him in the senate he courted this classic rebuke from Mr. Lamar: "When Prometheus was chained to the rock, it was the vulture, and not the eagle, that buried his cruel beak in his tortured vitals and hawked them and tore them."

Caleb Cushing, the attorney general, was a remarkable man, and perhaps there never was a more learned American. At the bar he was the rival, often successful, of such lawyers as Rufus Choate and Benjamin R. Curtis. He spoke, read and wrote many languages. He knew all literature worth knowing. He advised more administrations than any other man—Whig, Democrat, Republican. Gen. Grant nominated him for chief justice of the supreme court, and the senate rejected his name because of a letter he had written to Jefferson Davis, very friendly, even cordial, in tone, after secession, but before war. I believe he recommended to the Confederate president some man who invented a deadly rifle and who was seeking a market for them. But Cushing advised Lincoln and all the other presidents of Republican faith till his death.

Originally he was a Whig and served in congress as such. By 1850 he was "a Northern man of Southern principles." He was the head of the Democratic party in Massachusetts, and as such took orders from Jefferson Davis and gave orders to Ben Butler, another "dough-face," who executed them. Cushing was president of the Democratic national convention at Charleston in 1860 and in complete accord with the Southern leaders, for whom he fetched and carried. Ben Butler, his henchman, was a delegate, and voted fifty-seven times, every ballot taken, for the nomination of Jefferson Davis as the candidate for president. But revolution makes little reck of consistency.

Let us hope Woodrow Wilson will give us as able a cabinet as that which advised Franklin Pierce.

The First Hinge.

St. Nicholas: The first perfect hinge was probably that of the oyster. The thorny oyster of the Pacific coast has its two shells joined together by a hinge as good as any found in any hardware shop of the country. There are other hinges found in nature, but that of the oyster reaches the highest perfection. We have made little advance upon this device in all of our years of patenting and inventing.

A Lesson Lost.

Denver Times: And even though a peddler did leave $8,000 to a Pennsylvania girl who treated him kindly, it's a safe bet there will be just as many doors slammed in peddlers' faces next week as there were last.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—One afternoon here recently it occurred to old John Sharp Williams that he had never been to a Turkish bath. He became curious the more he thought about it to learn what happens to a man who enters such a place.

Now, there is in the basement of the senate office building about the finest Turkish bath establishment in the whole world, finished entirely in costly marble, and free to senators. The average visitor does not see the place, for the reason that everybody about the building is afraid to show it to them, lest the splendor of it should make votes for the Socialist party. However, nobody should complain. The free Turkish bath, like the free barber shop and the free Apollinaris water, is simply an instrument to help make the senators content with their lot and willing to stay here. If things were not made pleasant for them, they wouldn't stay around here at all, and it would never be possible to get a quorum for a vote on measures designed to place food within the reach of the middle classes. Thus we see, do we not, that——

But, as we were about to state when our brain began to skid, old John Sharp Williams was fired by the spirit of adventure, and he panted to know the mysteries of a Turkish bath. He passed through the frosted glass doors leading to the inner temple, where great men prostrate themselves and are scrubbed. After he had introduced himself, they stripped him of his raiment and put him through one weird ablutionary ordeal after another. The Mississippian didn't know whether he had struck a chamber of horrors or a holy of holies. They electric-lighted him, steamed him, parboiled him, prodding him from time to time to see if he were "done," manipulated him, scoured him, and played on him with their bare hands as if he were a xylophone. Through it all John Sharp was silent and brave, even after they had him completely exasperated.

Finally, they took him and laid him out, apparently limp and resigned, on a marble slab for the finishing-up processes and other little artistic touches that they might have overlooked. A big, brawny attendant began to give him what is known as a salt rub. Then, for the first time during the whole process, the senator entirely lost his temper. He pulled himself up on his haunches to a half-sitting posture, and spoke as follows:

"It may be that I haven't taken as many baths in the course of my life as I should. But I'll be eternally goldarned, if anybody can make me believe I'm so hopelessly dirty that I've got to lie here and be scoured with sand!"

With Representative W. C. Houston of Tennessee the only thing to prevent his congressional cup of joy from overflowing is the fact that the doorkeepers at the house office building do not get up early enough in the morning. Usually it is 8 o'clock before the front doors open, whereas Houston dotes on being at his office fairly early. In the winter time he has breakfast at a quarter of seven and in the summer an hour earlier than that. The minute he has finished his Battle Creek chaff and eggs and bacon, he hastens to the office building—only to find the doors locked. Several times he has tried to get the custodian to have the doorkeepers around earlier, but as the average congressman doesn't show up at his office till about 10, nothing has been done. However, Houston, not to be foiled, gets in each morning by a little scheme that he thought up. He waits for the mail wagon, with whose driver he has made friends, and gets in as far as the basement as a sort of stowaway. Once in the basement, he sticks around till the building watchman comes to unlock the door and take in the mail, and then he scampers in. Thus by a little simple strategy Houston reaches his desk about an hour and a half sooner than any other member.

Over at the senate office building the first morning arrival is usually Senator Martin of Virginia—either Martin or Reed Smoot, our Mormon senator. But neither gets around as early as Houston.

* * *

Gen. Isaac R. Sherwood of Ohio, the only Union veteran in the next congress, used to be a newspaper man, and has never got over his hankering to know what all is going on about him. Every night as soon as he gets up from the dinner table at his hotel here he saunters up to the offices of one of the big news associations of the country and sits around for awhile until the boys have apprised him of what they are sending out. Then, with most of the next morning's paper in his head, he is content to go home and to bed.

When he becomes a member of congress from Idaho in March, Addison T. Smith will celebrate simultaneously the twenty-fifth anniversary of the day he first struck Washington—in a freight car.

He had been living out in Cambridge, Ohio, but got a clerical job with a firm in Washington. The only difficulty in the way of taking the job was that he lacked the railroad fare. Fortunately, he heard of a man who was shipping a driving horse here, and Smith obtained the privilege of sharing the freight car with the horse, in return for acting as valet to the animal in transit.

Senator Chilton of West Virginia is a great favorite with the page boys about the senate chamber. He sent 'em all to the circus one day last spring, and they have never forgot it.

Robinson Crusoe for All Readers.

Dickens, in a letter to Cruikshank: Imagine a total abstinence edition of "Robinson Crusoe" with the rum left out. Imagine a peace edition with the gunpowder left out and the rum left in. Imagine a vegetarian edition with the goat's flesh left out. Imagine a Kentucky edition to introduce a flogging of that 'tarnal old nigger, Friday, twice a week. Imagine an Aborigine's Protective society edition to deny the cannibalism, and make Robinson Crusoe embrace the amiable savages whenever they landed. Robinson would be edited out of the island in a hundred years, and the island would be swallowed up in the editorial ocean.

Verbosity, Ocity, and Osity.

Popular Magazine: She was a young woman, famous for her command of the English language also equally well known for having people follow her wishes. She visited a friend and described her plans. The friend, made garrulous by embarrassment, declined to fall in with the proposition and floundered around for half an hour in a sea of excuses and explanations. This was too much for the girl with the command of language. She ended the interview with this stinging denunciation:

"Verbosity, idiocity, hideosity!"

The State Legislature

Newspaper Views on the Session.

Time Is Ripe.

Elk River Star-News: Judging by the number of constitutional amendments it is proposed to submit to a vote, it would seem as though the time was ripe for a constitutional convention to revise that much abused document.

Must Be Settled.

Browns Valley Tribune: The Minnesota legislature should vote to submit the question of woman's suffrage to the male voters at the next election. The men legislators ought to be willing to let the men voters settle this question.

Judgment Is Withheld.

Perham Enterprise: The Minnesota legislature has started fairly but it must be judged by the net results. We will know better toward the end of the session what stuff it is made of. It is unwise to expect too much, but let it do one thing, give us the initiative and referendum, and its lesser sins will be forgiven.

It Will Come.

Crookston Times: Almost every variety of trouble making bills for Minnesota legislators have shown up, barring a county option bill, thus far this session. But there's lot of time left.

No Partiality.

International Falls Press: If a tonnage tax is passed for the benefit (?) of the prosperous northern counties, a bushel tax should be levied for the benefit of the suffering (?) southern counties. Let no partiality be shown.

All Against It.

Fairmont Sentinel: This is a bad time to spring the tonnage tax. Every interest in Minnesota is opposed to it.

Down With the Mileage Book!

Battle Lake Review: About the smoothest piece of legislation proposed at this session so far is that of Senator Cook, who has a bill which provides that the same rate per mile must be charged a passenger upon railroad trains, whether he travels a short or long distance. In other words, that everybody must pay the same price. This will prevent discrimination by selling mileage books good for passage at 2 cents per mile, while the ordinary traveler must pay 3 cents per mile. This is a mighty good bill. It ought to pass.

In Good Hands.

Park Rapids Enterprise: From this distance it appears that the legislature is in the hands of men who desire to legislate for the welfare of the general public, rather than for special interests, and it will be disappointing if some good work is not accomplished.

$100 an Acre

In an article entitled "The Story of a 'Book Farmer,'" in the current issue of Farm and Fireside appears the following:

"There is not as much ridicule for the 'book farmer' now as formerly. The tables have been turned on the other fellow who is accepting the 'book farmer' as his guide.

"A good illustration of this so-called 'book farmer' is G. W. Jackman, who lives near Atlanta, N. Y. When he purchased his farm, he had to face a circumstance that was seemingly discouraging. The former owner had been a 'slipshod' farmer. The low productivity of the soil and the dilapidated condition of the buildings evidenced this fact. But what was then one of the poorest producing farms is now the best in that part of the county.

"The farm itself is located about one mile northeast of Atlanta, in the beautiful Cohocton River valley. It contains eighty-five acres, sixty of which are tillable, the remainder being devoted to pasture-land.

"Mr. Jackman plants about fifteen acres to potatoes each year, for he thinks that this is a good acreage for a farm the size of his. When he took possession of the farm the land was yielding something like eighty bushels per acre, but now it is yielding him two hundred and fifty bushels per acre, an average which he expects to increase year by year.

"Mr. Jackman says his ideas as regards cultivation are as follows: 'I believe in a thorough cultivation of the crop. Last year I went through my potatoes with the cultivator as many as thirteen times. About ten days after planting, my field is harrowed either with a spike-tooth harrow or a weeder. Often this is repeated before the plants appear above the ground. Just as soon as the plants begin to prick above the ground the cultivator is used, cultivating very shallow the first time, in order that it will not injure the plants. This shallow cultivation within a few days is followed by a deep one, the main thing in all treatments being to keep the soil porous.

"During the past three years Jackman's potato crop has yielded him an average of $100 per acre, this source of income alone is commendable, considering that there are fifteen good producing acres of potatoes."

Ten Modern Commandments.

Farm and Fireside: I will study the language of gentleness and refuse to use words that bite and tones that crush.

I will practise patience at home lest my testy temper break through unexpectedly and disgrace me.

I will remember that my neighbors have troubles enough to carry without loading mine on them.

I will excuse others' faults and failures as often and as fully I expect others to be lenient with mine.

I will cure criticism with commendation, close up against gossip and build healthy loves by service.

I will be a friend under trying tests and wear everywhere a good-will face unchilled by aloofness.

I will gloat over gains never, but amass only to enrich others and so gain a wealthy heart.

I will love boys and girls, so that old age will not find me stiff and soured.

I will gladden my nature by smiling out loud on every fair occasion and by outlooking optimistically.

I will pray frequently, think good things, believe men and do a full day's work without fear or favor.

The First Pump.

St. Nicholas: The first pump ever invented was the heart of a man or animal, and it is today one of the most perfect pumps in use. The heart as a pump is decidedly up-to-date, and engineers unanimously agree that its principles of construction for the highest efficiency are correct, and that it is not surpassed by any pump invented by man. It is not only a powerful force-pump of incredible efficiency, but it is self-repairing and self-renovating. While the mechanism is in action, it cleanses and purifies itself. For its size and work, it is the greatest pump of the age.

A Business Man's View of Business Girls.

Maude Radford Warren in Woman's World: If you could only get on the inside of my brain and see the pictures I have of girls! If I were to peek out through a crack of my door at twenty minutes past five, what do you think I should see? Thirty shoulders bent over typewriters and ledgers and desks? Not so; I'd see sixty eyes fixed on the clock, waiting for it to be half-past five. Then I should see a few of the bolder spirits shutting up their note-books and yanking sheets out of their machines, and pretending it was half-past five, anyway. Do you think that one pair of eyes would be on that clock with the hope of beating the clock to the job and getting some good solid last licks out of a piece of work? Not so; those bright eyes would be picturing the meeting with Billy who plays the piano at the Palace moving picture show. These pretty lips would be smiling to think that presently Earle of the Sixth avenue clothing shop would be met on Broadway and Forty-second.

Believe me, any girl who would have her eye on the clock with the intention of beating the clock to the job would not be in that outer office at all. She would be in with me as my private secretary, pulling down $25 a week, or maybe she would have left me to go into business for herself and be making her thousands a year. I've known a very few like that.

But when they are like that they have their minds on their work from the start. They don't come to my office to practice their manners and exhibit clothes fit only for the drawing room. They don't keep their minds on their persons but on that something which is the highest part of themselves, their work; for the real success of a personality depends not on the admiration it can excite, but on the achievement it can make. Admiration passes, but work and the results of work stay by a woman.

HEALTH & HAPPINESS
By Dr. R. D. Scott.

Believing that there is a demand in this city for reliable information regarding the most approved methods of keeping well, The Herald, always striving to be in advance, has secured the services of Dr. Scott, lately of Chicago, to conduct a department in which will appear from time to time short articles dealing with the various branches of "Preventive Medicine" which includes the subjects of hygiene, sanitation, prevention of disease, and methods for the correction of vicious habits of thought or life.

DR. R. D. SCOTT.

Preventive Medicine.

Preventive medicine is that department of medical science dealing with the means and methods of preventing the establishment or spread of disease.

Although a few of its doctrines have been advocated by progressive physicians for the last half century, and systematic quarantine against infectious diseases has been increasingly practiced since early in the fifteenth century, it is only within the last decade that the people themselves have begun to awaken to the enormous value of prevention, in comparison with the older methods of awaiting the establishment of disease before offering an intelligent resistance; so it may justly be said that "preventive medicine" as a distinct part of medical science is still in its infancy.

The general awakening of the public to the advantages of this new department of medicine is evidenced by the amount of health legislation designed to promote sanitary living and prevent the adulteration of foods, that is being constantly added to our statute books as well as by the steadily increasing demand for reliable information as to how to keep well.

A few of our metropolitan dailies have endeavored to supply this latter demand by adding a trained physician to their editorial staff or publishing a column conducted by one, in which reliable information regarding hygiene, sanitation and correct methods of living are accessible to all. This paper wishing to be always in the vanguard of every progressive movement benefiting the people as a whole has established this health department for the benefit of its readers. Preventive medicine, in its warfare on disease, recognizes as the two main factors concerned (1) the disease, per se, and (2) the resisting capacity of the individual.

To meet the first condition it advocates the destruction or isoation of all infectious material when possible and to meet the second it advises the people how to raise their general resisting power through correct hygiene and proper methods of living.

It will be noticed that the first mentioned conditions are possible only in restricted localities, for limited periods of time, and apply only to infectious diseases; so it will be readily understood that the main reliance of preventive medicine must be upon increased individual resistance; the facts show that the duty of meeting the first conditions has been largely relegated to boards of health and sanitary officers.

Individual resisting power is of two varieties; the first, general resistance, which has already been mentioned and the second a specific resistance, i. e. a special resistance to a special disease, and this is known as specific immunity.

This latter property of the organism may be either inherited or acquired, whereas general resistance is present to some extent in all and depends largely as to its sufficiency on general good health. Specific immunity, when acquired, occurs most frequently through a previous attack of the specific disease, although it may be artificially produced, up to a certain degree, and for a limited period of time, by the administration of specific vaccines, toxins, or anti-toxins; and, although these agents are frequently used for curative purposes, their preparation and administration properly belong to the specialty of preventive medicine.

Apples as Food.

L. B. C. inquires: Have apples any food value, and is there a danger in eating too many when they are perfectly whole and ripe?

REPLY.

In the list of fruits, apples rank rather high in food valine, being nearly as nutritious as prunes. They must not be considered, however, as being able to replace the staple foods such as bread, meat and potatoes. A meal composed of apples alone would not make much heat; and, although sometimes advisable in hot weather, could hardly be recommended in the winter time. There is little danger of eating too many when they are sound and ripe, provided that they are thoroughly masticated.

Agar.

K. J. writes: It agar to be recommended as a cure for constipation and if so where may it be procured and how taken?

REPLY.

Agar is an insoluble, indigestible substance, which is perfectly harmless, and when eaten acts as a roughener, giving bulk to the food eaten, thus assisting in the treatment of constipation. It may be procured at the drug stores, and is best eaten dry with much chewing. In my opinion, bran, made up into bread or gems, is a much more pleasant and effective remedy for constipation than agar, and belongs to the same class of remedies.

Cold Sores.

W. H. writes: Please tell me a remedy and preventive, if there are any, for cold sores?

REPLY.

Cold sores are most frequently the result of eating something which did not agree; but sometimes they result from infection with some germ. It is in this later way that we so frequently find cold sores, or fever sores, in cases of pneumonia and typhoid. When they are due to disturbance of the digestive tract, they are often the only evidence that things are not right. In these cases, a brisk saline cathartic, such as seidlitz powders, will usually be all that is required to make them disappear. To prevent return, be more careful of the diet, and avoid constipation. Sometimes their disappearance may be hastened by touching with aromatic sulphuric acid five or six times a day. They get well quicker if the little blisters are not broken; so avoid picking with the fingers or biting with the teeth.

Gray Hair.

B. S. writes: Is there an hereditary tendency to premature gray hair or is it always caused from some illness or affection of the scalp?

REPLY.

There appears to be a decided hereditary tendency; although it may operate largely through the nervous temperament which is a usual accompaniment of premature gray hair. Those who worry and fret over much, interfere with the even distribution of their blood; and the hair is very responsive to any condition of lessened nourishment.

Tuberculin Treatment for Tuberculosis.

C. M. wants to know if the tuberculin treatment of tuberculosis has been proved to be of advantage.

REPLY.

As an adjunct to the fresh air, food and rest treatment, tuberculin is of certain benefit in selected cases. As a treatment taken by itself it has, however, hardly proved to be of much value. In our present state of knowledge we must rely on the open air treatment but at the same time it is only proper and right to use tuberculin in those cases where it would be expected to aid in recovery. Some wonderfully good results have been reported from its use in this way.

PLAN FOR CLEARING OF HOLDINGS OF SETTLERS ON THE STATE LANDS

and unless the settler has money enough to keep him going and his family fed until enough acres are subjected to provide a living, it is pretty hard sledding.

Farm Development Board.

The Marschalk-O'Neill bill creates a farm development board, consisting of the governor, the state treasurer and the state forester, which is required to superintend the work of clearing part of the land of settlers who make application therefor, and to spread the cost over a period of years. The amount per acre to be spent is limited, and so is the proportion of the applicant's holding that is improved.

If the bill will stand the legal test that will be applied to it, it would accomplish wonders in the settlement and development of the cut-over lands of the state in Northern Minnesota.

The members of the board are to receive no compensation for their services, but they are authorized to employ a secretary at a salary not to exceed $2,500 a year, with deputies limited to one from each county, the deputies to be county commissioners.

Any owner of agricultural lands who is a resident of the state who may desire to have his land cleared under the provisions of this act may make application to the board to have such work done. Such application, which is to be made in writing and addressed to the farm development board at the capitol, shall give a legal description of such land, the number of acres therein included, the number of acres affected, the present market value of the land, and the estimated value of the land for agricultural purposes when the improvements applied for shall have been made."

The board is to investigate the application, and if it approves it, shall call for bids to clear the land by a notice published in a legal newspaper in the county where the land is situated. Bids must be accompanied by bonds; and the owners of the land may bid on the job. Not more than $25 per acre can be spent in celaring any land.

How the Settler Pays.

When the application is approved, the owner of the land must convey it to the state as security, and when the work is done the board is to give the owner a contract for the deed, requiring the holder to pay into the state treasury the interest upon the principal for five years. The balance, including both principal and interest, is to be divided into fifteen annual installments, interest to be at the rate of 4½ per cent. When payments are complete the state is to issue a warranty deed.

Any merchantable timber secured in clearing the land is to be sold by the board, and the proceeds of the sale credited to the owner of the land.

No application may call for clearing more than 25 per cent of the applicants holdings, and no applicant will be considered where the acreage exceeds 160 acres.

Aid for Development Work.

The house committee on towns and counties yesterday afternoon unanimously recommended for passage the bill by Representative C. W. Bouck of Royalton authorizing county boards to appropriate money for the support or incorporated development associations.

W. R. Mackenzie, secretary of the Northern Minnesota Development association, appeared before the committee in support of the bill, and showed that it was supported not only by the association which he represented, but by the Western Minnesota Development association and the Southern Minnesota Better Development association. He pointed out that the bill is not mandatory, but permissive; and that no county board which does not wish to do so need appropriate any money at all under it.

Counties which desire to participate in the work of state development, however, may under this bill appropriate a sum not to exceed 5 cents per capita for the support of any incorporated development society which will in its judgment help to settle idle lands in its territory.

The bill is intended to provide regular and official support for the Northern Minnesota Development association, which is doing a great work for Northern Minnesota—the whole state in fact—with a very irregular and unreliable income.

Tonnage Tax Hearing.

The first hearing on the tonnage tax bill will take place this afternoon, when H. O. Bjorge of Lake Park and Thomas Frankson of Spring Valley, the authors of the bill, will present their case to the house committee on taxes and tax laws.

It will be up to these gentlemen to establish the following facts—if such facts exist:

First—That the present method of taxing iron mines is improper, inadequate or inefficient.

Second—That the tonnage tax is a logical and wise substitute for the present method.

Third—Why the present method is logical and wise for local purposes, and illogical and unwise for state purposes, since they propose in their bill to retain the present system for local purposes and apply a new system for state purposes.

Incidentally, they will be expected to show why a new method should be proposed for producing mines and not for non-producing mines.

The defense will have its first field day Friday night, when the committee will have a hearing in the house chamber at which representatives of the Cuyuna, Mesaba and Vermillion ranges are expected to be present, as well as any others who may care to be heard in opposition to the bill.

If possible, the hearings will be concluded Friday, as both sides are anxious to have the bill come before the house as soon as possible.

However, judging from present information as to the number that will ask to be heard Friday night, it is improbable that the hearing can be concluded then. If this proves to be the case, there will be a third hearing at which Representative Cleon T. Knapp of Chisholm will close the hearing for the defense, dividing the time with the authors of the bill, in case they wish to put in a rebuttal argument.

County Division Bill.

The proposed county division bill came up before the house committee on towns and counties yesterday afternoon, and Representatives C. T. Knapp and John A. Healy, its authors, were ready for a hearing.

However, on request of Representative A. L. Warner of Duluth, who wished to present argument against the bill, the committee put it over for a week.

Representatives Healy and Knapp and Senator Boyle, who are the sponsors for the bill, deny that there is any intent to disfranchise the voters in the Duluth end of the county. They state that the bill was prepared by Mesaba range advocates of county division, and not by them, but that they do not believe that its effect will be, as suspected, to leave the decision as to county division entirely with voters living in the territory which it is proposed to set apart into a new county.

All of them agree that such a proposal would not and should not receive any consideration from the legislature.

* * *

Representative J. T. Johnson of Fergus Falls yesterday afternoon introduced a bill in the house to make more effective the present law against selling liquor to minors, intoxicated persons, drunkards, prostitutes, spendthrifts or improvident persons. As it stands, the law forbids the sale of drink to such persons within one year after notice has been given by relatives that no liquors should be sold to them. The Johnson bill forbids selling to such persons at any time, and does away with the requirement that notice be given.

County Option Bill.

The expected county option bill was introduced in the house yesterday afternoon by Representative J. F. Lee of Annandale. It extends the liquor license option unit from towns and villages to counties, and provides that the question of license or no license may be brought to a vote at a special or general election by petitions signed by 25 per cent of the voters of any county in the state. Manifestly, this includes the counties containing Duluth, Minneapolis and St. Paul.

Where the voters of any county decide against licensing drinking places, the present local option law is abolished; but it is permitted to stand in counties, which vote "wet," so that towns and villages, as at present, may vote out the saloon even if the county refuses to do so.

While county option is hardly the burning issue that it has been, the bill having failed at every session for a dozen or more years, it is still one of the most interesting proposals brought before the legislature, largely because of the fact that regardless of other important measures, a large majority of the members of both houses are really elected either because they are against or because they are for county option.

The senate remains as it was when it voted heavily against county option two years ago, but the house is yet untested on this question. The issue there is very close, with the chances favoring the defeat of the measure by a small margin, unless the effect of other measures changes votes.

Representative C. H. Warner of Aitkin introduced his mineral lease bill, described before in these reports, in the house yesterday afternoon, and it was referred to the committee on mines and minerals.

* * *

Representative Kerry Conley of Rochester is the author of a bill, introduced yesterday afternoon, extending the local option law so as to allow cities of the fourth-class, as well as villages and townships, to vote on whether or not liquor licenses shall be issued.

Anti-Tuberculosis Move.

Representative Westman yesterday afternoon introduced in the house a bill intended to curb the ravages of tuberculosis by segregating the victims of the disease. All physicians are required to report every case of tuberculosis to the state board of health, and local health authorities are required to take precautions against the spread of the disease by victims. Apartments occupied by tuberculous persons must be fumigated, and if the law is disobeyed by the owners of such apartments or the buildings in which they are contained the places must be placarded with proper warnings to the public.

A sweeping bill to protect the public against fraud and deception was introduced in the house yesterday afternoon by Representative H. H. Dunn. It requires every package or container in which food products are offered for sale to be labeled or stamped plainly with the net weight of the contents.

* * *

Under a bill introduced yesterday afternoon by the house committee on labor and labor laws every public service corporation would be required to pay its employes twice a month. This is the "semi-monthly pay" bill, which has figured in each of the last three or four sessions.

* * *

Representative G. W. Brown yesterday introduced in the house a bill providing for the sterilization of defectives, habitual criminals, and persons convicted of rape and of carnal knowledge of girls under 14 years of age.

New Normal School.

The proposal to establish a new normal school in Northern Minnesota took a new turn yesterday afternoon when Representative Walter Anderson offered a bill requiring the state normal school board to locate such a school at a point north of a line drawn from Duluth to Moorhead, the community in which it is located to donate the site.

* * *

Other bills introduced in the house yesterday afternoon were as follows:

Representative Williams—Increasing the state aid to high schools to $3,000 a year.

Representative A. C. Johnson—Appropriating $5,000 to send two Minnesota citizens, to be selected by the governor, to Europe to study the rural credit systems in vogue there.

Representative Sullivan—Permitting the representatives of deceased holders of liquor licenses to carry on the saloon business during the life of the licenses.

Representative Lennon—Two bills, proposed by the traveling men and the hotel keepers, to protect the latter against dead beats and to protect the traveling public against fire and the loss of valuables.

* * *

The house yesterday afternoon received a special message from Governor Eberhart transmitting the report and recommendations of the committee appointed by him to suggest reforms in judicial practices in this state, all of which the governor approved.

* * *

There will be a public hearing Wednesday afternoon on the question whether or not a reformatory for women shall be established in this state. Representative Knapp of Chisholm has introduced a bill appropriating $50,000 for such an institution, which is asked for by the women of the state.

* * *

The house in committee of the whole yesterday afternoon recommended for passage the bill by Representative Orr of St. Paul, providing for an April term of the supreme court and such others as it calls, not to exceed four. There are now supreme court terms in April and October, and the change is recommended by the committee of lawyers appointed by Governor Eberhart to suggest changes in court practices.

* * *

The house committee on elections is not satisfied with the evidence presented by the parties to the Gilman-Coates contest, so yesterday afternoon and asked for and got authority from the house to summon witnesses.

COUNCIL HAS DULL SESSION

Weekly Meeting at City Hall Is Devoid of Features.

Certificates of Indebtedness for Street Improvements to Be Sold.

Routine business occupied the attention of the city council at its meeting at the city hall last evening.

The city clerk was authorized to advertise for bids for the purchase of the certificates of indebtedness which have been ordered issued against the permanent improvement revolving fund. The total amounts to $210,000 and they were ordered sold in order that improvement work might start early in the spring. It now seems that the issue may not be approved by the attorneys because part of the certificates were ordered in 1912 and approved in 1913 by the mayor. The question involved is a technicality and should it prevent the sale of the certificates the clerk will advertise for bids. It appears that the city's agreement with a local firm to take over the certificates ended in 1912.

Upon recommendation of a committee, the council last night granted the mounted patrolmen of the city a raise of $5 per month. The men asked for $10, giving as the reason the higher cost of living for horses.

The council received the annual reports of the board of public works, municipal court, city clerk, assessor, sealer of weights and measures, board of fire commissioners, electrician and treasurer. Most of them have been published.

The report of J. G. Ross, clerk of the municipal court, shows that 2,026 civil cases and 4,532 criminal cases were handled during the year just closed. The amount collected in fees was $20,256.36.

Money From Licenses.

The report of Charles S. Palmer, city clerk, shows that the city received $193,797.27 from miscellaneous licenses last year. The office collected $1,394.90 in fees. During the year the clerk signed orders drawn on various funds for $1,012,834.06.

G. E. Duren, sealer of weights and measures, reported that he tested 4,964 loads last year. Of the coal weighed, 392 loads were found correct and 19 incorrect; of the wood measured, 6 loads were found correct and 18 incorrect; 475 scales were found correct and 20 incorrect, while 7 were confiscated and destroyed; 160 measures were found correct and 27 incorrect and 12 weights were confiscated.

J. C. Myron, city assessor, pointed out that Duluth real estate increased approximately $5,000,000 in assessed valuation last year over 1910; that the increase in buildings and improvements show a gain of about 10 per cent; that personal property jumped nearly $2,500,000 and that $2,250,000 was added to the moneys and credits.

The board of public works reported to the council that it had denied the application of C. R. McLean for an extension of time to June 15 on his contract for the concrete culvert and fill to replace the bridge at Eighty-first avenue west. The board stated that the contractor closed his work earlier than was necessary and that he could at least have put in a fairly good winter road before winding up last fall.

The application of P. McDonnell for an extension to June 15 for finishing the pavement of Parkside avenue was submitted without recommendation. It was granted by the council. The contractor asked for the extension on the plea that he did not rush the paving, as he deemed it inadvisable to lay the material over new fills, believing that they should be allowed to settle.

The city engineer estimated that it will cost $2,782.18 for a concrete culvert and fill over Brewery creek at Sixth avenue east and Eighth street.

Culvert Would Be Expensive.

The city engineer reported that it will be an expensive matter to build a subway on Highland street under the D., M. & N. tracks on a straight line. He said that a less costly route would be found a short distance to the west. He added that it met with the approval of the railroad's engineer, but advised that the street car company be consulted before any action is taken, as the change in route might affect a street car line to Proctor.

The application of D. M. White to conduct an employment bureau at 419 West Michigan street failed of passage, the vote being 8 to 7 for it. Nine votes are required to carry any resolution.

The application of L. Casmir to transfer his saloon license from 102 Lake avenue south to 505 West Michigan street was granted by a vote of 11 to 4. A petition was received protesting against the transfer. It was pointed out that that block already has ten saloons.

Alfred Le Richeux was employed to audit the city books at a compensation of $4.50 per day, the auditing not to take more than ninety-five days.

The council committee recommended the purchase of an Avery automobile patrol and emergency ambulance from M. W. Turner. His bid was $3,250. The ordinance awarding the contract had its first reading last evening. Chief Troyer said that he had heard that the car had not given the best satisfaction in Duluth.

Spur Track Ordinance.

An ordinance allowing the construction of a spur track from the Duluth & Iron Range to the building of the Duluth Builders' Supply company had its first reading.

The ordinance exempting houses which were under course of construction prior to Dec. 2 from the provisions of the housing ordinance was passed.

The New Duluth Commercial club sent in a communication stating that in its opinion no sanitary sewer connections with the storm sewer in Commonwealth avenue should be allowed. It appeared that the fire hall sewer was connected under permission of the council but that that of a private owner was without any permit. The club thought that no connections, including that of the fire hall, should be allowed.

F. E. Colby filed notice of a claim of $1,000 for a broken collar bone and Mrs. Jennie Dennis filed a notice of a claim for $2,500 for a fracture of the right arm. Both injuries are alleged to have been caused by falls on slippery walks. I. Dennis filed notice of a claim of $200 for loss of his wife's services.

W. E. O'Donnell applied for a transfer of the saloon license at 15 North Fourth avenue west to 423 West Superior street. M. R. Timlin made application for a transfer of the saloon license of Fortune & Gauthier at 306 Central avenue to himself at the same location. The application of N. C. Viou for a transfer from 216 Central avenue to Fifty-seventh and Grand avenues was not voted upon.

INTERSTATE PARK FARMERS' CLUB

Meeting to Be Held at Taylors Falls Next Saturday.

Taylors Falls, Minn., Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—An interesting meeting of the Interstate Park Farmers' club next Saturday is expected. The program will open with a "live-stock round table," conducted by P. C. Rouzer, professor of agriculture at St. Croix Falls high school. Sheep will be discussed by Charles Turnbull of Dresser Junction; poultry by H. F. Taylor of St. Croix Falls; hogs by E. L. Jackson of St. Croix Falls; cows by Henry Eastland of Center City, and horses by Samuel Glasspoole of Shafer. W. H. Frazier, assistant professor of soils at the Minnesota school of agriculture, will talk on "Why Eastern Farms Have Been Abandoned."

At the afternoon session, Prof. Frazier will discuss "Permanent Systems of Agriculture," emphasizing how the soil is robbed, the soil as Minnesota's greatest asset, and what systems of farming will maintain the fertility and keep the soils producing permanently. Prof. Frazier's talks will be illustrated with valuable charts and blackboard demonstrations.

The next farmers' short course is to be held at St. Croix Falls, Wis., Dec. 8 to 13, 1913. The new officers are: H. F. Taylor, president; P. C. Rouzer, secretary; Lloyd Dedon, treasurer.

SONS OF HERMAN AT ST. CLOUD

Duluth Lodges Send Delegates to Meeting of Grand Lodge.

A delegation of Duluth Sons of Herman will represent the members of the order in this city in St. Cloud today, when the grand lodge will hold its sessions. The delegates from Duluth are John Gonska, Gustave Collatz, Peter Beschenbossel and William Kehtel. They left last evening in order to be on hand in St. Cloud this morning. It is expected that the sessions of the grand lodge will prove very interesting, for many matters of importance to the order will come up, some of which will tend toward making the order more substantial and beneficial to its members.

MARGIN OF PROFIT SMALL

Wholesale Fruit Men Satisfied With 2 Per Cent, Says Culbertson.

Defends Michigan Street Against Charge That It Constitutes Trust.

There has been a good deal said of late about high prices of fruits and especially about the jump in price which oranges took as soon as the report of frost in California came.

The commission merchants have not been defending themselves, but last night at the regular banquet and meeting of the Rotary club, a paper was offered which deals indirectly, at least, with the situation. The paper was sent by V. H. Culbertson of the Culbertson Bros. & Co., and was read, in his absence, by another.

It contains some interesting statements concerning the narrow margin on which commission houses do business—or rather, wholesale fruit merchants, for that is what Mr. Culbertson calls them. He says that 2 per cent net is a big return and profit. The paper follows:

"The wholesale frlut merchant of today finds himself surrounded by entirely different conditions than did the so-called 'commission merchant' of a few years ago. About twelve or fifteen years ago most anybody with enough ready money to rent a store for a month or two, could go into the 'commission business,' write a lot of finely worded letters to fruit growers all over the United States, soliciting consignments of fruit in carload lots or less, and if the letters were on nicely lithographed letter-heads and big returns were promised shippers, there were nearly always enough growers caught in the net to keep the new firm going for some time.

Conditions Changed.

"Conditions are entirely different now, and a firm starting in the fruit business must have ample capital to secure a proper credit rating in Dun's or Bradstreets' in order that the grower may feel safe in making contracts for delivery, before they can even expect to have their offers considered. The progressive dealer now, instead of handling on a commission basis must buy and sell fruits, the same as any other merchant, taking his own chances as to profit or loss, caused by advancing or declining markets, decay, deterioration, etc. He must anticipate the needs of the market and his customers, and endeavor to keep supplies enough on hand to take care of the demand without getting overstocked.

"The goods he handles are perishable and quite often a sudden change in the weather will so decrease the demand that heavy losses are made. In the winter time goods must be carefully packed, wrapped and loaded in heated cars to protect from freezing and in the summer time carefully watched and kept in iced refrigerators or refrigerator cars to prevent decay and deterioration.

"In the past a great deal has been printed in our daily papers about the 'commission merchant' and 'Michigan street dealers'—so much that I believe some people think that there is a 'gigantic' trust on Michigan street formed solely for the robbing of the consumers in Duluth and surrounding territory. To those who are inclined to pass judgment on matters of this kind without first investigating, I have only this to say:

A 3 Per Cent Compromise.

"The Culbertson Bros. company,' one of the largest wholesale dealers in fruit in the Northwest, are now ready and willing to sell their profits to any one who is willing and financially able to guarantee them 2 per cent net profit on their volume of sales. In other words, their volume of business is large enough, so that if they make $2 net profit on every $100 worth of merchandise they handle their business will pay a fair return on the capital invested. I have my doubts as to whether or not there are many lines of business that are handled on so close a margin.

"The fruit business all over the United States as well as in Duluth has had a wonderful growth and development the past few years. For example, fifteen years ago it was out of the question for any Duluth wholesaler to attempt to handle an entire carload of bananas. At the present time the Duluth market consumes an average of about eight carloads or over 2,500 bunches each week.

"The increase in consumption of other fruits has been even greater than that of bananas.

"The increased acreage in fruit lands which will come into bearing the next two or three years will have a decided effect on the fruit business and the fruit jobbers of the United States are now considering and devising plans which they hope will reduce the expense of picking, packing, loading, shipping and handling the immense crops. If they succeed in this as well as getting a reduction in freight rates and refrigeration charges, it will enable the consumer to buy these commodities at very reasonable prices, and still leave a fair margin for the grower."

TO ASSIST SICKLES.

Widow of Confederate General Longstreet Comes to His Aid.

New York, Jan. 28.—Mrs. Helen D. Longstreet, widow of the famous Confederate general, came to the aid of her husband's Civil war foe, Gen. Daniel E. Sickles, yesterday, with an offer to raise $23,476 among the "ragged and maimed followers of Lee" to pay Gen. Sickles' alleged debt to the state of New York.

Sheriff Harburger, who arrested Gen. Sickles today in the civil suit brought by the state to recover the money, also dictated a letter to many of the richest men in New York asking them to aid the veteran.

In a telegram sent to Gen. Sickles from Gainesville, Ga., Mrs. Longstreet said she had telegraphed to the attorney general of the state of New York that she would raise the money among the Confederate veterans if allowed sufficient time. "The republic whose battles you fought will not permit your degradation," were her closing words to Gen. Sickles. The sheriff addressed his letter to J. P. Morgan, J. D. Rockefeller, Andrew Carnegie and the 450 members of the sheriff's panel composed of wealthy New Yorkers.

MINNEAPOLIS CHILD FATALLY BURNED.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 28.—Frank De May, aged 15 months, was fatally burned, and his mother, Mrs. John De May, seriously injured early Monday. The child's clothes caught fire from the kitchen stove and was a mass of flames when discovered by his mother. Mrs. De May's injuries were received while attempting to extinguish the fire.

SUPERINTENDENT TALKS TO "FUTURE CITIZENS"

In a talk to th students of Duluth Central high school yesterday, Superintendent of Schools R. E. Denfeld declared that a student must learn to work so that he will be able to seize an opportunity when it presents itself in order to fit himself to take advantage of opportunities offered in later life.

The talk was advice to the "Future Citizens of the United States, Whose Ideas and Ideals will Tend to Shape the Destinies of this Country." "What you are accomplishing now," he declared, "is merely preliminary to the work that you will be called upon to perform."

New Order Cannot Use Name.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 28.—The International Brotherhood of Owls, a fraternal organization established here a year ago, was forever enjoined by the Federal district court from using the name "Owls." The injunction was issued by instigation of a suit by the Order of Owls, with hearquarters in South Bend, Ind., which alleges that it was founded in 1904 and has 20,000 members.

IT'S EASY TO DARKEN GRAY, FADED HAIR WITH SAGE TEA

Harmless But Effective—Mixed With Sulphur Makes Hair Soft and Luxuriant.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is coming in vogue again, says a well-known downtown druggist. It was our grandmother's treatment and hundreds of women and men, too, are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy" for about 50 cents a bottle. It is the most popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply dampen a soft brush or sponge with "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur" and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. Do this tonight, and by morning the gray hair disappears and after another application it is restored to its natural color.

What delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that besides beautifully darkening the hair they say it produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive; besides prevents dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair. Here, you gray-haired folks, get busy: look years younger.

Woman's Realm

Giving the double opportunity of hearing one of the greatest violinists of the day, Mischa Elman, and of giving the support to the Duluth Symphony concert which is necessary for its growth and development, the concert tomorrow evening at the Lyceum theater will draw an audience which promises to pack the theater. The sale of seats has been heavy and a general eagerness of anticipation of the event has been manifested.

The Duluth Symphony orchestra, under the leadership of Gustav Flaaten, is rapidly coming to a high degree of efficiency, and the numbers which will be played by the orchestra tomorrow evening will be an attractive part of the program.

Mischa Elman's fame is so great that little needs to be said of him or his work, which is known throughout the world. This visit of this great artist to Duluth is one of the chief musical events of the season.

Philip Hale, the well-known musical critic, in writing for the Musical Observer of Boston after a concert given by Mischa Elman there on Jan. 15, says in part:

"Sunday afternoon at Symphony hall Mischa Elman drew the largest house of the season. During all my concert-going career, I have never seen such enthusiasm displayed by any audience as was shown at this concert. Elman was compelled to respond to six encores, and the lights were turned out before the audience would leave.

"There is something about Elman's playing which is indescribable. He is a general favorite and deserves it, for he is surely a genius. He is ethical, obliging and courteous to visit, and has very little conceit. Elman is no genteel cartickler, but a well-equipped, unsurpassable violinist, manly and vigorous.

"His violin is a Stradivarius of 1721 and is a fine reedy-toned instrument, not particularly powerful, but mellow and even-toned."

MUSICAL CONVENTION.

Mrs. Geo. S. Richards Will Be Delegate From Matinee Musicale.

Mrs. George S. Richards, president of the Matinee Musicale will go to Chicago April 21 as a delegate from the Duluth club to the Biennial convention of the National Federation of Musical clubs which will be held there for a week commencing on that date.

The program for the week contains many features of general importance to musicians and the entertainment will contain features such as a concert by the Thomas orchestra and the Damerasch orchestra, a program given by musicians from all over the country, a cantata by the school children of Chicago, a program by the Amateur club of Chicago and many other big features.

AT BETHEL.

Informal Meeting for Women Will Be Held.

An informal meeting for women will be held at the Bethel, on the corner of West First street and Mesaba avenue tomorrow afternoon from 2:30 to 4 o'clock. Mrs. Alexander Graham will sing and Miss Margaret Johnson will give some recitations. All women interested in the work of the Bethel are cordially invited to be present.

This is the first of a series of afternoons for mothers and women to be held at the Bethel. A little informal program will be given each time.

"EQUAL WAGES."

Dr. Phelan Will Lecture to Class in Social Economics.

Dr. R. V. Phelan will speak on "Equal Wages for Equal Work" this evening at the regular meeting of the class in Social Economics at the Y. M. C. A. at 7:30 p. m. under the auspices of the University Extension department of the University of Minnesota. "Woman and Labor" is the general topic for the course of which this is the fourth lecture.

TALK ON "NASHOTA."

Dr. MacLean Will Speak at Auxiliary Meeting.

Dr. Thomas MacLean, vicar of Trinity pro-cathedral will give a talk on "Life at Nashota" from personal experience at a special meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of that church to be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. W. E. Jones, 123 Ninth avenue east.

All women, whether members of the auxiliary or not, are cordially invited to hear this talk by Dr. MacLean on the school which he attended in his youth and a short musical program will be given at the close of the talk after which refreshments will be served.

TEMPLE ASSEMBLY.

Date Set for Next Masonic Party.

Invitations are being sent out this afternoon for the next party of the Temple assembly, which will be held at the ballroom of the Masonic temple on Wednesday evening, Feb. 5. This will be a closed party and invitations will be sent only to Masons. The committee in charge consists of C. R. Patterson, Harris Truax, Fred Levins, George R. Laybourn and George H. Winchester.

FORMER GOVERNESS IS WIFE OF HEIR TO AUSTRIA'S THRONE

PRINCESS HOHENBERG.

Princess Hohenberg is the wife of Franz Ferdinand, heir to the throne of Austria. She was a governess in the family of Archduke Frederic when Franz Ferdinand fell in love with her. He persuaded the emperor to consent to the marriage on condition that he renounce the right of succession for any sons born to them. The emperor also created her Countess Chotek. Recently Franz Ferdinand has been demanding more consideration for his wife than she was entitled to as Countess Chotek and Kaiser Wilhelm, when on a visit to the Austrian court, upheld him, asked the countess to go in with him to dinner and used his influence to have her created Princess Hohenberg. It is generally believed that when Franz Ferdinand ascends the throne he will insist that she have full recognition as his consort.

BRIDGE-LUNCHEON.

Will Entertain for Bride at Tea Rooms.

Mrs. Fred B. Mitchell of 4219 Robinson street, Lakeside, and Mrs. P. C. Mitchell of Proctor have issued invitations for a bridge luncheon on Tuesday of next week, Feb. 4, at the Glass Block tea rooms. The latter's daughter-in-law, Mrs. Fred C. Mitchell, a bride of this year, will be the guest of honor at the function and guests are expected from several of the range towns. Thirty-one invitations have been issued for the party.

ARTISTIC PROGRAM.

Matinee Musicale Members Have Unusual Treat.

The pleasingly modern trio number, in D minor by Arensky, with its warmth and variety of tonal coloring and delicious rhythm, its rich vitality and rippling qualities, played by Mrs. Fred G. Bradbury, Mrs. J. B. Erd and Miss Valborg Gunderson yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the Matinee Musicale, was the feature of one of the finest programs given this year before that organization.

Mrs. Grace Senior Brearly in her interpretation of Bethoven's "Concerto, E flat major, op 74," known as the Emperor's concerto, came up to her usual high standard, playing with passionate intensity and a remarkable emotional quality.

Mrs. J. D. Day, who played the orchestra accompaniment on the second piano for this number, was artistic in her rendition of her part, making a perfect background for the solo work with true musicianly understanding.

In the trio number of the ensemble work with its beautiful precision of execution was also marked for the congeniality in the moods of the players. Their work was beautifully poised and the change in harmony was brought out with skill in the change from the brilliant allegro movement to the scherzo, with its finer feeling and little plaintive notes

The composer has made the piano part of this number of dominant force and Mrs. Bradbury met its demands with her usual strong and fine understanding. Her playing is delightful for crispness and warmth of tone and a buoyancy and joyous abandon tempered with the artistic restraint of a true musician.

Mrs. Erd, playing the cello part of the number, was perfectly satisfying. Deep warmth and richness of tone and temperamental interpretation are characteristics of her playing, which is always done with symmetrical beauty and discriminate taste. Mrs. Erd has not played before the club for some time and her part on the program was a treat.

Miss Valborg Gunderson, the young violinist who is always a favorite, responded with eager sympathy to the leadership of the two older artists, and sustained her part in the trio admirably. She was at her best in the sympathetic atmosphere of the number and showed herself equal to the demands made in her work.

George H. Madison, despite the fact that he was suffering from a severe cold gave genuine enjoyment to his hearers in a group of songs with Miss Isabel Pearson playing an artistic accompaniment. He is a musician of intellectual qualities and his big rich voice is well handled. His three German songs brought out his ability pleasingly and he gave "The Sacred Fire" by Alexander Russell, an American composer, with warmth and feeling.

The program was arranged by Mrs. Edward F. Burg and Mrs. Fred G. Bradbury.

NEW CLASS FORMED.

Women Will Study Parliamentary Law.

A class in parliamentary law with about forty members enrolled was formed this morning at the library club room by members of the Twentieth Century club. The work was commenced this morning with the organization of a temporary society and the election of temporary officers preparatory to the formation of a permanent organization and the election of permanent officers.

Mrs. J. H. Crowley, president of the club was elected temporary chairman and Mrs. George R. Laybourn, temporary secretary and of the permanent organization Mrs. M. S. Hirschfield was made chairman and Mrs. John F. Segog, secretary.

A course of eight lessons outlined by the committee consisting of Mrs. Hirschfield, Mrs. Ida Merritt, Mrs. H. L. Gage, Mrs. J. T. Segog and Mrs. N. F. Hugo was accepted by the class and will be used as a basis of the work during the course. The text book decided upon is Mrs. Longan's "Rules for Parliamentary Procedure," which is one of the simplest manuals but different authorities will be consulted on various points which will come up for discussion.

The class will meet on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month at the library club room at 10 a. m. and a leader for the discussion of each lesson will be appointed. All members of the Twentieth Century club are eligible for membership in the class without further fees.

During the practice hour this morning Mrs. Nell B. Morrison presided with Mrs. Laybourn as secretary, and this practice session will be a part of each morning's course to give the members of the class a chance to use the instruction given.

The general topics for the rest of the meetings will be constitution, election of officers, order of business, motions, amendments and a summary.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Discontented Women Has Her Opportunity at Home.

The discontented people in the world are legion. I suppose most of us are so to a certain degree and that the spirit is one for which we are not wholly responsible.

Discontent is a characteristic of humanity that helps the world to move and if there is any virtue in progress, then there must be some in discontent. Where to draw the line is, I must own, quite out of my province. But if I was going to point a finger at any one form of discontent, it would be that which consumes women, married or single, who lead quiet, protected lives, and who are constantly comparing their lot with that of women who are struggling against the odds of life on their own accounts.

"Nothing ever happens in my life," said a woman, happily married, mistress of a pretty home and mother of four children, "it is the same monotonous round from dawn to dark. I wish I had your opportunity for enjoyment, for meeting people and going about." "And I wish I had yours for rest and quiet and the love that centers about you," I remarked, stifling my own discontent as I surveyed this woman's possessions.

Do you know that there are thousands of women who, because they are not carving out a career in the world, consider they are no-account and not taking the part they might if the opportunity was granted them. They miss the opportunity close at hand, passing it by without so much as a glance, and belittle every womanly duty that is quietly performed and not subject to the plaudits of the crowd.

Fewer and fewer grow the women, and for that matter, the men, who see the opportunity for a career of some account that the home presents. Home is a place nowadays where too often the effort is one-sided. Sometimes the man tries to do it all, and in other cases the woman keeps up the uneven struggle.

I have pity and contempt for the individual, whether man or woman, who, having a family of children to rear, complains that they have no chance to accomplish any great thing or any thing worth while in the world or to the world. A woman with children has an opportunity unparalleled. She can train her children to be good men and women. She can make a real home and these two duties should be sufficient for any one.

Home should not be a dawdling place for women. It should be made a place of constant study, for its problems are many. The woman who brings this attitude to her home duties will not find them have more monotonous features than any other work that can be mentioned.

A Secret--Makes Face Beautiful

A Remarkable Formula Used by the Beauty-Actress, Valeska Suratt.

"One in my profession has an extraordinary opportunity of finding out the best there is in complexion beautifiers," says Valeska Suratt. "It was a long time before I found something which I could call a real beautifier and I had to figure it out, and make it up myself. The result was really astounding. This is the formula:

"Let half a pint of water come almost to a boil. Add two tablespoonfuls of glycerine. Keep stirring, while adding one ounce of zintone, until it is all dissolved. Then let cool. If the cream is too thick to pour easily from a bottle, thin it down a little with more hot water. The cream will be white and satiny. After bathing in the morning, hold a wet, hot towel to the face several times for several minutes. Rub this cream on the entire face, liberally. Let the cream dry on the face. Repeat this again at night. Any good druggist will sell you an ounce of zintone for not more than fifty cents.

"There is nothing I could buy ready-made that I would care for, after using this. I use it on my hands, arms, shoulders, and my face. Every red spot, freckle, all muddiness and sallowness vanish, and leave the skin as pure and spotless as marble. Every woman should use it. The result will very soon show itself."

BARBER & McPHERSON.

ONE WOMAN WHO WOULD NOT BE "BOSS"

MRS. JOHN T. BRUSH.

Here is one woman who resisted the temptation to be "hoss" and was willing that mere man should do her business work for her. She is the widow of John T. Brush, so long owner of the Giants. When he died, it was believed in baseball circles that Mrs. Britton would no longer be the only woman to take part in the counsels of the rulers of baseball. But Mrs. Brush listened to John J. McGraw, who assured her the club would be better without her interference. She has decided to have nothing to say about the players or the general conduct of the club. The players heaved a sigh of relief when they heard the news.

Caroline Marshall. Miss Barbara Rupley and Miss Caroline Swift presided today, and tomorrow Miss Marie d'Autremont and Miss Mary Frick will be the hostesses.

Miss Helen Potter and several others entertained parties of two or three there yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. McKindley Hostess.

Mrs. James Wanless of the philanthropic department has aranged the program, which will be given by Mrs. Nell B. Morrison, Miss Virginia Harrison, Miss Perrie Reynolds and Miss Leila Sparks.

Date Set for Frolic.

Friday, Feb. 21, was the date decided on by the committee of the Matinee Musicale for the annual frolic of the student body of that organization. This affair will be held at the parlors of the Endion M. E. church, and a program of stunts, music and readings will be given under the direction of Mrs. Ernest Lachmund. The associate and active members will be admitted to this party upon the payment of a small fee which will be used to cover the expenses of the refreshments which will be served by the committee after the program. The plan of each member taking a basket lunch which was used last year has been abandoned and the refreshments will be served by the club.

The students members enjoyed their frolic last year and the whole club is looking forward to the event this year. The Minneapolis Thursday Musicale has made its student frolic such a "funfest that the members eagerly anticipate the programs," says the Clarion, the little musical magazine, which the club issues bi-weekly. This year the student members of that club are planning a country fair.

Talks to Students.

A. B. Wegener spoke to the students at the Duluth Business university this afternoon giving the first of a series of lecture-music afternoons arranged by the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. to be given at the business colleges of the city. Miss Sadie Gingold had charge of the music for this afternoon.

The last of the series of enjoyable dancing parties planned by the photo engravers for this season will be given next Tuesday evening, Feb. 4, at Coffin's dancing academy. The other parties given by this organization this year have proved delightful affairs, and a large attendance is anticipated for this affair. The committee in charge plans to make this the most elaborate of the series in decoration and music and the invitations and programs carried out in the colors of the organization, blue and gold, are artistic affairs.

ASKS THORPE FOR NAMES

Sullivan Says Records of Other Athletes Will Be Investigated.

Carlisle Requested to Return Trophies Won By the Indian.

New York, Jan. 28.—The confession of James Thorpe, the "world's greatest athlete," that he played professional baseball during the summer of 1909 and 1910, will result in a sweeping investigation of the standing of the several other "college men from the north," who, Thorpe says, played in the same league, James E. Sullivan, secretary of the Amateur Athletic union announced today.

Mr. Sullivan said he had written Thorpe asking him to name the men thus referred to in his confession.

"As soon as we receive Thorpe's reply," Mr. Sullivan said, "we will begin an inquiry into the records of the other men referred to.

"I have written also to the proper authorities at the Carlisle Indian school asking them to return to me by express the trophies which Thorpe brought back from the Olympic games. I also sent a cablegram this morning to Christian Helstrom, the Olympic games commissioner, at Stockholm, apprising him of Thorpe's confession and notifying him the trophies would be returned."

Stripped of Trophies.

The tokens of Thorpe's glory on the Olympic field which are thus stripped from him will be returned to Sweden are a bronze bust of the king of Sweden, which Thorpe won with the pentathlon and the decathlon cup, a magnificent model of an ancient Viking ship.

"Thorpe's case is at once one of the greatest tragedies and marvels of amateur athletics," Mr. Sullivan said. "It seems incredible that he should have played for two years as a professional and that no one has arisen till this late day to say so. Of all the thousands of persons who saw him play, of all the sporting writers in the cities where he played and of all the stockholders in the league where he played, it is passing strange that there was not one person to say before this time he was a professional."

"To expunge the records of new marks set by Thorpe the record committee of the union, Mr. Sullivan announced, would canvass the situation shortly and make a report to the board of governers.

Comment in London.

London, Jan. 28.—The case of James Thorpe has called forth little comment here. Among the evening papers the Globe is the only one to devote a brief paragraph to the subject. It says:

"While it is disagreeable to find one of the most prominent athletes convicted of professionalism, the Amateur Athletic union of the United States is to be congratulated on having acted promptly and returned all the prizes won by the athlete in question. Surely, however, the standing of a competitor ought to have been discovered before and not after the Olympic games."

Six-Day Race.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 28.—Twenty riders, two from Australia, one from Germany and seventeen from various parts of the United tates, started in the six-day bicycle race which opened here this afternoon. A purse of $3,000 will be divided among the winners. The men will ride eight hours a day.

to California nearly thirty-three years ago. He was elected to the Fifty-ninth congress and had served consecutively since, although because of his illness he spent little of his last term in the national capital.

Rev. Daniel W. Fisher, father of Secretary Fisher of the interior department, died in Washington Jan. 28 of heart failure after a long illness. He was 75 years old. As a Presbyterian minister he served churches in New Orleans and Wheeling, W. Va., and was a member of the committee which revised the Confession of Faith.

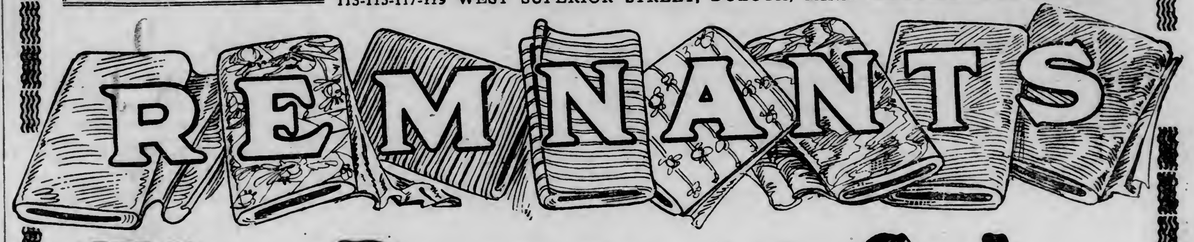

James H. Hammond, head of a large typewriting manufacturing firm, died suddenly at St. Augustine, Fla., Jan. 27. He was on a yachting cruise for his health.

Col. Charles H. Jones, a Confederate veteran and editor of national reputation, died Jan. 27, in a sanitarium at Ospedaletti, Italy. Col. Jones was born in Talbotton, Ga., in 1848. After the war he was for many years editor of the Eclectic magazine and Appleton's Journal. In 1881 he went to Jacksonville, Fla., and began the publication of the Florida Daily Times. Later he was, in succession, editor of the St. Louis Republican, now the St. Louis Republic, managing editor of the New York World and of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch and owner and publisher of several trade journals. He was prominent in Democratic politics, and a close friend of William J. Bryan.

BEMIDJI BOY IS SEVERELY BURNED

Fire in Home, Starting From Stove Explosion, Promptly Checked.

Bemidji, Minn., Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Howard, the 12-year-old son of Matt Hoeffner, was severely burned about the face and hands in a fire which broke out over the Hoeffner saloon, opposite the city hall, here today shortly after 7 a. m. The boy was taken to St. Anthony's hospital here under the care of Dr. Rowland Gilmore. The fire loss was not heavy, the flames being confined to the upstairs living room by quick action of the firemen. The fire started from a gasoline stove explosion. The place was partially insured.

VISIT OF STORK CAUSES THE POSTPONEMENT OF MURDER TRIAL

A birth in the family of Hugo Pyykko, held a prisoner at the county jail for the murder of his neighbor, Matt Kemp, Midway farmer, has called a halt in the trial of the accused man. Pyykko will be tried some time in March.

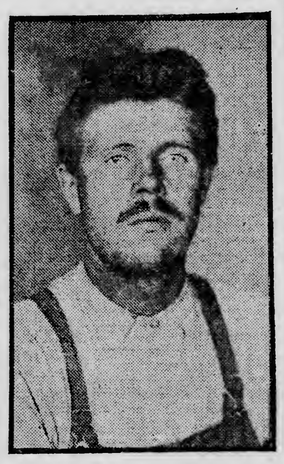

Mrs. Lizzie Pyykko, who may be a material witness at the trial, would be unable to attend court if the case was put on trial. The case has been continued to the March term of court by consent.

Pyykko's attorney, O. J. Larson, also requested the continuance of the case in order to give the accused man more time to secure funds from relatives in Finland with which to defend himself.

Pyykko will be tried for the stabbing of Kemp, who on the night of Oct. 31 last, was cut and bled to death while returning to his home at Midway. Kemp was seated alone in a light buggy when attacked. After his wounds had bled profusely he fell out by the road within a short distance from his home. The horse, which he was driving returned home alone.

The case will involve considerable circumstantial evidence. The state's strongest claim on Pyykko will be the fact that a knife was found in his possession which had a broken point. In Kemp's skull a small piece of steel corresponding to the break in Pyykko's knife was found by the authorities.

Pyykko is but 23 years old. His wife was formerly Lizzie Kauppi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Kauppi of Midway, with whom he made his home. Kemp, the murdered man, lived a short distance from the Kauppi farm.

At a meeting of citizens held last evening at the Commercial club, it was decided to proceed with the plans for the "Made in Superior" exposition. The exposition will be held, whether it is combined with the county fair or not. The co-operation of the curling club will be sought and the rink building will be used if permission is granted.

Report on Sewer.

City Engineer E. B. Banks has reported to the city commissioner that the proposed sewer in the Ninth ward would cost $30,909.72, of which $17,305 could be raised by the assessment of the property benefited. The proposed sewer would take care of all of Ontario division between Twenty-first and Fellows streets and between Logan avenue and the Great Northern yards.

WHITE SLAVER ADMITS GUILT

William Johnson, Tried at Fargo, Pleads Guilty, Getting Four Years.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge Pollock today sentenced William Johnson to four years in the penitentiary on a white slave charge. It is thought the practice may be discouraged in the state as a result of the conviction. Johnson changed his plea to guilty after Helen Reitan, one of his victims, testified. She is under 17 and her home was near Fergus Falls.

THE MOST POWERFUL ENGINES.

Indianapolis News: The most powerful single unit electric locomotives that have been designed up to the present time are now being built for a Swiss railway. These locomotives, ten in number, weigh 108 tons each, total, and have a weight on their ten drivers (adhesive weight) of eighty-five tons. They are capable of developing 2,500 horse power at a speed of fifty miles an hour, with a possible increase of speed to seventy-five miles an hour, for an uninterrupted run of one and one-half hours, and can exert a drawbar pull of eighteen thousand kilogrammes from the standstill.

RAILROADS

DINING CAR ON WINNIPEG FLYER.

Beginning next Sunday the Missabe road will commence to operate a cafe and observation car between Virginia and Duluth. It will be attached to the Canadian Northern flyer in both directions, leaving Virginia at 6:55 a. m. and leaving Duluth at 7:40 in the evening. This will be the first time the Duluth, Missabe & Northern road has given a dining car service and it is expeteed it will be a permanent feature, continning after the Canadian Northern begins to use its own depot and to run its passenger trains over its own tracks and to use its own depot in Virginia, which is now in the course of construction.

LATEST SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

Gossip, Comment and Sporting Editorial Review as Written By Bruce.

FOR the first time in the history of Duluth the successful plan of the East, that of holding an amateur boxing tournament, is to be thoroughly tried out in this city. The bouts to settle the cleverest glove wielders of Duluth are scheduled for the Auditorium on Wednesday evening, and judging from the interest that is being shown the innovation is going to be an unqualified success.

Each bout but that of the star contest of the evening will be of four rounds duration. A decision will be given in each contest, and the shortness of the route will, it is believed, cause all of the contests to be full of speed. As the best boxers of Duluth and a few outside amateurs have been secured for the contest, it is believed that the bouts will show the fans some real clever mixing.

ALREADY the kettle of coming baseball is beginning to mildly simmer. The boiling time is not as yet—but soon, Bill. But even now we are hearing the shouts of the couriers of the coming season; while the papers are beginning to be filled with the tales of the intentions of the magnates.

Frank Chance, according to some of the stories, is going to have secret agents in three of the largest of the leagues outside of the majors, the duly imposed duty of the secret agents being to report to the big bear on promising talent that may be hidden under the bushel of the smaller association.

Fred Clarke, so rumor runneth, is going to don the uniform and play the old place out in left field. Some men with heads that bulge above the ears are authority for the statement that the old boy has a lot of baseball left in his system. Perhaps yes; anyway his comeback is one of the advance copy stories of the coming season.

Hal Chase to play second base. This is also one of the stories sprung, told as the very apotheosis of truth, by sober minded officials of baseball, and yet probably a tale invented for the purpose of making the fans feel genuinely glad when the wonderful Hal remains on the bag.

Jake Stahl has come in for a lot of the winter baseball talk. They have had him playing his last game, and another of the stories was that he was going back to his old position of catcher.

Just the same, the playing season will most likely find the manager of the Boston Red Hose, the idol of Urbana, Ill., back on the old first base sack, gathering in the wide ones and smothering the ones that hit the sand at the awkward angle in front of the base.

Hans Wagner hasn't threatened to quit this season, which is peculiar. However Jimmy Archer, Rube Marquard, Larry Cheney, Johnny Kling, Art Shafer and a few of the others, including Ty Cobb, have.

ADMITTING that he is one of the greatest little wrestlers who ever laced on a pair of wrestling shoes, it is a fact, and a peculiar one, that a lot of the followers of wrestling here want to see Mike Yokel beat Miller when the two men meet for the world's middleweight championship.

Some of the fans here did not like the way Miller acted the night he wrestled Sailor Jack. Walter also mussed up Ed Adamson considerable. There is a feeling upon the part of many of the followers of the mat sport that Yokel is coming out from the Rocky mountain country to do his share of the mat mussing, should Miller start any rough work, and for that very reason there is elation and anticipation of a gleeful sort when the name of the Salt Lake city grappler is mentioned.

Miller claims there is no man of his weight in the world who can defeat him. This claim is disputed by some followers of the wrestling game. The people who desire to see Miller beaten believe Mike Yokl is going to turn the trick. The real friends of the little Pole here, and he has scores of the genuine kind, believe no man weighing within ten pounds of the little speed marvel can pin his shoulders to the mat.

There is a difference of opinion and this is causing the settling of the world championship to use speculation as a running mate.

At Proctor the other night he hugely surprised even his most ardent friends, by taking two straight falls from Billy Beaulieu of Superior. The young Swede is possessed of truly marvelous muscular development.

GREAT THORPE ADMITS HE IS A PROFESSIONAL

Honors Won By Wonderful Indian Must Be Distributed Among Second Men.

His Points and Trophies at Olympic Go Back to Scandinavia.

New York, Jan. 28.—James Thorpe, the Indian athlete and Olympic champion, yesterday admitted that charges of professionalism brought against him were true and formally retired from amateur athletics. Thorpe's confession was contained in a letter to the registration committee of the American Athletic union which met to investigate his case.

The letter admitted that Thorpe had played baseball for a salary on a professional team three years ago, while a student of the Carlisle Indian school, but that on the same team there were several Northern college men who were regarded as amateurs and Thorpe did not realize his participation was wrong. Thorpe added that he did not play for the money he got, but for the love of the game.

Thorpe's winnings of the Pentathlon and Decathlon events at the Olympic games in Stockholm and later his wonderful performances which won for him the all-around championship of the A. A. U., at Celtic park last September, had stamped him the most marvelous all-round athlete of modern times. In addition, his prowess as a football player had earned for him last season by unanimous choice of leading sporting writers the position of halfback on the annual all-American football team.

Honors Transferred.

All the prizes and the honors which Thorpe has gained since 1909—the date on which his standing as professional begins—must be transferred through the officials of the A. A. U. to the men who finished second to the Indian. This will mean that the trophies and points won in the Pethathlon and Decathlon must go to F. R. Bier, Norway, and H. Wieslander, Sweden, respectively, and that J. J. Donahue, United States, and G. Lombarg, Sweden, will take second places. John Bredemus of Princeton finished second to Thorpe in the American all-round championship and Bruno Brodd of the Irish-American Athletic club third, and therefore now must be accorded the honors. In this championship Thorpe made a total score of 7,476 points and broke the former record of Martin Sheridan by 91 points.

The loss of the six points scored by Thorpe in the Olympic games still leaves the United States winner by a wide margin, however, the total standing of the United States being 79, with Finland in second place with 29.

Charges that Thorpe had played professional baseball in Winston-Salem, N. C., were first published in a Worcester, Mass., newspaper last week. James E. Sullivan, secretary, and other officials of the A. A. U., began an investigation, which culminated in a meeting of the officials of the A. A. U. and the American Olympic committee yesterday.

Regret Expressed.

Prior to the meeting Glenn Warner, athletic director of the Carlisle Indian school, called on Mr. Sullivan and presented to him Thorpe's confession of professionalism and a letter expressing the regret of M. Friedman, superintendent of the Carlisle school, that his premier athlete was guilty as charged. Thorpe's letter was dated at Carlisle, Pa., Sunday, and addressed to Mr. Sullivan.

Mr. Friedman says that neither the faculty of the Carlisle Indian school nor Athletic Director Warner had knowledge of Thorpe's professionalism and declared the confession has brought gloom to the entire institution.

The A. A. U. announces that it will do everything in its power to insure the return of prizes and the readjustment of points won by Thorpe and will eliminate the records of the Indian from its books.

James Thorpe, a Fox Indian, was first heard of six years ago as a football player at the Carlisle college. Later he specialized in weight throwing, jumping and running. He also became noted as a lacrosse and baseball player. Several league teams have tried to secure his services. Only last year it was stated that Pittsburg and Washington endeavored to draft him, but the Indian refused to sign a contract, declaring that he wished to remain an amateur.

DULUTH WILL HOLD FIRST SKI MEET UNDER RULES OF NEW ASSOCIATION

The International Amateur Ski Association of America, Organized in St. Paul, Will Hold Initial Meet Here in February.

Feb. 9 is the tentative date set for the holding of the first ski tournament in the history of the International Ski Association of America. Duluth will be the scene of the tournament.

Dr. Hovde, Hans Wanneboe, Norton Mattocks, P. C. Wright and H. H. Borgen returned today from St. Paul, where yesterday the new ski association was organized, and work will start immediately upon the plans for the holding of the first meet under the auspices of the newly formed organization.

Dr. H. Hovde of Duluth was elected president of the new association, A. Arnston of Menominee, Mich., first vice president, H. H. Borgen of Duluth second vice-president, G. A. Ecklund of St. Paul treasurer, Hans Meyer, St. Paul, secretary.

Duluth, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Menominee, Mich., and the St. Olaf College club of Northfield are the clubs named as the charter members of the association. Several other clubs, it was stated today, may come in before the holding of the first tournament.

From the Duluth standpoint the most important piece of news coming out of the entire association is the announcement today that the local meet will be held in this city on Feb. 9.

Plans For Meet.

Tentative plans have already been adopted for the holding of this meet. Carl Solberg, the famous rider of St. Paul, has promised to compete at the meet, and several of the best known of the Chicago men may compete at the meet.

One of the decided innovations of the meet set for next month, will be the riding of some of the business and professional men among the members of the Duluth Ski club.

There are some enthusiastic riders among the younger business men of Duluth, and the directors of the club have secured the promise of these men to enter one of the classes. The riding of these men is expected to prove one of the events of the day.

G. G. Hartley has already offered a $25 prize for the longest standing jump made on the hill during the tournament, and he has also offered two $6 prizes for standing jumps for school children.

Norton Mattocks, who was the official delegates of the Duluth club, is enthusiastic over the outlook for the new association.

"It is only a question of time before there will be some more clubs in the new association," said he today. "We are following along the lines laid down by the International Amateur Ski association of Europe, which tolerates no professionalism. The riders that compete in the new association are true sportsmen and the sport is going to be placed upon a high plane.

"We believe we have discovered many great amateurs who will compete in the meet to be held here. Also there will be a number of innovations and features that have been lacking in tournaments of the past.

"The officials of the Duluth Ski club are lined up with the officials of the other clubs in this new association in an endeavor to purify the ski sport and place it on the same level as ski sport of Europe. Over there the best riders in the world are amateurs, and we are of the opinion that the same condition should prevail in the United States.

"With the assistance of the public we are going ahead and plan what we hope will be the most successful tournament ever held in the history of the ski sport in this section of the country. We are sanguine of the success of the first tournament to be held under the auspices of the new organization, and we believe the public of Duluth are squarely behind us in our efforts to make the great sport of skiing purely an amateur sport."

NATIONAL COMMISSION CAN'T STOP INVASION

The American Association Has Absolute Voice as to Control of Its Territory.

Minneapolis, Jan. 28.—One of the most interesting features of the American association season of 1913 will be to watch what success attends the leagues which place second clubs in American association cities, as seems probable from the announcement made by the Central International league at Minneapolis and St. Paul and the Wisconsin-Illinois league at Milwaukee.

While President Chivington still insists that formal action on this question has not been taken and that the matter is still under discussion, he admits the subject was up at the annual meeting. Evidently the owners in the cities affected know where they stand on the matter or what action will be taken or they would not go ahead so definitely with the plans. Either a canvass has indicated what a mail vote will be, or a committee has been appointed which will report favorably. It seems certain that someone has advance information that formal approval will be given.

The Portland Idea.

The Cantillons and Owner Lennon will control the new clubs in these cities. Charles F. Moll, who is to have the Wisconsin-Illinois franchise at Milwaukee, was business manager of the Brewers last season and will rent the association grounds, probably at a stiff rental. According to the agreements, the second club must vacate at the end of any season if requested to do so.

This cancelation is similar to the arrangement at Portland, Or., where the Pacific Coast league allows the Northwestern league to keep a club under year-to-year sufferance. This permission was what induced the Northwestern league not to press its claims for a Class A rating at the annual meeting of minors in Milwaukee last fall, as the coast league was opposed to the higher classification and threatened to put the kibosh on at Portland.

It is understood Louisville, which was wanted by the Blue Grass league, will not approve a second club in that city. Columbus is a possibility for an Ohio State league club, but Toledo, Indianapolis and Kansas City are said to be opposed to opening the door.

There seems to be considerable misapprehension as to what action is required to make the entrance of a second club possible. Press dispatches have stated that the consent of the national commission and national association was necessary. The consent of the American association is the real requisite, as indicated by article 27, section 1 of the National association agreement, as follows:

What the Rule Says.

"Each league whose application for membership under this agreement has been accepted by the board shall have exclusive control of its own territory until the termination of its membership, and no other club from any other league party to this agreement or player under contract of any National association club shall be allowed to play a game or participate in any game in any city of its circuit without the consent of the league representing said city."

AMATEUR BOXERS ARE READY FOR TOURNAMENT

What ho! the cam are coming—also the amateur boxers.

Everything is in readiness for the launching of the first amateur boxing entertainment that has been put on in the history of Duluth. The glove wielders have been secured, even the seconds provided, and the big show promises to be filled with thrills and laughs and amusements of a varied nature.

Most every boy who is entered in the tournament has his followers. The athletic camp of Duluth is most evenly divided, however, on the outcome of the bout between Eddie Barry and Martin Buggi.

These boys are really clever boxers, wised to the scientific points of the game, and as there is rivalry to wad a cannon with between the two boxers, the outcome of the star bout of the evening will be watched with considerable interest.

Clarence Wallace is the winner of the amateur tournament held in Milwaukee, and his work against Young Burns of this city will be watched with interest, as the Duluth kid is husky and knows a lot about the scientific side of the game.

Another match that is bound to attract a lot of interest is that between Bill Slavin and Charles Wallace. The little fellows are generally supposed to be very speedy and this go is carded as one of the fastest on the long program of the evening's entertainment.

The show is expected to appeal to those who love athletic display, especially boxing, under conditions that are conducive to the best interests of the sport.

There will be no smoking permitted in the big Auditorium. No objectionable features will be tolerated. Amateur shows are regularly conducted in the East with the greatest of success, and it is believed that the first tournament to be held in this city under the rules of the Amateur Athletic union will likewise be a huge and unqualified success.

CURLING GETS A FLYING START

Eleven Games are Played in the Four Duluth Trophy Events.

Curling is on in earnest at the big curling club. Last evening eleven sheets were occupied during all of the evening and the galleries were filled with spectators eagerly watching the trophy play.

Last night was in reality the starting of the real play of the present season, and from now until the final game has been played in the last trophy event, if the play progresses that far, every playing evening will be taken up with the regularly scheduled games.

In all there were eleven games played last evening, four being in the Bagley, two in the Gruesen, one in the Duluth Universal and four in The Herald.

Wednesday evening the Manley-McLennan games start with Superior and until these games are out of the way the schedule of the Duluth Curling club trophy events will have to be cut somewhat, as only seven rinks will be available.

Curling has come into its own with a vengeance and the roar of the rocks will be consistent until the ides of March begin to soften the ice.

Following are the results of last night's play:

Bagley Event.

Harbison forfeited to Woodruff.
E. Jacobie, 12; A. McDonald, 5.
M. Buchanan, 3; C. A. Duncan, 10.
Walter Harris, 6; M. F. Jamar, 16.

Gruesen Event.

John Doran, 9; Jack Plotnicky, 10.
R. Schiller, 14; H. Hallock, 7.

Universal Event.

W. C. Dunlap, 10; S. W. Richardson, 8.

Herald.

McGregor, 12; Cleveland, 13.
Pierce, 13; Tredway, 12.
G. E. Warren, 15; John Bierhalter, 12.
Fred Palmer, 12; Phil Heimick, 11.

CY BENNETT IS AFTER BALL CLUB

Cy Bennett of this city is after the management of one of the teams in the new league, of which Duluth is to be a member. It is possible that the Duluth player may be made manager of the Fort William team.

Cy has played baseball since before he was out of the grade schools and he has also had managerial experience. He was manager of the Medicine Hat team in the Western Canadian league and had his club up in the race.

In addition to being manager Cy has played in the old Northern, the Three-I, Western Canada, South Atlantic and Northwestern leagues. His all round training should fit him for the position of manager, as he has always been known as a heady baseball player.

PAL BROWN IS TOO FAST

Jack Redmond Saved By Seconds Throwing Up Sponge at Milwaukee.

Gets Fearful Beating From Hibbing Boy—Knockout Near.

Milwaukee, Jan. 28. — Pal Brown of Hibbing, Minn., defeated Jack Redmond in the seventh round of what was scheduled to be a 10-round fight last night. A broken rib caused Redmond's seconds to throw up the sponge.

The fight was to settle an old argument between the two, each claiming to have had the advantage of a battle at Windsor, Can., but last night there was no question as to the supremacy.

Brown beat Redmond about the face and body until Redmond's eyes were closed and his mouth bleeding and though Redmond was not knocked down, his seconds decided to save him from a sure knockout by giving up the bout.

Redmond was made to look like a novice beside the husky youngster from Hibbing throughout the fight and only landed five real punches during the seven rounds he lasted. In the fifth Redmond's mouth was cut open by a straight right with all Brown's strength back of it, but Redmond stuck to his job manfully and though his once cracked rib was broken again in the sixth, he gamely fought throughout before allowing his seconds to give up the contest.

Brown had the better of the argument from the first interchange, almost the first blow struck being a hard right to the face. The second was again Brown's and in the third Redmond began to show the effects of the body punishment he was taking. The fourth was on even terms, but the fifth saw Redmond bleeding badly.

In the sixth Redmond was trying to block Brown's punch, but in the seventh Brown repeatedly pushed him away, each body punch making Jack wince. It was evident that Redmond could not last another round when he went to his corner after the seventh round.

VIRGINIA COURT TERM IS ENDED

Court Will Commence at Hibbing Feb. 4 With a Grand Jury.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The January session of the district court ended yesterday and the February session at Hibbing will convene on Tuesday, Feb. 4.

The grand jury will meet in Hibbing on Feb. 4.

Judgment for the plaintiff for $265 was given in the case of R. M. McClements vs. W. McDonald et al. The action grew out of a partnership between the parties connected with the ownership of the Norton iron works, dating back to May 16, 1910.

Damage Suit Submitted.

The suit for $200 damages brought against P. R. Vail of the Virginia Brewing company by Otto Manninen was submitted to the court on Monday, but no decision rendered.

Mary Johanna Jenkins vs. John Paul Jenkins, a suit for divorce, has been started. The couple were married in Norway, Mich., in January, 1906. The case is being held open for the introduction of further evidence. The suit is being brought on the grounds of cruelty and desertion.

The suit for divorce of George Kelly vs. Bertha Kelly was taken under advisement by Judge Martin Hughes.

SUIT GROWING OUT OF BUILDING ROAD

Action Involving Payment for Work on Roadbed Is Commenced.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—A suit for damages in the sum of $596.90 has been commenced here in connection with the building of the bed of the new electric line to Hibbing.

The parties in the action are Jack Hautala and Henry Tuomala, vs. Andrew Pelto, Christ Swenby and C. W. Parks. The plaintiffs claim that there was an agreement with the defendants for the payment of the minimum rate of $2 per day for a ten-hour day if the sub-contractors made less than 50 cents a yard for earth and 75 cents for rock blasting.

The defendants claim that there was no such minimum agreement.

MAYOR SAARI TO BOOST BASEBALL

Eveleth Executive Will Help Fans to Get Into League.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Eveleth has the baseball fever red hot and will try and form a team to join the range league which is made possible by the operation of the new electric railway. Major J. Saari, who is a good fan, is working with other fans on the enterprise and promises to give them every help possible.

The Associated Charities will be given a benefit performance at the Bijou theater Thursday evening.

QUITS HIBBING JOB.

Man in Charge of Water and Light Concern Resigns.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles Riin, for the past several years superintendent of the water and light plant, has resigned and is succeeded by Walter Carroll, for the past two years with the Oliver Iron Mining company as master mechanic at the Harold mine.

Mr. Riin's resignation has been accepted and he will leave the plant soon. His plans for the future are not definitely decided, but he will take a trip West and may decide to locate in the Judith basin country in Montana. Mr. Riin began with the water and light department as a lineman and worked his way up to the position of superintendent. He was a conscientious and faithful servant and has many friends in Hibbing who will regret to learn that he has severed his connections with the water and light department.

BOOSTERS' BANQUET.

Get-Together Affair to Be Held at Virginia.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Al G. Flourney will be toastmaster and the following are expected to speak at the get-together banquet of the Commercial club to be given tomorrow night in Hawkinson hall: Judge Martin Hughes, Mayor M. A. Murphy, Henry S. Newton, general manager of the Mesaba Electric line; R. C. Pickering of the library board; Otto A. Poirier of the park board; M. E. Fanning, N. E. Arnold who is recognized as the authority on county division; Judge R. J. Montague, Michael Boylan, M. H. McMahon, R. J. McGhee, H. Y. Peterson who will speak on postoffice affairs and D. D. Morgan who will speak for the city of Virginia. Invitations have been sent to various organizations of other range cities to send representatives to the banquet.

Healthy Mothers

Women who bear children and remain healthy are those who prepare their systems in advance of baby's coming. Unless the mother aids nature in its pre-natal work the crisis finds her system unequal to the demands made upon it, and she is often left with weakened health or chronic ailments. No remedy is so truly a help to nature as Mother's Friend, and no expectant mother should fail to use it. It relieves the pain and discomfort caused by the strain on the ligaments, makes pliant and elastic those fibres and muscles which nature is expanding, prevents numbness of limbs, and soothes the inflammation of breast glands. The system being thus prepared by Mother's Friend dispels the fear that the crisis may not be safely met. Mother's Friend assures a speedy and complete recovery for the mother, and she is left a healthy woman to enjoy the rearing of her child. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

SHENANGO COMPANY IS DEFENDANT

Administrator of Estate of Man Killed Sues for $7,500 Damages.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Suit for $7,500 damages has been brought here against the Shenango Furnace company and Tom Duley, engineer, by Arthur P. Mandelin, administrator for the estate of Juhan Matinpoika Hamalainen, also known as John Mattson at the mine.

Mattson died on March 26, last, and it is claimed in the action that he was killed by a locomotive owned by the defendant furnace company and operated by Tom Duley.

Mattson was going home to supper at a few minutes past 6 on the evening of March 26, and as he was making his way up out of the pit he was caught between the side of the stripping and the passing dump train, dragged under the wheels and ground to instant death.

Alleges Negligence.

The plaintiff claims that the train was running "at a dangerously high rate of speed," and that the man ran along the track in front of the train for some distance before he was hit.

The furnace company claims contributory negligence and failure to watch out for the train. It is further claimed that owing to the heavy grade it was necessary for the engine to exert every ounce of energy possible and that the noise of the escaping steam could be heard at a considerable distance.

SEND OFFICERS AFTER "PIGGERS"

Special Train Sent to Lake Kabetigoma to Make Arrests.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Reports of extensive blind-pigging in the vicinity of Lake Kabetigoma, thirty-five or forty miles north of here prompted the Rainy Lake Lumber company to furnish a special train today to send deputy sheriffs and a game warden there from Cusson to make some wholesale arrests. It is expected the officers will make a great cleanup.

Harry Manes was before Judge Cary yesterday on the charge of running a blind pig in that locality. He pleaded guilty to running "Harry Manes" place, as it is called, and was fined $100 and $53.25 costs.

TIMBER TRESPASS

Is Alleged Against Parties in Locality of Virginia.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—A large number of complaints about the malicious cutting of timber on state and mining company lands have been coming in lately and a strong effort is being made to put a stop to the practice.

Charles West of Virginia was arraigned in the municipal court on Monday afternoon charged with "malicious mischief," and the evidence tended to show that he had cut timber from the Jennings Mining company's land near Mud Lake. The trial was continued until this afternoon.

EVELETH CHILD BURNED.

Pours Kerosene on Fire at Home With Fatal Result.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Mary Boziderick the 4-year-old daughter of Nick Boziderick, living in the Adams location who was fatally burned last Saturday was held yesterday from Holy Family church. The child was left alone in the home Friday and in the endeavor to make the fire burn more rapidly poured kerosene into the stove. An explosion resulted the child being so badly burned she died in a short time.

FIX BOND PERIOD.

Virginia Council to Decide the Matter This Evening.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the meeting of the city council this evening, that body will determine the period of the bonds for the obtaining of $450,000 to make the payment for the water and light plant lately purchased. It is the general opinion that a fifteen-year period would be most desirable. The details of the arrangements which will be reported to the city council have been taken care of by John D. Lamont, Max Lewis and J. W. Murphy, the board of commissioners, Mayor M. A. Murphy, R. J. McGhee and D. D. Morgan, city attorney, together with Bert Fesler, special attorney, engaged to advise during the water and light plant acquirement proceedings.

TWO BOUND OVER BY VIRGINIA JUDGE.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles Forsell charged with assault in the first degree by cutting a Cusson merchant named Peter McMillan badly about the head and face on Jan. 25 waived examination at a special session of the municipal court and was held to the next session of the grand jury.

Joe Bulich who was arrested in Hibbing recently charged with doing the shooting in the Holland hotel on Dec. 25, when he is alleged to have shot Mila Workapich in the arm following an argument over who should pay for an already eaten meal, waived examination and was held to the grand jury.

Evelethians After Citizenship.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Deputy District Clerk U. G. Holloway assisted a score of foreign born residents to become citizens Monday. Most of the men came over from Eveleth. More than twenty applications for citizenships were received and filed during the morning by the clerk's office.

Engagement Announced.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 28.—Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Smith announce the coming marriage of their daughter, Miss Bertha Smith, and Grover Le Veque.

M'DONNELL GIVEN BIG HIBBING JOB

Will Build Sewer Outlet and Osman, Also of Duluth, Sewer Ditch.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The village council last night awarded to P. McDonnell of Duluth the contract for building the proposed sewer outlet at $61,628. A. G. Rosman, also of Duluth, got the contract for the sewer ditch at $29,966. Both were the lowest bidders.

Mr. McDonnell expects to have 100 men at work very soon.

Mr. Osman must remove 141,000 yards from the ditch by July 1 next.

The council added another policeman to the force who will be known as a traffic officer. The addition is deemed necessary since the operation of the new trolley line through town and the man will be stationed at the corner of First avenue and Pine street, the present transfer point. The aldermen also gave some consideration to the demand that the cars stop at every corner in the business section, but no action was taken as the road has not yet been formally turned over to the railway company by the construction concern. At present only three stops are made in town, but it is believed the company will make the change when the system gets into proper working order.

INJURED SHOPMAN DIES FROM HURT

Charles Swanson Who Was Injured in Two Harbors Shops, Called.

Two Harbors, Minn., Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Physically unable to withstand the shock of an operation for the amputation of part of a foot, Charles Swanson, who had his foot crushed about ten days ago in the shops of the Iron Range railroad here by an air drum of a locomotive falling on it, died yesterday at the Budd hospital.

Swanson's recovery was very questionable from the first owing to the general rundown condition which he was in when the accident happened. He refused to eat for several days previous to his death which helped to hasten the end. Swanson was 35 years old and leaves a wife in this city.

The funeral arrangements have not been completed, but it is thought that he will be buried tomorrow from the Swedish church.

GILBERT TAKES BOTH.

High Basket Ball Team Beats Two Harbors and Mountain Iron Fives.

Gilbert, Minn., Jan. 28. — (Special to The Herald.)—The Gilbert high school basket ball team went to Mountain Iron Friday night and Saturday night went to Two Harbors cleaning up both games handily.

The score for the Mountain Iron games was 44 to 9 in favor of Gilbert, although the Gilbert team was outweighed twenty pounds per man.

At Two Harbors the score was 19 to 7, first half, and 32 to 21, final, in favor of Gilbert. The boys were well pleased with the treatment accorded them both at Mountain Iron and Two Harbors and spoke well of Mr. Conneff, the referee at the latter place.

The Gilbert team has won all the games they have played this year and will probably land the range championship. They play a return game with Mountain Iron and are also to meet the strong aggregation from Virginia this week. The Gilbert boys play well together and are deserving of the success they have had.

HEARING CONTINUED.

Principals in Hibbing Sunday Affair to Be Arraigned Today.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dominick Maletta, Dominick Cecella and Joe Pascal, participants in a sensational melee at 322 Railroad street Sunday afternoon, will have a hearing before Judge Brady this afternoon at 4 o'clock. Their hearings were set for that hour yesterday afternoon, but further examination of time was granted. They are held on charges of assault, but tell different stories that keep the police confused. They will probably enter pleas to disorderly conduct this afternoon.

HAD SUFFERED MUCH.

Death of Alex Bradley of Chisholm Ended Earthly Troubles.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Alex Bradley, who died at the Monroe location Saturday after an extended period of intense suffering was held at Hibbing Monday morning. Mr. Bradley's case is well known locally for the heroic manner in which he has battled against great odds for the last several years. Though but 24 years old at the time of death he had suffered for a number of years from an affliction following an injury and operation. While working in the lumber camps in Northern Michigan several years ago in the vicinity of the Soo he was injured about the lower limbs and an operation followed. After much suffering and several months later it was necessary to submit to another operation which gave but temporary relief. Several operations followed, the last being a couple of years ago when he went to Rochester in hopes of receiving relief. He came back to his home at the Monroe and although temporarily relieved soon began suffering. Local physicians did all possible for him giving opiates at times when no other remedy would relieve him. The last operation was for an amputation of the right leg close to the body but sarcoma made such inroads that further operating would only have hastened his death and he was forced to wait for the end through intense suffering. Besides his father and mother and the unmarried ones at home he leaves two sisters at the Monroe, Mrs. Blair and Mrs. Farrell.

A GOOD BREAKFAST.

Some Persons Never Know What It Means.

A good breakfast, a good appetite and good digestion mean everything to the man, woman or child who has anything to do, and wants to get a good start toward doing it.

A Southern man tells of his wife's "good breakfast" and also supper, made out of Grape-Nuts and cream. He says:

"I should like to tell you how much good Grape-Nuts has done my wife. After being in poor health for the last 18 years, during part of the time scarcely anything would stay on her stomach long enough to nourish her, finally at the suggestion of a friend she tried Grape-Nuts.

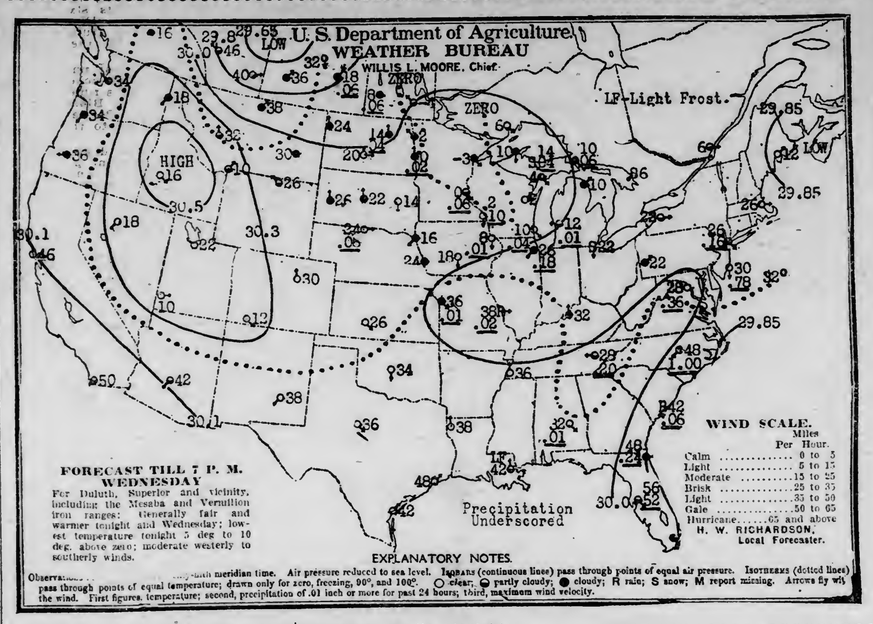

"Now, after about four weeks on this delicious and nutritious food, she has picked up most wonderfully and seems as well as anyone can be.

"Every morning she makes a good breakfast on Grape-Nuts eaten just as it comes from the package with cream or milk added; and then again the same at supper, and the change in her is wonderful.

"We can't speak too highly of Grape-Nuts as a food after our remarkable experience." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.—Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

FAIR

Ideal winter conditions continue. Considerable coal is being consumed, but temperatures down around zero aren't as uncomfortable in Duluth as one not accustomed to them might believe. Fair and warmer weather is predicted for tonight and tomorrow.

Fair, mild weather prevailed a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 7:38 and it will set at 5:05 this evening, giving nine hours and twenty-seven minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Somewhat colder weather prevails in Northern, Eastern and Southern states, while in Central and Western Canada and in the Central and Southwestern states the temperature has become warmer. Indications favor milder weather in St. Louis and Dougias counties tonight and Wednesday. During the last twenty-four hours light snow fell over Saskatchewan, Manitoba, the Eastern Dakotas, Minnesota, Southern Wisconsin, Iowa, Michigan and Eastern Ontario, and snow or rain over Missouri, Ohio valley and Atlantic states."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Jan. 28.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m., Wednesday:

Upper Michigan—Generally fair tonight and Wednesday; slightly warmer Wednesday.

Wisconsin—Generally fair tonight and Wednesday; rising temperature Wednesday and in west portion tonight.

Minnesota—Generally fair tonight and Wednesday; rising temperature tonight and in east portion Wednesday.

Iowa—Fair tonight and Wednesday; warmer Wednesday and in north portion tonight.

North Dakota—Generally fair tonight and Wednesday; warmer in extreme east portion tonight.

South Dakota—Fair tonight and Wednesday; warmer tonight.

Montana—Fair tonight and Wednesday; slightly colder in east portion tonight.

Shipper's forecast: Protect thirty-six hour shipments of perishables against temperatures 5 deg. to 15 deg. above zero in the Dakotas, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

This gave the Chisholm team a total of 2,351 pins against the Hibbing team's 2,292, or a lead of 69 pins in the three games. A return game will be played in Chisholm this week.

IGNORANT OF LAW.

So Chisholm Judge Let Couple Who Sold Boys Tobacco Go.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.) — Ignorance of the law, despite the well known legal principle to the contrary, helped A. M. Brist of the Monroe location and Peter Myskoski of the Great Northern location when they were arrested by Probation Officer Everett yesterday and haled before Judge Masters charged with selling tobacco to minors. They pleaded ignorance of the law and the judge let them go with a reprimand.

The hearing of Peterson and Haagbloom charged with selling liquor to minors was postponed on account of sickness of the defendent. The case will come up later in the week.

Local officer W. B. Brown working under the direction of the Duluth Humane society is very busy looking after cruelty to animals and to the enforcement of ordinances that are not being heeded in regard to children and reports that within a very few days some important arrests are likely to follow if certain practices are not stopped.

DIES IN HIBBING.

Little Swan Farmer Is Victim of Intestinal Trouble.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—John H. Larva, a farmer well known in the Little Swan district, where he has lived on a farm for several years, died at the home of relatives here after a short illness of intestinal obstruction.

Larva had been shipping wood from Hibbing and was taken ill while working here last week. The funeral will be held Wednesday, interment being near his home at Little Swan.

Larva was 66 years old and leaves a widow and family of grown children. He was well respected by all who knew him.

Indians on Visit.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 28.—Chief Wolf, one of the patriarchs of the White Earth Chippewas, and a party of his people passed through Hibbing last evening on their way to the Nett Lake agency, where they go for a friendly visit with the Chippewas of the Bois Fort band. Chief Wolf is one of the diplomats of his people and his visit is supposed to have significance. The Chippewas of the Leech Lake, Cass Lake and White Earth reservations are preparing to present a petition at Washington asking for a spring payment.

CAUSE OF DRINK HABIT NOT UNDERSTOOD

Drinking Men Are Considered Either Willful or Afflicted With a Disease.

The terms "alcoholism" and "drink habit" mean that the drinker of alcoholic liquors is poisoned with an insidious cumulative poison—alcohol—which dominates his whole being and will do so just as long as a trace of alcohol remains in the system. This poison can be easily and quickly eliminated and its effect neutralized by the modern "Neal" Three-Day Treatment, which is a harmless, vegetable remedy, administered internally—no hypodermic injections.

For full particulars regarding the Neal Liquor and Drug Habit Treatment call at the Neal Institute, corner Belknap and West Seventh street, Superior, Wis.; St. Paul Institute, 676 Dayton avenue; Minneapolis Institute, 403 South Seventh street.

GILBERT HOME TALENT AFFAIR

Next Number of the Star Course Will Be Given Thursday Evening.

Gilbert, Minn., Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thursday evening the next number of the Star course series of entertainments will be given at the Gilbert high school auditorium. This will be a home talent number put on by the faculty and pupils of the high school, assisted by Mrs. W. J. Dowling. Gilbert in the past has put out some very fine local talent entertainments, which have had outside appreciation, and this number promises to be fully up to the standard. Following is the program:

High school orchestra, K. K. Tibbets, director; vocal solo, "The Perfect Day," (Carrie Jacobs Bond), Angela Schumacher; oratorical contest, (a) "Defeat and Triumph," Tony Indihar; (b) "Abraham Lincoln," Goldie Finn; (c) "The New South," Clinton Bent; (d) "Supposed Speech of John Adams," Henry Binney; quartet, "What From Vengeance," selection from Lucia Di Lammermoor, Messrs. Hursh, Newberry, Pemberton and Pray; dramatical contest, (a) "Hagar," Gertrude Ullstein; (b) "The Soldier of the Empire," Viola Kieren; (c) "The Death Disc," Doris Gilbert; (d) "Helene Thamre," Ethel Binney; trombone solo, Homer B. Hursh; declamatory contest, (humor), (a) "The Book Agent and the Bandit," Arthur Hill; (b) "Papa and the Boy," Mildred Stevens; (c) "The Dutchman's Serenade," John Downing; (d) "Jathop Lathrop's Cow," Ina Beldo; selection, high school orchestra; quartet, "Good Night," (Pinsuti), Misses Gilmore and Winch, Messrs. Newberry and Pemberton; awarding of medals by judges; pianists, Mrs. W. J. Dowling and Leonore Windhorst; directress of chorus, Miss Elizabeth Humphrey; instructor in expression, Miss Magdalene Feycreisen; judges, Supt. N. A. Yonnz, James Boyle, Prof. Boardman and Supt. M. A. Morse.

STOLE ELECTRICITY.

Ely Man Convicted of Beating Company By Some Wiring.

Ely, Minn., Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Municipal Judge Jury had a busy day yesterday, three cases being brought before him. Tony Maijani thought he had found a cheap and up-to-date way for lighting his home, so he wired around the electric meter, and during January has been utilizing the electricity without any passing through the meter. He was fined a total of $10.86, and spent some time in jail meditating whether he should pay or not.

Iver Johnson and Ralph Olson were charged with being drunk, and were each given a $7 fine. Johnson and Olson are trappers who paid Ely a visit Saturday.

COLERAINE MAN'S MOTHER BURIED.

Ishpeming, Mich., Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Mrs. Katherine H. Tipping, wife of William Tipping, a pioneer resident of this section, who died Saturday, was held today from the Grace Episcopal church, Rev. Carl G. Zeigler officiating. Interment was at Marquette.

Mrs. Tipping had many friends in Ishpeming, as well as at the National location, where she lived. She was 66 years of age and had resided at the National for the past thirty-five years. Besides the husband, there is one daughter and one son surviving. The daughter is Miss Blanche Tipping, who teaches school at the National; and the son is Edward Tipping, who has been located at Coleraine, Minn. He was called home early last week.

ELY HOME SAVED.

Ely, Minn., Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The fire department made a quick run yesterday afternoon to the Chandler location and saved the home of Joe Folyo. The fire started in the cellar and got beyond the control of those at the house. The building was at the farthest point in the location and the fire was controlled by the chemical, aided by a bucket brigade. But little damage was done, smoke being the biggest cause of damage.

Calvin Is Promoted.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—C. J. Calvin, chief engineer for the M. A. Hanna properties, residing here has been promoted to the superintendency of the American mine of the Boston American mine and will go to Northern Michigan to reside.

Ely Politics Warming Up.

Ely, Minn., Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The political situation is beginning to warm up, preparatory to the city election in April. A number of the present city officials have declared their intention of running again. A number of others have thrown their hats into the ring. Three have already expressed a desire to become mayor of the city, in addition to several others who have suggested that they might later enter the race.

Ely Firemen's Banquet.

Ely, Minn., Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual banquet of the Ely fire department was held at the Exchange hotel Saturday evening. Mine host Cox and his corps of assistants outdid themselves in the serving of one of the best banquets ever tendered the fire fighters. The city councilmen, ex-fire fighters and all the city officers were present at the banquet. A strong list of speakers gave the program for the evening.

Farmers Plan Creamery.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—A co-operative creamery association has been organized by the farmers of the Jessie lake country, and the affair promises to be a success. Joseph Sheldon is at the head of the new move, and all the tillers of the soil are subscribing for the stock. Estimates have already been secured for the machinery.

AMUSEMENTS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS

ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.

Amusement Notes.

"The Danger Dance," is the latest terpsichorean musical comedy situation. The dance is a feature of "Madame Sherry" and is said to be a logical issue of one of the musical comedy situations. Danced by a young man and a young woman of the cast, it is described as a novelty where the male dancer is always on the ground and his fair partner mostly in the air, whither he swings, pulls and tosses her as he might a gay colored scarf. The young woman who figures as the human fabric is said to wear a specially devised steel corset to protect her ribs from cracking in the clinches.

"Madame Sherry's" fame as a musical novelty is wide spread. No score in the records of musical farce achievement became so general a rage. The fun and vivacity of the story of the production is no less a byword generally, and the musical theme, "Every Little Movement Has a Meaning All Its Own," continues to be a singing, whistling and dancing rage.

The local presentation will be at the Lyceum Friday and Saturday.

There are two "laughs" that are famous over the Orpheum circuit. Both are possessed by women performers. One is the personal property of Miss Lulu McConnell, who was seen in Duluth early in the fall, and the other is the property of Miss Mae Melville, who is at the Orpheum this week in the team of Melville and Higgins.

MAE MELVILLE,
At the Orpheum This Week.

Miss Melville, like Miss McConnell, has a laugh that is infectious, and the first time she turns it loose it rarely fails to get her in sympathy with her audience. Her laugh, and her excited command to her very slender partner to "let it lay" are two of the best features of the Orpheum bill this week.

CARNATION DAY

Tomorrow, Jan. 29, is Carnation day in honor of President William McKinley.

The wearing of carnations in honor of the martyred president is not a general custom, but a great many people thus do honor to him, and many carnations will be seen on the street in Duluth tomorrow. Jan. 29 was President McKinley's birthday anniversary. The carnation was his favorite flower and the carnation is used in the observance of his birthday anniversary.

We Guarantee Parisian Sage to Cure Dandruff, Stop Falling Hair or Itching of the Scalp, in Two Weeks, or Money Back.—Giroux Mfg. Co. Sole American Makers of Parisian Sage.

The above is an offer we are most proud to make. It is an offer that no man or woman need be ashamed to accept. Parisian Sage is the quickest acting and most rejuvenating hair restorer in the world.

Its magical qualities have made it famous wherever it has been introduced.

It is the only hair restorer sold with an absolute guarantee to cure dandruff, stop falling hair or itching of the scalp. It cures dandruff by killing the germs, and it kills them so promptly that the most skeptical give it their warmest praise.

But Parisian Sage is more than a cure for dandruff—it will make hair grow on any head where the hair bulb is not altogether dead.

We want every reader the The Herald to know that Parisian Sage is the most delightful hair dressing in the world. It is so pleasant to use, and its effect is so invigorating and refreshing, that it pleases everybody.

And to the ladies we wish to emphasize the fact that Parisian Sage is the only hair tonic in the world guaranteed to make the hair grow luxuriant, soft and beautiful.

The girl with the Auburn hair is on the outside package of every bottle of Parisian Sage. Sold by Boyce Drug Store and at drug stores and toilet counters everywhere for 50 cents a large bottle.

PUBLIC AFFAIRS COMMITTEE

Manufacturing and Jobbing Interests of Duluth to Be Discussed.

The interests of the manufacturers and jobbers of Duluth will be considered by the public affairs committee of the Commercial club at its regular monthly meeting next Monday evening.

The program of the public affairs committee for the year assigns a special subject for discussion at each meeting. The manufacturers and jobbers will have their innning Monday night, and the discussion will cover the whole subject of industrial development and the extension of trade territory. Manufacturers and jobbers will attend the session in number, it is expected, and will talk over their problems with the committee.

No detailed program has been arranged, but the meeting is expected to be an interesting one, as the subject opens a wide field for discussion.

BILLS PRESENTED.

One Would Abolish Fire and Police Board in Commission Cities.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 28.—The abolition of the board of fire and police commissioners in cities governed by the commission form of government is proposed in a bill introduced in the assembly today by Assemblyman Rose of Beloit.

Assemblyman Hansen would change the drainage system of Wisconsin so that the cost of drainage shall be apportioned by the supervisors. It is aimed to bring many under provisions of the system for damages caused by water overflows, who now escape.

Authority to organize and supervise the fire and police departments of cities of the first-class, discharge and fix the salaries of all firemen and prescribe rules and regulations is the substance of another bill by Assemblyman Hansen.

A license in connection with the purchase of explosives in excess of five pounds is provided in another bill by Hansen.

A bill to abolish fraternities and sororities at the University of Wisconsin and in Wisconsin normal and high school was introduced by Assemblyman Anderson of Rhinelander.

Bills offered by the Social Democratic group in the assembly conform to platform promises relating to injunction in cases between employer and employe; providing for the recall of judges; creation of municipal telephone system in cities, towns and villages.

For an oily skin, or to take the "shine" off face, and also as an ideal finishing cream, to be used before powdering, try Hygenol Toilet Cream. It whitens the skin and gives it that soft transparency that is the charm of a perfect complexion. Sold by Lyceum pharmacy.

NOTICE OF ELECTION UPON THE QUESTION OF ISSUING BONDS OF THE INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF DULUTH—

At a special meeting of the Board of Education of the City of Duluth, duly held on the 9th day of January, 1913, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That in the opinion of the Board of Education of the City of Duluth, it is expedient, and it is hereby so declared, that additional bonds of the Independent School District of the City of Duluth, in St. Louis County, Minnesota, in the sum of two hundred thousand dollars, be issued and sold to provide funds for the purpose of erecting and furnishing two school houses in said district as follows:

First. The Robert H. Denfeld Industrial High School Building, to be erected on Lots twelve (12) to eighteen (18), inclusive, in Block ninety-five (95), and Lots six (6) to eleven (11) inclusive, in Block ninety-four (94), all in West Duluth, Sixth Division, according to the recorded plat thereof.

Second. The first unit of the Roger S. Munger graded school building, to be erected on Lots nine (9) to sixteen (16) inclusive, in Block one hundred and fifty (150), Portland Division of Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof.

That said bonds draw interest at the rate of 4½ per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, and that they run thirty (30) years from their date with the option reserved to this Board to redeem the same, or any part thereof, at the end of twenty (20) years from their date, or on any interest day thereafter.

That the question of the issue of said bonds be submitted to the voters of said district at a special election to be held therefor upon the first day of February, 1913.

That the Clerk of this Board give notice of this special election in the manner provided by law; and that he cause the same to be published in the Duluth News Tribune and the Duluth Herald, two daily newspapers published in said School District, in each issue of such papers during the ten (10) days immediately preceding the day of such election.

That a copy of this resolution be published in connection with the notice of the election at which the question is to be submitted.

NOW THEREFORE, Pursuant to said resolution and to authority duly given by the Common Council of the City of Duluth, as by law provided, NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that a special election of the Independent School District of the City of Duluth will be held upon Saturday, the first day of February, 1913, for the purpose of voting upon the question of the issuance of the bonds referred to in the foregoing resolution which is made a part of this notice. The polls will be open at six o'clock A. M. on the day of such election and will remain open for purposes of voting until seven o'clock P. M. on said day. Voters wishing to vote for the issuance of bonds in accordance with the said resolution, should indicate their wish by use of the following words upon their ballots, namely: "Shall bonds be issued—Yes." Voters wishing to vote against the issuance of bonds in accordance with the foregoing resolution, should indicate their wish by the following words upon their ballots, namely: "Shall Bonds be issued—No."

In the matter of the application of Alger, Smith & Company, a corporation, to register the title to the following described real estate situated in St. Louis County, Minnesota, namely:

All that tract or parcel of land in Rice's Point, according to the plat thereof of record in the office of the Register of Deeds of said County, contained within the boundaries herein specified below, to-wit:

Beginning at a point where the westerly line of Arthur avenue, formerly Fifth street, intersects the southerly line of Pine avenue, as the same are now established and exist by authority of the said City of Duluth; thence southerly along the westerly line of Arthur avenue and Arthur avenue extended, as the said Arthur avenue, formerly Fifth street, was originally platted, and as the said Arthur avenue extended was condemned by City of Duluth and is now established, to a point where said Westerly line of Arthur avenue extended intersects the established dock line in the bays of Duluth and Superior; thence westerly along said dock line to a point where said dock line intersects the center line of Garfield avenue; thence northerly along the center line of Garfield avenue to a point where the said center line of Garfield avenue intersects with the southerly line of Pine avenue as the same are now established; thence along the southerly line of Pine avenue, as the same is now established, to the place of beginning;

The above described premises being all of blocks thirty-four, fifty, fifty-one and sixty-eight, lying south of the southerly line of said Pine avenue, as widened by condemnation by City of Duluth in the year 1896, and all that portion of lot three hundred sixty-one, in block seventy, lying westerly of the west line of Arthur avenue extended, all in said Rice's Point, including the alleys between said blocks thirty-four and fifty and between said blocks fifty-one and sixty-eight, and including the easterly half of Garfield avenue, adjacent to said block thirty-four, and including that portion of Fourth street lying between said blocks fifty and fifty-one, or so much of said streets and alleys as lies within the metes and bounds description first above set forth, which said streets and alleys have heretofore been duly vacated by a decree of the District Court for St. Louis County, Minnesota, together with all lands, and lands covered with water, lying in front of said blocks and lots, and between said blocks and lots and the established dock line, which lie within the metes and bounds description first above set forth, together with all riparian rights which lie within the metes and bounds description first above set forth, and which are incident or belonging to any and all of the hereinbefore described premises;

But excepting and reserving from the foregoing described premises the following described tract or parcel, to-wit:

Beginning at a point where the westerly line of said Arthur avenue intersects the southerly line of said Pine avenue, as the same are now established; thence westerly in a straight line and at right angles to said westerly line of Arthur avenue, a distance of eighteen feet to a point; thence southerly in a straight line parallel to and eighteen feet distant from said westerly line of Arthur avenue to a point where said straight line intersects the westerly line of Arthur avenue extended, as the same was confirmed by resolution of the Common Council on October 26, 1896; thence northerly along said westerly line of Arthur avenue extended, and said westerly line of Arthur avenue to place of beginning.

The said last described tract having been conveyed by said Alger, Smith and Company to the Great Northern Railway Company, and the deed for which conveyance is recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds for said St. Louis County, in book 288 of Deeds, on page 25; and the said deed having been corrected by a subsequent deed between the same parties, which deed is recorded in the said Register of Deeds' office, in book 293 of Deeds, on page 496.

WHEAT IS UP A FRACTION

Dull Day on North American Markets Ends With Slight Gain.

Light Receipts and Good Demand Bull the Prices of Flaxseed.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 28.—Wheat worked a little higher on the markets of North America today, this being due mainly to the comparatively light receipts. Duluth May wheat closed ⅛c higher. Cash wheat closed ⅜c under May. Durum closed ⅝c up; barley 1c up and oats and rye, unchanged. Duluth January flaxseed closed at an advance of 1¾c; May, 1⅛c up and July 1⅜c up.

The wheat markets of North America were very dull and comparatively featureless this morning, with the trend slightly favoring the bulls. The big decrease that was reported late yesterday in the American visible supply seemed to have had some further effect today. Little attention was paid by dealers to the European conditions. Cables were generally bearish on that side of the water but it did not seem to affect the markets of the United States. There was very little export demand. At the same time the receipts on the markets of North America were not particularly large, compared with those of a year ago. It begins to look as if the wheat still remaining in the farmers' hands were not very large. The car receipts reported at Duluth, Minneapolis, Chicago and Winnipeg today were actually less than those of a year ago. Adding Kansas City and St. Louis to the list, there were about nine cars received as reported today for every eight cars on the corresponding day of last year.

Duluth May wheat, which closed yesterday at 87⅜-½c, opened today at 87¼c bid and at noon was quoted at 87⅜-½c bid. At Minneapolis also wheat at noon today stood just where it did at yesterday's close. At Chicago it was up a shade. At Winnipeg there was a slight rise.

Liverpool wheat at the close today was ⅛d to ⅜d lower. This market was heard by Broomhall's report of the big increase in European visible wheat since a week ago, this increase being more than 1,800,000 bu. The weakness at Paris and the announcement that France had turned back and re-sold at a sacrifice a steamer of Plata wheat bound for that country, also had some effect in producing a downward movement at Liverpool. The decline was checked, however, by the continued drouth in India, with unseasonably cold weather in that country, firmer Plata offers, unfavorable political news and a good demand for Australian offers.

Flax Goes Higher.

There were light offers of flaxseed today on the Duluth market, while the demand on the part of crushers was quite active. Moreover, there was a good speculative demand. The result of these conditions was an upward movement. Duluth January flax at noon today was 1⅜c up; May, 1¼c up and July, 1⅜c up. Minneapolis crushers today were bidding ⅝c over the Duluth January price for cash seed. Winnipeg January seed at noon today was 1c up at $1.09 bid, being 22½c under Duluth January. Winnipeg May was also up 1c at noon. Buenos Ayres February yesterday closed ⅞d up at $1.21⅛. London Calcutta today closed ⅞c up at $1.65½.

The Minneapolis cash wheat market today was steady. The demand was just fair. No. 1 northern blue stem was ½@1c under May. Velvet chaff was ½@2c under May. Flour sales were a little better but the aggregate volume was not big.

The visible supply of wheat in Europe this week, according to Broomhall, amounts to 77,608,000 bu, against 75,800,000 bu last week, thus showing an increase of 1,808,000 bu. Last week there was a decrease of $80,000 bu and last year a decrease of 2,300,000 bu, when the total amounted to $0,900,000 bu.

The Minneapolis Commercial West says: "At this time of the year the linseed oil trade is usually rather quiet and devoid of special features. It is a little early for an active consumption of paint to begin, and the paint manufacturers and linseed oil jobbers have ordinarily fairly well anticipated their wants. At present the oil situation may be a little duller than normal, but at the same time there is a very fair demand for spot oil. Prices are close and the crushers have to do some very close figuring in order to get a fair margin of profit on sales. Receipts of flaxseed in the Minneapolis market are about up to expectations and are sufficient to satisfy the current requirements of the crushers and also to permit them to build up some surplus. It is generally expected in the trade that receipts will continue large until the beginning of spring. Since Sept. 1 receipts of flaxseed in Minneapolis have amounted to 7,100,000 bu, compared with 5,360,000 bu a year ago. Stocks of flaxseed in local terminal elevators now amount to 415,000 bu. At Duluth at the close of last week the amount of flaxseed in store was 2,590,000 bu."

The national surplus from the 1912 grain crops has been subjected to the highest freight rates charged since 1900, according to the report of the secretary of agriculture. Quotations made by steamship lines and freight brokers show that the mean rates on heavy grains, such as wheat, corn, barley and rye, from New York to New Orleans and Liverpool for the last quarter of 1912 were about double the corresponding figures for 1910, which was not an abnormal year. These quotations represent approximately the actual rates paid by shippers.

The following tables show quotations of ocean freight rates on grain, except oats, from New York and New Orleans to Liverpool for the last quarters of 1910, 1911 and 1912, the figures in the columns under the year numbers showing the rate in cents per sixty pounds:

	From New York.

J. H. McMillan of Minneapolis, president of the Cargill Commission company, who was on the Duluth board of trade today, stated that while the congestion of cars at Minneapolis was still troublesome, the situation had greatly improved of late. "The grain buyers are still offering a premium of ¼c to ½c a bushel on wheat and other grain coming over the Soo and St. Paul roads over the Great Northern and Northern Pacific roads, but that premium is by no means what it was. In December it was 1c to 1½c. That was because the Northern roads would not let their cars go off their lines and it was therefore more trouble to handle their grain. The grain elevators of Minneapolis are well filled, as they have been for a long time. The situation on the whole seems to be gradually improving."

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Trading in Wheat Practically Dead, With Varying Price.

Chicago, Jan. 28.—Traders who characterized the grain trade as sick yesterday declared this morning that the patient was dead. At any rate the condition was comatose.

Wheat opened lower because France was reported reselling some of her earlier purchases. May a shade to ¼c down at 92⅜c to 92⅛@92¼c. In the absence of selling pressure a little bidding brought the price up to 92¾c.

Rumors of export sales helped the market a bit later and May closed steady, ⅛c higher, at 82⅝@92¾c.

Corn opened easy but developed steadiness. May started ⅛@¼c depressed at 55⅝c to 51½c and sold to 51⅜c.

The close was easy, May ⅜@½c down at 51¼@51⅜c.

May oats opened a shade to ¼@¼c down at 33¾@33⅝c and held within the opening range for some time.

Provisions opened higher in sympathy with an advance at the yards, May pork 5@7½c up at $19.47½@19.50; May lard 2½c up at $10.40 and May ribs 2½c improved at $10.40@10.42½.

STRENGTH IS EXHIBITED

Speculation in Stocks Very Lively at Times and Advances Made.

Bidding Up of Can Preferred One of Spectacular Features.

New York, Jan. 28.—Varied influences contributed to today's early manifestation of pronounced strength, but perhaps the most potent factor in lifting quotations was Governor Sulzer's message concerning the stock exchange which was regarded by Wall Street as moderate in tone. Excellent December reports of Western roads strengthened the railroad list and industrial specialties were helped by the buoyancy of the Tobacco and Can stocks.

Manipulative operations by powerful interests encouraged a more general participation in the market, and speculation at times was lively. Bonds were steady.

The American Can stocks were the center of activity at the opening of the stock market today. The first transactions in the common stock amounted to 5,200 shares and the quotation was advanced a point. On the next few sales the price rose another point. Can preferred advanced a point at a time, from 120 on 124. The general list was firm, with moderate advances among the majority of the more active. Lorillard gained 2 points and Harvester 1¼.

Business expanded greatly with a more general display of activity and strength than for a long time. Can preferred advanced 6 points to the accompaniment of rumors that a larger payment would soon be made on the accumulated dividends.

When the spectacular bidding up of Can stopped, the market became dull and fractionally easier. Later there was a movement upward in which the best prices of the forenoon were eclipsed.

Stocks had not fully participated in the early rise were bought freely, especially Southern Pacific which touched 107½.

Favorable December earnings accounted for the wider demand for the Harriman stocks.

The market closed strong. Some realizing went on in parts of the railroad list under covering of sustained buying of certain specialties. Can preferred increased its advance to 9 points and several lower priced specialties also became strong.

Crude Oil Again Advances.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 28.—For the second time this week all grades of crude oil in this market were advanced 7c a barrel, the latest advance lifting Pennsylvania crude to $2.19. Other new prices announced were: Mercer black, Newcastle and Corning, $1.72; Cabell, $1.79; Somerset, $1.30. There was no change in Ragland at 68c. Not since the days when oil was a favorite speculation and fortunes were made overnight, has there been such a radical change in so short a time. The impression prevailed here today among oil men that the recent manipulation together free from manipulation although drastic conditions of supply and demand were recognized. It was maintained that as the price of crude advanced the profitable operation of small independent refineries became more difficult.

London Stocks.

London, Jan. 28.—Trading in American securities was light during the forenoon and prices ranged from unchanged to ⅜ above yesterday.

American shares rose smartly in anticipation of a favorable United States steel statement and an early settlement of the Union Pacific-Southern Pacific dissolution. The leading stocks jumped over a point and Consols recovered an early loss of an eighth during the rally. The closing was steady in all sections.

Cotton Market.

New York, Jan. 28.—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 5 to 6 points. Almost immediately it turned easier under realizing. After reacting to a shade under the closing of last night, the market steadied. Fluctuations continued more or less irregular with the market about 2 points lower to 4 points higher toward 11 o'clock.

Spot closed steady; middling uplands, 13.15; middling gulf, 13.40. Sales, 500 bales. Futures closed steady; closing bids: January, 12.07; February, 12.36; March, 12.40; April, 12.23; May, 12.27; June, 12.17; July, 12.22; August, 12.09; September, 11.60; October, 11.53; December, 11.54.

THE PRODUCE MARKET.

Quotations given below indicate what the retailers pay to the wholesaler, except the hay list, which gives what the farmers receive from the jobbers.

NOTICE OF HEARING ON PETITION FOR DISTRIBUTION—

State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis. District Court, Eleventh Judicial District.

vs.
Oliver Iron Mining Company, a corporation, Defendants.

To Franka Juricich and Bogdan Juricich, by Ljubo Bogicevich, his guardian ad litem, heirs at law and next of kin of decedent, Daniel Juricich; Edgar Prochink, Imperial and Royal Consul for Austria-Hungary; Fidelity and Deposit Company of Maryland; Joe Povlovich and Franki Povlovich, and all other persons interested in the estate of Daniel Juricich, decedent:

Pursuant to order of the above named District Court, duly made and filed in the above entitled matter, notice is hereby given you:

That the undersigned George Bacich, as administrator of the estate of Daniel Juricich, deceased, has in his possession a certain sum of money received by him as damages on account of the wrongful death of said decedent.

That an application has been made to the District Court of St. Louis County, Eleventh Judicial District of Minnesota, for an order allowing and adjusting all attorney's fees and other expenses incurred in connection with the collection and distribution of said fund, determining the lawful heirs and next of kin of the decedent, and other persons entitled to share in the distribution of said fund, as creditors or otherwise, and authorizing and directing the undersigned representative to distribute said fund in accordance with such determination.

That said application will be brought on for hearing before said court at a special term thereof, to be held in the County Court House in Duluth, Minnesota, on the 22nd day of February, 1913, at 9:30 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, or as soon thereafter as counsel can be heard, at which time and place all persons interested in the distribution of said fund may assert their claims and will be heard therein.

Dated this 13th day of January, A. D. 1913.

GEORGE BACICH,
Administrator for the Estate of Daniel Juricich, Decedent.
THEO. HOLLISTER AND FRANK HICKS,
Attorneys for Administrator.
